Senate Body Votes OPA $22-Million

Subcommittee Action Now Faces Review By Full Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate appropriations subcommittee voted 6 to 5 yesterday to give the OPA $22,000,000 to wind up all of its affairs by June 30.

Chairman Bridges (R-N.H.) told reporters the subcommittee's decision possibly may be reversed today when the full committee considers another measure approved by the house carrying a much lower figure for OPA.

Bridges said the subcommittee agreed to restore $9,000,000 in previous appropriations which the house had ordered the OPA to return to the treasury.

In addition, he said the subcommittee approved an expenditure of $1,000,000 for terminal leave for OPA employees who will go off the payroll. He said a total of $3,727,000 was allowed for liquidation expenses.

The effect of the vote, Bridges said, was to give the OPA $9,000,000 with which to carry on its actual operations for the next four months, compared with the $10,000,000 which OPA officials had said would be necessary.

Bureau Notes Halt In Rise of Living Costs Last Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — A ten-month steady rise in the cost of living came to a halt in January, the bureau of labor statistics reported yesterday. Its figures suggested, however, that a new advance might be in store.

The bureau said the cost of living index as of January 15 is about a tenth of one percent lower than the post war peak of mid-December. The decline reflected a decrease in food costs.

All other items in the cost of living index, such as clothing, fuel, electricity, household furnishings and services, increased during the month.

While the mid-January statistics were the latest available on the cost of living, the labor bureau reported that its index of wholesale prices covering about 900 food and non-food items reached a record level last week.

This was the second consecutive week to rise to a record height. It might mean higher prices at retail stores unless housewives balk at paying them.

Agriculture department officials expressed confidence that the general level of food costs will not climb back to the postwar peak of last November despite recent increases in prices of hogs and some grains.

They said they foresee a gradual decline in food prices this year, although there may be occasional minor fluctuations caused by temporary market shortages of some items.

The mid-January cost of living index was reported by the labor bureau at 153.1 percent of the 1933-39 average compared with 153.3 in mid-December and with 153.9 in January 1946, when most prices were still under OPA control.

The mid-January index of food prices was 183.8 percent of the 1933-39 level compared with 185.9 in mid-December and with 141 in January a year ago.

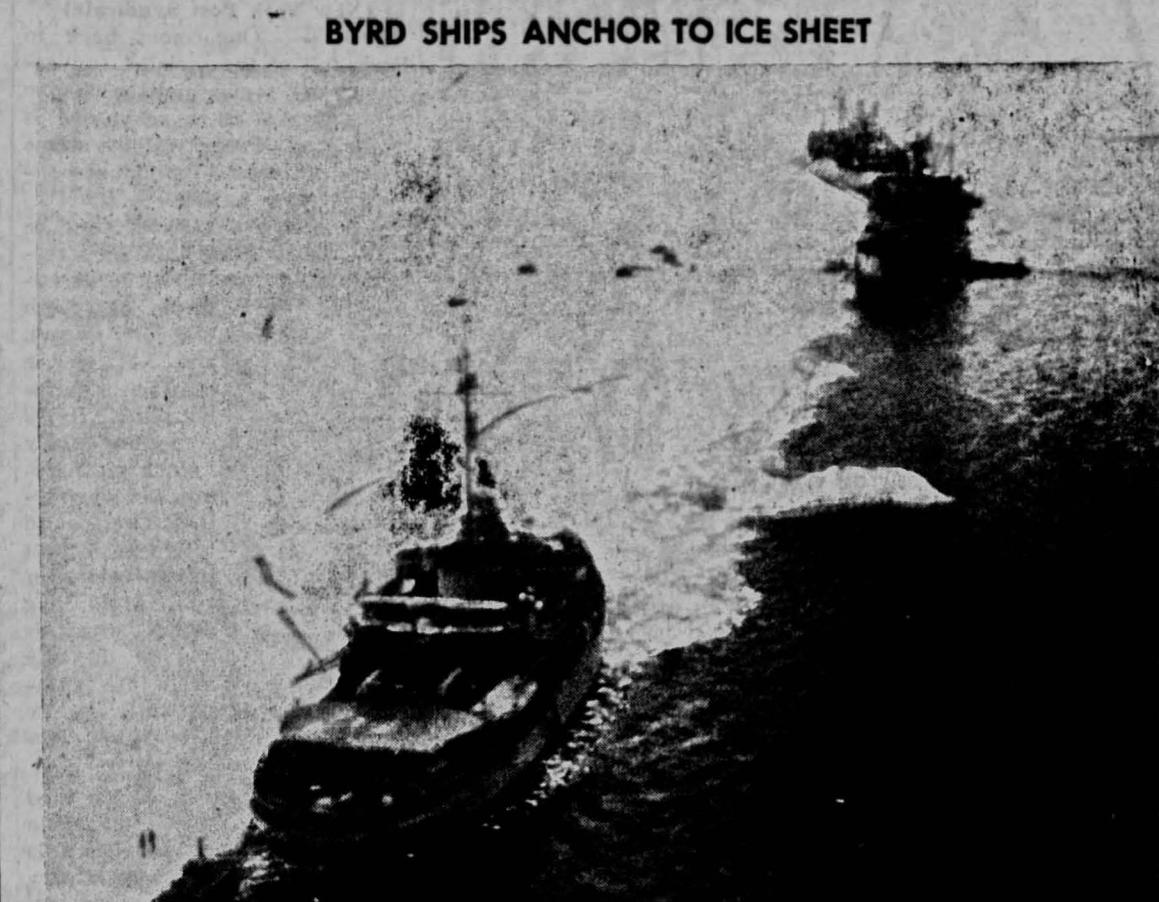

U.S. Policy Practices Alarming—Wherry

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry (R-Neb.) last night asserted the practice of making domestic policies subservient to foreign policy is a "wholly new and alarming development" in the United States government.

In an address prepared for the Cornbelt Livestock Feeders Association, Wherry contended "the history of the reciprocal trade treaties is a case in point."

"Under the law not a thing can be done with these treaties, not an appeal can be taken until six months after the treaty has been signed. Then an industry can come in and complain but only by showing specific damage or injury."

He recommended restoration of the functions of the tariff commission "to their former importance."

Marshall Subpoena Withdrawn After Report on Russians Given

WASHINGTON (AP) — A house subpoena was issued yesterday for Marshall to appear today with all the correspondence with Moscow on the subject.

But Bradley, chairman of the full committee, stepped in with a crack about headline-hunting and a holt before the house sergeant at arms, William F. Russell, could serve it.

Marshall spoke by telephone with Weichel and sent Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson to Russia and not returned, issued

Union Chiefs Accuse Senate Labor Group of 'Red-Baiting'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Angry recharging "Red baiting" by the senate labor committee, three leaders of the CIO Electrical Workers yesterday firmly denied they are communists.

Separately, at a stormy session on pending labor legislation, the union officers flung their denials in this manner:

President Albert J. Fitzgerald to Senator Ball (R-Minn): "Do you want to ask me whether I am a communist. I am not."

James J. Maties, director of organization, said: "I do not happen to be one."

Julius Emspak, secretary-treasurer—"Before you ask the question, the answer is no."

Then Fitzgerald said: "I have seen one of the finest examples of red-baiting here this morning!"

Senators Taft (R-Ohio) and Ball (R-Minn) raised the question of communism shortly after Fitzgerald started reading a statement opposing all labor bills before the committee.

The question of communism in labor unions was raised also before the house committee on un-American affairs, where Floyd D. Lucia, an employee of the Allis-Chalmers company in Wisconsin, said a costly 10-month strike apparently was "Communist inspired."

Lucia said that there were not over 25 Communists and 25 fellow travelers in the union there, local 248 of the CIO-United Auto Workers, but that they "dominate" the union.

He testified that the union once adopted a resolution asking that President Truman turn over the atom bomb to Russia, and that shortly after V-J day strike talk arose on the ground that "Russia didn't need our aid" with the war over. Lucia is now an active member of a rival, independent union.

Taft set off the senate committee fireworks by asking Fitzgerald why his union had revoked the charter of a local at Bridgeport, Conn., for voting to expel 27 members on charges they either were Communists or Communist sympathizers.

Fitzgerald said he was opposed to barring "Communists, Socialists, Democrats, Republicans or anyone else" from union membership. He declared the union's constitution prohibits discrimination on any racial, political or religious grounds.

Maties and Emspak took the witness stand after Ball had in-

Ask $475-Million To Feed Germans

British to Back American Pact On Germany

LONDON (AP) — British foreign secretary Ernest Bevin reaffirmed yesterday British-American solidarity despite "misunderstanding" over Palestine. He said Britain would support at the Moscow conference the American proposal for a 25-year four-power pact to insure German demilitarization.

In the only reference to the storm aroused in the United States by his charge that President Truman had wrecked negotiations for a Palestine settlement by issuing a statement during the 1946 congressional election campaign, Bevin told the house of commons:

"While there may have been some misunderstanding over the matter debated in this house two days ago; this is a matter which stands by itself. On all questions our relations with the United States are of the most cordial character, and we for our part will not allow any wedge to be driven between the two countries to disturb our friendship."

On March 18, 1946, the United States broached the subject of a settlement for the ships.

On April 22 the Soviets replied that they would discuss the matter in a general lend-lease settlement.

On September 14, the state department answered that it would be glad to have a lend-lease settlement but wanted to discuss the matter of the ships separately.

On October 31 the department requested a reply and suggested the Russians either buy the ships or return them. Again no reply.

On December 31 Ambassador

Walter Bedell Smith sent a note to the subject to Foreign Minister Molotov. Still no reply.

Weichel told reporters this information makes his subpoena unnecessary. Bradley had protested that Marshall "has a lot of other things on his mind more important than those damn ships."

Weichel, former Erie County (Ohio) prosecutor and president of the Ohio Prosecuting Attorneys association, explained the move was no reflection on Marshall but was "just a formal procedure" to obtain information.

"It's a formal way of making headlines," Bradley snapped.

"After all, I'm chairman of this committee and ought to have something to say about it."

The upshot was that Bradley and Weichel arranged a conference with Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson to get the information without using the subpoena.

Aim At Freight Car Production Record To Relieve Rail Equipment Shortage

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's steel companies and freight car builders were committed to the most ambitious car building program in 20 years yesterday, a move to relieve a critical rail equipment shortage that has tied up shipments, retarded some industrial production and forced workers into temporary idleness.

Hoover said also that he hoped the pending British-French treaty would be signed "soon." Reliable reports from Paris said that Bevin and French Foreign Minister George Bidault would sign the pact at a port on the French channel coast next Wednesday.

The proposal for a 25-year mutual assistance pact by Britain, Russia, France and the United States to insure German demilitarization was made at the Paris peace conference last April by James F. Byrnes, then U.S. secretary of state. It would provide for four-power occupation of Germany for a quarter century after the present military occupation ends.

It's a formal way of making headlines," Bradley snapped.

"After all, I'm chairman of this committee and ought to have something to say about it."

The upshot was that Bradley and Weichel arranged a conference with Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson to get the information without using the subpoena.

C. R. Drivers Charge Breach of Contract

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP) — Cedar

Rapids City Lines bus drivers yesterday charged the company with breach of contract and declared they will strike on Mar. 5 unless the condition is remedied before that time.

Spokesmen for the AFL union said that attempts to negotiate a new contract have been unnecessarily delayed by failure of the company's arbitrator to appear in Cedar Rapids. The strike vote was taken at 1 p.m. yesterday, with only one member dissenting.

The drivers ask a 45-cent hourly wage increase and changes in working conditions, union officials said, and specifically object to overcrowding of buses.

Eisler Indicted For Contempt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gerhart Eisler, alleged mastermind of American Communism, was indicted for contempt of congress yesterday while further measures were drafted against him and his party.

1. Chairman Thomas (R-N.J.) on the house committee on un-American activities announced the justice department is studying possible prosecution of the Communist party on charges of violating the corrupt practices act. This law requires political parties to report contributions and expenditures.

2. Thomas told the house his committee is preparing 15 measures aimed at "eliminating American activities."

3. He introduced one committee bill which would create a "federal loyalty commission" to investigate any government worker whose loyalty is doubted. The commission could order the employee discharged immediately. The worker then could appeal to the commission, but not to a court or any other authority.

The committee on un-American activities seeks Eisler's prosecution on charges of conspiracy to overthrow the government, perjury, income tax evasion and passport falsification.

Hoover estimated that supplies which Great Britain and this country would have to furnish for the 41,700,000 German civilians in their combined occupation zones would cost $384,000,000 for the first six months of this year and $567,000,000 in the fiscal year beginning next July 1. Each nation would pay half of the costs.

President Truman's budget for the current fiscal year carries $556,000,000 for food in all occupied countries, including Japan, and $645,000,000 is proposed in the budget for the 1947-48 year. A deficiency appears in the 1946-47 year now is before congress.

The war department said it could not break down the figures for each occupied country.

The former president painted a gloomy picture of the present economy in the Reich. He said an expert with his mission visited Italy, France, Belgium, Holland and Britain and found the nutritional condition in those countries "nearly prewar normal."

The Sad Story of the Deserted Primary

When only 20 people voted in the primary at Mason City Tuesday, the story got statewide coverage. It should have. The election cost the city $20 a vote.

Here in Iowa City we had a primary election, too. Ours wasn't as expensive as Mason City's because 872 people voted. It was reported "a large turnout" because two years ago only 295 votes were polled.

Nevertheless, when only 872 people out of at least 10,000 who are eligible bother to vote for the candidates for city offices, we have cause for alarm.

What's wrong? Certainly in an intellectually alive spot like Iowa City we should be able to interest more than 872 people in city government. Political scientists say our low vote in the primary is symptomatic of what is happening all over Iowa. The primary is being deserted. One of these days, they say, we are going to find our state legislature ruling out the primary completely because as it now stands it is a sham and a mockery.

This would be a valid criticism of the whole city if we hadn't had the fifth ward. There three men ran on each party's ticket, but still only 329 people bothered to go to the polls.

If this should happen we would be set back 40 years in our political history. We would have no alternative but the old convention system which would turn Iowa City's government over to party machines.

What we have to work with is the primary, a good system

Argentina in the A-Bomb Business Now

The Senate is still arguing about who shall supervise the control of atomic energy at home. The United States and Russia are engaged in an academic dispute over the use of the veto in international atomic development control.

And while the disagreements occupy the center of attention, Argentina is proceeding, almost unnoticed, with a large scale nuclear-research program, aimed quite frankly at military development.

We have been inclined to dismiss Argentina as a minor irritant that could easily be taken care of if it got out of hand. Her venture into atomic research, however, doesn't look like the bluff of a small nation trying to act like a big one.

Argentina has the materials and the money to carry it off. She has one European atomic expert and is angling for more men with the technical and scientific knowledge necessary to carry out the project.

A large vein of uranium-bearing ore was discovered in western Argentina in November. Even before this, three smaller deposits were being worked. Estimates of the new source, which is located in a series of hydroelectric plant sites, indicated that it will rank with the more important known radioactive deposits in the world. And, like all other, uranium and thorium deposits, the new find has been placed under government control for national defense.

To provide for carrying on the necessary research, three bills have been introduced in the Argentine congress in the past few months. The first would create a national institute to push scientific investigations, "especially those related to atomic energy." A second measure calls for the setting up of a superior institute of scientific investigations to be controlled directly by the president — which will do research in the sciences, including nuclear physics. The third bill is designed to start an intensive program for the training of Argentine scientists in nuclear physics.

First introduced in open sessions, these bills have now been reclassified as "secret military legislation."

Efforts to import Professor Heisenberg, Nobel-prize-winning German nuclear scientist, to work for the Argentine atomic research program, seem to have failed. But there are other atomic scientists in the world, and three can play at fishing for them as well as two.

This doesn't mean that we need to start suspecting every South American carrying a bag. Atomic bombs cannot be perfected overnight by Argentina any more than anyone else. But intensified atomic research by a military dictatorship is not something to be taken lightly. When that government is one which was never too unfriendly with the late, defeated Axis and is still harboring agents of our former enemies, it looks even worse.

The experts have said that it would be years before any other nation could catch up with the United States and discover the know-how of the atomic bomb. It has also been commonly assumed that if any one else did make the bomb it would be a large and powerful country. This presumably leaves plenty of time for proposals and counter-proposals, and the leisurely setting up of a control system satisfactory in every detail to all concerned.

A look at what is going on in Argentina should convince anyone of the need for acting quickly to get a control system functioning. We must concentrate on the broad areas of agreement that already exist, instead of quibbling over fine points. And it must be done soon. Argentina is proving that it is really much later than we think.

But there's another little detail that will really give you trouble. The liquor bill now says that taverns would be forbidden to have any tables, chairs, booths, or screens and all drinking would have to be done at the bar. Watch that one.

If, like a lot of people, you don't particularly care about tossing off a quick one at the bar, you're probably unhappy now. But there's even more to it than that.

Just think about it for a minute. No tables, chairs or booths and everybody drinking at the bar. What does that sound like? That's right, it sounds like the old saloon. Now think again. What is the one thing that most of the anti-liquor people have been using as their argument against the return of the old saloon?

And if this present set-up goes through, they'll really have something to argue about.

In general there's no reason why a tavern or cocktail bar can't be a respectable place. With proper management and adequate supervision a cocktail bar does not necessarily become either an eyesore or a raucous "den of iniquity."

But if a liquor dispensing establishment is forced to operate without tables, chairs or booths and with everyone jammed at the bar it almost automatically starts out as an eyesore, and because of the type of person who would be content to frequent such places, it's a pretty sure thing that such establishments would soon become pretty raucous.

It would almost seem that the people who voted the liquor-by-the-drink bill through the senate were trying to kill it.

But then it's a little early to get too excited about the situation. Maybe it won't get the house, and then we'll have nothing to worry about. We'll be right back where we started from.

8 SU Instructors To Attend Chicago Comm Skills Meet

Eight University of Iowa faculty members will attend a communication skills conference in Chicago today and tomorrow.

The meeting is sponsored jointly by the Speech Association of America and the National Council of Teachers of English.

John C. Gerber, assistant professor in the University of Iowa English department, will be one of the principal speakers at a session tomorrow devoted to "Testing and Evaluation."

The convention is designed to give college teachers from all sections of the country an opportunity to compare views regarding courses that combine oral and written composition. Co-chairmen in charge of the convention are Paul D. Bagwell of Michigan State college and Porter G. Perrin of College university.

Representing the University of Iowa are Louella M. Wright and Alexander Kern, both assistant professors of English. The following communication skills instructors will also attend the meeting: Donald C. Streeter, Adelbert T. Clark, Thomas R. Lewis, LoRene Lenthe, and Helen Price.

University Club Announces Program

The March program for the University club has been announced by Mrs. F.G. Higbee, chairman. Activities scheduled in the clubrooms at Iowa Union are:

Mar. 4— Party bridge will be played at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Carl Menzer will be chairman.

Mar. 6— Kensington craft tea will be held from 2 until 5 p.m. There will be a general business meeting at 3:30 p.m. Mrs. Robert T. Sears and Mrs. Hunter Rouse will be in charge.

Mar. 11— Luncheon at 12 noon with Mrs. L.A. Opstad in charge. Mrs. George Glockler will speak on "March Festivals" and Leo Cortimiglia will provide accordion music. Susan Winter will play the flute accompanied by Mitchell Andrews. Partner bridge will be played after the program.

Mar. 13— A tea from 3 until 5:30 p.m. with Mrs. Earl Smith in charge. Prof. Everett Hall will sing Gilbert and Sullivan songs, accompanied by Mrs. Herald Stark.

Mar. 16— Husbands are invited to the 7:30 p.m. party for which Mrs. E.T. Peterson is chairman. The program will include a performance by the Scottish Highlanders and colored movies will be shown.

Mar. 25— Partner bridge will be played at 2 p.m. Mrs. Carl Menzer will be chairman.

Audience Will Learn About Iowa's Crippled

The public will have a chance to hear about physically handicapped children next Tuesday evening at 7:30.

The Iowa Chapter of the American Physio-Therapy association has invited the public to attend their meeting in the third floor medical amphitheater at University hospital, March 4.

The association feels there is a definite need for the public to be informed of conditions and improvements needed in caring for physically handicapped children.

There will be a discussion period during which the audience can ask questions.

Speeches by Prof. Charles Strother, Mrs. Cecilia Rohret and Mrs. Dorothy Phillips will precede the discussion period.

Professor Strother is with the clinical psychology department at the university. Mrs. Rohret is medical social consultant on state services for crippled children and Mrs. Phillips is executive secretary of the Iowa Society for Crippled Children and the Disabled.

Careful, Fella's Coeds to Criticize 'Joe's' Attire

Hey, fellas—wanta know what color polka dots flatter your tux and which socks to choose to set off your "boondockers?"

If so, tune in on WSUI at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow and listen to Edythe Rosenthal's "Ask the Girls" program.

Miss Rosenthal expects her revenge to be sweet when she and three student guests tear apart the sloppy "Joe Colleges" on campus.

It seems some of the fellows on the WSUI staff have been giving her the needle.

Pantomime

She says they stand around and pantomime her reducing and fashion advice after the regular Saturday morning programs.

Students who will assist her in putting an end to the uncouth males' belly-laughs and leg slapping are Chloe Anne Schutte, A4 of Pine Bluff, Ark.; Ruth Hammer, A3 of Sioux City, and Virginia Burt, A1 of Ottumwa.

These women are members of the WSUI college board which was made up specifically for the "Ask the Girls" program. Representatives are chosen from each women's housing unit.

Real Purpose

"The real purpose of the round-table discussion," Miss Rosenthal explained, "will be to offer constructive criticism."

Nevertheless, it is expected that some pet peeves and gripes will get considerable airing when the women set out to convert the average "Joe" to a page out of Esquire.

Alpha Tau Omega Lists Fourteen New Pledges

Fourteen men have been pledged by Alpha Tau Omega, social fraternity. They are:

Paul H. Bender, A1 of Waterloo; Ronald R. Coats, A2 of Victor; Kenneth F. Donohue, A of Sioux City; Kenneth E. Eastley, A of Marshalltown; Jack W. Fitzgerald, A1 of Adair; Richard Johnson, A2 of Red Oak; Paul F. Kinsey, A4 of Des Moines.

Eugene L. Meade, A1 of Oxford; Cleatus J. Owens, A2 of Cresco; Charles J. Schneider, A1 of Garner; Norman Sloan, A2 of Sioux City; John M. Smith, A2 of Sioux City; Merrill W. Turner, A1 of Centerville, and Jack E. Winegardner, A1 of Ankeny.

Railroads get about one-fourth of their operating revenue from hauling agricultural products.

JOINING IN A JIVE SESSION in the River room of Iowa Union are (left to right) Eileen Serschen, Ginni Foster, Marjorie Miller and Marilyn Foster, vocalists for Nat William's Quadrangle orchestra. Nat Williams is at the piano. The band will make its first formal appearance at the Quad dance from 9-12 tonight in the Union lounge.

Campus Libraries Poorly Lighted, But Brighter Days Are on the Way

By WAYNE SCHAKEL

Do your eyes bother you during those occasional moments of study at one of the campus libraries?

It may be you, or it may be caused by inadequate lighting facilities found in a number of those study places.

Back in 1941, G. R. Parizek, assistant superintendent of planning and construction, surveyed campus libraries and found an average lighting efficiency of 4.75 foot candles per square foot. Foot candles are the standard engineer's measure of lighting efficiency, and ideal conditions are considered to be those which approach a reading of 20 foot candles per square foot.

Plans were made then to better lighting, through modernization of equipment, to an average of 13.9 foot candles for all libraries, or about a 400 percent improvement.

But the war and its accompanying shortages of material and labor brought a stop to the improvement program.

The program would have cost about $50,000 at that time, Parizek estimates, but would have decreased kilowatt consumption from 88,86 to 53,76. Total usage of electricity in all libraries would have been lowered from 154.1 to 129.97 kilowatts.

Most library lighting remains as it has been for many years, but the material and labor bottleneck plus a budget that is not wholly adequate, still prevents the improvement program from being carried through. Still another factor is that the proposed general library, now in the planning stage, will replace a number of present library reading rooms. Hence, university officials do not want to spend money on rooms that will be replaced soon by the new structure.

Plans are for the new library to eliminate use of the present library annex and all reading

The ancient Phoenicians were a Semitic people.

Rooms in Schaeffer and Macbride halls.

Maintenance work has been especially heavy this year, too, according to R. J. Phillips, superintendent of maintenance and operation; and with equally pressing work requirements in other parts of the university, his staff has not been able to spend as much time on library lighting improvements as he would like.

However, a change-over to a temporary fluorescent lighting scheme has already been accomplished in the campus course and engineering building libraries, dental building library, circulation desk in the main reading room of the library at Macbride hall, and graduate desk spaces in Macbride and the education library.

These changes have brought about improvement approximating that suggested after the 1941 survey, but have been "expedited and temporary" rather than ideal and permanent, according to Parizek.

Next library scheduled for lighting improvement is the foreign language library in Schaeffer hall, but Phillips points out that this change, too, will depend on availability of material and labor.

A rough average of light intensity in a cross-section of the libraries surveyed by Parizek in 1941 follows, with suggested improvements listed after each reading. Readings were taken at table height and all are listed in foot candles.

Foreign language library reading room. Present: 2 to 7. Suggested: 13 to 21.

General library. Present: 10 to 15. Suggested: 13 to 21.

Medical library. Present: 3 to 5. Suggested: 13 to 25.

Law library. Present: 3 to 5. Suggested: 11 to 15.

These improvements are considered adequate for all practical needs.

The ancient Phoenicians were a Semitic people.

Stowe Lecture Tickets Ready at Union Today

Tickets for Tuesday's Leland Stowe lecture may be obtained on a "first come, first serve" basis beginning at 8 a.m. today at the main desk of Iowa Union.

Stowe, author and foreign correspondent, will speak on "Citizenship in the Modern World."

There will be no charge for any of the 1,800 tickets, according to Sybil Hanson, secretary to Dr. Earl E. Harper, Union director.

Soprano and Tuba Player To Give Student Recital

A soprano and a tuba player will be presented by the music department in the 25th of the current student recital series this evening at 7:30 in north music hall.

Shirley Remer will sing two groups of songs by Handel, Brahms, Massenet, Strauss, Rubenstein and Sibella. She will be accompanied by Marion Pantel.

Ralph Drollinger, tuba soloist, will play compositions by Cohen, Schroen-Spencer and Gotteman-Ball. Drollinger's accompanist will be Ruth Collister.

Elkader Holds Smallest Centennial Observance

ELKADER (AP)—The Elkader University of Iowa alumni chapter received word yesterday that its 17-member centennial observance session this week was the smallest such formal meeting held by an Iowa U. alumni group.

The University of Iowa also advised the Elkader alumni that theirs was the smallest of any city in which a formal observance was held. A talk by William Becker, local druggist who graduated from the Iowa U. college of pharmacy in 1891, featured the meeting.

The Stars and Stripes was first authorized as the American flag by act of congress, June 14, 1777.

Hear A Whoosh? Just Another Meteor, Iowa-Bound

Have you looked in your backyard for a meteorite?

Probably not, for the idea sounds fantastic; yet if you are a resident of Iowa you'd better think twice the next time you see a falling star. More freshly fallen meteorites have been found in Iowa and neighboring states than all other states combined.

This does not mean that your life is endangered, or that your precious car is likely to be blasted out of the garage some night, for almost no occurrences of this nature are on record. But you can get a good scare.

Few eye-witnesses remain who remember the terror caused by the Amana meteor which fell about 10:00 p.m. on Lincoln's birthday, 1875, at Homestead, Iowa.

The meteor, which was so bright its light could scarcely be tolerated by the naked eye, crashed to the earth with a deafening roar. Yelping dogs and terrified livestock scurried for shelter, as a cavity 2 by 7 miles was torn in the earth. Many thought there was an earthquake, the violence was so great, but no one was injured.

The stones were collected and studied by professors at Iowa University. Our only tangible source of knowledge of the universe beyond us, these stones have great scientific value.

Now don't hurry out to get meteor insurance, or go around picking up gray stones that you believe are meteorites. Wait for the real thing. Remember that it can happen again, anytime.

Informal Sorority Rushing Gets Under Way Monday

Informal sorority rushing will begin Monday, according to Shirley Ferrell, president of the women's Panhellenic association.

Those eligible for rushing are women who participated in formal rushing but did not pledge membership and those who registered for informal rushing last fall.

Any prospective rushee who wishes to take part in informal rushing must register with Helen Focht in the office of student affairs. Prospective rushers must have completed one semester at the university with a 2.0 grade average.

Informal rushing and pledging will continue throughout the semester.

Seven Candidates File Petitions for March School Board Jobs

Filing of school board nomination papers by two persons yesterday brought the total of candidates to seven as a 12 noon filing deadline approached today.

Lowell L. Kriek, 837 Maggard and Mrs. Lois C. Kriek, his wife, submitted the required papers to Charles Gailher, board secretary. Kriek is a watchman for a local poultry company.

Others competing for two school board vacancies in the March 10 election are Earl Y. Sangster, an incumbent director; Mrs. Helen L. Mott, also incumbent; Dr. Wayne C. Enderby, 741 Oakland avenue, and Prof. Gordon Marsh of the zoology department. The three-year terms of Sangster and Mrs. Mott expire March 17.

Glenne Grifield, board treasurer, also is running for another two-year term.

Incumbent members whose terms do not expire include Mrs. H.L. Beye, Glenn D. Devine, Clark R. Caldwell, H.H. Gibbs and John P. Kelly.

Judges, clerks and registrars for the independent school district's annual election also were announced yesterday. Judges will be W.J. Weber, Mrs. B.R. Thomas and Al J. Huff. Clerks are Mrs. Sara Bowman and Mrs. S.A. Fitzgerald. Registrars include Mrs. Nettie Gill, Mabel Davis, Mrs. Dorothy Spencer, Mrs. T.P. Christensen, Mrs. Rex Day, Mrs. Mary Faherty, Mrs. Amelia Hildenebrandt.

Voting will take place in the City hall from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. March 10. All registered voters who are citizens of Iowa City may participate.

Historical Society Knows the Answers

By PAUL McCARTHY

Do you have an Indian you'd like to trace?

One Iowa High school principal did have—and she got enough information from the State Historical society on Blackhawk Chief himself to enable her art students to decorate dramatic settings with sketches of the old chief.

This principal at East Waterloo high was only one of many Iowans—most of whom represented schools, women's clubs or other civic groups—who used information they got from the society as bases for their state centennial programs or skits.

Superintendent Ethyl E. Martin recalls that the society, during the centennial year, even became involved in a contest sponsored by the Iowa Federation of Women's clubs.

Historical society staff members replied to a request of the women's clubs federation and supplied the club officials with pictures of various state landmarks to be used as centennial covers on their quarterly magazine.

Pictures selected were of Old Capitol, Floyd monument at Sioux City, Antoine Le Claire, one of the first Iowa residents, and Blackhawk, the Indian chief.

Money prizes were awarded to the first persons to send in answers identifying the covers correctly. But Miss Martin remembers more clearly the more surprising answers, such as the one which mistook Old Capitol for the Old Zion church at Burlington.

Other questions sent in during the year varied from people who wanted to know "all about Iowa history" and those who merely wanted replicas of the state seal or the Iowa flag.

Frank R. Bragg Given Divorce, Custody of Son

Frank R. Bragg was given a divorce from Betty J. Bragg yesterday in district court by Judge James P. Gaffney. Bragg charged "cruel and inhuman treatment."

Custody of a son, Larry Leroy, was given to Bragg. Judge Gaffney also ordered that "neither party shall have right to marry for one year."

Mrs. Bragg did not appear in court.

Vets Dealt Five Aces by Insurance Act

Uncle Sam has dealt the ex-GI a new hand in the insurance game. The veteran who threw in his old hand will find this one has five aces in it. And it isn't a misdeal.

Dealt by congress in the form of a recent act, this hand allows the veteran to take advantage of the protection offered by National Service Life Insurance.

The aces are described by William J. Doherty, in charge of the Iowa City Veterans Administration Contact office, as follows:

(1) A six-month extension (until August 1, 1947) of the time in which a veteran may reinstate his lapsed term insurance.

The old deadline was February 1.

(2) No physical examination is necessary if the veteran is in as good health now as at the time his insurance lapsed.

This discounts the normal wear and tear of this hectic civilian life.

All the veteran has to do to reinstate his insurance is to pay two monthly premiums.

(3) A veteran may now obtain any of the permanent NSLI plans even though he never held any term insurance.

This makes it possible for every ex-GI to take out $10,000 worth of government insurance.

(4) For a veteran who becomes totally disabled for a period of six or more consecutive months, premiums are waived during the continuance of the total disability.

A veteran can convert his term policy to any type of permanent plan, except an endowment plan, even though premiums are waived.

Doherty pointed out that this particularly benefits those veterans affected mentally and (or) physically.

(5) A totally disabled holder of term insurance may find it automatically converted to a permanent plan in certain cases.

Veterans can reinstate their National Service Life Insurance at any Veterans Administration office; or at any veteran's service organization, Doherty explained. The local Veterans Contact office is located in room 203, Iowa State Bank and Trust building.

Few veterans can afford not to play the game, Doherty said. The chips (premiums) are still the original low price, and, with a hand like this, the veteran is bound to be the winner, Doherty said.

The old deadline was February 1.

Harry Goodrich Funeral Today at Beckman's

Funeral services for Harry Goodrich, 67, former owner of the Washington hotel, will be held at Beckman's at 2 p.m. tomorrow with Dr. L. L. Dunnington officiating. Goodrich died in Mercy hospital Wednesday night of a heart attack.

Surviving are his wife, Stella Guthrie Goodrich; two sons, Robert of Spokane, Wash., and Paul of Wheaton, Ill.; his stepmother, Mrs. Elmira J. Goodrich of Humboldt, and a sister, Mrs. Elmer Lindhart of Humboldt. One son, Dr. James P. Goodrich, preceded him in death in 1944.

Goodrich was active in YMCA work until his retirement in 1941. He had lived in Iowa City for six years.

Hillcrest Announces One Bridge Finalist Team

One of two bridge teams to play in the final match of the Hillcrest bridge tournament was announced today by Allan Richards, C4 of Whiting, chairman of the tournament committee.

The team is composed of Howard F. McNeer, A3 of Mt. Ayr, and William Murdock, G of Carrollton. Within the next few days they will play the other winning team of the double elimination tourney.

The Hillcrest team winning the final contest will play the winners of the Quadrangle bridge tournament. Winners of this competition will gain custody of the Quad-Crest cup.

Police Chief Says

Dog Catcher Needed

Iowa City really needs a dog catcher, according to Police Chief Ollie White. "We answered 440 dog complaints last year," he said.

This is 68 more than the total number of licensed dogs in Iowa City.

"From these calls we took a monthly average of more than four stray dogs to the university medical laboratories," the chief pointed out.

And just as surely as the garden season comes around, dog complaints hit the ceiling, he added.

But if a complainant wants an offending canine removed from his premises, he must catch the animal and have it ready for the police when they arrive.

"We can't spend time chasing dogs all over town," said the chief.

If a dog is wearing a license tag when taken into custody, every effort is made to locate his owner. If unidentified, the dog is given to the university medical laboratories for such a deal.

Since there are no facilities for keeping dogs at the police station,

Luther Five In Rebellion

WAHOO, Neb. (AP)—Luther college basketball players, protesting cancellation of a game with Augustana at Rock Island, Ill., this weekend as a health measure, last night refused to appear against Central college of McPherson, Kans., before an already assembled crowd and forfeited the game.

Luther President Floyd E. Lauerson said the faculty athletic committee, acting on doctors' advice, had cancelled the trip to Augustana because of the prevalence of strep throat. He added that two regular players were among those affected. The committee felt, he said, that the long trip would contribute to the hazard and that it would be more difficult to combat any illness that might develop while the team was away from home.

While an assembled crowd waited for the start of last night's game, Lauerson said, the team called him to the dressing room and asked that the committee decision be reversed. When he told them he had no authority to overrule the committee, they declined to play last night's game.

Lauerson praised the team's spirit through the season and said last night's incident came as a surprise to him. Admissions were refunded and the game declared forfeited.

Hawketts Hit Franklin Tonight in Title Bout

With the Mississippi Valley cage title practically in their hip pocket, the Iowa City high cagers close their conference schedule this weekend with road games at Cedar Rapids and Dubuque.

To sew up the loop laurels, the Hawketts must win one of the titles which are against foes that have fallen to them earlier in the season at the City high gym.

Tonight at 8:30 o'clock the Little Hawks face the Cedar Rapids city champion Franklin quiffet at the Coe college court. The Thunderbolts threw a terrific scare into the Hawketts in the earlier game before succumbing, 33-31.

To meet the challenge of the Franklin five, Hawket Coach Gil Wilson has shifted Jerry Dunham to forward and put Sonny Dean back at his familiar guard post. Dunham will add height to the forecourt while Dean's addition to the backcourt will reunite the star guard combination of Dean and Jim Sangster.

The Little Hawks will be facing one of the hottest forwards in this part of the state in Bob Hoff who is second in the league scoring race. Hoff put on a great offensive show in the previous encounter of the two teams, putting 20 points mostly on long one-handed shots.

Lose on Falls As Scarpello, Hanson Win

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Illinois wrestling team, defending Big Nine champions, last night defeated the University of Iowa squad, 16 to 12, before 3,500 fans. The victory was Illinois fourth in a row and it was Iowa's first loss.

Both teams won four bouts, but the Illini won on pins in the 145 and 155-pound classes to capture the team victory.

Norm Anthonisen, of Illinois, defending conference champion at 175 pounds, suffered his first defeat of the year when Joe Scarpello won a 6 to 3 AAU champ in 1942.

Board, Room Rates Increased For Summer, 1947-48 Terms

Increased board and room rates for university housing units for the 1947 summer session and the academic year 1947-48 were announced yesterday by President Virgil M. Hancher.

The new rates have been approved by the finance committee of the state board of education. Housing rates for married couples were not affected by the increase, the president said.

Laid to Higher Costs

Increases, which ranged up to $90, were attributed to higher costs of labor, supplies and food. Non-academic university personnel have received two increases in pay since last June, Administrative Dean Allie Dakin pointed out.

He added that the necessity of fixing rates a year in advance put the university at a disadvantage when the cost of living began to skyrocket last June.

New rates include the following:

FOR SUMMER SESSIONS
Boarding dormitories	8-week session	4-week vacation session	3-week ind. study session	13-week law session

HOOVER—

(Continued from page 1) great mass of Germans not concerned in the Nazi conspiracy," the report said, "can now have no misgivings, for all of them—in food, warmth and shelter—have been sunk to the lowest level known in a hundred years of western history.

"If western civilization is to survive in Europe, it must also survive in Germany. And it must be built into a cooperative member of that civilization. That indeed is the hope of any lasting peace."

Plan To Better Diet

The report pointed out that Great Britain and the United States planned to increase the normal 1,550 calories-a-day for civilians in their zones by adding 250 calories "at some undetermined date."

The world shortage in cereals makes such an increase impossible until after the 1947 harvest, Hoover said. He proposed a different program designed "to repair the weakest spots in the nutritional situation."

These spots, he said, were children over 6 years of age, adolescents and adults in the "normal consumer" group entitled to the basic 1,550 calories a day. Many of these persons are in "deplorable" condition, Hoover said.

For the children, he proposed that army surplus 10-in-1 rations and certain other surplus army stocks be used along with some of the meats and fats from 5,000,000 head of livestock to be slaughtered this year to lessen animal consumption of ground crops.

To help the "normal consumers," he suggested that a portion of them be advanced to the category of heavy workers entitled to extra rations and that an emergency supply of cereals be allotted

German welfare organizations for home relief and soup kitchens.

In support of the program for these two groups, he urged that the deficiency appropriation which he said would be necessary in the current fiscal year include provision for an emergency supply of 65,000 tons of cereals and shipments of 400,000 tons of surplus potatoes from this country.

By 1950, the report pointed out, the United States and Great Britain believe that revived German exports in the two zones will pay for all necessary imports, and taxpayers of the two countries will not be called on for further outlays.

Boy Scouts To Take Canada Canoe Trip

A 10-day canoe trip through the lakes of upper Minnesota and Ontario, Canada, is in prospect for senior scouts of the Iowa River Valley council.

The camping and activities committee of the council has approved the "wilderness canoe trails" trip and reservations have been made for a group of 10 persons to leave sometime in August. Applications for the trip will be accepted on a "first come, first serve" basis.

The scouts will use a canoe base camp located near Ely, Minn., following wilderness trails in the Superior National forest in Minnesota and the Quetico Park area in Ontario, Canada in canoes.

The entire trip will take 14 days. A meeting is proposed in the near future according to George R. Gragg, scout executive, to outline the trip. Further information may be secured at Boy Scout headquarters.

Denmark, a nation of less than four million people, was the world's fourth most important builder of ships before World War II.

Jenna Says Strength Greatest Talking Point At Conference Table

Col. W. W. Jenna last night drew upon the statements of historical and contemporary figures to back his contention that preparedness for war does not mean war. He addressed a general meeting of ADA on the question "Does Preparedness for War Mean War?"

"We are discussing theory," Colonel Jenna declared. He said the question could not be answered on a practical basis because "we've never been prepared for any war."

A majority of the questions asked were prefaced with statements of belief that "peace must be preserved in the field of politics first." One of the audience said: "I prefer to put my faith in the United Nations rather than the military power of the United States."

Jenna replied that he too would be glad to see some sort of government of law that would be acceptable to all the people of the world.

"But we haven't got that yet," he pointed out. "Strength is still the greatest talking point at any conference table."

The atom bomb came in its share of discussion when Jenna was asked if he thought it would be used in the event of another war.

"We didn't use gas in this war," he said, but added that this did not necessarily imply a similar action would be taken in the case of the atomic bomb.

"Your bombs, your guided missiles are terrible. Yes, but I don't think there is anything in the world yet," said Jenna, "that can crush the entire nation, or a part of the nation large enough to render it important to strike back."

A "trained citizenry" he thinks could stand up against an attack of that kind. It is on these grounds that he believes universal military training would be effective in case of another war.

Modifications of Rulings On Heating Gas Become Effective Here Today

Modifications of Iowa City space heating gas restrictions will go into effect tomorrow. The modifications were announced at a meeting of Iowa City heating contractors and heating equipment dealers yesterday.

The new restrictions require that applications for gas heating equipment be filed with the concern which is handling the installation.

In case of private homes and small businesses, equipment will be provided if gas mains are accessible. In case of large industries, installment approvals will depend upon the urgency of the need.

Original restrictions effected last August, were necessary because of the shortage of main line gas pipe needed in 1946 to expand the pipeline which runs from Texas to the midwestern area.

Local Police Hold AWOL Pending FBI Orders

A confessed army deserter yesterday was sent to the county jail pending FBI orders.

The man, Pvt. L. A. White, 18, Belle Plain soldier, surrendered to local police. He said he had left his camp at Boca Raton, Fla., on Labor day, 1946, and that he spent two months at Arcadia, Fla., before coming to Iowa City to work.

Representatives Seek Changes in Rules On Student Life Code

The university committee on student life will receive today recommendations for three changes in rules of the Code on Student Life.

The recommendations were formulated last night at a Mortar Board-sponsored meeting of about 45 university students who represented university housing units and other student organizations.

Major changes recommended included deletion of the section which states that "there shall be no conflict with university parties" and revision of the section which provides that "men shall not be in women's houses before 4 p.m. on weekdays."

SUGGEST 12 NOON

The students, who discussed several university social regulations, voted to recommend that this time limit should be moved up to 12 noon so that men would be allowed to study in women's housing units during the afternoon.

Chairman of the meeting, Betty Erickson Vaughn, said the students voted unanimously in favor of abolishing the rule, forbidding parties which conflict with university parties.

The consensus was, according to Mrs. Vaughn, that this ruling is not justified since university parties can accommodate only 800 of the university's 10,000 students.

The groups, which met as three separate units to facilitate discussion, also voted that the rule stating that "dances are allowed Friday and Saturday only" be changed to read "dances are recomended to read "dances are recommended to be held on Friday and Saturday only."

Among the encores were the delightful waltz from "Der Rosenkavalier" and the "Coronation Scene" from Mossorgsky's "Boris Godunoff."

Luboschutz and Nemenoff received the most applause of the evening for their outstanding arrangements of "Largo El Factotum" from "Barber of Seville," and "Pastoral," a vixenish polka by Shostakovich, and de Falla's "Ritual Fire Dance."

Among the encores were the delightful waltz from "Der Rosenkavalier" and the "Coronation Scene" from Mossorgsky's "Boris Godunoff."

There was nothing these ears could find wrong with the performance. If anything about the performance stood out, it was the hard, bright clarity of the tones which came from two pianos which sounded as one.

This clarity showed itself from the 18th century Vivaldi and Mozart—in which it might have been expected—to the much more complex harmonies of Shostakovich—which some pianists, uno and duo, produced with a blurred result.

If there was a high point in the program, it was Rachmaninoff's Suite No. 2. In the exquisite craftsmanship of Rachmaninoff's creation, we had another revelation that Rachmaninoff is much more than a composer of familiar "warhorse" melodies.

Other compositions on the remended on Friday and Saturday nights only.

APPROVE OF TWO

Votes of approval were accorded the regulations providing that women should not be in men's houses after hours and that no beer, wine or intoxicating beverages may be served at any student party.

Mrs. Vaughn will present the group's recommendation to the committee on student life for their consideration at their meeting this afternoon.

Jury Awards Cocking $1,375 Damage Suit

W. Glen Cocking was awarded $1,375 in Johnson county district court yesterday in his $5,850 damage suit against J. F. and Robert J. Connell.

The jury reached its verdict in the case after four hours of deliberation.
