GOOD MORNING, IOWA CITY!

Generally fair and mild today and tonight. Tomorrow increasing cloudiness and slightly colder.

Arnall Loses Offices Again

Sets up Headquarters Downtown; Blasts Strong-Arm Tactics

ATLANTA (AP)—Ellis Arnall lost his temporary offices in the latehouse rotunda yesterday as rival governor claimant Herman Talmadge took charge, and Arnall promptly set up a capitol of his own in a downtown office building.

Arnall was barred from his rotunda office, established Wednesday after Talmadge seized control of the executive offices which Arnall had occupied for the past four years, by a Talmadge lieutenant when he showed up for work this morning.

Reiterating his claims that he is the "legal governor" and that he was ousted from the statehouse by a "military coup d'etat," the 39-year-old Arnall said he would function from the business section office building.

Talmadge, 33, a former lieutenant commander in the navy, made no comment on Arnall's charges at a news conference but asserted "everything is quiet."

Arnall in a radio address urged the people of Georgia to discuss the gubernatorial issue with legislators who elected Herman early Wednesday, declaring that they had "been robbed of their rights." Rep. Jimmy Dykes, a Talmadge aide, blocked Arnall from the rotunda desk set up Wednesday when Arnall was denied entry into his former offices.

"Jimmy, I'm governor," Arnall said as he asked for the desk.

"You remind me of a hog," Dykes retorted. "You got your head in the trough and you just can't stop."

"You have no more right to be governor than I have," Dykes replied when Arnall asked "have you taken my office?"

Hisses and cheers echoed through the corridors when Arnall, speaking to the crowd that surrounded him, declared he was moving downtown "to function as chief executive" in order "not to discredit the people of Georgia and to create a disturbance."

"I'm sure the courts will uphold me as legal governor and not the forces bent on violence," he said.

Arnall's reference was to the suit he instituted in his contention that the legislature is not empowered to elect a governor. The assembly elected young Talmadge to fill the office to which the fiery Eugene Talmadge, his father, was named in the general election but died 23 days before inauguration.

Arnall, completing a four-year term, said he would resign when M. E. Thompson, first lieutenant governor under the new constitution, "is qualified to exercise the executive powers."

"The only statement I am making is that when the state senate reconvenes Monday, I am going to take the oath of office," Thompson said.

Determination of whether Arnall or Talmadge holds the state's purse strings may come today when 28 minor capitol employees are due wages from the executive department fund. Arnall had their checks drawn but the bank said it would not comment until they are presented.

Attorney General Tom C. Clark indicated in Washington that Georgia would be left to settle its own squabble. "I'm a states' rights man myself," Clark told newsmen when asked what he was going to do about the argument.

Thin Man Was There But Thief Was Thinner

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The police radio droned yesterday: "One thin policeman report to the corner of South Woodstock and Dickinson streets."

Already there were 15 heavily-set uniformed policemen on the scene but none was thin enough to get through a trapdoor through which it was believed a thief had crawled into an attic.

While police searched in vain for one thin cop, the fire bureau came to the rescue and Emil Altimari, a slim ladderman, went through the trapdoor armed with axe and flashlight.

The attic was empty.

Defense, State Rest Cases After Patton Testifies $10-20 Raises Are Effective As of Jan. 1

Schedule Final Arguments For Monday

By CAROL RACKER

Evidence was concluded yesterday in the first degree murder trial of William W. Patton after Patton took the witness stand for two hours and told his story of the fatal knifing Nov. 24 of Ernest R. Brown.

The defense rested its case at 2:30 p.m. immediately after Patton's testimony and 15 minutes later the prosecution concluded its evidence with the rebuttal testimony of Police Chief O.A. White.

Judge Evans told the jury that through agreement with counsel for both sides the trial would be continued until 9 a.m. Monday when attorneys would present closing arguments. The prosecuting attorneys present the first argument and are given opportunity for final argument after the defense presentation.

In his story yesterday, Patton told the jury that when he came home about 2 a.m. Nov. 24 and found two men in his living room, he went immediately to the kitchen and told his wife to "get those people out of here."

When she said, "Why be like that?" Patton said he went to the bedroom to start packing a suitcase. Again he asked Mrs. Patton to have the people leave and when she gave a similar reply, Patton said he went to the kitchen and got a bayonet and butcher knife.

When he went to the kitchen door with the knives and asked them to leave, he didn't make any threat with words or actions to any of them and didn't step into the living room, Patton testified.

"The man (Stucker) in the east part of the room got up and said, 'Come on, let's go' to the other man. Dora Parsons followed him," Patton explained.

Miss Parsons and Stucker told the jury Wednesday that Patton didn't advance toward Brown, and Miss Parsons said she saw Brown go at Patton with a knife and kick a bayonet from Patton's hand.

"The other man said he wasn't going and started after me. I told him not to come any closer. He took out his knife—it was open—and kicked the bayonet from my hand. I was holding the knives down," Patton said.

Patton told that he was backed into the kitchen by Brown, kicked in the stomach when Brown kicked at the other knife, cut four times by Brown's knife before he (Patton) stuck Brown with the butcher knife.

I didn't have any intention of using those knives. I just wanted the people to leave. I stuck the other man because I (See PATTON, page 8)

"ISN'T IT TRUE," Attorney Edward L. O'Connor asked William Patton, "that you held the knives like this (as he demonstrated to Patton and the jury) when you went to the kitchen door and asked Ernest Brown, Lewis Stucker and Dora Parsons to leave the house?" Patton's answer was, "No, I held them at my side in a natural position." Patton's attorney, Clair Hamilton, foreground, watches O'Connor's demonstration. County Attorney Jack C. ## California Train Crash Kills Seven; Iowan Aids Injured

BAKERSFIELD, CALIF. (AP)—A broken rail sent five cars of the Southern Pacific Owl, San Francisco-Los Angeles passenger train, careening into the ditch 12 miles northwest of here early yesterday, killing seven persons and injuring scores.

Coroner Norman Houze said it is unlikely there are any more bodies in the wreckage. The railroad placed the number of injured at 71 and said only a few of those were seriously hurt.

Three of the dead were not identified. The known fatalities: James Leroy Hall, Kansas City, Mo.

Bessie Diles, Richmond, Calif. Pvt. Joseph Bernavich, 18, Richmond, Calif.

Mrs. Erma Duvall, Beaumont, Tex.

Highway patrolman Jack Bordeau credited two soldiers—Marvin Stansberry, Moulton, Iowa, and Orvis Humphrey, Kidder, Mo., with heroism in rescuing passengers.

Bordeau said their prompt action probably saved the lives of some of the more seriously injured.

Dr. Robert J. Dows, Southern Pacific district surgeon, arrived shortly after the tragedy and personally helped remove about 15 from the wreckage, treating them as best he could on the spot. Dr. Dows said he saw one man's leg crushed from his body by an overturned car and another small boy with his arm torn off.

Four coaches and a tourist sleeper were overturned, landing far off the tracks. The other seven cars left the rails but remained upright. The locomotive stayed on the tracks, and its crew was uninjured.

Lester Ford, San Francisco, a porter, said he was dozing at the rear of the car.

"A grinding roar woke me up," he declared. "I felt the engineer hit the air (apply the brakes) and then I knew we were in for it. I was thrown to the floor and the shock dazed me."

Ex-Intelligence Man Indicted for Denying He Was Communist

WASHINGTON (AP)—Carl Aldo Marzani, 35, who worked on state department intelligence for a year, was indicted yesterday on charges of falsely stating he had never been a Communist.

The specific charge is fraud upon the government. Possible penalties run as high as $10,000 fine and 10 years in prison.

Attorney General Clark said the indictment charges that Marzani: 1. Used the name of "Tony Whales" and "was a member and worker in the said party in New York during the years 1940 and 1941."

2. Spoke at various gatherings in New York urging defeat of the conscription bill by which the United States was seeking to build up its armed forces.

3. Served as a branch organizer for the Communist party in New York in 1940-41 and helped recruit new members.

4. Instructed party members to sow discontent and resentment among Negroes by agitating the question of racial discrimination.

Wants Repeal Of Half Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman asked congress yesterday to repeal appropriations of $563,888,579, including $132,000,000 of spending authorizations.

Announcement of his request followed by several days a demand from Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the house appropriations committee for a detailed report on the current status of all appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30.

A White House statement said the $563,888,579 figure was in addition to five previous recommendations for reductions in appropriations found unnecessary. It said these others, which included great slashes in army and navy appropriations, reduced the net authorized federal program by more than $64,000,000.

The main saving he asked is $325,000,000 which was made available to the maritime commission and is not now required because of the liquidation of wartime ship building programs.

Four navy items account for the return of $119,000,000, including contract termination costs, ing funds not required for meet-or purchasing of aircraft materiel and ordnance.

Mr. Truman asked in addition that $40,000,000 be trimmed from funds for the atomic energy commission.

He also cut in half the five million dollar emergency fund appropriated for his own use. The president said that he is ordering returned to the treasury unneeded lend lease funds, not available for obligation after June 30, 1946.

The statement said that appropriations for United States participation in UNRRA will not be disturbed by his repeal requests. It was pointed out that congress has appropriated for UNRRA operations a total of 2 percent of the estimated national income for the year ending June 30, 1943, or $2,700,000,000, adding that other major contributors are making their contributions in full.

Housewives Cheer Nation's Food Prices Drop Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—Further drops in food prices cheered housewives in many sections of the nation yesterday.

Butter again headed the list, falling as low as 65 cents a pound in New York compared with the $1-a-pound peak for the golden commodity last winter. OPA's old ceiling price was 67 cents a pound.

In Washington, government officials forecast a fairly general reduction in the price of milk by Feb. 1. Cuts of about one cent a quart at retail were ordered today for five northeastern areas.

On the other hand, OPA authorized an increase in the cost of sugar which it said would amount to about one-quarter cent a pound at retail.

Washington chain-store markets advertised butter at 69 cents a pound, a drop of around 10 cents in a week, and grade-A fryer chickens at 35 cents a pound. Chickens were selling retail at five or six cents a pound less than the wholesale price last month.

In Chicago, the Atlantic and Pacific Tea company announced a two-cent cut in 93-score butter will apply to the company's stores throughout northern Indiana and Illinois tomorrow.

University of Iowa raises will increase the payroll $180,000 for the six-month period ending June 1, Dancer said. In all, raises at the University of Iowa, Iowa State college, Iowa State Teachers college and the Vinton School for the Blind will exceed $347,000 for the six-month period.

At Iowa State college and Iowa State Teachers college, as well as here, the boosts run from $10 to $20 a month. Raises in the four institutions vary from $5 to $20 a month.

Booster at Iowa State will total $122,930 for the six-month period. Ames authorities said the revisions will affect all fulltime employees except physical plant workers who were given increases last Sept. 1 and others who have obtained increases since Sept. 1.

At the state teachers college in Cedar Falls, the raises will total about $40,000, while those at the school for the blind at Vinton will amount to $3,500.

House Committee Okays Tax Freeze

WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislation freezing indefinitely the high wartime excises on liquors, furs, jewelry, theaters, transportation and many other goods and services was approved unanimously yesterday by the house ways and means committee.

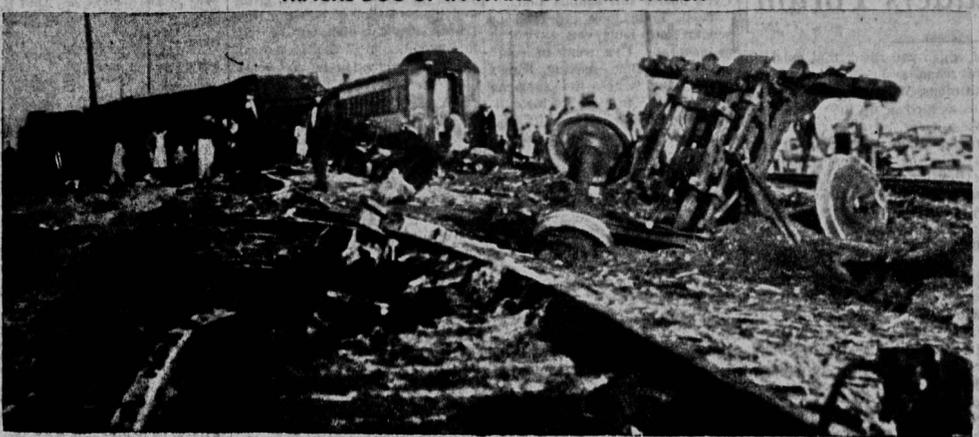

The bill would continue the liquor tax at $9 a proof gallon, preventing an automatic drop to $6 on July 1.

Fire Sweeps N.Y. Hotel, Leaves 3 Dead, 2 Hurt

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—A fire attributed to a lighted cigaret yesterday swept the upper floor of the Graystone hotel, burning three persons to death and injuring two other guests.

Fire Chief Joseph K. Dibble said the blaze may have started from a lighted cigaret in or near the room of one of the victims. Damage was estimated unofficially at about $18,000.

Twenty-two guests fled to safety.

TRACKS ON THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC'S right-of-way 12 miles north of Bakersfield were left in this condition after the "Owl" overnight passenger train bound for Los Angeles from San Francisco, hit a broken rail early yesterday. Seven passengers were killed and about 70 were injured. In the background is an overturned car and several others which were derailed. (A P WIREPHOTO)

Governor Blue Points the Way

There's some mighty fine suggestions embodied in Gov. Robert Blue's 11-point program of governmental reorganization which he presented in his inaugural address Thursday.

There's really nothing very revolutionary about the governor's suggested reforms. Many of them, in fact have too long been delayed—to the extent in some cases that the continued well being of the state has suffered.

But Mr. Blue's proposals do warrant the labels "courageous" and "progressive," however, when compared to the thinking of the 52nd assembly as indicated in the generally critical reactions to his speech expressed by individual lawmakers.

Although the governor did sidestep the touchy income tax issue he did not hesitate to outline his views on the highly charged liquor question and the board of control situation.

In asking for liquor legislation that "will reflect the majority sentiment of the people," Mr. Blue laid his finger on one of the blackest spots on the state's picture. As he pointed out, only cynical hypocrisy results from a system of laws which are more frequently ignored than observed.

Here in Iowa City and Johnson county, for example, it is probably safe to assume that either by over-the-bar sales or by public "spiking" from state-ordered bottles, more liquor is consumed illegally than legally. This is also undoubtedly true of the state as a whole.

This widespread breach of the law would seem to indicate that a great many Iowans think that it is not the use of liquor that is bad but rather it is Iowa's peculiar system of control that is at fault.

Whether the folks who are lead by their own personal inclinations to violate the liquor statutes are in a majority, we don't know, but it's pretty obvious that the control device needs revamping to bring it closer to reality. We hope that the chief executive's apparent understanding of this will be reflected in the legislative body.

Mr. Blue's recommendation that the inefficient board of control which has been operating the state's institutions for the past 50 years should be abolished is another honest recognition of reality.

Here again it is the system, rather than the men who make up the system, that is under attack. No matter how honest and conscientious the three board of control members are in the exercise of their duties it is impossible for them to adequately fulfill them.

They simply are not equipped for the task. Without specialized training it is impossible for any body of laymen to understand the complex problems of medicine, psychiatry and penology required in the operations of the state's tuberculosis sanatorium, mental hospitals and prisons.

The failure of the board of control to comprehend the diversity of the problems encountered in the running of the various institutions is indicated in their tendency to lump the hospital patients in the same category with inmates of the institutions of detention.

The governor's suggestion that the control board be supplanted by a superintendent of mental hospitals, a superintendent of penal and corrective institutions and a superintendent of industries—all to be operated under a single commissioner—seems a proper distinction between the therapeutic, punitive and corrective functions of the different institutions.

It is perhaps significant that Mr. Blue made no reference to the tuberculosis hospital. This may possibly mean tacit approval by the executive of a plan underway to place the sanatorium under the direction of the board of education.

The governor also presented some worthwhile recommendations in other fields. His well expressed thoughts advising against a veterans' bonus are worthy of the lawmaker's consideration.

His recognition of the need for state assistance for the ailing public school systems and of the need for some sort of a housing program can be made the basis for a successful solution of these problems.

The governor has said his piece and now it's up to the assembly.

When the Worms Have Finished Eating

By G. M. WHITE

Almost every fellow, when the moon is big and yellow, feels as new and frisky as a colt. Girls are made for teasing and their hands were made for squeezing, and to learn the technique's antique is really quite a jolt. No matter how you try, son, you're as obsolete as a bison. Compared to you the Model T's a super-eight. For although it's true we fly, like the birds up in the sky, and we've built a lot of fly-specks on the map, in all of history's pages of our life throughout the ages, no improvements are recorded for the species homo sap.

no one can ever say that the Creator was unkind. Man has a nervous system that is doubtless a new twist in the best invention ever made by Henry Ford. To keep it all in, man has a thick skin, and his hands have fingers to scratch him. A well-oiled machine, man is supreme; no other beast can match him.

But man deemed it was his mission to do a little fission. (Lord knows that there are better ways to multiply.) Lacking nothing in alomb he produced a dandy bomb, and proceeded to employ it from the sky. It should be mentioned to his credit that many people said it seemed to be a good idea at the time. But alas! The chain reactions did not halt with sim-gle factions; instead it made men puny and completely at a loss. Thus it is among the mammals (including whales and sloths and camels) that prevail upon the earth, man may no longer be the boss.

The remainder of the story, of the victor's fall from glory, is unfinished so it's useless to implore. Chances are each silly fellow when the moon is mild and mellow will carry on the process as before. But regardless of the weather, there won't be any lovers in the park. There is nothing more platonic than a bomb that's real atomic, and no one left to weep when all is done. When man's heart has finished beating, and the worms have finished eating, it matters not he fought a war—and won.

VD RATHER BE RIGHT

Marshall Preserves Harmony

By SAMUEL GRAFTON
New York Post Syndicate

One commentator asks woefully why we do not have enough civilian talent to fill the high government posts to which President Truman has lately been appointing generals and admirals. We do have enough civilian talent; that is not the difficulty. Others suggest that Mr. Truman is forced to turn to the military because talented persons in private life cannot afford to accept low government salaries. That explanation seems to fall short, too; there are more men of affairs than you could get into Madison Square garden who would be quite willing to crown their careers with a go as secretary of state.

It seems to me the reason lies deeper, and that the appointment of generals to key diplomatic posts flows in a direct way of the harmony between Mr. Truman and the Republicans is a certain thinning out of governmental policy. The firmer the harmony, the less it is about, so to speak.

Without trying to take from General Marshall's towering personal stature, which would be an ungrateful task indeed, it can be said that his appointment as secretary of state neatly fitted into the harmony picture, because it was the appointment of a man who is not directly linked with strong or well-established positions in the field of foreign policy.

The armed services offer a useful category of such men, during this unquiet hour in the history of the Republic. Mr. Truman has discovered with delight this resource for obtaining men of undisputed character and ability, but without political pasts, and he is making ecstatic use of it at a time when the possession of strong views might cause a wave-motion in the still pond of bi-partisan unity.

This is a kind of managerial approach, and I think it explains why we shall be represented at the forthcoming Moscow conference on the German treaty by four general officers, General Marshall, General Bedell Smith, our ambassador to Russia, General Clay, commander in Germany, and General Clark, commander in Austria. It is not that the military is being allowed, by design, to take over; it is rather that the military is pouring into a vacuum.

This is not to suggest that General Marshall may not turn out to be one of the best foreign ministers we have ever had; Mr. Truman may have been lucky, in finding a man who is both completely uncommitted in this field, and yet completely qualified for it.

But the point is not Marshall; the point is Truman, and the "unity" impulse which leads him to seek an appointee who can win confirmation on the basis of his character rather than on his known beliefs. Quite obviously, then, by producing these results, the bipartisan harmony approach tends to flatten down government policy, and to wash the color out of it.

That impression is confirmed by the uneasy brush-off Mr. Truman gave the whole subject of foreign policy in his message to congress. We stand in some danger, I think, of running our foreign policy to maintain harmony rather than maintaining bi-partisan harmony for the sake of a strong and clear foreign policy.

An administration which decides that its first duty is to conciliate the opposition deflates itself of content thereby; the result is a kind of political near-bankruptcy. If the position of the military is rising in American life, that is because there has been a kind of abdication somewhere. As to the long-range consequences of such a tendency, everybody is entitled to his own guess.

Sidewalk Opinions

DO YOU THINK THE IOWA STATE LEGISLATURE SHOULD PASS A BONUS BILL FOR VETERANS AND IF SO, HOW MUCH SHOULD BE PAID AND ON WHAT BASIS SHOULD THE BONUS BE DETERMINED?

Janet Van Alstine, A4, 932 E. College: "Sure, I think they should about three dollars a day for time in the service."

Ernest Miller, E2, Quadrangle: "No. All veterans should be 'citizens first' and I don't think the state treasury should be raided any more than is necessary."

Richard Tripp, A2, Quadrangle: "They certainly should pay a bonus. It should be based on length of service and time overseas."

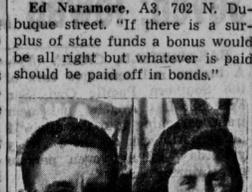

Bill Bock, 128 N. Gilbert: "Absolutely. Five dollars a day for overseas time and four dollars a day for time in the states."

Betty Bisdorf, A4, 804 Iowa avenue: "I think they definitely should pass one. Illinois has a good plan which calls for payment for both overseas time and service in the United States. I think we should have a bonus similar to the one being paid in Illinois."

Orval J. Floyd, A1, 654 S. Governor: "I'm a veteran myself, so I think they should pass one. About a dollar a day would be all right."

Ed Naramore, A3, 702 N. Dubuque street: "If there is a surplus of state funds a bonus would be all right but whatever is paid should be paid off in bonds."

Report Warns Farmers To Watch Livestock During Winter Months

Farmers were warned yesterday to watch their livestock during the winter months.

During the cold weather months cattle are apt to contract lice, grubs and the parasites of cattle mange ("barn itch") which cut heavily into production. Cattle mange can also affect humans who are working with the many animals.

Hogs carrying lice not only carry swine pox but also leave swine open to attacks by other parasites and diseases, the American Foundation for Animal Health reports.

Controlling these hog diseases by dipping, the use of insecticides and the proper follow-up treatments are the most effective. Old bedding should be cleaned out regularly and quarters should be disinfected.

Sheep, which are especially subject to scab mites and ticks, can be cured of their parasitic infection by a system of dipping and sanitation measures.

Through more thorough measures to control all types of livestock parasites, the foundation said real dividends will occur in terms of fatter market animals, better breeding stock and increased output of dairy products.

Georgia's Not the First State to Get in a Political Mess

You Should Have Been in Kentucky in 1900 or Wisconsin in 1855

If you think Georgia's political situation is tangled, you should have been in Kentucky in 1900. That state not only had two governors simultaneously but also two legislatures, two capitals and a gubernatorial assassination to complicate things.

Other states have had to wrestle with the comic-opera problem of two men shoving each other for the governor's chair. In Wisconsin, the issue involved Gen. Douglas MacArthur's grandfather. But none was more spectacular than the Kentucky crisis at the turn of the century.

On the basis of the November election returns, Republican William S. Taylor appeared the winner. But his Democratic rival, William Goebel, contested the election before the Democratic-controlled legislature in Frankfort.

Feeling ran high. More than 1,000 supporters swarmed down from the hills with rifles and pistols. On Jan. 30, 1900, Goebel was shot within 30 feet of the capitol building. Nevertheless, the legislature declared him the new governor.

Taylor, operating behind his militia, declared a state of insurrection. Democratic legislators left Frankfort for Louisville and had Goebel sworn in. Two days later he died, and his running mate, Lt. Gov. J. C. W. Beckham became the Democratic governor.

But Taylor and the Republicans were still in Frankfort with the militia.

The contest was fought up to the U.S. supreme court which refused to upset the legislature's action. Taylor went to Indianapolis. It never was determined who actually killed Goebel.

In Wisconsin, in 1855, the state board of canvassers said Gov. William A. Barstow, Democrat, had been reelected by a plurality of 157 votes over Republican Coles Bashford. The Republicans contested the canvass and both men were sworn in in separate parts of the capitol.

The state supreme court ruled Bashford the winner by 1,009 votes. Three days before the decision, Barstow resigned and was replaced by his lieutenant governor, Arthur MacArthur, the general's grandfather.

MacArthur said he would "hold the chair in the face of all hazards," but four days later he had to leave. Bashford moved into the governor's office accompanied by "friends" and the local sheriff.

Another spectacular gubernatorial snarl involved the late Huey P. Long in Louisiana. In 1928 he was elected governor with Dr. Paul N. Cyr, his lieutenant governor. But then Cyr broke with the chief and Long was elected to the U. S. senate in November, 1930.

Long stayed in the governor's office instead of going to Washington. In October, 1931, Cyr took the oath as governor, claiming Long had vacated the office because he was supposed to become senator on March 4 of that year.

Cyr went to court to fight it out. Long had Alvin King, president pro-tem of the state senate, sworn in as lieutenant governor. The state supreme court dismissed Cyr's ouster suit against Long.

Then, Long took the oath as senator and King was sworn in as governor. Cyr went to court again, this time seeking King's ouster. But when the supreme court refused to expedite his suit, he withdrew it, quit politics and retired to practice dentistry.

Disagrees With Our Stand Against Bonus

ON THE editorial page of your paper dated Jan. 15, you seemed to take a firm stand against a veteran's bonus. Your opinion is to be respected if not agreed with. Giving us a bonus would not place us in a preferred social category any more than our draft records or uniforms did. As for actual resources it would perhaps even pull a few purse strings a little hard here and there but please remember, we as veterans purchased war bonds out of our pay during the war, we donated to the USO and the Red Cross. Our officers still had to pay income tax. It will be us that pay a goodly portion of that bonus.

The legislature of Iowa, has indeed had ample opportunity before this to correct the situation if which you speak that exists in the school system and mental institutions. Why use a soldiers bonus as a cover up for their error? We ask for this bonus not as a special group but as a group cut off from the vast employment opportunities that existed during the war. We combined that were in the armed forces lost an amount that would greatly exceed $110,000,000.

How attitudes change. While the war was at its peak "Nothing was good enough for the Boys." Evidently the first word of that statement is what you wish to give us. We are grateful for what you have done for us to date but honestly give us a chance to accumulate some of those dollars we sweated out all over the world or is it possible that you have already price tagged what Victory and Peace meant to you?

Farmers' View on Reciprocal Trade

The other day a friend sent us a clipping from one of Iowa's many weekly newspapers. It was an inquiring reporter column and the question dealt with reciprocal trade agreements.

The question, "Do you understand the reciprocal trade agreements, and if you do, do you approve them?" was asked of 10 farmers residing in the northeast section of Iowa, and not one of the answers reflected any but the vaguest notion of reciprocal trade agreements.

"I don't understand them at all," was the standard reply, although two persons went a little further than that:

One said: "Well, to tell you the truth, I don't know anything about them. Perhaps I should but if it's so important, someone would have publicized it more. I wouldn't know if I had been affected by it at all, but it must be all right."

kind of an agreement about that."

Ironically enough, the editor's introduction to the column stated that since this question of reciprocal trade agreements "is of special interest to farmers, the reporter confined her interviews to them."

What kind of interest was that again?

GERALD L. K. SMITH IN 1944: My time will come in the postwar period—in the election of '48. The candidate will not be me—it will be a young veteran of this war, but I'll be behind him. If business conditions are bad—inflation, widespread unemployment, farm foreclosures—then my candidate will be elected. I am gambling that these conditions will obtain, because any professional politician elected president in '44 will lack the courage to face the big problems of readjustment. Professional politicians are too cautious—that is why they will fail. Then the flame will spread, and the extreme nationalist will come to power.

P.H.D. FRENCH READING EXAM
The Ph.D. French reading examination will be given Saturday, Jan. 25, from 10-12 a. m. in room 314, Schaeffer hall. Please make application to take this examination by signing your name to the list posted on the bulletin board outside room 307, Schaeffer hall. No applications will be accepted after Thursday.
STUDENT HOUSING
The student housing bureau needs private home listings for the many new students requesting living quarters. Persons who will have rooms available for the second semester are asked to call extension 274. Rooms and apartments for married couples as well as rooms for single men and women students are in demand.
COLLEGE TRANSFERS
Students who intend to transfer to another college of the university at the beginning of the semester should fill out separate application, record and admission statements in the registrar's office. This pertains to students changing from liberal arts to pharmacy, engineering or the graduate college, but not to those changing to commerce.

COMMENCEMENT ANNOUNCEMENTS
Candidates for degrees at the Feb. 1 Commencement who have placed orders for announcements may secure their announcements now by calling at the alumni office, Old Capitol, and presenting their receipts.
GRADUATE FELLOWSHIP
There will be several Lydia C. Roberts graduate fellowships available for the year 1947-48 to graduates of an Iowa college or university for study at Columbia University. Applications should be made before Feb. 15, and addressed to the secretary of Columbia university, Mr. Philip M. Hayden, Columbia university, New York City.

Candidates are expected to submit the applications and supporting documents. Application blanks are available in the college of liberal arts, room 108, Schaeffer hall. Letters of recommendation should be mailed direct to the university by the writers.
These fellowships are awarded annually to persons of the Caucasian race, either sex, born in the state of Iowa, who have been graduated from a college or university located in Iowa, and selected because of their scholarship, seriousness of purpose, moral character and need of financial assistance. Incumbents are eligible for reappointment. No Roberts fellows may pursue, as majors, the studies of law, medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, or theology. Each fellowship provides an annual stipend of $1100. The fellows also receive once, and once only, the cost of transportation from Iowa to New York and return. In accepting the award the holder must state his purpose to return to the state of Iowa for a period of at least two years following the completion of his studies at Columbia University.
Immediately after March 1 the colleges will be notified of the applicants from each institution and requested to furnish comparative ratings.

GERMAN P.H.D. READING TEST
The German Ph.D. reading test will be given Wednesday, at 4 p. m. in room 104, Schaeffer hall. Those expecting to take the test should sign up in room 104, Schaeffer hall, before Tuesday.

VETERANS' INTERRUPTION FORM
Veterans under P.L. 346, the G.I. bill, who are leaving the university at the end of the present semester, either through completion of their course, or because of interruption or discontinuance of training, are requested to complete an interruption form at the veterans administration guidance center, room E116, East hall, at their earliest convenience. Office open 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday. Veterans may apply for leave at this time.

Bette Jo Phelan Reigns As Cadet Colonel

By DEE SCHECHTMAN
Daily Iowan Society Editor

All the pomp and circumstance of prewar years returned last night to the University of Iowa campus when the 45th annual Military ball was held at Iowa Union.

More than 1,500 persons crowded the main lounge to see the traditional crowning of the honorary cadet colonel and dance to the music of Freddy Nagel and his orchestra. As early as 8:30, students and faculty members in formal attire began to arrive for the festive function.

After a fanfare and military exhibition by the Scottish Highlanders, directed by William Adamson, the presentation ceremonies took place.

Wearing an officer's white dress uniform with gold epaulets, Bette Jo Phelan, A4 of Mason City, marched to the front of the ballroom to receive the title and insignia of honorary cadet colonel.

In the same ceremonies, William Day, C3 of Ft. Dodge, was announced as cadet colonel. Col. W.W. Jenna, head of the military department, and President Virgil M. Hancher made the awards. During the ceremonies, the orchestra played "On Iowa."

Miss Phelan was escorted by four attendants—Winifred Shields, A4 of Kansas City, Mo.; Yvonne Livingston, A4 of Iowa City; Helen Zimmerman, A4 of Waterloo, and Dorothy Kottmann, A4 of Burlington.

Fashions at the Ball
Scintillation was the keynote of the fashions displayed by the cadet finalists. Miss Phelan wore a black velvet formal, with rhinestone accents, Yvonne Livingston's gown was blue net fashioned with a rhinestone sprinkled bodice and drop shoulder decollete. Winifred Shields, wearing a white chiffon dress with a halter top and a bodice trimmed with gold sequins.

A dress of rose jersey, white silk and net, with wreath designs was worn by Helen Zimmerman. Dorothy Kottmann chose a strapless gown of black nylon taffeta.

Fashions at the Military ball followed the over-all 1947 trend, with an emphasis upon bare shoulders, halter tops, bouffant skirts and tight fitting bodices.

Tuxedos and military uniforms worn by the men added a refreshing change from casual tweeds and stripes.

Sophistication and dignity reigned throughout the entire evening, and as the final congratulations were made, the first postwar Military ball ended.

Fieldhouse Seating Plans Up for Study

The grounds and building committee of the University of Iowa Board of Athletic Control met yesterday and authorized a sub-committee to investigate plans for enlarging the seating capacity in the Iowa fieldhouse.

Professor Karl Leib, chairman of the athletic board, said a report on estimated costs of construction would be prepared for a Feb. 3 meeting of the board.

F. G. Higbee of the engineering college was appointed chairman of the sub-committee. Tentative proposals include the erection of permanent type bleachers, a third tier of seats and enlarging bleacher sections at both ends of the floor. The goal is to increase the capacity by about one-third.

Roxborough to Make Trip

LANSING, MICH. (AP)—Heavy weight Champion Joe Louis will be able to have his manager, John Roxborough, along when he makes a six-week South American exhibition boxing tour starting this month, the Michigan parole board ruled yesterday.

THIRTY YEARS OF DE-DOODLING

IF ANYONE MAKES CLAIMS to having an unusual job, you might tell them about the one held for thirty years by John McElroy of New York. He's the fellow who "shaves" off beards and mustaches that are scrawled on advertising posters by doodlemaniacs. Equipped with an enormous eraser, John makes his way about the city restoring beauty to thousands of posters who smile out at passersby from the posters. (International)

CADET COLONEL William C. Day, C3 of Ft. Dodge, and honorary Cadet Colonel Bette Jo Phelan, A4 of Mason City, were honored last night at the 45th annual Military Ball, sponsored by the R. O. T. C. Col. W. W. Jenna made the awards. Miss Phelan, a representative of Courier hall, was chosen from a group of 20 candidates for her personality, activities, scholarship and ability. Her attendants at the ball were Winifred Shields, A4 of Kansas City, Mo.; Yvonne Livingston, A4 of Iowa City; Helen Zimmerman, A4 of Waterloo, and Dorothy Kottmann, A4 of Burlington.

Farm Payments, Loans Flood AAA Bureau

An abundance of 1946 farm AAA payments and corn loan applications for the current year continued yesterday to flow into Iowa City's AAA office.

Raymond Smalley, county AAA chairman, said applications have kept his office staff occupied all this month.

The AAA office fills out application payment blanks of farmers using farm practices during the year, and submits forms to the state production marketing administration for approval.

Accepted corn loan applications have already passed last year's county AAA total, Smalley said.

Funeral Rites Today For Mrs. Ella Colony

Funeral services for Mrs. Ella Colony, 84, 1014 Sheridan avenue, will be held at 2 p.m. today at the Oathout funeral chapel with the Rev. L. L. Dunnington officiating. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Mrs. Colony died at 2:15 a.m. yesterday at her home following a lingering illness.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Hattie Homan of Iowa City, one grandson and three brothers.

SHERIFF ON PUBLICITY COMMITTEE

Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy has been notified that he was selected as a member of the publicity committee of the Iowa Sheriff's association.

The committee is composed of sheriffs from nine Iowa counties.

Mexico, with an area of 758,258 square miles, is the third largest country of Latin America.

The ancient Phoenicians were the first great sea traders.

The Masonic temple is located at 312 E. College street and the installation is open to the public.

Pi Beta Phi Groups Plan Dinner Meeting

A meeting of the Pi Beta Phi building corporation will be held for active and alumnae members of the sorority Monday evening at the chapter house, 815 E. Washington street. The meeting will be preceded by a 6 o'clock dinner.

Mrs. W. O. Byington, president of the corporation, and Mrs. Mrs. Stewart, treasurer, will give reports and lead a discussion on the building plans.

Mrs. Byington and Mrs. Scott Swisher are in charge of the meeting, and request any alumnae who have not been contacted to call Mrs. Harriet Evans at the chapter house.

Grape and wine production in the United States is estimated to be a half-billion dollar industry.

Campus, City— Personal Notes

Week end guest of Mary Kay O'Brien, A1 of Independence, McClesney house, is Eleanor Spangler, a student at Frances Shrimmer college, Mt. Carroll, Ill.

A girl weighing 8 pounds, 12 ounces was born yesterday in Mercy hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Williams of West Branch.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred V. Johnson, 809 Seventh avenue, attended the inauguration of Gov. Robert D. Blue in Des Moines Thursday night.

Guests of President and Mrs. Virgil M. Hancher, 102 E. Church street, this weekend will be Mrs. Arlen J. Wilson and Mrs. Walter Reitz of Highland Park, Ill.

Terry Anne Tester, who will marry Robert Chesney January 25, was honored at a prenuptial party last night in the home of Mrs. Phillip Mechem, 228 E. Church street. Mrs. A. Craig Baird was co-hostess. Dick Feddersen, 350, Hutchison ave. will honor Miss Tester and her fiancé at a dinner party tonight in his home.

Visiting Shirley Sindt, A3 of Walcott, East Lambert house, at her home this weekend is Dave Day, G of Brighton.

Connie Hatges, a student at Northwestern university, is a guest this week-end of Lova J. Schmorane, A3 of Morrison; Eva Laros, A4, and Helen Pappas, A3, both of Mason City.

Senator and Mrs. Leroy Mercer were in Des Moines Thursday night where they attended the inaugural ball.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schweitzer, 124 Quonset park, are the parents of a 7-pound 2-ounce girl, born Thursday night at Mercy hospital.

12 R.O.T.C. Students Awarded Medals

Twelve elementary R.O.T.C. students were awarded Minute Man medals by Col. W. W. Jenna, professor of military science and tactics, at the first postwar Military ball last night at Iowa Union.

Presented with the awards were: Jack W. Burns, A1 of Cedar Rapids; Yale A. Gerao, A2 of New York City; Richard W. Inman, E2 of Oak Park, Ill.; Evan E. Smith, A1 of Iowa City; Charles F. Thosand, E2 of Cedar Rapids; James J. Vesely, A1 of Ainsworth; Lester C. Fields, A1 of Cresco; Gene W. Glenn, A1 of Ottumwa; Paul K. Maxwell, A1 of What Cheer; David M. Stanley, A1 of Muscatine; John H. Thomson, A1 of Cresco, and Everett A. Waller Jr., A1 of Sioux City.

The National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution donated the awards through the courtesy of Col. J. B. Ladd of the infantry reserve. Qualifications for the honors were a demonstrated proficiency in knowledge and observance of the 10 Commandments of Good Citizenship. Further evidence of merit was required in the performance of military duty.

These cadets proved their deservance of the honor by participating in competitive written and oral examinations conducted by a board of R.O.T.C. officers. In these tests they demonstrated a practical knowledge of the preamble to the constitution, the American's creed, general orders (interior guard duty), the hand salute and position of the soldier.

Twenty dollars has been turned in from campus and town solicitation.

Dean Jacobsen Cites Professional Trend In Graduate College

A decided trend toward more professional work in the graduate colleges was cited by Dean Carlyle Jacobsen of the graduate college Thursday night.

He listed medicine, social work and psychology as examples of fields demanding more general graduate training—including actual experience in the particular field.

Speaking before the Humanities society, he pointed out that even in the 1930's industry and government were taking more men with Ph.D. degrees than formerly, when teaching took most of such men.

Because of this, according to Jacobsen, non-academic fields now have greater influence on qualifications desired in men with Ph.D. degrees.

Commenting that in the past students have usually tried two or three professional objectives before settling down, he predicted that under future programs students will (1) find themselves in "niches," and (1) find jumping around harder.

Listing changing problems of graduate colleges, Jacobsen pointed out that 30 percent more registered for graduate study here this fall than ever had before.

He estimated that the number may reach 55,000 over the country. "In that event," he remarked, "The 55,000 will be more varied in their ability and various types of graduate programs will be needed to meet all of their needs."

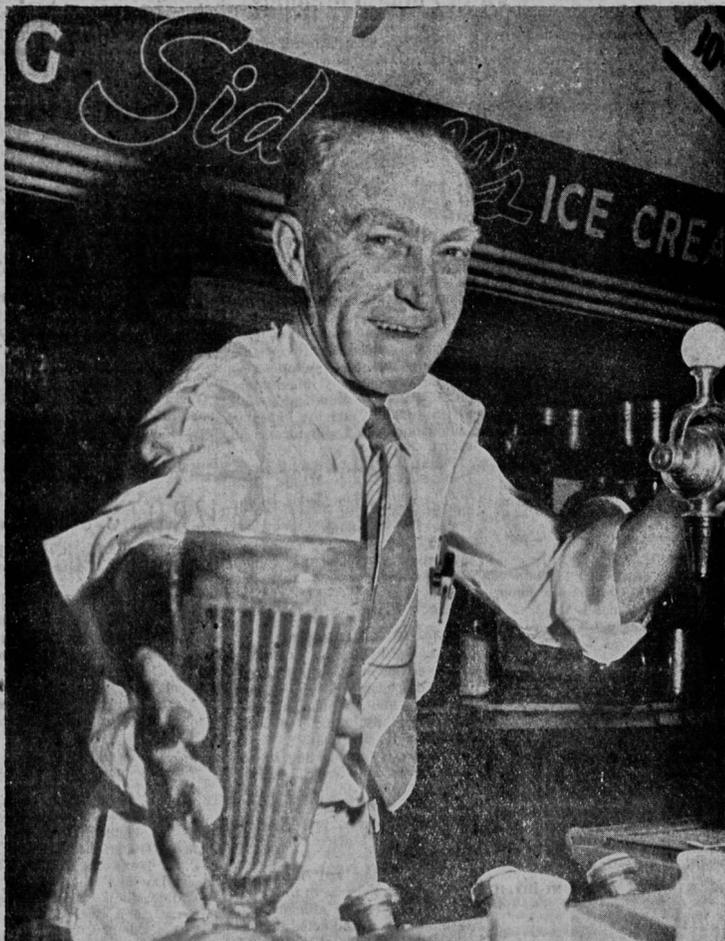

One more consequence of the trend toward professional work in the graduate college is an increasing competition for good students, according to Jacobsen. "Good men are harder and harder to find."

He predicted that the humanities and social sciences face very serious competition for students because of the "enticing plums" now held out by certain other areas.

Olive oil is a popular ingredient of salad dressings, assumes an important role in modern men planning, is a substitute for butter in cooking and is a preservative for canned sardines.

Crum Says 'Me & Old Capitol'

CHOCOLATE SODA HERE! George Crum, attendant at Whetstone's drug store for 33 years, still hasn't forgotten to add that extra big smile to student's orders. That grin could be of recognition, though, for George says many collegians resemble parents who were here not long ago. (DAILY IOWAN PHOTO BY BOB THOMPSON.)

"If I'd stop to count the years, I'd probably feel as ancient as Old Capitol," George Crum laughed. "There have been more than 70 graduating classes since I jerked my first soda here at Whet's 34 years ago."

George, head of Whetstone's fountain service, says students are much the same as that fall of 1913 when he first made banana splits for the hobble-skirted coeds and their bowler-hatted escorts. And George should know! The red-haired, wirey fountainman is on first-name terms with more than 500 students now, he estimates, and once, when the university was smaller, he knew almost every student.

"It really was a jolt," he continued, "when the second generation started coming down to school." He's watched countless romances unfold, and when children of the students he last saw in their courting days step up to the fountain and say, "Dad said you'd okay my checks, George," it's often the first news he's had that those earlier coke-dates were more than a college romance.

"A few of the second generation look enough like their dads or mothers that I can spot them," he remarked. "But most of them introduce themselves when they come as freshmen."

George is blessed with one marvelous gift. He remembers both names and faces, and can spot an old grad across a mile-deep Homecoming crowd.

"How well do I get to know the students?" George laughed, "Well enough to have loaned a lot of money in these 34 years. Got every penny of it back, too. One loan was unsettled for a few years, but the fellow mailed it to me after he left school."

After seeing the university through two wars, George says it's a relief to see men around again. "For one thing, the girls look prettier and happier than they did during those manless years."

Crum feels he can tell a lot about the state of the nation from behind his counter. Cola drinks are the all time favorite order, but during "good years" many more chocolate malts and fancy sundaes go over the fountain than in the depression years when a "coke and cigarette" was standard fare. The war has brought a change, too, in that more students order coffee now than since right after the first world war.

George finds a difference in attitude too. "The present students are here to get a lot more out of college than their parents did," he explains. "This was true the last few years before the war, and, of course, the GI's make the trend even more noticeable."

Minor Details Slow Work of Lawmakers

By CHUCK MORROW Daily Iowan Staff Writer DES MOINES—All business that comes before the Iowa legislature is not earthmoving, barred scraping or vital.

In addition to the important bills, the 52nd general assembly's journals will reveal a lot of minor matters which have consumed the legislators' time.

The matter of "who should sit where" in the state senate, for example, required a motion, an amendment and a request for unanimous consent. The plan finally adopted permitted hold-overs or reelected members to choose their seats first, then permitted Senator Kirketeg (the only lady senator) to choose her seat. The other senators got their positions by lot. Then there's the matter of providing badges for the people who need them, the motions to permit the legislators to hire clerks and the resolutions to permit mailing journals to county auditors. All these require joint approval of the house and senate.

One of the prime examples of the demands of custom occurs during the ceremonious joint session when the legislators convene to hear the governor's inaugural address.

Someone from the floor makes the motion (not quite spontaneously) that the governor-elect and the lieutenant-governor-elect be informed that they have been elected by the voters. The motion carries and a joint committee is appointed to spring the big surprise on the top state officers. A second surprise comes when

Engineering Group Initiates 6 Seniors

Six engineering seniors were formally initiated into Eta Kappa Nu, national honorary electrical engineering fraternity at a ceremony held at the electrical engineering building Thursday evening.

Initiates are Irving Brown, Camden, N. J.; John C. Latimer, Randolph; Thomas N. Moritmore, Lamoni; Duane A. Nollisch, Marion; Howard S. Patterson, Reynolds, Neb., and Robert B. Whiteley, Muscatine.

A banquet at Iowa Union followed the initiation. Prof. Edward M. Parker of the division of civil engineering spoke on the construction of air fields in Alaska during the war.

Eta Kappa Nu was recently reorganized by prewar members who have returned to the Iowa campus. John Goetz of Riverside is president of the fraternity.

14 Iowa Colleges Send Members to Confer On Audio-Visual Aids

Faculty representatives of 14 Iowa colleges will gather here today for a conference on audio-visual instruction, sponsored by the extension division visual instruction bureau. About 50 persons are expected to attend.

Purpose of the conference is to study the need for complete training of teachers who would use audio-visual aids.

Featured speaker will be Prof. Ford Lemler, University of Michigan visual instruction director. Among others on the agenda will be Dean E. T. Peterson of the college of education and President Virgil M. Hancher, who will give an address of welcome.

Colleges represented will be Central college, Cornell college, Drake university, University of Dubuque, Grinnell college, Iowa State college, Iowa Wesleyan college, Loras college, Luther college, Morningside college, Parsons college, Wartburg college, Iowa State Teachers college and the University of Iowa.

A state department of public instruction representative also will be present, Lee W. Cochran, extension division executive assistant in charge of visual instruction, said yesterday.

To Introduce Bill to Build Hospital Here

Legislature to Get $500,000 Building Proposal Tuesday

By CHUCK MORROW
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

A bill will be introduced into the Iowa legislature next week proposing a half-million dollar hospital in Iowa City for education and treatment of severely handicapped children.

Rep. W. R. Fimmen of Bloomfield plans to place the bill in the house hopper Tuesday, when the legislature re-convenes. The bill must first receive the recommendation of the appropriations committee, and Fimmen believes that if the committee's approval can be obtained, the bill will be passed by the house.

The proposed bill, written by the Iowa Society for Crippled Children and the Disabled, envisions a hospital-school for the physically handicapped similar to the state schools for the blind and the deaf.

If passed, the state board of education would be authorized to establish and maintain the institution "in reasonable proximity to Iowa City and in conjunction with the University hospital."

The bill is apart from any current requests for the university and is not connected with any present university plans for expansion or building.

Estimated cost of upkeep and salaries for the hospital-school is $109,000.

Mrs. Dorothy Phillips of Des Moines, executive secretary of the society which wrote the bill, told legislators that a special center is needed because:

- (1) Long term medical and orthopedic treatment requires special staffs just as in the case of tubercular treatment;
- (2) Education and treatment if offered simultaneously will insure severely handicapped children an opportunity to become self-sustaining. Without such training, the secretary continued, such children may become custodial cases for the state.

Similar hospitals have been created or are being considered in North Carolina, Illinois and California.

'March of Dimes' Drive Begins Today

Contribution boxes will be placed around the business district today as Iowa City's 1947 March of Dimes drive gets under way.

Making the announcement, Atty. John E. Taylor, campaign chairman, said also that he has written a letter to Mayor Wilber J. Teeters requesting the city council to approve other proposals. These would be to use Washington street between Clinton and Dubuque as a place for contributors to lay down a literal "block of dimes" on a designated day, and to use parking meters for collecting dimes throughout the drive.

The university art department, Taylor added, has been asked to prepare posters advertising the campaign.

County Supervisors Grant Pay Boosts

Johnson county board of supervisors granted salary raises to 25 county employees and 60 road workers yesterday.

Ten percent increases will be effective this month for county employees and raises of six percent will go to road workers. The salary boosts will be received by all employees except those elected officials and deputies whose salaries are fixed by the state.

The raise received by the road workers supplements their 1946 raise of five percent.

INTERURBANS CRASH NEAR COU FALLS

HEADON COLLISION of two Crandic interurban railway cars shortly after noon yesterday injured three passengers and interrupted service about five hours. The collision occurred near the Iowa river bridge south of the Cou Falls station, midway between Iowa City and Rapids. The northbound car was filled with university students, none of whom were injured, all of whom were taken to a Cedar Rapids hospital, were: Margaret Neseck, shock, cuts and bruises about the nose and mouth; possible head injuries; Mrs. R. W. Mendelaceration on the arm, multiple cuts and bruises; Mrs. Nora Schooler, 64, Iowa City and abrasions about the knees and body bruises. The injured were taken on a freight locomotive to the Cou Falls station. They were met there by ambulances sent from Cedar Rapids. John Nally, Cedar Rapids, conductor on the south-bound car, said he had no orders to await the other car at the Cou Falls siding. He added his car was almost at the time of the collision. Service on the line was continued shortly after 5 p.m. yesterday.

Carl Redenbaugh to Withdraw From 4th Ward Primary Race

Carl Redenbaugh announced yesterday that he will withdraw from the primary contest for the office of alderman for the fourth ward on the Republican ticket in favor of Robert Davis.

In announcing his withdrawal, Redenbaugh stated that being post commander of the American Legion and holding political office were apparently not compatible, and that he desired to complete his term as commander of the Legion post.

He also asserted that he wholeheartedly endorsed the candidacy of Davis for alderman of the fourth ward.

Redenbaugh further stated that his recent announcement for candidacy was "not a criticism of Mr. Davis, but merely a personal desire to serve his city in a representative capacity."

A late check with city political officials gave this picture of the primary tickets, with a few candidates yet to be announced. Candidates who have actually filed nomination papers are Republicans Carl E. Redenbaugh, Gunnar A. Norgaard and Edwin E. Morley. Democrats who have filed are John L. Stahmer, Julie F. # When the Worms Have Finished

By G. M. WHITE

Almost every fellow, when the moon is big and yellow, feels as new and fresh as a colt. Girls are made for teasing and their hands were made for squeezing, and to learn the technique of a really good squeeze is a real art. Compared to you as a man, your squeeze is as simple as the Model T's a super-eight. For although it's true we're like the birds up in the sky, and we've built a lot of life, we're still a lot of worms.

But man deemed it was his mission to do a little less. (Lord knows that there are better ways to multiply.) Lacking nothing in spirit, he proceeded to employ it from the sky. It should be mentioned that it should be a good idea to have a worm in the tank at the time. But alas! The worm is not a worm in the tank. It is a worm in the tank.

Governor Blue Points the Way

There's some mighty fine suggestions embodied in Gov. Robert Blue's 11-point program of governmental reorganization which he presented in his inaugural address.

There's really nothing very revolutionary about the governor's suggested reforms. Many of them in fact have long been delayed to the extent in some cases that the continued well being of the state has suffered.

But Mr. Blue's proposals do warrant the labels "conservative" and "progressive" however when compared to the thinking of the 30s and 40s as indicated in the generally critical reactions to his speech expressed by individual lawmakers.

Although the governor did sidestep the tough income tax issue he did not hesitate to outline his views on the highly charged pilotage situation.

In asking for pilotage legislation, Mr. Blue has his authority to do so. It is a matter of fact that the pilotage law is a matter of fact that the pilotage law is a matter of fact.

Here in Iowa City and Johnson county, for example, it is probably safe to assume that either by oversteering or by public "spinning" pilotage is commensurate with the generally true of the state as a whole.

The law would seem to indicate that a great many Iowans think that it is not the use of pilotage that is bad but rather it is Iowa's present system of control that is at fault.

Whether the folks who are led by their own personal inclinations to violate the pilotage statutes are in a majority, we don't know, but it's pretty obvious that the control of pilotage means reorganizing to bring it closer to reality. We hope that the chief executive's part of a housing program can be made the basis for a successful solution of these problems.

Farmers' View on Reciprocal Trade

The other day a friend sent me a clipping from one of Iowa's weekly newspapers. It was an interesting report on a question of reciprocal trade agreements.

The question, "Do you understand the reciprocal trade agreements, and if you do, do you approve them?" was asked of 10 farmers residing in the northeast section of Iowa, and not one of the answers reflected any but the greatest notion of reciprocal trade agreements.

"I don't understand them at all," was the standard reply, although two persons went a little further than that.

One said: "Well, to tell you the truth, I don't know anything about them. Reciprocal trade agreements are a thing I should do if it's so important, someone would have published it more. I wouldn't know if I had been affected by it at all, but it must be all right."

Another replied: "The only thing that occurs to me when I think of that is the question of Argentina's beef. It seems that we have some will come to power."

Iowa Cagers at Bloomington Tonight

Hawkeyes Set For Hard Tilt With Hoosiers

PROBABLE LINEUP
Iowa: Magnusson, Wier, Jorgensen, Spencer, Herb Wilkinson, Time: 8 p.m. tonight, Place: Bloomington, Indiana.
Indiana: Hamilton, Ritter, Williams, Watson, Herrmann.

The hard-driving University of Iowa basketball team faces its fourth conference test tonight when it starts a five-game road trip by meeting Indiana at Bloomington.

The Hawks are expected to present the same starting lineup which swept to wins over Ohio State and Minnesota. Floyd Magnusson will be at one forward along with Murray Wier, Jorgensen starts at center and Jack Spencer and Herb Wilkinson will open at guards.

The current trip is probably the most difficult two-game stand on the Hawks schedule with both Indiana tonight and Purdue on Monday night set to make a rough welcome for the Hawks.

The Indiana team has been a hot and cold outfit all season but has developed fairly to a respectable level. The last start saw the Hoosiers upset Purdue 62-46.

The two teams are tied for second place in the Big Nine with two wins against one defeat, that deficit coming in each case from Wisconsin who tripped Iowa 63-62 and routed the Hoosiers 70-49.

Leading the Indiana attack will be their veteran forward, Captain Ralph Hamilton. He receives able support from freshman Guard Lou Watson and his running-mate Norb Herrmann.

The Hoosiers won't lineup with quite the Iowa height but have speed to burn, the same kind of speed that Minnesota used to annoy the Hawks last Monday.

Iowa has three men in the league's first seven on average points scored, Murray Wier (17.3), Herb Wilkinson (13) and Noble Jorgensen (12.3). The Hoosier's top man is fourth place Ralph Hamilton with 14.3 points. Don Ritter and Lou Watson are rated 13th and 14th respectively in the scoring department.

Other conference games tonight have Purdue at Michigan and Northwestern at Ohio State. Minnesota plays host to Michigan State in a non-league tilt.

Still Time to Enter Today's Relay Events

The intramural relays, always a highlight on the yearly intramural program, will begin again this afternoon at the fieldhouse after a lapse of three years. The relays, which will run along with the Sorority relay event, are scheduled to get under way at 2:30 p.m. immediately following the varsity wrestling match.

Dr. Frederick Beebe announced yesterday that since the relays are new to most university students, the Thursday entry blank deadline, will be extended until noon today. By doing this Dr. Beebe hopes to get as many teams as possible entered in the track event. As of yesterday, the Hillcrest league had no teams entered in the relays and the Town league had only one.

Any men living in these sections who desire to enter a team in the relays are instructed to get an entry blank to the intramural office at the fieldhouse before noon today.

Iowa Wrestling Team Ready for First Test

HAWKEYE MAT teams have always been strong and the 1947 edition which swings into action against Bradley Tech this afternoon should prove to be no exception. Shown after their last workout before the season's opening meet, the Hawks are: (left to right) Vern McCoy, Romeo Macias, Duane Hanson, Roy Pickett, Capt. Ed Kemp, Ray Carlson, Joe Scarpello and Bob Geigel. Coach Mike Howard (right) hopes to have his team get off on the right foot today before the first Big Nine match Feb. 1 with Wisconsin.

(Special to The Daily Iowan) St. Patrick's Shamrocks lost last night at Rock Island to St. Joseph's quintet 37-35 but not before they displayed some stellar basketball in a blistering stretch drive that almost overcame the disadvantage of some questionable officiating plus a hot St. Joe's team.

The Shamrocks put on their quarter rally after three first-stringers had been ejected from the game and fed the ball almost exclusively to Jerry Megan who hit 10 points coming down the stretch. Megan led St. Pat's with 17 points compared with 11 points for St. Joseph's high scorer, Craig.

The contest turned into a one-way rough-house with the Shamrocks taking a beating from every angle. Objections resulted in seven technical fouls being charged against them and St. Joseph's converted six of them into points.

St. Joseph's drew first blood, so to speak, when Noe started with a basket. St. Pat's raced to an early 9-2 lead as Megan and Seemuth hit two baskets each and Grady added a free throw. St. Joseph's came back behind Craig's shooting to move to a 11-10 disadvantage at the quarter.

The big push continued in the second frame as St. Joseph's went out in front 16-11 as Kale, Hogue and Craig scored goals. Herdlika's basket and Megan's free throw helped but Hogue and Flynn retaliated before Duffy's charity toss placed the halftime score 22-17, St. Joseph's.

The third quarter opened fast for St. Pat's as McMahon hit a basket and Grady a free throw. Herdlika was floored hard by Flynn and the argument that resulted caused five technical fouls to be called on the Shamrocks, four of which were made

Iowa Matmen Meet Bradley

A potentially strong University of Iowa wrestling team will get its first test of the season this afternoon with Bradley Tech university as their opponent.

First of seven meets for the Hawks, today's encounter will afford Iowa fans an indication of what to expect when the Hawks begin their Big Nine campaign with Wisconsin, February 1.

Bradley, overwhelmed by Illinois State Normal 27-3, and whitewashed 34-0 by powerful Cornell college of Mt. Vernon, Iowa, are not expected to give veteran Coach Mike Howard's boys much trouble.

Interest in this afternoon's affair will be centered around the performance of a team that includes only one performer from last year, "Rummy" Macias.

Footballers Ray Carlson and Bob Geigel, freshmen Vern McCoy and Joe Scarpello, and Duane Hanson, former Northwestern champ will be appearing for the first time on an Iowa mat team.

Along with Macias, in his fourth year of competition, two former stars will be picking up where they left off in 1942. They are Capt. Ed Kemp, set for his biggest season, and Roy Pickett, whose aggressive style carried him through an undefeated dual meet season before entering the service.

The Illinois team, in its first year of wrestling after a wartime lapse, boasts only two lettermen, Dustin Favorite and Joe McDermott.

Favorite will be matched against Iowa's Roy Pickett, while McDermott is slated to meet "Burly" Bob Geigel in a heavy-weight tussle.

Trippi Signs For $100,000

CHICAGO (AP)—All-America Charley Trippi of Georgia yesterday signed an unprecedented $100,000, four-year contract with the Chicago Cardinals, climaxing the greatest professional football player build-up since Illinois' famed Red Grange joined the Chicago Bears two decades ago.

The Cardinal club displayed Trippi to the press and radio in an elaborate reception.

The Georgia pigskin peach—by way of Pittstown, Pa.—ran a gauntlet of photographers and interviewers from the railroad station upon his arrival from New York to the Blackstone hotel, where he applied a pen to his prodigious meal-ticket for the next four years.

With their defense functioning smooth as a well-oiled machine Iowa City high's league leading Hawkleys cagers coasted to their sixth win in Mississippi Valley competition over an outclassed Roosevelt (Cedar Rapids) quintet, 41-16, last night at the City high gym.

While the Little Hawk defense, one of the best in the state, was holding the Roughriders to three field goals, Center Gene Hettrick was as hot as Roosevelt was hapless. Big Gene connected eight pivot shots and tips, faked beautifully and controlled rebounds off both backboards, to lead the scorers with 17 points.

The Little Hawks kept the three Parlor City field goals well separated. Jack Carpenter counted the first midway in the initial quarter, Frank Sturm the second late in the second near the end of the first half and Carpenter finally broke a 14 minute basket drought with a tip just before the automatic timeout in the final period.

It wasn't that the Hawkleys were as hot as the score indicates-just that Roosevelt was that cold. Of the eight forwards that saw action for the Iowa City squad, only two managed to break into the scoring column. Guards Sonny Dean and Jim Sangster each pushed five points through the hoop in the first half but settled for seven points apiece throughout the game and let Hettrick handle point-making chores. The lanky center spread his four first half buckets evenly but banged in four sixes and a free throw in the first six minutes of the third quarter.

The City high sophomores did not have an easy night's work as the varsity but emerged with a 31-25 victory over the Roosevelt sophs. Rox Shain and Babe Snook led the scorers with seven points.

Bidwill has indicated Trippi will do baseball business with the Chicago Cubs, but the latter remained close-mouthed about the Cardinal owner's assertion the Bruins would hand Trippi a

Mt. Vernon's rangy Maroons mobbed a sieve-like University high cage defense in the first half here last night and swept on to a 39-31 victory over the Bluehaws in a conference game.

It was the third loss for U-high in Eastern Iowa loop play. By virtue of the win Mt. Vernon scrambled out of their third-place knot with the Iowa Citizens.

Thanks to clever play and marksmanship of Edwards and Dick Kosh, the hosts roared into an early lead. Midway in the first period they had pushed the count to 9-1. The Bluehaws added three counters and lagged 13-4 at the following year.

U-High Loses To Mt. Vernon

close of the canto. It was the same story in the second epic with Mt. Vernon using its superior height and liberate slow-moving offense maintained a commanding margin of 22-12 at intermission.

To the credit of the Bluehaws, they were definitely "cold" at the hoop all evening, even when they worked Nick Anderson and Doc "Gus" Helm in close for set shots.

But at the outset of the second half the pair shoved in a pair of overhead hooks and U-high squeezed in close at 22-17 with the period not half over. The Maroons took over and again constructed a comfortable 30-21 edge as the third period became history.

Coach Louis Alley used all combinations to find a potential "hawk" scoring punch in the final chapter, but the desperate attempt was futile.

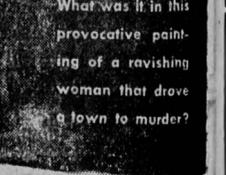

Guard and co-captain Jack Hady and Helm led the Bluehawk scoring with 9 points apiece, but Anderson was on their heels with 7 markers. Edwards paced the winners with 14 before he left on fouls in the fourth period.

Elks Plan to Buy I.C. Country Club
 Plans for purchase of the Iowa City Country club by the local Elks lodge were announced yesterday by Gene Chapman, club manager.

The Iowa City Elks now hold options on the stock certificates of the club, which is owned by 250 stockholders. The transaction is awaiting the approval of the national Elks lodge.

If the sale is approved the Iowa City Country club as now organized will no longer exist. Though 92 percent of the club members are also members of the Elks, a satisfactory settlement with the remaining members would be made, Chapman said.

The present Country club building was erected in 1922. The original building, built in 1913, was on the same grounds, but in a different location.

Elks Plan to Buy I.C. Country Club
 Plans for purchase of the Iowa City Country club by the local Elks lodge were announced yesterday by Gene Chapman, club manager.

The Iowa City Elks now hold options on the stock certificates of the club, which is owned by 250 stockholders. The transaction is awaiting the approval of the national Elks lodge.

If the sale is approved the Iowa City Country club as now organized will no longer exist. Though 92 percent of the club members are also members of the Elks, a satisfactory settlement with the remaining members would be made, Chapman said.

The present Country club building was erected in 1922. The original building, built in 1913, was on the same grounds, but in a different location.

Zionist Parley to Hear Resident of Palestine
 Chava Sheltzer of Palestine, who is touring the United States, will be the featured speaker at an all-day Intercollegiate Zionist federation meeting tomorrow.

Miss Sheltzer will speak in the Community building on "Youth and Zionism" after which Palestinian songs and dances will be presented.

A "Report from Palestine" will be presented by Miss Sheltzer at 7:30 p.m. in the art building.

Patton Tells of Fatal Knife Fight

JUDGE HAROLD D. EVANS, left, leaned closer to the witness stand William Patton after the death of Ernest R. Brown. White had previously testified for the prosecution Thursday.

Struck Brown In Self Defense, Defendant Says

PATTON—

was afraid I'd be killed," Patton testified.

Patton told his wife to call the police and ambulance immediately after the stabbing, he said. He testified that he knew neither Brown nor Stucker before that night.

Patton's cross examination by Atty. Edward L. O'Connor, special assistant county attorney, lasted only 20 minutes.

O'Connor queried, "Isn't it true when you went home the first time about 2 a.m. there was no one in the house?" Patton's reply was "No."

"Are you sure you didn't go in, turn on the light and then go out the back door when they came in?" O'Connor inquired.

"No, I didn't," was Patton's reply.

Showed Scars

While Patton was on the stand in the morning, he showed the jury the scars on his chest that resulted from cuts of Brown's knife. Dr. George Bedell, who preceded Patton as a defense witness, described Patton's wounds to the jury and told them Patton had trouble breathing and was in great pain from the puncture wound in his chest.

As Hamilton took the plain brown paper sack that contained Patton's blood-stained undershirt, courtroom spectators rose in their seats trying to see what it was.

Minutes later spectators were again drawn from their chairs when Hamilton had Patton pull his shirt above his chest and show the scars that Patton explained he had received from Brown.

Hamilton then held up the blood-stained undershirt, and after Patton had identified it as his own he testified that the blood was his and that the small hole in the center of the dirty brown stain was received when Brown's knife penetrated his chest wall.

The shirt was accepted as evidence with no objection from the prosecution.

Patton looked directly at the attorneys throughout the question-

PATTON, HAMILTON CONCLUDE SELF DEFENSE CASE

WILLIAM PATTON, right, prepared to leave the courtroom during the afternoon recess yesterday after he had stepped from the witness stand where he told his story of the fatal knifing of Ernest Brown. Patton, who is on trial for first degree murder, was questioned for an hour and 40 minutes by his attorney, Clair Hamilton, left in an attempt to show Patton acted in self-defense. Dora Parsons, eye-witness to the fatal knifing of Ernest Brown, is in the background.

When Hamilton called White's attention to the difference in statements and asked him why he hadn't told the grand jury both statements, White said, "It must have slipped my memory."

"Then all your testimony is just from your best memory," Hamilton asked. "It's from my best memory," White replied.

The trial will go into its fifth day Monday when attorney's closing arguments are made and Judge Evans gives instructions to the jury. The case will probably go to the jury Monday.

Kellenberger Named To Phi Beta Kappa

Paul E. Kellenberger, a 1935 graduate of the university, was elected yesterday to Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity.

This brings the number of new members, to be initiated Monday, to 11. The ceremony will take place at 5 p.m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Dean Earl J. McGrath of the college of liberal arts will be featured speaker. Reservations for the banquet after the initiation must be made by noon today with Mrs. Charles Strother.

Lynes Favors Wage Boost For Teachers

By FRANK BUCKINGHAM Daily Iowan Staff Writer

DES MOINES— Sen. J. Kendall Lynes, (R), Plainfield, went on record this week favoring a substantial jump in teachers' salaries as an integral part of state aid to Iowa's postwar school system.

Veteran of four Iowa legislative sessions, and known as a liberal in senate circles, Senator Lynes said "we'll have to bid more for teachers because they are going out of the state."

He believes present wages of instructors are not lucrative enough to attract the best qualified persons.

"There is a lot of sentiment for this kind of thinking in the legislature and rank and file," he said.

When questioned on full collection of the income tax this year, Lynes said the levy has "a fighting chance" to revert back to the 100 percent basis as before the war.

He said the odds in the senior chamber are about "three to two" against full collection.

Complete income tax collection would provide money for local school districts from the state treasury. Iowa school representatives and the state Farm Bureau are both solidly backing full collection this year.

Lynes, tagged with the title "Buster" by close senate colleagues and friends, launched the widely discussed bill Tuesday which would stifle action on the income tax until major appropriations were dealt with.

Probable reason for Lynes' delaying bill is that under state law the tax reverts from the 50 percent wartime rate to full collection without legislation.

The legislature is required to take action in order to prevent the tax from jumping to full rate. Such legislation would be delayed if the chambers consider appropriations first.

The 43-year-old mustachioed senator, representing Butler and Bremer counties, believes most legislatures in session during Governor Blue's tenure favor spending more than the state executive.

Putting his stamp of approval on revision of current liquor legislation, Lynes said adoption of new, efficient laws will decrease the number law violations by minors.

EYEWITNESSES WATCH AS PATTON TESTIFIES

THREE EYEWITNESSES to the fatal stabbing of Ernest Brown, who sat together in front seats throughout the examination of witnesses in the first degree murder trial are Lewis Stucker, left, Dora Parsons and Mrs. Patton. Sitting next to them in the courtroom yesterday were the four character witnesses who took the stand for the defense, preceding final testimony of the defendant, William Patton.

Papa Can't Understand The Little Things Count

A married veteran on campus is seriously considering the study of abnormal child psychology.

He gave his four-year-old son a toy car as a Christmas present. The toy was attractively packaged in a box complete with colorful gift paper.

The son was delighted with the present. But has yet to play with the car. He's very content with the box, which has been his prize plaything since Christmas.

is showing a tendency toward "drying up" some of the more lax laws, he declared.

Senator Lynes is not the only member of his family seated at the 52nd legislature.

His brother, William S. Lynes, 54, Waverly, was elected to the house on the Republican ticket and Thursday ended his first week of the initial term.

It was the first time in Iowa legislative history the reading clerk had to call first names and initials at the traditional roll call of the joint convention.

Has Anybody Here Seen Major Uhl?

Among the many strange requests received by the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce was one yesterday from a University of Chicago woman.

Sarah Ruth Cook, Reynolds club, University of Chicago, wrote to ask Robert L. Gage, chamber secretary, to find her war-time friend—a Major Uhl whom she met while on duty as a Red Cross club in England.

Efforts to trace her friend's departure from England to the U.S. failed until recently she heard that a person with a similar name was located in an Iowa town with the word "city" in its name.

Presumably Chamber of Commerce secretaries in Story City, Sioux City, Lake City, Mason City—and any others—received similar notes from the Chicago woman, but Gage would be pleased to receive help from anyone who knows of the mysterious Major Uhl.

Thornton Addresses I.C. Women's Club On Social Historians

Today's social historians are working to change the precedent set by older historians who squeezed all the personal and emotional elements out of history. Prof. John Thornton of the history department declared yesterday.

He told members of the Iowa City Women's club that to portray the real history of a nation, historians must include not only the political and military theme but also the human and cultural elements.

Art, economics, music, drama and social customs should be integrated in the teaching of history to make a clearer picture, he added.

"Because this is not done," Thornton commented, "many people groan whenever the subject of history is brought up."

He declared that history could be fascinating, but that too many teachers use only statistics, names and dates.
