GOOD MORNING, IOWA CITY!

A cold wave overshadowing the state is expected to bring the temperature down to -20 here tonight. Snow flurries also have been forecast for today.

Ask Single 4-Year Term For Governor

Proposal Would Halt Using Iowa's Capitol As Step to Senate

DES MOINES (AP)—A single four-year term for governor with a provision "to stop the office being used as a stepping stone to U.S. senator" was proposed yesterday by Rep. Gene Poston (D-Corydon).

Poston, Democratic floor leader in the overwhelmingly Republican house, had the proposal drawn in the form of a constitutional amendment for introduction next week.

Under the resolution, the governor would be limited to one four-year term and be ineligible to succeed himself or run for any public office for a period of one year after the expiration of his term.

To become effective, the measures would have to win approval of the present legislative session, the 1949 session, and then by the people in the November general election in 1950.

"A Job in Itself"

"I want to make the office of governor a job in itself, attractive from the standpoint of dignity, opportunity for public service and divorced from the accepted idea that the office has an organization with which to run for senator," Poston declared.

"When the office is used for that purpose the governor does it at the expense of efficiency and indirectly wastes the taxpayers' contributions to good state government," he added.

The governor is entitled to an increase in salary, I don't say how much, and a home maintained by the state for his dwelling while he is governor. This will not effect the present governor inasmuch as the proposal would have to pass in two legislatures and be voted on by the people."

Three Out of Four

He pointed out that all except one of the previous four governors had gone from that office to the United States senate.

A measure was introduced in the house today calling for a $50,000 appropriation for building or buying and equipping a home for the governor. Three members of the senate and three members of the house, acting in conjunction with the state executive council, would be authorized to act without the approval of the legislature.

Gov. Robert D. Blue, in his inaugural message to the legislature, recommended a single four-year term. In his previous biennial message he recommended the state provide a governor's home. He finally was forced to buy a home in order to have one permanently after he took office in 1945.

$431,260 School Bill Passed by Iowa House

DES MOINES (AP)—The house passed yesterday a bill appropriating $431,260 to meet deficiencies at several state board of education institutions, and sent the measure to the senate. The vote was 99 to 1, with Rep. G.A. Beman (R-Delta) casting the lone dissenting vote.

The measure calls for $294,000 for the University of Iowa hospital, $131,200 for the State Teachers college, $3,500 for the state school for the blind, and $2,560 for the state bacteriology laboratory at Iowa City.

British Gird for Palestine Battle, Evacuate Families

JERUSALEM (AP)—The Palestine government ordered yesterday the compulsory evacuation of all British women and children in the Holy Land to Great Britain and the removal of all government officials into security camps in a move presaging drastic military action to stamp out Palestine terrorism.

The first reaction from some British civilians affected by the evacuation order was blunt refusal. Many of the women, only recently reunited with their husbands, said they would heed the order to return to Great Britain to face housing problems and food shortages.

It was rumored without confirmation in Jerusalem that the next step in the security program after the evacuation will be the declaration of statutory martial law.

Another unconfirmed report set in circulation by the evacuation order was that Dov Bela Gruner, sentenced to hang for participation in an attack on a police station, would be executed Tuesday and that acts of violent retribution probably would follow the hanging.

Gruner was to have been executed last Tuesday, but the hanging was stayed after two British civilians were kidnaped last Sunday by members of Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground movement to which Gruner was attached. The civilians, both former officers, were released after Gruner was reprieved.

The evacuation order gave the high commissioner authority also to remove "nonessential personnel not being Palestinian citizens," a phrase which might apply to Americans.

U. S. Consul General Lowell C. Pinkerton recommended to the state department that "all assistance" be given to American citizens who may wish to leave. He was advised by the high commissioner, however, that no Americans were likely to be endangered.

Citizens of the British dominions as well as Britons came under the order.

The Palestine government said that the exodus, affecting up to 2,000 women and children in families of government officials and business men, must be accomplished by Tuesday.

Pinkerton, who conferred with the high commissioner, Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, this afternoon, said U. S. consulate families probably would remain. He said the high commissioner had advised him that other Americans were unlikely to be in danger since terrorist attacks thus far have been directed against the British.

British Have Broken Pledges to Jews, Have No Right in Palestine—Churchill

LONDON (AP)—Winston Churchill deplored yesterday "squalid warfare" with terrorists and demanded that Britain resolve immediately the Palestine problem or surrender her mandate "unless the United States will come in with us on a 50-50 basis on all the bloodshed, odium, trouble and worry" in the Holy Land.

"We have broken our pledges to the Jews and because we cannot carry out a policy we have no right to stay there," the conservative leader declared in a debate in the house of commons.

Churchill and Oliver Stanley, a fellow conservative, bore down sharply on the chief labor spokesman, Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones, who declared the government was earnestly seeking a "final" solution. Stanley predicted that "the Biblical land of milk and honey will become a bloody hell" if peace is not established.

Churchill accused the labor government of "weakness" in dealing with Jewish terrorists and shouted to laborites across the floor of the house, "this is the road to abject defeat!" He charged that failure to carry out responsibilities in Palestine was "covering us with blood and shame."

Allies End Italian Control Commission

ROME (AP)—The Allies last night abolished, effective at midnight, the Allied control commission set up shortly before the Italian armistice to advise and supervise the Italian government.

Gen. Sir William Morgan, supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean theater, announced the commission—headed for the past year by Rear Adm. Ellery W. Stone of the U.S. navy—was being eliminated because the need for it "no longer exists."

Morgan said abolition of the commission was part of the general reduction of military establishments in Italy, preparatory to the signing of the Italian peace treaty in Paris Feb. 10.

The "residual functions" of the commission will be absorbed by Allied force headquarters to which Stone will be attached as chief of the Italian military affairs section.

A simultaneous announcement said Stone's right-hand man, British Brig. Matthew Carr and U.S. Col. J. De Walbach Peen, had been appointed chief and deputy chief, respectively, of the liaison and civil affairs branch with offices in Rome.

Stone's section will be charged with the "general supervision and direction of the Italian armed forces." The functions of the section will "terminate when the Italian treaty becomes effective," Morgan said.

The Day in Congress

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

RENTS—Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, head of the office of temporary controls, told a senate hearing it was he who prepared an order granting landlords a 10 percent boost in rents. President Truman killed the order, he said.

TAXES—GOP tax-slashing hopes brightened as the senate budget committee received expert testimony that next year's revenues will exceed President Truman's estimated figures by $200,000,000 and reach $37,928,000,000. Congressmen were still at odds on how benefits of the lightened tax load may be shared between the low-income group and the rich.

LABOR—Two industrialists told the senate labor committee that unionization of foremen destroys their loyalty to management. Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) upheld the foremen's right to bargain collectively.

RUSSIA—Senator Bridges (R-NH) bitterly criticized what he termed U.S. "appeasement" of Russia and urged Secretary of State Marshall to take a firm stand at the big powers conference in Moscow, March 10.

PAYROLL—Rep. Taber (R-NY) formally proposed that 1,000,000 of the government's 2,300,000 civilian employees should be fired to cut federal expenses—a saving of $3,500,000 yearly.

A-BOMBS—The atomic energy commission reported to congress that "improved atomic weapons" are being developed and said progress is being achieved.

Belgium Suggests Long Occupation of Germany

LONDON (AP)—Military occupation of Germany for 25 to 40 years was suggested to the deputy foreign minister council yesterday by Belgium, doorman of German invasion armies in two world wars, American informants reported.

Baron Herve de Gruben, who presented Belgium's recommendations, said complete military occupation might not be necessary for such a long period, but that strategic areas and zones where war industries might spring up should be controlled for that period at least.

Sideshow Of Life

Love, 3 Octogonarians And Axe Equal Triangle

BOSTON (AP)—An octogenerian triangle which 10 pounds of sugar failed to sweeten, yesterday placed the name of Mrs. Gaetana Pellozotto, 83, on a hospital danger list, suffering from hatchet wounds, and her husband, Benedetto, 85, on a police blotter, charged with assault.

Police said Mrs. Pellozotto named as the "other woman," an 80-year-old neighbor, to whom, she said, her husband gave the sugar and canned goods in token of affection.

Police said a quarrel began in the cellar of Pellozotto home, where the husband was chopping wood and charged he pursued her to the street, where a milkman relieved him of the axe.

Pellozotto was treated at the hospital for wounds which, police said, were self-inflicted when, in remorse, he attempted to saw off his legs. After treatment, he was released.

Hospital attendants discovered that Mrs. Pellozotto was carrying $1400 in cash on her person.

Trucker Rams Engine 3 Times, Fined $29.40

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—H. N. Tucker, 33, a truck driver, didn't yield the right of way to a Wabash railroad switch engine without a struggle.

Police said witnesses told them Tucker drove the truck against the locomotive at a crossing.

It didn't give an inch, and he backed up and rammed it again. A third time he backed up and drove against the big engine, police said.

Police broke up the fight at that point, awarded the decision to the locomotive, and charged Tucker with intoxication. He was fined $29.40.

The truck was damaged badly and Tucker suffered a scalp wound, but the locomotive wasn't hurt much.

Bridges Assails 'Appeasement' Of Russia; Urges Firmness

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators looting many areas of friend and foe alike, the Kremlin has generously consented to negotiate treaties.

American "gratefulness" for signs of Soviet cooperation, he continued, "is behavior unworthy of a fourth-rate nation."

Bridges charged that Russia's aim today is to turn Germany into a "satellite and ally," and declared:

"If Moscow succeeds in the great design of merging Russian manpower and German technical discipline, the last chance of saving democratic civilization will be lost."

"That is why the scheduled big power conference in Moscow (starting March 10) is so terribly important. It is there that our new secretary of state will have his first and most decisive test."

General Takes the Rap for Rent Snafu

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming shouldered full responsibility yesterday for the 10 percent rent increase order which President Truman personally quashed at the last minute.

Fleming, head of the office of temporary controls, went before the senate banking committee to explain the mysterious mixup which has intrigued the capital since the order was almost issued Wednesday.

He said he felt that many landlords were entitled to higher ceilings, and that the easiest way

Wants United Action to Fight Legislation

MIAMI (AP)—The AFL proposed a merger with the CIO last night in a sudden move to unify all U.S. labor in a fight against "objectionable" legislation.

The AFL executive council of 15 top labor leaders unanimously authorized President William Green to send a letter to CIO President Philip Murray suggesting consolidation of their more than 13 million members.

CIO-founder John L. Lewis, now an AFL vice president, would be one of the AFL's five negotiators for the proffered unification.

The CIO broke away from the AFL in 1936. Last peace conference ended in failure in 1939. Green wrote to Murray in reply to the CIO chief's communication of last December 5, urging unity of action to meet the political, economic and legislative threats against unions. Murray had not suggested actual merger.

Green appointed a committee of five to meet with a like committee from the CIO, if the offer is accepted by Murray. On the AFL's committee with Green are Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers; William L. Hutcherson, head of the carpenters; Daniel J. Tobin, chief of the teamsters; George Meany, secretary-treasurer of the AFL.

The aging Green, who has headed the AFL since 1924, offered in 1944 to retire as president if it would help to bring about a united labor front.

Green said that in view of Murray's letter, he thought the CIO president would act "favorably" on the proposal to get together.

In Pittsburgh, Murray said: "This is the first I've heard of it (Green's proposal) and I certainly wouldn't have any comment on it now."

Temperature To Hit -20

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bitter cold—with temperatures expected to drop to 20 or 25 below zero—was forecast for Iowa tonight in the wake of the state's worst winter storm in four years.

The cold air, which was moving slowly eastward, was expected to bring readings of 35 below in northern Minnesota and 10 to 25 below in Wisconsin. A minimum of zero was forecast for Chicago by Saturday night.

The cold weather brought an abrupt halt to freakish weather conditions which caused tornadoes, high winds, blinding blizzards, heavy rains and driving sleet over widespread areas Wednesday night and Thursday.

Meanwhile the state continued to dig out of the snowfall that had clogged transportation and communication facilities and had taken six lives, including three in a railroad wreck in the blinding storm.

Communications were gradually being restored to 85 cities isolated by the snow. A half dozen highways in the northern part of the state still were closed.

Road conditions in southeastern Iowa were hazardous last night and in some sections highways were utterly impassable. The Iowa City high school basketball team was unable to get through to Dubuque for a scheduled game and the contest was postponed.

Hot News Burns Out

DANVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Newsboy Bill Stuebe added his own supplement when he delivered the Danville Commercial-News to Mrs. Passage who was standing on her front porch watching city fire trucks race past when Bill hurried by. He said he would deliver her paper and a report on the fire on his way back.

Later, when Mrs. Passage picked up the paper, a pencilled note was attached. It said: "Just a grass fire, all out."

'Shut The Door. Were You Born in a Barn?'

The Myth of Bipartisanship

There are growing indications that the so-called "bipartisanship" in our government is rapidly waning.

Both Democrats and Republicans are making it pretty clear that they do not intend to let President Truman's offer of cooperation with the GOP majority in congress interfere with their plans for 1948.

Take this business of rent control, for instance. The American people are currently bearing witness to an ironically amusing spectacle of both the Donkey and the Elephant trying their darndest to shove the responsibility for lifting rent ceilings off on the other guy.

President Truman has said that he will follow the wishes of congress on this matter and will not initiate action to raise or abolish current ceilings. Republicans, on the other hand, want the administration to make the first move. This is not to say that the GOP majority in congress won't eventually take an axe to rent controls; they'd just like the administration to save them the trouble and, incidentally, take the responsibility.

Both the administration and the Republicans are undoubtedly being influenced to do something about rent controls by pressure groups such as the American Legion, NAM, the chamber of commerce and the real estate lobby. But there must be a Democratic and Republican conscience saying, "Hey, Mac, what makes you think that taking away rent controls would be in the public interest?" and in a louder voice, "You wouldn't be very popular if you do."

Another politically significant political development which showed the wind to be blowing away from bipartisanship was the Republican victory in congress to continue the war investigating committee.

President Truman had indicated that he wanted congress to go along with the LaFollette-Monroney reorganization act, which did not provide for the committee in question.

Then last week President Truman designated his Republican predecessor, Herbert Hoover, to undertake an economic mission to central Europe, and to report his findings with recommendations. This puts Mr. Hoover in a position to make some pointed observations about American occupation policies and possibly President Truman's foreign policy itself.

But now we learn that Republican leaders intend to go along with Mr. Hoover in the report which he is expected to make at the termination of his assignment. If this report is contrary to present foreign policy, bipartisanship would go the way of all flesh on this score.

Bipartisanship in foreign affairs has already suffered some preliminary blows. Senator Vandenberg in his Cleveland speech last month advocated two measures contrary to President Truman's policies: (1) warning up to quasi-fascist Peron's regime in Argentina and (2) out and out support for Chiang Kai-Shek and the reactionary Kountintang in China.

It would seem that a bipartisan foreign policy is well on its way to becoming a myth.

It was six days after the Republicans' November election victory that Mr. Truman issued his statement accepting what he called the "people's verdict."

"When issues arise between the president and congress," he said, "we must examine our respective positions with stern and critical analysis to exclude any attempt to tamper with the public interest in order to achieve personal or partisan advantage."

An admirable sentiment. But 1948 and the fight for the White House is just around the corner, and, as is the custom, public interest will be sitting way in the back of the back seat.

Britain Combines Reform and Recovery

By SAMUEL GRAFTON

New York Post Syndicate

LONDON—London is uncommunicative. I mean physically. It is an oddly colorless city—and again I mean physically. In Winter, a city of grays and blacks.

I had never thought particularly that New York was like a flower garden, but London makes it seem so. Perhaps it is the colored taxicabs of New York as against London's black ones, or the make up New York women wear, or the nylon stockings instead of cotton and wool, or the hand-painted neckties, or the men's hats in woodland shades as against London's derbies.

Then, too, London's politeness gives an American a ceremonial feeling as if an unusual occasion must be on hand for everyone to be on best behavior. The stately, almost mortuary note, seems to deny passion and serves also to deflect passionate inquiry.

Yet there is a passion in London and there is a London story. It comes out by bits. At the board of trade man says that Britain is 700,000 workers short of what she needs and there is little hope of really catching up, because the low birth rate of the depressed thirties is now manifesting itself.

"But," I say, "You have just raised the compulsory school age from fourteen to fifteen. Doesn't that cut your labor force even further?"

"It does," he says, "by 300,000 more a year, but we had to do it now or it never would have been done." He says it with a kind of fierceness and one realizes then that Britain is juggling two plates in the air, not one; reform as well as recovery. That is the London story.

But reform and recovery often conflict. One can see signs of that even on the streets in the half-empty shops from Piccadilly to the Strand. Workmen are drawing better wages than before. That is reform. But the goods they make are reserved for export—that is recovery. And so there is little they can buy with their money.

Or take it another way. Because workmen are earning more, their women are leaving the shops. That is perhaps reform, but it cuts the labor force and hurts recovery.

Or to follow another line, the new educational program (which is reform) makes young people less content to do man-

DO YOU THINK LIQUOR BY THE DRINK SHOULD BE LEGALIZED IN IOWA?

K E McCullough, G of Morrison, Ill.: "No. The present system provides a better control."

M. W. Buck of Downey, Iowa: "I'm not a drinking man, but I think that whatever those concerned decide would be all right with me."

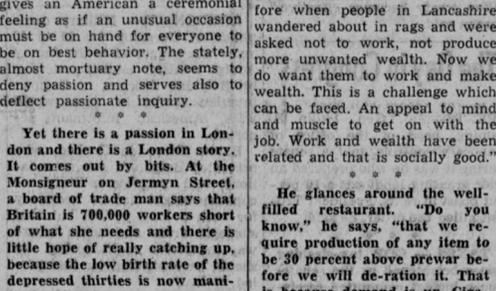

Jack Folker, A2 of Keosauque, Iowa: "I'm not in favor of liquor by the drink everywhere. I'm in favor of local option."

Bill Trevor, C3, of Rock Island, Ill.: "Yes, as a rule, I think it's a fine thing—they'll get it anyway."

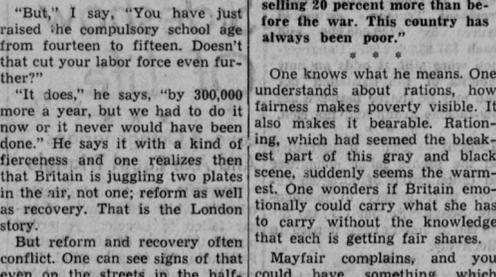

Mrs. Ray E. Clough, 119 S. Linn street: "Yes, I do. Some people feel that the state will lose money, but if they legalize the sale of liquor by the drink, the state will still collect per drink. Also, people say that the present system prevents drunkenness, but under this system most people feel that they have to drink a whole bottle in one evening."

Mrs. R. A. Kennelly, 5 W. Burlington street: "Definitely; I think it should be coupled with local option though."

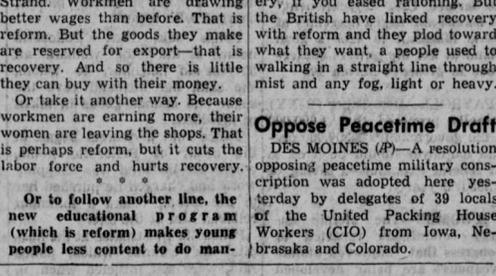

Mrs. Hal Dane, Haldane Farms, Iowa City: "No. It would bring back the old saloons and I don't want any of that."

Says VA Should Use Schick for Its Hospital

TO THE DAILY IOWAN:

In The Daily Iowan of Wednesday, Jan. 29, there appeared a column captioned "Legion to Fight Drive to Move Vet Hospital" which stated that Iowa City, rather than Clinton, was the logical place for the new Veterans hospital—that there is greater need for it here, and that Iowa City's facilities are better than anything Clinton can offer.

Why is this the logical place, and why is the need greater here? So that the business people of Iowa City can reap even greater benefits from the veterans than they are now doing?

Is it logical to let the Schick hospital at Clinton stand idle and spend several million dollars building another one a hundred miles away? To utilize Schick would represent a saving to the veterans administration of an amount of money, which would go far if put to other uses in the interest of veterans.

The American Legion should realize this as well as anyone.

As to the facilities, the number one facility, the hospital building itself, is already at Clinton. From a medical standpoint, if this were the main item, neither place would be worthy of consideration, but rather it would be located near one of the large medical centers of the country that really have something to offer.

And the only other unique facilities to be found in Iowa City are its high prices, poor shopping district, impertinent salespeople, lack of all forms of recreation and entertainment and the dubious honor of being one of the most unhandy places to reach, as far as transportation is concerned, of any place in the state.

A national organization like the American Legion is supposed to be interested in the welfare and common good of all veterans, not to act as a branch of the chamber of commerce in securing purely local benefits. I am a Legionnaire myself, but sometimes things like this make me wonder why.

ED SCHNEIDER

(Not wishing to agree or disagree with Mr. Schneider, we nevertheless wish to point out that University hospital is one of the large medical centers of the country.—The Editor.)

Domestic Oil Deposits Too Small for War, Says Senate Report

WASHINGTON (P)—The senate oil investigating committee declared yesterday the United States could not fight another major war on its own oil alone.

"The United States is no longer the world's greatest reservoir of oil," the committee said in a report.

"The best evidence available at the moment would indicate that the land area of Russia is a greater potential source of petroleum than continental United States."

Start Toward World Peace

(By Prof. Werner Levi in The Minnesota Daily)

Since earliest times man has been searching for world peace. At the present time the world is emerging from its second world war within one generation. By this time, it is hoped, man has come to realize that the only practical approach to world peace lies in some form of world government.

During World War II, while idealistic hopes were still high, many vague promises and high ideals were set forth by world leaders and writers. The Atlantic Charter was one, Wendell Willkie's "One World" and the United Nations Charter were others. At the same time political observers, writers and statesmen came out with plans for world governments.

It is probably safe to assume that everyone desires peace but... And that is where the big problem lies. First of all, individuals are not agreed entirely as to what type of organization is to be established.

Secondly, the problem arises of whether the individual is willing to support an international governmental framework.

Basically the question of world peace rests with the individual. Because, if any world organization can succeed, there must be a favorable atmosphere of support; and a willing attitude.

Boiled down to specific issues, this means that individuals must learn to think in different terms. Terms which eliminate such international obstacles as nationalism and all that it implies, racism and racialized prejudices of various kinds.

It will mean that the individual must reorient his attitudes to that of other nations, not as states or peoples—human beings each with his own right to happiness.

This is the big job facing anyone working for world peace. It will involve a tremendous educational task before the people reach a psychological attitude that is favorable to world government...

Milk Drops Cent a Quart In Iowa City

Hundredweight Rate Cut 25 Cents; Cream Down Proportionately

A cent-a-quart reduction in milk and cream prices goes into effect in Iowa City this morning, continuing a milk-price trend noticeable throughout the state during January.

The cut was announced last night by J.J. Swaner, head of Swaner's dairy, after a conference with 150 milk producers yesterday afternoon. New prices are based on reduced cost of three-and-a-half percent whole milk, slashed 35 cents to $3.90 a hundredweight.

Pasteurized milk now sells for 16 cents a quart and homogenized milk for 17 cents, with a proportionate cut in the cost of cream. These prices are as low as any in the state, according to Swaner.

New prices will hold also for Model dairy products, L. Hagerdon, owner of the Model dairy, said last night.

While the old rate of $4.25 a hundredweight for whole milk was cut 35 cents, producers can earn a 20-cent bonus by producing and selling grade "A" milk, Swaner said.

Price increases in the last few years were the result of "the increased cost of milk production," according to Swaner. "The producer had to meet higher costs of feed and labor during the war," he explained.

Milk prices tumble two cents a quart to 17 cents in Marshalltown effective today, after producers there agreed to accept $4 a hundredweight for their milk. Marshalltown housewives started a milk-boycott several weeks ago when the price was boosted to 19 cents.

In Chicago yesterday, delivered milk dropped one cent to 20 and a half cents a quart, while prices of "cash and carry" quarts in Chicago stores fell to 18 and a

Housing Units Ready For Assignment To Student Families

First 24 of 60 barracks apartments scheduled to be ready for use by married students next week were officially turned over to the university yesterday.

They are located in area three just south of Riverdale village. University officials report tentative assignments to these 24 units are now drawn up for release next week.

The remaining 36 are to be received by the university at the rate of 12 a day through Tuesday, according to Business Manager Fred W. Ambrose.

Interior and exterior painting of these 24 units is not completed but the work has been started and should be finished soon, according to J. W. James, federal public housing authority project engineer in Iowa City.

Interior work will be finished first, he said, and outside painting will probably be finished while the units are occupied.

440 Receive Degrees Today

Final commencement of the university's first 100 year period will be held at 1:45 p. m. today at Iowa Union when 440 midyear graduates will receive their degrees.

Dean E. T. Peterson of the college of education will give the commencement address, "Gladly Learn and Gladly Teach."

President Virgil M. Hancher will present the degrees and certificates and give the charge to students. Dr. William D. Coder, university veterans service director, will be master of ceremonies at the exercise and Father J. Ryan Beiser half cents.

In Iowa, Davenport and Cedar Rapids dairies announced one-cent price cuts earlier this month, and in Boone the price dropped two cents. Nowhere, apparently, are prices lower than 16 cents a quart.

Van Zwoll Appointed to SUL Faculty Post

Appointment of Dr. James A. Van Zwoll of the University of Michigan as assistant professor of education for teaching and research activities in the field of school administration was announced yesterday by Dean T. Peterson of the college of education.

Van Zwoll will assume the duties handled by Dean Peterson before the latter was named to his present post. He will begin work Monday.

Graduated from Calvin college of Michigan, Van Zwoll received M. A. and Ph. D. degrees at the University of Michigan. His background includes a year of rotating internship in administrative offices of Detroit schools; director of field work of an internal survey of schools at Jackson, Mich., and ten months in the Michigan state department of public instruction.

At the University of Michigan, he has been a lecturer in the school of education.

Weather, Snow Disrupt 'Block of Dimes' Plan

Cold weather and too much snow have caused postponement of the block of dimes plan and iron lung display scheduled for today in connection with this year's drive for polio funds.

Campaign Chairman John E. Taylor said yesterday the scheme will be tried next Saturday if weather conditions have improved. Otherwise the 1947 March of Dimes drive will have ended with last night's dance in the Community building.

The original plan was to have contributors lay down a block of dimes on Washington street between Clinton and Dubuque streets. The iron lung and a loudspeaker were to be set up on the Washington-Dubuque corner.

3-Week-Old Baby Dies

Karen Kay Horrell, 3-weeks-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Horrell of route 1, died yesterday in University hospital.

of the school of religion will be in charge of devotions.

The university symphony, under the direction of Prof. Addison Alspach, will play the prelude to Act I of Wagner's "Lohengrin" and provide incidental music.

Says Business Should Advise Congressmen

Advocating a three-fold program of information, education and action, Alfred J. Hudson told businessmen representing Chambers of Commerce of six Iowa towns last night that local business groups can do more than anyone to stimulate expression of individual opinion to "someone who counts."

Hudson, national affairs adviser for the United States Chamber of Commerce, emphasized that congressmen "need individual expressions of opinion from folks back home" to obtain a fair picture of what citizens want.

"No wonder their thinking gets a little warped when the only opinions they hear are from one-sided, special-interest pressure groups," he explained.

Hudson suggested that local Chambers of Commerce organize national affairs committees that would investigate all angles of particular legislation before congress; present their information to individuals, groups, newspapers
