Truman Orders Sweeping Purge Of 'Disloyal' Federal Employes

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman last night ordered a purge of all government employes where there are "reasonable grounds" to doubt their loyalty and set up sweeping new standards to test it. His executive order directed a "loyalty investigation" of everyone who applies for a job in the executive departments and agencies, without exception, where now only questionable applicants are tested.

And it instructed the agencies to submit the names of all their present employes to the federal bureau of investigation for a check wherever this has not already been done.

The attorney general is ordered to make a list, and keep it up to date, of all subversive organizations. A person's membership in or "sympathetic association with" one of them will be ground for stamping him disloyal. This blacklist is to include all "totalitarian, fascist, communist, or subversive" groups; all that advocate or approve force to deny persons their constitutional rights; and all that seek to change the form of the government "by unconstitutional means."

Moreover, a "central master index" was ordered set up of all persons whose loyalty has been investigated since Sept. 1, 1939. It may be referred to by all government agencies.

The order does not apply to the judicial or legislative branches of the government. Supplemental appropriations for the civil service commission and FBI probably will be asked. They may amount to $15,000,000 to $20,000,000. Each agency head, Mr. Truman ruled, must be "personally responsible" for cleaning his own house. Mr. Truman acted under provisions of the Hatch act which is designed to "prevent pernicious political activity." He asked no legislation, and made his executive order effective at once, or as soon as congress votes the fund where increased outlays are necessary.

The president acted on the basis of a 40-page report from a "temporary commission on employe loyalty" but did not go as far as the commission recommended. Mr. Truman named the commission last November at the suggestion of the house civil service committee. It was composed of one representative each from five cabinet departments and the civil service commission and headed by A. Devitt Vanech, assistant attorney general. The commission's report, released last night, goes beyond the White House action in these recommendations:

1—Counter-espionage within the government service to detect "the venal employe selling secrets to foreign agents" as well as the disloyal worker who is motivated by foreign ideology.

2—That attention be given to the "resurgence of native fascist movements."

3—That the secretaries of state, war and the navy and atomic energy commission be authorized by law to remove any employe summarily in the interest of national security, without the need to prove him disloyal.

The loyalty commission believes that "the employment of disloyal or subversive persons presents more than a speculative threat to our system of government."

Its report released last night gives these three reasons:

1. "The recent Canadian espionage expose." This was the case in which a number of Canadian government employes were convicted of aiding a Russian spy ring in efforts to get atomic bomb and other secrets.

2. "The Communist party line activities of some of the leaders and some of the members of a government employe organization (unidentified)."

3. "Current disclosures of disloyal employes."

Other paragraphs from the report:

"The information received from the reports of the federal bureau of investigation, the military intelligence division and the office of naval intelligence indicates that these three intelligence services recognize the existence of a threat within the government service to the internal security of the United States by reason of the employment of subversive persons."

"In addition to the emphasis properly placed on communist and communist front organization activities, attention should be directed to the resurgence of native fascist movements."

"There is still a distinct need for aggressive and uninterrupted counter-intelligence, particularly in its counter-espionage phases. A clear example of that need is presented in the recent widely publicized Canadian experience with communist espionage activities."

Iowa Man Marches Down Marriage Isle For Sixteenth Time

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP)—Iowa's most-married man has stepped to the altar for the 16th time. Latest bride of James F. Williams, 65-year-old employe of a building supply firm, is the former Mrs. Louise Parker, 60, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Although Williams himself scorns newsmen and can't understand why there is "all this fuss" about his matrimonial ventures, the new Mrs. Williams granted an interview. She confirmed that they were married in Kansas City last Oct. 4 a few months after Williams had received an annulment of marriage no. 15 on grounds that wife left him without saying adieu.

Williams was married first in 1904 but the first of 14 divorces soon followed. He was wed again Sept. 6, 1906, and this marriage lasted 24 years.

Bride No. 3, remained with him only 6 months; no. 4 only 7 months, and no. 5, by a month. In September, 1935, marriage no. 6 took place but this ended in divorce in June, 1936. Williams remarried wife no. 6 in April, 1937 but this lasted only a year.

Spouse no. 8 married and divorced him four times within approximately the same number of years. Marriages no. 12, 13 and 14 followed in short order and on Aug. 3, 1945, Williams was wed to Augusta McGary, 61, after a correspondence club romance. She took French leave within a month, annulment followed, and now marriage no. 16 has blossomed.

Dewey Backs Truman's Plan To Aid Greece

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey yesterday endorsed President Truman's proposal of U.S. aid to Greece to halt the spread of communism in Europe and said the program should have "the full support of the American people."

Dewey, a possible candidate for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination, described the Greeks as "a brave bulwark against tides of oppression which would engulf the world."

He said American help was "necessary" to assist the Greeks in "resisting the forces of armed and ideological aggression endeavoring to create chaos and disruption among them."

Dewey made no mention of Turkey but executive assistant James C. Hagerty said last week "the governor has expressed himself strongly to a number of people that we must do all in our power to prevent the collapse of the free countries of Europe."

"In addition to the emphasis properly placed on communist and communist front organization activities, attention should be directed to the resurgence of native fascist movements."

Martial Law Ordered In Southern Greece

ATHENS (AP)—The Greek government proclaimed martial law yesterday in the Laconia district at the extreme southern tip of the Greek mainland.

The Laconia district contains the town of Gythion where 32 communist convicts were killed Friday in an attack on a prison.

The attack was staged by neighboring villagers as reprisal for the murder of a rightist band chief.

"It would be unrealistic to assume that foreign powers are not maintaining intelligence networks in this country."

"The information received from the reports of the federal bureau of investigation, the military intelligence division and the office of naval intelligence indicates that these three intelligence services recognize the existence of a threat within the government service to the internal security of the United States by reason of the employment of subversive persons."

Russia Proposes Reich Rule Based on Weimar Republic

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia proposed to the council of foreign ministers last night that the future German government be based on the Defunct Weimar Republic.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall, expressed the opinion that the Russian view was not as far from those of the U.S. Britain and France as had been expected.

In general, both the United States and Britain support the idea of a federalized Germany, while France is for a loose and decentralized regime. The Russian proposals were subjected to an immediate attack by Britain and France.

The long-awaited Soviet proposals for Germany made public by Russian Foreign Minister V.M. Molotov included a two-chamber parliament elected by proportional representation through a list voting system.

Molotov's outline for Germany was the top feature of the day, which saw the French stand by their plan for a loose federation of German states and a British statement on economic principles for Germany with a 10,000,000-ton annual steel level and a conciliatory gesture toward the French demand for coal.

among the ministers, elaborated on the fundamental principles he announced yesterday for a federalized Germany, in which he urged establishment of a provisional German regime "at once."

The American memorandum proposed a recreated Germany of from 10 to 18 Laender (states) headed first by a provisional government composed of the heads of states.

The U.S. plan states that Germany shall have no military establishment whatsoever, that no political party shall have special privileges, and that the constitutional government shall be ratified by a majority of the people and a majority of the German states.

Striking differences between the Soviet and western plans for a future German government included:

1. The Soviet proposed proportional representation voting system where the vote would be for party "lists." The "list" voting system has been denounced by America and Britain as unacceptable.

2. That both houses be elected by direct suffrage on a population basis. The American and British plans envisage one of two houses election on a state basis such as the United States senate, while the French propose only one house composed of representatives from each state.

3. The Russians propose putting powers in the hands of a central administration which delegates power to the states. The western powers want the states to retain the main powers and delegate certain authorities to the federal government.

4. The Soviet proposal that all Laender (state) constitutions be made to conform to a central constitution would destroy most constitutions now in effect in the American and British zones of Germany.

In attacking the soviet proposals, French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault declared that "the ghost of the Weimar republic will not find favor with the French people."

Molotov had proposed that "we take the Weimar constitution as a basis on which to work."

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin pointed out immediately that the Weimar republic provided many bad features, including the power of the president to suspend the constitution, which was one of the stepping stones of Hitler's rise to power.

DAVENPORT'S FRED RUCK (9) goes up high to sink one for the Blue Devils as Wally Piper (24) of Sioux City Central makes a valiant attempt to block the shot. Davenport won the game and the state high school championship, 42-23. Ruck was top scorer for both teams with 12 points.

Sioux City Five Overwhelmed By 19 Points

Danbury Giant-Killers Top Ottumwa, 28-27, To Win Consolation

By BOB COLLINS
Daily Iowan Sports Editor
The grueling marathon of Iowa high school basketball ground to a screaming halt last night at the fieldhouse as Davenport emerged with a 42-23 victory over Sioux City Central to become the 1947 state basketball champion.

The team from the banks of the Mississippi was called upon to face the challenge of the team from the banks of the Missouri and it met it superbly. From the opening minute the Blue Devils controlled the game and the outcome was never in doubt.

The title contest was not the hectic affair that was predicted. The Blue Devils drove over, around and through the Central quintet which was far from the team that stopped Danbury in the semi-final game. The game was punctuated by whistle blasts as officials called a total of 38 fouls in the contest.

With the main event rather anticlimactic after the semi-final thrillers, the major share of excitement was generated by the consolation game which starred the hard-luck kids from Ottumwa and Danbury. The small-town boys, disregarding their fatigue after seven journey contests without relief, went on to score a sparkling 28-27 win over the Bulldogs.

The tournament was a record one in many ways, not in the least of which was total attendance which approached 90,000 for the four-day meet.

Davenport's Blue Devils left nothing to chance last night as they methodically pounded out an easy, 42-23, victory over Sioux City Central in the finals of the state tournament.

In becoming the sole survivor of the 912 teams which started the tournament race a month ago, Davenport showed all the poise of a true champion. Led by their candidate for all-state honors, Fred Ruck, who scored 12 points, the Blue Devils swept to an early 62 lead and enlarged it as the game went along.

Sioux City fought back in spurts but experienced a very "cold" night and failed to solve Davenport shifting styles of defense which varied as the game progressed. Central's Big gun, Willie Lee, was handcuffed most of the game and held to a three point total.

The victory was an especially sweet one for Coach Paul Moon who brought the team along from a helpless outfit which lost its first five games to a title-holder. His team last night was a tribute to his coaching as it operated like a machine making few if any mistakes.

The pace of the game went contrary to expectations as Davenport used its famed fast break sparingly and at the same time stopped Central's fire-wagon cold. The Demons poked away at Central's defense and drove hard for easy lay-ins with enough success that Sioux City never got their show on the road. Davenport opened the scoring as Keyoth stuck with his long specialty and built up the advantage to read 10-5 at the quarter. With Ruck scoring eight of the first 14 Davenport points, the Blue Devils poured it on the sparkless Central five. The halftime score was 23-12 (See BLUE DEVILS, Page 6)

Truman Urges Extended Rent, Sugar Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman signed a June 30 death warrant for the OPA yesterday but urged congress to provide for the rent and sugar controls to be carried on by other agencies.

A meeting of Republican senate leaders, however, failed to settle the differences among them over whether the controls should be continued, and if so how.

The president approved the $170,625,668 deficiency appropriation bill which liquidates the catch-all office of temporary controls at mid-year along with the OPA and the civilian production administration merged into it.

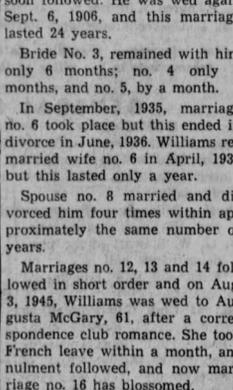

Simultaneously, Mr. Truman ordered all the housing controls of the CPA transferred on April 1 to housing expediter Frank R. Creeden.

CPA's funds are so reduced by the bill as to make it powerless in the construction field beyond March 31.

In specifying the liquidation of OTC, the act eliminates three once-powerful war agencies consolidated in the control office last December—OPA, CPA and the office of war mobilization and reconversion.

Mr. Truman called for "prompt action" by congress "to insure continuity." And he urged that the necessary funds be transferred to the agencies which take over the rationing and rent ceiling controls. In the case of sugar, a bill now pending would hand both price and ration authority to the agriculture department.

Meanwhile, Rep. Andresen (R-Minn.), chairman of a house food shortage subcommittee, wrote Secretary of Agriculture Anderson asking for an increase of five points in the per capita sugar allotment for home consumption.

Indications that Cuban sugar production this year will be 500,000 tons above earlier estimates, Anderson said, point to the availability of that much more sugar for this country.

OF CABBAGES AND KINGS— Violating the Charter In the Name of Peace

By LAWRENCE E. DENNIS
Daily Iowan Columnist

Those good, grey congressional guardians of "bi-partisan" American foreign policy, Senators Arthur Vandenberg and Tom Connally, have gone on record—almost as an afterthought—with a declaration that the proposed United States action in Greece and Turkey conforms with the principles and purposes of the United Nations.

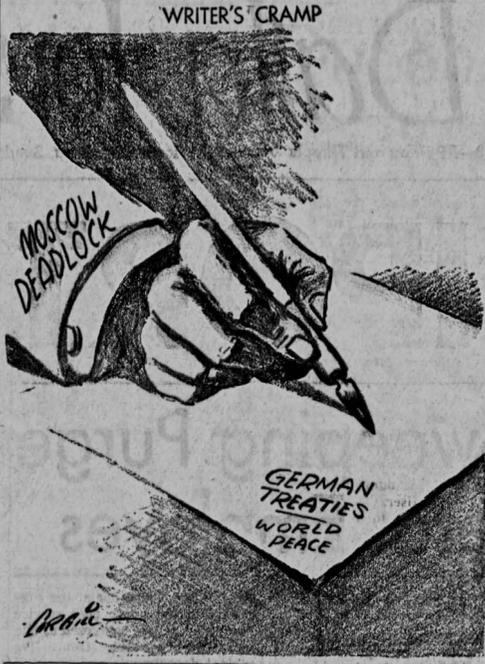

The Michigan Republicans and Texas Democrat, senior members of the senate foreign relations committee, introduced their joint statement Friday in the form of a preamble to the bill authorizing United States economic and military aid to the two eastern Mediterranean countries. Apparently drafted with the idea of meeting criticism, both here and abroad, that President Truman's loan program circumvents the United Nations, the two senators have declared that the UN "is not now in a position to furnish the financial and economic assistance immediately required" and that "the furnishing of such assistance by the United States will contribute to the freedom and independence of all members of the UN."

As the prefix to legislation granting unqualified American assistance to the present undemocratic governments in Greece and Turkey, the Vandenberg-Connally apologetics thus adds to the abuse which has been heaped upon the charter of the United Nations since Feb. 27, when the British government formally notified the U.S. state department that it could no longer fulfill its commitments in the eastern Mediterranean.

For within the past 24 days both the letter and the spirit of the UN charter have been flagrantly violated. And it is one of the great tragedies of our foreign policy crisis that, in their eagerness to "stop the spread of totalitarianism," Vandenberg and Connally have permitted these violations to pass unnoticed.

Both men were members of the American delegation at the San Francisco conference, where the charter was drawn up. One cannot help but reflect, therefore, that the two senate leaders have allowed the ideals of the UN, for which they professed such glowing admiration two years ago, to become muddled and confused.

Here, however, are important excerpts from the historical document which Vandenberg and Connally helped draft in the spring of 1945. (The international

Business, Government, Labor All Study Possibilities of Guaranteed Annual Wage

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK (AP) — The highly controversial question of a guaranteed annual wage for labor is coming in for serious study by people in government, business and labor.

If careful analysis should indicate the plan could stand on its own feet, without benefit of subsidy, or without working financial claim it would become a powerful stabilizing force and say they would favor it.

Many others, however, feel that the plan, if adopted universally, would hurt the national economy in short order.

They claim small businesses lack the necessary reserve to make good on commitments in bad times, and large businesses in good times would hesitate to expand because of additional guarantees necessary for additional workers.

Some Unions Oppose
While some of the big CIO unions are expected to stump for year-round wage contracts, the plan is by means a labor project exclusively. Many unions vigorously oppose it, and others regard it with apathy.

The International Ladies garment workers want no part of an annual wage commitment, claiming their immediate goal is "to create stability among employers," many of whom fade after a few months operation. They ask what good is a contract when the boss goes bankrupt?

A pertinent point concerning manufacturers and workers alike is whether year-round guarantees could succeed in a free economy.

Some independent fact-finding boards, such as National Industrial Conference Board, Inc., and some unions, like the National Maritime union, say a guaranteed wage is possible only under a regulated economy, with government assuming responsibility for production and consumer choice.

Murray Pugs II
Philip Murray, arguing for the move, said that guaranteed wages would stabilize economy and ward off depressions.

SUI Students Favor Increased Subsistence for Vets in School

By RICHARD WALK

Increased subsistence allowances for veterans attending college under the GI bill of rights has the approval of most University of Iowa students, according to the results of The Daily Iowan poll.

Many students felt that increases were in order because of the higher cost of living, but others disapproved of an increase as high as $35 proposed in congressional legislation. The government, some said, was only supposed to give partial support to veterans.

The question was: "A bill was recently introduced into congress to raise the subsistence for single veterans to $100 a month and for married veterans to $125 a month. Do you approve or disapprove of this increase in the subsistence allowance for veterans?"

Students who approved of the proposed increase expressed their reasons:

"It's necessary to meet rising costs of living."
"I've yet to see the guy that can live on 65 bucks a month."
"I figure they should have full subsistence if any at all!"
"Are you kidding?"

"It ought to be increased even more than that."
"If prices had not gone up I would not approve."
"Very difficult to get along on present rate."

"Veterans should have as much as state can afford to allow them."
"I can't get along on $65 myself."
(Freshman woman) — "Fellows are too poor now."
"Not that much increase though."

Students who disapproved expressed their reasons:

"I would approve a $10 or $15 increase but not $65."
"Decrease, if anything."
"This is no gravy train."
"Would like it but still disapprove."
"Just have to pay it back in the long run."
"Should be paid but not that much."
"Education should not be a free ride."

He Killed Mussolini
ROME (AP) — The man who slew Benito Mussolini was identified by the Italian Communist party yesterday as Walter Audisio, 37, a bookkeeper and member of the anti-Fascist underground.

Audisio, a Communist since 1931, was asked to appear today in a Rome theater to describe the dictator's execution, but the Communists last night postponed his appearance for a week.

It Takes an Idea to Beat an Idea

The reaction of many of our congressmen to President Truman's pronouncement on Greece and Turkey seems even more frightening than the speech itself.

It is becoming increasingly obvious that an alarming number of our senators and representatives are less interested in establishing democracy in Greece than they are in erasing communism. With but few exceptions they are placing all the emphasis on the negative rather than the positive approach.

It is very important to the peace of the world in just what frame of mind our congress decides to implement the executive department's new policy in the middle east. As the legislators must supply the funds that will put this program into effect, they will have considerable voice in its operation.

The members of congress can attack the problem from three angles. They can decide that the best way to contain communistic expansion is by helping Greece become an efficient democracy. By using this method they will recognize that when they are dealing with the spread of communism they are dealing with the spread of an idea whose appeal can only be nullified by offering a better idea.

They can turn the coin around, on the other hand, and decide that the way to help Greece become a democracy will be to rid the country of communist influence first. This policy will commit the U.S. to the support of a government which to the degree it is not now democratic must necessarily be itself totalitarian. This will leave us striving to eliminate the communistic form of totalitarianism and at the same time supporting the present Greek form of totalitarianism.

Of they can go a step further, as some of their speeches already indicate. They can decide to pay only lip service to the notion of establishing democracy in Greece and devote all their attention to halting communism.

If we enter Greece with this single purpose in mind, we will be completely disarmed in the ideological sense and may be forced eventually to fall back upon military might.

Exodus From the West

One of South Africa's foremost native leaders sounded a somber warning this week that racial and color discrimination practiced by our western civilization may result in deadly conflict between East and West.

He is Prof. Davidson Don Tengo Jabavu, leading South African educator who studied in both America and England.

The color bar in South Africa, he said, "has made the non-white lose hope in western civilization and feel his destiny lies in eastern political power."

The African, according to Jabavu, is turning toward the Soviet Union.

"We know that in many parts of the western world Russians, allied to Mongols, are regarded as not quite white," he said. "To such a vast domain must be added Egypt. All those peoples will work inevitably toward one great combine against what they dislike in most of Europe and the United States."

"In my view and that of other leaders, this will mean a big clash from which the white races can be saved only by atomic power, but we believe that by that time—in World War III or perhaps World War IV—atomic power also will be known to the great colored group."

Jabavu's words point up a trend that has been growing with great rapidity of recent years. Think what you will of the Soviet Union, but it cannot be denied that it is gradually drawing to its bosom many of the peoples long suppressed and neglected by the "white" civilization.

It is time we recognized this fact. It is time we started living democracy as well as preaching it. When the chips are down, we may need many friends.

It's like Jabavu said:

"To western civilization the question of the color bar may seem a tiny thing now, but to me it represents the start of a giant avalanche leading to submerging of that civilization and the rise of an eastern civilization unless—and it's a big unless—something is done by those in control of history to lead the world toward racial reconciliation."

We Take You Now to Washington

We got a big surprise Friday morning when we turned on the radio. Instead of the usual A.M. fare, an announcer was saying, "We take you now to the floor of the house of representatives in Washington, D. C., for a special broadcast."

We couldn't quite believe it. After years of talk about whether or not congress ought to be on the air, we were actually going to listen to the lawmakers at work.

It was a special broadcast of the house foreign affairs committee questioning Dean Acheson, acting secretary of state, on the president's request for $400,000,000 to resist communism in Greece and Turkey.

It seemed quite right and natural that such an important discussion of such an important proposal should be brought right to the people by radio. And we found ourselves wondering why more of the same sort of thing wasn't done in the past.

Public opinion experts tell us that the American public is capable of clear thinking on any subject if the facts are readily available. The real problem in making our representative government work, it is generally agreed, is, first, to get the people interested in important public matters and, secondly, to get information on those matters to them.

What a help it would be, we thought, if radio could take all of us into the halls of congress, into the committee rooms, into the cabinet offices each day to give us a play by play of representative government in action.

How much simpler it would be for the average American to follow the development of the major issues of the day and—more important—to participate intelligently in the formation of the policy which determines America's decisions on those issues.

Protests Denial Of Booth to AYD

TO THE DAILY IOWAN:

On March 17 and 18, AYD set up a table in front of Bremer's in order to bring to the attention of the greatest number of people two petitions which AYD felt to be of great importance at this time: one in support of the FEPC bill now before the Iowa legislature, the other to suspend the increase of dorm rents pending an investigation (it also made the reasonable request that President Hancher make public the figures supporting this increase).

On the third morning the manager of Bremer's refused AYD permission to set up the table again. The night before he had received three calls from persons who claimed to be "University officials." These persons said that because AYD was not campus recognized they should not be allowed to circulate a petition concerning university affairs. (And if your neighbor's house is burning, you must only stand and watch.)

Dean Thompson, when approached by AYD representatives, denied any knowledge of the calls. During the first interview he stated that he would attempt to ascertain whether or not a university official did make the call. He also took occasion to remind AYD that they had no campus recognition and were no concern of his. (Enjoy the blaze, gentlemen.)

The next day Dean Thompson told AYD that he knew nothing and, since he had no "gestapo off campus," would make no investigation. And so the "officials" remain unknown, but the deep tragedy of the situation is that no one seems to care. One of the basic Constitutional rights has been flaunted—and no one cares. (The fire is still next door. No cause for alarm.)

Politicos Eye Chicago Election

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago election April 1 provides the first big city test since the 1946 congressional vote of how things are shaping up between Republicans and Democrats in the push toward '48.

Republicans, who punched the Democratic organization back on its heels in the autumn bout, are striving for a knockout blow. They won 14 of 17 offices in the county in November. They figure domination of the city, coupled with their normal advantage downstate, would shift Illinois '28 electoral votes to the GOP column in the presidential race.

Democrats, who have retained a grip on the city for 16 years and helped swing the state to Franklin D. Roosevelt four times, are seeking to hold the fort as their party's citadel in Illinois.

The race pits Martin H. Kennelly, Democrat, a business man making his first bid for elective public office, against Russell W. Root, a lawyer who zoomed up from the ranks to direct Republicans of a thumping triumph in Cook county (Chicago) last fall.

At stake is a four-year position with an $18,000 annual salary, rule of the city hall and its 16,000 jobs, and political control of Chicago.

Carroll Reece, Republican national chairman, has termed the fight for the mayorality an "important preliminary engagement!"

in next year's presidential battle. Kennelly carries the endorsement of Edward J. Kelly, Democratic national committeeman who is stepping out of the mayor's suite after a 14-year tenure, and of the Chicago Democratic organization. Root has the backing of Gov. Dwight H. Green, and the Chicago units of the Republican state organization.

Because the duel involves political prestige and power, and may produce omens of national significance, increasing attention is focusing on the candidates.

They are cast in the midwestern mold. Both are big, friendly, informal and plain-talking. Both are veterans of World War I. Both speak for economy, efficiency and all-around improvement. They don't have the tobacco habit and drink only occasionally, but neither wants to be known as a reformer.

Here is how they stack up: ROOT — 48, 6 feet, 2 1/2 inches, 220 pounds. Native of Grundy county, Illinois. Graduate of University of Illinois. Assistant state's attorney in Chicago 1927-33, and assistant state treasurer for the last year. (Both appointive.) Served as precinct captain and later as seventh ward committeeman. Named chairman of the Republican county committee May 10, 1946, and resigned after the successful fall campaign to run for mayor. Married. No children.

KENNELLY—59, 5 feet, 11 1/2 inches, 190 pounds. Born near Chicago's stock yards. Three years of high school completed his formative education. First job paid $2 a week. Later organized a warehouse business. Now president of Werner Brothers-Kennelly company (storage and trucking). Chairman of Chicago's Red Cross fund drive four years. A Democrat, but never belonged to party's Chicago organization and twice supported primary aspirants opposed to it. Bachelor.

Root contends Kennelly's candidacy is a case of "the same old city hall machine with a different driver". Kennelly says he has made no commitments to the Democratic organization, and claims Root is the "handpicked choice" of the Republican "inner circle".

The mayoral primary Feb. 25 was conducted in conjunction with aldermanic elections, and it differed from last fall's balloting because it was restricted to the city itself.

The total Democratic vote was 528,243. Kennelly, unopposed, received 880,178. The total Republican vote was 284,067. Root, with nominal opposition, received 241,555.

But 236,552 citizens who voted for Aldermen didn't vote for either mayoral nominee. Only half of the registered voters went to the polls.

Speakers Answer Job Queries

University women interested in going into vocations had a regular hey-day Friday afternoon and yesterday morning when they gathered to hear the annual Vocational Guidance conference. The conferences were led by outstanding women in eight different professional fields, and sponsored by the University Women's association.

After each lecture women interested in different fields made individual appointments with the lecturers. Private interviews lasted about 15 minutes.

When a Daily Iowan reporter interviewed the visiting lecturers after the conferences, they answered the following questions:

Should a college woman specialize or is a degree sufficient?

Phyllis Dodds, personnel department of the Western Electric company in Chicago:

"It depends upon the person and her individual interests—the more you know about understanding people the better it will be. Background in business or personnel administration is very helpful."

Mary L. Thompson, executive secretary of the Chicago society for the Hard of Hearing:

"To really get anyplace in social work a M.A. degree is necessary, and plenty of social and biological science."

Mary Williamson, educational director, Younker's department store, Des Moines:

"Broad education is most important, specialization will help."

Kathleen Power, United Airlines School and College service, Chicago, Ill.:

"A general liberal arts background is desired."

Is your particular field hard to crack?

Mrs. R. Dean Johnson, national president of Gamma Alpha Chi, advertising fraternity for women:

"It is rather hard for women to go into agency work, but other fields are quite open."

Miss Power:

"Yes, it is right now. It varies; six months from now it may be easier."

Miss Williamson:

"Not if a person is willing to start at the bottom and work up."

Do you find that most married women continue their careers?

Miss Dodds:

"More and more married women are going on with their jobs and are generally very successful."

Martha Holt, architects department, Dayton's store, Minneapolis:

"Yes, because a married woman can take on just as much work as she wants to, or just as little."

Geographically, where are the best possibilities in your field?

Judith Waller, director of public service, National Broadcasting company, Chicago:

"It doesn't really matter, but it is best to start in the smaller stations. For women, there seems to be less prejudice in the south."

Miss Power:

"In cities where there are terminals—Chicago, Kansas City and San Francisco."

What are some of the big problems confronting women after they get into your field?

Miss Power:

"Marriage. A stewardess must be single. The minute they marry they are out."

Miss Holt:

"Women have trouble keeping from getting stale. They find a formula that people like, then they overuse it."

Jeanette Frasier, Supervisor, Speech and Hearing Services, Division for Crippled Children, University of Illinois, Springfield, Ill.:

"Women must develop a social point of view, and realize that all people are not created equal."

Airlines Want Girls With Charm, Ability

"Airlines today want attractive college girls with charming personalities to become stewardesses and other airline employees who are in constant contact with the public," Kathleen Power emphasized at the Flying High conference.

Miss Power of the United Airlines School and College service, discussed the wide variety of positions available, both off and on the ground in the field of air transportation. "The best advice I can give for success," she said, "is for each girl to develop her own abilities."

"Service is the most important individual feature of airlines," she said. In keeping the service standards high, the airlines look for three things in its employees: interest in other people, cooperation with other employees, and college training for those employees working with the public.

Miss Power said no exceptions are made to the strict physical requirements for airline stewardesses. "They must be able to handle people and have people do what they want them to—with a smile," she told her audience.

Buyer Most Important In Advertising Work

"You're the most important word in advertising," stated Mrs. R. Dean Johnson, president of Gamma Alpha Chi, national professional advertising fraternity, at a vocational conference yesterday morning.

Everyone is interested in himself. A prospective buyer asks herself what a specific article will do for her or her home. According to the speaker, it is up to the advertiser to stress this need and assure the potential buyer that her thoughts and desires are all-important.

Miss Johnson divided the phases of her work into five areas: retail, agency, publicity campaigns, selling ad copy, and radio and motion pictures.

Mrs. Johnson said most beginners start in "retail work at a department store doing copy writing, display or layouts."

An agency worker generally starts out in a small organization as a secretary or stenographer, gradually working up to copy writing, displays or radio advertising.

Experience in government agency work or in Red Cross or community chest is especially valuable for those interested in publicity campaigns.

"A woman planning to enter the radio area should first get a sponsor and then concentrate on clear and concise copy which will infuse confidence in her and her product," Mrs. Johnson said.

Discussing desirable qualities for success in the advertising field, Mrs. Johnson stressed the ability to project one's personality. "Everyone wants to do business with a person, not an institution," she stated.

"As for writing," she continued, "the only way I know is to wrap your legs around a table and write for five hours."

Formal education for a career in advertising depends on the individual and his proposed area. For example, women planning to enter the fashion world should have a knowledge of dressmaking and fabric and French, to interpret future trends.

Interior Decorating Mostly Salesmanship

Discussing interior decoration as mostly merchandising, Martha Holt, interior decorator from Minneapolis, said it is also a meeting of minds. "A decorator must inspire confidence in the client, have a certain amount of self assurance and be open to suggestions at all times," she told her audience.

Miss Holt, of the architects department of Dayton's store in Minneapolis, said that after the theory of art and design is learned in college, actual experience begins in the store.

Since decorating is largely merchandising, except in the specialized design department, the decorator begins in the drapery department of a store. There she learns fabrics, customer problems and selling. "An ability to sketch is essential," Miss Holt advised, "because the client wishes to be presented with something tangible."

Although present opportunities for entering the field of interior decoration are good, Miss Holt predicted that in the future, competition will be keener.

Chances Unlimited In Speech Pathology

Working from the idea that not everyone is created equal, Jeanette Frasier, supervisor of the speech and hearing services at the University of Illinois, discussed the opportunities open to women in speech pathology yesterday morning.

Declaring that 85 to 90 percent of speech defects are not organic but articulatory, Miss Frasier divided the areas of speech pathology into five fields.

"Beginners generally serve as speech correction teachers in public schools where they obtain a good background and excellent experience in administration," said Miss Frasier.

Those attached to a university clinic obtain needed clinical experience while carrying on research, according to Miss Frasier.

"There are as many opportunities in this field as any other," claimed Miss Frasier, "and they are unlimited."

Preparation for a career in speech pathology depends upon which branch the individual chooses, the speaker said.

Those desiring a position in the public school system should obtain a B.A. degree with courses in psychology, education and speech pathology.

Miss Frasier added that those planning to do research should work for a Ph.D. and include lots of science courses.

Miss Frasier said students taking university courses acquire "on-the-job" training and are not completely inexperienced when applying for their first position. However, most workers in speech pathology are constantly seeking more training even after they have left school.

Declaring that a certain level of intelligence is necessary for success in this field, the speaker said it's hard to name other desirable traits, but that an "outgoing personality is advantageous" for to help people it is necessary to gain their confidence.

Sky's the Limit On Season's Hats

By DEE SCHECHTMAN
Daily Iowan Society Editor

It seems that all notable hat designers such as Lilly Dache and Sally Victor are showing "two-way" hats this season. The "two-way" styles have detachable brims, crowns and trimmings.

With hat experts predicting and recommending such styles, home milliners will have a regular field day. An ingenious home-maker, equipped with a few hat bodies, needle, thread, scissors, buttons and a bit of imagination, can come through with some really stylish chapeaux.

One of the most fashionable hats of the season, that can be made by any home-maker, is the felt or straw beanie trimmed with handsome buttons that we see at any notion counter. After the buttons are sewed on, one can add a large brim that buttons onto the beanie.

With these effects finished, you have the "two-way" hat completed and ready to be worn as a beanie, or with the brim as a picture hat. You can even go a step farther and wear only the brim which makes a popular crownless cartwheel especially nice for afternoon wearing.

The effects of some of the new hat styles may be obtained by re-making some of the old hats you have packed away in the attic trunk. Band and trimmings may be rotated so each day you have a different effect.

You can do almost anything this year with hats... the sky's the limit.

BREAKING THE ICE

IT'S BEEN A LONG WINTER for these students so they were quick to take advantage of yesterday's spring weather to indulge in one of the university's most time honored pastimes. Ignoring their magazines and radio are Janice Pope and John Buckingham (foreground) and Lillian Wolf and Mel Bloom. With the season officially opened these four will soon have a lot of company at their recreation spot.

Metropolitan Tenor Kullman to Sing Here

Charles Kullman, Metropolitan opera tenor, will present the last program of the 1946-47 university concert course, Tuesday, April 1, in Iowa Union.

CHARLES KULLMAN

In his 11 years at New York's Metropolitan opera house, Kullman has come to be regarded the "Met's" leading American-born tenor. He has distinguished himself especially by his performances as Alfredo in "La Traviata," Rodolfo in "La Boheme," Tamino in "The Magic Flute," Pinkerton in "Madame Butterfly," Don Jose in "Carmen," and in the title role of "Faust."

his chance to sing at the Metropolitan.

He made his debut in the title role of "Faust," Dec. 19, 1935. And to support their favorite son's debut, more than 1,700 residents of Kullman's native New Haven, Conn., came to New York on the "Charles Kullman Opera Special" train.

Around the Campus

Variety, so they say, is the spice of life and to keep in key we sometimes have to change our tune. But the MELODY MILL is ALWAYS a hit...

Guest Consultant Bob Sweeney left off rootin' for the Mason City team, Wednesday (for obvious reasons) and joined our staff.

"Big Boy" Sweeney was the coeds' idol... until he "done went and hung his DU pin." However, the girls are still pinning and the fellows are still pinning. But for this week Bob is helping us write gossip instead of making it!

Whenever I'm down in the dumps I get myself a new hat...

I wonder if that's what the engineers will do. At press time they're still digging for the Barney stone at the site of the city dump... Just another dirty deal, eh, boys?

Be a welcome guest! Take records to your mother or hostess for Easter!

HUYETT AND WEST MUSIC STORE suggests for listening pleasure their new MGM album from "Till the Clouds Roll By." This album contains the all-time favorites right off the sound track of the movie. With such artists as Judy Garland, Lena Horn and the rest, "Till the Clouds Roll By" is a sure favorite. Be sure to get this album at HUYETT AND WEST MUSIC STORE for that desired gift!

Give me strength! The Alpha Chis were awakened at 6:30 A.M. Saturday by the beaming ATO pledge class who immediately performed a skit they had prepared about the Alpha Chi and ATO actives.

Ouch... such humor... and so early in the morning, too!

Stick a feather in your Easter bonnet by giving a gift from HERTEEN AND STOCKER'S parade of presents.

For HER, distinctive pins, earrings, bracelets and rings done in dazzling silver or gold... For HIM, manish and stylish key chains, stud sets, and watch bracelets. But whatever you give from HERTEEN AND STOCKER JEWELRY STORE you'll be greeted with a bunny hug Easter morning.

Fraternity men are still talking about the new pledge classes they met at the round of sorority open houses last week.

They might at least mention that actives were also present!

It seems that big hunk of man, Dick Woodard, DU, is being seen around the Pi Phi house quite a lot lately.

What gives, Elaine.

Where to Go...

You're not seeing double, but you will look twice at this new Easter bonnet from TOWNER'S HAT DEPARTMENT! B. J. Hoegh, Pi Phi, mirrors the spirit of Easter, a natural straw picture hat, one of the original La Derniere selection.

B. J.'s choice is trimmed with pink, brown and thistle flowers; banded with turf-colored veiling drawn tight around the crown.

This romantic cartwheel is only one of a bevy of new Spring hats Miss Berka will show you at TOWNER'S. Stop in right away and pick out a hat to make your's a Happy TOWNER Easter.

When he whispers, "CUT A CLASS," tear away from Temptation and turn to your Salvation, YELLOW CAB... Yep, the devil's working overtime, but with a YELLOW CAB to transport you to the doorstep of your class, times won't be so tempting... so if the devil dares you to cut, and he will, call 3131 for a YELLOW CAB, but quick!

You'll always be on time if you depend on a clock from MULFORD'S. These clocks - Sessions, Universal and Liberator - are all timed to precision. In library, desk or kitchen models you'll want one in every room. Don't miss that class or important engagement... get a clock at MULFORD'S tomorrow.

At the MAID-RITE good service and good food go hand in hand. And remember it's just a shuffle from Shaeffer and you're at the MAID-RITE!

Scents or Sense? There's no sense in wearing clothes scented with stale tobacco, perspiration or cleaning odor... not with PERM-ASEPTIC cleaning at DAVIS CLEANERS. PERM-ASEPTIC cleaning assures you each garment is hygienic and odorless. Avoid scents, use sense, send your cleaning to DAVIS CLEANERS!

'STATE OF THE UNION' TERMED Witty Response to Modern Plays

BY JACK O'BRIEN

With the production of the Lindsay and Crouse play, "The State of the Union," the university theater will finally manage to slip away from a two-semester embrace with the past.

Fairly stiff doses of Shakespeare, Goldsmith and Moliere have made our programs pretty dusty affairs. And the same spirit of mustiness and recollection of things past has prevailed the more recently written plays they've given us—San Francisco domestically at the turn of the century, Teddy Roosevelt in the White House, SUI's diaper days.

Even "Jacobosky and the Colonel," concerned with the early stages of the late lamented war, seemed older than its years—dim and forgotten in the excitement of victory and the pressure of new postwar problems.

"State of the Union" is a wise witty satire and just about as contemporary as a play can be. The authors are working hard to keep it that way. Since the play first opened to wild applause in 1945, Lindsay and Crouse have been constantly rewriting lines of dialogue and whole scenes to keep their comedy as alive as today.

They weren't satisfied with just writing an editorial on the wrong ways of American politics and how to correct them. Theirs is a play about America's political headlines and not just yesterday's headlines either.

It hasn't been an easy job. Changes, both great and grave, have been wrought in the American political scene since 1945. The Republican party is no longer the league of forgotten men it was when Lindsay and Crouse first took stock of the state of the union.

But the play runs merrily on in its timeless way despite the vicissitudes of feverish politics. First, because it's fundamentally a good play and, second, because its eager authors sit backstage with an ear to the radio, an eye to the newspapers and their fingers poised over their typewriter keys.

Lindsay and Crouse are wise to the money-making ways of the theater. They first collaborated on "Anything Goes"—as fine a musical as Cole Porter ever scored. Then came theatrical history with a thing called "Life With Father," which after eight years of life seems destined to live forever. Their "Arsenic and Old Lace" didn't hang around for quite as long but was even more fun while it lasted.

Then they wrote their play about a personable big-shot with good intentions and high ideals who's groomed for the presidency and gets out of hand. This is the one they called "State of the Union." It was a hit. It's been running ever since and they've been writing it ever since.

"State of the Union" is satire of the most devastating kind. It doesn't pull any punches. Real names are called by their real names and power politics of the peculiar American variety, especially that kind of machine that turns out our presidents comes in for a terrific shelling.

It isn't burlesque. It's the kind of satire that is vital because it's real. It's real because it's as recent as today's paper. When "State of the Union" isn't merely synchronized with the dailies, it goes them one better. When it doesn't reflect them, it predicts them—accurately.

So—a warning. It's a good play and Grant Matthews looks like the stuff presidents are made of but, remember—it's only a play. But it's good to find our university theater alive again.

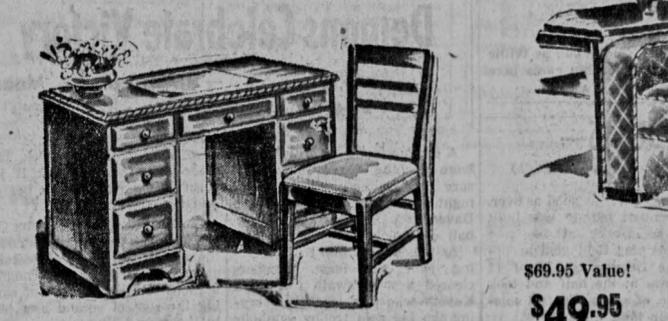

TRUCK FIRE

Firemen were called to extinguish a truck fire in downtown Iowa City last night as people returning from the basketball finals watched the blaze.

The fire, reported at 10:30 p.m., damaged the motor and hood of a truck belonging to William Frandsen of Rolland, Iowa, which was parked in front of Miller's Feed store, 218 S. Dubuque street.

Danbury, the people's choice, once again put on a gallant final quarter drive to top a favored class A team and this time the victory netted them the third place trophy.

Dick Riecks was the hero of the Woodbury county club as he sank a beautiful set shot from the corner with two minutes, 30 seconds remaining to give the slow breaking Danbury five a 28-27 win over the Ottumwa Bulldogs.

This shot put the Little Maroons into the lead for the first time in the game and that was all they needed for they successfully stalled away the final two and a half minutes.

Riecks was held to one lone bucket in the first half by the guarding of Jerry Long but connected on six free throws to keep Danbury in the tilt. He poured three field goals and a pair of gift tosses in the second half to take scoring honors for the evening with 16 points.

Big Elton Tuttle really came to life against the Bulldogs and contributed 10 points to the Danbury total in addition to his yeomanlike work under the baskets. Tuttle and Riecks accounted for all but two of the 28 points gathered by Coach Wayne Berry's classy club.

Wayne Freshour, smooth Ottumwa center, paced the Bulldogs in their second one-point defeat in two nights, potting five field goals and two charity tosses. Ottumwa was defeated by the state championship Davenport five Friday night, 31-30, after leading up to the final 45 seconds.

After trailing 22-20, at the start of the fourth quarter, Danbury faltered in the first three minutes while Freshour potted a pair of beautiful pivot tosses with Rieck adding a lone Maroon point. Riecks narrowed the gap to one point with a setup and a one-handed push shot from the free throw circle.

"Zip" Clayvon collected what proved to be the final Ottumwa point with three minutes and a half remaining. Forty seconds later Riecks sank a charity shot to pull Danbury within one point of the leaders.

With two and a half minutes left in the game, Riecks led go from the corner to ice the third place trophy for the favorite of the crowd.

Danbury went into their deliberate stall and hogged the ball until the final gun despite repeated attempts of the Bulldogs to snatch the spheroid. These attempts only added eight fouls to the Ottumwa total but Danbury refused to chance their lead at the free throw line.

Holy Cross Routs CCNY in NCAA Final

NEW YORK (AP)—Holy Cross rode to the eastern regional basketball championship of the National Collegiate Athletic Association last night on the fancy shooting of George Kaftan, who led the Crusaders to a 60-45 triumph over City College of New York before a crowd of 18,470 at Madison Square Garden.

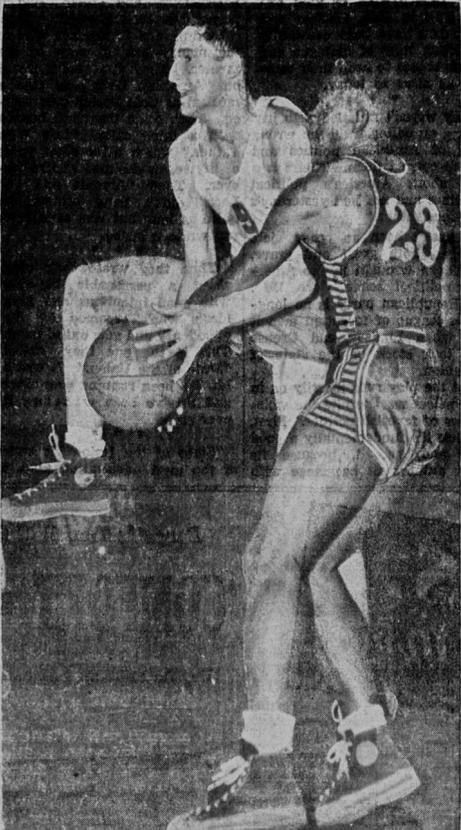

Kaftan drilled 11 field goals and eight free throws through the netting, scoring exactly half of his team's total as he brought the smartly drilled Worcester, Mass., outfit from behind in both periods.

The Crusaders, whose victory followed Wisconsin's 50-49 win over Navy in the regional consolation game, met Oklahoma for the NCAA title here Tuesday night.

A long shot by Glen Selbo with six seconds remaining gave the Badgers their victory over Navy.

After trailing most of the way Navy grabbed the lead with only 16 seconds of the game left when John Barrow's tip-in made it 49-48, but Selbo saved the day with his beautiful one-hander which brought a roar from the crowd of some 18,000 in Madison Square Garden.

The Middies sped down the court and Bob Searle fired from the free throw circle, but the shot was wide as the game ended and

Iowa Mermen Place High

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A wide open fight for team honors in the second annual Kansas City invitational swimming championships tomorrow was indicated by yesterday's preliminaries in nine of the 22 events.

Ninety swimmers from five states are competing.

In the men's division, St. Louis Downtown Y.M.C.A. yesterday qualified eight men for the six final events, closely followed by Kansas State College with six, the University of Iowa with five, University of Nebraska with four.

Diving finals were held yesterday, Bill McDonald of Iowa won the men's three-meter event, with Roger Moore, Nebraska, taking second.

Walter Ris, University of Iowa sophomore and National champion in the 100 and 220-yard freestyle, qualified first in those events yesterday, swimming unattached because of eligibility requirements.

Today's qualifiers included: 220-yard free style—Walter Ris, unattached; Marvin Grimm, Nebraska; Wally Jeffries, St. Louis Downtown Y.M.C.A.; Paul Hutinger, Iowa; Dave Nichols, Kansas State.

100-yard backstroke—Mark Hodges, Omaha A.C.; Dan Cohen, and Ian Crabbe, Iowa; Boyd Fellows, St. Louis Downtown Y.M.C.A.

100-yard freestyle—Walter Ris, Grimm and Dick Drager, Nebraska; Jim Quinliven, St. Louis Downtown Y.M.C.A.; John Leitt, Kansas State.

150-yard individual medley—Marshall Stover, Kansas State; Hodges, Omaha A.C.; Al Bingenheimer, St. Louis Downtown Y.M.C.A.; Bill Pohlman, St. Louis Y.M.C.A.; Ed Armbruster, Iowa.

440-yard freestyle—Don Watson, Quinliven and Jeffries, St. Louis Downtown Y.M.C.A.; Stover, Kansas State; Hutinger, Iowa.

Washington Beats Reds

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—The Washington Senators got in some clever pitching and some fair hitting yesterday to trounce the Cincinnati Reds 4 to 1 in an exhibition baseball game here yesterday.

Sooners Stop Texas

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A long jump shot by Ken Pryor in the last ten seconds of play gave the University of Oklahoma Sooners a 55-54 victory over Texas to win the western regional NCAA basketball championship last night.

Rogers Hornsby was purchased by the St. Louis Cards for $500. Bucky Walters pitched three opening day games for the Cincinnati Reds at home and lost all three.

the Navy, which lost only one game in 17 starts during the regular season, bowed out of the playoffs with its second straight defeat.

THE CHAMPS—The Davenport team posed for this photo after they had captured the state boy's championship basketball tournament here.

Night and Day— Demons Celebrate Victory

—While Maroons Moan

By KEN KEW

A scrappy bunch of Blue Devils, down some youngster's cheek. They were pinching themselves to make sure they weren't dreaming last night after they had nailed down Davenport's fourth state basketball championship since 1929.

As they roared into their dressing room the team members cleared a wide swath for Dick Keyoth who was tenderly carrying the big gold trophy symbolic of the championship.

This was the same Davenport team that had lost its first four games of the year and appeared headed for one of the worst seasons in history. In fact, Coach Paul Moon stated that after Iowa City beat Davenport, 24-15, early in the season he knew his boys couldn't drop any lower, but he never dreamed they could soar this high.

Dapper Paul was happy as a lark and mighty proud of all his boys and felt they turned in a fine performance despite being dog-tired from the gruelling chore of playing four games in four days. He did add however that he was sorry the huge crowd couldn't have seen his team play in the sub-state and district tournaments against Clinton, Iowa City and Muscatine. In Moon's opinion the team reached its peak in those contests.

The team itself was too busy posing for pictures, shaking hands and signing autographs to even begin getting dressed and ready to celebrate. Even the reserves were signing their names as fast as they could push a pencil.

Big Fred Ruck, all-tournament center, was one of the main attractions. Even before he could get into a shower he was cornered by one of the state's new college football coaches on the lookout for future material.

Ruck, a star performer in basketball, football and baseball would be a welcome addition to any college or university. But Freddie says there's plenty of time to think about that after he gets out of high school.

Just about fifty feet from the hilarity of the Davenport section of the locker room there was an atmosphere as different as night from day.

Sioux City's Little Maroons were an unhappy group of ball players. Here and there a tear could be seen sliding unhidden

Illinois Trackmen Win Purdue Relays

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace, America's top Olympic hurdling prospect, bettered the American indoor 60-yard low hurdles record, while Illinois, smashing the American distance medley relay, record romped off with team laurels in the fifth Purdue relays last night.

Dillard, the meet's only individual double-winner, was clocked in :06.8 in the 60 highs, topping the American mark of :06.9 shared by four timber-toppers.

The Big Nine champion Illini, sparked by brilliant Quarter-Miler Herb McKenley's swift baton-lugging, ended Michigan's three-year monopoly in the university division with a total of 46½ points.

It was McKenley, fleet Jamaican who last week ran the world's fastest indoor quarter-mile at 47.9 in the Illinois Tech relays, who carried Illinois to a new American distance medley record of 10:08.3. McKenley hustled the Illini to a 20-yard lead on his 440-yard leg.

With Bob Rehberg and John Twomey finishing out the medley event, Illinois' record-shattering time was two seconds faster than SWANGER MAKES THE TRY—Charles Swanger (7) Danbury tries unsuccessfully to get the ball away from Jim Erland (30) of Ottumwa here last night in their consolation game.

Oilers Win AAU Title

DENVER (AP)—Bartlesville's mighty oilers took all the fire out of Oakland's hot-shooting team, then ran wild in the last quarter last night to score a smashing 62-41 victory that takes the National AAU basketball championship back to Oklahoma for the fifth straight year.

The American mark of 10:10.3 set by Indiana in 1940.

Paced by Dillard, who also copped the 60-yard high hurdles, defeating heralded Bill Porter of Northwestern, Baldwin Wallace ended Miami of Ohio's four year reign as college division champion with 39 points. This barely shaded second-place Michigan Normal which had 38½ points.

Paris Tips Champaign For Illinois Title

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Paris high school's hot-shooting basketball team, with a terrific fast break and the best marksmanship in the three-day final tournament, last night dethroned Champaign's defending champions 58-37 and won the 1947 Illinois prep title.

The Parisians were rated no. 2 in the state behind Dundee, the team Champaign whipped in the quarter-finals. In regaining the state crown it won in 1943 from Moline, Paris won its 40th in 42 and handed Champaign its fourth loss in 38.

Ty Cobb cost the Detroit Tigers $500.

Bobby Riggs Wins Crown

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Bobby Riggs, national outdoor professional champion, last night won the Inquirer Charities' $10,000 World's tennis tournament with a convincing 6-1, 8-6, 6-3 victory over Don Budge before a crowd of 6,000 at the Arena.

First Postwar International Debate Scheduled for SU1

Cambridge Debaters Meet Iowa's Hughes, Ziffren April 14

The first postwar international debate on the campus will be held April 14. This debate will be part of the first United States tour of a foreign team since the end of the war.

Prof. A. Craig Baird, forensics director, has announced that two Iowa debaters will match wits with a pair from Cambridge university, England, on the relation of peace to the possible dissolution of the British empire.

Iowa has long been a pioneer in the field of international debating. The first was held here in 1924 with Oxford university. One member of that Oxford team was Malcolm MacDonald, son of the late British prime minister.

Even while he was debating, both he and his father were suffering defeat at the hands of the British electorate. Young MacDonald, a candidate for a labor party seat in parliament, learned his fate before leaving Iowa City the following day.

Baird holds the distinction of planning and carrying out the first international debate ever held. It took place in 1921 before historic Oxford union in England. The following year an English team came to this country. Thus was begun a tradition of the international exchange of views which was to continue each year until World War II.

In 1929 three University of Iowa students toured English universities. The British debates are distinctive in that no decision is given. The audience votes on the side of the question they favor at the end of the debate, but not on the merits of the debating.

Yale, Harvard, Brooklyn college, Columbia, Ohio state and Syracuse are among the 21 other colleges on the itinerary of the British team in their one and one-half months tour.

The British aren't the only foreign teams to visit the university, however. Australia, the Philippine islands, Germany, Turkey, Ireland, Scotland and Canada have sent teams to participate in prewar debates.

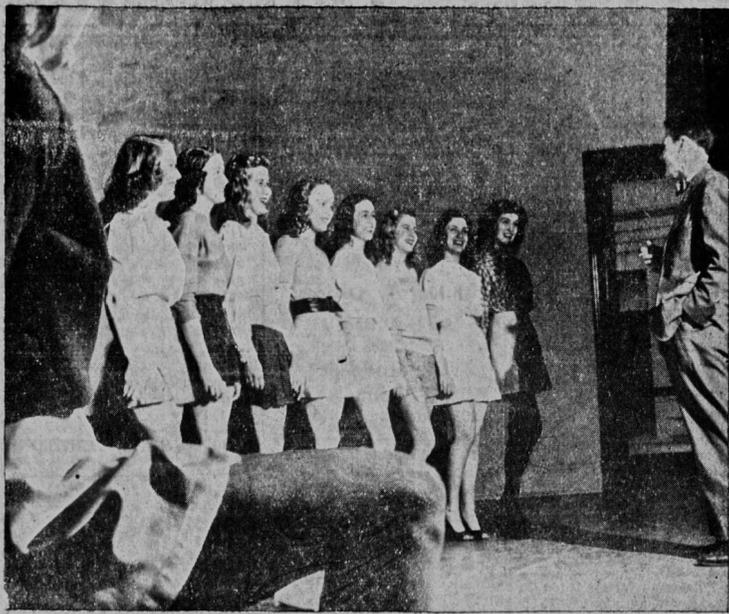

The last international debate on the campus was held in 1941 with the University of Toronto. The annual event formerly opened the debate season each fall.

Over the 17-year period in which the international exchange of views has been held on the campus, Iowa has received the majority of audience votes eight times. The visiting foreign teams got a majority seven times. On four different debates no vote was taken. Some years more than one international debate was held here.

This year Iowa will uphold the affirmative on the question chosen by the Englishmen, "In the Opinion of This House the Formal Dissolution of the British Empire Would Contribute to the Maintenance of World Peace."

Formal dress has been the order of the day for the debaters in former years, but there has been no definite decision on the style of dress for this year's meet. Ian S. Lloyd and William Pichmond will represent Cambridge. Leo Ziffren, A3 of Davenport, and R. Bruce Hughes, A4 of Sioux City will represent Iowa.

Dove and Duck Ready for Debut

SEATS ARE GOING FAST FOR THE DOVE AND THE DUCK, all-university musical comedy to open tomorrow night in Macbride auditorium. Opening night is almost sold out. Tickets may be purchased any time at Whetstone's and up to 6 p.m. at the ticket desk in Iowa Union starting again tomorrow. Only the best 800 seats are sold for each of the three nights of the performance. Staff members of Look magazine, the Des Moines Register and the Cedar Rapids Gazette have been invited for the first night.

"The Dove and the Duck," title song of the show, was presented for the first time yesterday over the "Hi Ya, Mike!" radio program. Others of the 10 original songs of the show presented yesterday are "Worship the Warrior," "Baby, Don't Cry," "I Dared to Dream" and "Home Is Anyplace."

There is a possibility that the original musical show with a student cast of more than 50 will run a fourth night. It was originally scheduled to end Wednesday. Rehearsals have been in progress more than a month. Dan Schuffman is directing the show. Music will be by Larry Barrett and his orchestra.

"Panacea" is the general sponsor of the musical and represents the combined efforts of the Century club, Student council and Mortar Board. They aim to establish the show as an annual event on the campus.

State Police Warn 'Display 2 Auto Plates'

State police warned yesterday that motorists failing to display license plates on the front and back of their cars will be subject to arrest.

State law requires that two plates must be properly displayed on automobiles. Wartime restrictions on metal curtailed license plate distribution to one. However, this year two plates were issued to all motorists in conformance with the statute.

Policemen said 60 percent of the cars on the highway have only one plate exhibited. This is contrary to law and will result in arrests, they added.

Car Reported Stolen From Parking Space

A car was reported to police as stolen last night between 8 and 9 p.m. from its downtown parking place near 21 N. Dubuque street.

Mrs. Dora V. Jeffery, 456 Grand avenue, told police she had locked the car and lost the keys through a hole in her pocket. Police believe the keys may have dropped onto the sidewalk beside the car as the woman walked away.

Police Capt. Herbert J. Beranek notified the department to be on the lookout for the car, a 1941 Ford coach with a dent in the right rear fender.

Hooray for Spring! Record High Follows Snowstorm

Spring was in the air yesterday and Iowa Citizens breathed a sigh of welcome as it melted away the blanket of snow that confronted them a day earlier—the first day of spring.

Temperatures soared to new highs for the season with a shirt sleeve-like 64 degrees recorded at 5 p.m.

Forecast for today is fair and warm, with temperatures in the 60's.

Along the Iowa river, signs of spring were everywhere. Water was spilling over the dam, carrying the last remaining ice flows downstream with the current.

Spectators lined the Burlington street bridge to watch the swirling waters. Downstream from the hydraulics laboratory three fishermen were trying their luck.

The water level of the Iowa river showed some increase over normal. Peak water level yesterday was five feet, eight inches at 1:30 p.m. By 4:30, waters had receded six inches.

L. C. Crawford, district engineer for the U. S. Geological survey and assistant director of the Iowa institute of hydraulic research, said there was very little possibility of the river reaching flood stages. He explained that most of the ice is dissipated from the river, and barring heavy spring rains, a flood is unlikely.

Krall to Support Fair Employment Bill

Johnson county Representative Frank J. Krall has declared he will urge passage in the Iowa legislature of a bill designed to prohibit discrimination in employment because of race, creed, color or national origin.

In a letter to the Johnson county chapter of the American Veterans' Committee, Krall said he was "in full accord" with an AVC resolution supporting adoption of an Iowa fair employment practices bill, now before the legislature.

The AVC resolution, passed at a March 6 meeting of the veterans' group, states that this bill "declares such discrimination to be against public policy, sets out several specific acts in that regard and creates a state commission against discrimination with enforcement and punitive powers."

Copies of the AVC resolution have been sent to Senators Leroy Mercer and to Ted Sloane, originator of the bill, urging support of the measure, according to Elizabeth Bolton, AVC secretary.

Council To Consider Playground Lease

The city council is expected to consider tomorrow night the petition filed Friday by 81 Iowa Citizens which asks council members to rescind the Brown street playground lease.

The 10-year lease, granted to Ralph W. Tucker and Thomas A. Kelley Dec. 10, has been consistently opposed by the two Democratic councilmen and favored by the Republicans.

An ordinance granting appropriations for city expenses during the next 12 months is also expected to get council attention.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 in the council chamber at City hall.

National Guard Unit Becomes Active Here

The 34th cavalry reconnaissance troop, an Iowa national guard unit of Iowa City, was officially activated Friday night after an inspection by Col. Stowe B. Sutton and Chief Warrant Officer Charles R. Keesey.

The unit was activated with a strength of 24 enlisted men and 3 officers although only 16 enlisted men were needed to receive official recognition. Iowa City's unit is the first of its kind to be activated in Iowa since the new program went into effect last November.

Regular drill periods will be Monday and Friday nights at 7:30.

Colonel Sutton, officer in charge of the Iowa military district, stated the records of the troop were in excellent conditions.

Cab, Truck Collide

A collision involving a cab driven by Herman H. Villhauer, 630 S. Johnson street and a pickup truck driven by Wayne L. Hightshoe of Oxford was reported to police yesterday.

The vehicles collided on Clinton and Washington streets at 9 p.m. Friday. Neither driver reported damages.

THE USUAL SITUATION IS REVERSED as Bobbie Cotter begins to weave her spell around Grant Eastham (left) in a recent rehearsal of the all-campus musical to open tomorrow night in Macbride auditorium. As far as the show is concerned, Grant doesn't like girls, so Bobbie is out after her man. They provide the comedy interest for the show.

The Dove and the Duck is the story of a returning veteran and his campus escapades. Music, comedy and the Panacea Playgirls provide the background for the tale.

The romantic leads are played by Roger Chappel, the duck, and Florence Bray, the dove. Lucille Bartozek and Bud Hovland provide the other love interest in the show. Bob Ellenstein is the straight lead who tries to complicate things, and Don Maloney is the typical "sad sack."

RIVERSIDE DRIVER FINED
Leonard Cooney of Riverside was fined $42.50 in police court yesterday for reckless driving.
