No Changes on China Front

By STEVE PARK
Daily Iowan Columnist
The sudden state department announcement this week that American marines would be evacuated immediately from China and that official American efforts to meditate the civil war had terminated has left many Americans uncertain as to the future course of Sino-American relations and to the possibility of the extension of Russian influence in the affairs of China.

by selling and deeding surplus American war properties to it. Furthermore, a vociferous section of American opinion, led by a group of "China experts," has been demanding periodically that the United States furnish all-out aid to Chiang, so that the "dangerous Communist influence" can be eradicated.

Actually, the only pressure which the American disentanglement places upon the national government of China to seek a lasting understanding with the opposition parties is a threat to remove $500,000,000 worth of earmarked import-export bank credits sometime in the future.

Apparently, this is merely a minor annoyance to the regime; and as soon as the government puts on a "democratic front" it feels that money will be forthcoming. Perhaps it will be.

Dishonesty During Exam Week?

It's not often that a newspaper will base editorial comment on mere rumor and hearsay unless an unusual situation seems to justify it. We are now faced with such a situation. It seems, according to talk going the rounds, that cheating during this past final examination was quite widespread.

Why Bring That Up?

The old issue of civilian versus military control of atomic energy, seemingly settled long ago, has cropped up again in senate hearings on the confirmation of David Lilienthal as director of the atomic energy commission. This business was threshed out last summer when the McMahon bill for the domestic control of atomic energy was passed by the 79th congress.

While demanding unity and concessions from the Koumintang in the political sphere by cajoling and threat, the United States has been implementing the strength of that party (and the reactionary wing which is in control of the state) by furnishing economic assistance and Concerning the withdrawal of American marines and truce teams which have been operating in China, this action is neither drastic nor dangerous to the interests of either China or the United States. Actually these troops have no military value.

However, these voices of the "right" have not been unheeded in China by the Koumintang group which interprets them as encouragement to continue and to implement its tight control of the state. Periodically, of course, a show of democracy must be made; to this end Chiang offers a truce with the Communists at intervals, but always on conditions which are not acceptable either to the Kamchantung or to the liberal elements of China.

Recently also, a Koumintang-packed constitutional assembly met and adopted a "democratic" constitution for China, which is not democratic and does not represent the desires of the Chinese people.

Also, the United States has promised to continue relief work in China after the expiration of UNRRA without qualification. This is direct aid to the national government since it will lessen that danger of a popular uprising because of its corrupt practices. Further, the U.S. ambassador will remain in China and has been directed to mediate between the conflicting parties should the opportunity arise.

OF CABBAGES AND KINGS—

McKellar, Bricker Steal the Show

By LAWRENCE E. DENNIS
Daily Iowan Columnist

There were several occasions last week when the congressional atomic energy committee hearings might easily have been mistaken for a pitiable, small-time political sideshow, with Senators Kenneth McKellar, Tennessee Democrat, and John Bricker, Ohio Republican, turning in matchless performances as the barkers.

Under the chairmanship of Iowa's junior GOP senator, Bourke B. Hickenlooper, the committee is considering qualifications of President Truman's six key appointees to the United States atomic energy commission; David Lilienthal (as chairman), R.F. Bachler, William W. Waymack, Lewis Straus, Sumner T. Pike.

McKellar, who was president pro tem of the senate in the 79th congress, has never liked Lilienthal because the able former head of the Tennessee valley authority did not use the political patronage system in filling TVA jobs.

Committee chairman Hickenlooper and his Republican colleagues must have gotten quite a kick out of the sorry spectacle McKellar made of himself, for, whether they wish to admit it or not, the Democrats in congress now find themselves headed—by virtue of the insane seniority system—by men of McKellar's stripe; aging southern gentlemen who know that, come what may in 1948, they will keep returning to Washington over and over again every two years.

swung another term in office for McKellar in a hectic primary election last summer. But despite Crump's influence, and even though he is quite a politician in his own right, McKellar has never been able to crack Lilienthal's "iron curtain" around the TVA employment office.

Along with the progressive Nashville Tennessee, many of Lilienthal's close associates have carried on a hard campaign against Crump's corrupt machine during the past several years. And Lilienthal has, as one writer put it, "achieved international renown for his administrative talents as head of our great TVA."

Out to "get" Lilienthal during the atomic energy committee hearings, McKellar last week conducted himself in a manner which gave added proof that he belongs in the select class of name callers and political henchmen, along with such "illustrious" congressmen as Theodore Bilbo and John Rankin of Mississippi and C. Wayland "Curly" Brooks of Illinois.

Senator Bricker's contribution to the week's proceedings was more in the nature of a "bit part," since McKellar was on and off the stage just about every day, while he (Bricker) lumped his confused histrionics into one supreme effort.

It happened Thursday. The committee was listening to the testimony of one of the commissioners-designate, W.W. Waymack, former editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune. Hickenlooper had outlined Waymack's past experience and interest in public affairs and Waymack, in turn, had voiced his views on international control of atomic energy. (He is a strong supporter of the Baruch plan, now being considered by the United Nations Security Council.)

Bricker, a committee member, then suggested that it might be unwise for the United States to share the "atomic secret" even with an "internationally policed" organization and advocated, instead, an "international agreement to outlaw the bomb as a weapon of war."

Waymack listened courteously and then gently pointed out to the junior senator from Ohio that such a plan—"outlawing of the bomb"—is precisely the scheme favored by the government of the Soviet Union.

I mentioned to an English friend that 13 years of this kind of banging in America did produce an effect. He only smiled. "They can't unscramble the eggs," he said.

Just think, fate and core course 11:1 brought us together!

The "group" and "individual," in McKellar's case, are Boss Ed Crump of Memphis and his statewide Democratic machine. It was Crump's machine which

British Socialists Still Optimistic

LONDON—You cannot introduce socialist ideas into any country without producing a certain amount of vertigo dizziness and lolling around. For example, some opposition to the Labor government's plans for increasing production for export and for improving factory efficiency comes from the labor unions themselves.

to increase the production of common goods for export. "But," said another, "we'll need books, for the plan is also to increase the education of the common man. The ideal is the dustman who gets six pounds a week and who is quite broadened and well informed."

"I see no answer," said the first, "except to throw the books we now have into the dustbin!" But there is a comforting slogan now making some headway among the intellectuals and it goes like this: "You can't unscramble the eggs." They say you with a certain passion that while present developments may be sometimes contradictory and a little confused, no one will ever starve a section of the British people again, or return the coal mines to their former owners, or lower the school leaving age, or let an Englishman walk about unemployed.

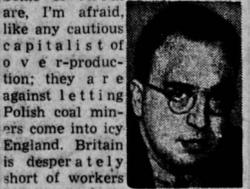

They tell a proud anecdote about an American posture expert who came over here to work and who found that the health and bearing of slum children had so improved even under rationing that she was quite startled. "And do you look forward to a time when there will be enough bookbinders?" I asked. "No," said one, "the thought is

Archer Found In Chicago

MUSCATINE (P)—Ernest Archer, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Archer of Muscatine, reported missing since last Saturday night, has been found at Chicago, police here were informed Friday night.

Chicago police, in a phone call to local officials, reported that the youth had indicated his whereabouts to them. The youth's father has gone to Chicago after his son, police here said.

A widespread search had been conducted since the youth, who is a student at the University of Iowa, was reported missing and the Mississippi river was dragged after discovery of Archer's suitcase in a park near the river.

It was understood that the youth gave Chicago police a story about being kidnaped but later admitted running away and being fearful of returning home because of the tuition money his father had given him.

University officials expressed the hope the youth would return to school, although they had received no word from Archer or his parents about his future plans.

University Concert Orchestra Tickets Available in Union

Free tickets for Wednesday evening's concert by the University symphony orchestra will become available tomorrow at Iowa Union desk.

The concert, to be held as usual in Iowa Union lounge, will open with Beethoven's "Leonore Overture No. 3." This overture was composed and first performed in 1806, in connection with a revised rendition of the opera, "Fidelio." Beethoven wrote four overtures for the various versions of "Fidelio", which was first called "Leonore."

Of these four overtures, the "No. 3" has been most frequently played on concert programs.

"Haffner Symphony in D" Following the overture will be the university symphony's first public performance of Mozart's "Haffner Symphony in D." The symphony was named for the Haffners' family of Salzburg nobles, and is an elaboration of a "serenade" commissioned by the Haffner family in 1781.

The symphony's carefree melodiousness gives no hint that it was composed at a time of especially great conflict in Mozart's short but tumultuous life.

After intermission, the orchestra will play the "Serenade, Opus 7 for wind instruments," by Richard Strauss. The ensemble for this work has been prepared by Prof. Himie Voxman of the music department.

"Norge" by Clapp The orchestra's own conductor, Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the music department, is the

Explorer's Lecture Tickets Ready Monday

Tickets for the Vilhjalmur Stefansson university lecture may be obtained at the main desk of Iowa Union beginning tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock.

Stefansson, internationally known Arctic explorer and University of Iowa alumnus will lecture on "New Frontiers of Peace and War," Thursday at 8 p.m. in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

Stefansson, who is of Icelandic parentage, made his first trip to Iceland in 1904. Two years later he led an expedition to the Canadian Arctic where he tried out the practice of "living off the country" to prove that white men could thrive on the Eskimo diet.

He published the results of this long dietetic survey in 1946 in the first of a three-volume history of human diet through the ages, "Not By Bread Alone".

Subsequent expeditions, through nine more Arctic winters, included Arctic explorations and the discovering of new lands north of Alaska and Canada. During World War II he worked with both the army and navy and made various inspection trips in the Alaskan and Aleutian regions and acted as consultant in the Labrador-Hudson bay-Baffin island regions.

Twice president of the Explorers' club, Stefansson has received medals from seven geographical organizations in the United States and Europe.

Not only has he collected the world's largest and most comprehensive privately owned library of polar and subpolar material—over 15,000 titles in many languages—but he has written 18 books and several hundred articles about the North.

His latest book, "Great Adventures and Explorations", is just off the press.

I.C. Guard Company To Be Disbanded

Iowa City's company C of the Iowa state guard will be disbanded Feb. 26 in a move that will muster out 24 of the state's 36 units by the last of March.

Brig. Gen. Charles H. Grahl, adjutant of the wartime guard, said yesterday the remaining 12 units probably will be deactivated about July 30. On that date the national guard should be sufficiently reorganized to replace all state units, he said.

The state guard was organized in December, 1941, to handle the job of internal security while national units served on active duty with the army.

Lutheran Association Begins Occupancy Of New Student House

Lutheran Students took possession of the recently purchased Lutheran Student house at 122 E. Church Street yesterday.

The house will be used for the meeting place of the Lutheran Student association. Luncheons, discussion groups, Bible studies and committee meetings will be regularly scheduled at the house and the office of the counselor, Lorraine Servehnen, will be there. Students are invited to use the house for studying, lounging and visiting.

The property has been purchased by the Foundation for Lutheran students at the University of Iowa. The Foundation is affiliated with the National Lutheran council, of which First Lutheran Church and Zion Lutheran Church of Iowa City are members.

Bargains, bargains! Like everywhere else I go for bargains. Especially the kind of lamp and clock bargains that MULFORD'S ELECTRICAL CO. is featuring this week. They have some simply darling lamps that are designed to not only brighten but enlighten your room. And their assortment is so varied that Alladin couldn't dream up better styles or bargains. As for clocks MULFORD'S rings the bell there too, for their clocks are fashioned for beauty and precision... the sort of precision that prevents you from missing those all important classes and dates. Talk about slashing prices MULFORD'S Session clocks are reduced from $21.95 to $9.85. You must see this array of MULFORD'S bargains to appreciate the values.

It may look like just any hamburger... but look again! It's a "maid-rite" served the MAID-RITE way. Fresh ground beef sandwiched in a bun plus all the trimmings... pickles, mustard, catsup and onions. Top this off with a piece of delicious home-made cake and a steaming hot cup of coffee and your lunch or mid-afternoon snack is MAID-RITE.

After staying up half the night trying to study with 12 other girls all in the same room, stumbling out of the door in the dark headed for 7:30 exams and a few other things the girls in Cottage 15 are just about ready to take it on the lam. But don't get them wrong, they really love Cottage 15, it sort of grows on them and after all NOW they have their own phone.

Why not give her a compact from WHEATSTONE'S for Valentine's Day? Every woman is inherently beauty conscious... and a compact is her key to beauty and good appearance. WHEATSTONE'S large selection includes gold finish and leather compacts... single powder compacts, or a combination compact of lipstick and rouge. Give her a compact... her key to beauty and she'll give you the key to her heart. While you're in WHEATSTONE'S buying your Valentine gifts why not take advantage of their complete fountain service.

There's only one word I can use to describe those big wedges of butter cake BOERNER'S soda fountain is featuring... and that word is "luscious". For a mid-afternoon snack after a bout with classes, step over to BOERNER'S... it's just across from campus... and treat yourself and roommate to a healthy slice of this moist, delicious cake. You have your choice of luscious chocolate or white butter cake, topped with thick swirls of creamy white marshmallow icing. Finish it off with a cup of steaming hot coffee... or it's mighty good just alone. I can't think of a better mid-afternoon "lift" than a generous wedge of delectable cake. Stop in at BOERNER'S... and see if I'm not right.

The chain of events in B. J. Duff's life are following the usual course. The latest link being the customary connection between pins. Pins concerned are B. J.'s anchor and the Phi Psi pin of Dick IlgenFritz.

Whilst I was strolling leisurely along the streets of Iowa City 'tother afternoon, I glanced in at the most charming new food shop... called the B and N FOOD SHOP. It's cute plaid wallpaper caught my eye... and I hid myself inside. And, what I saw there... ooh, la, la. Everything under the sun for a super deluxe spread. So, after treating myself to a luscious malt at the long, long snack bar, I proceeded to fill my little market basket (O.K., so it was a paper sack) with cheese... from B and N's big array... crackers, a bag of Krispy Kist Korn, doughnuts, even a salad they whipped up for me to take out. Well, I could have bought on and on... but I wanted to hurry home to tell my roommate what a swell place the B and N FOOD SHOP was... and prepare her for the beg spread we were going to throw that night!

A bit of sparkle news comes from the Zeta house... mainly the beautiful diamond Ann, McCarthy recently received from Bill Mayhall, Hillcrest.

"Dates imported from Iran" plastered on the window caught my eye the other day as I passed the FRUIT BASKET... Going inside I found that not only were these Iran imported dates fresh but they were only 25c a pound. Naturally, I bought a pound and also some walnuts (Course you all know that dates stuffed with walnuts are quite the delicacy). Gee, then their giant delicious apples attracted me and I couldn't resist buying them. After snooping for another ten minutes I came to the conclusion that the FRUIT BASKET not only had dates and delicious apples but an assortment of all kinds of fruits.

You've heard her say that IF she had the money she'd get an album or some of the latest records at SPENCER'S HARMONY HALL... so let that be your cue for the ideal graduation or Valentine gift. Some of the recent records any collector is pining for are now in at SPENCER'S HARMONY HALL. Take for examples, "Managua Nicaragua" and "That's the Beginning of the End" by Kay Kyser, "Sugar Blues" by Clyde McCoy and "Man Here Plays Fine Piano" and "Hora Staccato" by Benny Goodman. SPENCER'S have a "record" supply of records plus a complete selection of all kinds of albums. No matter what your tastes are you'll find the music you enjoy on records at SPENCER'S HARMONY HALL.

Our Guest Consultant for this week failed to show up... finals you know kept many a soul out of circulation... so all we have to say is, "Mr. Sessions, if you please." The "if you please" standing for "Ted, if you won't come around and help us write the gossip, at least stop starting it!"

Take a pleasing atmosphere plus courteous service and you have SWEITZER'S INN. Add to this delicious sea food, French fried shrimp, filet of pike and catfish, and chicken in the basket dinners and you still have SWEITZER'S INN tonight for that extra special treat.

It's always fashion time at YETTER'S! Timely, indeed, are these new fashions created for wear in late winter and right into spring.

Karly Thalman's KLINGRITE JUNIOR suit of acorn-colored Tricotine will see her straight through spring. The smart long jacket flares into a peplum at the back. Sets of tiny gold buttons give a double-breasted effect to the front of the jacket.

Modeling a winter pastel dress of finger-soft wool is Betty Bisdorf. A JUNIOR HOUSE creation, the two-piece dress is of aqua color, and is accented by a wide belt of brown alligator.

Look to spring with these and other smart fashions at YETTER'S! Second Floor Fashion Center

Accessories, of course, have all been chosen at YETTER'S.

Who doesn't wish for a magician to help keep their house spic and span? An answer to your wishes awaits you at the LAREW COMPANY. LAREW'S now have in stock those hard to get magic cleaners that you missed during the war... T C Cleaner, Hot point Polish and Kohler Cleanser. Stop wishing for a magician... Go out and buy a few cleaning genies at the LAREW COMPANY.

That alarm clock of mine (war-time model) just gives out with one little cough in the cold grey dawn... then dies. And, not being exactly quick as a trigger myself in the a.m., I seldom heard that blasted clock's death rattle. I used to miss breakfast consistently... but no more! Not since I hiked my saddles over to DOC & BETTY'S TWO MILE INN in the morn. Doc and Betty, his wife, are just about the most congenial folks I know... of course, you know DOC is the MIGHELL running for Alderman At Large! To go on, the breakfast they can cook up... yum, yum. Bacon and eggs and toast and coffee. In fact DOC & BETTY'S is a good place for a quick meal any time of day. Take my word for it.

Valentine's Day comes but once a year, but every year I have the same problem of just what to send to my near and dear ones who expect some remembrance. So this year I'm being cagey. I'll let you in the know of this simple solution. The only key you need is KRITZ STUDIO, yep, a picture. Not that I'm any Hawkeye Beauty, but my mother and a couple of other people say they enjoy having something to remember what I look like. So I trotted down and had one of those "sitting" you hear about. And when the finished product was handed me, a 9 x 12, in a lovely frame, not only was I sure my mother and that other person are going to be pleased but sometimes I think if they went by that picture, maybe I could be a Hawkeye Beauty. Anyway, take my advice and have KRITZ STUDIO solve your Valentine gift problem.

While browsing at the BOOKSHOP I saw just the thing for keeping track of the books I've read. It's called a Reading Log and has space in which to enter all the details about my literary ventures. Then I browsed two steps further along the BOOKSHOP counter and found a Phonograph Record Log and a Garden Log. Right away I started matching the logs up with people I knew who had hobbies. It turned out there were a lot of good pairs because now I've settled the birthday problems for my record-collector brother and my master-gardener mother. The BOOKSHOP settles a lot of my gift problems...

Wally Pearson, the Tea-Time Melodics emcee, brought his college career to a triumphant end by hanging his Phi Delt pin on Phi Phi Terry Lane, University of Michigan beauty queen.

The ideal gift suggestion for "that Man of Yours" is a Courtney brush from BREMER'S. Whether it's for a graduation or a Valentine gift a Courtney brush is something every man needs and seldom thinks to buy. These club style brushes have genuine nylon bristles, solid plastic backs and handles and are just the right size for convenient use. They come in a variety of colors—brown, white, green, black and wine and are priced at $3.49. Please him with a Courtney brush from BREMER'S.

Some predictions come true, at least ours did in regard to the Julie Harvey-Jim Bowers twosome. Seems as of last Monday Julie is now wearing Jim's Phi Psi pin chained to her Kappa key.

No one likes this blizzard weather and yet we have to get out in it. It's cold and it's nasty walking... so do the smart thing. Call a YELLOW CAB. Atom Challenge Can Be Met By Adult Education—Peterson

The challenge to education presented by the critical atomic age can be met in large part by a comprehensive program of adult education, declared Dean Elmer T. Peterson at the mid-year commencement in Iowa Union yesterday.

Our critical problems in the period ahead are concentrated in the field of human relations and the social sciences, said Peterson, and the type of maturity that comes with the direct experience of human life and institutions is necessary for a complete understanding of them.

Adults must be given the opportunity to learn, he declared. "Education is a continuous life-long process, and unless we succeed in creating the conditions under which it can be made to function promptly, effectively and universally, we shall not long survive in this new atomic energy era."

Dean Peterson emphasized the necessity for teaching "a new conception of patriotism and citizenship" compatible with the times.

The inevitability of international law and world government must be accepted, and the interdependence of peoples must be completely documented," he asserted.

Stressing that the "real educator is the whole society," Peterson pointed to the community-centered school which would mobilize all the community resources to provide constructive recreational and educational activity for youth and adults.

An appropriate solution to the problem of adult education in Iowa necessitates legalizing the expenditure of public funds for adult education. Peterson said that Iowa law requires tuition to be paid by all persons over 21 or holding a high school diploma, and limits instruction in evening schools to the three R's.

He urged the graduates to take an active part in developing adult education to complete the sequence of learning, living and teaching.

In afternoon ceremonies before an audience of approximately 1200 relatives and friends, 440 candidates received degrees and certificates. President Virgil M. Hancher made the presentation.

The university symphony orchestra played the Prelude to Lohengrin after the invocation by Father J. Ryan Beiser.

Ceremonies ended with the singing of the university hymn, Old Gold, the benediction and the recessional march.

To Open Roller Rink In Women's Gym

Roller skating, open to all university students, will begin Friday night and will continue every Friday night for the rest of the semester from 7:30 to 10 in the women's gymnasium.

There are 100 rink skates available, but students may bring their own shoe skates.

Admission is 35 cents and student identification card. Music will be furnished by phonograph records over the public address system.

Rollerskating has been sponsored by the Women's Recreation association for approximately six years. Opal Bane, A3 of Farnhamville, second vice-president of WRA, is in charge of the project this year. June Macabee, A4 of Decatur, Ill., is floor manager with members of the various WRA clubs acting as hostesses. Virginia Dix Sterling, instructor in the women's physical education department, is adviser for the project.

Art Exhibit Features Works of Ben-Zion

Fourteen oils and five water colors by Ben-Zion, American painter, are now on exhibit in the main gallery of the art building.

Now touring the midwest, the show will continue through February. It was sent from Bertha Schaefer gallery in New York City.

Ben-Zion was represented in the Iowa summer show at the university last year.

Art work by professors in the art department, to be sent to New York City for exhibition later, are also on display in the main gallery through this month.

The paintings, sculpture and etchings were done by Professors Humbert Albrizio, Mauricio Lasansky, James Lechay and Stuart Edie.

To be shown in the auditorium this month are etchings by the art department print group instructed by Lasansky.

Recent student paintings are being shown on the main floor corridor.

The Babylonian art objects on display in the east foyer will remain until Feb. 15.

VFW Post Assails Clinton Group's Bid For Vets Hospital

A movement to reopen Clinton's Schick army hospital, possibly costing Iowa City its proposed veterans' hospital, was condemned yesterday by the local Veterans of Foreign Wars post 2581.

The United Veterans organization and Chamber of Commerce at Clinton reportedly have sent a delegation to Washington to bring pressure against the veterans administration plan for building a hospital here on the 13-acre site already purchased near University hospital.

Better Equipment Cited. Maintaining that Iowa City's equipment and doctor facilities outweigh Clinton's idle hospital building, VFW Commander Sam Shulman declared:

"We feel that the effort to reopen is more a project of the Clinton Chamber of Commerce to receive the added business a veterans' hospital would bring than any special concern for the veterans themselves."

"A hospital is more than a building," Shulman added. "Availability of personnel is highly important." No action other than the VFW's opposing resolution has yet been taken.

Legion Also Contesting. The American Legion's Roy L. Chopek post 17 organized a committee earlier this week also to contest the Clinton drive for reopening Schick.

Construction of the 12-story building here was unofficially scheduled to begin about June 30 at an estimated cost of $6,000,000.

Centennial Posters To Go Out Tomorrow

The university centennial committee will formally invite all Iowans to join in the centennial celebration, when it sends 2,150 invitation-posters tomorrow to high schools, public libraries, banks, colleges and court houses throughout the state.

The poster was designed by Carroll Coleman, school of journalism typographer.

Caps, Gowns, Smiles and Memories

GRADUATION WILL BE REMEMBERED by Mrs. Paul James of Des Moines through the pictures she took yesterday of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Jeans of Iowa City, a graduate of the college of liberal arts.

CONGRATULATING THEIR SON, Wayne W. Guthrie, after commencement exercises yesterday are Mr. and Mrs. James Taylor Guthrie of West Branch. Guthrie is a graduate of the college of commerce.

Veterans Requested To Give Souvenirs To Intelligence School

Any vets in Iowa City with some surplus war souvenirs? If so, they can give the intelligence school at Fort Riley, Kansas, a boost by donating them for the establishment of an "intelligence museum."

Maps, photographs, documents and equipment that had particular significance during the war will be displayed in the museum, according to Col. W. W. Jenna, head of the university ROTC unit.

Particularly desired are field orders, propaganda leaflets, marked maps and enemy hand weapons developed during the war—especially those discovered by the intelligence service before they actually appeared in combat.

Vets may ship their donations directly to The Commandant, Intelligence School, Ft. Riley, Kansas. Besides giving their names, veterans should tell briefly how they acquired their "souvenirs" and what significance they had in the war.

173 to Go to Moscow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall told the Russian foreign office last night he probably will take an official delegation of 100, including clerks as well as advisers, to the Moscow conference of foreign ministers March 10.

The state department also informed the Soviet foreign office that 73 American correspondents, photographers and broadcasters have applied for visas to attend.

END OF FOUR YEARS' work came yesterday at mid-year commencement for Eleanor Wesslink, a liberal arts graduate from Hull, Iowa, who wraps for safe-keeping her gown and many memories of the University of Iowa after the commencement ceremony.

500 New, Former Students To Enroll Tomorrow at Union

Registration for approximately 500 new students and former students not enrolled here last semester will be held tomorrow in Iowa Union.

These liberal arts, commerce and graduate students will call at the registrar's office at 8 a.m. for their statements of admission to the university, their registration number cards and registration materials. Their registration at the Union, under the new IBM card and registration number procedure, should be completed by early afternoon, according to Assistant Registrar Ted McCarrel.

Approximately 75 new students in the engineering college, part of whom are transfers from liberal arts, will register at the engineering offices tomorrow morning.

Dean C. Woody Thompson of the office of student affairs will preside at a required meeting for all new students tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in Macbride auditorium.

Robert Ebel of the university examinations service will give instructions and material concerning the tests the students will be taking for the rest of the week, and Dr. Chester Miller will make appointments for student health examinations and explain the functions of that service.

Other speakers will include Prof. H. C. Harshbarger of the liberal arts advisory office and Coach Dave Armbruster of the men's physical education department.

Prof. Herald Stark of the music department will lead the students in group singing and members of Alpha Phi Omega national service fraternity will act as ushers and distribute materials at the meeting.

Dean Thompson will introduce Student council President Herb Olson to the group when the student handbook prepared by the council is distributed.

New students will start both classes and tests for new students Tuesday.

Examinations will start Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 and will also be held Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings and Saturday morning. For students who wish to attend the university lecture Thursday evening, an alternate schedule of tests has been slated for Thursday afternoon.

Included in the examinations will be the basic skills tests and the "freshman battery"—including tests in correctness in writing, ability to interpret reading material, mathematics and vocabulary ability.

Each of the students will have to take about 10 tests, according to Robert Ebel of the examination service.

Freshmen will automatically be enrolled in basic skills classes, and those who pass the tests satisfactorily will be transferred later. Prof. John Gerber of the English department said students exempted from communication skills probably will be transferred to literature courses by Wednesday, Feb. 12.

Registration figures for the second semester will be sent to the president's office Tuesday afternoon, McCarrel said.

I.C. Labor Market Loosens, Kline Says

A considerable loosening of Iowa City's labor market and decrease of job openings occurred during January, the monthly area labor market report from the local Iowa state employment service reveals.

E. E. Kline, manager of the Iowa City ISES office, said several factors, including release of 100 workers from construction work, were responsible for the additional labor available.

Other factors were release of temporary holiday employees in retail duties and tightening of the job situation in the Cedar Rapids area.

For the second consecutive month job openings dropped off. There were orders for 65 workers on file at the local office Dec. 26, but the number had decreased to 50 by Jan. 25. Kline said the greatest needs are still for skilled workers and hospital attendants.

As a result of the loosening of the labor market, labor supply has increased slightly in the last 30 days. The supply jumped from 81 to 111—60 of whom are veterans, 18 handicapped exservicemen and 23 women.

Kline stated that employers' specifications for workers are higher now than in recent months. Unemployment compensation and readjustment allowance claims also rose. Increase of these applications by nearly 50 percent brought 133 persons to ISES during January.

Kline forecast no "significant" change in the present labor situation within the next 30 days. A change then, he said, will depend mostly upon local construction industry and weather conditions.

Twelve grand jurors chosen for the year are Richard Hartscock, West Lucas; R. R. Rapp, Oxford; Robert Breese, Iowa City; Frank Grolmus, Liberty; Harry Propst, Union; Frank Ziskovsky, Jefferson; Oren Alt, Sharon; Chis Jensen, Scott; Frank Fry, Washington; Lloyd Mullinex, Lincoln; Glenn Beltz, Penn, and James Sladek, Pleasant Valley.

Food Costs Boost Checks For Aged

Johnson county recipients of old age assistance will begin receiving a 25 percent increase for food allowances in their monthly checks either February 1 or March 1. The 25 percent increase for food also affects aid to needy blind and to dependent children.

Mrs. Marjorie Yetter, Johnson county director of the social welfare board, said recipients will be notified directly from the state department of social welfare of the exact date it will become effective.

Food increases will amount from $3 to 4.50 more a month for a person living alone.

Approved by State
The 25 percent increase for food was approved by the state department of social welfare in December. The Johnson county office began processing cases late in December. They were then sent to the state department for approval, Mrs. Yetter said.

She emphasized that the 25 percent increase affects only those who prepare their own meals. No adjustment has been made for those who eat in restaurants.

Recipients of old age assistance in Johnson county during January numbered 485. The average paid per person was $39.69, compared to the state average of $35.83.

Government to Fire 200

WASHINGTON (AP)—State department announced yesterday it will fire approximately 200 employees this month because of progress in cutting out wartime projects.

Michael J. McDermott, department press officer, said this action has nothing to do with activities of the state department in ferreting out employees with alleged Communist connections or leanings.

SUI Alumni Reactivate Nationwide Clubs For University's Centennial Observance

University of Iowa alumni representatives in each Iowa county and in most principal cities of the United States are implementing the program of reactivating alumni clubs in connection with the university centennial observance.

Suggested program material for individual observances has been sent to each representative. Several alumni clubs dormant during the war are responding to the centennial appeal by scheduling individual celebrations at times approximate to the Feb. 25 centennial opening. Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, director of alumni service, has announced.

Centennial rallies already are scheduled at Boston, New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Denver, Kansas City, Mo.; Rochester, N. Y.; Lima, Ohio; Tacoma, Wash.; Fargo, N. D., and Moorhead, Minn.

Among individual observances within the state will be those at Grinnell, Boone, Mt. Pleasant and Elkader. Additions to the list are being received daily at the alumni office.

Another contribution of alumni to the centennial will be their nominations of outstanding alumni for special recognition. These nominations must be submitted to the alumni office by Mar. 1, with final selection to be made by the centennial committee on awards and citations.

Alumni representatives have also been asked to submit names of alumni of their respective areas who lost their lives in the war.

Mahan said announcement will be made later concerning Wedgwood plates commemorating the centennial, which have been ordered from England.

Plans for the Kansas City alumni club's observance were discussed Friday, when Ray
