Deadline for Room Requests Extended Until 5 p.m. Friday

Decision Follows Organized Student Appeal; SUI Officials, Dorm Leaders to Meet Today
The deadline on renewal applications for dormitory rooms was extended until 5 p.m. Friday by Dean C. Woody Thompson last night following a meeting of student dormitory leaders. Presidents of university dormitories gathered in Iowa Union and delegated representatives from Hillcrest and the Quadrangle to appeal to Thompson. His action was immediate. A telegram to The Daily Iowan earlier in the day from President Henry C. Shull of the state board of education had placed the problem in the lap of university officials. The board "considers it an administrative question," Shull said. Having expressed his willingness to extend the deadline in an afternoon interview, Thompson indicated that he was awaiting word from a representative body of students before taking action. "We can't extend the deadline much longer," Thompson said, referring to the need for an early filing of renewal applications. He cited the lack of "physical space" in the housing offices which would slow the process of filing and returning applications. The student appeal was based on a desire to know the financial reasons which the university maintains have caused the increases in room and board. Backing up the university's stand, Shull's telegram said that "quite obviously adjustments for 1947-48 must be made in view of increases in wages, salaries and commodity prices since January, 1946, when prices now in effect were promulgated."

Truman to Air Foreign Policy Course Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman will address a joint session of congress—and the nation—today in a policy statement which may set far-reaching new standards for American diplomacy around the world. The issue is: What the United States should do to stem the tide of communism abroad. The president's speech, starting at 12 noon (CST), will be broadcast by the major networks and also televised. Described in advance by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) as transcending party politics in importance, the chief executive's talk is expected to center chiefly on the situation in Greece and the Near East. Vandenberg said, however, that the problem involved "may prove to be symbolic of a general policy which may have to be pursued around the world." On Capitol Hill, the general belief was that Mr. Truman will recommend a loan of $250,000,000 for Greece and $150,000,000 for Turkey both as a means of bolstering their home economies and indirectly as a barrier against the westward surge of communism.

Communist Party Should be Outlawed, Says Schwollenbach

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor Schwollenbach and Chairman Hartley (R-NJ) of the house labor committee agreed yesterday that the Communist party in America should be outlawed. Hartley told reporters he will introduce a bill to do so. Rep. Landis (R-Ind.) raised the question, in a committee hearing on proposed labor law changes, of ousting Communists from offices in labor unions. Schwollenbach, in the witness chair, said that "doesn't go far enough." He asked: "Why should we recognize the Communist party in the United States? Why should they be able to elect people to public office, and, theoretically, elect members of congress?" He told reporters later that while he was indirect before the committee, he is direct in advocating that the Communist party be outlawed. The trouble is in proving anyone a Communist, he said. The labor department has had difficulty pinning people down as Communists he said, although it has discharged six persons.

Pass 2 Appropriation Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two big appropriation bills—one killing off OPA next June 30 and the other making a controversial $800,000,000 cut in treasury funds—were rammed through the house and sent to the senate yesterday after Democrats made futile attempts to change them.

Extend High Excise Levy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Those high wartime taxes on liquor, jewelry, cosmetics, passenger fares and telephone calls are extended for another year past July 1 under a bill signed yesterday by President Truman.

Believe Three Men Still Alive in Wrecked Building

FOUR WORKMEN WERE TRAPPED when this five-story building collapsed in downtown Cincinnati yesterday. Hopes brightened late last night that three of the men would be crawled alive as firemen stepped up efforts to clear away the huge pile of rubble. A fireman said he had crawled into a "tunnel" in the wreckage and talked to one of the men. This man said he could hear two other men groaning. The whereabouts of the fourth man was unknown. House Committee Files Bill Increasing Appropriations for 15 State Institutions

DES MOINES (AP)—The house appropriations committee yesterday filed for introduction of a bill calling for an appropriation of $7,188,050 per year in the next biennium for support of the 15 institutions under the state board of control. It was the first support bill for the next two-year period brought out by the committee. Half a dozen others are to follow. The amount compares with $8,442,560 asked by the board, $6,553,850 recommended by Gov. Robert D. Blue, and $5,286,700 per year appropriated for the institutions in the two year period ending next June 30. In addition to the $5,286,700, a deficiency appropriation of $837,677 has been approved by the house and sent to the senate. Meanwhile the house labor committee reported in and recommended indefinite postponement of seven bills restricting labor. Attempts were expected to be made to revive most of the measures. Among the seven bills was one to ban closed shops, another to ban picketing, a third to ban secondary boycotts, and a fourth to enforce collective bargaining agreements.

'Drys' Lose Important Test

By DWIGHT McCORMACK
DES MOINES (AP)—Dry forces in the house of representatives lost an important battle yesterday. The house voted 58 to 47 to substitute a compromise beer bill for the senate approved "dry" beer bill. While the substitute measure, by Rep. W. R. Fimmen (R-Bloomfield), was more restrictive in many instances than the senate bill, it took away the senate bill provision which would give city councils discretion in the issuance of beer licenses. Rep. Elmer A. Bass (R-Emerson), leader of the dry forces, told the house that while he did not definitely oppose the Fimmen plan, he felt the only way to get beer legislation this session was to retain the senate bill. The principal provisions in the Fimmen bill in addition to the one which makes mandatory on councils to issue permits if applicants meet requirements are that: It permits the sale of food where beer is sold except that in any city of less than 5,000 there must be at least one restaurant which doesn't sell beer. If the restaurant which doesn't sell beer ceases operations, the permits held by other restaurants automatically are cancelled. Taverns would be restricted to the business areas of cities and towns. There would be no rural taverns. There could be no dancing and no minors would be permitted in taverns. Any restaurant serving beer would have to serve it in a room other than the dining room. Taverns would have to have outside signs labelling them as such. Restaurants where beer is sold would have to label that portion of the building where beer is sold as a tavern. Any tavern operator or club holding a federal liquor license would automatically lose its beer permit. Injunctions could be issued against taverns violating the beer laws, the same as injunctions now can be issued against places violating the law forbidding sale of hard liquor. State bureau of investigation agents would be permitted to go into cities and towns to enforce the beer laws if that was not being done. Taverns would have to have front windows which would permit a clear view of the interior. There could be no booths, screens or partitions which would obstruct a clear view. The beer tax would be doubled with half the revenue going to the state and the other half to cities and towns.

Senators Shelve Blue's Plan to End Board of Control

DES MOINES (AP)—The senate board of control committee yesterday rejected Gov. Robert D. Blue's proposal that the state board of control be abolished and that supervision of the fifteen Iowa state institutions be placed under a single executive. Instead, the committee reported out to the calendar, a new bill which would retain the present three man board and provide for three executive directors to work under it. The new officials would be: a director of mental institutions, a director of corrective institutions and a director of prison industries. Members of the senate committee conferred with Governor Blue and house leaders and were said to have reached the conclusion that the governor's proposal for a single executive had no chance of passage.

Send Troops To Halt Revolt In Paraguay

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP)—The Paraguayan government sent planes roaring over the rebel stronghold in Concepcion last night in what was officially described as a "punitive action" as detachments of loyal troops rushed toward the city. The troops—including 1,000 cavalrymen riding from Villa San Pedro, 60 miles south of Concepcion—were under orders to open "immediate battle" with the rebels. Another "strong detachment" was sent from Asuncion, 120 miles south of the troubled city. Concepcion has been held for four days by the 600 to 700 rebellious soldiers of the first division. Government sources said the rebels have been inspired by February (opposition) party members and Communists. Monday night President Higinio Morinigo's government threatened to bomb Concepcion and urged the population of 15,000 to seek safety. It was believed, however, that the reported action of the rebels in preventing the civil population from fleeing may have made it impossible for the government to carry out its threat. Government officials said a "Communist plan" to overthrow President Morinigo had fallen into police hands. The plot was spoiled, however, when police discovered that the plotters intended to blow up bridges and block roads with a quantity of stolen dynamite.

Big 4 Split On German Military Policy

Grants Molotov Delay For Reply on Troop Limitations Question
By WES GALLAGHER
MOSCOW, (AP)—Secretary of State George C. Marshall won his first diplomatic triumph in the foreign ministers council last night when The United States, Britain and France blocked a Russian proposal to place the complex China question on the agenda. The three Western representatives, opposing a suggestion by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, said that China must be present if Chinese affairs were discussed in the council, and Molotov finally withdrew his proposal. The four foreign ministers then split on the first and least controversial problem of Germany, the question of demilitarization. Molotov hurled a broadside of accusations that the Western nations had failed to demilitarize their occupation zones, and were keeping German troops in Military formations, contrary to the Potsdam agreement. Repeating many accusations which have appeared in the Russian press during the last few months, Molotov asserted that "except in obvious cases the elimination of the war potential in the west has hardly started." Ernest Bevin, British foreign secretary, answered Molotov bluntly that the charges were "unjustified," and said they reminded him of "an old lady watching a parade in which one man was out of step and then observed they are all out of step except Johnnie." Bevin then let loose a diplomatic bombshell of his own, saying that while the matters were on the subject of demilitarization "it might be useful to know the number of prisoners of war held outside Germany," the informant said. Russia never has revealed how many prisoners of war she is holding in her homeland. All previous questions on this subject have remained unanswered. Another Soviet proposal that the "Big Four" ministers discuss China informally and issue a communique on the subject was blocked by the western representatives. Molotov declared such a communique should be put out since the question was of such "great importance to public opinion." Marshall issued a formal statement saying that he would be "pleased" to exchange information with Molotov and Bevin on the subject of China, and Bevin indicated that his country was willing to do likewise. ("China's Foreign Minister Wang Shih-Chieh issued a formal statement in Nanking that his country would not "agree to inclusions of its problems in the agenda of the foreign ministers conference.") Marshall presided over yesterday's meeting—the second in the Moscow conference to decide the future of Germany and Austria. Switching the discussion away from China, The United States diplomat reiterated his request of Monday that the question of limiting occupation troops in Europe be placed on the agenda. Molotov, who asked Monday for 24 hours to consider the proposal, requested still further delay, and Marshall ruled the matter "held in suspense."

Wheat Price Hits New High

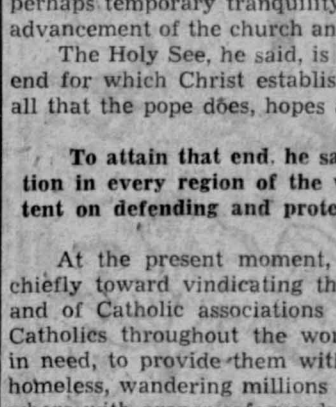

CHICAGO (AP)—The price of cash wheat, the article from which bread is made, yesterday pushed to $2.80 a bushel, the highest in 27 years, as dealers questioned the nation's ability to deliver enough wheat to meet the needs of war prostrated nations. Brokers said there is an urgent need for wheat. The flour milling industry has been scouring the country for wheat, and the lack of sufficient grain available to meet milling demands has had an influence on increasing the price of bread.

POPE PIUS DECLARES:

Nations Must Trade Some Sovereign Rights for Peace

By CHARLES H. GUPTILL and JOHN P. MCKNIGHT
World Copyright 1947, by The Associated Press
VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII, completing the eighth year of reign in a tempestuous world, told the Associated Press yesterday he was hopeful the world would achieve a just and lasting peace but the price might be agreements which would curtail to some degree the sovereign rights of nations. Receiving two Associated Press correspondents in a private audience, he commented that positive, constructive ideas have not as yet entered the building of peace, but he expressed the hope that the United Nations organization might be placed in a position effectively to guarantee the security of all. Last year the pontiff had seemed weary from the long ceremonies. Yesterday, at 71, the vigor of his personality was more than ever in contrast to the frailty of his body. Today is the anniversary of his coronation. But his lean face clouded and his voice was touched with sadness when his visitors remarked upon the unprecedented world tragedies which beset the first eight years of his reign. Nor did he conceal his preoccupation when the current Moscow conference and the difficulties facing it were mentioned. He nodded assent that the beginning of the conference did not augur well for solid achievements. The pope was asked whether events of the last year had tended to dissipate the world's feeling of uncertainty and anxiety over prospects for a just and lasting peace. Despite the indefatigable diligence and determined efforts made by certain statesmen and some progress for the moment along one or another particular line, he replied, the events of the last year do not add up to a marked improvement in the world's outlook for a just and lasting peace. Moreover, the pope said, he is afraid that this unfortunate condition will continue so long as the peace of Europe and of the world is considered solely under the light of what each state demands for its own individual security, and in the existing precarious circumstances one is allowed to increase its strategic positions and present its neighbor with accomplished facts. The pontiff was asked what, in the present period of relative and perhaps temporary tranquility, were his aspirations for the continued advancement of the church and for the greater well-being of mankind. The Holy See, he said, is the center of the universal church. The end for which Christ established that church is the ultimate goal of all that the pope does, hopes and prays for. To attain that end, he said, the church requires freedom of action in every region of the world, and one must be constantly intent on defending and protecting that freedom. At the present moment, he continued, his efforts are directed chiefly toward vindicating the freedom of the Holy See, of bishops and of Catholic associations of Christian charity and indeed of all Catholics throughout the world, to come to the assistance of those in need, to provide them with food and clothing, to arrange for the homeless, wandering millions and orderly emigration to some country where with proper safeguards to their religious and social needs they may begin anew the life of an honorable christian family, that essentially vital cell of human society. The pope was asked to comment upon his efforts to make the church responsive to the increasingly complex character of modern civilization. If opposition between the church and the modern world is becoming more and more stressed in certain quarters, he continued, it is because there are leaders and groups in power today who aim deliberately at giving the modern world a character and policy of conduct that are anti-Christian, even anti-God. The world has already tasted the bitter fruit of power divorced from belief in God and respect for his law. Take away belief in God, and what is there to support the concept of objective law or to insure the inviolability of covenants freely accepted? Hence, the Pope said, he deemed it a most solemn duty of his office to hinder in season and out of season any loosening of the bonds that unite human civilization with the fundamental principles of christianity. The correspondents remarked that the world was gravely concerned over the threat to civilization implicit in the unbridled use of highly destructive weapons developed recently, and asked for his comment upon the ethical conditions involved in the use of such weapons. In replying, the pontiff pointed out that the question touched only one element of a general problem. Warns of Road to Total War The development of modern weapons of war is bound to go forward with the constant development being made in the technical field, he said, and just as surely is bound also to lead to total war—that is, a war in which the distinction between combatants and non-combatants is very quickly robbed of all meaning. What this promised to the civilized world has been amply and sadly demonstrated in the recent war. Most certainly herein, he said, is found an added argument, if such were needed, to persuade the leaders of nations that in conscience they are obliged to reach agreements that will insure to the world a peace for which they in honor may assume responsibility and all peoples may find bearable, even though those agreements mean the curtailing to some degree of their several sovereign rights.

OF CABBAGES AND KINGS 2 Concepts of U.S. Foreign Policy An American is King Wherever He Goes economic and Greece and Turkey. If congress approves the chief executive's request, such aid will in all probability, take the shape of loans of more than $250,000,000 for Greece and $150,000,000 for Turkey.

The Problem of Group Libel

(The problem of group libel is one that has been bothering United States lawmakers for years. Recently the Saturday Review of Literature published an open letter to the senators and congressmen of New York and the representatives to the New York state legislature. So well was the problem of group libel portrayed by the Saturday Review editors that we reprint the letter here—The Editor.)

Dear Sir: The purpose of this letter is to solicit your opinion on a suggestion we respectfully offer in connection with an awkward but serious problem concerning freedom of speech.

What is happening is not unlike what happened in Germany and many other nations after World War I, when freedom of speech was used against minority groups and eventually against freedom of speech itself, when civil liberties built up painfully over generations were exploited by the few in order to deny civil liberties to the many.

One proposal that has been advanced from time to time is that tolerance be extended only to the tolerant, that freedom of speech not be turned over to those who have no basic respect for the democratic institutions of which it is a part.

Our government has refrained—wisely, we think—from adopting this proposal. Liberty, as Thomas Jefferson said, is no featherbed. We must suffer even those who have neither sympathy for nor understanding of the system which protects them even as they attack it.

But that does not mean we must be impotent. That does not mean that the American people have no recourse against the lies and the deceit and the dangerous purposes of those who are using hate as the Nazi party used it.

conomic assistance to the two governments, while the other half would go for military equipment. The latter phase of the plan would entail the transfer of American military supplies—and possibly a contingent of U.S. training officers—to the eastern Mediterranean.

The current foreign policy crisis was brought about by Great Britain's sudden economic collapse along the empire's Mediterranean lifeline and the urgent request, handed to U.S. state department officials by British representatives on February 27, that America underwrite England's commitments in Greece and Turkey.

Backgrounding the President's important discussion of the Greek-Turkish situation today, as well as the Big Four foreign minister's Moscow conference on the German-Austrian peace treaties, are two distinct concepts of what direction American foreign policy should take to insure lasting peace.

After All, It's Quite a Ways

(All great governments, which do you suppose has the greatest interest in world peace? Well, Shades of Ages Past! If we are to be slaves of Senator Taylor, it certainly looks as though the United States isn't it!

Last week when the senator was in Evanston, he mentioned a very surprising thing. Recently he made a little visit on his own to the United Nations to "see how they were getting along up there."

True, there are tremendous difficulties. Would group libel take the form of civil or criminal action? Could the federal government properly interest itself in enacting the required legislation, or would it be confined to state jurisdiction? Would action be brought by an individual or would some larger representation be necessary? Or would this become a matter of public policy in which the government itself might bring action?

Just how these questions would affect legislation for group libel can only be determined after competent study. The important thing is to get an exploration of these questions started.

It is one of the sacred privileges of this country that any person can make a fool of himself in public—a privilege that has never suffered for want of adherents. But the condition that goes along with that right is that there be no immunity if someone is hurt.

We should be grateful for your comments. Sincerely, NORMAN COUSINS, for the Editors.

problem," the Korean "problem," the Chinese "problem," the eastern Mediterranean "problem," etc., are all mere facets of the overall, primary problem: Soviet American relations.

These men—Harold Stassen, Henry Wallace, Sumner Welles, Senators Wayne Morse and Glen Taylor, to name a few—believe that once a global understanding, an agreement on fundamental foreign policy aims, is reached by the governments of the United States and Russia, all other "problems" will be solved with relative ease.

This group holds that, thus far, the Truman administration has approached international relations with an upside-down philosophy. First things should come first. Therefore, a world-wide U. S.—USSR understanding, say these critics, should receive the undivided attention of the statesmen in both countries.

in their own homes; there is perhaps a bit of emotional alienation. It is almost as if they were searching for a home, and they join in conversations about Republican prospects with their American friends, rejoicing perhaps as much in our Tories as in our food.

Everybody joins in this game of ringing the changes on the theme of American superiority, no one really holds out. An Englishwoman tugs at her dress and says: "Isn't it horrid? I can't get decent clothes in London. How far will 75 pounds go in your fine shops?" An American tells her about our stores, with proprietorial pride, and she agrees, though she has not seen them yet, that they are the most wonderful stores in the world. Heaven's their destination, as they cross to New York, and they do not make points against paradise.

There is only one dissent and it is based on a curious ground. One European, not English, says that of course America is the world's last stronghold against radicalism. "But," he adds, "when the final day comes, and the forces of evil take over the continent, your America will be unable to act. You are a democracy, and it is too difficult for a democracy to declare war." Otherwise, he thinks we are just about perfect, and on that note the ship latters westward, carrying the lost upper middle class of Europe toward our shores.

39 High Schools Will Stage Plays During Festival Here

Nearly 300 boys and girls from 39 Iowa high schools will stage 41 one-act plays at the University of Iowa theater from April 7 to 12 in the state play production festival, it was announced yesterday by the extension division.

The casts, averaging seven members, will be rated superior, excellent, good, average or below average.

The festival is divided into three classes according to enrollment of schools, two schools larger than last year. Ten schools are in class A, 12 in B, and 17 in C.

Schools entered are:

Class A: Ames, Cedar Falls, Chariton, Franklin of Cedar Rapids, Lincoln and Jefferson of Council Bluffs, Keokuk, Marshalltown, Muscatine and West Waterloo.

Class B: Audubon, Corning, Eldora, Emmetsburg (two casts), Estherville, University high of Iowa City, Knoxville, Maquoketa, Missouri Valley, Sigourney, Lincoln of Vinton, and Waverly.

Class C: Bondurant, Center Point, Crawfordville (two casts), Earlville, Ferguson, Grandview, Kiaross, Maynard, McGregor, Mt-

Window Magic

By DEE SCHECHTMAN

Well, what do you know? Spring is actually on its way! The thought of spring always strikes a sweet note to homemakers, but on the other hand spring means a lot of work. But some people like it because most of the spring cleaning tasks add new sparkle to homes.

The house needs cleaning, the walls need painting and papering, the floors should be refinished and the living room could use new drapes. These are only a few of the problems that will puzzle housewives before March 21.

There are a lot of little things that will lessen the burden for you women. For instance, perhaps you have a troublesome window that has disrupted all of your plans and you don't know what to do with it. The following quick and easy way to hang drapes, without brackets of any kind, is a possible solution.

Buy your drapery material in plain yard goods, and purchase a sufficient amount of extra material.

Vernon, Nora Springs, Stanley, Thompson, School for Blind of Vinton, Webster, West Branch and West Liberty.

AAUW To Hold Saturday Luncheon

The American Association of University Women will hold their regular luncheon meeting Saturday noon in the clubrooms at Iowa Union.

Two members of the association's state board will speak on the fellowship program of the state, national and international Federation of University Women.

The speakers are Dr. Pearl Hogrefe of Ames, and Mrs. Leon Wood of Des Moines. Dr. Hogrefe is state president of the association and is a former professor in the department of English at Iowa State college. She has served as state chairman of the literature department and fellowship division of the Iowa Federation of Women's clubs.

Mrs. Wood has been state president of the American Association of University Women and state chairman of the education department.

SUI Ping Pong Tourney Begins Monday at Union

Tournament play will begin Monday to determine the university singles pingpong champion.

Sponsored annually by the bridge and games committee of Union board, this year's contest is open to all students. Previously the players were selected by and represented housing units.

The tournament will be conducted in Iowa Union game room between 4:30 and 6 p.m. 7:30 and 9 p.m. and on Saturday afternoon.

Entrants will be notified of the time of their first round matches, which must be played at that time. Subsequent schedules will be posted in the game room.

Equipment will be furnished and prizes awarded. According to Co-chairman Stuart Miller, finals probably will be held March 28.

There is no entry fee, but players must sign at the Union desk before noon Friday.

Some insect pests can develop a tolerance to various types of exterminators and controls.

Pica Ball Tickets

Tickets are still available for the informal Pica ball Friday night in Iowa Union lounge. They must be purchased in the journalism office, room 1, East hall, or from members of Theta Sigma Phi and Sigma Delta Chi, journalism fraternities.

All journalism students, students working on student publications and their guests are invited.

Students to Present Skits, One-Act Play

Two musical skits and a one-act play will be presented this afternoon and tomorrow evening by Iowa City junior high school students.

Under the direction of Mildred Musser, the skits will be presented at 4 p.m. today and 8 p.m. tomorrow.

The eight grade will give "Central Park in the Gay Nineties." The cast includes Sue Sutherland, Dean Michael, Marvin Fliss, Pat Caldwell, Frank Frey, Joyce Brandt, Rita Neitze, Beverly Talbot, Sylvia Bliss and Donald Lubin.

The seventh grade will present

"A Day with Stephen Foster."

In the cast are Ted Dunnington, Donna Smith, Shirley Kelly, Ann Summerwill and Ronnie Tealy.

A one-act play, "The Neighbors" by Zona Gale, will be given between skits. The play is under the direction of Mrs. John Peery.

The cast includes Suzanne Jones, Terry McCollister, Harold Cooney, Elsie Yanskey, Patricia Switzer, Dorothea Evans, Barbara Clifford and Lorraine Nybakken.

The farm population of the United States includes about a third of all the children in the country.

3 Begin Internships in Occupational Therapy

Three students have arrived for a two-month internship in the occupational therapy training center at University Hospitals.

They are Jean Spieker, Washington university, St. Louis; Mary O'Neil and Clair Buswell, Milwaukee Downer college, Milwaukee, Wis.

During their internship they will fill the American Medical association requirements in psychiatry and orthopedics.

Plan $100,000 Student Center For Westminster Foundation

Preliminary plans for the construction of a new Presbyterian student center, to cost more than $100,000, have been disclosed by Dr. P. Hewison Pollock, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

The Westminster Foundation center will be built on the lot adjoining the church to the west on Market street. The house now occupying space will be moved during construction is started. The final drawings for the center have not yet been completed.

A sunken terrace will separate the church from the new student center which will face south on Market street. Also on the first floor of the student center will be a student lounge, 60 by 36 feet, a kitchen and soda bar will adjoin the lounge.

Will Move Church Offices
Upon completion of the new center, church offices will be moved from the church building proper to the first floor of the new building. A walled-in picnic space with outdoor fireplace will be arranged in the rear.

A large recreation room and Sunday school rooms for beginners, primary and Junior departments will be on the second floor. A stage and projection room will be the main feature of the junior department room.

The cost of the building, set two years ago, may now rise far above the original figure of $100,000, Dr. Pollock said. Half the cost will be paid by the First Presbyterian church here.

Church Foundation to Finance
The other half will be met by the Westminster Foundation of the synod. The committee for this organization met Saturday in Cedar Rapids and set the goal of their campaign for Westminster Foundation funds at $125,000. This sum will be used for construction of Presbyterian student centers on Iowa State college campus and at Iowa State Teachers college as well as here.

Mrs. B. N. Covert, present director of student activities, will continue in charge of this work upon completion of the new center. There are no plans at present to enlarge the staff engaged in student church work. Dr. Pollock said actual building construction may be well under way within two years.

Henry Sabin P. T. A.
Atarikandi Minakshi of Calicut, India, will speak to the Henry Sabin P.T.A. tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in the school gymnasium. Her topic will be "Schools in India."

The mothers of the second grade pupils will be hostesses, assisted by the second grade teacher, Marjorie Simons.

Orchestra Presents 4th Concert Tonight

With the familiar strains of the "Prayer" theme from "Hansel and Gretel," the university symphony orchestra will open its fourth concert of the season, tonight at 8 o'clock in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

Beside Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel Prelude," the 100-piece orchestra, conducted by Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, will play three selections from Berlioz' "Damnation of Faust" and the Bruckner "7th Symphony in E Major."

A few tickets are still available to students and general public for tonight's university symphony concert.

Tickets are at the Iowa Union information desk.

The popular "Hansel and Gretel" is the only one of many Humperdinck operas that have survived. But the early-20th century German composer had considerable influence on other composers of his generation. His orchestration scheme of simple song melodies with the appearance of integrated harmony was used by German composers to write light operas and suites in small forms.

This evening's featured work, the Bruckner symphony, is in four movements, "Allegro moderato," "Adagio," "Scherzo," and "Allegro ma non troppo."

Iowa Cash Income Stems From Production, Research Shows

Corn is not king in Iowa as far as cash income is concerned, according to Joseph Kenny, instructor in the geography department at the University of Wisconsin.

"Actually manufacturing plants supply more in the way of cash than crops do," Kenny said in an interview here yesterday when he visited the Iowa State Historical library.

He came here to obtain information on small town manufacturing plants in the corn belt. He plans to use information in his Ph.D. thesis.

To support his statements, Kenny cited the volume of business transacted in breakfast cereals and meat packing. He admitted, however, that these and many other factories depend upon the crops for raw and material. He said that the war emphasized the need for small manufacturing industries as well as large factories.

"Since the war, factories have been undergoing a decentralization process. The present tendency is for large manufacturers to build plants in small towns throughout the corn belt," Kenny observed.

Kenny described the Iowa State Historical library here as being a valuable source of information for his research. He has also gathered information from libraries at Northwestern university, University of Chicago, University of Illinois, and University of Wisconsin.

Keokuk Educator To Speak on Campus

J. C. Wright, superintendent of Keokuk schools, will address the university chapter of the Iowa Future Teachers of America tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol. His topic will be "Wanted: Dynamic Teachers."

Wright has been serving in the Keokuk school system as instructor, principal and superintendent for 16 years.

This year for the first time the University of Iowa has organized a local chapter of the Iowa Future Teachers of America. More than 20 colleges in Iowa, including Iowa State Teachers college, Drake university, Simpson, and Iowa State college at Ames, have local chapters.

The purpose of this chapter is to bring together students in education, (there are over 400 enrolled in education classes at SUI) to coordinate the state and national work, to help raise the standards, and stimulate the interest of the student body.

The so-called flag code by which U. S. patriots govern the display and use of the American flag is founded on heraldry, a product of feudalism.

Hogan, Phipps Capture Pro-Amateur

Sports Shots

By Bob Collins

The prospects for the Iowa baseball team are encouraging although you probably couldn't get Coach Otto Vogel to admit anything except that Iowa should be able to field a team this spring. And looking at the releases from the other conference schools makes one appreciate his point of view and to think twice or even three times before doing any horn blowing.

Ohio State, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota and all the rest have upwards of 150 men each out for daily drills. Coach Vogel's Hawk squad probably numbers around 90 which gives Iowa an initial disadvantage. Of course, as hard-hitting Outfielder Dale Erickson aptly puts it, "they can only play nine at a time."

Iowa's players will have the advantage of a week workout down south but the other schools also managed to scrape together enough wampum to follow suit. All the teams should be ready for a flying start and the season should be a dog-fight from start to finish.

One point in the Hawk's favor is that their powerful catcher, Lyle Ebner, seemingly has recovered from his elbow operation. His throw is sharp and strong enough to knock a man down. Likewise the proportion of tried and proven veterans and talented newcomers bids well for Iowa's chances.

This will be the twelfth time a Hawkeye diamond squad has taken a southern trip. In eleven swings into rebel-land since 1925, Iowa teams have won 42 games, lost 25 and tied two. The last three teams to go south, 1939, 1940, and 1941, won 16 of 18 contests to give the '47 outfit something to shoot at in their six game invasion set for March 31 to April 5.

In a recent issue of the sports magazine Amateur Athlete, the rankings of the swimmers of the world were listed. And Iowa's Wally Ris was right up there among them. Wally was ranked second in the 200-meter free style and eighth in the 100-meter free style. Both events were headed by France's A. Jany.

Ris, had he been eligible, would have helped that Iowa team push Michigan even harder than they did for second place in the Big Nine meet last week-end. Coach Armbruster is recovering from a slight illness which he brought home with him and is looking forward to sending some of his men to the National collegiate meet at Seattle, Wash., March 28-29.

Coach Armbruster is well pleased with the record of this year's team from top to bottom. In fact the veteran Hawkeye mentor points out that some of the men whose abilities were screened by the work of brighter stars actually formed the backbone of the squad. Men like Ken Marsh, Vito Lopin and Irwin Straub are handy examples. The consistent and brilliant work of these men gave Iowa points even when other men faltered or failed to come through as expected.

Monday afternoon the Muscatine high school cagers opened practice sessions on the gymnasium floor in preparation for their show-down tonight against Davenport. The Muskies look good, there's no doubt about it. Their passing game is particularly sharp and their set shots seem more than adequate.

Still we're stringing along with Coach Paul Moon's Blue Devils to continue their tournament march. Fans will be interested in seeing Fred Ruck, highly touted Davenport ace, in action. But don't forget that lurking in the background, is the unheralded but highly potent Franklin club from Cedar Rapids which could pull the upset of upsets in Friday's finals.

While the local tournament naturally holds our interest, it shouldn't be overlooked that some mighty strong outfits are building up momentum in other parts of the state. West Waterloo, Ottumwa, Waverly, Abraham Lincoln of Council Bluffs, and Danbury are all to be reckoned with.

emerge from such an environment to win championships. The Kinky-dinks would have been a little apologetic about the place.

All that is changed now. Al Lang field is the last word in ultra-modern design and construction, a beautiful living monument to a man who is very much among the living. Even the Athletics would look good in that setting.

Speaking of training grounds, the Cincinnati Reds have set up a new fence inside the vast expanse of plant field here, the fence making the playing field the same dimensions as those of Crosley field in Cincinnati. The idea is to get the outfielders accustomed to the area they will have to cover at home during the regular season. Heretofore a left fielder taking out after a ball hit over his head would get back about three innings later. It certainly is rolling country out there.

During the opening exhibition between the Reds and Tigers last Sunday a Red player hit a ball which called it foul, which it probably was as he was standing on the line where he could see.

Anyway, the crowd didn't like it, and one disgruntled fan muttered sourly: "Humph, why do they send those guys down here for spring training? They're in midseason form already."

Boykoff Gets 54 Points For Garden Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Harry Boykoff, towering St. John's center, established a new individual scoring record for Madison Square Garden last night by rolling up 54 points to lead his mates to a 71-52 victory over St. Francis college in the opener of an all-Metropolitan basketball doubleheader. Boykoff's great scoring spree bettered by one the 53-point total accumulated by George Mikan for De Paul in the 1945 invitational tournament game.

first and second money in the $15,000 pro division when both carded 138 for the 36-hole tournament. They each received $1,250.

With Palm Beach society turned out in its most colorful attire, the main attractions were the Dukes of Windsor and Marlborough, who drew large galleries but failed to place in the money.

Three amateur-pro teams shared second honors with 67's. They were Pro Dick Metz, Chicago, and Chace, Providence, R. I.; Lew Worsham, Washington, D. C., and J. G. Douglas, Sr., New York; Denny Shute, Akron, Ohio, and J. R. Fell, Westbury, N. Y.

Claude Harmon, resident pro, received $700 second money with his 141 in the pro tourney. Johnny Bulla, Phoenix, Ariz., and Ben Hogan received $475 each third money with 142's. Tony Penna, Cincinnati, earned $400 fourth money with his 143. Ellsworth Vines, Los Angeles; Jim Perrier, San Francisco, and Henry Picard, of Cleveland, carded 145's to receive $283 for fifth place, and Ed Furgol, Pontiac, Mich., and Ed Ghezzi, Knoxville, Tenn., earned $100 each with 146's.

Six teams split third honors in the amateur-pro tourney.

They were Prince Alexis Obelensky, Palm Beach, and Harbert; P. Walker, of Chicago, and Bulla; C. N. Geis, Los Island, N. Y., and Harmon; George Curran, Jr., Palm Beach, and Fazio; H. Topping, Jr., New York, and Ghezzi; and J. Whitney, Palm Beach, and Craig Wood, Detroit.

Injury Plague Strikes Giants

TUSCON, ARIZ., (AP) — In a costly exhibition game in which two players were injured, the New York Giants defeated the Cleveland Indians, 8-3 yesterday to even the rivals' spring series at 2-2.

Right Fielder Hank Edwards, the Tribe's leading hitter, dislocated a bone in his right arm in the third inning when he fell trying to catch a pop fly hit by Willard Marshall. Edwards is expected to be sidelined for six weeks.

Larry Jansen, promising rookie hurler of the Giants, was hospitalized with a possible skull fracture when struck by a line drive from Bob Feller's bat in the second inning. Jansen capped 31 games last season for San Francisco of the Pacific Coast league.

Edwards clouted an inside-the-park homer in the second frame before being injured, and the Tribe's Joe Gordon and New York's Bob Thomson also rapped round-trippers.

Feller, making his 1947 debut, worked easily during four innings and was rapped for eight hits and five runs as he was charged with the loss.

Buddy Lewis Best Bait For Washington Trade

ORLANDO, Fla., (AP) — A possibility that Buddy Lewis may be the key man in a trade arose yesterday as the slugging Washington Senator outfielder worked out with the team for the first time this season.

The Senators, with a surplus of outfielders, are searching for a shortstop. The veteran Lewis is regarded as President Clark Griffith's best bait.

A reporter suggested to Griffith that he offer Lewis and Pitcher Walter Masterson for shortstop Vernon Stephens of the St. Louis Browns. To this Griffith said, "I'll give you $150,000 if you make that deal for me."

Tigers Show Power

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — The Detroit Tigers coupled airtight pitching and a 16-hit assault yesterday to trounce the Philadelphia Phillies 13-1 in an exhibition baseball game.

The Tigers hopped on Charley Schanz for four runs in the first two innings and after being checked by Blix Donnelly, sewed up the decision. Roy Cullenbine, replacing Hank Greenberg at first base, chipped in with a home run.

Meanwhile, Paul (Dizzy) Trout, Fred Hutchinson and Hal White handcuffed the Phils with four hits.

Sox Batter Seattle

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Aided by a four-run fourth inning put together on five passes and two hits, the Chicago White Sox yesterday polished off the Seattle Rainiers 7-3.

The Sox seven-hit attack was led by a long home run poled by Murrell Jones, who shared the first basing chore with Don Kolloway, in the eighth.

Cubs Cuff Los Angeles

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — Bill Nicholson clubbed a 370-foot homer and Clyde McCullough added another circuit blow as the Chicago Cubs collected 14 hits to belt Los Angeles 9 to 1 yesterday in an exhibition game.

Ex-Hoosier Gridder Resembles Gehrig In First Base Play

By WHITNEY MARTIN TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Grapefruit seeds:

Ted Kluszewski, the former Indiana football star who is trying out at first base for the Cincinnati Reds, bears a startling resemblance on the field to the late Lou Gehrig. He's about the same size, with the same piano legs and vast hands and forearms. His general actions are much the same too, and the Reds are waiting hopefully to see if they can detect a faint resemblance in hitting.

The big guy's left forefinger sticks straight out when he grips a bat, and if he'd wet it when he steps to the plate he could keep track of sudden shifts in the direction of the wind. So far he has been something of an arm hitter, not getting much of his massive body into it.

His teammates have a little trouble with his name, and we head Bert Haas yell, "Hi, Kussagooski" at him the other day. Mike McCormick, now with the Braves, remembers him quite well, however. Last spring Kluszewski put head down and went after a fly ball like he was going down under a punt. He collided with Mike, no little guy himself, and knocked him in six different directions. Mike was out of action quite some time.

He's a great fello who has going down to second base on a double play ball. The men covering the bag has two choices, he can head for centerfield or wait around and get knocked out there.

They will dedicate the spic-and-span new Al Long stadium at St. Petersburg tomorrow, and the tribute couldn't happen to a nicer guy than old Mr. St. Pete himself. Al brought the major league teams to Florida for spring training, and has been the major factor in keeping most of them here, with a little assistance from the weatherman, of course.

He has kept the two most frequent pennant winners at St. Petersburg for many years, despite the fact the home park of these two teams, the Cardinals and Yankees, looked like it was thrown together by kids who build houses in trees. The miracle is that the two clubs could

Davenport, Muscatine Clash in Tourney

Ramblers Hit Wellman Five

With the high school sub-state tournaments in full swing, shrewd observers are eyeing the Davenport-Muscatine clash tonight at the Iowa fieldhouse as one of the important clues to the big mystery of who will be crowned state champs come Saturday, March 22.

The giant-killing Blue Devils who knocked off the defending title-holders, Iowa City high, and powerful Clinton to reach the sub-state will run into another stiff test at 8:45 tonight when they meet the Little Six powerhouse, Muscatine.

Of top interest to Iowa City fans will be the 7:30 o'clock tilt as St. Mary's tangles with Wellman in the Class B game. If the Ramblers win, they will meet Keystone for the right to play in the state tournament here next week.

The Davenport-Muscatine clash will find two of the strongest fives in southeast Iowa pitted against each other. Behind the sharpshooting of Jim Proffitt and smooth floor work of Captain Gene Paetz, the Muskies rolled merrily along all season and shared the Little Six title honors with Ottumwa.

Davenport, on the other hand, started miserably, losing their first five games, but finally began to hit their stride in the final weeks of the pre-tourney play. Big Fred Ruck has served notice that he is one of the top players in the state.

Franklin Drubs Manchester

Scores 52-28 Win To Reach Finals In Class A Tourney

Franklin high of Cedar Rapids served notice on the big guns in the Iowa City sub-state tournament—Muscatine and Davenport—that it was a willing and able contender for the crown when it smashed an ineffective Manchester five 52-28 in the first round of class A battling in the fieldhouse last night.

Muscatine and Davenport square off tonight to decide who meets Franklin in the finals Friday and with just a little more shooting luck than it experienced last night the Franklin five will be a tough outfit to oust from the meet.

Ames Drops Sub-State Opener to Tech, 45-43

DES MOINES — (AP) — Des Moines Tech toppled previously undefeated Ames 45-43 last night at the Iowa State College armory as play opened at the eight sub-state high school basketball tournaments.

The Little Cyclones, ranked No. 1 in the northwest in the final Associated Press poll, missed two free throws after the final gun and the Des Moines club came through with the only big upset in last night's first round play.

Keystone Plasters Center Point, 50-38, In Class B Game

Keystone poured past Center Point 50-38 in the first round of the class B section of the sub-state tournament held in the fieldhouse last night.

Keystone presented a balanced offense that centered around big Charlie Franzenberg who popped in 14 points—mostly on close or tip in shots—to lead all scorers for the evening.

Center Point's hard going forward—Bud Zeiser—couldn't find the range on the big fieldhouse floor but did manage to come through with five baskets to keep his mates in the ball game in the early stages.

The box score:

AVC is asking WHY RAISE RENTS IN UNIVERSITY DORMS?

The University has announced a raise in dorm rents which figures roughly 25 percent in room and board, 12 and one-half percent in room. But . . . university officials have not as yet answered these questions asked by students and American Veterans Committee.

1. Why is it necessary to raise room and board charges? (University officials say only that there are "rising costs of operation.") What are the facts, the figures? Students have a right to know.
2. How does payment toward the debt on university housing now compare with war years, when the navy was paying part of the debt.
3. Is the dormitory system operating now at a profit or loss? How do prices paid by the university for food compare with general retail prices?
4. Why is the university requiring deposits from present students, who will probably not shop around?

AVC has attempted to find the answers to these questions. The university has refused to answer.

Last Friday, an AVC committee conferred with university officials to get the facts. These officials, claiming they had no authority to answer the questions asked by AVC, scheduled a meeting for Saturday. This meeting was postponed until Monday.

At the Monday meeting, the university again refused to answer AVC's questions, claiming that AVC was not a "proper body" to continue the investigation. (AVC has 90 percent student membership). Regardless of whom the university gives the facts to AVC feels that the students are entitled to know.

This investigation follows the policy of AVC's local action in accord with our motto: Citizens First, Veterans Second.

Combine Civilian, Military Training, Peterson Urges

Jenna Favors, Schwenk Opposes Conscription In Forum Discussion

Military training alone won't assure complete national preparedness but must be blended with civilian education, Dean E. T. Peterson of the college of education said last night at a forum sponsored by the American Veterans Committee.

The forum panel discussed the question, "Should the U.S. adopt compulsory military training?"

Col. W.W. Jenna of the military science department advocated military training as a means of giving the United Nations the necessary stabilizing influence of a strong United States.

Emerson Schwenk, secretary of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, speaking against compulsory military training, said the safest and strongest country is that which leaves the choice of method of serving his country up to the individual.

"This nation is dedicated to the principles of personal freedom and liberty," he said. "Conscription leads to militarism. It strikes at human freedoms and takes away the individual's choice of method of serving his country."

Pointing out that in the last two wars the United States had time, space and allies on its side, Colonel Jenna said:

"In the future, we will not have time or space between us and possible foes. Military training now will give us a reserve of trained personnel ready to act in any emergency."

In answer to Colonel Jenna's proposition that military training would provide the country with a more mature youth, physically and mentally, Dean Peterson said:

"Health and physical training should be handled in the public schools. This is a continuous project. Such training should not be delayed until a youth is past high school age."

"In order to reach all American youth, there should be an expanded junior ROTC training on the high school level. This would give emphasis to training in health and citizenship at the stage where it would be most effective."

Technical training would be furnished by the armed services but control would be in the hands of local school boards, he said. Peterson pointed out that in the communities where there is such a set-up, it is heartily endorsed by a majority of the people.

The Rev. Evans A. Worthley of the Unitarian church served as moderator.

Campus Election Plan Hits Snag; 4 Groups List Conflicting Dates

Plans for a genuine all-campus election struck a snag last night when four organizations decided the April 22 date agreed upon would be too inconvenient to permit their participation.

Due to conflicting arrangements already scheduled, YWCA, the University Women's association and the Women's Recreational association will hold their elections in March. They had planned their dates before an all-university election was proposed; Union board will hold its election in May.

Organizations included in the April 22 balloting will be the Student council; YMCA; Tailfeathers; town men; town women, and the board of trustees of the Student Publications, Inc.

The council's executive committee also set 5 p.m., April 8, as deadline for the filing of petitions by candidates for all participating organizations.

The committee's action followed filing yesterday of a petition by R. Bruce Hughes, A3 of Sioux City, as candidate for delegate-at-large to the Student council.

Streets to Get Paint

A hundred gallons of paint will adorn Iowa City streets and curbs later this spring when parking markers are renewed.

The city council Monday authorized Police Chief O. A. White to buy 75 gallons of yellow traffic paint and 25 gallons of white paint for that purpose. A bid from the Gilpin paint store to furnish the paint for not more than $3.15 a gallon was accepted.

Board Names Samuelson

Robert Samuelson, C4 of Maquoketa, was elected to Union board last night by members of that organization.

He replaces Don McDowell, who withdrew from the university last month to enter business with his brother in Denver and to enroll in Denver university.

Samuelson will serve as chairman of Union board's bridge and games committee.

Hughes announced the following three-point platform:

(1) Student participation and representation on the athletic board of control, on the committees on student life, Homecoming, student aid, calendar and curriculum changes.

(2) Establishment of a cooperative bookstore.

(3) Sale of university activity cards by individual option to wives of students at the prevailing student price.

His petition is the only one which has been filed to date. The four delegates-at-large to be elected April 22 to the Student council must file their platforms and petitions signed by 20 voters in the office of student affairs by the April 8 deadline. To be eligible, a student must be at least a junior by the fall term and in good standing.

Town men and Town women must file their petitions the same way. They will elect one member each to the council.

The candidates for election to the board of trustees, Student Board of Publication, Inc., (two two-year term members and one one-year term member) must be nominated by petitions signed by 25 students in their respective colleges.

The petitions must be filed with Loie Randall in the journalism office, room N-1, East hall, by April 8.

The petitions must be accompanied by a statement from the registrar's office, stating that the candidate has satisfactorily completed 26 semester hours in the college of his registration. His grade point must equal that required for graduation from his college.

Unregistered Voters Have 7 Days to Sign

Unregistered Iowa Citizens have seven more days to sign up for voting in the March 31 city election of a new mayor and council, City Clerk George J. Dohrer pointed out yesterday.

With registration closed until yesterday's school board election was completed, several persons have been turned away in recent weeks, Dohrer reported. The next deadline is Mar. 19. Before yesterday, it was possible to register only between Feb. 25 and 27 following the Feb. 24 city primaries.

To qualify for voting, a person must be at least 21 years old, a resident of Iowa six months, of Johnson county 60 days and of his present precinct 10 days. Persons who have moved from one precinct to another also must record the change to remain eligible.

The clerk's City hall office is open weekdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturdays from 8 to 12 noon.

Charges Filed In Blakely Case

County Attorney Jack C. White last night filed a charge of operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent against Jacob E. Blakely, 19, of Mt. Sterling, Iowa. He will appear in police court today.

Blakely has been in county jail since his arrest Monday when police seized him in a car belonging to Elizabeth Ann Cole, 715 N. Johnson street. She reported the car missing from its parking place in front of East hall Monday morning.

The 14-year-old Iowa City boy who was Blakely's companion in the car, was released to the custody of his parents yesterday to await action by juvenile court authorities.

The youths said they were "out for a joy ride" when police questioned them.

Blakely, whose parents live at Mt. Sterling, Iowa, came to Iowa City on a visit three weeks ago.

Groups to Consider Organizing Society For Crippled Children

A meeting to attempt organization of a Johnson county chapter of the Iowa Society for Crippled Children and the Disabled will be held Friday noon at Reich's cafe. Elks, Rotarians, Kiwanis, Lions, Moose, League of Women Voters and the Red Cross are among organizations to be represented. Clyde Carter, recreational director of the Iowa society, was in Iowa City yesterday contacting various service clubs for their support of the chapter. Carter and Mrs. Dorothy Phillips, executive secretary of the Iowa society, are scheduled to attend the meeting. While he was here, Carter also discussed with various organizations the possibility of having a camp in this vicinity for crippled and disabled children. But Carter said finding a location for the camp is proving to be a problem. Such a camp should be on level ground and facilities should be closely grouped. Carter does not know exactly how many crippled children there are in Johnson county, but he said, "there are a good many more than in most counties." The Iowa society sponsors the annual Easter seal campaign. The campaign, now in progress, has a minimum goal of $100,000. With their money the society provides artificial limbs, hearing aids, medicine, hospitalization, aid to over 500 spastic club members in Iowa and other benefits.

EXECUTRIX NAMED
Georgia T. Marlas was appointed executrix yesterday of the will of Tony L. Marlas, who died Feb. 13. Will J. Hayek is the attorney.

Statehood Burning Issue To Hawaiians

Graduate Student Commends Ambitions Of Island Citizens

"Statehood is a burning issue to the people of Hawaii," asserts Mrs. Duncan Campbell, G of Hawaii.

Although she came originally from Council Bluffs, she now considers herself a "kamaina," native of Hawaii.

She left for Hawaii in the depths of the last depression because she thought business conditions would be better there.

"In the islands there was relatively little depression," she related. "Hawaii has the highest level of wages in the world."

Mrs. Campbell has taught high school in the islands 12 years. Her husband runs a sugar plantation.

"Iowa is familiar, but Hawaii is home," she said.

Now on sabbatical leave from school teaching duties in the territorial schools, at the end of the semester she plans to visit in Scotland with her husband's relatives.

"Teachers are in great demand in Hawaii now," said Mrs. Campbell. "Wages are good, and there is no waiting. Machinists, too, are in great demand since the business of the islands is becoming highly mechanized."

She related that when she spoke before the congressional investigation committee in Hawaii last summer, she testified she was sure Hawaii would elect competent persons to office if given the opportunity.

"The citizens of Hawaii are democratically minded," she said. "Eighty-five percent of the population voted in the statehood plebiscite in 1940, and the vote was two to one in favor of statehood."

"They feel that if they had to draft 25 thousand men for the United States armed forces, they should be entitled to representation in congress."

"Under the present form of government in the islands the people can't even vote for their own governor," Mrs. Campbell said.

She told of the deep feeling aroused by the 1934 legislation reducing Hawaiian sugar importations. The Hawaiian people feel the reduction was greater in proportion to the total amount produced in Hawaii, as compared with other non-mainland areas such as Cuba, Puerto Rico and the Philippines.

"This is most important because sugar is the life blood of the islands," she explained.

Mrs. Campbell said the citizens of Hawaii feel "no taxation without representation — no government without the consent of the governed" are axioms as much alive today as at the time of the Revolutionary war.

Charles Taft Booked As Convocation Speaker

Charles P. Taft, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, will speak at the University of Iowa centennial honors convocation June 1.

His address will precede the announcement of university prizes, honors and awards for 1946-47, presentation of awards to faculty and staff members who served 25 years, and memorial exercises for the university's dead of World War II.

Underground Heat Tunnels—

'Hotter Than the Devil's Kingdom'

—With Readings of 180 Degrees

When you see vapors coming out of the campus grounds, those clouds are coming from underground tunnels filled with pipes that bring heat to your classrooms. Those tunnels are hotter than the Devil's kingdom.

Every day men go into those tunnels to fix worn pipe joints and repair leaks—to keep your steam coming.

Men like T. J. Parker, for 23 years a steam fitter at the physical plant, get so they can take it. But for someone unused to it, just the entrance to the tunnels under the mechanical engineering building is enough. It's a frightening spectacle.

Entering, you see a mass of pipes, all twisted and tangled, hissing ominously with heat. Passing this point on your way to the physics building, you go through a narrow tunnel where the heat is 180 degrees. Think of Washington and Dubuque streets at a summertime 110 degrees, the average in the tunnels.

One hundred and eighty degrees saps your strength, soaks your clothes with sweat, scorches your eyes, makes you think you're passing out. But don't pass out here. There's a long way to go if all the tunnels are going to be inspected.

You don't just walk through the tunnels on an inspection. Most of the time you slither. Your clothes get dirty. You have to climb through hot, pretzel-like pipe junctions.

Underground you can walk straight down Grand avenue. Unlike the Stygian blackness of some other sections, there are welcome wall lights there strung far into the distance where they haze from sight in the fanning waves of heat.

Running along beside your path are the pipes, constantly rumbling, always hissing. One has respect for that hiss, and hopes that if ever those pipes choose to burst, they won't choose the moment of his passing by.

below. He said that in 1937 in the tunnel right off the laundry—

"It was just after finishing repairs. We were turning the steam back on and the line broke in some mysterious way. It broke about three feet away, right by my head. Fortunately there were only 5 or 10 pounds of pressure."

Parker is a good man to have as a leader in the tunnels. He knows them so well that when he strides confidently ahead, the confidence is felt by those trailing. It is especially good to hear him say that the next section "won't be any hotter than 140 degrees."

In the immediate vicinity of a ventilator, temperature in the tunnels is comfortable. There used to be hoboes who made a practice of sleeping nights in the warm passages. At various places in the tunnels one finds evidence of transients in the form of Bay rum bottles and old newspapers left behind. Parker said the ingrates might never have been chased out had they not left such a mess.

It was thoughtfully mentioned that a girl getting back to Currier after hours might sneak in through the passages. Near Currier, however, there are some very hot sections. The girl and her clothes would surely lose the glamour that kept her out so late.

Traditional Hunt For Blarney Stone To Hail Mecca Week

Mecca week will begin Monday with the seniors of the associated students of engineering searching for the traditional Blarney stone, hidden by last year's seniors.

During Mecca week there will be a smoker Thursday night, March 20, at which time a queen and six attendants will be chosen from the seven candidates already selected. The queen will reign at the semiformal dance Friday, March 21, in the main lounge of Iowa Union. Larry Barrett and his orchestra will play for the dance from 9 to 12 midnight.

Candidates chosen from the 15 women's housing units are as follows: Sally Mattes, A1 of Odebolt; Mary Leeming, A3 of Elmhurst, Ill.; Mickey Hawthorne, A4 of Creston; Cam Smith, A2 of St. Louis, Mo.; Dorothy Armbruster, A3 of Iowa City; Doris Green, A3 of Des Moines, and Elizabeth Stuart, A3 of Des Moines.

Chaperons for the dance will be Dean and Mrs. F. M. Dawson; Prof. and Mrs. F. G. Higbee; Prof. and Mrs. E. B. Kurtz; Prof. and Mrs. R. M. Barnes; Prof. and Mrs. N. L. Ashton; Prof. and Mrs. B. J. Lambert, and Major C. N. Wagner.

One half of one percent of the petroleum produced in the United States, if converted into alcohol, would produce an amount equal to all U. S. alcohol requirements.

Personal Notes

University Women's Association will honor Merle D. Miller at a banquet at Iowa Union Thursday evening.

Guests will include Prof. and Mrs. H. C. Harshbarger, Prof. and Mrs. Fred Pownall, Prof. and Mrs. A. Craig Baird, Frances Camp and Helen Focht. Some out of town visitors are expected to attend.

Frank Kindl, 732 E. Davenport street, is a patient in University hospital.

Mrs. W. A. Freeman of Cedar Rapids is visiting in the home of her mother, Mrs. J. L. Johnson, 520 S. Johnson street.

Mrs. Donald Bengel, 604 S. Clinton street, has returned from a visit with her sister, Mrs. Helen Hammell of Des Moines.

Two officers from the Iowa national guard troop of Iowa City will go to Des Moines today to be officially boarded (reviewed) by the state officers.

The two officers, First Lt. Harry Dick and First Lt. Warren Clark, must be boarded before official recognition of the unit can be given. Federal inspection for recognition is expected to take place next week.

Ruth Ann Hollander, A4 of Cedar Rapids, will spend the weekend at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Shirrell Riddle, West Liberty, are the parents of an 8-pound, 12-ounce boy born Monday evening at Mercy hospital.

John Hedges, director of the visual education department, and L. W. Cochran, executive assistant of the extension division, will leave for Des Moines today. They will present moving pictures of the governor's inaugural ceremony and historical New England to the legislature at the governor's banquet at Camp Dodge today and tomorrow. They will return to Iowa City Friday.

Marilyn Hade and Louise Caran, both 1946 graduates, visited last weekend at the Alpha Xi Delta sorority house. Miss Hade is now society editor of the Rock Island Argus at Rock Island, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rues, West Liberty, are the parents of a 7-pound, 10-ounce boy born yesterday morning at Mercy hospital.

Mrs. Joseph Negus, 701 E. College street, will leave for Des Moines tomorrow where she will represent the Nathaniel Fellows chapter at the 48th annual conference of Iowa Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. Genevieve Woodward, formerly of Iowa City and now residing in Des Moines, will also represent the Nathaniel Fellows chapter of which Mrs. Negus is vice-regent. The state conference is being held at Hotel Fort Des Moines.

Rose Burlton, A1 of Williamsburg, went home yesterday to recuperate from the flu. She will return to Iowa City Monday.

A 7-pound, 5-ounce boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Leo Jindrich, Swisher, at Mercy hospital Monday evening.

Iowa Beta chapter of Phi Delta

Theta fraternity announces the pledging of Claire Jennett, A1 of Sac City, and John Turnbull, A1 of Princeton, N. J.

Jean Dahl, A3 of Fairfield, was elected president of the Zeta Tau Alpha pledge class Monday night. Margaret Erb, A1 of Earlham, was elected vice-president, and Joanne Prokop, A1 of Gary, Ind., was elected secretary-treasurer.

A material similar to coarse wool has been developed from jute fiber in India.

Ray Carlson Elected President of Betas

Ray Carlson, C3 of Ft. Dodge, was elected president of Beta Theta Pi social fraternity Monday night.

Other officers are Bob Smith, A3 of Cedar Rapids, vice-president; Frank Keefe, A1 of Clinton, rushing chairman; Bob Danke, C3 of Des Moines, steward. Rex Crayne, A2 of Iowa City, social chairman; Carl Aschoff, A3 of Burlington, pledge master and John Baker, A1 of Des Moines, recording secretary.

Selected editor of the local Beta Theta Pi yearly magazine was Freeman Swift, A3 of Des Moines. Edward Sitz, A2 of Davenport, was elected secretary; Dan Hintz, A1 of Oelwein, librarian and Bob Roseland, A2 of Clear Lake, sergeant-at-arms.

Ducks can rotate each wing separately and fly straight upward in a spiral.

Firemen's Ball

This year's firemen's ball, proceeds of which are for charitable and benevolent purposes, will be held April 28.

Approving that date, the city council Monday granted permission for the dance after a petition was submitted by Gilbert L. Capps, representing the fire department.
