Budget Slows Tax Action

First Bill to Up Teachers Salaries Before Legislature

DES MOINES (AP)—A delay in compilation of the budget threatened yesterday to further complicate the state legislature's fight over whether the income tax should be continued at half rate or restored to full collection.

Rep. Harry Weichman (R-Newhall), chairman of the house appropriations committee, said budget appropriation requests are on Gov. Robert D. Blue's desk, but that it will be at least a month before the budget is before the legislators in printed form.

Weichman said his committee had asked the governor when the budget would be submitted.

The decision faces the legislature as to which of these two problems to take up first:

1. The amount of money to be appropriated, or

2. The question of whether the income tax should be continued at the 50 percent rate.

Delay in receiving the budget would postpone action on appropriations.

As the senate concluded a committee-of-the-whole session to consider the half rate bill, Sen. J. Kendall Lyles (R-Plainfield) announced he would try to push through today a resolution to sidetrack the measure temporarily.

Officially the bill is on the calendar for a vote. Lyles' resolution would defer further consideration until the legislature decides on major spending policies.

Sent to the clerk's desk shortly before adjournment the resolution will be printed in Fri.'s journal and a parliamentary fight, with Frank C. Byers (R-Cedar Rapids) leading the opposition to Lyles, is expected to result if Lyles demands that the resolution be voted on. Senate rules provides that such resolutions lay over for one day and may be referred to a standing committee.

Lyles claimed that if operating budgets of state departments were increased by as much as $8,000,000 a year—they are asking $17,000,000—the state would have to begin dipping immediately into the $45,000,000 surplus.

Senator Byers, co-author of the bill to continue the half rate income tax collections, disagreed with Lyles' figuring, and contended there was no reason why the state should double the amount of income taxes it now collects when it has adequate reserves on hand.

Byers also argued that Iowans in the lower income brackets paid the highest income tax rate in any state when collections were made on a 100 percent basis and even at the half rate were paying the fourth highest of any state income taxes.

Lyles said he regarded the controversy over which rate should prevail as one largely between small counties which now pay only 20 percent of the total individual income tax collections and the large counties which pay 80 percent.

While the income tax fight was taking shape the senate received the first bill of the 1947 session to increase the minimum salaries of Iowa school teachers.

It raises the minimum for all teachers from $70 to $100 a month and for college training ranging from 15 to 60 semester hours it increases other salaries as follows: $75 to $110 monthly; $80 to $120, $85 to $135 and $90 to $150.

HUTS SOLVE HOUSING PROBLEM, PRESENT ANOTHER ONE

WHERE DOES THE ROOF STOP AND WALL BEGIN, asks this bewildered onlooker. Trying to answer the same question is superior court in San Diego. The court must settle a dispute between AF of L painters union and a contractor over painting Camp Pendleton quonset huts. The issue is whether roof painters, permitted to use spray guns, can paint from the top right down to the ground, or if they must give way to wall painters, who are restricted to brushes. And if so, where? (AP WIREPHOTO)

Truman to Leave Rent Control Question in Hands of Congress

British Double-Trouble Thwarts U.S. Bid To Expand Trade Relations With India

By WILLIAM P. PHIPPS, Associated Press Staff Writer

Burma peg toasts might—but probably won't—be prompted around in bars in Calcutta's Great Eastern hotel and Bombay's Willingdon club by the official announcement this week that America will bid for more trade with India.

Indian and American businessmen in these two great commercial cities have waited too long for something to happen. They will get excited and begin celebrating only after the ink has dried on the commercial treaty which Undersecretary of State Will Clayton says the U. S. is willing to negotiate with India.

Americans want to sell. Indians want to buy. But instead of making deals they knock themselves out against British double-trouble. This is the sterling bloc and the 1935 Government-of-India act.

Into Britain's war effort India put facilities, services and goods worth $5 billion, but India is in the sterling bloc, where this credit is frozen. So India is short on dollar exchange.

The Government-of-India act, since 1935, has given British traders preferential treatment. They have had the privileges of Indians but not the restrictions of other foreigners.

These are formidable things to get around, even on the highest diplomatic plane. It will take time. Indian industrialists are impatient to get going. Many of their representatives told me on the spot two years ago of longstanding plans to buy huge amounts of machinery for India's industrial development. Always the lack of dollars held them back.

Now, the Indians said, if they only had dollar credit they could pry good stuff loose from the British by threatening to buy American.

That would assure the best for India.

It also means Americans must buy Indian to create that missing dollar balance which India needs.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman yesterday declared that his hoped-for cooperation from the GOP congress is a fact.

In that vein, he disclosed:

1. He is leaving entirely up to congress the question of continuing rent control beyond its present June 30 expiration date, although he thinks we ought to hold the line on rents. The matter of possible increases in the rent ceilings similarly is one for congress rather than the OPA, he believes.

2. He has a Republican under consideration for a vacancy on the federal communications commission. The prospective nominee is Miss Marion Martin, formerly assistant chairman of the Republican national committee and head of its women's division.

3. He took no part in the row over continuing the special senate war investigating committee which he headed as a senator. The continuance, favored by Republicans and fought by Democrats, was voted Wednesday. Mr. Truman commented that it was a matter for the senate itself to decide.

The matter of budget slashes proposed by Republicans and other issues already drawn between the chief executive and the new congress, however, were not brought up.

LONDON (AP)—London's transport workers, whose recent unofficial 12-day strike resulted in the movement of food by troops of the crack guards brigades, won approval last night for virtually all of their demands.

The ministry of labor's court of inquiry, after hearing the views of employers and workers, recommended a "guaranteed" 44-hour week with the same wages presently being paid for 48 hours. It also agreed to the workers' demands for abolition of the cumulative week, recommending that the extra hours of any day should be paid as overtime in cash instead of time off.

UAW Rejects Allis-Chalmers Proposals

DETROIT (AP)—Company proposals to settle the 271-day-old Allis-Chalmers strike in West Allis, Wis., were rejected as "inadequate" yesterday by the CIO United Auto Workers.

Expressing confidence the union would win a bargaining election at the Wisconsin plant Sunday, the UAW-CIO policy committee listed two reasons for "unanimously" turning down the latest offer "in its present form."

First, the committee said, the offer "as it now stands would only be given to such workers as the company selects" and "no incentive workers would receive an increase in the take-home pay."

"Offered Nothing New"

Secondly, the committee's statement continued, the company "offered absolutely nothing new on the remaining key issues in dispute." These principally are union security and grievance procedure.

The proposals, termed "final" by the company were drawn up Tuesday in a management-union conference at the home of the Rev. Ensworth Reiser, pastor of Milwaukee's First Methodist church.

The union has been demanding a 25-cent hourly increase. In plant notices the company, a farm equipment manufacturer, has described its wage offer as one of 1 1/2 cents. The union's demand would include a five-cent raise granted during the General Motors corporation strike of a year ago.

"Committee Encouraged"

The police committee, comprised of the international union's four top officers and four Detroit regional directors, said it was "encouraged" by "the first offer of any kind to be made by the company since negotiations began nine months ago."

"We feel a better offer will be forthcoming in further negotiations which will be held only after local 248's victory in the bargaining election this Sunday," it added, however.

In the election an estimated 13,000 Allis-Chalmers workers will choose between continued membership in the UAW-CIO and an independent union.

Government Steps Into Portal Pay Case; Asks Court to Deny Payment of 'Trifles'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government, facing the loss of huge sums in tax rebates under portal pay claims, stepped into the key case yesterday with an argument that claims should not be paid for mere "trifles" of time.

The justice department filed a brief asking dismissal of claims of the Mt. Clemens (Mich.) Pottery company workers on the grounds that, as the record now stands, they are "trifling."

However, it also suggested that further evidence should be taken to see whether there is more substance to the claims.

The Mt. Clemens case is the one which led to the now famous supreme court decision that workers are entitled to pay for all time "controlled" by the employer—not just that spent in productive labor. It set off the current series of suits for claims totaling more than $4,000,000,000. Some of these make claims for time spent changing clothes, washing up etc.

The justice department's move yesterday does not challenge the principle of the high court's decision. It simply heads toward drawing a line somewhere between what "controlled" time, other than labor, should be paid for and what is too insignificant to warrant attention under the wage-hour law.

On both sides of congress, meanwhile, the portal suits claimed close attention.

"Communist Affiliation"

Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R., N.J.) of the house committee on unAmerican activities told the house that the man who "concocted" the idea of the suits and the lawyer who filed the Mt. Clemens case "both have long records of Communist affiliation." He named them, respectively, as Ben Riskin, former research director for the CIO Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, and Edward Lamb of Toledo, O.

The senate judiciary subcommittee considering bills to outlaw the suits received a transcript of remarks which Judge Picard made in another portal pay case involving the Chrysler Corporation. On the basis of these remarks, a Chrysler attorney, Theodore R. Iserman, told the subcommittee that the judge was "strictly pro-labor."

The remark in question read as follows:

"I say, is not this work peculiarly different from the work in the factory? If they are going to count 10 or 15 minutes that they get their early—and there is nothing peculiar really about this relationship; that is, if it is not different from other relationships—why should they not give back to the company the 10 or 15 minutes or half hour in which they ate their lunch? Now as you know, and I don't mind telling you, I am very pro-labor. I want them to get every nickel they have coming to them."

"Pro-Labor and Pro-Capital"

Judge Picard subsequently said in New York that he is both "pro-labor" and "pro-capital" but does not permit his "feelings" to influence his decisions.

His suggestion that the lunch periods might counter-balance the time spent in pre-work preparations for which the workers sought payment appeared similar to the justice department's argument. Its brief was filed with Picard in New York, where he is sitting temporarily in other cases.

Just how the commissioners hope to kill the starlings was not disclosed. But they have had lots of helpful suggestions.

One citizen said bring in owls to eat or scare the starlings.

But what if the owl became an equally big menace?

All right, replied the citizen. Bring in eagles to eat the owls.

Nobody has figured out yet what to do about the eagles.

Since the starling lives mainly in the east, many fortunate people know little or nothing about its unfortunate habits.

So it's only fair to explain why Washington works so hard trying to get rid of them.

Pennsylvania avenue is one of this town's main streets. It runs from the White House to the Capitol. It has trees along it. Every night starlings come by the thousands and sit in these trees.

We now approach delicate ground, but let us forge bravely ahead.

The truth must out. And the truth is, any pedestrian who happens to stroll beneath these trees emerges as spotted as a leopard.

The odd part about all this is that we asked for it.

Frederick C. Lincoln of the fish and wildlife service told a reporter that 60 starlings were brought over from England in 1890. Another 40 were fetched in 1891.

The millions of starlings in this country today are descendants of this hardy 100.

Who's Who In Georgia, Bank Asks

Highway Department Crippled, Revenues Frozen by Dispute

ATLANTA (AP)—The Fulton National Bank of Atlanta announced yesterday it would refuse to honor checks drawn by either claimant of Georgia's disputed governorship. The bank said it would begin independent court action to settle the controversy.

The bank's announcement came only a few hours after State Treasurer George B. Hamilton disclosed that conflicting claims over the governorship had tied up state revenues and all operations of the state highway department.

The bank said: "In view of the confusion which exists throughout the state as to the governorship of Georgia, this bank has instructed its attorneys to file court procedures for instruction as to the proper persons to control the account of the executive department of Georgia."

The terse statement said until a court ruling was obtained "it is not the purpose of this bank to recognize either of the contending parties as entitled to control this account." The bank added that a $50 check upon the executive department account had been cashed earlier today "through error, without the knowledge or approval of any officer of the bank."

In effect, the bank's action prevents Lieut. Gov. M. E. Thompson from drawing any funds for operation of his "governor's" office, although $97,000 was turned over to him by retiring Gov. Ellis Arnall. Herman Talmadge, the other claimant, also is without funds.

State Treasurer George B. Hamilton disclosed that a legal snarl over bonding of two appointees of Herman Talmadge—the legislature's choice as governor—prevented disbursement of funds to the highway and revenue departments, or acceptance of tax collections from the revenue commissioner.

Talmadge said the developments took him by surprise, and withheld comment. However, he issued a statement castigating the Atlanta Journal for allegedly sponsoring protest meetings, and called upon "the good, white people of Georgia" to rally to his support. In a news conference, he said he "could have 25,000 persons demonstrating on the front lawn of the capitol," but insisted he abhorred "mob demonstrations."

Wright Byran, editor of the Atlanta Journal, dismissed Talmadge's accusation, saying: "The Journal's only connection with mass meetings has been to report them. That it will continue to do."

Earlier in the day, Talmadge suffered a setback when the Fulton National Bank of Atlanta honored the first check drawn by M. E. Thompson. Talmadge is without money to operate the governor's office or the executive mansion.

Operation of the highway and revenue departments was not immediately affected, but fiscal officials said a prolonged tie-up would cripple them and quickly affect other state departments.

Hamilton, in answer to newsmen's questions, said he was unable to deal with Sims Garrett, Talmadge's highway disbursing officer, because he lacked senate confirmation and thus could not be bonded. Garrett's name was among appointments which the senate declined yesterday to consider.

Thompson has appointed a rival highway department administrator.

Hamilton said he was unable to deal with Talmadge's revenue commissioner, Charles Redwine, until Redwine's bond was approved by Georgia's attorney general, Eugene Cook. The latter has refused to recognize Talmadge or any of his appointees. Redwine was confirmed by the senate.

Bond of Thompson-appointed Stonewall Dyer was approved by Cook, but Dyer was barred from offices of the revenue commissioner by armed state police. Hamilton said he could not deal with Dyer because he lacked senate confirmation.

Indict May, Garssons on Fraud Charge

By J.W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury yesterday indicted former Rep. Andrew J. May and three officials of the Garsson munitions combine on charges that they "conspired and agreed together to defraud the United States."

Indicted with the wartime head of the house military committee were these three men from whom, the jury said, May "did agree to receive" $53,634.07 for service rendered:

Henry M. Garsson. He was described by army officers in a senate inquiry last summer as "the brains" of the combine, which received more than $78,000,000 in war contracts.

Murray W. Garsson. A brother of Henry, his salary as a director of the Erie Basin Metal Products company, one of the 19 firms in the combine, was shown by government records to have $161,666.

Joseph F. Freeman. He was Washington office manager of the combine and, according to a stenographer-witness in the senate inquiry, kept in frequent contact with May.

Attorney General Clark, in announcing the indictments, said conviction could carry fines up to $10,000 and imprisonment for two years.

Many Comments

May said yesterday at his Prestonburg, Ky., home: "I am not guilty, I have done nothing wrong, and have not violated any law. I will appear in court and ask for a speedy trial at which I will completely vindicate myself."

Murray Garsson in Washington, told a reporter "all our efforts were lent in winning the war and we did nothing wrong."

He was accompanied by Freeman and an attorney.

Freeman said he had no comment on his indictment.

In Pittsburgh, another Garsson attorney, Charles J. Margiotti said the trial will vindicate them.

May was defeated for reelection last fall after serving 16 years in the house. His doctors reported he suffered a heart attack last July. He is 71 years old.

Helped Garssons

May never denied helping the Garssons—he said every congressman did the same thing—but he denied he ever got any money or favors from them. He said he was only trying to help the war effort.

The grand jury saw differently. It spoke of "his personal pecuniary interest in the success" of the combine.

On this point, the indictment said the accused had conspired together to defraud the United States of its right to have the duties of the military chairman performed "free from unlawful impairment, obstruction, corruption, partiality, improper influence, bias, dishonesty and fraud."

It charged further that "it was a part of said conspiracy" that the Garssons and Freeman "would corruptly give and pay money and other valuable considerations to Andrew J. May and bring the prestige, weight and influence of his office and committee chairmanship to bear upon the commissioned officers of the army" and civilian employees "in order to promote the interests and desires of said corporations and of said defendants."

Helped Relatives

It alleged that, in return for compensation, May was to pressure the war department to grant commissions, promotions and furloughs to relatives of the other defendants.

The indictment said the defendants committed 35 overt acts to carry out the conspiracy. TA listing of these accusations, some of which overlapped, included:

1. That Murray Garsson on August 22, 1944, had a $5,000 check delivered to May.

2. That on May 1, 1943 Murray Garsson had $1,000 delivered to May.

3. That on March 15, 1943, May wrote a letter to the adjutant general suggesting a furlough for Freeman's son and his appointment to officer's candidate school.

OF CABBAGES AND KINGS—

Where Mr. Talmadge Can Go

By LAWRENCE E. DENNIS
Daily Iowan Columnist

MEMO TO ELLIS ARNALL OF GEORGIA:

Your political troubles are over, sir. The irksome Talmadge question need bother you no longer. Cross "What Shall We Do With Herman?" off your scratch pad and forget the whole messy business.

For Georgia's further will soon be heading north to enter graduate school at Columbia university in New York City.

Thank Lydia C. Roberts, Mr. Arnall — Lydia and the Official Daily Bulletin of the State University of Iowa.

They are the ones who solved the Herman Talmadge dilemma for you. If you have been reading the General Notices column in this newspaper since Jan. 11, you'll know what I mean.

But you look puzzled, sir. Perhaps a direct quote from that column will clarify things a bit: "There will be several Lydia C. Roberts graduate fellowships available for the year 1947-48 to graduates of an Iowa college or university for study at Columbia university. . . These fellowships are awarded annually to PERSONS OF THE CAUCASIAN RACE, either sex, born in the state of Iowa . . ."

See what we mean, Mr. Arnall? Who but Herman Talmadge, the great modern champion of white supremacy, bigotry and racial intolerance, is more eminently qualified to hold a Lydia Roberts fellowship?

Remember the childhood jingle, sir?—"Lydia, Lydia, on the wall, Who's most Caucasian of them all?"

And the 1947 response: "Tis thee, Herman!"

Certainly young Mr. Talmadge is the ideal candidate for the L. R. fellowship, Mr. Arnall. It almost goes without saying that once the Columbia university officials who pass upon the applications become familiar with Talmadge's qualifications, they will certainly waive the "born in Iowa" and "graduates of an Iowa college" provisions as mentioned above.

Few "persons of the Caucasian race" approach Talmadge in being supremely fitted to hold a Lydia Roberts fellowship, sir. We might suggest, though, that should there happen to be a dearth of candidates for the fellowship this season, Mr. Talmadge could persuade some of his more publicized friends of bigotry to join him in applying. The names of Theodore Bilbo, John Rankin, Gerald L. K. Smith, Kenneth McKellar, and W. Lee O'Daniel come immediately to mind. Good Caucasians, all.

Show the good news to Herman, Mr. Arnall. Tell him about the great opportunity that awaits him, courtesy of Lydia Roberts and the SUI Official Daily Bulletin, at Columbia university.

And as he fills out that application for a fellowship in his bold, Caucasian hand, sir, you might remind him that he must furnish the Columbia university officials with "letters of recommendation."

He'll know where those references can be obtained; if he doesn't happen to have one on hand from the famous Caucasian, A. Hitler, he should have little trouble obtaining it from Hitler's heirs in Spain and Argentina. Or perhaps he prefers some from a few organizations in our own land: the Columbians, the Nationalist War Veterans of America, American Action, Inc., the Ku Klux Klan, or the Democratic party in Mississippi.

Before he leaves for New York, Mr. Arnall, perhaps Mr. Talmadge would like to take time out for a smooth shave and a snappy haircut. Here in Iowa City, Iowa, we have several accredited Caucasian barbers who, we're sure, would suit Herman's tastes. Send him up here for a few hours, so that he might have an opportunity to chat with them. Who knows? He might even bump into a former Lydia Roberts fellowship winner? Because, as you may know, sir, nothing but certified, dyed-in-the-wool, A1 Caucasian haircuts are given in Iowa City.

Well, it's good to know, Mr. Arnall, that you won't have to worry about Herman anymore. As a token of your appreciation, you might drop a note of thanks to Lydia Roberts and the SUI official daily bulletin. And, in return, you can doubtless expect a similar missive, expressing their gratefulness to you for giving them a fellowship candidate of such Caucasian distinctiveness as Mr. Talmadge.

Must wind this up, sir. Our little boy, The Nipper, is learning to write and it's time for his blackboard lesson. The sentence he is working on this week, Mr. Arnall, reads: "Only 'persons of the Caucasian race' can win a Lydia Roberts fellowship."

Requisition Setup Revised

System Takes 15-20 Minutes, 2 Signatures, Dr. Coder Explains

A new, "streamlined" method of giving out veterans' school supplies requisitions will go into effect Monday.

Dr. William D. Coder, director of the university veteran's service office, said yesterday that admission slips secured at registration, which designate a specific time during which the veteran may pick up his requisitions, are the basis of the new method.

Time required for the veteran to obtain these forms from the women's gymnasium should be "no more than 15 or 20 minutes, portal to portal, under this system," Coder said.

The veteran will be able to walk in and receive his requisitions at any time during the two-hour period designated on the admission slip.

An added boon, Coder pointed out, is the elimination of the old four-page, four-signature requisition. Each veteran will sign his name only twice on the new form.

For old enrollments, requisitions will be distributed as follows:

Engineering—Monday, room 103, engineering building.

Pharmacy—Monday, room 332, pharmacy building.

Liberal arts, commerce, education and graduate colleges—Tuesday, 1 p.m., through Saturday, Feb. 1, women's gymnasium.

Admission to the women's gymnasium will be by presenting the admission slip secured during registration.

Requisitions will be distributed to newly enrolled veterans only on Monday, Feb. 3.

Requisitions for individual books and supplies for advanced graduate students will not be written until Feb. 5.

New enrollees: All colleges except law—Monday, Feb. 5, River room, Iowa Union.

Law college—Saturday morning, women's gymnasium. Law students secure their admission slips from the dean's office, law college.

Beginning, Wednesday, Feb. 5, all requisitions will be obtained at the veteran's service office, 110 Iowa avenue.

REGISTRATION IS TOUGH ON EVERYONE

ONLY THE BEGINNING of some 7,500 liberal arts, commerce and graduate students who will have completed second semester registration at Iowa Union by tomorrow at 6 p. m. was this crowd in the Union lounge yesterday. Students expressed approval of the new system whereby each student registers at a specified time, but one harried enrollee commented, "It's still a strain, even with IBM cards."

PROF. GEORGE ROBESON looked like this yesterday after several hours helping students work out their class schedules and choose the "right" political science course for next semester. Robeson was one of the liberal arts and commerce teachers who will remain on registration duty at Iowa Union until 6 p. m. tomorrow. This registration period, however, faculty advisers have a note of variety in the IBM cards they give each student who has registered for a class.

Glockler to Address Chemistry Session

Prof. George Glockler, head of the chemistry department, will be guest speaker at a symposium on "Recent Developments in Chemistry" at Hunter college Saturday. The symposium will be sponsored by the New York section of the American Chemical society. Professor Glockler will address the morning session on "Modern Concept of the Molecule."

University of Life

University of Life, high school discussion group, will meet next Sunday for the last class period in the second quarter.

Elderman Newman of the Latter Day Saints church will address Dr. L.L. Dunnington's and Dr. Marcus Bach's classes; Grace McDonald will conduct the final discussion on "Living Together," and the Rev. James E. Waery will speak on "The Living Church."

Leo Cortignilia, G of Iowa City, will be guest entertainer during the 8:30 p.m. recreation period.

'Indian Winter' But Easterner Carries Sheep-Skin

Iowa City yesterday needed only a robin to complete the spring-time illusion, that made old-timers shake their heads in bewilderment and puffed up with pride the local citizenry who seemed to feel the balmy atmosphere was some of their doing.

Natives who took every opportunity to point out that Iowa weather was hard to beat seemed to have forgotten the two below temperature recorded last Tuesday.

Some of the non-natives were less impressed by yesterday's warm weather.

One gentleman, found sitting on top of his fur-lined jacket before a local drug-store counter, commented he "never saw such unpredictable weather in all his life." A second gentleman offered the information that the first gentleman was a New Englander so the statement was properly discounted.

There was no disagreement, however, that for February it was pretty warm weather.

Yesterday's high—52 degrees.

The forecast for today—fair and continued warm.

Court Fines Brooks $300, Suspends License

Ronald D. Brooks was fined $300 and costs and his driver's license was suspended for 60 days by Judge Harold D. Evans in district court yesterday.

Brooks pleaded guilty to a charge, brought by County Attorney Jack C. White, of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. Half of the fine was suspended pending good behavior.

Co-op Grocery Opening Put-Off Until Monday

Opening of the cooperative grocery store for faculty members living in university emergency housing and for all university married students has been postponed from this morning until Monday morning.

Roger Barnt, member of the cooperative board of directors, said yesterday the postponement was necessary because student workmen have been too busy at examination and registration time to complete shelving and other work in time for the planned opening.

The store is located in the stone shelter house at the lagoon adjacent to Riverdale village.

Local Radio Club Checks Air Waves To Trap Offender

High-frequency radio bands are being closely monitored by members of the Iowa City Amateur Radio club in an effort to track down illegal broadcasts originating here.

President Max Otto said a number of operators have been broadcasting at frequencies of about 160,000 kilocycles without authority from the federal communications commission. Several nights ago Otto picked up one of the unlicensed stations on a radio at the local airport, where he is employed.

Radio club members drew up a constitution at their meeting Wednesday night and will now apply for a charter from the American Radio Relay league, Otto reported. The league is organized to promote amateur radio activity and publishes a periodical, "Q S T."

Otto said if recognition is received soon, the local group will offer to promote a national convention for the league at Cedar Rapids this spring. Working with amateurs from that city, the Iowa Citizens have made plans for a show to be held May 24 and 25 at Hawkeye Downs.

Local club members planning the show are Ted Hunter, general chairman; Franz Willie, ways and means committee chairman, and Otto, events committee member. R. V. Shraeder was named publicity manager of the club at its Wednesday meeting.

Dying Art of Weaving Gets New Lease on Life

Textile Crafts Classes Turn Out Hand-Woven Rugs, Linen Sets

FROM RAGS TO RUGS describes the occupation of this young lady at the loom. She is Sophia Lindahl, A3 of Omaha, a student in the textile classes sponsored by the home economics department. Besides rug weaving, the girls make linen table sets and other hand work under the guidance of Lula Smith, textile instructor.

The old spinning wheel is extinct in most American parlors today but the art of weaving is very much alive at the University of Iowa.

In the textile crafts classes sponsored by the home economics department, students perform all the processes that go into making a rug or linen set from rags or raw linen. The only prerequisite for these classes is some preliminary work in design, textiles or art.

Actual weaving of these materials takes about two hours, but the preparations which precede it require almost twice as much time. First, the thread used on the loom must be twisted on a wooden warp as it is being spun. Two students usually work together on this to conserve time and prevent tangling of the thread.

After experimenting on various styles of weaving on a small scale, the students undertake a major project such as a rug or luncheon set. The finished article is to be her personal possession and into it goes all the practice, skill and cleverness she may have acquired.

Many of the completed textiles of the weaving classes would be the envy of any girl who is "honestest conscious."

Miss Smith declares there are many famous weavers in America today who have found a wide market for their products in the larger department stores.

"Hand weaving presents unlimited commercial fields for young women today," she believes; "and is o par with silver, leather and other crafts that require a high degree of dexterity."

Iowa Swim Team, 'B' Cagers Meet

Hawk Entries Favored Over Badger Teams

Iowa's highly regarded swimming team will make their first of four straight home appearances this afternoon at the fieldhouse when they entertain Wisconsin's Badgers in a Western conference dual meet at 4 p. m. The "B" squad basketball teams of Iowa and Wisconsin will play a game prior to the swimming meet beginning at 2 p. m.

The Hawkeye "B" cagers, loser only to Knox College this year, have a well-balanced, high-scoring team and should prove plenty troublesome to the Badger "B" squad.

Wisconsin's tankmen have yet to taste conference competition and will find the Hawkeyes, victorious over Northwestern last Monday, 50-34, looking for their second conference win. In their only start last December, the Badgers defeated Lawrence college, 50-14.

Coach Steinauer of Wisconsin has four major letter winners along with several fine tank prospects to form the nucleus of his squad. Returning from last year's Badger team are free styler Bob Geldel and backstroker Howard Jenkin. Other lettermen are Robin Middlemas, another free styler, and Bill Ritter, a diver.

The most notable newcomers to Wisconsin are Bruce Fellows, who received high rating in national interscholastic diving last year; Bill Marcouiller, also a diver; Dick Phillip, breast stroker, and Jim Davies, free styler. Orrin Neff, a breast stroke stylist, won numerals at Minnesota and a major letter at Northwestern before transferring to Wisconsin.

The Hawkeyes will enter the

Young Couldn't Get Along on $90 Either

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Buddy Young, ex-Illinois halfback, arrived by plane yesterday from Chicago and said he was open to "any offer that pays more than $90 a month."

The speed-burner, who makes his professional debut here Sunday in an All-Star game sponsored by Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, grinningly explained that was all he got under the G.I. bill at Illinois.

Young reiterated that he had received no football contract offers yet, but was hopeful. He added that his decision to turn pro was not a sudden one, explaining: "If there hadn't been that controversy between Illinois and UC-LA last summer, I never would have gone back to Illinois. But I felt that I owed it to Illinois to go back."

He was referring to the behind-the-scenes efforts to get his services after he got out of the navy.

meet as definite favorites. They have five men on their squad who were given all-American rating last year and one other swimmer who was on the national interscholastic group.

A look at the comparative times the two teams have established in action shows Iowa as the definite favorite. Although comparative times are sometimes misleading, Iowa in almost all events ranges anywhere from five to fifteen seconds better than the Badger tankmen. Of course, it must be taken into consideration that the Hawks were against a conference foe, while Wisconsin was not very hard-pressed in their victory over Lawrence.

TOPEKA, Kas. (AP)—Expansion of the Big Six conference to a seven-member status with the inclusion of Colorado university may be effected next year, the Topeka State Journal said yesterday.

New One-Two Punch for St. Mary's

FRANCIS LONG (left) and Danny Maher are set to see action tonight for St. Mary's high school when the Ramblers invade Cedar Rapids for a game with Immaculate Conception. The two became eligible for competition today and are expected to help Coach Suelpell's crew get back into winning form.

Immaculate Conception of Cedar Rapids will play host to St. Mary's Ramblers tonight in a return meeting of the two fives, and the Greyhounds will be out to avenge an early season defeat while the Ramblers will be trying to climb back on the victory trail.

Tuesday night I.C. handed Oxford their first setback in 16 games, 24-18, and rumors from the parlor city state that the Greyhounds have improved considerably since they were humbled 43-28 on the Marian floor last December.

The Rambler record now stands at seven wins and an equal number of losses, but their hopes for a higher scoring quintet were aided today with the announcement that two transfer students from Cosgrove will be eligible for tonight's tilt.

Danny Maher, six-foot 190 pounder, will probably see action at the pivot spot and at forward. Francis Long will aid Capt. Ed. Rocca and Paul Flannery at the guard positions.

Bell Made Dictator

National Pro Grid League Vests Commissioner With Power to Crush Attempted Fixes

By JERRY LISKA
CHICAGO (AP)—The National football league yesterday vested Commissioner Bert Bell with dictatorial power designed to crush attempted fixing of its games, including life banishment of implicated players.

At the same time, the 10-member league studied a membership bid by the San Francisco Clippers of the Pacific Coast football league, a minor league affiliate in the same town in which the all-America conference has a major league entry.

League officials, opening a three-day session, unanimously amended its constitution to give Commissioner Bell virtually the same blanket authority regarding the same blanket authority regarding professional baseball extended the late Keneshaw Mountain Landis after the Black Sox scandal of 1919.

Spurred by the attempted fix by a New York Giants and the Chicago Bears last month, the National circuit empowered Bell not only to banish or otherwise punish any of its personnel involved in a fix or attempted fix, but also to bar from league parks any person deemed "detrimental to the best interest of the national football league and/or professional football."

The revised code is not retroactive and will not affect the case

To Ask Why Grad Assistants Were Excluded in Pay Raise

AVC Committee Will Confer With Hancher, University Officials

The Johnson county chapter of the American Veterans Committee voted last night to appoint a committee to confer with President Virgil M. Hancher and other university officials to determine why graduate assistants were not granted pay raises in the recent salary adjustments for university staff members.

The veterans' group decided not to take action until they had more facts about the bases for allotment of the wage boosts.

A resolution asking that a disarmament convention of the countries of the world be held immediately to make concrete disarmament proposals was passed last night by the AVC members.

Presented by William Duff, chairman of the AVC international affairs committee, the resolution called for inclusion of the following points:

1. Separation of disarmament from other points of issue, including the veto.
2. Inclusion of atomic weapons in the disarmament agreement.

Specific measures suggested for atomic weapon disarmament include the following:

1. Prohibition of A-bombs and other weapons of mass destruction as weapons of war.
2. Cessation of manufacture of A-bombs.
3. Destruction of existing stockpiles of A-bombs.
4. Inspection and police power to enforce these measures.
5. An international army to secure peace.
6. Agreement among nations to open their doors to an appropriate UN committee designed to see these measures are carried through.

The resolution also called for the reduction in size of armed forces to a minimum to make offensive warfare impossible, and the prohibition of the sale or gift of armaments to nations engaged in civil war.

The AVC chapter agreed to make these disarmament proposals known to members of campus organizations.

The chapter voted to send a letter to Senators George Wilson and Burke B. Hickenlooper and Rep. Thomas Martin, cautioning them against anti-labor legislation.

Describing a trend of the 80th congress to pass legislation "curbing the rights of American workers and discriminating against labor unions," the letter asked that the Iowa Congressmen "remember that labor has fought long and hard for its well-deserved rights and freedoms."

"We do not ask that you favor labor to the exclusion of other classes or groups, but that you act always in the public interest, remembering that the working man comprises a great part of that public."

John Knox, (R.), 921 E. Jefferson street, filed nomination papers at the city clerk's office yesterday for re-election as police judge.

Nomination papers were also filed by Francis W. Sueppel, (D.), 223 N. Dodge street for a park commissioner's position.

Deadline for all nomination papers is 5 p.m. today.

Haefner Gets Absence Leave

Prof. John H. Haefner, of the history department has been granted a leave of absence to do social study work abroad, Dean E.T. Peterson of the education department said yesterday.

Haefner, head of the social studies department of the University high school, is "attempting to complete arrangements to leave this weekend," Dean Peterson said.

Prof. L.A. Van Dyke, director of the University high school, said that Haefner has been relieved of his duties at the high school as of Feb. 1 and will return to his duties there May 1.

Instructor Alvin Schild will succeed Haefner at the University high school during his absence, Van Dyke said.

After receiving his B.A. degree at the State University of Iowa in 1935, Haefner continued his work here and was granted an M.A. (1939) and his Ph.D. (1942).

Entering the navy as an ensign Oct. 15, 1942, Haefner served in this country and in the Pacific theater until retired to inactive duty, Nov. 30, 1945.

In 1945, Haefner was a member of the social studies area committee for the revision of the Iowa state course of study. He returned to the University of Iowa and the University high school staffs that year.

JOHN H. HAEFNER

TABER PREPARES FOR BUDGET TRIM

CHAIRMAN OF THE HOUSE Appropriations Committee, Rep. John Taber, (R-N. Y.) goes over the proposed Truman budget in Washington which he hopes to reduce three to four billion dollars. Taber claims the budget contains many "concealed items." The shears in foreground may imply that Taber really means to cut it.

Family of Kidnaped Girl Faces False Arrest Suit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—J. W. (Jake) Ehrlich, prominent San Francisco attorney, announced last night he would file suit against the Edward Devine family of Lodi for damages for the "false arrest" of Earl Shelton who, Ehrlich said, was held for nearly 12 hours as the "No. 1 suspect" in the kidnaping of Alice Dean Devine.

Shelton was released after the girl said he was "not the man."
