Vote 1 Percent Debt Payment

Senate Unanimously Okays Plan to Reduce Debt by $2.6 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate voted yesterday to take a one percent nibble out of the public debt with part of the money it figures on saving in trimming President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) said the one percent payment—$2,600,000,000—sets up a goal of paying off the whole $260,000,000,000 in 100 years.

Knowland had wanted to set aside $3,000,000,000 toward debt reduction. Senator Taft (R-Ohio) wanted to hold the figure to $1,000,000,000 so as to leave more leeway for translating budget cuts into income tax cuts.

The compromise on $2,600,000,000, advanced by Senator Millican (R-Colo.), prevailed handsomely, 82 to 0.

A little later the Democrats, with some Republican help, overturned the Republican majority for the first time in the 80th congress and the Republican leadership quickly got the senate adjourned. Still pending was final action on a proposal to cut Mr. Truman's budget by $4,500,000,000.

The sequence was this: Senator Wherry (Neb.) offered an amendment to require that any revenue from surplus property sales be applied on the debt.

Taft proposed to add to the Wherry amendment a clause making it clear that this debt payment would be counted as part of the $2,600,000,000.

Senator Tydings (D-Md.) led the Democrats in opposition to Taft and stalled announcement of a 38 to 38 tie vote until Senator Taylor (D-Idaho) rushed into the chamber—still in his overcoat—to provide the one-vote margin.

Five republicans—Aiken (Vt.), Cooper (Ky.), Morse (Ore.), Tobey (N.H.), and Wilson (Iowa)—voted with the Democrats against the Taft proposal. Senator O'Daniel (D-Texas) voted with the majority of the Republicans.

Taft had told the senate that unless the provision was adopted it might be difficult to plan a reduction in income taxes.

Majority Leader White (R-Me.) promptly adjourned the senate without coming to a final vote on either the Wherry amendment or the budget cutting resolution.

The house has voted to hold spending in the new fiscal year to $31,500,000,000—$6,000,000,000 under Mr. Truman's estimate.

Before the brief display of Democratic power, the senate rejected 49 to 33 a proposal by Senator Green (D-R.I.) that all surplus revenues be applied to debt reduction.

Senate to Ask:

Why No Negotiations to Avert Possible Spring Coal Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Capehart (R-Ind.) said yesterday the senate commerce committee will summon government officials, mine owners and John L. Lewis before it soon to learn why no negotiations are under way to head off a possible coal strike this spring.

Capehart told reporters that Chairman White (R-Me.) agreed to hold the committee hearing after the Indiana senator showed him a letter from Lewis asserting that no overtures had been made to his United Mine Workers regarding a new contract.

The miners are under instructions from Lewis to work until March 31, which might mean a new strike then unless he extends the work order. He set the deadline when he called off last fall's strike in the midst of his legal battle with the government over his right to end the UMW's contract with the government.

In that battle Lewis and his union were fined $3,510,000 for contempt of court. The supreme court is now considering Lewis' appeal.

Meanwhile, Capehart sent Lewis a series of questions asking generally what was being done to keep the miners working under contract.

The senator made public the unions chief's reply which said:

Kill OPA June 30 Says Senate Body By 11 to 2 Ballot

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate appropriations committee yesterday voted 11 to 2 to bury OPA by June 30 but members said controls over rent, sugar and rice will continue under other agencies.

"The committee was informed that a rent control bill is ready for early senate consideration," Chairman Bridges (R-NH) told reporters.

Also, he said, "there is a move afoot to transfer sugar and rice controls to the department of agriculture."

Didn't Reduce Payroll Bridges read into the record a letter from Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the house appropriations committee that OPA had "failed to keep faith with the government" in reducing its payroll.

Taber said 1,000 OPA field workers could handle sugar controls and 3,000 rents. Instead, he said, OPA still has 12,000 workers in the field.

The house, in a recent vote, aimed a much harder blow at OPA. It voted to cut $9,000,000 from its current year's appropriation, a move which OPA officials said would put the agency out of business immediately. The final decision may be made in a senate-house conference committee.

Bridges reported the senate committee vote was by a show of hands and that he could not remember how the individual members stood. No record was made.

Cuts Appropriations Far from providing comfort for OPA's old age, the committee whacked $4,000,000 off the $22,000,000 recommended by a subcommittee yesterday for the agency's windup expense. The full committee settled on a final figure of $17,991,815. The vote on this was 8 to 4, again by a non-record ballot.

Bridges said about $7,000,000 will be used to pay employees' terminal leave and the remainder for operating expenses and liquidation purposes.

Famous Last Words: It's Not Loaded

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y. (AP)—While Albert Stiefel, 45-year-old attorney, talked with a woman client in his office yesterday, he took out a gun to illustrate a point in the conversation.

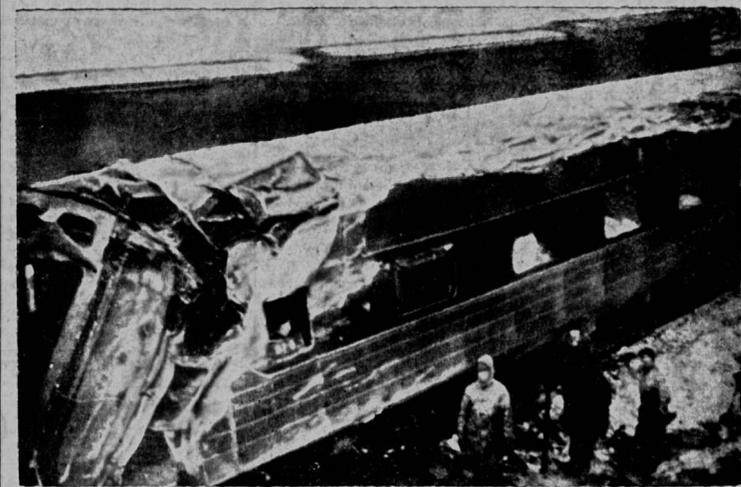

"Be careful," the woman said, "that might be loaded."

He pointed the pistol toward a window and pulled the trigger several times. There was only a series of clicks.

Stiefel then put the gun to his temple and pulled the trigger again, police quoted the woman as saying.

A bullet ripped through his head, killing him instantly.

Committee Rejects President's Choice For TVA Director

WASHINGTON (AP)—A senate committee wrote "no" yesterday across Gordon R. Clapp's nomination to head the Tennessee Valley authority but President Truman signalled for a fight to the finish on the senate floor.

The president told a news conference after the committee acted that he is staying behind Clapp to the finish, just as he is standing beside David E. Lilienthal, nominated for chairman of the atomic energy commission. Clapp, long-time associate of Lilienthal, was named to the latter's TVA directorship.

President Truman praised Clapp warmly as a career public servant and a good one, perfectly fitted for the post. And he recalled that during his own senate service he often saw nominees confirmed after adverse committee reports.

The Public Works committee recommended Clapp's rejection after hearing criticisms similar to those raised against Lilienthal.

Porter Killed, 11 Others Hurt In Runaway Pennsy Sleeper

GALLITZIN, PA. (AP)—A runaway sleeper on the Pennsylvania railroad's New York-to-Texas "Sunshine Special" raced crazily down mountainside tracks in the pre-dawn darkness yesterday, killing a pullman porter as he tugged futilely at the emergency brakes and injuring 11 others.

Its sleepy passengers flattened themselves in the aisles to avoid flying glass during the agonizing three-and-one-half mile backward run, which started after the car broke loose from the train at the crest of the Allegheny mountains while one of its two engines were being cut off.

The wreck occurred a mile and a quarter from Bennington curve where the railroad's "Red Arrow" plunged over an embankment last week, killing 24 and injuring more than 150.

Railroad officials began an immediate investigation into how the car became uncoupled from the train and why both the automatic air brake and hand brakes failed to operate. Railroad policemen, stationed as guards at the scene of the Red Arrow wreck, estimated the car was traveling at approximately 50 miles an hour as it zoomed around Bennington curve. Its mad flight halted when the rear wheels left the rails and plowed into an embankment. The front wheels remained on the tracks, the car staying upright.

The dead porter was identified by the railroad as L. Keys, working out of Houston, Tex. Passengers said he was standing on a rear platform in a vain effort to stop the flight and was crushed as the car hit the hillside.

The injured were taken to Altoona hospitals, which are still crowded with the injured of the Red Arrow disaster. One passenger, Edward Phelps, 34, of West Orange, N.J., was reported in a critical condition.

P-82 Flies 4,978 Miles Non-Stop

NEW YORK (AP)—Betty Jo, the army's sleek twin-engined P-82 fighter plane, swooped into La Guardia field non-stop from Honolulu in 14 hours and 33 minutes yesterday, streaking nearly 5,000 miles over land and sea.

Lt. Col. Robert E. Thacker of El Centro, Calif., the pilot minimized the 4,978-mile flight, long-distance ever flown by a fighter plane, but he said it had proved that fighters could make long distance escort trips.

"There was nothing heroic about it," he told newsmen as he rubbed his tired eyes. "There was nothing to it. Please don't make a hero out of me."

A few hours after the Betty Jo completed its flight, Paul Mantz sped into LaGuardia field from Burbank, Calif. in a P-51 fighter plane, setting a new non-stop transcontinental speed record of six hours, seven minutes and five seconds for single-engined, propeller-driven planes.

Mantz, Bendix race winner last year, said he had averaged about 475 miles an hour, and added: "I lost 40 minutes trying to find New York. After all, I'm only a country boy."

The Betty Jo's long-postponed flight aroused widespread interest. Near the end of the flight a mechanical failure which made it impossible to drop three of her four auxiliary gas tanks jeopardized her New York goal.

The plane sent several messages indicating it might seek to land at other fields. Thacker said he considered coming down at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., when he was bucking 65 mile-an-hour headwinds, but decided to shoot for LaGuardia field after his co-pilot, Lt. John N. Ard of Inglewood, Calif., had insisted: "Colonel, we can do it."

With 60 gallons of gasoline left, the fighter hurtled over the airport here at 10:06 a.m. (CST). The Betty Jo took off from Hickam field at 3:03 p.m. Honolulu time Thursday (7:33 p.m. CST).

Thacker said he made it to the Pacific coast—streaking through good weather—hitting speeds up to 450 miles an hour. One fuel

Single Veterans Spending $85 a Month At Iowa State, According to AVC Survey

AMES (AP)—Single veterans students, who receive $65 a month under the GI Bill of Rights, are spending $84.87 a month, a survey of living costs on the Iowa State college campus by the American Veterans Committee has disclosed.

R.J. Taylor, an instructor in the English department, said in a letter accompanying the survey that it was believed "the figures obtained are pretty close to rock bottom subsistence costs."

The AVC said that none of the 155 veterans interviewed indicated he was able to live on the subsistence allowance paid by the government.

Married veterans with no children, the survey said, were spending $115 a month, married veterans with one child $129 and married veterans with two children $133.60.

The government allowance for a man with one or more dependents is $90 a month. There is no allowance for children.

Taylor said in his letter that the results of the survey will be sent to both senators and representatives.

Opposition to Increase However, opposition to any increase in the government allotments was expressed by some students. Clarence Strock, Sterling, Ill., editor of the student newspaper and a married veteran, observed that the bill of rights was designed to offer aid to veterans and nothing more.

John Ahmann, Sioux City, in an open letter to the AVC said he believed $65 a month was enough and asserted veterans should "forget the gravy train."

$96 a Month at SU1 (According to a poll taken by The Daily Iowan last December, single veteran students at the University of Iowa estimated that it cost them an average of $96 a month to go to school.)

(Married students said it cost them $155 a month and married students with children estimated their expenses at $163 a month.)

Drop in Food Costs Seen by Agriculture Department Officials

WASHINGTON (AP)—Barring a poor crop year, housewives and family breadwinners can look forward to a reduction this year in their grocery bills, agriculture department officials predicted yesterday.

They said also that prices of many non-food items in the family budget must come down if the big volume of the nation's 1947 industrial and agricultural production is to move into consumption and use.

An official department report issued yesterday showed that farm prices on Feb. 15 were at substantially the same level as a month earlier.

This is the way food officials size up the price outlook: The nation now has as large a supply of food as it has had in any February in history and slightly more than at this time last year. Furthermore prospects point to another bumper farm output this year.

On the other hand, retail outlets are offering more non-food items—such as automobiles, refrigerators, household furnishings, etc.—than a year ago. These items are competing with food for about the same number of consumer dollars that were available a year ago.

"In other words," these officials said, "there is a tendency for consumers to divert dollars from food to other goods they could not get earlier. Under such conditions there is nothing in the economic picture to push food prices upward. Instead, they will tend to decline because of a weakening demand."

The civilian production administration expressed a similar view about farm prices in an economic outlook report yesterday which also said that a downward adjustment in the general price structure now appears likely this year.

Beats Attempts To Modify

WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislation virtually outlawing portal-to-portal pay suits received overwhelming house approval yesterday in the first formal test of sentiment on labor measures since the Republicans seized control of congress.

By a rollcall vote of 345 to 46, the house sent the bill to the senate after first crushing attempts to modify clauses giving employers new defensive weapons in any suits brought under minimum wage and hours laws.

Senate sentiment apparently is strong for enactment of some kind of anti-portal pay measure. However, leaders tentatively planned to pigeonhole the house measure temporarily, and take up instead—perhaps next week—a bill which they say is more moderate but has the same general aim: termination of portal pay suits now amounting to $5,785,000,000.

The main features of the house measure would: 1. Close the courts to suits for portal pay unless the claim is based on worker activities for which the employer by past custom or agreement usually paid.

(This would bar, for instance, suits for time spent changing into work clothes unless it was the industry custom to pay for such time.)

2. Give employers the right to claim "good faith" as a defense against suits brought under the minimum wage statutes—the fair labor standards act, the Walsh-Healy act, and the Bacon-Davis act. "Good faith" is in effect a claim of compliance with the law as the employer understood it.

(The fair labor standards act is the law establishing a 40-hour week and a minimum 40-cent-an-hour wage in industries affecting interstate commerce. The other two laws establish working standards on government contracts.)

3. Allow employers to cite past custom, court orders and administrative rulings to back up the claim of acting in good faith.

4. Set one year as the time limit, after the work was done, during which a suit could be brought for any pay allegedly due under the three minimum wage statutes.

5. Give the courts the right to fix the size of the penalty when such suits are successful. Under the present statute, when a worker proves a claim for back wages the courts must award him also damages equal to the amount of back wages.

On the measure 115 Democrats joined 230 Republicans in voting approval, while five Republicans, 50 Democrats and Rep. Marcantonio, American-Labor party member, registered their objection.

Miffed by Reprimand, Student Looses Volley Of Shots at Teacher

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Angered by a reprimand, a 15-year-old boy stood up in his classroom at boy's vocational school yesterday and fired three shots at a panic-stricken teacher.

The shots went wild, and in the brief moment when the youth's gun jammed, the teacher ran from the room, while other students covered under their desks.

Classmates said the youth attempted to reload the revolver, but was unsuccessful and fled. He was apprehended two hours later at his home, and taken into custody by police.

Detective Lt. William Wagner of the homicide squad said the boy, William McHenry of Newark, told police he only wanted to "scare" the teacher, John Hulstrunk, 45, Kearny.

Wagner said Hulstrunk reported he had reprimanded the boy Thursday for rifling lockers, and the lad became resentful.

EDITORIALS:

For an SUJ Young Communist League

Much heat and confusion has flared throughout postwar America over the so-called "Communist" issue. The nation, it seems, is falling into a pattern like that after World War I—a pattern of witch hunts, indiscriminate name-calling and fear tactics.

demn the Communists for working underground until you're blue in the face, but the fact still remains that popular hatred has played a large part in keeping the movement under cover. This is indeed unfortunate, for we feel that the problem would be comparatively simple if the Communists would work in the open and be accepted throughout the country as a perfectly legal political party.

might read: "...that resolution the Young Communist League passed Tuesday is way off base. These are the facts..." A letter the next day from the president of the local organization would reply: "...the Communist position on this matter is perfectly defensible. These are the facts..."

We Don't Believe in 'Tolerating' Negroes

(Reprinted from The Daily Iowan of June 5, 1946) What is this business about "tolerating Negroes"? What do these people mean when they say "I believe in tolerance for the Negro" or "Some of my best friends are colored"?

fought in cavalry and artillery, worked under fire as engineers, flew with the air forces. Nobody argued much about it. These men were Americans, and an American emergency was at hand. And, proud of his new attainment of responsibility, the Negro worked and fought with a new hope, the hope that postwar America would put into practice those ideals so eloquently expressed in our historical documents.

stead of the color of his skin. And without virtual slave-labor, the South just doesn't think it can manage. This black-based southern economy carries its own seeds of destruction. Across the South, where blacks have the vote in theory but never in practice, the Negro vote has been the instrument of political corruption. It was a blank check, to be filled in by unprincipled politicians.

WOULD YOU BE IN FAVOR OF A STATE BOARD IN IOWA TO REVIEW MOVIES BEFORE THEY ARE SHOWN IN PUBLIC THEATERS?

JEAN DRAVES, Los Angeles, Calif.: "No. Censorship is already imposed in Hollywood, but we wouldn't want it to be like Boston."

Draves Bishop

BARBARA BISHOP, Al of Long Beach, Calif.: "No. I believe the choice of movies should be left up to the individual. People have their own tastes."

BILL TANDY, Al of Pella: "No. Films have been censored and I would consider in bad taste."

Tandy Alexander

MRS. ALEXANDER, San Diego, Calif.: "Yes. I have seen shows that I think should have been reviewed before they were shown."

CAROLYN COOK, A2 of Davenport: "No. Movies aren't bad as they are today and as long as they maintain their present standards, I see no need for censorship."

MARILYN DRUMM, A2 of La Porte, Ind.: "Yes. Some pictures I have seen in Iowa City are far below the mind of the college students."

Drumm MacQuillan

JAN MACQUILLAN, A3 of Charles City: "No. I have seen no pictures that I consider obscene and therefore censorship is useless."

Mr. Taft and the Atom

(The Christian Science Monitor) Communism, Mr. Taft seems to indict all who have taken part in this enterprise. He should start with all the other members of the Lillenthal five-man committee, three of them leaders of American industry. He should include Undersecretary Acheson—of whom Moscow has just formally complained—Dr. Bush and Conant, and General Groves. He should add President Truman and Bernard Baruch. Does he mean to condemn all Americans who have supported the effort to obtain international controls?

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

Europe Is Old, But Still Kicking

By SAMUEL GRAFTON New York Post Syndicate PARIS—Americans are people who wander around the continent, shaking their heads and saying, "Europe is dead." Europe is not dead, though it is very old, and in a curious way it derives a certain cynical resilience from its age, very different from the jumpy optimism of youth but very real.

An old French editor talks about the Communists here. "They will grow," he says, "but they will grow only as they become more official and more governmental and more French." He runs his hand over his face. "We have seen all this before," he says. "The Communists will grow, but the price of their growth will be their destruction. The other day they declared in the assembly that they are in favor of free business relations in France."

He may be right or wrong; my only point is that it is almost impossible for an American to think in terms of political process in this way. "The Communists have become responsible for the future of France," says the editor. He is almost laughing now. "This means they want credits, it means they can no longer attack the United States. They will split into right and leftwings."

I ask a Frenchman what Europe needs most and he says, "Credits." "How will you repay them?" I ask him. "I do not know," he says. "You must not ask us to have answers to all our problems. We live with unsolved problems. It is not so hard; one gets used to it. Set up an official category of unsolved problems and put it in that and it will be all right." To an American this seems like treason to logic itself, but the French are old enough to have digested logic too.

This is a very old civilization and it has in it that special unadorned will to live which very old organisms sometimes have. To an American, who takes the progressive view of life, and who cannot believe that a wood violet can be content going on being a wood violet without wanting to be ten percent closer to an orchid each month, it is a little baffling.

An American looks at Czechoslovakia, sees Communists all over the place, and says, "well, Czechoslovakia is gone." A Frenchman says, "they have not collectivized the farms, and as for the factory worker, what difference does it make to him who owns the plant? It is not a great change." An American is always seeing the end of the road, in what, to a European, is an incident in a long story. Europe makes Americans seem nervous.

The other thing is that in Europe the battle between left and right is accepted as a normal part of life, while in America the existence of a left is considered an outrage. There are memories of a thousand years of repression and struggle here, which play a part in this acceptance. Besides Europe has worked through its period of fascist reaction; those who went off readily into fits at the sight of a leftist have swung from every gibbet on the continent, and this particular type of response has been thinned out.

It may be the absence of this sort of reaction what in America would seem extreme provocation that makes some visitors feel Europe is dead. They didn't feel it was dead ten years ago, when only fascists could use the sidewalks.

It isn't dead; it has an ability to accept life, without illusion, that is even a little terrifying. A Czech details the problems his country faces; it is going to have to watch Germany against a new rise; it must get along with Russia, and it will need to avert American displeasure.

To many an American, life, I think, would seem rather awful under such circumstances, unless these problems could be settled somehow in a paper to be drawn up next week. Not to a Czech; these happen to be the problems of the next hundred years, and he accepts them. Don't sell Europe short. It is in trouble, but it means to live.

THE TIME MACHINE by H. G. Wells. Designs by W. A. Dwigings. Random House. ($2.75) Publication date of re-issue: February 28, 1947.

"And now it is going to be printed and published so admirably that its author is sure it will outlive him." So spoke H. G. Wells in 1930 in a preface written especially for this charming edition of his famous story, "The Time Machine." An incredibly gifted prophet, H. G. Wells may have more stately volumes to his memory but none of more delightful typography and design than this one.

Students in typography and art classes will be interested in this volume because of its color illustrations and because it is a splendid example of the best modern bookmaking. Others may merely absorb the pleasure of exquisite page and print. That portion of the story which is not told by the Time Traveller is set in a very satisfying shade of red.

In this setting the tale of "The Time Machine" has an enchantment which was doubtless overlooked when it was first published over a half-century ago. This particular edition would be a diverting gift for a boy or girl stuck in the rut of reading superhero comics. After W. A. Dwigings and H. G. Wells the pulps should seem pale. Older book-lovers will recognize in this volume a friend, a remembrance, and a delight.

The genius in H. G. Wells sent the time machine ahead to the year Eight Hundred and Two Thousand, Seven Hundred and One, A.D., where a free play of the imagination is possible. This is one story that does not become remote from the reader with the passage of time; instead, the reader comes closer! And the revelations of passing time sharpen appreciation of H. G. Wells' imaginative acuity. Still one wishes that the time machine might have skidded to abrupt halt at the year 1975 or 2000 and recorded the H. G. Wells' version of the immediate post-atomic age.

Note that he comments in his epilogue (in the reddish print): "He (the Time Traveller) thought but cheerlessly of the Advancement of Mankind, and saw in the growing pile of civilization only a foolish heaping that must inevitably fall back upon and destroy its makers in the end. If that is so, it remains for us to live as though it were not so."

And suppose transient mortals in this atomic civilization have less than Eight Hundred Thousand, Seven Hundred and Fifty-four years to go? If that is so it remains for us to live as though it were not so. If that is not so it remains for us to live as though it were so!

As We Were

(The Washington Post) "We thought it would never come, that feeling of having things as they used to be. But now we seem to be settling into it a little more every day. Soap flakes and nylon stockings are actually being advertised—in big type too! Restaurant men's recent announcements indicate that obsequious waiters may soon be hovering over us, filling our water glasses after every sip. Occasional persuasive salesmen are showing up at our doors. And, believe it or not, we can now, by saving enough box tops and coupons, get a prize of dazzling earrings with small compartments for perfume, or an "atomic" brooch, a teenagers' dance book, a plastic fire engine, a chicken fryer, or a key ring plus a picture of Hedy LaMar!" Some women, however, say they won't feel life is really back to normal until they can get zippers of just the right color and length without having to go to several stores, or until a courteous grocer is willing to deliver a nutmeg. Some men maintain life will not be wholly beautiful until they can walk into the first store they see and buy shorts with elastic bands all the way round that won't give, or until they can find a good strong nickel shoehorn with a long handle. But such blessings will no doubt materialize shortly. Meantime we can enjoy our returned chewing gum, candy bars, 100 per cent elastic girdles, KeenRazor blades, steel pocketknives, and our gradually increasing bananas and facial tissues, with the sense of being in a familiar and safe world. It's surprising what those little things do to reassure us. Even the atom bomb doesn't seem as terrifying as it did. (Amazingly, isn't a commission or something taking care of that?) Surely nothing too bad can happen now when everything's getting to seem just the way it was in—well before the last war.

Beaux Arts Ball Brings Gaiety to SU

By DEE SCHECHTMAN
Daily Iowan Society Editor

All the glamour and gaiety of Paris and London were in Iowa City last night. It was the Beaux Arts ball, and some 150 couples came in costume to the party sponsored annually by the Student Art guild.

With the main gallery of the art building disguised as a ballet stage, and the walls banked with decorative murals, couples came as pirates, warriors, cowhands, ghosts, clowns, and in sheets, nightwear and bathing suits.

Every section of the United States and nearly every country in the world was well portrayed at the party. The "western range" and its "purple sage" was well masked by those attending in high top boots, jodphurs and 10-gallon hats. Even the chorus girls of old Broadway were seen in outfits worn by a few women, some of them made from newspapers, cheesecloth, leaves and old rags.

Ballet outfits, in keeping with the party's theme, were the most representative of the costumes, with their tight fitting leggings of all colors. As at all costume parties, the garb of the pirate was popular, complete with knives and nose and ear rings.

A few couples were seen in tuxedos and formal dresses. South American señoritas were truthfully painted by girls wearing conga and rumba outfits, and the South American gentlemen were attired in gaucha and "siesta" outfits.

Out of the comic strips came Superman, Mickey Mouse, Scarlett O'Neil and Blondie. Vaudeville was represented with men in striped suits and artificial mustaches. The Arabian Knights, the Shiek of Arabi and Roman gods and goddesses were portrayed by some attendants.

It all took place at the Beaux Arts of 1947, previewing the theme, "Soiree du Ballet".

The Ball as Viewed From Another Angle

By DICK DAVIS

One girl, it was reported, went as a special delivery letter, clad in fifteen cents worth of stamps. Others fancied themselves as members of the Czars' corps. One man flattered himself to the degree of hanging a Superman outfit over a bone-like frame.

This all happened last night at the Beaux Arts ball in the art building auditorium.

Year after year the fine art students have bent slightly backward to put on one of the most elaborate, at least the most photographed, party of the year. More than a costume ball, it looks like a tossed salad of a come-as-you-were breakfast and a formal dance.

If you attended, your choice of costume could have been anything from a well-chewed fig leaf to an ornate 17th century bustle. Salvador Dali would have clapped his surrealistic hands with joy if he could have seen some of the costumes.

Overly represented were ballet outfits that made the wearers look like second-rate bareback riders in Barnum's ring. For the more unimaginative there was the cowboy outfit. One of the cowboys, for sure, hadn't been any closer to a cow than buying a bottle of milk.

Some costumes were far more elaborate. Ghostly butterflies flitted on the dance floor, gay French costumes dotted the halls. One came as a waste basket—it wasn't difficult to figure this one out—what with all the old Chicago Tribunes wrapped around her waist.

Notable in absence was the Hawaiian, better known as the "Hula" skirt. Perhaps the reason for this was that they are generally inflammable and it looked as though too many people there

It's Wierd, Fantastic--The Beaux Arts Ball

AMONG THE BEAUX ARTS goers last night were Sylvia Lerner, A2 of El Paso, Tex., and Sol Simkin, A2 of Chicago, Ill. Sylvia was portraying a gypsy and Sol was a pirate.

POSING FOR A picture at the Beaux Arts party last night are Bill Wagner, Beth Wilson, Nat Herz, Anna Gottsealk, Alan Kaplan and Virginia Nolan. Les Burford and his orchestra provided the music at the ball.

ATTENDING THE BEAUX ARTS in costume were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hanlon. Mrs. Hanlon's skin was coated with blue paint and her hair was tinted with gold paint.

PUSHING TWO FRENCH out-houses off the dance floor at the Beaux Arts last night are Sally Spanded and Jim Snagg. Sally and Jim are representing the main characters in "The Spectre and the Rose."

Council Eliminates Baconian Broadcasts To Improve Quality of Lecture Series

The graduate college faculty wants to make more vivid the 1947 Baconian lectures, which start Wednesday.

Radio broadcasts of recent years, Dean Carlyle Jacobsen of the graduate college explained, prevented speakers from demonstrating their talks with charts, graphs and illustrations.

The graduate council, in charge of the lecture series, feels that the visible audience deserves the most interesting lectures possible. Therefore, the lectures will not be broadcast this year.

Highly Specialized Subjects
The lectures, on a wide range of subjects, are presented annually for graduate students and faculty members. Their purpose is to give these students of highly specialized subjects a chance to learn some of the basic problems and activities in other fields of study.

wanted nothing better than a good grass fire.
Whatever happened, last night's Beaux Arts could easily have been called the most unique party of the year.

There have usually been 10 lectures in the annual series—one a month during the college year. This year the series has been cut to four lectures so as to ease the burden on over-worked faculty members and to schedule the lectures during the centennial celebration.

This year's lecture program is as follows:

- March 5 — Prof. Hunter Rouse: "Eddy Action in a Streamlined Age."
- March 19 — Prof. T. L. Jahn: "Some Fundamental Problems of Vision."
- April 9 — Prof. Victor Harris: "New and Old Approaches to Literary Study."
- April 30 — Prof. Warren Nelson: "Endocrine Physiology of Puberty."

Each of the lectures will be given at 8:00 p.m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Bomb Kills 1 at Haifa

JERUSALEM (AP) — A bomb explosion wrecked two floors of a bank building in the heart of uneasy Haifa today, killing one person and injuring five others. The explosion occurred a few hours after an intercepted refugee ship, with 1,350 unauthorized Jewish immigrants aboard, ran aground off the port city.

The kerosene tree of the Queensland Australia, bush, burns readily even when freshly cut. It sends about six ounces of transformed feed.

Is It a Lamb Or a Lion?

Iowa Citizens today ushered in the new month with a fresh blanket of snow, but predictions indicated today's weather March 1 will be more of the "lamb" than "lion" variety.

Little temperature change is forecast for today and some snow flurries are likely.

Temperatures here last night ranged below the freezing mark, 21 degrees being recorded at 10 p.m. Snow was prevalent throughout the south and southwestern parts of the state late yesterday afternoon but no snow was reported in northern Iowa.

Farther west, in Kansas, snows ranging up to five inches fell in some sections. Previously, that state had experienced the driest February in weather bureau records. Temperatures in the Rocky Mountain region hovered near the zero mark.

Rain was general in the Gulf states area east to northern Florida. Weather observers said the storm was moving eastward and would likely bring snow to the Middle Atlantic states by Saturday.

Hawklets Trip Franklin 35-31 to Annex League Title

Last Quarter Rally Stops Thunderbolts

(Special To The Daily Iowan)
After trailing for three quarters, Iowa City high's Little Hawks fought Franklin of Cedar Rapids in the final frame for a 35-31 victory that nailed the Mississippi Valley crown for 1947 as the City high trophy room.

The victory, which gives the Hawks 16 wins, including ten conference tilts, against 3 losses, served notice to all Iowa that the Little Hawks will be out to retain their state championship which goes on the block as the state tournament swings down the stretch.

It was a repeat win for the Hawks who had defeated the Thunderbolts earlier in the season in another close tilt, 33-31. Balanced scoring and accuracy of the free throw line spelled the difference in the two quintets, but the parlor-city club pressed the Hawks to the limit right down to the final second. The Thunderbolts missed ten charity tosses while Iowa City missed three.

With the score tied 28-28 as the fourth quarter opened, lanky Gene Hettrick, City high pivot man, cashed a free throw and drove in seconds later for a lay-up shot that put the Hawks in front, 31-28.

City high's close guarding checked several Thunderbolt plays, and Jim Sangster notched a long shot from the side of the court for a score board reading of 33-28 as the buzzer sounded for the automatic time out in the middle of the quarter.

The Thunderbolts threatened as Bob Hoff, second leading scorer in the conference, swished a one-hander and Vail hit a charity toss cutting the Hawk lead, 33-30. With two minutes left, Sonny Dean, who did a magnificent job of guarding Hoff during the whole game with the exception of the third quarter when he left the game with an injury, cashed two all important free throws.

At this point, the Little Hawks began a stalling game and the scoring ended as Paul Phelan hit a charity toss for the '35 leaving the final reading, 33-31.

Hoff, who tallied 20 points against City high in their last meeting, was held to 11 points last night. Two of his team mates, Dick Peterson and Phelan, collected nine each. Gene Hettrick led Coach Gil Wilson's charges with nine points.

Franklin stood fourth in the conference previous to tonight's game with eight wins and four losses.

The Little Hawks have one more conference contest scheduled. They journey to Dubuque tonight for a return tilt with the Rams. Dubuque has won two and lost eight for an eighth place standing in the conference. In their first meeting on the City high floor, the Hawks withstood a savage Ram attack for a 27-28 win.

Mikan Leads DePaul Over Irish, 61-50

CHICAGO (AP)—De Paul, sparked by lanky Ed Mikan's 31 points, trimmed Notre Dame, 61-50, to hand the Irish their fourth setback against 17 victories in a Chicago stadium basketball double-header witnessed by 10,007 spectators.

The DePaul-Notre Dame game was rough with a total of 45 personals called and a player from each team banished for a flurry of fouling.

Mikan's red-hot performance against the Irish fell six points short of the individual scoring record set at the stadium by Ed's brother, George, who now is playing professional basketball.

Notre Dame, which trimmed De Paul, 80 to 45, at South Bend, Ind., on February 17, decidedly was off on its shooting form and was handicapped when center Johnny Brennan drew his fourth penalty in the first half, trying to slow down the rampant Mikan.

Paced by Mikan's 18 first-half points, De Paul moved into a 34-27 intermission advantage. The Blue Demons really turned on the pressure in the opening minutes of the second half when they swept to a 19-point margin, 44 to 25, but the Irish closed the gap somewhat the rest of the way.

Notre Dame's erratic attack was paced by Frank Curran and Brennan with 10 points each.

Holcomb New Coach For Purdue Gridders

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Stuart K. Holcomb, an assistant Army coach at West Point, will take over in March as football coach at Purdue university in a try to bring the Boilermakers back to the top in Big Nine football.

Holcomb signed a five-year contract last night and left immediately to rejoin the Army basketball team at Annapolis. He is head basketball coach.

He succeeds Cecil Isbell, former Purdue and professional grid star who resigned to coach the Baltimore Colts professional team of the all-America conference.

Holcomb's salary was not announced. Isbell's salary at Purdue was reported to have been about $8,500 annually.

The 36-year-old Army assistant will come to Purdue with football at a low point at the big engineering school.

Isbell's Boilermakers, plagued by injuries, were able to win only two games last season, and they were both non-conference. They tied Ohio State and they lost all other league games.

However, the prospects are brighter for the coming year with good material returning and a "B" squad which won all of its conference games last year.

Guy (Red) Mackey, Purdue athletic director, said yesterday Holcomb could name his own staff. He was chosen by a faculty committee after a wide search.

Holcomb, who was assigned to West Point when he entered the Army in 1944, has had 15 years of experience as a coach.

After graduating from Ohio State, where he was in the backfield with that school's new coach, Wesley Fesler, Holcomb went to Findlay (Ohio) college in 1931. In four years, his team won two northwestern Ohio conference titles.

During the five following years he coached at Muskingum (Ohio) college, winning the conference title.

At Washington and Jefferson, he won the district title his only

Ames A Leading Contender For High School Cage Title

By DON SULHOFF

Up to now the Iowa high school basketball race has seen only the small arms but next week the seige guns will roll when the 32 class AA ball teams go to the line in the district tournaments.

Leading contender for the title now held by Iowa City high school is Ames which has gone through 15 straight opponents this season.

Last year Ames found itself in the same position and came through the preliminary tourneys to the finals where they were upset by Clinton in the first round.

Two of the regulars from that ball club are back this year and they have no thought of being upset.

Leader of the group is Max Sowers, serving his third term as a starting guard, who is second in the Little Cyclone scoring column this season with 100 points.

Sowers was an all-state choice at guard last season and is being touted to regain the position.

Tallest of the all-senior squad is Stanley Delahunt, 6-2 1/2 center, who tops all Ames scorers with 169 points. Delahunt is also a great rebounder and usually sets the Cyclone fast break into gear.

Rounding out the first five are Ned Viguain, 6 foot forward who has scored 90 points, Bruce Gore, forward at 5-11, and Mark Rothacker, 5-11 guard who has 32 points.

Under the direction of Coach O. E. Tiller, Ames started on the road which led them to be one of the strongest prep basketball teams in Iowa three years.

Since that time they have won 56 games while only six have ended in defeats. Since January of 1945, the Little Cyclones have been out 50 times and have posted 48 victories.

year there and he came back to Ohio in 1942 as head coach at Miami university. His team in 1943 surprised Indiana university with a 7-7 tie.

Outside the conference Ames tripped Waverly, the No. 2 team in the northeast district, 41-29; Mason City, 35-21 and Nevada twice 36-30 and 38-20.

In the conference Ames holds two victories over Boone, Oskaloosa, Newton, Grinnell and Marshalltown.

The Wilton boys began wiling right there-but good. When the quarter buzzer sounded, U-high had amassed an overwhelming 16-5 edge. Fred Stephens, who hit two of the Beaver's six goals, got the only first quarter bucket for the losers.

Although they began displaying a few erratic spots in their second period floor-game, U-high was still potent enough to out-register the Beavers 9-4 and swing to the locker rooms with a handsome 25-9 lead.

Before Alley began substituting freely in the third episode, Anderson stepped up the pace and rocketed in seven markers before retiring. He had an evening's total of 11 points.

The best the Beavers could muster was six points—three each by Harold Wacker and Captain Don Grunder, center. The quarter ended 36-15. Grunder's total of seven markers headed the Beaver scoring.

The finale was wild and rough as 'Hawk reserves battled the struggling losers to a 7-all standstill down to the end.

Helm's 17-Points Paces Bluehawks

By FRANK BUCKINGHAM
Don "Gussy" Helm, U-high's dynamic "swish-swish" artist, was just as accurate and aggressive as everyone expected last night—and so were ten other Bluehawks—as they literally walked to a 43-22 sectional class-A win over Wilton Junction at city high gym.

The victory, on top of the 'Hawks 44-29 cleaning of West Branch, gained them a well-earned spot in next district's play.

Last night "Gussy" stuck in 17 points all told, 15 of them before intermission as he, Captain Jack Hady and Nick Anderson collaborated to make the 32 minutes miserable for the outclassed Beavers.

Helm along with other regulars were all waved to the sidelines by Coach Louis Alley at the start of the fourth as the 'Hawk mentor cleared every reserve from the bench.

It was evident at the outset that Wilton Junction's set defense could not cope with the careening Blues fast break. Helm stole the ball and scored after 10 seconds. Twenty seconds later Fritz Harsh barger fed "Gussy" on the run and he broke under for a 4-0 U-high bulge.

The Wilton boys began wiling right there-but good. When the quarter buzzer sounded, U-high had amassed an overwhelming 16-5 edge. Fred Stephens, who hit two of the Beaver's six goals, got the only first quarter bucket for the losers.

Although they began displaying a few erratic spots in their second period floor-game, U-high was still potent enough to out-register the Beavers 9-4 and swing to the locker rooms with a handsome 25-9 lead.

Before Alley began substituting freely in the third episode, Anderson stepped up the pace and rocketed in seven markers before retiring. He had an evening's total of 11 points.

The best the Beavers could muster was six points—three each by Harold Wacker and Captain Don Grunder, center. The quarter ended 36-15. Grunder's total of seven markers headed the Beaver scoring.

The finale was wild and rough as 'Hawk reserves battled the struggling losers to a 7-all standstill down to the end.

Purdue Ends Iowa Cage Year Tonight

H. Wilkinson, Ives Conclude Great Careers

Tonight is the end of the road for the battle-scarred Iowa basketball team which is marshalling its strength to give the Purdue Boilermakers a rough reception in an 8 p.m. game at the fieldhouse.

The contest will be the last game of the season for the Hawkeyes and the last game in the careers of Dick Ives and Herb Wilkinson. Hawkeye starters for three years.

Iowa will be trying to post a victory not only to improve its current conference standing of four wins against seven defeats but to avenge a particularly distasteful 52-46 loss to the Boilermakers in January.

The Hawkeyes have shown great recuperative powers after their mid-season five-game losing streak. In the last three starts the Hawks have played superior ball which was climaxed by last week's 68-46 win over Indiana. In that game Iowa averaged 35 percent of its shots.

The wild-breaking Boilermakers are a cinch to give the Hawkeyes a battle every inch of the way. Purdue ranks first in the conference in offense and only a poor defense has kept them out of the league race. Iowa, which ranks sixth in defense compared to Purdue's ninth place spot, is third in offense. The Boilermaker attack is led by Paul Hoffman, dynamic forward, who has

Lesnevich Scores Knockout Over Fox

NEW YORK (AP)—Old Gus Lesnevich, the aged gaffer they said didn't have a chance, held on to his world light heavyweight championship last night by knocking out fresh young Billy Fox, the knockout specialist in 10 rounds before a near sellout crowd in Madison Square Garden. Lesnevich weighed 174½; Fox 172.

One-sided underdog in the betting against the tan terror from Philadelphia who had run up an all-time record string of 43 straight knockouts in his undefeated career, Blonde Gus punched the ears off Billy from Philly virtually all the way and then put him away with a ripping, crushing barrage at 2 minutes 19 seconds of the 10th.

All the way it was the old story of just too much experience as the 30-year-old king of the 175-pounders pulled all the tricks of the bag from his 12 years of experience in ring wars and made the Philadelphia flailer fight his fight from start to finish.

Wisconsin Hopes To Win Big Nine Cage Title Tonight

CHICAGO (AP)—The Western conference's 1947 basketball championship may be decided tonight, but the final result still hinges on whether the unfinished game between Wisconsin's pacesetter Badgers and Purdue is replayed.

That game, unfinished when the stands in Purdue's fieldhouse collapsed last Monday causing three deaths and injury to 250 others, probably will be played a week hence, five days after the regular season is ended, in the gymnasium of suburban Evanston high school.

Tomorrow night's championship status revolves around Illinois' invasion of Indiana and Wisconsin's battle with Minnesota at Minneapolis. If Illinois wins and Wisconsin loses, the Badgers will need the victory over Purdue to tie for the title with Illinois. However, if Illinois is defeated while Wisconsin conquers Minnesota, the Badgers will have sole possession of the title.

Neither Indiana nor Minnesota has been defeated on their home courts. However, Illinois and Wisconsin already have defeated their opponents tonight on their own courts and the margin was nine points in each instance. Indiana will be strengthened by the return of Lou Watson, who has been out of the game because of a hand injury. Watson is Indiana's second high scorer.

Proven troublesome for Iowa in past games.

The Hawkeye attack has hit for 54.6 points a game and Murray Wier, the Wilkinson brothers, Ives and company are set to bring down the curtain in approved fashion.

The game gives Iowa a chance to improve its eighth place standing as far as fifth if the other conference games involving Michigan, Purdue and Ohio State turn out favorably.

Two Iowa scoring records are certain to fall during the evening and another may be surpassed. The total team points was set in 1945-46 at 1,034 is certain to be overcome by this year's Hawks who have now a total of 1,029. The free throw record is also up for revision. It stands at 254 and the Iowa mark for the year is only three short.

If the Hawks are hot from the field and hit 20 field goals they will have broken another record which now reads 408.

The two players who will be playing their last game for Iowa, Ives and Herb Wilkinson, have been standouts for the Hawkeyes. Ives, who holds the conference single game individual scoring record and the record for single-game field goals, has amassed 824 points in 71 games for a 11.4 average. He was chosen all-American by Argosy magazine in 1945 and by True magazine in 1946.

Herb Wilkinson, Iowa's all-American guard, has hit for 489 points in 53 games for a 9.2 average. He was selected all-American in 1944 as a member of Utah's NCCA title winning five and has added similar honor while at Iowa.

Both players were members of the famous 1945 Big Nine championship Iowa quintet.

Dodgers Shipshape Brooklyn Passes Admiral Rickey's Inspection With Opener Set For Home Port

NEW YORK (AP)—Admiral Branch Rickey, after a trip aboard his cruiser, "Dodger Skipper," presented him by his grateful Brooklyn ball players last fall in sort of a swap for new automobiles, is approached concerning the club's 1947 prospects.

"Admiral Rickey, I take it you have been surveying the new material during the off season?"

"Shiver my timbers, yes. I've had men in the crew's nest all the time, and we've sighted some mighty fine prospects, particularly on the south by southeast horizon."

"How about pitchers?"

"Ah, yes, pitchers. We'll have them several fathoms deep."

"Right handers or left handers?"

"Both starboard and port, er, I should say southpaw. That word port reminds me too much of wine. Always abstain from the degrading influence of alcohol, young man. Grog never helped anyone."

"Do you think you will finish ahead of the Cardinals?"

"The Cardinals will be several leagues astern, I assure you."

"How about the infield?"

"A full crew all around, not meaning full in the sense of intoxication, of course. When we get the decks cleared for action you may be satisfied that the infield will be shipshape."

"I see Leo Durocher will be the manager again."

Wildcats Hit League Cellar As Bucks Win

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio State trounced Northwestern, 62 to 42, at the Chicago stadium last night to seal the Wildcats in the Big Nine basketball cellar with a final record of two victories and ten defeats.

The triumph moved Ohio State into a fifth-place tie with Michigan, each with five victories and six defeats. The defending champion Buckeyes and the Wolverines will contend for a first division berth when they close at Ohio State Monday night.

It was the second time in 20 years that Northwestern finished last in the conference. However, the Wildcats were weakened by the early season ineligibility of Bill Sticklen and Joe Hughes. Northwestern ends its season with a non-league contest against Notre Dame at the stadium tonight.

Ohio State, paced by towering center Jack Underman and guard Warren Amick with 17 and 14 points respectively, set a fast pace against the Wildcats, jumping to a 12-2 lead in the first five minutes and holding a 30-14 halftime margin.

The Wildcats, trailing by 25 points, 44 to 19, after the second half was five minutes old, suddenly came to life and whittled their deficit to 14 markers, 46 to 32, within six minutes. Chuck Tourek, who led Northwestern with 14 points, sparked the Wildcats' brisk but futile second half spurt.

The Buckeyes, however, took charge again midway in the closing half even though Underman went out with five personals long before the closing siren.

Cyclones Use Zone To Drop Jayhawks

AMES (AP)—Iowa State, piling up a 33-17 halftime lead, clinched at least a tie for third place in the Big Six basketball race last night by downing Kansas 56-44.

The Cyclones, playing their final game of the season, finished the conference campaign with a 5-5 record and Kansas would have to whip Oklahoma and Missouri to deadlock Iowa State for third.

Coach Louis Menze used a zone defense for the first time this season and Kansas had its troubles getting through for good shots.

Iowa State led all the way and held a lead of 12 to 14 points throughout the final half.

Ray Wehde topped the Iowa State scoring with 18 points and Otto Schnellbacher made 16 for the Jayhawks.

REDDYER vs. TEXAS RANGERS

Sports Shots

By Bob Collins

Tonight ends the Iowa basketball career of two men whose names have been fixtures in Hawkeye lineups for the past three years. Dick Ives and Herb Wilkinson. Nothing in a way of a tribute would be adequate but perhaps it would suffice to say merely "Thanks a lot boys for the thrills you've given us." Gentlemen both on or off the court, Dick and Herb have brought nothing but credit to the University of Iowa. Others will come and go but it is a sure thing that memories of their stellar play will be found in conversations that concern Iowa athletics for years to come.

To make their last game a success, the Hawks could go out and win over Purdue to end the season on a victorious note. It cause Purdue is always tough for Iowa. The Hawks probably won't hit 35 percent of their shots as they did against the Hoosiers but neither should they hit any 18 percent.

And in the interests of good basketball here's hoping that the Boilermaker team doesn't show the effects of the fieldhouse disaster which must have impressed them deeply. If they come back and put up a good game, they'll deserve some applause for their play—which is cheap admission to any Big Nine game.

You know, in that Iowa, Illinois wrestling bargain bill there was a lot of strategy used both ways. Coach Mike Howard juggled his Iowa lineup to get strength in the lower weights only to have the Illinois reciprocate. Hawk Roy Pickett boiled down to 128 pounds, expecting to meet a guy named Joe and, instead, found himself across the mat from Lou Kachiroubas who was scheduled to be in Duane Hanson's weight. Kachiroubas won in a 17-9 thriller and that was the beginning of the end. It should be emphasized, however, that the dual meet loss in no way bars the Hawks from taking individual titles and maybe the team award at the Big Nine meet on March 7 and 8 at Evanston, Ill.

Possibly the greatest surprise in the mid-west sports world last weekend was the defeat Michigan handed Minnesota in a game which saw Jim McIntyre held to one point. Later reports told that Wolverine Coach Ossie Cowles had pulled the biggest switch of the season by using a zone defense against the Gophers.

Minnesota's mentor, Dave MacMillan, thundered that he had been double-crossed and that Michigan had violated a Big Nine coaches' "gentlemen's agreement" not to use the zone defense.

The argument bounced back and forth like a ping-pong ball as Cowles claimed he knew of no such agreement and further claimed that every team in the league actually was guilty of using a zone when they resorted to clogging the center by jamming it with the defensive forwards.

Fortunately before the situation could get worse it died out as Illinois walked through the Michigan zone to take the Monday night game by eight points. All of which points to the fact that there is nothing new in offensive or defensive tactics which can't be done with a couple of practice sessions. Oops, I plumb forgot about Neil Brant and Lester Bestor and their Carter college come strip strategy!

Lyle Seydel, Iowa City boxer, who fought to the 112-pound title at Cedar Rapids and represented that squad in Chicago, gave an unusual display of courage in losing his quarter final bout in the tournament of champions. It develops that Seydel suffered a sacro-iliac sprain in winning his second fight but kept the injury to himself and lasted out the quarter-final bout despite severe pain in his back. The kid is back in Iowa City wearing a tape cast and hopes to be ready for the Iowa Amateur Athletic union bouts at Des Moines March 19-20.

Luther Blasts Loras From League Crown

DECORAH (AP)—Luther blasted Loras' hopes for a fourth straight Iowa conference basketball championship by nipping the Dubawks 50-48 in a blistering overtime duel last night.

It was Loras' first defeat in seven conference games and gave the title to Dubuque university with a 10-1 record.

Gas Company Grants Refund To Patrons

Some 5,500 Iowa City gas users will receive a check for $2.68, if they were a gas consumer from August 30 to Sept. 30 last year.

The Iowa Citizens will receive refund checks from the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company as a result of a recent court decision that the Colorado Interstate Gas company was charging excessively high rates. The company supplies a portion of the gas which reaches Iowa City by pipe line.

Total refund in Iowa City will be more than $1,400.

Gas Heating Equipment Made Available Here

More Iowa City home owners can now obtain that long awaited space heating gas equipment as a result of new regulations on gas installations which go into effect today.

All the new regulations require that applications for gas heating installations be filed with the Iowa City firm which will install the equipment. Permission for the installations will be granted if the capacity of existing gas mains is adequate, if a main extension of the main line is not required and if the need is urgent.

Original restrictions, effective since last August, were necessary because the gas pipe line which served the midwest was overloaded. Since that time, the line has been expanded to relieve the situation.

SUI Chemists Discover— Properly Scrubbed Coal

—Is Cleaner, Warmer

By ROBERT TRIPP

If you are burning properly washed Iowa coal in your furnace this winter, your house is warmer and cleaner than ever before.

Iowa coal users can thank research carried out at the University of Iowa for this improved local product.

For more than 15 years, university chemists and students have been conducting tests on Iowa coal. This research proved clearly that Iowa coal, when properly washed by producers, is on a par with most soft coals shipped into the state.

Prof. H. L. Olin, former head of the chemical engineering department, disclosed the main objectives of the experiments in an interview yesterday.

"In our research," he said, "we have tried to evaluate Iowa's coal resources in terms of other coals. Our tests have shown how this fuel could be improved and better utilized."

Before these tests were made, many tons of Iowa coal were not suited for use in stokers. The small sizes, called screenings, were too full of waste to be used profitably. Too much ash and rock was coming along with each ton of coal.

"These washings," Professor Olin continued, "take out all the shale and loose rock, reduce the sulphur and ash content and remove the fine dust."

Studies in Iowa coal washing were begun at the university heating plant in 1933.

The pilot-plant washing system handled from two to five tons of coal an hour. In two years, 50 carloads of coal from Iowa mines had been examined under varying conditions. The experiments produced a good stoker coal.

In terms of your coal dollar, you get more heat from each ton of Iowa coal and have fewer ashes to carry if you are using the washed product. So far, the mechanical washing has not been adopted generally by Iowa coal producers.

"Part of our work," Professor Olin said, "was to dispel the prejudices people had about Iowa coal."

University chemistry students began running controlled tests with these washed screenings. Stokers in cooperative dormitories on the campus were fired with this clean coal. The Iowa product came through with flying colors.

Contrary to what most people used to believe, this washed stoker coal is equal in quality with most soft coals from other states.

These experiments were not made on a small scale.

"Our staff," Professor Olin explained, "has sampled and analyzed 10,000 carloads of coal coming from mines in this state."

As head of this staff of students and research assistants, Professor Olin supervised work on problems covering nearly the entire soft coal industry in Iowa. It was found that coke could be made from any Iowa coal. Problems of coal handling and storing underwent thorough research.

As a result of these tests, your Iowa coal dollar spent for washed coal is now going farther.

'Books for China' Drive Ends Today

A week-long campaign to collect books for Chinese universities from SUI students will end today.

Sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega national service fraternity, the drive featured an appeal to students having technical books that would be of value to Chinese students. Collecting stations were set up in the dormitories, in the YMCA rooms at Iowa Union and in room 9 of Old Capitol.

Collection of the books will start this afternoon. After the books have been assembled, the fraternity will send them to universities in China.

Albert C. Dunkel Dies in California

Albert C. Dunkel died in a Pasadena, Calif., hospital yesterday.

A lifelong resident of Iowa City, Dunkel was vacationing in California. He was stricken with a heart attack Monday while visiting Altadena and was taken to the Pasadena hospital.

His wife and her sister, Mrs. E. G. Schroeder, 104 S. Governor street, were with Dunkel in California.

Dunkel owned and operated a local theater for 20 years before retiring in 1938. He also owned a dance hall and cigar store in Iowa City.

Dunkel was born in 1885 and married Emma C. Lumsden in 1916. He is survived by his wife, a brother, Charles F. Dunkel of Iowa City, and three sisters.
