CHARGE YANKS IN GERMANY 'WILDLY IMMORAL'

'Confidential' Senate Report Made Public

WASHINGTON (AP)—Charges of wild immorality and other excesses by American forces in occupied Germany were made public last night, and the war department swiftly replied "hearsay" and "gossip".

ous allegations of immoral conduct by some of the American occupation troops, heavy venereal infections, misconduct by officers, and objectionable action by displaced persons.

After Meader's trip to Germany there was a solid Democratic vote in the committee not to undertake a full scale inquiry into the situation in Germany. Both the war and state departments voiced objections to an inquiry.

action to solve the problem should not result in any unfavorable reaction from intelligent Negro leaders.

one-fifth are not even high-grade morons." Negro soldiers and German women have been consorting to a considerable extent, Meader said, adding:

cerpts from weekly intelligence reports from U. S. forces in Germany. These cited:

in the violation of German law, black market activities and similar breaches of discipline lower the prestige of the American army."

"However, outstanding merit is difficult to conceal. No such unusual ability asserted itself on the level of division heads and top executives in Berlin, aside from that of General Clay himself."

JUDGE TO SENTENCE LEWIS TODAY

Rail Freight Embargo Ordered; More Cuts in Passenger Travel

Report Wyatt Ready to Quit Housing Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—An official in close touch with the White House said last night that Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt intends to resign within the next 48 hours as a result of failure to get powers he had demanded from President Truman.

Wyatt visited the president yesterday afternoon for the second time this week seeking an answer to his proposals. After the conference no official statement came from the White House and Wyatt declined to say whether he intended to resign.

The official who reported the result of the conference said there was no chance of further negotiations.

Refuses Compromise
This official, who asked that he be identified by name, said Wyatt had refused to accept a compromise in his demands for fuller authority to push the housing program.

Notable among the conflicts has been the one with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation over loans for prefabricated housing producers.

Truman Plans— Strong Message to Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman said yesterday he is going to send the new congress the strongest message he can—not just about labor but everything in the country—and he wants cooperation to get something done.

Mr. Truman made the statement to a news conference which packed his office to the walls. Many had come in the vain hope he would talk about John L. Lewis and the coal strike.

Right at the outset, the president announced the nomination of O. Max Gardner as ambassador to Great Britain, said state department headquarters will remain where they are despite a shift of personnel—and then choked off questions on coal.

There will be no comment or statement on the coal situation, at this time pending in the courts, he said, adding that now he was ready for questioning.

This, removing as it did the one big question of the day, brought laughter in which the president joined.

A reporter tried anyway. He asked whether the president was giving any consideration, outside the court's realm, to getting coal mined by strip mining or otherwise. Again came the reply, there will be no comment on coal at this time.

He was asked whether he was going to preclude questions on general labor matters outside the court, such as the statement by Representative Rankin (D, Miss.) that the president plans to "present to congress the strongest message he knows how to prepare."

Well, that's true, said Mr. Truman, but it does not necessarily refer only to labor but everything in the country. He said he would make his annual message as strong as he can and he wants cooperation to get something done.

Mr. Truman also told his news conference:

Limit Parcel Post Packages To 5 Pounds

WASHINGTON (AP)—A nationwide embargo on railroad freight shipments, except for vital needs, was proclaimed yesterday; parcel post packages were limited to five pounds at the height of the Christmas mailing season, and passenger mileage on coal burning trains was slashed another 25 percent.

These drastic measures were taken to conserve fuel in view of the coal strike.

The freight embargo and curbs on parcel post become effective at 12:01 a.m. Friday. The cut in railroad mileage takes effect at 11:59 p.m. Sunday and brings the mileage down to 50 percent of the pre-strike level. A 25 percent reduction already is in effect.

Announcing the freight embargo, the interstate commerce commission declared that rail service can be prolonged "only by the most careful husbanding" of remaining coal stocks.

The general ban applies to express as well as freight shipments. The office of defense transportation, in announcing the passenger mileage cut, said in a statement that it "acted upon the reports indicating that the railroads have on hand a 27-day supply of coal based upon the present rate of consumption."

Unions Call General Strike in Oakland; Industry Paralyzed

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Organized labor, which paralyzed the East bay's transportation and industry in a 1,000,000 population area by means of a "protest" walkout yesterday, projected an even bigger walkout today and Oakland's mayor announced he would proclaim a state of emergency.

Mayor Herbert L. Beach termed the walkout a "physical assault" on the rights of the populace.

By FRANCIS M. LEMAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The "curmudgeon", Harold L. Ickes, let go with both barrels at John L. Lewis yesterday, calling him "our own domestic Hitler".

Simultaneously, he accused the government of playing "drop the handkerchief" instead of bringing the mine union chief to book.

The former interior secretary leveled his fire also at John R. Steelman, presidential adviser, calling him "a long time friend of John L. Lewis."

Ickes shot his views before the house surplus property committee, which is studying future use of the big and little inch pipelines.

Possible Stiff Penalty Faces UMW Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—John L. Lewis yesterday was found guilty of criminal contempt of court—with a possible heavy sentence—but the coal strike went on and the government took drastic emergency action to save fuel.

Lewis responded to the guilty verdict by rising in the federal courtroom and making a bitterly defiant speech. He accused the judge of depriving the coal miners of their constitutional rights. He said he would "firmly stand" on his position.

After this dramatic scene the judge, T. Alan Goldsborough, sat pondering for four minutes then put off sentencing until this morning.

The language of his conclusions, that Lewis and his union "willfully, wrongfully, and deliberately" disobeyed a court order, suggested the possibility of heavy penalties—perhaps in the nature of drastic daily fines. Judge Goldsborough has the power to impose an unlimited fine or jail sentence if he wishes.

The judge pronounced his verdict by agreeing to the conclusions proposed to him by the United States justice department.

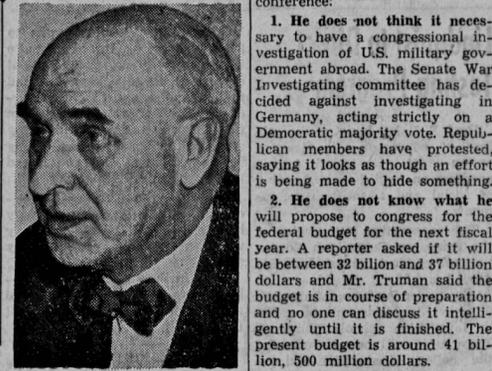

O. Max Gardner Leaves Treasury Post To Become U.S. Ambassador to England

WASHINGTON (AP)—O. Max Gardner, who made his first trip to England on a cattle boat "as chambermaid to 394 Montana steers," is going back again—this time as United States ambassador.

President Truman yesterday appointed the former governor of North Carolina to the vacant London post. He said a successor had not yet been named for the office. Gardner is leaving as undersecretary of the Treasury.

Gardner told reporters he would not leave until he was confirmed by the senate.

"You don't represent the full power of the office until you've been confirmed," he explained.

German Scientists Save U.S. $750 Million

By EDWARD E. BOMAR
WASHINGTON (AP)—An estimate that German and Austrian scientists have saved the United States more than $750,000,000 in basic research in rockets alone was made yesterday by the War Department in announcing that some 780 additional experts would be brought to this country.

Others have been hired by Soviet Russia and Great Britain, who have disclosed neither the numbers nor the work in which they are engaged.

Those coming to this country after being carefully screened for reliability are paid on contract a top of $3,120 in U. S. currency, plus a $6 daily expense allowance—considerably less than the salaries paid American civil service workers doing comparable work.

In addition, many have been authorized to apply for American citizenship, all can send food packages to relatives at home, and their families are provided living quarters at Landsbut, near Munich, Germany. Some have been authorized to bring their families from Europe.

Lifting the secrecy of more than a year on "operation paper clip," the War Department last month permitted interviews and photographs of the 86. A formal announcement issued as these were released for publication yesterday said:

1. Some are helping design a new high speed, lightweight Diesel engine intended primarily as a prime mover for light, high powered locomotives, but adapted to marine and other use.

'D RATHER BE RIGHT

While the Poor Get Poorer

By SAMUEL GRAFTON
New York Post Syndicate

I have a kind of incomplete idea to offer today; nothing rounded and thought-out, call it an intimation. It is an odd feeling that our economy is beginning to be pulled out thin, so that there is a greater distance between richer and poorer than there was a year ago, or two years ago. The New York Journal of Commerce tells us, for example, that there is a decline in meat consumption in the low income groups; that would make this the first time in five years when all the meat being offered couldn't be sold.

At the bottom of the economic scale, say, typically, people on relief in New York City, there is something close to hunger again, as inadequate city payments fail to match grocery prices. That, too, is a new note; the shortages from which these people are suffering are not like the shortages of war time, which were shortages in the stores, shortages for everybody; these are shortages in the kitchen, at a time when stores are loaded.

It's new, it's different; and I have a feeling that this new economic attenuation goes rather far. The typical small extravagances to which the lower income groups turned, with such zest, during the war were travel, restaurant meals, good clothing, and theatre tickets. It is in just these fields, according to the Journal of Commerce survey, that activity is now dropping, and that barbers are being used in place of the cops who were recently required in order to keep the customers out.

A pleasant theory has arisen to account for all this. It is the theory of "selectivity"; the idea being that customers are becoming, in a peculiar way, choosy about what to buy and what not to buy. The theory holds that the man with the roll of moolah in his pocket, who used to buy clothes and fancy foods merely because cars and refrigerators weren't available, is now buying the latter and passing up the former.

It may be true, especially in borderline cases; but I have not noticed any decided tendency on the part of new car owners to dine off table scraps or to wear old rags. I do not really believe it is the man who is not buying meat who is buying cars, especially since in not a small number of cases the new car buyer has been paying as much as $1,000 over list price to get his vehicle, an amount with which the improvident idiot could have kept his family in steaks for two or three years.

And so it is perhaps the customer who is being chosen, not the goods. Businessmen are increasingly concerned about whether they are not being forced to price themselves out of part of their market; the vista which opens is that of the great American economy being forced to depend on a relatively small section of the American public for its market. Even the "selectivity" theory isn't really very comforting; if we are to get along there has to be enough buying power for both the farmer and the car producer to be able to sell, and so the pretty "selectivity" theory, in its own way, tells the story of market shrinkage.

This is the meaning, then, of my incomplete thought about our economic attenuation; it projects a picture of a great productive machine busily competing for a small market. That is not an attractive picture, nor a very American picture, in the mass production sense; yet one feels that it is forming up when one hears the automobile industry, for example, declaring that it looks forward to good sales for three years even if car prices do rise further and some customers do drop out.

We may be moving, even if slowly, toward an atmosphere, politically and morally, very much like that of 1928, when we were forming belief, even though the luxury trades were still doing pretty well above. The problem is one for those to solve who have so heedlessly welcomed and fought for inflation, and who, just as blithely, now reject any prior planning to head off a recession. As to what they will get for their pains no one can, of course, rightly say; the last time they got Roosevelt,

OF CABBAGES AND KINGS

Wilson, Hickenlooper In National Spotlight

By LAWRENCE E. DENNIS
Daily Iowan Columnist

Two members of Iowa's ten-man GOP congressional delegation, Sens. George Wilson and Bourke Hickenlooper, have been in the national news spotlight during the past several days.

Wilson is one of several Republican legislators who plan to submit new labor measures to the eightieth congress when it convenes in January. All of the bills now scheduled to be presented will be largely concerned with ironing out the apparent wrinkles in labor-management relations and bringing about some sort of solution to the problem imposed by so-called "strikes against the public interest."

However, within the ranks of the GOP both in the senate and house there has already emerged a sharp divergence of opinion as to the exact nature and type of "restrictions" to be imposed upon unions.

Shortly after Sen. Homer Ferguson (R., Mich.) announced last week that he favored the establishment of a system of labor courts in this country, Wilson told newspapermen that he plans to introduce a bill which would turn all labor-management disputes requiring court settlement over to the United States circuit courts of appeals. He does not approve of setting up brand new, entirely separate labor courts, since he feels that the present system could satisfactorily handle such cases.

The senior Iowa senator, whose term expires in 1948, was again in the news on Monday, when he released a statement which one state paper headlined, "A Warning by Wilson." It was a word of caution to those Republican party leaders, both state and national, who have seemingly based all their legislative plans on the idea that anything and everything which smacks of the 1932-46 Democratic administrations should be wiped off the books.

Here are Senator Wilson's very wise observations, as reported by the Associated Press:

"Too many Republicans are inclined to look at a piece of legislation and say, 'that is a New Deal law.' They want to throw it out right away. What they don't stop to realize is that a large number of the changes of the past fifteen years simply have been expressions of the country's progress and forward movement. These things would have occurred regardless of who was president. The people have now voted for a change, but they have not voted to drop back 20 years. That is what all Republicans must understand."

Hickenlooper Makes News
Senator Hickenlooper, who witnessed the Bikini atomic bomb tests last summer, is currently making the front pages from coast to coast as the chief Republican member of the special senate committee on campaign expenditures. That is the group which is holding hearings this week in Jackson, Miss., on conditions surrounding the nomination of Sen. Theodore Bilbo in the Democratic primary last July.

Since the committee is headed by Sen. Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana, a member of the southern Democratic congressional bloc, the responsibility for most of the Bilbo inquiry rests upon the shoulders of the junior senator from Iowa. Senator Hickenlooper has taken the lead in questioning witnesses, sifting the evidence and preparing the case for presentation to the senate. When the committee reports its findings, his Republican colleagues will rely principally on his recommendations as to what action the upper house should take with regard to seating Senator Bilbo in January. It is within the power of each branch of our national legislature to reject an elected senator or representative if he is deemed unfit to serve as a congressman.

The manner in which Senator Hickenlooper handles this special committee assignment may, in a large measure, affect his future status with GOP senatorial leaders. Extremely popular as a governor, he was elected to the senate from Iowa in 1944 and has climbed steadily in national prominence ever since. Along with Gov. Dwight Green of Illinois and Senator-elect Edward Thyne of Minnesota, he is one of the midwest Republicans who may be expected to carry political weight at the 1948 national convention.

Lea Act Bites the Dust

A court decision handed down Monday in Chicago by Federal Judge Walter J. LaBuy may be an indication of the future character of the restrictive labor legislation which is expected from the next congress.

Judge LaBuy ruled the Lea act unconstitutional. The decision was made in a test case of the law designed to prohibit James C. Petrillo's American Federation of Musicians from attempting to compel broadcasters to hire more employees than are "needed to perform actual service."

The 79th congress passed the Lea act in an effort to curb Petrillo's "racketeering" methods, and most of us will agree that Petrillo needed curbing. But in doing so, it appears the congress may have overstepped constitutional bounds just a little bit.

Public sentiment seems to be in favor of curtailing labor's activities to varying degrees through federal legislation. But Monday's development brings up the question of how restrictive can such legislation be. It is possible that labor-curbing measures may encounter more difficulty than either congress or the public has anticipated.

Having Family Trouble? Here's Why

Dr. Clifford R. Adams, director of Penn State's marriage counseling service, has been doing a lot of thinking about the causes of marital difficulties. And he seems to have the problem pretty well figured out.

In an article in the January American magazine, Dr. Adams attributes all marital difficulties to 10 fundamental causes with "money at the root of the largest part of all family bickering."

1. In-laws, with the husband's mother rather than his wife's being the greatest potential troublemaker in the home.
2. Different ideas about disciplining of children.
3. Dissatisfaction over a husband's failure to get a salary increase.
4. A husband's belief that his wife is extravagant.
5. Stinginess, real or imagined, of husbands.
6. Dominating or dictatorial attitude of some wives.
7. A wife's devotion to outside activities at the neglect of home or husband.
8. A wife's persistence in reforming her spouse.
9. Jealousy, especially on the part of women who feel they're being tied down to the house too much.
10. A husband's lack of appreciation, especially of his wife's looks and clothes.

From all this, Dr. Adams concludes that "in well ordered homes, the man and wife have usually learned how to give in gracefully on little issues and how to compromise the big ones."

See, it's simple—just like the United Nations.

Roualt—The Monk of Modern Times

Art Exhibit Prints Appeal to Layman, Too
By PAUL AND MIMI BRACH
The last fifty years in painting present a complex picture. The many trends in modern art tend to lead in divergent directions. Picasso, Braque, Miro and Klee are often not accessible to the layman because of their strong departure from the conventional picture-making of the nineteenth century. Georges Roualt, whose exhibition of prints is now on view in the main gallery of the art building, stands out as one modern artist who explains himself clearly to the laymen, and is equally inspiring to the artist as well.

Most of the greatest painters of our century have revolted against the pictorial sentimentality of nineteenth century art by returning to the formal elements of painting. Roualt, too, emphasizes these formal aspects in his work. He utilizes rich color, powerful line quality and an overall emphasis on pattern in his work.

Highly Emotional Approach
Roualt, however, stands apart from his contemporaries in treatment of subject matter. Unlike other painters, who work with either abstract elements, private fantasies or analysis and distortion of natural forms, Roualt seeks to achieve a complete esthetic statement through a highly emotional religious approach. He has been called the "Monk of Modern Times." Greatly influenced by Hello and Bloy, (French, Catholic, mystic writers of his day) his direct and impassioned religious themes rival El Greco and Gruenewald.

This exhibit contains only Roualt's prints. Roualt interrupted his painting for ten years, directing all his efforts to print-making. His techniques are a departure from previous orthodox methods, but are concerned with the most authentic interpretation of his painting rather than with qualities inherent in printmaking itself.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR:

Assails Recent Increase in Cleaning Rates

(Once received letters to the editor become the property of this newspaper and we reserve the right to edit them or withhold them altogether. Unsigned letters will not be published. Views expressed in letters do not necessarily represent those of The Daily Iowan—The Editor.)

TO THE DAILY IOWAN:

Have you noticed the trend? Well, if you haven't the Iowa City Association of Dry Cleaners has. The trend is, make as much as you can now, to hell with the next guy. So, following the trend the Association of Dry Cleaners have now raised the price of cleaning on all items. It now costs a dollar to clean a suit.

That's O. K. No one hollers now about competition which is supposed to lower prices. The fact is there is no competition. These dry cleaning boys have enough business to go around because there are twice as many students in Iowa City than ever before. As if the increase in business wasn't enough to make them happy, they now raise prices just to get a little more of the easily-gotten $65 a month that is floating around. This makes everybody happy, except those poor suckers who have to live on $65 or $90 a month when all other prices have already gone up.

What do you and I do about it? We're the guys who aren't so happy because we have to pay that dollar. Well, as far as I'm concerned, I'm ready to form another association on the other side of the fence. This one can really restrain trade if we get enough people behind it. I don't care to be the well-dressed man on the campus. I'll wear my suit without cleaning or pressing until it stands up and walks by itself. I'll have bags in my trousers big enough to put the entire Iowa City Association of Dry Cleaners inside of them.

I'm willing to have my clothes so stained that they'll pass for jungle camouflage and smell like the kitchen in an Iowa City cafe. How about you, Joe? One dollar makes a big hole in $65 or $90 a month. Let's start an association that won't patronize the cleaners until their prices come down to what they were. Those prices were high enough to give them a fair profit. I didn't notice any of them going into bankruptcy. We've got to organize on our side of the fence.

EUGENE VASILEW

Free Conscientious Objectors for Christmas

TO THE DAILY IOWAN:
"The sheep and the wolf are not agreed upon a definition of the word 'liberty.' True, but what could be more fitting than to free imprisoned men of peace (on or before the birthday of the Prince of Peace, Christmas). Write President Truman and Attorney General Clark today urging (Christmas) amnesty for conscientious objectors.
You don't need to agree with their stand to realize they volunteered as guinea pigs in life-saving medical research, fought for social justice (even in prison they have gone on prolonged hunger strikes against Jim Crow discrimination, brutalizing treatment and slave labor) served as mental hospital ward attendants and are now carrying on a national program (National Mental Health Foundation, Inc.) for improvement of the nation's decrepit mental hospitals. Yet these men are being held as slave labor, a dangerous threat to our democratic system.

It is inconsistent that a government which has granted amnesty for enemy prisoners should deny it to their own citizens, guilty of no overt offenses save their objection on religious, moral or social grounds to war.
"Don't speak of peace and freedom, you will drive the democratic people mad and they will kill you, Joe." "Yes, Me when they go mad, and as sure as they get sane again, YOU, Mr. Lethargy."
Amnesty to the nearly five thousand conscientious objectors, too long delayed, should be granted at once. Urge Truman and Clark to expedite justice at once.

Girl Scouts List Christmas Calendar

The Christmas calendar has been announced for Iowa Girl Scouts.

A decorated Christmas tree was set up in the scout office Monday. Any troop wishing to have its Christmas party there should call and engage the rooms. Dec. 10 is reserved for Troop 15, Dec. 18 for troop 17.

Dec. 19—The senior planning board will meet at 7:15 p. m. at the office. Members are asked to bring suggestions for the winter skating party and February guest party.

Dec. 19—Troop 6 of St. Patrick's will be hostess to the all-senior party at 7:30 at the office. All girls attending are asked to bring 10 cents and a 25 cent gift for the grab bag.

Dec. 25—Decorations and tray favors for Children's hospital should be in the office by this date. Any troop wishing to go Christmas caroling is asked to notify the scout office as to time and place. Song books are available.

A winter camping session under the leadership of Mrs. Hugh Carson will be held for Troop 30 at the girl scout cabins Dec. 26, 27 and 28. Troop 11 with Mrs. Katherine Walljasper, leader, will camp Dec. 29, 30 and 31.

Jan. 2—Troop 1 will spend the night at the scout cabins with Mrs. Carson and troop 3 with Mrs. Karl Larson as leader will camp Jan. 3. Because of this camping schedule, the Scout office will be closed from Dec. 21 until Jan. 6.

All girl scouts are urged to register in December to be included in the 1946 count at national headquarters.

Triangle Club Poll Shows Faculty Prefers New Yorker Magazine

University faculty members seem to prefer The New Yorker, if a recent poll conducted by the Triangle club is any indication. The New Yorker topped a list of 50 magazines subscribed to and rated by the club.

Only 31 of the 289 faculty members responded to the request that they list their preferences. Frederick C. Battell, chairman of the magazine committee, reported.

The New Yorker received a total of 22 votes, with four persons giving it first place and 10 rating it among the first five. Fortune, a close second, also received 22 votes—including five firsts—but only eight placed it in the "first five" category.

Other magazines listed in the top 10 were Harper's, third; Atlantic Monthly, fourth; New Republic and National Geographic tied for fifth; Life and Saturday Review of Literature, sixth; Nation and Coronet, seventh; Esquire and Scientific Monthly, eighth; Time, Better Homes and Gardens and American Mercury, ninth; Look, Saturday Evening Post and House and Garden, tenth.

Pan-American Party

Because of the coal shortage, the Pan-American league will hold its Christmas party for Latin American students in the fellowship rooms of the Congregational church.

The party, scheduled tentatively for Dec. 12, was to be held in the Community building.

Weekend Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lord of Edgerton, Wis., and their twin daughters, Jean and Janet, will spend the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Williams, 412 Melrose street.

L'ANGORA, L'ANKLES, L'AMOUR

THERE'S A COAL SHORTAGE in Iowa City, but these two college students have found a good way to keep warm, holding hands with their fingers snug in an angora and I-O-W-A mittens. Note the matching angora anklets, if you haven't noticed already.

By a Society Staff Writer

If the coal shortage becomes so severe that you have to hold hands with your mittens on, you'll at least want those extra "finger warmers" to be in style.

For your skiing dates during Christmas vacation a pair of poplin gauntlets that tie at the wrist are just the thing. With a pair of these gauntlets your hands won't feel the wind or snow, and the strong horseshoe palms are serviceable for "sled pulling" days.

When you are scanning the mitten counter for some warm handwear, keep in mind the popular all-wool mittens that display bright assorted jacquard designs. Much on the same principle are the felt cloth mittens with appliqued flower stitching that are always good on a date and for your better wear.

Phi Beta Kappa To Elect Members

Approximately 20 persons will be elected Monday to Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity.

Prof. Charles Strother of the speech and psychology department, secretary of the organization, announced yesterday that the meeting will be at 4:30 p. m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Seniors eligible for election will be chosen from the coming February graduating class, plus those graduated in June and August of this year. The number elected will not exceed 15 percent of the February graduating class.

To be eligible, students must be seniors and have a cumulative grade point of 3.2 for their college work.

The membership committee is comprised of Professor Strother, chairman, Prof. C. A. Hickman of the commerce department and Prof. Everett Hall of the philosophy department.

Petersen's Article Appears in Magazine

A panoramic history of Iowa, "Looking Backward on Hawkeyeland", by Dr. William J. Petersen, research associate of the State Historical society, appears in the December issue of The Morrell magazine.

The article surveys Iowa history from a period 100 years before the first permanent settlement when a French expedition reached the Racoon fork of the Des Moines river.

"The written history of Iowa," Dr. Petersen narrates, "began June 17, 1673, when Joliet and Marquette paddled out of the mouth of the Wisconsin and into the Mississippi."

The French period closed in Iowa in 1762 when France secretly ceded all her territory west of the Mississippi to Spain.

Upper Louisiana, which included Iowa, was turned over to the United States in 1803, and Iowa came under the control of the new American republic.

Dr. Petersen describes briefly the early government, industrial development and pioneering activities prior to Dec. 26, 1846, when Iowa became the 29th state.

Describing Iowa's growth in recent years as "fabulous," Dr. Petersen points to the recognition by un-biased non-resident critics as the best criteria for judging the value of Iowa's accomplishments.

I.C. Woman's Club Departments to Hold Joint Meeting Friday

22 Midwest Schools to Begin Two-Day Forensics Sessions

The annual two-day intercollegiate Forensics conference will open here Friday when representatives of 22 midwestern schools will meet to discuss and debate problems of peace.

Prof. A. Craig Baird, program chairman, said yesterday the program will begin at 8 a. m. Friday and continue through Saturday afternoon.

The first three rounds of debate and discussion will be Friday. Also on Friday, will be WSUI interviews and directors meetings.

"What policy should the United States and Russia follow in order to promote friendly relations," is the discussion topic. The national intercollegiate question, "Resolved: that labor should be given a direct share in the management of industry," will be viewed by debaters.

Don Lay to Direct

One student from each school will be selected by his accompanying director as a representative for interviews to be broadcast under the direction of Don Lay, A2 of Iowa City.

The student council reception, scheduled for Friday afternoon, has been cancelled.

Final rounds of discussion and debate groups will be conducted Saturday. Winners in a reconversion speech and an extempore speaking contest scheduled for Saturday will also be named that afternoon. All subjects are relative to "Transition to Peace," according to Bob Ray, G of Davenport, tournament manager.

Luncheon

Attitude measurement scales in which questions on current events will be asked of all forensic members will be tabulated and results will be announced at a luncheon in the River room of Iowa Union at noon Saturday.

Schools participating in the conference include Augustana, Central, Coe and Cornell colleges, Drake university, University of Illinois, Iowa State Normal, Indiana, Iowa and Kansas universities, Michigan State Teachers college, University of Minnesota and University of Missouri.

The University of Nebraska, Northwestern university, Notre Dame university, University of Oklahoma, Simpson college, South Dakota university, Wheaton college, Wisconsin State Teachers college, Wisconsin university and Knox college.

Hageboeck to Speak To Journalism Club

W. T. Hageboeck, publisher of the Iowa City Press-Citizen, will speak to members of Theta Sigma Phi national professional journalism fraternity for women, tomorrow night. The meeting will be held in conference room 2 of Iowa Union at 7:30 p. m.

President Kathryn Larson, A4 of Sioux Falls, S. D., said all journalism students are invited to hear the speech.

Plans for the Pica ball will be discussed during the business meeting after the talk. Committee members for the dance will be chosen and initiation announcements will be made.

'She Stoops to Conquer' Tickets Still Available

Tickets are still available for all but the Dec. 11 and 13 performances of the next university theatre production, Oliver Goldsmith's comedy, "She Stoops to Conquer."

Evening performances will be given Dec. 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 16, 17 and 18. A matinee will be presented Saturday, Dec. 14. Choice seats may still be obtained for the 16th, 17th and 18th, the theatre office reported yesterday.

Tickets may be obtained at the University theatre ticket office, room 10, Schaeffer hall. There will be no performance Sunday, Dec. 15.

Harvard Professor To Speak Tonight In First of Talks

Prof. I. A. Richards of Harvard university will deliver the first of two public lectures this evening at 8 o'clock in the senate chamber of Old Capitol. His topic will be "Some Problems in Semantics."

A voluminous writer in several fields, Richards is best known for his co-authorship, with C. K. Ogden, of "The Meaning of Meaning," a study of the influence of language upon thought.

Richards, who is also a distinguished literary critic, will speak to members of Prof. Paul Engle's poetry class Friday morning, according to Dean Earl McGrath of the college of liberal arts.

Richard's second public lecture will be Friday evening, again in the senate chamber of Old Capitol, when he will speak on "Humanities in General Education."

A native of England and a former Cambridge university teacher, Richards came to this country in 1939 to be lecturer in literary criticism at Harvard.

Among the many books he has published are "Science and Poetry," "Practical Criticism," "Interpretation in Teaching," "How to Read a Page," "Basic English and Its Uses" and an abridged version in simple English of Plato's "Republic."

Four Mock Trials By Law Students Set for Dec. 10-17

Junior arguments, in which junior law students will plead hypothetical appellate cases before district court judges, will be held Dec. 10, 12, 16 and 17.

Individual winners of the four arguments will plead a special case before the nine judges of the supreme court of Iowa on Supreme Court day next spring.

Briefs on the cases to be argued are due Saturday, Arthur O. Leff, college of law lecturer in charge of the arguments, said yesterday.

Briefs are filed by the students as in actual appeal cases, citing authorities and listing counsel. Oral arguments will be limited to the material covered in the briefs.

The first case, in which Dean Hess of Kingsley and James R. Barron of Iowa City will oppose Orville W. Bloethe of Victor and Walter A. Newport of Davenport, involves the construction of a will which makes gifts to persons to be appointed under a power which is never exercised.

Robert J. Thornton of Waterloo and John R. Thornell of Sidney will argue against Larned A. Waterman of Bettendorf and Peter Seip of Iowa City in the second case, which concerns the sale of a joint-tenancy homestead property by a wife holding a power of attorney from her husband.

Validity of proxy marriage performed while the husband was overseas is contested in the third case, in which Lee Burton Blum of Hampton and Elmer E. Bloom of Muscatine will face William O. Lewis of Harlan and Charles N. Pettit of Bloomfield.

In the final case, Martin J. Purcell of Camanche and Walter W. Reynolds of Madrid will oppose Richard T. Keough and Wallace W. Butler of Muscatine in a case involving payment of a note held by a tavern owner for a loan of money lost by the borrower in slot machines in the tavern.

The arguments will be held in the senate chamber of Old Capitol at 7:30 p. m., with judges from the eighth judicial district presiding, Leff said.

Executrix Appointed

Theresa G. Becker has been appointed executrix of the will of John H. Becker who died Nov. 3. William R. Hart is the attorney.

Members of the Amish religion are forbidden to ride in automobiles or tractors.

Educators to Speak At Final Sessions Of Two-Day Meeting

Speeches on current phases of education by two visiting educators and three members of the college of education will be presented today in the closing session of the two-day conference on administration and supervision being held here.

Today's addresses, which will be given in the senate chamber of Old Capitol, are open to the public, according to Dean E. T. Peterson of the college of education.

Prof. L. A. Van Dyke of the college of education will talk on "Design for General Education in the High School" at 9:30 a. m.

At 10:20 a. m., Prof. Harold C. Hand of the University of Illinois will speak on "Education for Survival." Professor Hand, who served for several years in the army education program in both European and Pacific theaters, will discuss the curricular implications of atomic energy.

"Recent Developments in the Iowa Testing Programs" will be Prof. E. F. Lindquist's subject when he speaks at 11:20 a. m. A member of the college of education, Professor Lindquist directs testing programs in Iowa schools.

Dean Earl J. McGrath of the college of liberal arts will address the conference at 2 p. m. on "Educational Reconstruction in Germany."

As a member of the state and war department commission which surveyed education in the American occupational zone in Germany, he spent August and September of this year in Europe.

With "Assimilating our Emergency Teachers" as his subject, Dean Osman R. Hull of the University of Southern California college of education will make the concluding speech of the conference at 3 o'clock.

Professor of educational administration, Dean Hull is president of Phi Delta Kappa, national education fraternity. He will talk at a luncheon of the local chapters at Reich's Pine room tomorrow at 12:05 p. m.

European Books SUI Libraries Obtain Wartime Volumes

Through a cooperative project with the Library of Congress, the university libraries are receiving copies of books published in Germany and other European countries immediately preceding and during the war. During the last two months, the libraries have received several hundred volumes in accordance with this agreement.

Prof. N. L. Kilpatrick, assistant director of university libraries, said the project was inaugurated by the Library of Congress to aid university and research libraries throughout the country in obtaining foreign publications from countries with which normal trade relations have not been established. The Library of Congress has no intention of interfering with the normal book trade, Professor Kilpatrick pointed out, but is performing a great service in making available publications from those countries that are still disrupted by the war.

The books are allotted to libraries on a priority based on subject fields. The system was worked out by a committee of librarians so that libraries are allotted publications in proportion to the number of copies available.

In the Library of Congress there are several hundred thousand volumes of foreign publications, Professor Kilpatrick said, which are being roughly classified for shipment to the libraries.

The cooperating libraries agreed, when the project was begun in 1945, that each member pay $1 a volume.

Limited Cabs to Operate Two-Way Radios

The Limited Cab company of Iowa City will be the second taxi company in the state to operate with two-way radio communication, it was learned yesterday.

Robert Richey, owner of the company, announced five taxis equipped with radios would be in operation "sometime next week."

A news broadcast from radio station WMT last week announced a Cedar Rapids cab company would have radio equipped cars in operation by Dec. 16 and that this would be the second company in the state to operate in such fashion.

"If everything goes as planned, we'll have our radio equipped cars on the streets almost two weeks before they do in Cedar Rapids," said Richey.

(A Marshalltown cab company has the only two-way communication system in operation at present.)

Richey expects the new communication system to allow each cab to handle nearly double its present business.

The greatest value of the system, he said, is that it offers rapid service to customers. Some estimates listed an average of five to ten minute service for each call.

Proof that two-way radio is a good business venture was offered Richey by other cab owners who have installed radios when they estimated an average increase of five cents per mile earning power for each cab.

The main transmitter will operate with FM transmission on a 152 megacycle band and will in no way interfere with police or WSUI broadcasts, according to Richey.

The smaller transmitters in the cars are located in the trunks and are powered by the car battery.

Operators at the main transmitter must be licensed by the FCC but additional licensing is not required of drivers.

Richey said cooperation with the police and fire departments in cases of emergency is entirely possible. "I haven't been approached on the subject but we would be willing to give public service in times of emergency," he added.

Mahan Travels South For National PTA Meet

Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, head of the university alumni office left Monday for New Orleans to participate in a board of directors meeting of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers being held yesterday, today and tomorrow.

Mahan will also confer with Iowa alumni in New Orleans about reactivating the Alumni club in that city and planning for an SUI Founders' day program there.

Advertising Lecturer

J. E. Aldrich, midwest field representative for the Saturday Evening Post magazine, will speak to Prof. Philip W. Burton's advertising classes today during class periods. He will discuss merchandising and magazine advertising, using sound slides to illustrate his talks.

Summer in the South Pole starts in January and ends in February.

TAXI DRIVER LEROY SCHOOLEY tests one of the new two-way radio communication phones which are being installed in taxis operated by the Limited Cab company. The equipment will probably be ready for use in Iowa City sometime next week. The company expects each radio-equipped cab to be able to serve twice as many customers under the new system.

Chemical Society To Hear Address By Professor Hixon

Prof. Ralph M. Hixon, head of the chemistry department of Iowa State college, will speak on "Some Aspects of Starch Chemistry" before the Iowa section of the American Chemical society Friday night.

His speech, at 7:30 in room 300 of the chemistry building, is being sponsored by the American Chemical society and the graduate college.

Professor Hixon's research has been on the organic chemistry of compounds found in plant tissue. He is one of the leading authorities in the field of phytochemistry.

A member of the faculty of the chemistry department of Iowa State college since 1923, Professor Hixon was appointed head of the plant chemistry sub-section of the Iowa agricultural experiment station in 1934, and head of the chemistry department in 1944.

After being graduated from Iowa State college, Professor Hixon studied at the Nobel institute in Stockholm and at the University of Wisconsin where he received his doctorate degree in 1921.

In 1922, Professor Hixon went to the University of Karlsruhe, where he studied under Karl Freudenberg.

A dinner will be held at 6 p. m. in the private dining room of Iowa Union. Reservations should be made with the secretary today. The price is $1.

Town Men to Elect Association Officers

The Town Men's association will meet tomorrow evening in room 221A, Shaeffer hall to elect 1946-47 officers and to discuss a recreational program. The 7:30 meeting will include intramural activities and reports of the constitutional committee, Guy Keller, G of Iowa City, committee member, said yesterday.

Meeting Canceled

The meeting of the Student Federalists scheduled for tonight has been canceled, co-chairman David Stanley, A1 of Muscatine, announced yesterday.

Next meeting of the organization will be Wednesday, Dec. 11, 7:30 p. m., in the Methodist student center.

Engineers to Inspect Cedar Rapids Plants

About 25 members of the local chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineering will make an inspection trip at the Quaker Oats and Penick and Ford plants in Cedar Rapids tomorrow, according to R. W. MacDonald, E4 of Jefferson, publicity chairman. Students making the trip will leave by Cranick at noon.

Chemical engineers and others interested in making the trip are to sign the list in the chemical engineering office, MacDonald said.

Nolt to Present Paper At Wildlife Conference

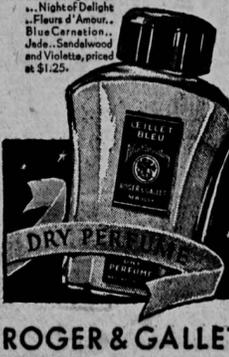

Prof. L. O. Nolt of the zoology department will attend the Midwest Wildlife conference at Jefferson, Mo. tomorrow and Friday. He will present a paper on "Fish Grub Control Studies on Carrol Lake, Wis."

Glen Hoffman, a graduate assistant will also present a paper at the meeting, entitled "Experimental Infection of Sunfish (Lepomis gibbosus) and Its Occurrence in the Blood."

Johnson County doctors have been requested to refer all patients seeking relief from alcoholic problems to the Iowa City chapter of Alcoholics Anonymous.

A letter sent to the doctors throughout the county assures those who contact the organization that their problems and names would be held in confidence.

The Iowa City branch of Alcoholics Anonymous may be contacted by writing to postoffice box 482, or by calling 9572 in the evening.

Firkusny to Present Recital Tonight at 8

Rudolph Firkusny, Czech pianist, will present a recital this evening at 8 o'clock in the main lounge of Iowa Union. The program will be the second in the year's university concert course.

The pianist, who is said to have contributed more to the popularity of Czech music than any other living Bohemian, will include in tonight's program works by two Czech composers, Smetana and Martinu.

After four appearances in Montreal, Firkusny was described as "one of the four or five greatest pianists in the world," by the Montreal Daily Herald's music critic.

A few non-student tickets for tonight's concert still may be purchased at the union lobby ticket desk, Prof. C. B. Righter, concert course manager, said last night. Holders of student identification cards who have not already done so may still obtain free tickets.

SUI Debaters Meet Missourians Tonight

Two members of the University Forensic association arrived in Columbia, Mo., this morning where they will meet debaters of the University of Missouri tonight, for the first exchange debate of the season.

The debate will be conducted in the Waters auditorium at 7:30, Prof. A. Craig Baird, director of speech, said yesterday.

Iowa students will take the affirmative in the question, "Resolved: That this house believes with Russia highly probable within the next generation."

An open forum will be conducted after the debate.

University Forensic members debating are Leo Ziffren, A2 of Davenport, and Douglas Williamson, A4 of Iowa City.

Most Cottages For Men Now Ready

Cottage housing assignments for single students neared completion yesterday with an announcement that 10 of 12 cottages at Hillcrest and nine others at the Quadrangle will be occupied today and tomorrow.

The other two cottages at Hillcrest will be occupied soon, according to Mrs. Marie S. Swords, director there.

The one remaining cottage at Quadrangle will be left vacant for the remainder of the semester, Director Elizabeth Englert said yesterday.

3 To Be Assigned

Mrs. Ethel Miller, director at Law Commons, said the three empty cottages there probably will not be assigned until next semester.

Cottages near the Quadrangle and Hillcrest will house 10 men each, and are completely ready for occupancy, according to the directors at those units.

To Empty Fieldhouse

Tomorrow's move will empty the fieldhouse of students assigned there at the start of the semester to wait completion of barracks housing, according to Mrs. Swords.

Meanwhile, R. J. Sharp, project manager on the 680-unit housing project on west campus, yesterday estimated that 50-75 units located between the fine arts building and Riverdale will be ready for occupancy by married students by the end of the month.

Dr. Woods Selected To Fill Board Post in Masonic Association

Dr. Roscoe Woods was elected last night to the Masonic Temple association board of directors to fill a vacancy resulting from the death of Charles Bowman several months ago.

Three directors reelected were Dr. Mark L. Floyd, Dr. Ray V. Smith and Carl S. Kringle.

The association consists of members of Iowa City lodge 4, Iowa City chapter 2, Palestine Commandery 2, Jessamine chapter 135 and Bethlehem Shrine 8.

A pot-luck supper was served preceding the business meeting.

Fees Total $1,029 For Hunting, Fishing

R. J. (Dick) Jones, county recorder, issued 610 hunting and fishing licenses for total fees of $1,029.25 during November.

Licenses included 34 resident fishing, 379 resident hunting, 35 combination hunting and fishing licenses, 2 six-day non-resident fishing, 2 non-resident fishing, 17 non-resident hunting and 140 trapping permits.

Directors Elected for Riverdale Co-op; 147 Families Pledge Purchase of Shares

Share holders in the co-operative store to be established at Riverdale village last night elected a seven-member board of directors to put the store in operation.

Elected to the board are Frank R. Diggins Jr., L1 of Marshalltown; Robert Riggs, A4 of Ames; Roger B. Bant, A3 of Donnellson; Mrs. Darleen Murry, A4 of Ames; William J. McIntire, A2 of Rolfe; Robert Reeves, G. of Ottumwa, and Ben Davis, A2 of Cedar Rapids.

The store has been authorized for faculty members living in university emergency housing and for all university married students. Purchase of shares has been pledged by 147 families, Francis Weaver, L3 of Mason City, University Married Students organization chairman, reported last night.

He said that the articles of incorporation he has drawn up will probably be approved intact when the board of directors meets Friday night, and will then be sent to the Iowa secretary of state for approval. Board members will

Miner Studies Decision

VETERAN DIGGER in the Coverdale, Pa., Mine No. 8, Thomas McMonagle, reads to his grandson Bob Lewis the news of the court decision finding John L. Lewis guilty of contempt of court.

LEWIS

pute Lewis as an alleged violator of the war labor disputes act (Smith-Connally act). This law forbids anyone to encourage a strike against the government.

The document also said Lewis and the union "obstructed" the United States in its exercise of sovereign functions.

Goldsborough ruled Lewis and the union in contempt because they did not obey his restraining order of Nov. 18. That order, if obeyed, would have headed off the "bituminous" coal walkout which occurred at midnight Nov. 20. Lewis had given notice he was breaking off his contract with the government, and the judge's action of Nov. 18 ordered him not to let this notice stay in effect.

Yesterday's historic verdict came on the 13th day of that walkout. More and more of the nation's industry felt the pinch as "coal-piles" shrank. And the outlook for getting the men back to work was as gloomy as ever.

Edward R. Burke, who wanted the private coal operators to sit down and bargain with Lewis, resigned as president of the Southern Coal Producers association. He quit after a powerful section of his board of directors renounced his proposals for talks with Lewis.

Goldsborough asked the attorneys on both sides—for the government and Lewis—to give their views today. (9 a. m. CST) on what penalties he should impose. In his deep, rolling, deliberate voice, Lewis told the judge that the Norris-LaGuardia act of 1932 prevents labor injunctions "in language which any intelligent citizen can understand."

Lewis said Goldsborough granted the restraining order "without notice and without a hearing."

He said that even above the Norris-LaGuardia act, the constitution guarantees to the miners freedom of speech, press, assembly and "freedom from involuntary servitude." His voice rose to a roar on those four words. Then he said:

"Your injunction, sir, I respectfully submit deprives the miners of these constitutional rights."

Lewis read from a report adopted by the 1919 convention of the AFL, to the effect that AFL members would treat all injunctive decrees that invaded their personal liberties as unwarranted and illegal. "and accept whatever consequences may follow."

CHECK UP ON YOUR WASHER

YOUR washer is doubly important today in conserving your strength—in fighting disease and infection. It should give you duration-long service — with the right kind of use and care. Follow the suggestions listed below. If anything goes wrong, call your appliance dealer.

In Using Washer:

- ★ Know the capacity of your washer and do not overload it.
- ★ Adjust wringer rolls for thickness of material—spread clothing evenly as you start feeding.
- ★ Drain and rinse tub immediately after washing is done.
- ★ Follow manufacturer's instructions for oiling and greasing.

St. Pat's Wins, 70-27; Hawklets Trip Demons

Jerry Megan Leads St. Pat's Rout of St. Wenceslaus Five

Special to The Daily Iowan
St. Patrick's quintet opened its 1946-47 season last night and uncovered a new star in big Jerry Megan, six foot, one inch senior forward who poured in 32 points to lead the Irish to a resounding 70-27 win over St. Wenceslaus at Cedar Rapids.

Coach Cliff Kritt's rangy outfit simply tore the St. Wenceslaus zone defense to shreds with a whirlwind offense that scored almost at will. Aiding Megan, was McMahon, forward, and Seemuth, center, who both accounted for 14 points.

The boys from St. Pat's wasted no time in getting the rout underway when the above mentioned Jerry Megan racked up 14 quick points of the initial Irish 16. His teammates took over the honors from that point on and more then overbalanced the efforts of the scrappy St. Wenceslaus five led by Sopousek, center, who netted four baskets and one free throw for nine points.

The outcome was never in doubt with the first quarter score 19-7 in favor of St. Pat's. The half-time score was 35-15, and the Irish continued their march to lead in the third quarter, 51-18. In the final frame, the Irish coasted until the last four minutes and then bombarded the basket with an additional 16 points.

Coach Kritt, starting his eighth year as mentor of the Irish, presented a team that averaged six foot, one inch in height. The starting lineup included two men from last year's aggregation, Seemuth, center, and Herdeliska, guard.

The St. Patrick's team, in overwhelming the St. Wenceslaus quintet, played unusually smooth ball on offense. Their height advantage was apparent in the complete Irish control of rebounds. Defensively, the Irish showed the expected first game weaknesses. The passing game was erratic but the barrage of baskets offset this deficiency. The loss was the third in five games for St. Wenceslaus.

Jerry Megan accumulated his 32 points by scoring 14 in the quarter, four in the second, eight in the third, and six in the final period.

Iowa Cagers Drill For Kansas State Invasion Saturday

Although the opening game performance of the University of Iowa cagers was termed "satisfactory" by Coach "Pops" Harrison, the Hawkeye cagers lost no time in starting preparation for their next test Saturday night when Kansas State college invades the fieldhouse.

Coach Harrison commented "In beating South Dakota State, the players showed pretty well-balanced scoring, and good team play for the opener, but there also are some things which must be corrected before we meet tougher opponents."

And it's a safe bet that the Kansas State quintet will be one of those tougher opponents. The Big Six outfit is reported to have good height, especially in the starting lineup which has four players between six foot, one inch and six foot, five inches.

Four of the Kansas State starters are freshmen who have won places from four lettermen and the veterans moved down to the second team. Kansas State won its opening game from Ft. Hays State Teachers and plays Drake in Des Moines Friday evening.

The Hawkeyes undoubtedly will get a heavy dose of free throw drills this week. In the South Dakota State game the Iowa team missed 13 gift shots while connecting with nine, an average which won't hold up in Big Nine ball.

AN EASY FOUR POINTS FOR IOWA

HERB WILKINSON, Iowa's great guard, shows the stuff that made him a three time all-American. Herb is a deadly accurate shot in addition to being a top defensive performer.

DAVE DANNER is another of Pop Harrison's lads who is expected to help the Hawks attain a high rating in the Western conference this season. Both of the above pictures were taken Monday night when Iowa blasted South Dakota State college 73-32 in the opening game of the campaign.

Washington Rally Falls Short, 35-32

Special to The Daily Iowan
WASHINGTON — Iowa City high school jumped off to a 10-2 first quarter lead and then fought off a last quarter Washington rally to win its third game of the season, 35-32, here last night.

Big Gene Hetrick banged in four field goals from his center position to lead the Hawklets. Dick Vacha and Bill Kelsey were tops for Washington each with nine points.

It was rough and tumble type of game that a small floor usually produces and the teams had a total of 43 fouls called against them. Iowa City notched 20 with the losers getting 23.

Jimmy Sangster and Dick Drake pushed City High into a fast lead and Bob Beals cashed in two gift shots before the hosts could score.

From that 4-2 lead early in the first quarter until four minutes were left in the last period Iowa City had things its own way. The Little Hawks moved into a 10-2 first quarter advantage, had a 20-10 margin at the half, and built it into a 25-19 lead at the third quarter turn.

The invaders kept up the pressure in the first minutes of the last quarter and had a 33-19 lead with four minutes left, but then Washington came to life.

With Vacha leading the way Washington started pulling up, but the effort was three points shy at the final whistle.

Drake, Iowa City center, was hurt in the first quarter and did not see any more action. Reichardt suffered a bad cut over the eye but returned to finish out the game.

The Little Hawks move into Davenport Saturday night in a crucial Mississippi Valley Conference game.

Mike Jacobs Critically Ill

Promoter Suffers Cerebral Hemorrhage

NEW YORK (P)—Michael Straus Jacobs, who mushroomed two free tickets to a neighborhood boxing match into a million-dollar business, collapsed in a Broadway office yesterday and was taken to St. Clair hospital where his condition was reported critical.

The 66-year-old promotional dictator of the fistie industry suffered a cerebral hemorrhage, his physician, Dr. Vincent Nardiello, said, adding that his condition would remain critical for at least 48 hours.

Dr. Nardiello said Jacobs had been suffering from a severe cold for three weeks and was on a visit to a chiropractor in the Capitol Theater building yesterday afternoon when he was stricken.

Dr. Nardiello, who is also physician for Jacob's twentieth Century sporting club—the headquarters of the promoter's business enterprises—said he had called Dr. Peter Croce of the hospital staff into a consultation.

Born March 10, 1880 in lower New York City, the third of nine children of a tailor, Jacobs hawked newspapers to help add to the family income. He had to leave school after the sixth grade and his promotional career started soon afterward.

While he was peddling sandwiches in Tammany hall, a newspaper circulation manager gave him two tickets to a boxing match. An acquaintance offered $2 for the tickets and Mike, somewhat amazed, sold them promptly.

That transaction gave him the germ of an idea which resulted eventually in bringing his sports fame and fortune. He built up one of the largest ticket brokerage businesses in the city.

Although he did not dominate the fight game as a promoter until 1935, he was a familiar figure to "insiders" of the sport for two decades before that.

After the death of Tex Rickard,

Jacobs began to emerge as a promoter of Milk fund and Christmas fund bouts in New York. Soon thereafter he organized the Twentieth Century club.

When Joe Louis' star began to appear on the horizon the shrewd Jacobs signed him for his exclusive services. As Louis' prestige grew knockout by knockout, Mike made money in promotion.

After an historic legal battle with the management of Madison Square Garden, Jacobs was called in to take over the promotion of garden fights. By 1941 he controlled all the fistie titles from heavyweight down to the lightweight divisions.

Intramural Sports
Swimming is the only intramural activity which will function tonight due to the change in basketball schedules in the Town and Hillcrest Leagues. Instead of tonight the leagues will start next week.

The Quadrangle swimming Meet and the South Quad-Kellogg-Law Commons swimming meet both will begin at 7:30 and run until 9:00. Diving, breast strokes, back strokes, free styles, and regular and medley relays are all on the card for swimmers.

Following are the results of the basketball games played last night in the Social Fraternity and Quad Leagues:

Volleyball games scheduled for last night were all postponed. They will be played at a later date.

Wrestlers Show Wares Today

All University Tourney Will Begin at 4:15 p.m. With Host of Stars Slated to See Action

The three-day all-university mat tournament is slated to begin this afternoon at 4:15 p. m. in the fieldhouse wrestling room, and plenty of action is in the offing.

Wrestling fans can see the grappling talent from which general Mike Howard, Hawk wrestling coach, hopes to build a Big Nine winner, while enjoying an action packed show.

Included in the array of talent Howard will have on hand are Iowa's conference champ, Rummy Macias; three pre-war stars of the 1942 team, Ed Kemp, Dick Geppert, and Roy Pickett; Freshmen Joe Scarpello, and Subby Colantino, two state high school mat kings while prepping at Omaha, Neb. Scarpello also held the National A. A. U. 165-pound crown before entering the service, and mixes plenty of class with rugged ability.

To this add Duane Hanson, former conference winner at North-western; Bob Geigel, one of Dr. Eddie Anderson's top guards this fall; Don Rodenhorn, Vern McCoy, the Hancock brothers, and a host of reviews, and for this pre-season review no admission will be charged.

Weighing in, and heavy workouts were in order yesterday as Howard sent the boys through three two-minute time periods, the route they will go in competition.

Pairings are to be drawn today with the final deadline set at 12 noon.

Entry list:
121-pound class—Vern McCoy, Subby Colantino.
128-pound class—Rummy Macias, Earl Thorpe.
136-pound class—Duane Hanson, Gordon Larson.
145-pound class—Roy Pickett, Don White, Don Rodenhorn.
165-pound class—Bill Spencer, Jim Knowles, Kenneth Keith, Dave Walton.
175-pound class—Joe Scarpello, Art Clark.
Heavyweight class—Jim Gilchrist, Jack Hancock, Ed Kehe, Bog Geigel, Mickey Rubinow, Dick Geppert.

Dear Joe & Jane:
Sorry we couldn't hold over Gaslight and Laura last week—we know many couldn't get in. However, if the coal strike continues we'll be operating with Gaslight.

We've had numerous requests for one of the greatest of Samuel Goldwyn's productions—DEAD END. It has an all-star cast... Humphrey Bogart, Sylvia Sydney and Joel McCrea. It was a Broadway hit for 2 years and today, after 7 years it is still a timely picture.

The Sidney Kingsley drama, depression inspired tells of the slum menaces in a big city, its incubation of public enemies, its prisonous effect on society. That particular depression is gone but the slums still remain ready to pounce when the pocket books again become slim.

And for sheer entertainment we've added Cornel Wilde in 1001 Nights (Technicolor). Its first uproarious Arabian Nights tale ever told.

For those who haven't seen Dead End we recommend it highly. Not only because it is a film classic but too because of its timeliness.

So come on down to YOUR THEATRE where the pictures you've chosen are played.

Remember until you've seen it it's a world premiere.

Sincerely,

Notre Dame Moves Army Out As Nation's Top Grid Team

NEW YORK (P)—Turning their backs on Army for the first time in three years, sports writers across the nation picked Notre Dame yesterday as the outstanding college football team of 1946.

Army's narrow squeak against Navy last Saturday while Notre Dame was mastering Southern California contributed heavily to the final decision of 184 experts who participated in the Associated Press' last poll of the year, making the vote the heaviest in the history of the weekly balloting.

It ended the long reign of the Cadets who finished on top in both 1944 and 1945.

The Irish, who played a scoreless tie with Army this season to put the only blot on Army's three-year record covering 28 games compiled 1730 1/2 points in the final ballot to Army's 1,659 1/2 on the usual basis of ten points for a first-place vote, nine for second, and so on.

Illinois, with a record of seven victories and two defeats, was picked as the No. 5 team, followed by Michigan.

Seven of the top ten teams will appear in major bowl games in New Year's day. It will be UCLA vs. Illinois in the Rose Bowl, Georgia vs. North Carolina in the Sugar Bowl, Tennessee vs. Rice in the Orange Bowl and Louisiana State vs. Arkansas, which finished in 16th place, in the Cotton Bowl.

The final standings:

1—Notre Dame	11—Georgia Tech
2—Army	12—Yale
3—Georgia	13—Penn
4—U.C.L.A.	14—Oklahoma
5—Illinois	15—Texas
6—Michigan	16—Arkansas
7—Tennessee	17—Tulsa
8—Louis. State	18—N. C. State
9—North Carolina	19—Delaware
10—Rice	20—Indiana

Third Local Building Faces Shutdown for Lack of Fuel

The grim effects of the national coal shortage were felt in Iowa City for the third time in two days yesterday when tenants of the Morrison building heard they may be without heat by Christmas day.

Two other buildings already faced with shutdown due to lack of fuel are the Community building and local armory.

Tenants May Leave

S. T. Morrison, building owner, said the emergency would probably result in tenants evacuating late this month unless the coal strike ends.

Tenants include Hauser's jewelry store, Riggs optical company, Ford Hopkins drugs, Maher Bros. office, Iowa City commercial college, June's beauty shop, Dr. G. F. Spielhagen, Dr. Ned Smith, S. T. Morrison and company, Dr. Harold Smith and W. T. Morrison, attorney.

Other city business houses and downtown offices were conserving limited fuel supplies in the best possible makeshift methods.

E. E. Kline, manager of the Iowa state employment service, said his office would be moved to the basement of the county courthouse effective tomorrow afternoon. ISES office will temporarily occupy the room vacated for issuing county vehicle licenses.

"This is the last day of our operations at the Community building," Kline stated. "But it won't take us long to set up at the courthouse for receiving applicants."

Kline said he had consent of the county board of supervisors to change office sites for duration of the fuel crisis.

Reshuffling Dates, Sites

Organizations, clubs and civic groups which had scheduled meetings this month at Community building, were reshuffling dates and meeting sites to heated buildings.

Typical example was the women's auxiliary of Veterans of Foreign Wars post No. 2581, slated to meet at Community lounge tomorrow night. A member said the auxiliary had changed its meeting location to the Eagles lodge rooms.

No further developments were reported from university building and grounds officials in their efforts to combat dwindling of fuel for the power plant. Little more than a month's coal supply remains in university bins for maintenance of heat, light and electricity facilities.

Medical Group to Elect New Officers Tonight

Officers for the coming year will be elected by the Johnson County Medical society tonight following a 6 o'clock dinner at Hotel Jefferson.

Dr. Wilbur R. Miller, head of the university psychiatry department, will introduce the topic, "Psychosomatic Medicine."

Theoretical aspects will be discussed by Dr. Jacques Gottlieb, and Dr. Frank Coburn will speak about clinical applications of psychosomatic medicine.

Mercury Rises to 48, Relieves Cold Spell

Balmy weather returned to Iowa City yesterday as the mercury climbed above the freezing point to 48 degrees during the afternoon. Weather forecasts predict continued fair and warm weather for today.

The unseasonably warm weather yesterday ended a brief cold spell which brought thermometers down to seven degrees above zero Monday morning.

'Y' Track to Replace Loop for Interurban

The Crandick interurban line plans to discontinue use of the loop track on Clinton and Washington streets.

A "Y" track will be laid at the corner of Capitol and College streets so the interurban cars can back out onto Capitol street for the return trip to Cedar Rapids.

Work on the new track will begin as soon as necessary materials arrive in Iowa City. According to Robert Farrell, railway superintendent, the switch for the "Y" cannot be delivered before March.

Farrell said he believed that the new arrangement will save time on the interurban schedule and will help relieve traffic light congestion at the intersections of Clinton and Washington and Clinton and College streets.

Zion Lutheran Women To Display Fancywork, Gifts in Church Parlor

The annual display of fancywork and Christmas gifts sponsored by the women of the Zion Lutheran church will open this afternoon at 1 p. m. at the church.

Coffee and kolaches will be served during the program. Mrs. Charles Voss is in charge of the display.

A Christmas party and program will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the church parlors. Chairman for the party committee is Mrs. George Tomlin, assisted by Mrs. Ed Schupert, Mrs. Clarence Vestermark, Mrs. Effie Schroeder, Mrs. C. E. Nybakken, Mrs. Emil Schmidt and Mrs. Myrtle Boats.

Cecil Slach Injured In Freak Accident

Cecil Slach, 19, suffered a broken wrist yesterday in an accident at his farm home five miles east of Oxford.

The youth said he was standing by his tractor when an unmanned wagon unexpectedly rolled down a slope, pinning him against the tractor and fracturing his wrist. After receiving treatment at Mercy hospital, Slach returned to his home.

Negoes Testify Against Bilbo

BLOOD-STAINED CLOTHING is exhibited by Richard E. Daniel of Gulfport, Miss., at the investigation of Senator Theodore G. Bilbo's campaign tactics during the Mississippi primary elections last July. Daniel testified that he was beaten when he attempted to vote.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Two Negroes swore yesterday that they were beaten because they sought to vote last July in a Democratic primary election in which Senator Theo. G. Bilbo of Mississippi was nominated for a third term. One exhibited stained clothing as evidence. They were witnesses at a hearing conducted by a senate investigating committee which is looking into charges that Bilbo's campaign tactics kept Negroes from exercising their constitutional right to take part in party primaries.

Varnado R. Collier, Gulfport Negro, testified that on July 2 when he and his wife entered the city hall to vote, 10 or 15 white men swarmed over him, beating him until he lost consciousness and threw him out on the city hall porch. His protesting wife, Collier said, was also struck.

Another witness, Richard E. Daniel, said he was not allowed to vote in Gulfport, was struck by two men who ordered him to "take that damn hat off," then was taken to jail and beaten in a cell by a police officer he named as "Williams." He displayed to the committee clothing splashed with brown stains he said were blood from injuries sustained in the beating.

Sen. Ellender (D., La.), committee chairman, said the officer mentioned had been called to appear today. Meanwhile Dave P. Gayden circuit court clerk at Brandon, said he "never heard" of Etoy Fletcher, another Negro veteran who testified today to a beating. Bilbo, an unruffled spectator, said he had not decided yet whether he would testify. "I have three good lawyers," the senator said. "I'll take their advice, just as I take the medicine the doctor gives me when I am sick."

John Cornwall yesterday paid $5 in police court fines for five overtime parking violations, and six other persons were fined $1 each for similar offenses.

They were F. J. Fairbanks, Ralph Krotz, E. Zimmerman, Clifford Kelly, Bruce Knowles and Edith Jones.

Jaycees Continue Plans to Distribute Christmas Baskets

Continuation of plans for distributing Christmas baskets to needy Iowa City families was approved last night by the Junior Chamber of Commerce at a meeting in Hotel Jefferson.

The chamber voted to use part of its $200 Christmas appropriation for supplying food and gift baskets to 25 families on Christmas. It was also decided that each of the Jaycees must bring a usable toy or a quantity of canned goods as admittance price for the next meeting Dec. 17. These will be included in the gift baskets.

As part of its Christmas activity, the chamber also will sponsor the broadcasting of St. Mary's chimes over WSUI during the week preceding Dec. 25.

The question of sponsoring a golden gloves boxing tournament in February was discussed at length by the members present. A further announcement on the matter will be released later this week.

Hal Trosky, member of the Chicago White Sox baseball team who was scheduled to address the group last night, was unable to appear because his car broke down in Cedar Rapids. Don Powell, program chairman, said that an effort will be made to have Trosky appear at the next meeting.

Rural Teachers To Hear New Education Plan

Johnson county rural teachers will hear Marceline Smith and Mrs. Eloise Oxtoby explain the new Johnson county special education program Saturday at 9:30 a. m. at the courthouse.

Miss Smith is a representative of the special education division of the state department of public instruction. The division is sponsoring special education in Johnson county. Mrs. Oxtoby is the supervisor of the new program here.

Special Attention

The program is designed to give special attention to children who are not receiving the greatest possible benefit from teaching because of speech, hearing or vision difficulties; educational or mental retardation; or behavior and personality problems.

The first project will be screening surveys throughout the county to find children who need special help. Surveys will include speech and hearing tests in addition to conferences with teachers about problems of individual students.

Surveys in Iowa City grade schools began Monday.

Surveys of Problem

Special tests will be given to children found by the surveys to have educational problems, and recommendations for any special education will be made to teachers and parents. The program includes making available necessary equipment for any special services to children.

Advisory committee members for Johnson county are Iver A. Opstad, superintendent of Iowa City public schools; F. J. Snider, county superintendent, and W. A. Winterstein, director of the state division of special education.

R.L. Parrott Joins Fire Department

Robert L. Parrott, 23, 1029 N. Dodge street, assumed his duties today as the first of six new firemen expected to join the Iowa City fire department.

With Parrott's appointment there are now 11 firemen working under Chief J. J. Clark. Another man has been appointed by the city council to start work in January.

It is expected that four more appointments will be made next spring. Parrott, an army veteran, served two years in Europe and Africa.

Gas Hawks to Convene Tonight at Hobby Harbor

The Iowa City Gas Hawks will hold their second meeting at 7:30 tonight at Hobby Harbor, 210 N. Linn street.

Originally scheduled for the recreation center, tonight's meeting place was changed when a shortage of coal to heat the building prompted closing the center. President L. R. Johnson said yesterday the meeting will be mainly devoted to plans for increasing the club's membership.

Now comprised of nine builders of gas-powered model air planes, the Gas Hawks are seeking a membership of about 20 so they can be accredited by the national Academy of Model Aeronautics.

Marriage License

A marriage license was issued yesterday to Charles C. Bright and Olive M. Peterson, Iowa City, by R. Neilson Miller, clerk of district court.

Almost half of the 650,000 fires in the United States each year occur in private dwellings.

She married a football team!

As a movie star, beautiful Corinne Griffith was famed as The Orchid of the Screen. Then she married George Preston Marshall—and his Washington Redskins. In today's Saturday Evening Post she writes a lively article about what it's like to be a woman in the men's world of professional football. She describes some of the strange and wonderful things that have happened to her—and to pro football!
