Purdue Inflicts Third Defeat Of Campaign

Ehlers Paces Scorer With 19; Iowa Fades In Closing Minutes

LAFAYETTE (AP)—Purdue's Boilermakers won their first Western conference basketball victory of the season last night and put another dent in Iowa's title hopes. 52 to 46, as Guard Ed Ehlers pitched nine field goals and a free throw for the winners. Ehlers, scoreless Saturday night at Michigan when Purdue suffered its second Big Nine defeat, hit four successive fielders at the start of the game but Iowa took the lead at 11 to 10. Purdue went in front at 20 to 19 and held a 31-25 margin at the half.

Paul Hoffman, captain and forward for Purdue, was carried off the floor with a leg injury late in the game. The seriousness of the injury could not be determined immediately.

The defeat ends a disastrous opening road trip for the Hawks who were edged by Indiana Monday night, 50-48. The next game for Iowa will be Saturday night when they meet Northwestern at Chicago stadium.

Ed Ehlers, Purdue guard, led his team with 19 points while Iowa was paced by Noble Jorgensen with 15 points and Herb Wilkinson with 13 markers.

In the second half Iowa rallied to a 42-41 disadvantage with eight minutes left in the game but faded in the closing minutes.

The Hawkeyes went back to their veteran combination starting lineup as Dick Ives took over his familiar forward position in place of Floyd Magnusson.

Herb Wilkinson opened the scoring with one of his patented one-handed long shots. Lodge responded with a Purdue free throw and Jorgensen missed two charity tosses for Iowa. Wilkinson's long shot was ruled no good as he traveled and Ehlers made it 3-2 Purdue with a long shot.

With three minutes played, Murray Wier hit from the corner but Ed Ehlers kept Purdue ahead with a long one from the side. Wier tied the game up 5-5 with a free throw, but Ehlers came right back with another basket. Wilkinson hit again for Iowa to make it 7-7.

The pace continued hot and Hoffman put the Boilermakers ahead 9-7 with a short basket. With five minutes gone Dick Ives drove in for a basket but missed his free throw as he was fouled on the shot. Trump hit (See HAWKS, page 6)

Taft 'Willing' to See Rent Control Extension

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) yesterday supported the extension of rent control beyond June 30 "in some form" and renewed his backing for a federal public housing program.

Replying to questions after addressing the United States Conference of Mayors, the chairman of the senate Republican steering committee declared he would be "perfectly willing" to see another year of rent control if "the evidence shows that there would otherwise be a general rise in rents."

Disarmament Case Put Off for 2 Weeks

Gromyko Loses Fight To Restrict Albania From Council Agenda

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (AP)—Overriding Russian and Polish opposition, the United Nations security council yesterday approved an American request to put off consideration of worldwide arms reduction for two weeks.

The 9 to 2 vote on the arms motion came after the Soviet Union lost a fight to keep British charges against Albania off the council's agenda. The ballot there was 10 to 0 with Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko abstaining.

Time for Study

Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate, asked for arms postponement because of Gen. George C. Marshall's taking over as Secretary of State and to enable the delegation to study more carefully a series of preliminary proposals already submitted by other countries.

He declared that the United States regarded "disarmament as one of the most important ways of putting an end to war."

Gromyko indicated that the United States merely wanted more time to prepare to push its original suggestion that control of atomic energy be given priority over arms reduction plans.

Polish Delegate Mum

Dr. Oscar Lange, the Polish delegate, did not speak but voted with Russia.

After Gromyko lost the fight to keep the Albanian case off the calendar, a debate developed over when the council should take up the complaint. Delegates agreed that Albania, not a member of the U.N., should be invited to send a representative to take part in the debate and Gromyko insisted that the case be held up until such an envoy arrived.

Sr. Alexander Cadogan, the British delegate, asked that the case be opened Wed. whether Albania was present or not.

Polish Vote Goes Red; Election Fights Kill 138

WARSAW (AP)—Landslide votes in cities and heavily populated industrial areas gave a mounting majority last night to the pro-Communist government bloc parties apparently assuring them of 80 per cent of the seats in Poland's new parliament.

A compilation of election violence, meanwhile, showed that 138 persons were killed in anti-government underground attacks during the campaign, including 23 on election day.

A.J. Volstead, Prohibition Act Author, Dies

GRANITE FALLS, MINN. (AP)—Andrew J. Volstead, former Minnesota congressman and father of the Volstead Prohibition act, died yesterday. He was 87 years old.

Volstead, a lifelong dry, had been in poor health for years and had abandoned daily visits to his Granite Falls law office four years ago. He had lived the life of a country lawyer, devoting himself largely to probate cases and took little part in community activities. Even appeals from his friends that he lead the fight against establishment of a municipal liquor store in 1942 went unheeded. The "wets" won.

A native Minnesotan, Volstead was elected to congress on the Republican ticket in 1903, after serving as mayor, city attorney and county attorney in his home community. In congress, he sponsored measures to repeal broad powers granted the president during World War I, fathered the Farmers Cooperative act, in addition to the Prohibition act.

He resumed his law practice in 1922 following defeat by Paul J. Kvale, also a dry. All during his life he declined to be interviewed or photographed and refused numerous offers to write about his life, the Volstead act and his philosophy.

Byrnes Goes Out Signing for Peace; No Speeches Made

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes signed the peace treaties with Italy, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria as his last official act yesterday but kept his office an extra day when bad flying weather delayed Gen. George C. Marshall.

Marshall, flying from the west coast, was grounded at Chicago. He and his party transferred to a train which will bring them here this morning.

Byrnes' signature of the four peace treaties was only a formality. Another ceremony will be held in Paris Feb. 10 when all the allies will sign. Then the treaties will be submitted to the senate for ratification.

Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich) and Connally (D-Tex) of the foreign relations committee, who aided Byrnes in the negotiations, were at his side for the two-minute ceremony.

U.S. Steel, CIO To Begin Parleys

Talks to Open Friday In Pittsburgh; Union Wants Wage Boost

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The one-postponed collective bargaining negotiations between the U.S. Steel corp. and the CIO-United Steelworkers for 175,000 workers will begin in Pittsburgh Friday, the corporation said last night.

The bargaining conferences originally were set for a week ago Thursday but were called off by "mutual agreement."

U.S. Steel said the conferences will open in the William Penn hotel at 8:30 am. (CST). The negotiations will cover five U.S. Steel subsidiaries.

The steelworkers union filed 30-day strike notices against 1,000 basic steel and fabricating companies last week. However, Philip Murray, steelworker and CIO president, emphasized these were merely "precautionary measures."

The five U.S. Steel subsidiaries covered by the negotiations are the American Steel & Wire Co., Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp., Columbia Steel Co., National Tube Co., and Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Co.

The giant U.S. Steel Corp. has generally been considered steel's bellwether and its contract terms have been the terms of the industry.

The steelworkers already have begun negotiations with Bethlehem Steel Co., Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., Republic Steel Corp., Inland Steel Corp. and Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. Contract talks with the last three began yesterday.

A 15-minute program worked out by the union's wage policy committee calls for a "substantial" wage increase, portal-to-portal pay, guaranteed annual wage premium pay for Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, and improved insurance and other social benefits.

Marvin Jones Nominated To Head Claims Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman yesterday nominated Marvin Jones, former Democratic congressman from Texas, to be Chief Justice of the United States court of claims.

Formerly war food administrator, Jones served in congress from 1917 to 1940 when he was appointed to the U.S. court of claims by President Roosevelt. He is a Democrat.

As a Texas representative, he won the reputation of never having one of his bills defeated.

Plane Crash Kills WAVE, Injures 20

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—A four-engine navy hospital plane crashed and burned while making a radar-controlled landing at fog-shrouded Oakland airport yesterday, killing a Wave medical corpsman and injuring the 20 other passengers and crew.

Passengers and wreckage were scattered like chaff over the runway when the plane struck an embankment at the edge of the airport, exploded and burned.

The plane, flown by the naval air transport service (NATS), was en route east on a regularly scheduled flight from Moffett field, Calif. In addition to its crew of seven, it carried 14 patients and attending nurses.

Four women, two Wave corpsmen and two navy nurses, were among the occupants.

The plane's back was broken by the impact of the landing. Ensuing explosions shook it for nearly an hour as gasoline-fed fire swept the wreckage.

The injured were picked up from the runway and rushed to the navy Oak Knoll hospital.

The plane loaded patients and passengers aboard at Moffett field, and was landing at Oakland to pick up additional passengers.

An eye witness account was furnished by Jim Carlson, mechanic for California Air service at the airport.

Among the first to reach the scene, Carlson said "nine or ten" persons were sitting or lying on the runway near the burning plane. All appeared to be injured, he said.

Only the co-pilot remained in the plane, he said, and the pilot was working to get him free.

B-29 Crash Kills 2, Injures 3; Six Escape

ROTAN, Tex. (AP)—Two persons were killed and three injured in the crash of an army B-29 nine miles southwest of Rotan about noon yesterday.

Six survivors parachuted from the craft, which was being ferried from Smoky Hill Army Air Field, Salina, Kas., to Pyote, Tex., Army Air Field. Three of these received only minor injuries.

Lt. E. R. Henningsen of Salina, pilot of the plane, who received minor cuts on his leg, identified the dead as First Lt. Davenport and Tech. Sgt. Joseph.

First Lt. Paul Taylor, address unavailable, the navigator, and an unidentified member of the crew also were injured.

BILL PATTON couldn't help but cry a little yesterday when he was acquitted of a charge of first degree murder so with tears in his eyes and a smile on his lips he packed his belongings at the jail, where he had been living since early December. Throughout the five-day trial, Patton had appeared to be very calm and was intent on the courtroom proceedings, but his eyes were misty yesterday when the jury foreman said "not guilty" and the courtroom crowd cheered and applauded. #### Courtroom Spectators Cheer Verdict

Freed of 1st Degree Murder, Defendant Breaks Into Tears

By CAROL RACKER

A jury of eight men and four women deliberated 20 minutes yesterday and took but one vote to bring a verdict of "not guilty" in the first degree murder trial of William W. Patton.

V. B. Fuhrman, jury foreman, announced the verdict at 4:25 p.m. Spectators in the courtroom rose to their feet and cheered and applauded as Judge Harold D. Evans waited for the noise to subside so he could discharge Patton with the words, "You're a free man now."

Patton, sitting expressionless before the verdict was given, showed signs of tears as the crowd cheered, but it wasn't until he shook hands with the jury members that he started sobbing.

Out in the hallway the sympathetic crowd cheered again as Patton walked to the sheriff's office

One of the jury members said the jury had their verdict after five minutes but couldn't get out of the jury room because the bailiff had locked the room according to law and was out into the hall where he couldn't hear their attempts to open the door.

and then to the jail building for his personal belongings. All he said was "I'm too happy to say anything."

After five days of listening to testimony of 35 witnesses and arguments of three attorneys, the jury retired behind locked doors at 3:55 p.m., attorneys left their phone numbers and departed and the courtroom crowd started to disperse.

Before many of the crowd left, however, the jury returned to the courtroom but retired again to withhold their verdict until Patton; his attorney, Clair Hamilton, and County Attorney Jack C. White could be recalled to the courtroom.

Patton and the attorneys had left the courtroom because they thought deliberation by the jury would last for a longer time.

Given 5 Alternatives

In his instructions to the jury before they retired to deliberate, Judge Evans gave them five alternatives. He instructed the jury they could find Patton guilty of first degree murder and ask death or life imprisonment; find him guilty of second degree murder or manslaughter or find him not guilty.

Patton, all-night cook in the Bull in the Pen cafe, was indicted by a Johnson county grand jury in connection with the fatal knifing Nov. 24 of Ernest Brown. The stabbing occurred when Patton went to his home at 207 E. Benton street and found his wife, Dora Parsons, Lewis Stucker a n d Brown. Hhe defense conducted its case on the theory that Patton acted in self defense when he stabbed Brown.

Closing Arguments

Before the jury left the courtroom to reach their verdict, they listened to closing arguments by all the attorneys.

In seeking to establish the necessary elements of first degree murder, County Attorney White opened the fifth day of the trial with a summary of everything that Patton did on the night of Nov. 23 and early the following morning.

He indicated that the defense made no denial of the death of Brown due to knife wounds inflicted by Patton and that they instead pleaded self-defense.

He questioned how Patton could say he quit his job when the same night he did errands for his employer and returned to the cafe and told the policeman that he was a cook there.

"He Suspected Something" White implied in his argument (See PATTON, page 5)

Mississippi Senator Seeks Impeachment of Judge Picard

WASHINGTON (AP)—An investigation "with a view to impeachment" of Federal Judge Frank Picard, author of the basic portal pay decision, was suggested yesterday by Senator Eastland (D., Miss.).

Eastland, member of a senate judiciary subcommittee considering bills to outlaw more than $4,000,000,000 of portal pay suits, proposed the action after a Chrysler corporation attorney, Theodore R. Iserman, testified the judge declared himself "pro-labor" and tried to get a jury to reverse a verdict, which was in favor of the company.

Picard commented in New York that he is both "pro-labor" and "pro-capital" but his decisions never have been "influenced by those feelings."

Two other developments, too, kept the portal pay controversy bubbling:

1. Chairman Hartley (R., N.J.) of the house labor committee announced he will introduce legislation in that chamber today to outlaw the suits His statement declared the supreme court "misinterpreted the plain intent of congress" in its portal decision and that his bill will "prohibit legalized grand larceny."

2. Lee Pressman, CIO general counsel, named Tom Patton, attorney for the Republic Steel corporation, as the industry representative to whom he referred in Saturday testimony which startled the senators.

He testified then that the CIO has proposed collective bargaining on the portal claims and that an industry spokesman replied:

"We have no need to because we have discussed this with representatives of congress and we feel certain there will be legislation amending the fair labor standards act and depriving the employees of any rights to which they may be entitled under the court decision."

When senators asked the representative's name, Pressman refused to tell it on the ground that it would violate collective bargaining confidences. Chairman Donnell (R., Mo.) then demanded that Pressman reveal the name by yesterday or cite legal authority for his refusal.

At CIO headquarters yesterday, Pressman released a letter to Donnell naming Patton and supplying a new account of their conversation. Pressman wrote that his Saturday testimony was "entirely extemporaneous" and that "the statement which I now make is the one which presents the specific and accurate details."

Without referring specifically to any proposal to bargain or refusal to bargain, Pressman's letter related:

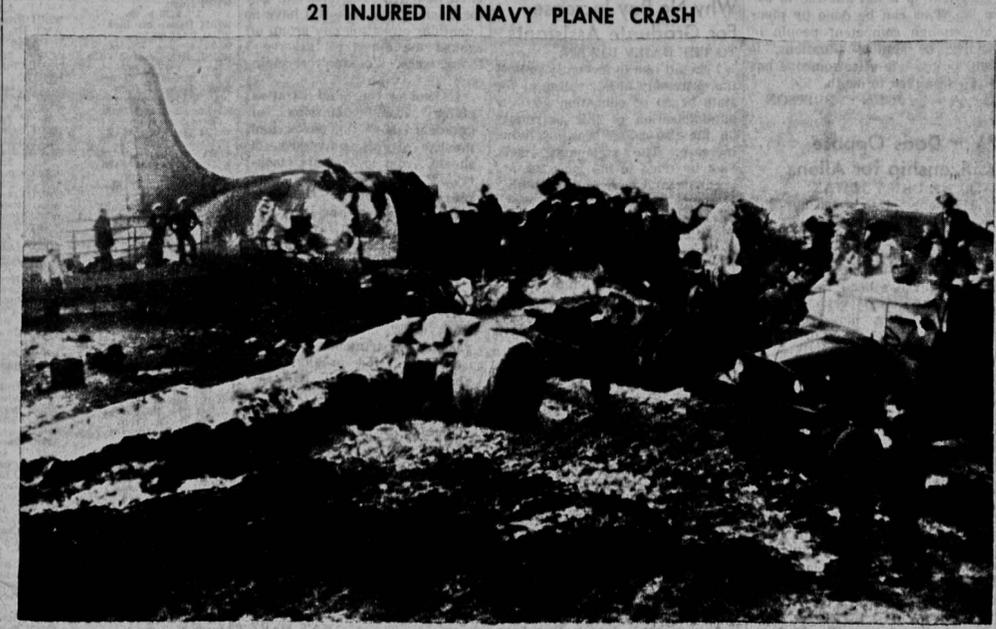

"Mr. Patton indicated to me that he and his associates had been preparing suggested amendments to the wage-hour law which would be submitted at the appropriate time to congress. Mr. Patton expressed the feeling that in the light of the problems confronting industry as a result of the Mt. Clemens decision, in his judgment some form of legislation would be enacted."

Pressman said this illustrates the expectation of congressional action which is "conditioning the attitude of management representative."

Picard wrote the decision in the Mt. Clemens, Mich., Pottery company case which held that workers are entitled to pay for time they are required to put in on company property.

Premier DeGasperi Resigns as Politics Boil Over in Italy

ROME (AP)—Premier Alcide De Gasperi, bringing to a head a governmental crisis, submitted his resignation last night. He was expected, however, to form a new government—perhaps one in which the leftists would have less voice. The Italian situation was further complicated with the announcement by the foreign minister that Italy had filed a strong protest with the United States, Great Britain, Russia and France against terms of the proposed Italian peace treaty signed at Paris Feb. 10.

21 INJURED IN NAVY PLANE CRASH

RESCUE WORKERS SEARCHED the wreckage of a four-engine Calif. airport while landing under radar control. Twenty-one victims Navy transport plane yesterday after it crashed at the Oakland, were taken to the Navy hospital there.

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

A Little Drama Of Fading Inflation

We are now sweating our way through the little dramas of a fading inflation. There are some, of course, who refuse to concede that the inflation must necessarily ebb, and so we have had the story of the buying up of butter (with which the price of fresh milk has been keyed) by one milk-producing group, in order to keep last year's milk prices, like last year's dreams, alive.

Occasionally one reads a kind of belated interview with some business figure who reports happily that certain things, like cars, will be short for several years; his words are a cross between a gloat and a prophecy. And in New York City it has turned out that, for a time at least, retail dressed poultry prices have hung at about the same level as a year ago, though the wholesale prices have hung at around 30 cents per pound now, as compared with 50 cents then. The price decline is scary, and men set their backs against it, and try, by whatever means, to keep the enchantment going.

But it is like the cooling of a fire, like a change in climate. Eastern chicken growers, who a year ago were wrestling with a shortage of feed and an oversupply of customers, now find that their problem has been stood on its head; there is plenty of feed, and a shortage of customers. They dimly watch the farm price on broilers descend to 20 cents, and they wonder whether a promotion campaign can lift sales volume back to where it was in the dreamy days.

The little drama of a fading inflation reaches out to touch other groups, also. There is, for example, a special class of unfortunate in the manufacturing field; these are the makers of new and relatively unknown brands of foods, household appliances, etc. A war time hope for them as shortages diminish and they see business flowing again toward established names.

But there is one group of men who seem not yet to have tasted the realities of 1947; and that, strangely enough, is congress. One has an odd feeling that congress is still lingering in 1946, while the rest of us begin to grope through the new year. For example, our collection of special wartime excise taxes on liquor, furs, jewelry, etc., is rated at $1,500,000,000 a year. Which year? Last year, or next year? Almost every congressman hangs firmly on to that $1,500,000,000 figure, and sentiment is for continuing these special taxes, so as to give ourselves for a personal income tax cut.

But there has already been a 10 to 25 per cent price decline in jewelry and furs. On that basis tax revenue will not come up to the estimates, even if as much of these goods is sold next year as last. If sales volume declines also, from the wartime highs, the estimate will become a shambles. No matter; congress tries to isolate itself from the little drama of a fading inflation.

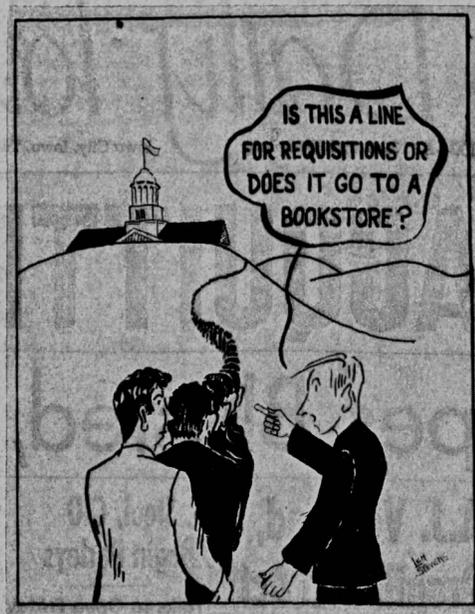

Congress shows the same spirit in handling the matter of food production. It seems strongly set against continuing foreign relief. But we face the largest grain crops in our history, without an army to eat them or famine victims to help use them. The budget calls for about $330,000,000 to support agricultural prices, but if the prospective grain glut really hits the market it may cost (says the Wall Street Journal) almost a billion to bolster the sagging price level. Again, no matter; congress, and the White House, too, pass by these possibilities. The documents will be dated 1947, but the spirit is the spirit of '46.

Perhaps that is why even potential planning for seriously relief is not being seriously considered. It might spoil the mood. But it seems wrong, somehow, that there should be so easy a congressional and presidential immunity from the realities with which so many Americans are having to wrestle today. Someone should rise and ask for a realistic budget, to replace the fantasy of an easy tax-cut. The nation cannot live in the spirit of '46.

Scientist 'Scared Stiff' of Atomic Age

Researcher Explodes Myth of Secrecy

By JOHN MATTILL

If you know anybody who's getting complacent about the atomic bomb, tell him to see Dr. Lloyd A. Roth, assistant professor of pharmacy. "I'm scared stiff," he told his audience Sunday night at the Roger Williams house.

"There's no easy way out; we are in a desperate situation," Dr. Roth called for a "sincere, honest attempt at a world solution" to atomic energy control.

Offhand you might not expect a pharmacist to be an authority on atomic bombs, but Dr. Roth knows whereof he speaks. Work on the atom bomb project at Columbia university before 1942 was followed by more than two years' service as research chemist at Los Alamos, N. Mex., the atomic bomb assembly plant.

Those who worked for the army on the bomb—"a collection of scientists the like of which may never be seen again," Dr. Roth said—spent two years of spare time worrying about the most consuming problem of all: what would be done with their baby, if it did work? Frankenstein or benefactor? Secrecy, they were convinced, was a futile, dangerous idea. Because we cannot proceed in the dark, they were determined that if humanly possible the bomb must be exploded before the end of the war. Now, says Dr. Roth, the world at least knows what it has to face. Dr. Roth wants to explode the

Georgia's Closer Than You Think

What has been happening in Georgia these past few days is indeed a sad commentary on our so-called political maturity.

The spectacle there seems so far away—almost like an uprising in India or Indochina—and here in Iowa we move on unconcerned. Admittedly, there's been some talk of how the same thing could happen under our own vague gubernatorial succession laws, but all in all the Georgia situation seems very remote to most of us.

But it cannot be dismissed as simply a legal question for the folks of Georgia to settle. It goes deeper than that.

That situation down there has implications which should make us all shudder. For Herman Talmadge, in effect, committed anarchy when he seized the Georgia statehouse and declared himself the governor.

After the death of governor-elect Eugene Talmadge, the Georgia legislature elected his son Herman to the governor's chair in extremely questionable proceedings based on write-in votes in the general election last Nov. 5.

In that election, Herman Talmadge received 675 write-in votes and James Carmichael, the man who opposed Eugene Talmadge in the Georgia primary last June, polled 669. The Republican candidate, B. Talmadge Bowers, received 637 votes in the general election.

Most of the 675 votes received by young Talmadge, incidentally, were engineered by the Talmadge machine as insurance against the possibility of Gene's death.

In other words, a mere 675 write-in votes—trumped, at that—provided the basis for the election of Herman as governor by the legislature.

Even without knowledge of Georgia law—which we admit seems peculiar in many instances—his whole procedure has a very fishy smell about it.

But that didn't bother Herman. With the help of state troopers, militiamen and other assorted thugs, all committed to the common doctrine of white supremacy, young Talmadge stormed the statehouse, locked out Governor Arnall and took over.

Arnall refused to recognize the election of Talmadge and has since resigned the governorship in favor of M. E. Thompson, who was elected lieutenant governor last November. Thompson is proceeding with the suit initiated last week by Arnall contesting Talmadge's right to the governorship.

Young Talmadge said last week that he would not abide by the decision of the courts in this matter. He has since changed that tune. But the fact still remains that despite his very questionable right to the office he seized the statehouse and the governorship in the way of the anarchist.

That's the real issue in Georgia. And it's an issue which involves all of us, not just the people of Georgia. If we permit anarchy in any form, under any name, to exist anywhere in this nation, we are giving way another inch to those who would destroy democracy.

U.S. Immigration Policy

Will Republicans Follow Closed Gate Formula?

(The Washington Post) If the senate Republican steering committee is going to be guided in respect of immigration policy by the advice of Senator Chapman Revercomb, who has given it a report on the subject, there will be little of either charity or understanding in our treatment of Europe's refugees.

Senator Revercomb appears to have accepted without question all the more prejudiced conclusions concerning the displaced persons camps in Germany assembled by the counsel of the war investigating committee, Mr. George Meader, in the course of his whirlwind trip abroad. And to these he has added the most hackneyed stereotypes about the effect of immigration on employment.

Melting Pot He starts off by extolling the discrimination of our immigration law which gives preference to the "more readily assimilated" immigrants from northern and western Europe. This, he says, "essentially a landmark of Republican achievement and has helped to preserve some homogeneity in our population, so necessary to harmony among people dwelling together under one government and as one nation."

We had always supposed the melting pot tradition to be one of America's prides and the heterogeneity of its population to be one of the peculiar sources of its strength.

The confusion which pervades Senator Revercomb's report can best be conveyed, perhaps, by a quotation from his conclusions:

"Many of those who seek entrance into this country have little concept of our form of Government. Many of them come from lands where communism has had its first growth and dominates the political thought and philosophy of the people. Certainly it would be a tragic blunder to bring into our midst those imbued with a communitist line of thought when one of the most important tasks of this Government today is to rid this country of the influence of this form of government."

persons who are undesired in their own country, and who for some reason have made themselves undesirable, or who from their own choice are not willing to attempt to get along with their own governments, should be brought into this country to dwell among our people, is worthy of study."

Well, of course, it is true enough that many of the displaced persons come from lands where communism had its first growth. They came from those lands largely because they felt they could not live under a communist system of repression.

If a yearning for freedom and a resistance to authoritarianism were to make people undesirable in our view, we ought to have excluded most of our immigrants beginning with the Pilgrims. They came here, in the main, for asylum and for opportunity. It is a strange sort of reasoning that labels as communists the refugees from communism.

But some of the displaced persons are refugees not from lands where communism had its first growth but from lands where they were persecuted by the Nazis. They are the men and women who resisted nazism, who suffered for their religious faith and their convictions. They made themselves undesired, there can be no doubt.

But can Senator Revercomb mean that to be undesired by the Nazis makes them undesirable to the United States?

These are the sort of people who have traditionally enriched America. It is not proposed that more than a few of them be permitted to pass our Statue of Liberty. And financial support is guaranteed or every one of these by a responsible individual or organization. A mere 5,500 have been admitted from the displaced persons camps to date as a result of President Truman's directive to provide for the speedy admission of some 39,000.

Are we to ignore our own best traditions by closing our gates to all the rest?

Letters to the Editor:

'Battle of Registration' Worse Than Combat

TO THE DAILY IOWAN: Ten hours having elapsed since my frightful experience, from the peaceful atmosphere of my quiet room where I have been recuperating, I have allowed myself to be persuaded to tell the waiting world what happened early the morning of January 17 at University hall, SUI.

I rose at 6:30 a. m. and after making hurried preparations, departed, in company with a friend, into the sinister gray of dawn, little realizing what agonizing terror lay in store for us. Our mission was to be among the first to receive registration materials, it having been advertised by the O-in-C registration that a number would be assigned each student, allowing him to re-enlist for the second term at a specified time. All veterans of the Battle of Registration at Iowa know the importance of going in with the first wave.

What happened next is all very hazy—but here are some facts that stand out. Although we were about the 35 and 36 to arrive shortly before 7 a. m., we wound up at 9 a. m. the 2,007 and 2,332, respectively, to receive registration materials.

I have seen mob violence before, but never have I witnessed such a pushing, shoving, unrelenting, semi-hysterical horde of humanity condensed in such a small area. I always thought myself to be rather aggressive and somewhat calloused, but I never had a fighting chance. The pitiful pleas of some of the girls trying to escape the crowd still ring in my ears.

During my two years of sea duty with the U. S. Navy during the war I was fortunate enough to survive a marine disaster at sea—but of the two escapes I now have had, the one yesterday morning probably should receive the most prominence because it was such an unnecessary tragedy.

For much advance preparation, there was absolutely none in evidence. While the situation was clearly one calling for the police riot squad, if not the militia, the only attempt made to create order was a feeble plea by a gentleman in a grey suit for the mob to "please move back", as the girls handing out the papers were being pressed against the wall. Some of the girls were terrified and so excited they could hardly carry on. It is a miracle if there were no casualties.

Let us hope that responsible university officials will, in the future, take steps to see that a similar situation is not allowed to develop. This can be done by placing enough competent people in charge of similar situations. It will be too late after someone has been trampled to death.

War Dads Oppose Citizenship for Aliens

TO THE DAILY IOWAN: Do we want to share our citizenship rights with 88 German scientists who under Hitler, invented war machines which killed thousands of our sons? A proposal to do that has been reported by magazines, newspapers and radio.

The Germans here concerned are held at Wright field under war department orders. They are imparting their knowledge to the army's aviation experts. As a scheme to keep these Germans in this country, the idea is offered that they be given United States citizenship. What an insult to the memory of our heroic war dead! Washington proposes to admit 100,000 aliens to the United States at this time. Thousands of our veterans can't get homes. Thousands are unable to find desirable employment. Doesn't it seem sensible to bar aliens until our sons are settled satisfactorily?

Be it resolved that Chapter No. 33 of the American War Dads request that the Iowa State Association make formal request upon the

Why No Pay Increase For Graduate Assistants?

TO THE DAILY IOWAN: I should like to fervently protest the extremely unfair ruling of the state board of education and the administration of this university on the "so-called" cost of living increase. The statement reads, "not included in the increases are graduate and research assistants."

It seems that the administration does not feel prices have gone up for the graduate assistant. Evidently he is supposed to be eating at the 1942 price level.

This ruling also exhibits characteristic "fairness and democracy" in giving those who already have large salaries and make the "major decisions" $10.00 a month and $20.00 increases a month, while those whose needs are the greatest receive nothing. For this the university justly claps itself on the back.

There are many graduate assistants like myself who are not veterans and receive no allowances. We often teach two courses; further, we are forced to attend all sorts of special and prepare all sorts of special work. We teach the great majority of freshman classes. For this we receive a salary of $50.00 per month less taxes. Anyone who doesn't live in a dream world knows that one can not live on such a salary in

Iowa City, without either starving or going heavily into debt.

It is interesting to wonder how much less effective and helpful an instructor is to his class when he enters the room, hungry and worried by debts. There is not one assistant that does not resent and despise the salary he is getting. Because of fears of losing his academic standing, or having the department give him the "brush off," he smiles pleasantly, and curses the perpetrators of this situation privately. Townpeople who work to maintain Currier Hall get twice as much as an assistant gets for teaching two classes. I have no intentions of setting one group off against the other; all deserve a living wage. We aren't receiving ours.

Instead of the administration giving itself delusions of grandeur about the power and prestige of this university, it should begin to feed its teachers. Perhaps that will cause fewer of our good instructors to leave us and look for jobs elsewhere. Teaching at Iowa is getting to be a luxury most of us can not afford. If this is the "Athens of the Middle West" then we are living in Diogenes' barrel. Perhaps some arrangement could be made for the various departments to serve sandwiches and provide beds, and thereby eliminate ALL salaries.

It is time that the student body became aware of the problems its teachers are confronted with, and the indifference of the administration in doing anything about it. It is time that the state of Iowa and this administration looked at the facts and showed some loyalty to its hardworking employees. It is time that this university ceased moving in the direction of a sweat shop and began to give culture and learning a chance.

Students to Indicate Seminar Preference For Religion Week

Preparation for Religion in Life week, to be held on campus, Feb. 9 through 14, will continue this week with the distribution of seminar preference cards and a meeting of an advisory group of students with Helen Zimmerman, chairman of the executive committee.

Beginning tomorrow seminar preference cards will be distributed to university housing units, and students may indicate which of the seminars they wish to attend during Religion in Life week.

Boxes will be provided at housing units for the return of the cards. Topics for the seminars include inter-racial understanding, road to successful marriage, social and economic issues, fundamentals of Christian faith, interfaith understanding and religion and science.

Miss Zimmerman will meet Thursday afternoon at 4 with a small representative section of students who will give suggestions and criticisms of present plans for Religion in Life week.

Although schedules of the 10 Religion in Life speakers are almost full, a few campus organizations may still make arrangements for one of the speakers, Miss Zimmerman said. Rotary club, Kiwanis, Loos, Masons and 27 housing units have already invited speakers to meetings.

Hand-knit, with the initials "C J L" displayed prominently across the front, the scarf was a gift from W. W. Farley, associate director of the research department of the Collins Radio company in Cedar Rapids.

It isn't every day that a strapping six-foot scientist knits a scarf for somebody, but Farley has been plying his needles since the summer of 1943.

At that time Farley was working on radar and radar countermeasures at laboratories at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Harvard, and he often found himself on the train between Boston and Washington, D. C., with time hanging heavily on his hands.

"I got tired of trying to read like this," Farley said, joggling up and down expressively. "So I asked my wife to teach me to knit. She laughed at first, but she finally showed me how."

"Now I'm better than she is at making changes in the middle of a project and coming out with the right measurements," he continued.

A reception was held in the church parlors. Hostesses were Mrs. J. K. Johnston of Iowa City and Mrs. William Figg of Harvey, Ill. After a short wedding trip to Davenport and Rock Island, Ill., the couple will be at home at 1105 Keokuk street.

Mrs. Stewart is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ancaux, 909 Seventh avenue. She is a graduate of Iowa City high school and is now employed at the Giftland shop in Iowa City.

Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samul Stewart of West Liberty. He graduated from West Liberty high school and is employed with a trucking firm there.

The Rev. Ralph M. Krueger performed the ceremony at the First English Lutheran church. Mrs. Edna Neumann, organist, played "I Love You Truly" and Meta Ann Albrecht sang "Ave Maria", accompanied by Mrs. Neumann.

Prof. Wendell Johnson Receives Award For Notable Work in Speech Correction

Prof. Wendell Johnson, head of the university speech clinic, has been awarded "Honors of the Association" by the American Speech Correction association for his "distinguished contribution to the field of speech correction."

WENDELL JOHNSON

The committee on association honors unanimously voted this award to Johnson for his work and numerous writings which have "greatly enlarged the knowledge about, and stimulated thought and research in speech pathology."

It is the second time the award has been made since it was authorized by the association in 1944. Dean Emeritus Carl E. Seashore of the graduate college received the first award in 1944.

The award points to Johnson's 60 professional and 30 general articles and books, plus many book reviews and miscellaneous articles, and to his work at the University of Iowa where he has "vigorously promoted research in speech correction and developed methods of application of speech correction principles to persons afflicted with speech defects." Most recent of his published works is the book "People in Quandaries" which deals with personality traits revealed through the speech we use.

The committee has directed that the complete award be published in the March issue of the Journal of Speech Disorders, which Johnson has edited since March, 1943.

Housing Director Cites Rental Need

Housing priorities for 8,619 homes were issued in Iowa in 1946, according to figures released yesterday by the National Housing agency.

Regional Director Charles J. Horan said only 13 percent of the building permits issued were for rental units. He called for greater emphasis on rental buildings for the coming year, declaring the entire middle west is trailing in this type of building.

Rental housing during the past year was almost one-eighth of all construction in the middle west, where there is approximately one-fifth of the nation's population, according to Horan.

In the midwest, Minnesota had the greatest number of rental housing permits, with 30 percent of the permits issued for this purpose.

West Coast states lead the nation in building activity.

Art of 4000 B.C. Featured in Display

Art objects fashioned in 4000 B. C. are included in the ancient art exhibit now on display in the east foyer of the art building.

The Babylonian and Assyrian art shown has been loaned by the Pennsylvania university museum of Philadelphia.

With the exception of one cast figure, the objects are archeological discoveries.

Ancient jewelry, fragments of cuneiform tablets, alabaster utensils, pottery, seals and small terracotta figures are included in the display.

Tomb models of a chariot and a gaming board are among the Babylonian art objects.

Stamp seals used before 3000 B. C. in Babylonia on display were used to identify property.

Colorful long bead necklaces described as "prized by both men and women" are among the jewelry.

Photographs supplement the art.

Business Women Hear Plan for Legislation

An outline of feature legislation to appear before the state and national legislatures was presented before the Federated Business and Professional Women's club by Mrs. Guy T. Linville last night.

Probable Pipe Dreams In Civil Engineering

Civil engineering is right in style with the students who are "flooding" the campus these days.

The schedule of courses for this semester lists two subjects in that department with the word "water" in the title and those are the two courses the head of the department himself teaches.

His name? Earle WATERman, of course.

John Kleopfer, 57, Dies in Truck Cab

John Kleopfer, 57, of Riverside, was found dead yesterday morning in the cab of a truck which had plunged down a 12-foot embankment on highway 22 near the Iowa river bridge.

Kleopfer appeared to have died of a heart attack, according to County Coroner Frank L. Love, since he had no head wounds or abrasions which would indicate he died in an accident.

Eyewitnesses say Kleopfer "appeared just to drive off the road" and over the embankment. He was en route from Riverside to Lone Tree with a load of gasoline.

Survivors include his wife, Stella; a daughter, Mrs. William Strat of Oxford; two brothers, Ralph of Riverside and Martin of Los Angeles, and his mother, Mrs. Mary Kern of Riverside.

U. S. army engineers expect to start construction of the 500-bed general and surgical Veterans administration hospital here by June 30, the Associated Press reported yesterday.

Also included on the engineers' spring building schedule is the veterans administration hospital at Grand Island, Neb.

The 1,000-bed hospital at Buffalo, N. Y., is the only one of the 63 VA hospitals as yet under construction.

VA Reminds Vets To Revive Policies Before February 1

World War II veterans in this locality were warned yesterday by William J. Doherty, officer in charge of the veterans administration in Iowa City, that the deadline for reinstating lapsed National Life Insurance policies without a physical examination is Feb. 1, 1947.

To pick up a lapsed term policy now, the veteran need only sign a statement to the effect that his health is as good as present as it was on the date of his first defaulted premium.

With that statement he must send two monthly premiums, one to cover the month of his retirement and the other to pay for the 31-day grace period which followed the lapse.

A reinstatement form is being mailed to all lapsed policy holders to aid them in reinstating their insurance before the Feb. 1 deadline. Assistance will also be given any veteran at the VA office, room 206, Iowa State Bank and Trust building.

Doherty emphasized again the importance of veterans completely identifying themselves regarding names and their "N" or "V" numbers if known, and service serial numbers, in all correspondence on insurance matters.

National Life Insurance premium payments, for veterans living in Iowa, should be mailed to Insurance Collections Unit, Veterans Administration Branch Office 8, Fort Snelling, St. Paul II, Minn.

Mrs. Laura Ansel of Iowa City; two nieces, Mrs. John Taylor of Iowa City and Berniece Ansel of Fort Sheridan, Ill., and one grandnephew, John Ansel Taylor of Iowa City.

Mary W. Schindhelm

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at McGovern's funeral home for Mary W. Schindhelm, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Schindhelm, 933 Maiden Lane. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery.

The baby died yesterday morning at Mercy hospital.

Winter's Sneak Play On Spring Fever Pulls Out in Wake of Storm

Week-end balmy weather was merely the curtain raiser for a full scale winter production expected to begin this morning with below zero temperatures, the weatherman says.

A cold front, heralded by strong winds and clearing skies yesterday afternoon, is moving into the Iowa City area. Temperatures may drop as low as 5 degrees below zero. Gusts of wind attaining 50 m.p.h. velocity were recorded early yesterday afternoon, but winds diminished last night. High temperature recorded yesterday was 25 degrees at 9 a.m.

Less than half an inch of snow fell in Iowa City yesterday, but packing made most streets and walks icy. A minor automobile accident at the intersection of Iowa and Dodge at 10:58 a.m. yesterday was attributed to the ice.

Cars driven by John Eldon Cruse, 1606 Muscatine avenue, and Henry Meyer Cutler, 705 Prospect place, collided, causing minor damages to both cars.

SUI Artists Display Work in New York

An exhibit composed of works by 33 students and former students of the art department will be on display in the Munson Williams Proctor institute at Utica, N.Y., during February.

Prof. Lester D. Longman, head of the department, selected the works from a permanent student collection.

Present students and graduate students with art in the show include Byron Burford, Helen Carter, Seymour Barchat, Leroy Burket, Barbara Ellison, Tom Lias, Don Stewart, Stanley Walker, Houston Chandler, Robert Dom,

Crandic Man Suspended

Operator Charged With Neglect of Duty In Trolley Collision

Suspension for negligence of a Crandic lines operator at Swisher has resulted from an investigation now underway of a head-on collision of two Crandic interurban cars Friday.

Robert E. Farrell, assistant superintendent of the lines, said yesterday that according to a company inquiry the operator, Willie Parrish, West Branch, did not give an order to the southbound train to "meet" the northbound train at Cou Falls.

Farrell said the "meet" order was phoned to Parrish before the southbound train reached Swisher. The collision, in which three women passengers were injured, occurred on a curve south of the Cou Falls station, midway between Iowa City and Cedar Rapids.

The investigation probably will be completed today and Parrish will remain on the company payroll pending the outcome, Farrell said.

Margaret Nosek, 216 E. Fairchild street, suffered shock, cuts on bruises and a possible skull fracture in the wreck. She was reported resting comfortably in Cedar Rapids Mercy hospital yesterday.

Two other women were treated at the hospital for cuts and bruises, then dismissed.

John Kacere, Carl Roseberg, Betty Woodbury and Stanley Kearn.

Oil paintings, gouaches, water colors, etchings and photographs of sculptures are included in the show. All have been completed in the last five years.

We Are Reducing Prices of All Ford Cars

"As Much as $50 on Some Models"

Effective Immediately

A Statement by Henry Ford II

"ALTHOUGH more than one million of our customers are waiting for delivery of their cars at present prices, we are immediately reducing the price of every Ford car—some models as much as $50.

"This is our 'down payment' toward a continued high level of production and employment in the months ahead. We believe that the 'shock treatment' of prompt action is needed to halt the insane spiral of mounting costs and rising prices and to restore a sound base for the hopeful period of post-war production we are now entering.

"Let me review briefly the considerations which have led us to take this important step.

"The Ford Motor Company is in the mass production business. Mass production depends upon large markets. It will continue to succeed only if it can produce more and more at lower and lower cost so that more and more people can buy. Large markets begin to disappear when prices rise.

"The un-American spiral of mounting costs and rising prices has hurt everybody—some groups more than others. Many have not benefited from post-war wage increases, but have had to share the burden of resulting higher prices. Already, millions of American families are unable to buy the things which, in normal times, make up their standard of living. In the short view, we can see inflation. In the long view, there is danger of depression.

"The period since V-J day has been an unhappy and costly period of reconversion to peacetime production. Ford Motor Company has lost millions of dollars since V-J day, even after all tax adjustments.

"But the crisis of this wild aftermath of war seems to have been passed. Our own production, though still limited by material shortages, is now steadier. Productivity of our employes, which hit a new low during the period, seems to have started its return to normal. Ford Motor Company made a modest profit for the last three months of 1946, and we intend to continue to operate in the black.

"The American economy now stands at a turning point. Mounting costs and rising prices have warranted caution and hesitancy. There is even general fear that this dangerous, un-American cycle cannot be corrected without an economic recession. We think this fear can be dispelled by common sense and action. And among free men that becomes an individual responsibility.

"The Ford Motor Company therefore proposes to accept its losses since V-J day as an item of the cost of a great and victorious war. We are closing our books on that phase of our production history. We have decided that now is the time for us to make an investment in the future.

"Because they must build up depleted cash reserves or because they are still losing money, many businesses may not be able to follow suit. But we hope that our suppliers, our employes, and our other economic partners will back, each to his own ability, our attempt to return to the economic pattern which has helped to make America great—the principle that higher wages and a higher standard of living for all depend upon lower costs and lower prices through increasingly efficient large-scale production.

"We hope, as we move forward, that we will be able to reduce prices further, and that we will not be forced to raise them again to compensate for cost increases."

PRESIDENT, FORD MOTOR COMPANY

Patton Freed After 5-Day Trial

Self Defense Plea Wins

PATTON STUNNED, HAMILTON HAPPY AS TRIAL ENDS

STUNNED, but happy, Bill Patton's first act as a free man was to shake hands with his attorney, Clair Hamilton, right, who successfully defended Patton against a grand jury indictment of first degree murder. A jury of eight men and four women deliberated only 20 minutes before they returned the verdict, "not guilty."

Patton's actions in his several trips to his home that evening showed he suspected what his wife was doing.

White questioned why Brown didn't "get Patton in the back" as he came in if he had any intention of killing him. Instead Brown waited until Patton had knives, White said.

White asserted that Patton committed assault by ordering people out when he had knives in his hands and that Patton was definitely the aggressor.

White portrayed Patton as bragging and happy about being able to use a knife when he told a police officer and a doctor, "We Kentuckians know how to use knives."

"A man who shows weapons is not entitled to a plea of self-defense," White concluded.

Atty. Edward L. O'Connor, special assistant to White, gave rebuttal arguments for the prosecution before the case went to the jury.

He told what the prosecution had attempted to prove and emphasized that murder is the most serious crime committed by anyone. "The people of this state are bringing this charge," O'Connor said as he summarized their case, re-emphasizing the arguments presented by White.

In his defense argument, Hamilton emphasized to the jury that Patton was assumed to be innocent until the prosecution could prove every element of the crime charged and prove beyond reasonable doubt that the defendant was not acting in self-defense.

Refuting statements by White, who presented the prosecution's first argument, Hamilton indicated that premeditation (necessary element of first degree murder) couldn't be based on the fact that a man:

- 1. Walked off the job without telling the manager he was quitting or why he was leaving.
- 2. Knocked or pushed at his own front door until someone opened it for him.
- 3. Ate lunch at a depot cafe while he waited for his wife to come in on the train.

Hamilton contended that Patton had acted normally in his actions throughout the evening of Nov. 23 and that he went much farther than many men would have when he asked his wife to tell Brown and Stucker to leave. "Most men would start throwing them out," Hamilton asserted.

"Stucker said he wasn't scared. He testified that he knew his duty was to leave another man's house," Hamilton stated in countering the argument of the prosecution that Patton's threat was sufficient reason for Stucker, a bigger man than Patton, to be scared.

Hamilton explained that testimony of Stucker and Miss Parsons showed conclusively that Brown prepared himself to make an assault when he took out his pocket knife after Patton entered the house and put it away open only at Stucker's request.

Mentioning that Stucker picked up the pocket knife after the fight, Hamilton questioned Stucker's reason for not turning the knife over to the police when they looked for it at the Patton home. "The police had to ask for it," Hamilton stressed. "It looks like an intention to help protect Brown."

Climaxing his argument, the defense attorney pointed out that if the wound would so weaken Brown that he immediately staggered and fell, he could hardly have stabbed Patton four times after that.

Outlining the verdicts of first and second degree murder and manslaughter he thought would be part of the court's instructions to the jury, Hamilton said Patton either premeditated the act or acted in self-defense.

"If he was acting in self defense, there should be no compromise," he said.

Hamilton, who helped de-nazify and reorganize German civil courts at Nuernburg as a lieutenant colonel with the American military government, came to Iowa City from Winterset in 1940. He served as special assistant Iowa attorney general in charge of tax work for three years beginning in 1933. In Iowa City he is associated with the law firm, Messer, Hamilton, Cahill and Bartley.

Jurors who heard the case besides Fuhrman were Mrs. H. A. Frye, Mrs. Margaret Daniel, Charles L. Miller, John Pelechek, George J. Seemuth, M. H. Sleichter, Mrs. Nellie C. Verdin, Gerald R. Walters, Frank Echrick, Eugene Heinsius and Mrs. Beatrice Tesar.

Stalin Is Sure War Dangers 'Not Real'

Cites Better Russ-U.S. Relations in Interview With Elliott Roosevelt

NEW YORK (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt says Josef Stalin told him in a personal interview that "relations have improved" between the Russian and American peoples and "the danger of a new war is not real."

Reporting in the current issue of Look magazine 12 questions Stalin answered when Roosevelt and his wife visited him Dec. 21 in the Kremlin, the son of the late president also quoted Stalin as saying that in the matter of atomic control:

"Russia should be subject to the same rules of inspection and control as any other nation must."

In answer to a question as to the present state of relations between the United States and Russia, Stalin was quoted as saying: "Between the American and Russian peoples, no deterioration has taken place, but on the contrary relations have improved."

"As to relations between the two governments, there have been misunderstandings. Certain deterioration has taken place and then great noise was raised that their relations would even deteriorate still further. But I see nothing frightful about this in the sense of a violation of peace or a military conflict."

"Not a single great power, even if its government were anxious to do so, could now raise a large army to fight another allied power, another great power, because now one cannot possibly fight without one's people—and the people are unwilling to fight. They are tired of war."

"And besides, there are no understandable objectives to justify a new war. One will not know for what he has to fight and, therefore, I see nothing frightful that some representatives of the United States government are talking about the deterioration of relations between us."

While Talmadge Holds the Fort—Thompson Operates in Outpost

ATLANTA, GA. (AP)—Herman Talmadge stood pat yesterday on claim to Georgia's disputed governorship, and Lieutenant-Gov. M.E. Thompson immediately established rival executive offices on another floor of the state capitol, pending court adjudication.

Talmadge rebuffed Thompson in a brief, face-to-face exchange when Thompson demanded surrender of the executive offices and governor's mansion lately occupied by Gov. Ellis Arnall, who resigned Saturday.

Said Talmadge: "You have no right to claim this office. There is no vacancy. The general assembly of Georgia has elected me as governor."

Talmadge, elected by the legislature last Wednesday morning to the four-year term of his father, the late Eugene Talmadge, has held the executive offices and mansion since ousting Arnall.

Thompson, who was sworn in as lieutenant-governor last Saturday, said he was taking over as acting governor upon resignation of Arnall.

The bitter controversy flared into direct action on another front as students from five Atlanta colleges and the University of Georgia at Athens, 70 miles distant, announced plans to march on the capitol today. Leaders said "hundreds" would protest Talmadge's seizure of power "by force and violence."

A public mass meeting, sponsored by 25 Atlanta lay and clerical leaders, was arranged for tonight to hear Arnall outline what he described as the case of constitutional government.

Talmadge forces meanwhile won another test of strength in the legislature when both branches accepted a concurrent resolution inviting Talmadge to address a joint session today noon. The house voted 88 to 64 for the resolution, and the senate concurred, 29 to 20.

Thompson leaders unsuccessfully sought to have him invited to talk too. During heated debate, Rep. Adie Durden shouted that Talmadge was a man "who has only squatters' rights to the governorship."

Both Thompson and Talmadge have announced they will abide by decision of the Georgia courts, although Talmadge continued to insist that the dispute is beyond court jurisdiction as an act of a sovereign body.

Attorney General Eugene Cook announced he had recognized Thompson as chief executive, and had accepted direction to substitute his name for Arnall's in a suit enjoining Talmadge from exercising authority of governor. The litigation is set for hearing in superior (circuit) court Feb. 7.

Democrats Cry 'Gag Rule'; Subcommittee On Spending Ceiling Gets Free Hand

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Democratic cry of "gag rule" mingled with renewed Republican demands for budget and tax cutting today as an unprecedented congressional committee organized to review President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget and put its own ceiling on spending.

Tempers flared as the 102-member senate-house budget committee, created by the new reorganization act, held its first meeting behind closed doors and named a 20-man subcommittee to do the actual work—12 Republicans and eight Democrats.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) emerged from the executive session shouting to newsmen: "A gag rule has been adopted at the beginning of this congress. The committee has voted to give carte blanche authority to a 20-man subcommittee, with members of the full committee denied an opportunity to voice their views. The subcommittee will not even tell the whole committee when it is meeting."

To which Rep. Keefe (R-Wisc.), who was not named to the subcommittee, replied:

"O'Mahoney is crazy as a bed-bug if he says it's a gag rule."

Representative Dirksen (R-Ill.) of the subcommittee explained it was set up to expedite the work. The full committee is required to arrive at a spending ceiling before Feb. 15 after the subcommittee makes its report.

peace, Roosevelt quoted the Russian leader as replying: "of course."

To a request for comment on the Nov. 5 elections in the United States, Stalin was quoted as saying he felt it indicated "that the present government is wasting the moral and political capital created by the late president, and thus it facilitated the victory of the Republicans."

Roosevelt said Stalin looked in good health although his hair was grayer and thinner than it was three years ago. He added that "probably because of his recent loss of weight, Stalin's tunic appeared slightly loose at the throat."

YOU'LL BE MONEY AHEAD in an Army job!

WHAT would you pick as a good-paying job? Manufacturing? U. S. Department of Labor figures show that in 1945 the average worker in American manufacturing industries earned $2300—about $191 a month.

Now look at the chart above. Those necessary expenses may vary with the locality, but they represent a fair average for the whole country. Put in your own costs for each item if you like. You'll come out with the same answer: the Army Private has more money left for his savings than the average civilian worker.

The Army man also gets Retirement Credits—at no cost—which enable him to retire at half pay after 20 years, and on up to three-quarters pay after 30 years' service. To buy annuities providing an income equal to a First Sergeant's retirement pay would cost a civilian about $100 a month.

Find out today about the many other benefits that go with the Regular Army's 40,000 good jobs a month. Call at your nearest U. S. Army Recruiting Station.

Crisler Predicts Collegiate Split Over Purity Ruling

'Police Force' Will Have to Enforce Code

By ORLO ROBERTSON
PITTSBURGH (AP) — The possibility of either a split in the National Collegiate Athletic association or the establishment of a "police force" to enforce the proposed new amateur code was foreseen yesterday by Fritz Crisler, director of athletics and head football coach at the University of Michigan.

"There are two trends of thought on the future athletic policies of our colleges and universities," said Crisler, here to open the annual Y.M.C.A. membership drive. "Roughly speaking the south is on one side with the belief that the recruiting and subsidizing of athletics should be made legitimate. On the other side stand such groups as the Western conference, the Ivy League schools and the Pacific Coast conference."

Crisler said in an interview he was hopeful that the south would go along with the majority in voting on the changes in the NCAA constitution at its next annual meeting but pointed out that the body, at its recent New York session, put teeth in the new definition of the amateur code.

"Under the change the NCAA will have power to levy sanctions against any school not abiding by the rules," he said. That means a school either will have to go along with the majority or face expulsion from the NCAA.

"I can foresee the possibility of a group of schools seceding from the NCAA but I don't think it likely. But to make the rules effective I believe it will be necessary to set up a regulating and investigation committee. We should be able to trust each other but I don't know whether we will."

Switching to the possibility of the University of Pittsburgh being admitted to the Western conference, the Michigan coach said in the past other schools such as Nebraska, Iowa State and Michigan State had been turned down because the conference figured it was large enough.

"It is not necessary that we have a school to replace the university of Chicago," he said. "I believe Pitt made unofficial overtures for membership some four years ago and was turned down for that reason. Then too the fact that Michigan State and Pitt both have applications, either formal or informal, before the conference is not good for either school."

Tigers Trade Men for Cash

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers "all sell and no buy" player negotiations since they finished a distant second behind the Boston Red Sox in the last American league flag chase left the Bengals "fully aware" yesterday that strengthening replacements may be needed if they are to figure in the 1947 pennant fight.

Since last October Detroit has peddled home run champion Hank Greenberg and Second Baseman Jimmy Bloodworth to the Pittsburgh Pirates and released outright Pitchers George Caster and the veteran Tommy Bridges, in no case receiving any players in exchange.

Sale of Greenberg, who belted 44 homers and drove in 127 runs a year ago to lead the league in both departments at the age of 35, and Bloodworth, who was in 76 games for the Tigers last season as a second baseman, deprives Detroit of two "regulars" from a year ago but to Vice-President Billy Evans their absence may not prove as costly as it would appear.

"Greenberg is 36 years old and certainly approaching the end of his baseball career," Evans declared yesterday, "not only that, his sale doesn't deprive the Tigers of a first baseman, because he played the position under Duresse last year and was determined to return to the outfield in 1947. So we're really losing an outfielder and we're well set there without Hank."

Jorgensen's Efforts Short

NOBLE JORGENSEN scored 15 points against Purdue last night but his effort was short as the Riveters took a 52-46 victory over the Hawkeyes. Jorgensen also used his 6-9 frame to good advantage under the basket by grabbing a share of the rebounds.

a free throw for Purdue to give them a 10-9 edge.

Ives hit another basket for Iowa and Wier missed a free throw as Iowa sported a 11-10 lead. Murray Wier hooked an overhead effort to give Iowa a three-point margin, which with Spencer's free throw made it 14-10.

Ehlers drove in for a basket to move Purdue up to 14-12 with 11 minutes left in the half. Jorgensen, excessively boomed on free throw attempts, held up the game to get a fair break from the crowd and made one of two charity tosses. Hoffman retaliated with two free throws to make it 15-13, Iowa.

Wier swished a long push which was matched by Purdue's Lodge to make it 17-16. Wier missed a free throw and both teams muffed a series of field attempts. Berberian put the Boiler-makers ahead 18-17 but Jorgensen tied it up with a free throw.

Herb Wilkinson made one of two free throws but Berberian hit from the field to make it 20-19, Purdue. Hoffman, fouled by Wier, made a free throw and Lodge made a basket to boost the count to 23-19. Ehlers continued the Purdue surge with one of two charity tosses.

Jorgensen's free throw made it 24-20 but Lodge made another long basket to push it 26-20 and Hoffman made a free throw for good measure. Trump added another free throw to make it 27-20 before Jorgensen hit a pivot. Wier moved Iowa up with a long basket to 27-24.

With two minutes left in the half, Jorgensen made a free throw but Anderson made it 29-25 with a Purdue basket. Ehlers hit on a fast break and Wier missed a free throw as the half ended 31-25, Purdue.

Iowa missed eight free throws in the first half and went seven minutes without hitting a basket late in the period. The rebounding was not up to par and percentage of shots was .249.

Iowa started the second half with a six-point handicap which Jorgensen eased with a basket from the side to make it 31-27. Herb Wilkinson hit from far out to make it 31-29 but Ehlers moved it up to 33-29 with a long basket. Herb Wilkinson scored for Iowa to make it 33-31.

Hoffman made to free throws to help Purdue to a 35-31 lead. Jorgensen's neat pivot shot made it 35-33. With five minutes played Jorgensen missed a free throw and moments later Anderson made a basket and a free throw to make the score 38-33.

Herb Wilkinson's hook shot swished through to make it 38-35 and Jack Spencer's free throw made it 39-36. Anderson pushed the Purdue lead to 40-36 with a

It would appear that our observation that crowd discipline is a problem common to every school in the Big Nine is being borne out game by game. The Iowa crowd reaction has received adverse publicity which was partially justified but evidently those doing the blasting should turn their attention to affairs close at hand. To illustrate the point, at Purdue last night the game was held up while the crowd, which booed each and every decision, vent its fury upon Iowa's Noble Jorgensen who was in the act of shooting free throws. The relationship between the Iowa and Purdue players sounded friendly enough but the crowd was at best hostile. Looks like all parties are living in glass houses and that a common campaign is called for rather than the usual rock-throwing.

Worse things have happened, but you'd never have known it to look around the news room in the final seconds of the 52-46 defeat of our beloved Hawks by Purdue. Makes a fellow feel like he's just been disinherited or something.

Anyway you look at it, last night's game was crucial to Iowa's hopes for the Big Nine title but the Hawk shooting percentage was as low as my grade point. The overall speed of those Purdue fire wagons seems to have made the difference. So there is no joy in Mudville alias Iowa City—our Hawks are down and out.

But while it's too late to salvage the actual games, we can show the Big Nine how a ball club should lose. To the Hawks credit, the Indiana game was shaken off without any alibing or crying. There have been no reports of Iowa screaming that the officials, wild-eyed crowd or opposition team's roughness caused the defeat.

And remember that as bad as we in Iowa City felt, the Hawkeye players felt worse. They went all out and did their best. If their best wasn't enough, it is no discredit to them. From what we could hear over the radio, our team played hard and clean which is more than a lot of out of town characters give them credit for.

There's a lot of games left this season and the Hawks are now in position to help decide the conference race if not win it themselves. From here on out our fun will have to come from tipping over Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Indiana or Purdue.

There's no way of checking but the Iowa percentage in the Purdue game must have been as low as against Indiana. Neither the Hoosiers nor the Hawks exactly blistered the basket with Iowa pegged at .229 percent as compared to Indiana's .267.

The Purdue game was a rather clean-cut decision but you'll probably read and hear more about two plays which hurt the Hawks in the Indiana games. One was Herb Wilkinson's long shot which ended the first half by swishing the net only to have the officials declare it no count because of travelling. The other play was the last second long shot of Jack Spencer which was also a strike and was nullified as the officials charged Spencer with a foul on the attempt.

With 12 minutes left Jorgensen made a free throw to put it 41-37 but Berberian matched it for Purdue. Jorgensen made it 42-39 with a tip-in. With nine minutes left Berberian missed a free throw and so did Iowa's Herb Wilkinson.

Wier hit a one-handed push shot to make it 42-41. Hoffman injured his leg and was helped from the floor by Iowa's Jorgensen. Wier fouled Ehlers who missed both free throws. Berberian made a long shot to make it 44-41. Lodge moved Purdue in the clear 46-41 with another basket with five minutes left.

Ehlers hit another to make it 48-41 and Jorgensen scored for Iowa. Ehlers retaliated for the Boiler-makers to make it 50-43. With four minutes left Ives made a free throw to make it 50-44. Herb Wilkinson moved Iowa up to 50-46 with a tip-in as Purdue stalled.

With two minutes left Lodge hit a free throw and Magnusson missed one for Iowa. A technical foul was called on Iowa and Anderson made the score 52-46. Purdue. The final minute was typical of the rough and tumble play and the Hawks lost their third conference game.

St. Mary's Holds Secret Practice

St. Mary's Ramblers staged spirited, secret drills last night in preparation for Wednesday night's contest against their powerful downtown rivals, St. Patrick's scrappy Shamrocks, and the Ramblers prepared new scoring plays with the hope of upsetting the favored visitors.

The Ramblers also practiced hard Sunday afternoon—their first Sunday practice since the season began—this is the game the Ramblers have been pointing for. Statistics favor the southsiders, however, who have won seven starts against four losses while compiling an impressive 295 points.

St. Mary's record lists seven wins and six losses as the Ramblers collected 423 points for a 32.5 game average. Wednesday night's tilt will pit two speedy high scoring forwards against each other, with slender Buzz Mottet, who has racked up 111 tallies for the Ramblers, against Jerry Megan of the Shamrocks who has notched 119 counters.

Captain Eddie Rocca ranks next to Mottet for the Ramblers with 83 points—the same total Bill Semuth has poured through the hoop for the Shamrocks. Both of these men play a good rebounding game and are a vital cog in the floor play of the two teams.

The Shamrocks, coached by Cliff Krittka, knocked off St. Wenceslaus of Cedar Rapids, 40-24, while the Ramblers, coached by Francis Suplee, defeated that parlor city quintet, 44-22. The Rocks edged past St. Mary's of Muscatine, 31-29—a team that has humbled the Ramblers twice this season.

Iowa Tankmen Bat Wildcats

CHICAGO (AP)—Iowa's star laden swimming team took its first Western conference start of the season here last night by defeating Northwestern 50-34. It was the second loss of the season for the Wildcats who had previously been defeated by Purdue 44-40. Iowa will open its home schedule against a strong Wisconsin crew next Friday.

Dewar, Duda Go to Browns

CLEVELAND (AP)—The champion Cleveland Browns of the all-America football conference yesterday signed right halfbacks Jim Dewar of Indiana university and John Duda of the University of Virginia, Coach-General Manager Paul Brown reported.

Dewar, a rangy 190-pounder, was an outstanding runner and passer for Indiana in 1942 and '46, and was a member of the college All Star squad for three straight years. Expected to add strength to the position which was riddled with injuries last season, Dewar played for Camp Grant and Camp Lee teams during the war.

Duda, a hard running, 192-pound back, starred for Virginia in 1945 and '46, and was No. 3 on the 1944 draft list of the rival National league Philadelphia Eagles club, Brown said.

Herb Adds 13 Points

FINDING HIS shooting eye after scoring only five points against Indiana Herb Wilkinson, Iowa's classy guard, blasted in 13 points against Purdue last night.

Williams of Iowa Predicts—

Three Badger Losses

CHICAGO (AP) — Undefeated Wisconsin, winner in three straight conference games, is headed for as many defeats before the 12-contest Big Nine basketball race closes, scout Rollie Williams of Iowa predicted yesterday.

Williams, addressing a Chicago basketball writers' luncheon, said every team in the league was capable of springing upsets and he reckoned the ultimate winner would finish with a 9-3 record. Wisconsin's Badger already have polished off three highly-regarded entries — Illinois, Iowa and Indiana—but squeezed past Iowa's Hawkeyes by a 63 to 62 margin.

Iowa appears against Northwestern here Saturday as the Chicago Stadium's college double-header program resumes after a month lapse. The co-feature sends Michigan State against De Paul university.

Record Prize Money Offered in 500-Mile Speedway Grind

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — More money for the drivers and more speed to thrill the spectators attending the 31st annual 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway next May 30 were forecast yesterday by Wilbur Shaw, the general manager.

Shaw announced a guaranteed prize list of $75,000 as he mailed entry blanks to the car owners. He explained that while this is the same amount paid by the speedway to drivers who participated in the 1946 race, there is an increased interest evident on the part of the accessory division of the automotive industry. These manufacturers are expected to offer additional monetary incentive which, along with lap prizes donated by various concerns, will bring the total pay-off to an all-time high.

The speedway had offered prizes totaling $61,500 last year but before the race increased the amount to $75,000 and the accessory and lap prizes boosted the total to a record $115,450, about $25,000 more than was distributed in 1941, when the last race was run.

The entry blanks also disclose some changes in regulations which Shaw said should result in a faster race than ever before. All minimum weight requirements and restrictions on body styles have been removed.

Mickey Vernon Not for Sale

WASHINGTON (AP) — "There isn't enough money in that bush league town of New York to buy Mickey Vernon."

The speaker: Cagney Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators.

The topic: a roundabout $150,000 offer from the New York Yankees for Vernon, the Senators' first baseman.

Griffith, now at Orlando, Fla., getting ready for the spring baseball season, made the statement by telephone to the Washington Star.

And he also said: "Vernon will play first base for Washington next season or not at all."

The whole thing came up after Larry MacPhail of the New York Yankees had told reporters:

"We have offered and are willing to pay $150,000 for a major league first baseman satisfactory to Manager Bucky Harris."

To Ask Federal Aid in Planning Benton St. Bridge, New City Hall

Iowa City will apply for federal aid to start plans for a new bridge across the Iowa river to replace the now condemned Benton street bridge. Federal aid will also be asked in the advance planning of a new city hall building to house police and fire departments and city administrative offices.

The city council's decision last night to ask for help in getting a new bridge started followed the reading of a petition submitted by Alderman James M. Callahan of the first ward, signed by 750 citizens, requesting that the bridge be constructed.

A petition was also received from 11 city street employees asking for a 12 percent wage increase. The petition suggested that the increase could be taken care of by the new gas tax fund designated to be used for construction, repair and maintenance of city streets. Their request was referred to the streets and alleys committee.

The second reading of the long-discussed proposal to rezone a large part of south Iowa City into business and industrial areas was amended by the council to leave as residential sections the blocks

The March of Dimes campaign will feature a "block of dimes" day in the near future.

The city council granted permission last night for dimes to be spread end to end the length of the block on Washington street between Dubuque and Clinton streets.

The idea will be to have people put their ten-cent contributions along the north sidewalk on Washington street until they line the entire block.

on which Henry Sabin school and St. Patrick's school and church are located. The council also decided that the section of Clinton street across from the courthouse should remain a residential area. The zoning ordinance will come up for final hearing Jan. 27.

City taxis will have to carry personal injury insurance of $10,000 to $20,000 if the new taxicab ordinance which came up for a first reading last night is passed by the council. The new ordinance will require $10,000 insurance for individual injury and $20,000 for injury of more than one person. Required insurance for property damage will be $5,000.

The proposed ordinance also calls for a $100 license fee for the first cab licensed by a company and a $15 additional license fee for every cab thereafter. Cab drivers will be required to obtain a $2 city license.

Iowa City is now just a little larger than it was yesterday. The council last night annexed the area surrounding City high with the intention of incorporating it into the city. The area concerned is that north of Court street between Fourth and Seventh avenues and a short distance north of the high school.

Fire Chief J. J. Clark asked that an ordinance be drafted forbidding the fire department to answer calls beyond the city limits unless the parties asking for aid had previously contracted with the city for fire protection.

Chief Clark's statement explained that if a fireman is injured in a fire out of the city he forfeits all protection granted under pension laws. Chief Clark's request was submitted to the fire and water committee.

The fire department was authorized to purchase a new Chevrolet truck at a cost not to exceed $1,195. The truck will be a small pick-up for general work. The city engineer was authorized to purchase a street sweeper for $4,300. The money will be furnished from the new gas tax fund.

Moose Lodge to Hold Teen Dance Friday

Road Law Violations, Intoxication Led Offenses Last Year, Says Police Chief

Most numerous offenses in Iowa City during 1946 were parking violations, violations of road and driving laws and intoxication.

Information in Police Chief Ollie White's annual report to the city council last night revealed 2,747 parking offenses during the 12 months, 501 violations of road and driving laws and 280 cases of intoxication.

During the same period, cash receipts of the department totaled $17,471.33, all but a thousand dollars of which came from fines, costs and bond forfeitures reported by the police court. Parking meters, which first saw use Dec. 14, produced $855.78.

The report listed 296 traffic accidents during the year, averaging one accident every 29 hours. Ten persons were injured in the accidents.

No rape, prostitution or sex crimes were listed. Totals of other offenses were burglary, 46; larceny, 161; auto theft, 22; disorderly conduct, 63; drunken driving, 12.

Miscellaneous services and incidents included locating 109 of 111 persons reported missing, the recovery of 67 of 78 bicycles reported stolen and six cases of suicide or attempted suicide.

Chief White listed the year's major cases as the drowning of John Rothlisberger in Iowa river April 1, the slaying of three children and suicide of their mother Sept. 1, and the knifing of Ernest Brown.

The chief termed 1946 as "outstanding in the history of the police department from the standpoint of activity and results obtained."

He also reported the need for adequate quarters and the need for two policemen to bring the force to full strength.

Most of the force, the chief said, participated in some form of special training during the year. White attended the National Academy of Police Photography at his own expense and conducted photography classes for his officers last spring. Other officers attended special law enforcement schools here and at Ames.

Two Cars Damaged In Highway 6 Crash

Two cars were damaged in a three-car collision on a slippery stretch of highway 6 about three miles east of Iowa City yesterday afternoon.

State Highway Patrolman John Johnson said cars driven by Charles L. Page and Pete Fulsang, both of Des Moines, rammed into the rear of a semi truck driven by Lea J. Enright, Durant.

Page and Fulsang were following the truck, Johnson said, and were unable to stop when Enright applied his brakes to avoid hitting another car which had pulled in front of him.

The Page car received about $300 damage and Fulsang's machine about $100.

National Debt Settlement Not Immediate Problem, GOP Congressman Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Woodruff (R., Mich.), declaring that settlement of the national debt is "a problem of the next 100 years," said yesterday the Republicans "must not break their campaign promises to the people" on tax relief.

"The nation wants tax relief now. Business needs tax relief now," he said. "The citizens want to keep more of their earnings to spend for themselves."

Assailing what he termed "governmental waste, bureaucratic irresponsibility, war extravagances like the canal project and others of similar character," Woodruff declared in a statement that study committees have found many ways in which "multiplied millions can be saved by reducing appropriations and compelling greater government economy, with a real and actual increase in governmental efficiency." The Michigan lawmaker said he favors a 20 percent tax cut "if this is possible."

Farmers Mass to Fight Trade Treaty

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Representatives of four farm organizations claiming 90,000 members in 26 northern states said they agreed yesterday to consolidate into "the national farmers committee" opposing a proposed foreign trade treaty.

Spokesmen for the new group to be consolidated formally later said its immediate objective was to oppose negotiation of the treaty because they said it "is not reciprocal or in the public's interest" and would lower present tariff barriers.

The four consolidating groups were listed as The Associated Farmers of California, Inc.; the Ohio Farm Marketing Protest association; the American Farm Vigilante committee, and the United Farmers of America, Inc.

The spokesmen said the new group would be non-political and non-sectarian. They said its plat-
