REPORT DEEP SLASH IN SUI FUNDS

Russia Knows Some of Our Atom Secrets

Report Baruch Says Soviets Have Gained Access to Information

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bernard M. Baruch reportedly told senators Monday there is evidence that Russia has penetrated to some extent the secrecy wall this country has erected around the production of atomic bombs.

Baruch's testimony, in a closed session of the senate atomic committee, was summarized by one committee member and confirmed by another as indicating the Soviets had gained access to some highly secret information but apparently did not know exactly what it meant or how to use it. The committee closed its doors to the public following a hearing in which Baruch blamed scientists for "lambasting" the army into making public in 1945 the Smyth report, which contained data on atomic energy. David E. Lilienthal, nominated to be chairman of the atomic energy commission, has criticized the release of the report.

Baruch was said to have testified that the form of certain questions put by the Soviets in United Nations discussion of international atomic controls indicated there had been leaks in the American security wall.

In one instance, it was said, the Russians apparently came into possession of a code word used by the Americans but showed by their statements that they failed to grasp its significance.

Noting that Canada had "made some discoveries in plutonium," Baruch mentioned the arrests of Soviet spies in that country. He indicated belief that the Russians obtained some of their information from Canada.

Calling for the tightest kind of security in this country, Baruch contended that scientists had talked the army into issuing the Smyth report.

Regarding Lilienthal, Baruch said he thought the new chairman was "thoroughly qualified" for the job.

Mercury Dips 27 Degrees In 5 Hours

There should be an open season on groundhogs. Those venerable weather prophets came out from hiding Sunday and frightened the mercury into a sharp nose-dive. Ten below readings were predicted for this morning after a high of 32 degrees at noon yesterday. Five hours later the mercury had dropped 27 degrees to a frigid five above and it edged slowly toward the zero mark late last night.

The CAA weather office said it will be clear and cold today with continuing strong northerly winds. The winds yesterday ranged up to 46 miles an hour.

The cold wave first touched northwest Iowa, which had zero readings at noon yesterday. Mason City registered four above at that time.

Most of the rest of the nation was experiencing similar weather. Thirty to forty mile an hour winds kicked up a blizzard-like mixture of dust and drifting snow in the Dakotas and Minnesota. A 60 MPH blizzard lashed across Saskatchewan, Canada.

At Bures, Sask., the frozen bodies of an elderly couple who perished in the blizzard were found yesterday in a snow-covered sleigh. Hundreds of horses and cattle perished on the snow drifts. Railroad men said snow conditions were the worst in their experience in western Canada.

Forecasters in Chicago said the cold mass originated in the Canadian Yukon, which reported an official 81 below zero Sunday at remote Snag field—a new record for the North American continent.

British Question Jews After Kidnaping

ORTHODOX JEWS are lined up for screening by Palestine police and British army officials following the release of H. A. I. Collins, British banker, kidnaped and held prisoner for three days by the Jewish underground. The British detained six of the above group. The Palestine supreme court yesterday rejected a plea to stay the execution of the underground member for whom Collins was held hostage. The evacuation of British civilians and the erection of new barricades have been ordered in the anticipation of new outbreaks. (AP WIREPHOTO)

How Long Is a Minute? Weighty Question Stalls Mt. Clemens Portal Pay Hearing

DETROIT (AP) — Federal Judge Frank A. Picard scratched his head angrily yesterday and conceded that the average worker moves slower going into a factory in the morning than he does leaving at night.

And, since portal pay became an issue, some of them are slower than ever, the court implied.

These observations featured testimony in the Mt. Clemens Pottery company case, forerunner of nearly $5,000,000,000 in the portal pay claims.

Testified five former employees: The plant was laid out so that they had to pick their way around empty crates, stepping over foot-bridges and ducking beneath overhead pipes. This, they said, required up to 20 minutes a day.

Replied a company executive: The employees had a clear, unobstructed path to work. It would n't take over eight minutes to cover the distance, he estimated.

Attorney Edward Lamb said some of his plaintiffs were "streamlined" and some were "middle-aged women" and the latter traveled more slowly.

The company asked Mrs. Edna Meitz, 43, who once put handles on cups as an employee of the pottery firm, if she knew a minute when she saw one. She replied that she did.

While court and counsel clocked her, Mrs. Meitz looked out a window and called "time" when she thought a minute had expired.

The "minute" had lasted only 14 seconds.

Another woman employee took the same test.

Her "minute" ran 82 seconds.

CABLE SAVES CAR

A TELEPHONE CABLE which caught the license plate holder kept this car from taking a 30-foot plunge after it had skidded across a road and broken a viaduct rail at Menomonee, Wis. The driver was uninjured. The car's front end rests on a garage roof. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Ask Congress To Continue War Powers

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman asked congress yesterday to continue his wartime powers to allocate any materials—that is, determine how they shall be shared in an emergency.

Senator Taft (R., Ohio) immediately said "No." He contended this grant of authority would be too sweeping.

The president also asked continuance of his authority to ration sugar and to impose certain import and export controls. Taft, chairman of the senate Republican steering committee, agreed to this.

Mr. Truman's requests were contained in a message recommending the retention for another year of certain authorities contained in the "Second War Powers act" of 1942 and the abandonment of others. The act is scheduled to expire March 31.

Here is the recommendations that drew Taft's potent opposition:

"Because of the distortions and uncertainties generated by war conditions, we may encounter a national emergency that we do not now foresee. The extension of Title III (priority and allocation powers) should provide for allocation authority in a national emergency of this kind, but only if there is a declaration by the president that such a national emergency has arisen. Although I do not anticipate that such an emergency will occur it is imperative that the government should have the power, during the remainder of the reconversion period, to deal with major unforeseen contingencies of this character."

The president did not say just what he had in mind, but apparently it was the possibility of a strike emergency. Orders were issued during the soft coal strike last December for the allocation of coal, gas and electricity.

Subcommittee Okays Presidential Limit

WASHINGTON (AP)—A house judiciary subcommittee Monday approved a constitutional amendment that would prevent any president from serving more than eight years.

Chairman Michener (R-Mich.) said the full committee may approve it Tuesday. He hopes to have the house vote on it this week.

Before the amendment could become effective, it must be approved by two-thirds of the house and senate and ratified by 36 states.

Half time score: Wisconsin 26; Iowa 21

By BOB COLLINS
Daily Iowan Sports Editor
MADISON, Wis. — The University of Wisconsin kept its hold on first place in the Big Nine last night with a 60-53 hard fought win over Iowa, but not before Murray Wier led a desperate last half rally that almost turned the trick for the Hawks.

In winning, the Badgers set a new Wisconsin scoring record with 26 points on free throws. Haarlow, reserve center, swished ten of 11 charity tosses for the Badgers.

Wier, with 26 points total and 17 points in the last half, led all scorers, Bobby Cook, Badger ace, was held to 13 points, five of which were on free throws.

With a 26-21 half time deficit, Iowa came back in the second half to bring the count up to 40-39 with eight minutes left. The final minutes were thrill packed with Wier and Walt Lautenbach trading long baskets down the stretch. With three minutes left, Iowa was behind 51-49 but faded after Dick Ives and Herb Wilkinson fouled out.

The Badgers margin came through points contributed by their long set shots. The chief offender, Lautenbach, added 14 points most of them in the last half. Clayton Wilkinson held Ed Mills, giant Wisconsin center, to three points and no baskets. Haarlow, his relief man, made only two baskets besides his 10 free throws.

Lack of height under the baskets hurt the Hawks as the Badgers managed to control the ball especially in the opening stages of play. In defeat the Hawks looked much better than in their last three games. The team drove hard all the way and kept the capacity crowd of 13,200 aware of the threat of an upset.

The first half matched the previous Iowa-Wisconsin game in its slowness. The revised Iowa lineup held the Badgers at bay for 10 minutes before the free throw barrage started.

Admiral Mitscher, Atlantic Commander, Dies of Heart Attack

NORFOLK, VA. (AP)—Adm. A. Mitscher, who scoured the Japanese with spectacular carrier-based airblows, died quietly in his sleep yesterday at the Norfolk Naval Hospital, eight days after he was stricken with a heart attack on his sixtieth birthday.

The death of the commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet was announced by the fifth naval district shortly after 8 a. m.

In Washington, the navy announced Vice Adm. W. H. P.

ADM. MARC MITSCHER

Blandly, ordnance expert and director of the atomic bomb tests in the Pacific last summer, would succeed Mitscher in command of the Atlantic fleet. Promotion of Blandly to full admiral is expected to follow his assignment as fleet commander.

As commander of the famed Task Force 58 Mitscher hurled aerial smashes at Truk and the Marianas in February of 1944 and exploded the myth of the invincibility of those strongholds in the U. S. navy's first test of its newly built carrier power. During these strikes, Mitscher seemed never to become excited, fellow officers often related, but sat calmly in an easy chair on the bridge of his flagship as he received dispatches and issued orders in a quiet voice.

One of the navy's first aviators Mitscher skipped the Aircraft Carrier Hornet, the "Shangri-La" from which Lt. Gen. (then Lt. Col.) James Doolittle launched his raid on Tokyo and other Japanese cities.

Say Governor Has Made Big Cut in Request

Total Budget to Be $10,000,000 Below What Boards Asked

Gov. Robert D. Blue was reported last night to have slashed nearly $10,000,000 off the budget requests of Iowa state boards and departments.

Most of the slash, according to an Associated Press report, was from the askings of state educational institutions.

Legislative leaders said they had heard that the governor's recommendations, expected to be announced today, will suggest appropriations totaling about $26,000,000, compared to requests of some $36,000,000.

Board of education institutions had asked $8,614,000 a year—a 50-percent boost over the last two years' appropriations of $5,740,000. Board of control institutions asked $8,397,000 a year—58 percent more than the $5,286,000 voted by the last legislature.

Had Already Cut Requests
President Virgil M. Hancher told university alumni in a letter dated Feb. 1 that he had already cut the original request of $3,757,500 for each year of the 1947-49 biennium by $167,500 annually.

This cut, he said, "will prevent us from entering upon some worthwhile, but not indispensable new activities."

Although the original request for educational purposes did not exceed that of institutions in neighboring states, President Hancher said he was asked to and did reduce University of Iowa askings so that the board of education's askings for higher educational institutions might follow a generally similar pattern.

He emphasized that his original figure, already reduced once, is not an inflated or bargaining figure. "It represents fairly and squarely our needs for each year of the coming biennium."

The $167,500 slash reported by the president indicates that the university's askings for the two-year period, when the appropriations bill reached the legislature, totaled $7,180,000.

"When the requirements of each of our colleges and divisions for educational purposes for the 1947-49 biennium had been assembled a few months ago," the president explained, "The total amount of our requirements ($3,757,500) exceeded our 1945-47 requests by 58 percent."

The president was in Des Moines last night and could not be reached for comment.

Albania to Be Heard

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations security council received word last night on the eve of its long-delayed arms reduction debate that Albania was sending a representative to reply to British charges of deliberate mine-laying in the Corfu channel.

Eleven Sentenced to Die

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—A British military tribunal yesterday sentenced five women and six men to death for killing and torturing female inmates of Ravensbrück concentration camp, officially described as "probably the largest women's prison in history."

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

Britain's Upper Classes Suffer

By SAMUEL GRAFTON
New York Post Syndicate

GRAFTON

Houses come first, mostly tiny ones built by the government for renting; of the 300,000 to be put up this year only 60,000 are for private sale, and these are small too, and sharply price controlled.

gestions; they even talk wistfully about having another coalition government, an impossible idea, reminding one of the day-dreaming of unhappy children.

One conservative even suggested to me it might be good to put Churchill on the air regularly with non-party broadcasts to lift the spirits of the people and dissipate their depression.

The plain people can take this grim endurance contest better than the upper levels, for they have always been poor. In a sense one can say that the British aristocratic system, by condemning large classes of Englishmen to a very thin life for so long, has actually trained them to win out against the top ranks of society in the struggle now going on.

when the literally barefoot news boy is a well-remembered figure, with the results that Britain's poor can ride no-handed through a time of rationing which seems like utter destitution to the well-to-do.

Thus, with the end of the war, life has lost its savor for the upper levels. This grimly regulated Britain, with all its efforts bent toward obtaining a favorable trade balance in an atmosphere of social reform, leaves little to the trading classes and the fashionable classes to do. They have a choice; they can resist or submit. They do both.

They resist nervously by complaining that liberty is dying in Britain, they will tell you as typical, an anecdote about a doctor, say, who was halted on leaving a foodshop, on suspicion that he had illegal rations, and was delayed so long by the police that he was kept from seeing a patient. They do not mention whether the patient died.

whether there will be space for them. But perhaps the meekness is an upper level manifestation too, and not lower level, for the same persons who complain about the growing meekness of the British people will also tell you that the lower classes are becoming extremely rude.

So, meekly or not, the endurance contest is carried on. And it is an endurance contest. It has been almost eight years since there has been anything like normal trade in Britain. One walks through the bomb wreckage east of St. Paul's and realizes that, believe it or not, it has been almost seven years since most of these buildings were knocked down in the blitz of September 1940. The ground still saps. The British have tidied up only a little, by putting neat, low brick walls around the ruined blocks, and they have lettered the old street names on the walls.

Budget Surgery No Simple Task

The Republican members of congress who have been telling the nation they have a magic formula which will not only reduce taxes and federal spending but would also balance the budget have suddenly come up against some hard political and economic realities.

It's one thing to say that Mr. Truman's budget can be trimmed $5-billion or so. But it's quite another to say exactly in just what areas this budgetary "fat" can be removed.

As they attempt to write into laws their tax and spending campaign promises, they are discovering that these complex, inter-connected fiscal problems cannot be solved so simply.

They are going to find that a lot of people who supposedly endorsed their economy plans by the ballot really approve of these proposals only so far as they affect the other fellow.

Getting down to brass tacks, the Republicans have found that their "economy" plan has raised more questions than it has answered.

Actually, our farmer would probably be quite put out if the Republican's surgery upon the proposed budget forced the government to back down on its commitments to keep farm prices at 90 percent of parity.

Perhaps the one question having the widest political effects of all the questions the economy-minded Republicans have raised for themselves is that of reducing governmental expenditures. As long as they continue in their determination to cut taxes and to balance the budget, they are left with no alternative but to curtail spending.

Likewise, other large groups will protest rather loudly any definite cuts in spending which affects them as a group or as individuals.

They will get the fullest effect of the political "hot seat" on which they have placed themselves when they begin a specific rather than a general attack on the president's $37-billion-dollar budget proposal.

This is not to say that all federal money is spent wisely and well and that there is no place for close scrutiny of every item in the budget.

Strange Bedfellows
The American Federation of Labor, conscious of the impending peril of anti-union legislation, has made an astonishing proposal of marriage to its old enemy, the CIO.

But as the Republicans get down to cases, they will have to supplement their vocabulary with such phrases as "government responsibility" and "the general welfare" because as our farmer friend points out, the word "economy" is not necessarily a passport to the White House.

There are many who would favor the merger in the belief that the only way American workers can expect a fair break is to stand up and fight for it—and the more they pull together, the better chance they will have. There are many others who would oppose it because of what they would call "irreconcilable" differences of opinion between the AFL and the CIO.

The existence of those differences cannot be denied, and, therefore, a merger at this time would have to involve compromise which would surely result in an unsound structure. No, the time isn't ripe. The trend toward unity in the ranks of labor is quite obvious if you take the long term view, but from where we stand the two big organizations are still miles apart in most areas.

How would AFL's basically conservative stepson, John L. Lewis, get along with CIO's New Dealish Walter Reuther? And how would AFL's right-wingers hit it off with CIO's spurious offspring, the Communists?

Another important question might be, how would some AFL locals in the South react to the CIO's recently announced insistence on no racial discrimination within

Hank's 'Strob light' Could Stop a Ring-Tailed Comet

Ordinary Photography Wasn't Fast Enough So He Made His Own Flash

Anyone who has a ring-tailed comet that needs to be photographed should notify Hank Louis Jr.

These transformers step up the 110-volt household current to 2,000 volts and a rectifier changes it to direct current, they explained, between them. Pointing to a strange looking bulb, Hank said the current built up in a row of condensers was discharged through the "bulb"—a strobotron tube—by closing the switch on an ignition coil.

By BOB THOMPSON
For Hank is working on a high-speed flash light gadget called a stroboscope which will allow him to take pictures at the unbelievable speed of one thirty-thousandth of a second—fast enough to stop any human or animal motion.

Ordinary photography is old stuff to Hank, a 15-year-old Junior in University high school. He's been snapping pictures and working in the darkroom around his father's drug store since he was about seven.

Reader's note: We ask your patience if our usage of some of the bridal terms has been erroneous. FLOYD W. ARMSTRONG HARVEY A. CLOVER (Editor's note: The bride wore blue.)

He paused in the cleaning of a strobometer in the drugstore yesterday to give a reporter the low-down on his "strob light."

Later, at Howard Carroll's radio shop at 207 N. Linn street, where Hank built his light with Carroll's advice and assistance, we found a hodge-podge of electric apparatus. Hank and Carroll hovered over the wires, tubes, boxes and switches like mother hens over chicks.

No More Security Seen in Veto Ban

CHICAGO — The abolition of the veto will give America no additional security beyond that provided by readiness to go to war over a violation of atomic control, the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists says in an editorial published recently. On the other hand, retention of the veto will give no security to the U.S.S.R.

destroy the Baruch plan have chosen the veto controversy as their weapon," the editorial points out. It emphasizes that "we must not limit our appeal for concessions to one side in this controversy. Rather we must appeal for willingness to compromise on secondary issues, and for concentration on the real difficulties of the problem such as the administrative set-up of the control agency, and the equitable distribution of atomic plants."

"This report was adopted by 10 votes to 6—with the U.S.S.R. and Poland abstaining not out of opposition to its principles, but because of their unwillingness to support a recommendation for the advance relinquishment of veto in the case of sanctions against violators of the

Ask Recognition For 'Humble Males'

TO THE DAILY IOWAN: We have paid particularly close attention to the various wedding accounts published where all the trivial details of how the brides were dressed were given in such a lavish manner—detailing each little description of the bride's gown, veil (lace-edged tulle veil, that is), her flowers, necklace, etc. If this degree of concern is to be paid to the bride's attire, (the principle being that she is attracted,) then why not tack something to this effect on the end of the wedding accounts to pay a fraction of respect to "us humble males?"

"The bridegroom, wearing his best wedding bluish, was daintily poured into a three piece hand-somely draped, single-breasted suit of brown autumn serenity, flicked with dashes of lavender and white. The coat, sleekly streamlined, tapered from his manly shoulders to a tight fitting bodice and was held in place by Couvers 'de a le' whalebone buttons. In his upper left pocket he displayed a matchless white carnation, held in place by a short, leafless, green stem.

His pants were immaculately cleaned and pressed for the occasion and were offset by hand-made hose of pure Egyptian satin. His necktie, flawlessly tied in longstreet fashion, was made of spun rayon and hand-painted in pastel, seed pearl tints.

His chocolate brown shoes, brilliantly polished were made of genuine cowhide leather and laced with strings of the same color, giving his whole attire a chic effect."

Reader's note: We ask your patience if our usage of some of the bridal terms has been erroneous. FLOYD W. ARMSTRONG HARVEY A. CLOVER (Editor's note: The bride wore blue.)

necessity for civilian control of atomic energy on the domestic front; and to enlighten the public about the necessity for international control of atomic energy as the only means of security from a bomb which cannot be kept a monopoly and against which there is no defense.

"At first these ideas seemed visionary and their carriers suspicious radicals," the editorial says. But the unassailable logic has... conquered the national administration, then the governments of England and Canada and finally the United Nations... It was written into the McMahon bill, passed unanimously by the senate; into the Truman-Allee-King declaration; into the Moscow statement of the Big Three; into the disarmament resolution passed unanimously by 54 nations in the UN Atomic Energy commission to the Security Council.

Betty Ann Erickson Weds Charles Vaughn In Methodist Church

Before an altar background of gladioli, snapdragons, jonquils, roses and acacia, Betty Ann Erickson became the bride of Charles William Vaughn at a 4 o'clock ceremony yesterday afternoon in the Methodist church.

Dr. L. L. Dunnington performed the double ring ceremony. Betty Johnson of Duluth, Minn., sorority sister of the bride, sang Ave Maria by Schubert, and Grieg's "I Love Thee," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Dorothy Scheldrup of Iowa City.

Maid of honor was Dolores McGonigle of Waterloo, also a sorority sister of the bride. Frank Vaughn Jr. of Chicago, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Robert Puffer of Jefferson and Walter Frietag of Charles City.

Mrs. Vaughn was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gold lame street length dress and a black fisherman hat with a band of gold lame. Her heart shaped bouquet of purple orchids and stephanotis was outlined with tulle ruching.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Alpha Delta Pi sorority chapter house.

Mrs. Vaughn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Erickson of Spencer. She is a graduate of Spencer high school and attended Iowa State college in Ames. She will be graduated in June from the University of Iowa.

Mr. Vaughn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vaughn of Columbus, Ohio, and was graduated from Roosevelt high school in Des Moines. He attended Iowa State college and Syracuse university, Syracuse, N. Y. He is now sales engineer for the Lennox Furnace company in Indianapolis, Ind., where the couple will make their home after June 7.

They are spending their honeymoon in New Orleans and Havana.

Grades to Be Ready In About 2 1/2 Weeks

First semester grades for liberal arts and commerce students will be available at the registrar's office in about two and a half weeks.

Assistant Registrar Ted McCarril said yesterday students enrolled in professional colleges may obtain their grades from their respective deans' offices.

Second semester registration was completed yesterday when an estimated 700 new students registered at Iowa Union. Any students who have not completed their registration may do so by calling at the registrar's office for materials, having advisers sign and approve the materials and returning them to the office.

With their work facilitated by the new IBM card system, the registrar's staff will submit second semester registration figures to the president's office this afternoon.

Class rolls will be sent to departmental heads by Monday, McCarril said.

Adopt Soil Measures

The six AAA farm soil conservation practices adopted by Johnson county farmers and the county AAA committee last week have been approved by the Iowa production marketing administration. Raymond Smalley, county AAA chairman, said the 1947 practices were accepted by Albert J. Loveland, chairman of the state PMA in Des Moines.

Game Licenses

County Recorder R. J. (Dick) Jones issued 119 fishing and hunting licenses totaling $128.50 during January. That includes 25 resident fishing licenses, 75 resident hunting licenses, and 19 combination hunting and fishing permits.

FOERSTER ASKS DIVORCE

D. B. Foerster filed suit yesterday for divorce from Elizabeth L. Foerster on a cruelty charge. The couple was married in 1944 in Shelton, Conn. Swisher and Swisher represent the plaintiff.

Tickets Still Available For Lecture, Concert

Tickets are still available at the Iowa Union desk for the university symphony orchestra concert and for the university lecture by Explorer Vilhjalmur Stefansson.

Only a few tickets remain for the Wednesday night concert in the Union main lounge. Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the music department, will conduct the orchestra.

Stefansson will speak at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Union lounge. His topic will be "New Frontiers of Peace and War." Students may obtain free tickets by presenting identification cards at the Union desk.

Beaux 'n' Arrows Next University Party To Be Informal

"Beaux 'n' Arrows", an all university Valentine party, sponsored by Union Board, will be held Saturday, February 15, in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

Tickets, costing 1.50, tax included, will go on sale Monday morning at 8 o'clock at the Union desk. Larry Barrett and his orchestra will provide music from 9 until 12 midnight for the first informal party of the second semester.

Committee for the dance includes: program, Gwenn Oppenheimer, A3 of Marshalltown, and James Cook, D3 of Williamsburg; decorations, Bernadine Thompson, N4 of Van Horn; Paul Oldam, C3 of Burlington, and Cook; publicity, Warren Covert, G of Iowa City; Jeanne Wheeler, C4 of Webster, and George Cebuhar, C2 of Centerville; intermission tea; Kay Kirby, M4 of New Haven, Conn., and Dorothy Kottemann, A4 of Burlington.

Robert Martin, A2 of Hamburg, is designing the programs and the backdrop. It will feature red and white designs on a black background.

Expect Dimes Drive To Hit $2,500 Mark

Pending final tabulations and a block of dimes program next Saturday if weather permits, the local 1947 March of Dimes drive will total $2,500.

Atty. John E. Taylor, campaign chairman, disclosed yesterday that theater donations amounted to about $1,600, Friday's dance netted $400 and boxes yielded $300. Lodge and club contributions not yet turned in are expected to swell the total to $2,500, Taylor said.

No definite goal was set for this year's drive, which was sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The 1946 campaign, also under Jaycee direction, netted $2,726.

If next Saturday's weather proves satisfactory, additional solicitations to raise a block-long line of dimes will be made in conjunction with the exhibition of an iron lung on Washington street.

Taylor expects to make a tentative report on this year's polio-fund activity at tonight's meeting of the Jaycees.

10 Pay $1 Fines

Ten persons paid $1 parking fines yesterday at the police station.

They were Mary Wallace, R.A. Riggs, Harold Oldschmidt, John A. Hostettler, Paul Mutchler, V.B. Bontrager, Putnam Welding service (2), Marcus Bates, Cedar Rapids; W. Ziegelsky, Ainsworth, and Mrs. Lawrence Murphy, Rock Island.

Incredible Captivator

Breathe yourself in this wholly captivating fragrance. Dry perfume is the fadeless fragrance—the perfume that incredibly reaches its full flower as it clings to warm, glowing skin. Use this gossamer powder the same as liquid perfume. Pat its silky smoothness behind your ear; on arms, neck, shoulders. It will keep you delectable—beyond reckoning!

Baez-Camargo to Lead Religious Seminars

Seminar leader for discussions on Interracial Understanding during Religion in Life week will be Prof. Gonzalo Baez-Camargo of Mexico. He is one of the team of speakers to be on campus during the week of Feb. 9-14.

Baez-Camargo is manager of the Union publishing house and has been Mexico's delegate to many international religious councils.

Students who registered for his afternoon seminar on Interracial Understanding will meet today at 4 p. m. in conference room 2, Iowa Union to decide which aspects of the topic they wish to consider with Baez-Camargo. Other groups scheduled to meet today are the Fundamentals of Faith group, meeting in YMCA rooms, and Religion and Science in the YWCA rooms.

Helen Zimmerman, executive committee chairman, pointed out that Religion in Life week this year will not emphasize large meetings but will concentrate on many small discussion groups such as the seminars, "bull sessions," personal conferences and classroom sessions.

Student leaders for each of the six seminars include Pat Seymour, Tom McCracken, Gene

GONZALO BAEZ-CAMARGO

Krause, Art Lambert, Bill Cupp and Glenn Fisher.

Most of the speakers will arrive Saturday for a retreat with the general committees for Religion in Life week. Some of the leaders are scheduled to speak in Iowa City churches Sunday but formal opening of the week's activities will be marked by a convocation Sunday night at 8 o'clock in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

will be led by Mrs. E. P. Bradshaw.

KIWANIS—Col. W. W. Jenna, of the military department, will address the Kiwanis club today at the noon luncheon at Hotel Jefferson. His subject will be "George Washington and National Defense."

A graduate of the U. S. Military academy, Col. Jenna served in the Balkans during World War I and in the far east during World War II. He joined the faculty of the university in July, 1946.

JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE—A former inmate of Buchenwald concentration camp will relate his experiences to the Junior Chamber of Commerce at its 7 p. m. meeting Tues. in Hotel Jefferson.

Michael Flack, who in 1940 headed for the university with a scholarship from Prague Czechoslovakia, but who didn't show up until last November, will be the speaker. Taken prisoner by SS troopers when his country was invaded, Flack was imprisoned in Buchenwald, escaped and hid out until he finally became an American army interpreter.

CSA—A hard-times Valentine party for members of the Czechoslovakian Society of America and their friends will be held Feb. 15 at 8:30 p. m. in the CSA hall. Proceeds from the public card party and food sale to be sponsored Sunday by the organization will go to a milk fund for Czechoslovakian children, not toward improvement of the CSA hall as previously announced.

IOWA DAMES—The University of Iowa Dames club will hold a business meeting tonight at 7:30 in conference room 1, Iowa Union.

TAILFEATHERS—There will be a general meeting today at 4:30, conference room 1, Iowa Union. Discussion will include planning of programs for the next three basketball games and selection of new members.

Fraternity Rush System To Be Explained Tonight

A meeting to explain the fraternity system to all prospective rushees was changed from last night to tonight at 7:30 in room 221A, Schaeffer hall.

The change was made because of conflict with a meeting for all new students last night in Macbride auditorium.

Approximately 65 men signed up for rushing yesterday at Iowa Union as rush week started. Men may register for rushing through the rest of the week at the fraternity business office in the old dental building.

Hurryin' Indiana Hoosiers Rush Past Wolves, 55-42

Second Loss For Michigan In Big Nine

BLOOMINGTON, IND. (AP)—Indiana's Hurryin' Hoosiers scored the first basket and led all the way last night to defeat the Michigan Wolverines, 55 to 42, and further complicate the Big Nine's tandem basketball race. It was Indiana's fourth victory in six league starts and Michigan's second loss in five hoop games.

Forward Ralph Hamilton scored 15 points for Indiana and Freshman Lou Watson, Hoosier guard, added 14. Skinny Mack Suprunowicz, Michigan forward, topped the losers with 14 points.

Indiana got off to a 20-14 lead but the Wolverines rallied to trail by only two points, 23-21, at the half. The Hoosiers spurred again after recess and were coasting as the game ended.

Michigan lost three regulars on personal fouls late in the game—Center Bill Roberts, Guard Bob Harrison and Capt. Pete Elliott, guard.

A crowd of 9,300 pulled for an Indiana victory in hope that the Hoosiers could climb into a first-place tie in the Big Nine race, but Wisconsin's 60-53 victory over Iowa kept the Badgers out front.

Officials tooted like boatwain's mates in the ragged first half and called 43 personal fouls in the course of the game. Twenty-six of the penalties were against Michigan.

Indiana's blocking offense worried the Wolverines from the start and the Hoosiers might have made it a rout had they been hitting from the free throw line. The I.U. cagers converted only 15 of 33 charity shots. Michigan also was inaccurate from the gratis stripe, making only eight of 18 free throws.

Michigan's defense was not as good as it has been in the past. Dr. Eddie Anderson, head football coach, indicated yesterday that spring football drills will probably start next week.

Tentative plans call for the first practice session to be held Monday but the field house will be open all this week for the purpose of checking out equipment.

IOWA GAME—

that set up his second half spree. The officials were calling close and didn't miss a dirty look. The Badgers in the first half counted 12 of their 26 points on free throws. Iowa profited from one technical foul called on the rabid crowd.

Wisconsin averaged 288 percent with 17 baskets in 59 attempts while Iowa hit 200 percent with only 19 baskets in 95 attempts. Iowa out scored the Badgers from the field 19-17 baskets.

Clayton Wilkinson scored from the field in the first 15 seconds, giving Iowa a 2-0 lead. Cook followed with a free throw for Wisconsin. Dick Ives offset it with a gift shot, making the count 31 in the first minute.

Cook hit another gift, but Ives collected both of his charity efforts, running the score to 5-2. Mills sank a free toss for the Badgers and Cook came through with his first goal, deadlocking the score at 5-5.

Herb Wilkinson hit from outside the foul lane, unraveling the knot for a 7-5 Hawk margin. Menzel followed with a free attempt for the Badgers and tied the score at 7-all with another gift shot after 7½ minutes. Cook rebounded one through to shove Wisconsin in front for the first time at 9-7.

Iowa, playing slow, cautious basketball, again tied the count on Clay Wilkinson's short poke. Wier entered the game after nine minutes for Ives, while Selbo made one of two free shots, giving the Badgers a 10-9 lead.

Cook slammed one in from the side to bulge the margin with eight minutes left. And Wier hit a single charity attempt, closing the margin to 12-10.

Haarlow, replacing Mills at the Badger pivot, registered two free throws, as Floyd Magnusson entered the Hawk lineup. Little Wier hurried into the offensive zone and scored for the Hawks, dropping the Wisconsin advantage to 14-12. But Selbo pocketed a free throw for the Badgers.

With 6½ minutes left Selbo again bucketed a free shot, increasing the lead to 16-12. Cook scored from outside the lane, hiking the margin to 18-12. Haarlow counted a gift, lifting the Badger margin to 19-12. Then Haarlow hit his fourth free attempt. Wisconsin had an eight-point lead with 3½ minutes remaining in the first half.

Haarlow made his fifth free shot to run the margin to 21-12. Wier took a hook pass from Magnusson and slammed in his favorite overhead to close the Badger lead to 21-14. And Leonard "Red" Metcalfe hit a charity effort, followed by Wier's basket on Jack Spencer's long down court pass.

Wier roared into the offensive zone again and piled in another hook at high speed, narrowing the Wisconsin lead to 21-19. Haarlow scored his sixth free throw with a minute left in the half, and Menzel shoved in a goal from the side.

The Hawks counter-attacked with Spencer hitting from cross-country, narrowing the gap to 24-21. But Haarlow spanked in a pivot from underneath just before the half to give the Big Nine leaders a 26-21 intermission lead.

The Badgers were limited to 21 shots at the hoop in the opening 20 minutes, making six of them for a 29 percent average. The Hawks shot 48 times and hit just nine in the first half.

Herb Wilkinson dribbled underneath to score for the Hawks after 1½ minutes of the second half. Wier hit from the side to resume his hot pace and knock the margin to 26-25. Haarlow registered his seventh free throw for a 27-25 Wisconsin lead.

Wier scored again to deadlock things at 27-all. Cook slammed home a single free attempt and Selbo did the same thing to nudge the Badgers to 29-27 after four minutes.

Cook's side shot dipped in for a 31-27 Wisconsin margin. Wier made one of two free throws, but Lautenbach hit from long distance to hike the edge to 33-28. Wier counted again for Iowa, cutting it to 33-30.

Menzel scored from outside the gift lane, shoving the Badgers ahead at 35-30. Spencer pivoted and rammed one in to narrow the margin to 35-32. With 10 minutes left, Haarlow sank his eighth free throw but Herb Wilkinson scored, narrowing the edge to 36-34. Mills hit two free shots for a 38-34 Badger margin with nine minutes.

Tempo of play quickened as Wier cut into the scoring zone and was fouled. He made both attempts. Clay Wilkinson was fouled by Mills as the Hawk rebounded off his own basket. It was Mills' fifth personal. Clay made one of two free efforts to slice the margin 37-37.

Herb Wilkinson hit a free chance on a Badger crowd technical and knotted the score at 38-all. Then Clay again potted a gift, giving the Hawks a 39-38 lead. But Lautenbach reversed it to 40-39 for Wisconsin with a short basket. Cook hit from the side and added a free throw, lifting the lead to 43-39.

Lautenbach increased the margin to 45-39 with a short goal. Wier sliced it to 45-41. Ives committed his fifth foul with 5½ minutes left, and Selbo hit both charity tosses. Wier scored two gift shots, cutting the lead to 47-43. But Lautenbach blasted in another from side court, making it 49-43. Herb Wilkinson offset it with a fast-break basket.

Wier, hitting a torrid scoring tempo, knifed the Badger margin to 49-47. Lautenbach scored again from out side the lane for Wisconsin, but Wier hammered in another, cutting it to 51-49. Lautenbach swished from the side as the Badgers led 53-49 with two minutes.

Selbo scored a free throw as the Wisconsin lead soared to 54-49. Haarlow made it 54-49 on a gift as Herb Wilkinson left on personals with one minute to go. Menzel registered on a fast break, boosting the Badger margin to 57-49. Haarlow sank another free effort

Marians Tip St. Peter's

Eddie Rocca sparked a fast St. Mary's team to victory last night when they met and defeated St. Peter's of Keokuk, 33-28, at the Catholic Diocese basketball tournament being held in Davenport.

St. Mary's lagged at the end of the first quarter with St. Peter's leading 8-3. By the time the half-time whistle sounded St. Mary's had found their stride and had matched the ball game 15-15. The third quarter found St. Mary's in the lead spot with a narrow 5 point margin, 25-20.

The Ramblers, defending champions in the Catholic Diocese tournament, will play the winner of the game between a favored St. Ambrose of Davenport and Westport.

High pointers for the Marians were Don Mahar, center, who led with 10 points, Buzz Mottet, forward, and Flannery, guard, both with seven points.

St. Peter's scoring was topped by Calvert, guard, with 11 points, Ron, forward nine points, and Nelson, guard, with five points.

for a 58-49 lead with 35 seconds left. Dave Danner rebounded to score for the Hawkeyes. Haarlow took a long pass to score for the Badgers, making it 60-51. Danner hit a free throw for the final tally at 60-53.

New Library Hours Listed

A change in weekend library hours for Macbride reading room, reserve reading room and the art library was announced yesterday by Prof. Ralph Ellsworth, director of university libraries.

Beginning Feb. 9, all three of the above libraries will be open from 2 to 6 p.m. each Sunday. The libraries will all close at 6 p.m. Saturdays.

Previously, only Macbride was open Sunday afternoons, and it was open only from 2 to 5 p.m.

Ellsworth said that judging from the experience of last semester, the Sunday afternoon period represents the time when most students seem to want to use libraries.

There was very little demand on the libraries Saturday nights, he added, and in addition it is difficult to find student assistants to work Saturday nights.

Ellsworth said he would appreciate knowing the student reaction to the change.

Holmes Sleuthing Tactics Aid Research at Delphi, Archaeologist Declares

Research "of the Sherlock Holmes variety," Dr. George Karo told his audience in the art building auditorium last night, has aided archaeologists in tracing the synthesis of Doric and Ionic art at Delphi.

The site of the ancient oracle, Delphi was the pivot point of Greek art in the sixth and seventh centuries B.C., the German archaeologist stated.

Recent discoveries have not only given some idea of the immense treasures once gathered at the sanctuary of Apollo in Delphi, but have also shown that nineteenth century criticisms of historians such as Herodotus the Greek, are unjustified, according to Dr. Karo.

After leaving Germany as a refugee in 1939, Dr. Karo taught as a visiting professor in this country at Oberlin college in Ohio, the University of Cincinnati and the University of Kansas City.

His appearance here was sponsored by the art and classics departments in cooperation with the Archaeological Institute of America.

$3 Million in U. S. Bonds Sold in County

Over $3 million in United States savings bonds were sold in Johnson county during 1946, according to Roger F. Warin, state director of the savings bonds division of the treasury department.

Johnson county sales reached $3,353,002, with approximately two million dollars being in Series E bonds.

Six counties had sales exceeding $6 million. They were Polk, Linn, Woodbury, Scott, Dubuque and Blackhawk. Sixty-nine other counties invested more than one million dollars in bonds.

Arrested, Sentenced To Life in One Day, Man to Get Retrial

WASHINGTON (AP)—Reopening a 14-year-old murder case, the supreme court ruled yesterday that Rene de Meerleer—arrested, convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment in one day—should get a new trial because he had no lawyer.

The unanimous decision, attorneys said, may open the gates to a flood of appeals from prisoners who similarly had no counsel.

The de Meerleer decision, presented without a signed and detailed opinion, reversed the Michigan supreme court. That court had upheld the trial court at Adrian, Mich., in rejecting a delayed motion for a new trial.

De Meerleer, 17 years old at the time, was charged with the robbery slaying of a gasoline station attendant, and within one day was sentenced to life imprisonment—only three days after the crime.

The supreme court said he was "hurried through unfamiliar legal proceedings without a word being said in his defense."

"At no time," the court added, "was assistance of counsel offered or mentioned to him, nor was he appraised of the consequences of his (guilty) plea. Under the holdings of this court, petitioner (de Meerleer) was deprived of rights essential to a fair hearing under the federal constitution."

Edmund E. Shepherd, Michigan solicitor general, argued that Circuit Judge G. Arthur Rathburn followed Michigan law and the findings of the supreme court of the United States made up to that time. He said he was "not particularly happy" about the case but Michigan law does not require the circuit court to provide counsel in case of a guilty plea unless there is a request for legal aid.

Brownell Hospitalized For Stomach Operation

J. D. Brownell, 54, was reported in "satisfactory" condition last night in University hospital after an operation for a ruptured peptic ulcer suffered yesterday morning while he was working on the Riverdale barrack-apartments project.

Employed by the Metcalfe-Hamilton construction company, Brownell was fitting pipes on a water heater when stricken as he put pressure on his wrench. He was taken to the hospital about 10:30 a.m., and a stomach operation was performed.

Hospital authorities said his seizure was not necessarily the result of Brownell's activity. His condition, they explained, was such that "it probably would have happened anyway."

Brownell lives at 911 E. Bloomington street.

RIVER BOAT BURNS

HONG KONG, Tuesday (AP)—The river boat Saigon, plying between Hong Kong and Canton, caught fire at her wharf this morning with estimates of the dead ranging from 400 to 200.

They Braved the Breeze for a Barracks

COLD DAY FOR MOVING though it was, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Breka lost no time yesterday transporting their belongings and small son David to their new home in one of the 24 barracks-apartments turned over to the university last Friday by the federal public housing authority. Thirty-six more of the 680 units were officially accepted by the university yesterday. These 36 units should be ready for occupancy by this weekend, when the university will have connected water heaters and cooking and heating stoves, and will have done some last-minute cleaning.

St. Joseph's Drops Shamrocks, 48-37

The Shamrocks of St. Patrick's high school dropped out of the Davenport Diocese tournament last night when they took a 48-37 beating at the hands of St. Joseph of Ft. Madison.

A combination of poor shooting from close in plus a sharpshooting center from Ft. Madison spelled the difference for the Irish. Time and time again St. Patrick's missed easy shots that were costly. But while St. Patrick's was cold, Ping, St. Joseph pivot man, was red-hot. He used a one-handed hook shot that split the netting seven times.

The Shamrocks trailed 11-5 at the first quarter and fell behind 22-12 at halftime. Jerry Megan and Bill Seemuth supplied the offensive for St. Patrick's with 14 and 10 points respectively.

Crisler Talks Terms With Bear Officials

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler of Michigan, No. 1 prospect to become athletic director and head football coach at the University of California, arrived yesterday to talk terms with California officials.

He came by plane from Texas where he attended a meeting of the National Football rules committee and where he was contacted yesterday by California President Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul and Brutus Hamilton, acting graduate manager.

Crisler told reporters they asked him to come to Berkeley to discuss the job vacated last fall by Frank Wickhorst in a discharge generated by student-alumni dissatisfaction over a seven-loss-two-victory season.

If Crisler makes the jump, sports fans speculated he will have to get much more than did Wickhorst, who drew a reported $10,000.

Death Notices

Robert W. Campbell
Funeral services for Robert W. Campbell, 66, who died at his farm home seven miles west of Iowa City yesterday, will be held at the Oathout funeral home Wednesday at 2 p.m. with the Rev. James E. Waery officiating. Mr. Campbell had been ill several weeks.

Mr. Campbell is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mildred, who lives at home; two sons, Donald and Roland, both of Oxford; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Lewis and Mrs. Jennie Bresse, Iowa City, and Mrs. Maggie Taylor, Tiffin; one brother, John, Tiffin, and three grandchildren.

Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Mrs. Morris Worton

Mrs. Morris Worton, who came to Iowa City from Kobryn, Russia, 25 years ago, died at 4 a.m. yesterday at her home, 402 E. Church street after a short illness.

She is survived by her husband, three sons, Samuel J., and Herman, both of Iowa City, and Charles, New York; two daughters, Mrs. Rose Druker, Marshalltown, and Mrs. Josephine Kallinsky, Russia, and one grandchild. A sister and one brother preceded her in death.

The body is at Beckman's funeral home. Funeral services will be held at the Worton home today at 10:30 a.m. with burial in the Jewish cemetery.

Mrs. Frank Kindl

Funeral services for Mrs. Frank Kindl, 78, 728 E. Davenport, will be held at the Hohenschuh mortuary Wednesday at 2 p.m. with the Rev. A.C. Proehl officiating.

She died at Mercy hospital yesterday after a two-day illness.

Lawyers Get Paid For Patton Trial

Johnson county supervisors yesterday allowed one-third of a bill submitted by Edward L. O'Connor, special assistant county attorney in the state's case against William Patton, and the entire sum asked by Clair Hamilton, defense attorney.

O'Connor was granted $407.04 of a $1,221.13 bill he submitted for work at the grand jury hearing and in the courtroom.

Hamilton's bill for $145.70 included $20 for each of six days in court, (a sum set by Iowa statute), $25 for a scale drawing of the Patton home, and 70 cents for a phone call.

Both Hamilton and O'Connor were appointed by Judge Harold D. Evans—Hamilton at Patton's request and O'Connor at the request of County Attorney Jack C. White.

Pleads Guilty to Spying

NEW YORK (AP)—Five years after the Kurt Frederick Ludwig Nazi spy ring was smashed, its paymaster, 44-year-old Teodoro Erdmann Lau, pleaded guilty in Federal court Monday.

He faces a possible maximum term of 20 years at his sentencing Tuesday.

Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

A resident of Iowa City for most of her life, Mrs. Kindl was a member of Women of the Moose Eagle lodge, Royal neighbors, Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary, and Iola Council 54, Degree of Poehantons.

She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. W. D. Mass, Jennings, La., and several nieces and nephews.

INTO THEIR NEW HOME at 182 Riverside Park go the Breka's, led by David, pushing the very essential scooter. The Breka's formerly lived at 11 Hawkeye village and were high on the priority list for assignment to the new barracks-apartments. Sixty of the 680 units have already been turned over to the university, and the whole project is slated for completion by April 30. Forty-eight of the units completed are located between Riverdale trailer camp and the Riverdale lagoons. The other 12 are in Newton park, west of University hospitals.
