GOOD MORNING, IOWA CITY!

Partly cloudy and cool today with high temperature reading 45 to 50.

A FUNNY PLACE TO SAY GOODBYE—

SITTING IN A PATROL WAGON with her cat, Miss Anna Quinn, 82-year-old spinster, waits for police to take her to Philadelphia General hospital until a guardian can be named for her. Authorities removed her from her rubbish-filled home of 25 years because they wanted no part of a "Collyer incident." A neighbor promised to care for the cat. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Bills to Curb Unions Okayed By House, Senate Committees

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The house labor committee approved last night a far-reaching new bill to curb strikes and the powers of unions generally.

84 Dead in Wake Of Tornado, Town Starts Re-Building

WOODWARD, Okla. (AP) — The grind of machinery clearing away the rubble yesterday replaced screaming ambulance sirens as Woodward, still mourning 84 dead, turned to rebuilding its tornado-shattered city.

One thousand residents were injured in Wednesday night's twist.

Woodward was hardest hit of the Texas and Oklahoma communities in the path of the storm.

Higgins, Texas, reported 39 dead; Glazier, Texas, 14. Three were killed in Gage, Okla.

May Take Five Years
But this city of 5,500 was undaunted by estimates of some citizens it would take five years to rebuild.

Mayor R.A. Bosch estimated 500 houses were uninhabitable and 70 percent of all homes in the city were damaged or destroyed.

"Most of our people will need help but they don't want charity or government handouts," he emphasized.

Twenty-one large, commercial vans carrying tents, cots and blankets to Woodward and other stricken towns in the region have been dispatched from Fort Worth, Tex.

Damage in Millions
Many heavy machines sent in by the Oklahoma highway department have started clearing Woodward. The rubble is being gathered from the streets, and homes that can be repaired are being patched. Damage is estimated in the millions of dollars.

The surplus Woodward army air base and local churches and schools are housing some homeless.

Electric service in the south part of Woodward was restored with emergency generators Thursday night.

Two water wells are in operation and water mains are full again.

State Senate Passes 27 Bills; 3 Affect Iowa's Motorists

DES MOINES (AP) — Twenty-seven bills, including three directly affecting Iowa motorists, were passed by the senate yesterday in a busy session to clear the calendar of miscellaneous legislation.

Twenty-two of the bills were sent to the governor.

One of these was a measure authorizing the state department of public safety to issue corner plates to automobile owners to be attached to the license tags they now have in place of issuing new plates next year.

Two senate bills revising the drivers license law were passed and sent to the house.

One provides that drivers licenses which must be renewed every two years shall be issued on the birthday of the applicant beginning next year. Ordinarily licenses must be renewed in July or every other year and the new plan would spread the distribution over a period of 12 months to facilitate handling.

No Georgia Battle
The second drivers bill would make it mandatory that a record of conviction for any traffic offense other than parking be stamped on the back of the license and signed by the trial judge.

The senate completed legislative action on a house bill which would remove any possibility of Iowa getting into a legal tangle over the governorship such as occurred recently in Georgia when two rivals claimed the office of governor. The measure provides that in the event a governor-elect dies before he assumes office, he shall be succeeded by the lieutenant governor-elect.

Other bills sent to the governor would:

Provide for appointment by the governor of a state armory board to acquire all state and national guard armories which now are rented.

Require the state tax commission to make refunds without application to all persons who paid the 100 percent rate on state income taxes which were due March 31. The legislature fixed the 1947 tax on 1946 earnings at 50 percent of the regular rate, but voted to return to the full rate in 1948. Some persons had paid their 1947 taxes before the action was taken.

Gas Tax Fund
Qualify towns which were incorporated since the 1940 federal census for a share of the revenue distributed to cities and towns from the fourth cent gasoline tax.

Require the state social welfare board to use money from its revolving fund to pay the suspended property taxes of an old age recipient.

Eastland's Attack on Ex Vice-President Delays Debate on Greco-Turkish Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Angry criticism of Henry A. Wallace, touring critic of President Truman's $400,000,000 Greco-Turkish aid program, arose on Capitol hill yesterday as the senate debated the bill without reaching a test vote.

Senator Eastland (D-Miss.) declared that Wallace "has attempted to induce the friends and allies of his country to desert her" and hereby "force us to sail the perilous seas alone."

(In London yesterday, Former Vice-President Wallace said Britain could save the world from war by refusing to take sides between the United States and Russia. The Truman program is designed to bolster Greece and Turkey against communism.)

When Eastland said Wallace had been invited to France by Jacques Duclos, leader of the French Communist party, Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) interrupted to declare that other French leaders also had invited Wallace.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) told reporters:

"I regret that Mr. Wallace has seen fit to go into England and France at this time and make the statements he has made—when this grave and serious question is being debated.

"What we need is unity behind our bi-partisan foreign policy, and not disunity. Mr. Wallace makes no contribution to that cause."

Three more Republicans—Senators Lodge (Mass.), Saltonstall (Mass.) and Flanders (Vt.)—took the senate floor during the day to announce support for the Truman bill. But it made little progress there or in the house foreign affairs committee.

The senate recessed at 5:02 p.m. until noon on Tuesday without reaching a vote on an amendment by Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Col.) to strip the aid to Turkey from the measure. It will take a holiday on Monday for the opening baseball game of the season, which President Truman also will attend.

Johnson's amendment to remove Turkey from the program.

leaving only the aid to Greece, is the first by a foe of the bill to reach actual consideration on the floor and may furnish a test when the vote is reached, probably next week. Johnson called the Turkish government "a fascist military dictatorship" (See WALLACE, Page 3)

His Story and— He's Stuck With It

By FRANCIS STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph Giknis not only put his foot into it—he put both feet—and it took six husky cops to extricate him.

Giknis, a 40-year-old Brooklyn coal company mechanic, met a friend employed at a nearby railroad freight terminal. The friends said he had dropped a monkey wrench into an empty molasses tank car and asked Giknis to help him get it out.

Giknis said sure and proceeded to let himself down into the car.

Right away he found the car not exactly empty, and himself in a sweet fix—too much shoe in the goo.

The molasses was ankle deep and somewhat gummy up the works, not to mention Giknis.

"What's the matter?" inquired his friend from above.

"I'm stuck," said Giknis, with the full meaning of the word.

The friend summoned other workers, who lowered a rope. Giknis didn't budge, and neither did the molasses.

The workmen got a rope ladder. Giknis still stuck to his position in the matter.

A police emergency squad was summoned. The cops studied the situation—from above—and went to work rigging up a boatswain's chair.

Two hours after Giknis first found a kicker in the sticker, he fastened himself into the chair and the cops hauled away.

Out of the stickiness came Giknis, unhurt but not unsweated.

"Get the wrench?" asked his pal.

Company Offer To Arbitrate Turned Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — John J. Moran, chief of the long distance telephone workers union, said last night a tentative strike-settling agreement is "dead."

Moran made that comment to reporters after the American Telephone and Telegraph company served notice that it will withdraw the proposal if the union fails to accept it by midnight.

The announcement was made by George S. Dring, assistant vice-president of AT&T's long lines division.

The arbitration proposal received tentative agreement yesterday by the long lines workers' union, but the policy committee of the National Federation of Telephone Workers rejected it.

The proposal included an offer to arbitrate all union demands involving wages in the long distance phase of the telephone strike negotiations.

"I hope the union will give further consideration of the matter," Dring told newsmen.

"If midnight comes and there is no acceptance of the tentative agreement of the company will be withdrawn."

There was no indication the policy committee was giving further consideration to the proposal.

Meantime Secretary of Labor Schwelienbach delayed for the proposal to a union proposal for top level and public talks with the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

Schwelienbach had promised "an immediate decision" after getting the request from President J. A. Beirne of the National Federation of Telephone Workers.

With the up-and-down situation pointing again to gloom, this was the situation on the fifth day of the strike:

1. Secretary of Labor Schwelienbach promised a prompt reply to a union request for top level and public talks with the big American Telephone and Telegraph company.

2. Government conciliators who have been shuttling back and forth between union and management representatives withheld any announcement of plans for further meetings. Instead, they went into a huddle of their own.

3. The policy committee of the 49-union National Federation of Telephone Workers reconvened to study the situation behind closed doors.

The union proposed to carry "our complete story" to President Truman if it cannot get a three-cornered meeting of the department of labor, A.T. and T., officials and its own leaders.

A memorandum to Schwelienbach suggested that representatives of the press and radio attend and said the public should "be apprised of the true state of affairs in the telephone dispute."

A.T. and T. had no immediate comment but, in the past, has clearly preferred that its Bell system subsidiaries deal individually with unions.

Most important of the unions' demands are for a $12 weekly pay raise. Government figures show the workers averaged $41.19 in January.

Two outside developments attracted interest of those involved in the situation here:

1. The arrest and arraignment at Newark, N. J., of three women telephone strike leaders on a charge of violating the state's new anti-utility strike law. They were released in bail of $500 each. The law provides these penalties: for individuals, up to $500 fine and 30 days imprisonment; for unions, fines of $10,000 per day.

Sweden's Premier, Leftist Cabinet Forced To Resign After 1 Year

HELSINKI (AP) — Premier Mauno Pekkala and his strongly leftist cabinet resigned yesterday after more than a year in office. The resignation was a result of domestic, economic and political difficulties.

The government was a coalition of six members from the Communist-dominated Peoples Democratic Union, five Social Democrats, five Agrarians and one member of the Swedish Peoples party and was believed to have enjoyed the confidence of the Soviet Union.

The resignation came as a result of two-months dissension over the steadily rising cost of living and simultaneous demands for higher wages. The Peoples Democratic Union had demanded that wage controls be cancelled and price controls tightened.

Molotov Opposes Economic Merger Of France, Saar

MOSCOW (AP) — France hammered in vain last night at lone Soviet opposition barring immediate approval of economic integration with the Saar, and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault acknowledged dejectedly, "we must wait."

Bidault insisted that Russia's V.M. Molotov give the foreign ministers council his views on the French proposal to establish a commission at once to work out details of integrating the economy of the coal-producing Saar with France, but Molotov refused to yield. He said he wanted more time to think it over.

U.S. Britain Agree
The proposal was agreed to Thursday by both the United States and Britain.

The Soviet foreign minister declared he was opposed to the French demand for detachment of the Ruhr from Germany, and fought doggedly for a direct Soviet voice in control of its industrial output. U. S. Secretary George Marshall and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin had previously expressed opposition to detachment of the Ruhr, or creation of any independent regime for the great industrial area.

The Soviet delay on the Saar and western boundary questions, which Bidault pointed out had been under consideration for months, gave the impression among some delegates that the Russians were weighing the political effect of the problem and had been unable as yet to come to any decision.

Blow to Propaganda
These delegates said that the Russians had suffered a severe blow in their propaganda in Germany by standing firm for Poland's continued occupation of a huge slice of German territory in the east, and they might try to recoup by opposing territorial adjustments in the west supported by the big three.

In such event, however, the Russians would be weighing gains in German favor against certain losses in Communist party prestige in France and the smaller countries.

War Vet Killed in Mine
EXETER, Pa. (AP) — Eastern Pennsylvania yesterday counted its 12th anthracite mine death within 36 hours. Adolph Gergel, 26-year-old war veteran who survived the campaigns in Africa, Sicily and Italy, was killed under a coal fall at Resckow.

Henderson Denies RFC Fraud

BEFORE A SENATE HEARING on RFC yesterday, Sen. Charles W. Tobey, (R-NH), chairman of the senate banking committee investigating Reconstruction Finance Corporation affairs, took time to chat with Charles B. Henderson (right), retiring RFC chairman. (AP WIREPHOTO)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles B. Henderson, retiring chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, disputed yesterday as "not true" the testimony of Cassius Clay that the RFC acquiesced in a "fraudulent bankruptcy" action involving the Baltimore & Ohio railroad three years ago.

Clay, former general solicitor for the B. & O., gave his account to the senate banking committee Thursday and Henderson gave his yesterday. Both testified under oath.

Clay had testified that Jesse H. Jones, former head of the RFC, approved what Clay termed the fraudulent proceeding.

Senator Robertson (D-Va.) asked Henderson: "There has been a charge of acquiescence in a fraudulent bankruptcy action. Is that true?"

Henderson replied: "It is not true."

Henderson said Jones "dominated" the RFC-B. & O. transactions, that he always had taken an active part in RFC's railroad dealings, and was looked up to by RFC board members as an expert on such matters.

W. W. Sullivan, chief of the RFC's railroad division, likewise said it was not true that the RFC acquiesced in a fraudulent action. Sullivan also labeled as untrue what Robert D. L'Heureux, committee counsel, had presented as "the prima facie case" against RFC.

Price Cuts Make Good Sense

There are some indications that American business sees the hand writing on the wall. Here and there have appeared hopeful exceptions to the "all the traffic can bear" mood regarding prices.

The Ford company, International Harvester and a few other manufacturers have already slightly lowered their prices. Rumors are persistent that the major steel producers may also cut their prices in the near future.

But despite the warnings of many trade and financial publications and President Truman's oft repeated appeal for a break in the price level, no general downward trend is yet visible.

There are several valid reasons why the time has come for manufacturers and businessmen to make a determined effort to pull prices down out of the stratosphere. When tied in with current profit earnings, the price level which in many monopolistic areas is artificially maintained has something of the appearance of an orgy.

But aside from the moral arguments for restraint on the part of key industries, there is also a sound economic argument. Steadily mounting production and present high prices are eating up buying power at an alarming rate.

If the present trend continues, according to reliable estimates, by the end of the year supply may exceed demand by between 8 and 10 million dollars. Just what such an "oversupply" would mean is anyone's guess. It might mean merely a gentle shakedown in prices. Or it might knock the whole delicate economic balance out of kilter and result in a full fledged depression.

In any case, it should be pretty obvious that the long-range view, the enlightened self-interest view, dictates a serious attempt to cut prices.

History has shown time and time again that productive genius and managerial efficiency comes to naught when purchasing power fails to keep pace with output.

Congress Brews a Dangerous Precedent

This is the case of Edgar L. Warren.

He has been a federal employe for 13 years. Since 1945 he has been director of the U. S. department of labor's conciliation service. Under his direction the service last year successfully handled a majority of the labor disputes brought to its attention.

Despite this record the house of representatives decided that next year the conciliation agency's funds should be cut $598,400. This was done in the name of economy.

But the house added a further stipulation. It told Secretary of Labor Schweikert that before the funds would be granted, Edgar Warren and 100 of his aides must be discharged. The explanation for this action was believed to be too sympathetic to communism.

It seems that for a few months between 1938 and 1939 he was a member of the American League for Peace and Democracy and the Washington Book Shop. These are alleged to be Communist-front groups.

It was also charged that he once advocated the right of government employes to strike. This he denies.

It is on these skimpy grounds that the house insists Edgar Warren must be fired.

These things are important. Able public servants are at a premium and the government can ill afford to lose those that are left. Also it is unfair that any man should be carelessly attacked from behind the protective cloak of congressional privilege without being given a chance to reply.

But the most important thing about the Edgar Warren case is what it symbolizes. It stands out as a clear example of an overzealous attempt to limit executive authority by enlarging legislative authority. The appointment and the dismissal of Edgar Warren are functions of the executive department. The granting or denial of funds to maintain the conciliation service are functions of the legislative department. These areas are plainly marked out by the constitution.

As recently as June, 1946, the supreme court declared unconstitutional an act of congress that asked the removal of three federal employes.

But what the supreme court ruling prevents is from doing directly, the house is attempting to do indirectly by using the power of the purse.

The public should be aware of the significance of the Edgar Warren case. It is significant in its possibilities as a dangerous precedent.

A Question for Christians

One of the questions proposed for discussion this month in the forums of the Young Adult Fellowship of the Methodist church is:

"Should American Christians undertake an act of atonement for Hiroshima and Nagasaki?"

Members are asked to recall the intense indignation voiced by Christian leaders when cities were bombed off the map during the civil war in Spain, the Italian Ethiopian campaign and the German destruction of Rotterdam and Coventry.

They are to ask: "What should we say about our adopting the same tactics when our military leaders judged it expedient in forcing the capitulation of our enemies? Can we, as Christians, either accept without protest or approve such policies? If we disapprove such actions by our military forces, what ought we, as Christians, to do about it now that the fighting is over? Ought we to seek some way by which we can share in the sacrifices that will be necessary to rebuild that which we helped to destroy?"

The Methodist church might go farther and ask whether a Christian nation could use such tactics in the first place. But, perhaps the Methodist church had better not ask such a question. There might be an answer.

Plan Palestine Session

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—United Nations officials said yesterday a special Palestine session of the general assembly probably would be called within 48 hours to convene around April 28.

What Mr. Roosevelt Would Say Now

(A frequent topic of discussion these past two years has been the question of what Franklin Delano Roosevelt would do or say were he alive today. A year ago today—this being the second anniversary of Roosevelt's death—the newspaper PM tried to answer that question by presenting a statement of his principles taken directly from several speeches he made.)

The words below are Roosevelt's own. Not a word has been added, not even transitional phrases. For your reference, here are the paragraphs from which the paragraphs below were taken. The introductory "My Friends" was used in most of his speeches. The paragraphs from there on are identified by these numbers:

1 and 2 — First inaugural address, March 4, 1933.

3 — Annual message to congress, January 3, 1934.

4 to 12 — State of the union message to congress, January 6, 1945.

13 — Fourth inaugural address, January 20, 1945.

14 to 17 — State of union message to congress, January 6, 1945.

18 — Campaign speech, November 2, 1940.

19 — Address to National Conference of Catholic charities, October 4, 1933.

20 and 21 — Boston address, November 4, 1944.

22 — State of union message to congress, January 6, 1945.

23 — White House broadcast, October 5, 1944.

24 — State of union message to congress, January 6, 1945.

25 to 28 — Speech to International Teamsters union, AFL, September 24, 1944.

29 to 38 — Soldiers field, Chicago, address, October 28, 1941.

39 and 40 — Address before an international labor organization, November 6, 1941.

41 — Address to the Young Democratic club, Baltimore, April 13, 1936.

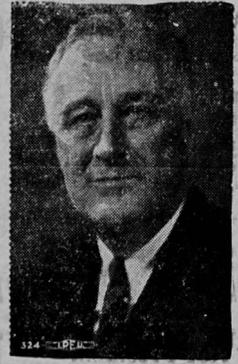

42 to 48 — Address in Philadelphia, October 28, 1944.

ROOSEVELT'S WORDS

My Friends: This is pre-eminently the time to speak the truth, the whole truth, frankly and boldly.

So first of all let me assert my firm belief that the only thing we have to fear is fear itself—nameless, unreasoning, unjustified terror which paralyzes needed efforts to convert retreat into advance.

Civilization cannot go back; civilization must not stand still. We have undertaken new methods. It is our task to perfect, to improve, to alter when necessary, but in all cases to go forward.

It is just as hard to achieve harmonious and cooperative action among human beings as it is to conquer the forces of Nature. Only through the submerging of individual desires into unselfish and practical cooperation can civilization grow.

International cooperation on which enduring peace must be based is not a one-way street.

Nations, like individuals, do not always see alike or think alike, and international cooperation and progress are not helped by any nation assuming that it has a monopoly of wisdom or of virtue.

In the future world, the misuse of power, as implied in the term "nations," must not be a controlling factor in international relations. That is the heart of the principles to which we have subscribed.

We cannot deny that power is a factor in world politics any more than we can deny its existence in national politics. But in a democratic world, as in a democratic nation, power must be linked with responsibility and obliged to defend and justify itself within the framework of the general good.

Perfectionism, no less than isolationism or imperialism or power politics, may obstruct the paths to international peace. Let us not forget that the retreat to isolationism a quarter of a century ago was started not by a direct attack against international cooperation, but against the alleged imperfections of the peace.

In our disillusionment after the last war we preferred international anarchy to international cooperation with nations which did not see and think exactly as we did. We gave up the hope of gradually achieving a better peace because we had not the courage to fulfill our responsibilities in an admittedly imperfect world.

We must not let that happen again or we shall follow the same tragic road again—the road to a Third World War.

We can fulfill our responsibilities for maintaining the security of our own country only by exercising our power and our influence to achieve the principles in which we believe and for which we have fought.

We shall strive for perfection. We shall not achieve it immediately—but we shall still strive. We may make mistakes—but they must never be mistakes which result from faintness of heart or abandonment of normal principles.

I do not wish to give the impression that all mistakes can be avoided and that many disappointments are not inevitable in the making of peace. But we must not this time lose the hope of establishing an international order which will be capable of maintaining peace and realizing through the years more perfect justice between nations.

To do this we must be on our guard not to exploit and exaggerate the differences between us and our allies, particularly with reference to those peoples who have been liberated from fascist tyranny.

That is not the way to secure a better settlement of those differences or to secure international machinery which can rectify mistakes which may be made.

We have a great many problems ahead of us, and we must approach them with realism and courage.

In the days and months and years to come, we shall be making history—hewing out a new shape for the future. And we shall make very sure that that future of ours bears the likeness of liberty.

We have to have courage and vision and discipline to blaze the new trails in life; but underlying all our efforts is the conviction that men cannot live upon themselves alone. A democracy, the right kind of democracy, is bound together by ties of neighborliness.

I say we must wage the coming battle for America and for civilization on a scale worthy of the way we have unitedly waged battles against tyranny and reaction, and wage it through all the difficulties and disappointments that may ever clog the wheels of progress.

And I say that we must wage it in association with the United Nations, with whom we have stood and fought—with that association ever growing.

This organization must be the fulfillment of the promise for which men have fought and died in this war. It must be the justification of all the sacrifices that have been made—of all the dreadful misery that this world has endured.

We owe it to our posterity, we owe it to our heritage of freedom, we owe it to our God, to devote the rest of our lives and all our capabilities to the building of a solid, durable structure of world peace.

I know that the American people—business, labor, and agriculture—have the same will to do for peace what they have done for war. And I know that they can sustain a national income which will assure full production and full employment under our democratic system of private enterprise, with government encouragement and aid whenever and wherever it is necessary.

This is not the time in which men can be forgotten. The returning soldiers, the workers by their machines, the farmers in the field, the miners, the men and women in offices and shops, do not intend to be forgotten.

They know they are not surplus. Because they know that they are America.

The keynote of all that we propose to do in reconversion can be found in the one word: JOBS.

In my message to the congress on the state of the nation, I outlined an economic bill of rights on which "a new basis of security and prosperity can be established for all."

And I repeat it now: The right of a useful and remunerative job in industry in the shops or the farms or the mines of the nation.

The right to earn enough to provide adequate food and clothing and recreation.

The right of every farmer to raise and sell his products for a return which will give him and his family a decent living.

The right of every business man, large or small, to trade in an atmosphere of freedom from unfair competition, from domination by monopolies, at home or abroad.

The right of every family to a decent home.

The right to adequate medical care and the opportunity to achieve it and enjoy good health.

The right to adequate protection from the economic fears of old age, of accident, of unemployment.

And last of all, the right to a good education.

If this world is to be a place in which peace is to prevail, there must be a more abundant life for the masses of the people in all countries. There are so many people in this world who have never been adequately fed and clothed and housed. By undertaking to provide a decent standard of living for these millions, the free peoples of the world can furnish employment to every man and every woman who seeks a job.

We are planning not to provide temporary remedies for the ills of a stricken world; we are planning to achieve permanent cures—to help establish a sounder world life.

You ought to thank God tonight if, regardless of your years, you are young enough in spirit to dream dreams and see visions—dreams and visions about a greater and finer America that is to be; if you are young enough in spirit to believe that poverty can be greatly lessened; that the disgrace of involuntary unemployment can be wiped out; that the hatreds can be done away with; that peace at home and peace abroad can be maintained; and that one day a generation may possess this land, blessed beyond anything we now know, blessed with those things—material and spiritual—that make life abundant. If this is the fashion of your dreaming, then I say: "Hold fast to your dream. America needs it."

May this country never forget that its power in this war has come from the efforts of its citizens, living in freedom and equality.

May this country hold in piety and steadfast faith those who have battled and died to give it new opportunities for service and growth.

May it reserve its contempt for those who see in it only an instrument for their own selfish interests.

May it marshal its righteous wrath against those who would divide it by racial struggles.

And may it lavish its scorn upon the faint-hearted.

Finally, may this country always give its support to those who have engaged with us in the war against oppression and who will continue with us in the struggle for a vital, creative peace.

And so I say, God bless the United States of America!

FOR WANT OF AN AUTO BERLIN (AP)—The official newspaper of the Soviet military government, The Gluche Rundschau, said yesterday that the 24-hour roundup in Berlin Thursday in which hundreds of persons were arrested was ordered because the specially-built automobile of Gen. Lucius D. Clay had been stolen.

OF CABBAGES AND KINGS

He Knew The Big Questions

By LAWRENCE E. DENNIS, Daily Iowan Columnist

April 12, 1947

I stood in front of the White House a few nights ago and wondered—as, I suspect, many of us are wont to do this ominous April—what Franklin Roosevelt would have made of it all, had he lived.

The outer walk-around 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue appeared to be deserted; Lafayette Park, where, on April 12, 1944, a crowd of hundreds had watched and waited in silent, grief-stricken tribute to their departed president, was empty. I closed my eyes and imagined, for a moment, that I could hear his firm, confident, reassuring voice somewhere off in the darkness: "The only limit to our realization of tomorrow will be our doubts of today. Let us move forward with strong and active faith."

Two years. What an amazing chain of events has transpired since his death! V-J Day; the foreign ministers councils; the automobile, steel, coal, railroad and telephone strikes; the end of rationing and price controls; the 1946 elections; Winston Churchill at Fulton, Missouri; the Paris peace conference; the United Nations security council and general assembly meetings; the housing shortage; Henry Wallace vs Truman and company; the Communist witch hunt; the Greek-Turkish loans; "containment" of the Soviet Union.

Two long, bitter, frightening years. How would Roosevelt have measured up? The momentous decisions which destiny saw fit to thrust upon his successor in office—in what way would Roosevelt have them modified or changed? Where, had he helped manage the shape of things these past twenty-four months, would his greatness have shown those who attempted to take his place the mediocrity of their ways?

I knew that I was asking unanswerable questions. And that, he most certainly would have disapproved. Not that he disliked questions; quite the contrary. He was continually asking questions—of his cabinet, his friends, congressmen, statesmen, the great and near-great with whom he associated. But he knew how to ask answerable questions, questions with meaning and purpose and penetration.

The administration now in office has shown a discouraging tendency to speak in meaningless generalizations, to use word-labels carelessly and unscientifically and, if asking questions at all, to ask them in an oblique and unanswerable fashion.

Roosevelt seemed to be able to give to words and phrases an exact, specific meaning; he had a profound respect for the men of science and was eminently successful in applying scientific techniques to his politics and his political utterances. His questions, in matters of domestic as well as foreign concern, were keen-edged and to the point. He could grasp a meaning; his successors, though sincere, can but grope for one.

We cannot wish Roosevelt back into the White House today, two years after his death. The leaders of the Democratic party tried to do that in the political campaign last fall and failed miserably. Rather than looking ahead to the future with an inquiring mind, as he so often did, they looked longingly to the past, in a vain, foolish attempt to resurrect their chieftain.

As citizens, though, we can constantly remind our elected officials that the major issues of the day must be met searchingly, objectively and scientifically. When they speak to us of communism, socialism, free enterprise, capitalism, democracy, totalitarianism, Americanism, patriotism and alienism, we can quickly reach down into the deadly question bag of Rooseveltians and utilize FDR's two most pertinent queries: "What do you mean?" and "How do you know?"

Walter Lippmann once put it this way: "Here lay the political genius of Franklin Roosevelt; that in his own time he knew what were the questions that had to be answered, even though he himself did not always find the full answer. It was to this that our people and the world responded, preferring him instinctively to those who did not know what the real questions were. Here was the secret of the sympathy which never ceased to flow back to him from the masses of mankind, and the reason why they discounted his mistakes. For they knew that he was asking the right questions, and if he did not always find the right answers, someone, who had learned what to look for, eventually would."

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

Calm Follows Truman's Storm

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

One has a feeling that last month was a quite hysterical month in our affairs, and that now a calmer time may be coming. It should be noticed that the only domestic reputation which has really increased during the last ten days was that of Mr. Vandenberg; and he tried to lead us back, at least a little way, to the United Nations. If Mr. Earle gained any followers by suggesting that we might use the atom bomb against Russia, or if Senator Byrd grew in size by proposing that we throw Russia out of the United Nations, all I can say is that no such trends are manifested either in the public prints or among the people I get to see.

Also I feel there has been a kind of recovery of nerve since that frantic day on which the president proposed the Greek and Turkish programs. During the first twenty-four hours after Mr. Truman's speech, you could hardly scare up anybody willing to suggest that there might be something wrong with his plan; and for about ten minutes or so his words seemed to stand alongside the Gettysburg address.

Since then, however, murmurs have begun; the speech has fallen to a place hardly higher than that occupied by the Hay-Pauncefote treaties, and by the end of this year it may not even outrank the Fisheries convention of 1912, if there was one.

It is an interesting thing that this speech, after an hysterical first reception, has had a steadily worsening press, day by day, from the date of its delivery; heavy criticism has broken out in major columns, such as those of Mr. Arthur Krock and Mr. Walter Lippmann, as it has turned out that easy finger pressure was enough to punch a hole in the plan here, and another there.

That process has been stimulated by Mr. Vandenberg's success in exposing, through amendments, the amazing initial error of the state department's failure to explore any avenue of approach to the United Nations on the Greek-Turkish matter.

It should also be noticed that Congress has recovered its nerve enough to let the April 1 "deadline" go by. It seems fairly clear that if the president had given congress only a 48-hour deadline on that electrical first day of his speech, he would probably have had his bill within that brief time limit. As it is, some of the initial effect of the president's presentation (so strangely like the unveiling of a new gadget at a commercial cocktail party) has been dissipated.

This is not to deny that the bill

Summer Speech Clinic Enrollment Filled; Five-Week Instruction to Open June 16

The quota for the 1947 summer session program in speech pathology and hearing conservation has been filled, according to Prof. Wendell Johnson, director of the speech clinic.

"We have already admitted as many children to our summer clinic as we can handle," Dr. Johnson said. "Applications now being received are referred to a waiting list."

The summer speech clinic will run from June 16 to July 25 and will provide speech correction service for school children and adults.

Corrective instruction will be available for stuttering, voice and articulation disorders, retarded speech, speech defects associated with harelip, cleft palate, cerebral palsy (spastic paralysis) and other organic conditions and speech and voice defects associated with impaired hearing.

Housing, Recreation
Two dormitories for children who will attend the summer speech and hearing clinics will be provided through cooperation of the university and the Iowa Society for Crippled Children and the Disabled.

The latter group is providing funds for the dormitory program which will include supervised homework, recreation and daily health inspection by a nurse.

Miss Hildred Schnell, speech pathology and speech correction teacher in the South Bend, Ind. schools, will supervise the dormitory program.

The women's physical education department will conduct a daily recreation program for the children.

Through its local representative, Mrs. Ruth Emmons, the Division of Child Welfare of the State Department of Social Welfare, will provide supervised boarding homes for children who will not live in dormitories.

Reading-Speech Problems
Remedial reading instruction will be given under the direction of Maude McBroon, associate professor of education. Miss McBroon's program functions in close cooperation with the speech clinic, particularly in cases involving both speech and reading problems.

The course will be under the direction of Dr. Dean M. Lierle, head of the department of oral surgery and otolaryngology, and chairman of the Committee on the Conservation of Hearing of the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology.

The staff for the course will also include Scott Reger, associate professor of otological acoustics, course supervisor; Dr. Keaster, Charles R. Strother, associate professor in speech and psychology; James Curtis, associate professor in speech and Johnson.

Coop Dorm Group Awards Merit Keys

Norma Ems, P4 of Savageton, Wyo., and Dee Schechtman, A4 of Greeley, were awarded merit keys last night at a dinner-dance sponsored by the Cooperative Dormitory association.

They received the awards on the basis of their scholarship and outstanding work in the co-operative dormitories, in the association and on campus.

Dean C. Woody Thompson made the presentation before members of Dean, Russel and Fairchild houses and their guests. The dinner-dance was held in the Rose room of Hotel Jefferson.

WALLACE—

and said the proposed American assistance to that country implies a "military alliance."

Eastland assailed Wallace as the former vice-president and cabinet officer addressed a meeting in London sponsored by the new Statesman and Nation, leftist weekly.

In his speech, Wallace said, "If you show the way, all progressive peoples can speak out before it is too late . . ."

Eastland protested that "no American citizen has the moral right to conspire with foreign peoples in order to undermine and to weaken the hand of his country."

"The least that can be said," he continued, "is that Mr. Wallace is performing a grave disservice to the American people when he attempts to induce Great Britain to desert the United States and thereby force us to sail the perilous seas alone."

Eastland declared that Wallace is to go to France at the invitation of Jacques Ducloux, French Communist leader who, the senator said, "is reputed to be the head of the third international." Pepper interrupted to say that

'April Showers' Quad Dance Theme

"April Showers" will be the theme of the informal Quadrangle dance Friday, April 25, in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

Tickets, costing $2.50 each, are on sale for members of the dormitory at the Quadrangle post-office.

Hal McIntyre and his orchestra will provide music for dancing from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m.

The committee in charge of the dance includes Paul Taylor, Frank Eicher, Paul Lange, Marvin Stevens and Duane Mowry.

Chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mossman, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Huit, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Rehder and Elizabeth Englert.

Name 7 Speakers For Conference on Business Careers

Seven of the thirty visiting speakers at the annual business careers conference to be held on campus April 16 and 17 have been announced.

Speakers Wednesday include: Frances Camp, head of the education placement bureau at the university, will discuss "Commercial Education" at 9:30 a.m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Austin E. Finnessy, director of education and public relations for the Iowa State Federation of Labor, Des Moines, will speak on "Labor Relations" at 1:30 p.m. in the senate chamber. He was graduated from Iowa State Teachers college and took graduate work in labor relations at the University of Chicago.

V. M. Drew, directing head of research department for Fruehauf Trailer company, Detroit, Mich., will speak on "Production Management" at 3:30 p.m. in the senate chamber. He has had 32 years continuous service associated with motor haulage equipment.

Thursday speakers include: Hugh Groom, manager of the subscription fulfillment department, Look magazine, Des Moines, will discuss "Office Management" at 9:30 a.m. in the senate chamber.

F. W. Darling, associated with the Gregg Publishing company, Chicago will talk on "Secretarial Training", 1:30 p.m., 107 University hall.

Katherine Brackett, general agent for Bankers Life Insurance company, Cedar Rapids, will discuss "Life Insurance" at 10:30 a.m., 301A University hall.

Waldo E. Brooks, associated with Brooks, O'Connor and Brooks, certified public accountants, Dubuque, will speak on "Public Accounting" at 1:30 p.m. in the senate chamber.

4 Plays, Actors Win Excellent Ratings

Four high schools and four individual actors last night were given "excellent" ratings in the class C high school division of the Iowa play production festival.

Listed by Paul Davee, festival secretary, the schools and plays are: Earlville, "Ringing in the Groom"; the Iowa School for the Blind, "The Land of Heart's Desire"; Ferguson, "The Bond Between"; and Thompson, "Moon-calf Mugford".

"Excellent" ratings were given to Virginia Jensen of West Branch, Mary Ann Meling of Ferguson and Lorraine Olson and Marvyle Farland of Thompson.

A demonstration rehearsal of "State of the Union", the next university play, was given yesterday afternoon for the high school directors and their casts.

The high school division of the festival will be concluded today.

Sarah Records Crowned 1947 Paper Doll Queen

Sarah Records, 17-year-old City high senior was crowned Paper Doll queen last night at the 4th annual Paper Doll Queen dance at the Community building.

The queen was flanked by her four attendants as Master of Ceremonies Gerri Cannon fitted the golden crown on her head. Attendants were Joan Wray, City high; Irene Gatens, St. Patrick's; Catherine Mottet, St. Mary's, and Norma Thornton, University high.

As approximately 400 enthusiastic youngsters looked on, the girls were presented with a bracelet. Dance music was furnished by the Avalon orchestra.

Wallace is not going on Ducloux' invitation alone but that he had invitations from the heads of major French political parties, including Socialist Leon Blum.

Eastland replied that the policies Wallace advocates "are the policies advocated by the Communist party in France."

Mrs. Genevieve Regan, 431 E. Market street, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Mayzee Regan, to Bob Darby of Smithfield, Penn. Miss Regan is an instructor in Romance languages at Grinnell college and is a former University of Iowa student.

He warned that the rent may be reduced if it is found higher than the prevailing rent for similar places. Changes in landlords also require notice to the rent office.

Forced Eviction Fear Means Rent Violations Says Control Head

Some tenants do not insist upon their rights under rent control because they fear they may be forced to move and will be unable to find a place to live, T. J. Wilkinson, area rent director stated yesterday.

He said while the future of rent control has been under debate in congress, the Iowa City rent office has carried on its duties under the current law and will continue to do so until otherwise directed.

"Questions continue to come in and we continue to answer them, explaining the regulations that were set up to safeguard the country against inflationary rents and unwarranted evictions during the shelter shortage," he continued.

Wilkinson urged tenants to remember:

1. If they rent a house, apartment, boarding house room or parking place for a trailer in this area, maximum rent has been fixed for it.

2. When the tenant rents a house apartment or room in a private home, he should ask his landlord to show him a copy of the official OPA registration statement, listing the maximum rent and services to which the tenant is entitled.

3. If a tenant thinks he is being overcharged, he should notify his rent office promptly. He can not be evicted for refusing to pay more than the ceiling rent.

The local office is open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. five days a week. Telephone inquiries are answered then, too.

Urge Landlords To File Room Fees Immediately

Wilkinson asked yesterday that all room rentals not already registered with the Iowa City rent office be submitted immediately.

"Too many residents who rent one or two rooms fail to bear in mind the fact that under rent regulations the rentals are controlled and that for a rental to be legal it must be registered," said Wilkinson.

He warned that the rent may be reduced if it is found higher than the prevailing rent for similar places. Changes in landlords also require notice to the rent office.

Students, Faculty Form 'Creation' Cast

Two students and two faculty members will form the cast of "characters" of Haydn's oratorio, "The Creation", which will be performed by the university chorus and orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Herald Stark, Wednesday evening in Iowa Union.

Singing the part of the Angel Gabriel will be Victoria Aboodeely since he came here in 1937. Wood was bass soloist last December in Handel's "Messiah". Both men teach voice in the music department.

Miss Aboodeely is a freshman from Cedar Rapids and Miss Miller is a junior from Hillsboro. Both are majoring in music.

Composed by Haydn from 1796-98, "The Creation" is noted for the penetrating freshness of its melodies and the expressive treatment of the voice parts. The orchestration is distinguished for its brilliance and refinement — as might be expected in a composer who is noted for his great symphonies.

One of the striking features of the "Creation's" orchestral parts is the realistic representation of the sounds of nature, as the story of the creation of the world unfolds. An example of this is the instrumental representation of the roar of lions in the introduction. In every case, the voices of nature are brought in a few bars ahead of the chorus.

Announce Committees For Spring Promenade

The individual committees in charge of the "Spring Promenade", an all-university party being held Saturday, April 19 in the main lounge of Iowa Union, have been announced by the Central Party committee.

Committee members include: Bill Munsell, chairman; Paul Taylor, and Maureen Kidd, publicity; Priscilla Garrett, guests of honor; Nancy Hole, programs, and Joan Womelsdorf, decorations.

Guests of honor for the informal dance will be Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Rehder, Dr. and Mrs. Earl E. Harper and Dr. and Mrs. Jackson Roe.

Tickets, costing $2.50 each, will go on sale at the Union desk Monday morning at 7 o'clock. Dick Jurgens and his orchestra will provide music for the dance.

Local Phone Service Now Near Normal

Business Men Hit By Restrictions On Long Distance Service

Strikers were still picketing and managerial employees were still striving to maintain essential services as the strike at the Iowa City telephone company ended its fifth day.

Members of the Iowa City locals of the National Federation of Telephone Workers reaffirmed their united stand back of the policies of the parent union at a general meeting Thursday night, according to Franz A. Wille, union spokesman.

Shifts for men pickets on the 24-hour picket line have been decreased from three to two hours to provide more men for picket duty, Wille said. They are on duty the whole 24 hours while women pickets are on duty 7 a. m. to 7 p. m., he indicated.

Wille repeated the offer of the Iowa City locals to send key personnel back to work at the request of the management in emergency cases relating to public health and safety. No such request has been made yet, he stated last night.

Howard L. Young, manager of the Iowa City office, said service on local telephone calls was back to a near-normal level yesterday.

Traffic on long distance calls is still only about 20 percent of normal, he said, which necessitates a continuing restriction of these calls to those of an emergency nature.

Business men of Iowa City have probably been hardest hit by this restriction, Young noted, and expressed regret that the limited number of operators could not handle more of their calls.

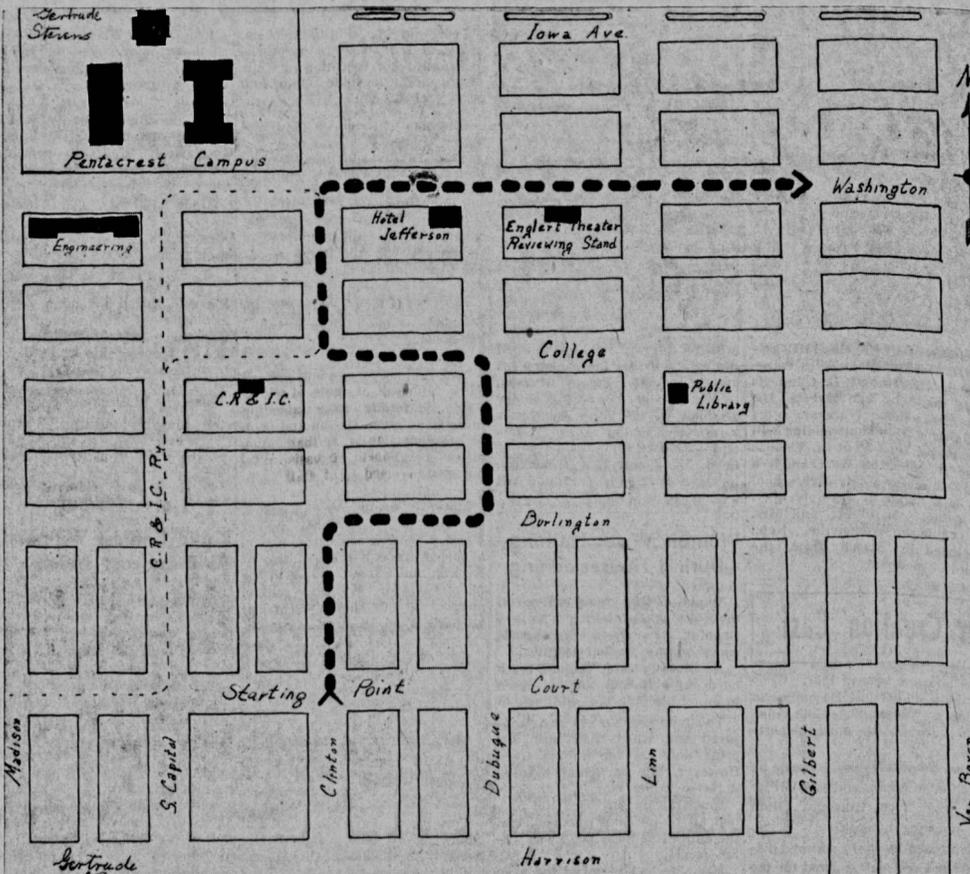

One official at the company stated last night that the "busiest period on the university system comes after 10 p. m."

"Evidently, the university men choose that time to call up their girl friends to rehash old dates and ask for another," he laughed. He said the operators had expressed no distaste for romance, but noted that it makes more work for those handling the university system.

He estimated the 15 managerial employes work about 12 hours a day on the average.

This official also suspected that telephone service would not reach normal until at least two days after the end of the strike.

Parade Will End Army Week

ROUTE OF TODAY'S PARADE in celebration of Army Week—The procession gets underway at 10:30 a. m., weather permitting. Beginning at the intersection of Court and Clinton streets at the northeast corner of the courthouse square, the parade will proceed north on Clinton to Burlington, east on Burlington to DuBuque, north on DuBuque to College, west on College to Clinton, north on Clinton to Washington, and three blocks east on Washington to Gilbert where it will disband. The parade, estimated by Col. W. W. Jenna of the military department to be about a mile long, will be led by Atty. Will Hayek on a white horse. Four bands—the university band, the Scottish Highlanders, the City high band and the Moose Drum and Bugle corps—will each lead a division of the procession. Civil War Veteran Ebenezer McMurray, 103, will ride near the head of the first division. Marching groups from the Iowa City veterans' organizations and the 400-man ROTC are scheduled to parade. A reviewing stand, with civic, university, veteran and military representatives, will be located in front of the Englert theater. Four P-51 Mustangs are scheduled to make an appearance over the city during the parade.

Driver Forfeits Bond
Charles M. Schafer, 363 N. Riverside drive, charged with driving on the left side of the street in the 800 block on East Washington forfeited a $5 bond yesterday when he failed to appear in police court. Warren Covert, 851 Dearborn street, was fined $4.50 for running a red light.

Sears at Eastern Meet
Dr. Robert R. Sears, director of the Iowa Child Welfare Research station, plans to attend a meeting of the policy and planning board of the American Psychological association today through Tuesday. The meeting is being held in Totowa, New Jersey. The nine member board formulates current and long-range policies and represents active interests in the association.

High School Speech Meet Ends Today With Radio Contest

Marian Warming of Burlington won the state high school extemporaneous speaking contest last night.

This was the second completed event in the state high school forensics contests now being held on the campus.

Jack Treynor of Council Bluffs placed second in the final round of the contest which was broadcast over WSUI.

Ten high school winners took part in the preliminary extemporaneous speaking contest. Six took part in the final.

After this contest more than a hundred of the high school forensics contestants held the first session of their student senate in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

The following senate officers presided: speaker, Bob Highbarger of Muscatine; speaker pro tempore, Bob Paulus of Iowa City, and clerk, Miss Warming of Burlington.

The senate discussed one of four resolutions to be considered on the subject of national health.

Such questions as "Should parents consent to physical examination of high school students?" were heard. No resolutions were passed. The concluding session will be held at 10 a. m. today.

The highlight of today's activities will be the forensics luncheon at 12:15 p. m. in the River room of Iowa union.

Ratings for debate and for student senate speakers will be presented.

President Virgil M. Hancher will attend as a special guest.

Other closing features of the contest will be the broadcast of oratory winners at noon over WSUI and presentation of interpretative reading winners at 2 p. m.

in room 224, University high school. A broadcast at 2:15 p. m. by contestants in the radio speaking contest will end the 1947 Iowa high school forensics league events.

No Pied Piper Windy City Employs Rat Killers

The report that 70 rats were clubbed to death behind a local restaurant may shock a number of Iowa Citizens who know little of the breeding habits of these rodents.

Imagine how residents of Chicago felt when they learned there were 2 million rats in that windy city.

A force of 100 exterminators is employed full time to poison rats in the city's alleys and adjoining property. Chicago's supervisor of rat extermination issued the following suggestions home-owners can use to insure rat-free property:

- (1) Use galvanized cans with tight fitting lids for all garbage and waste;
- (2) Keep premises free of accumulated litter and rubbish;
- (3) Keep careful supervision over gardens and rock gardens because rats like stems and leaves of plants, especially carnations and roses;
- (4) Keep basement doors, windows, air ducts and ventilators closed, particularly at night;
- (5) Locate rat holes in basement floors or foundation wall or under sidewalks, garage floors or around drains; fill with unslaked lime or chloride of lime and seal with cement heavily mixed with broken glass.

South America has an area of almost seven million square miles.

How much light is ENOUGH for a smoother shave?

Nature provides easy seeing with 1000 footcandles of light even in the shade of a tree. Some homes show less than 5 footcandles.

For a smooth shave, morning, noon or night, you've got to have smooth light . . . better light for fast, easy seeing.

Under better lighting you'll see comfortably and freely, without fear of eyestrain. Why not try Fluorescent for your shaving light? The smooth, even illumination from these cool tubes of light brings "daylight" indoors, makes seeing tasks easier to perform.

You owe it to your eyes to find out about better lighting now. For information concerning any lighting problem you may have, call us in. There's no charge or obligation.

There are still some real bargains in approved "Better Light" lamps - reduced 20% in price. Included are attractively designed floor and table models. The number is limited, though, so stop in and make your selection without delay.

Planned Catholic Chapel

Work will begin next week on the superstructure of the temporary St. Thomas More chapel on North Riverside drive. This announcement was made yesterday by Father Leonard J. Brugman, pastor of St. Thomas More chapel and director of the Catholic Student Center.

The new chapel is a Quonset hut. It will be used temporarily for the next three to five years until labor and materials are available for the permanent structure.

The interior of the chapel will be finished in pastel shades of new wood with a floor of reddish rust-dyed concrete. Cathedral glass will be used for the windows.

Mitchell, Richard H. Mohr, Donald W. Ortmeier. Thomas Edwin Paintin, Daniel R. Prochazka, Duncan M. Putnam, Forrest G. Rehberg, Frank Henry Rice, James D. Richey, Paul Frederick Roach.

Edward Ralph Rosheim, William P. Scott, John A. Sirevaag, James Herbert Sperry, Walter Spieth, David M. Stanley, Robert S. Stooker, Frederick R. Sutherland, Charles Alfred Thodt, William Louis Velman, George A. Williams, Paul Dean Winter. President Virgil M. Hancher was initiated as an honorary member of the fraternity. He addressed the initiates and their guests at an initiation banquet at Iowa Union.

Fluorescent fixtures will light the chapel. It will be heated by overhead forced-air gas heaters.

It has been the wish of the Most Rev. Ralph L. Hayes, bishop of the Davenport diocese, that a larger worship center be available for the nearly 1,600 Catholic students on the campus. The present chapel in the Catholic Student Center seats 48. At Sunday services it has been necessary to use the seating facilities of the library and two reception rooms with the result that 75 percent of the students are unable to see the altar.

In contrast, the dark oak pews of the new chapel will seat 450 students. The chapel itself is 40 by 120 feet in size.

There will be three altars in the temporary chapel. One of the side altars is in honor of the Blessed Mother. The other is in honor of St. Joseph. The main altar is the altar of the Blessed Sacrament.

Father Brugman expects to hold the first service in the new chapel early in June. The present St. Thomas More chapel in the student center will be converted into a student lounge.

Filing for Advanced Degrees Ends Today

Today is the deadline for filing of applications by graduate students who expect to receive advanced degrees at the June convocation, according to Dean Carlyle Jacobsen of the graduate college.

Jacobsen announced that graduate students must check their records at the registrar's office and in their major departments to be sure they qualify at the June convocation. Formal applications must then be submitted to the graduate college office.

In outlining the procedure, Jacobsen listed four additional items: (1) Instructions for typing a thesis must be obtained at the graduate office. (2) The original and first carbon of the student's thesis must be submitted to the graduate college office for checking not later than May 8. If he is a candidate for a doctorate, he must also submit his abstract, examination program and pay the $25 publication deposit on this date. (3) He must arrange with his department for the oral examination, May 13 to 24 inclusive. (4) Not later than May 28, the original and first carbon of his thesis must be submitted to the graduate college office.

YOU, TOO, CAN BE A "TUR-BIT" (AND THAT'S GOOD!)

WHEN the turtle raced the rabbit, old slow-and-steady won. But a "tur-bit" could have licked them both!

Steady as a turtle . . . speedy as a rabbit, that's the "tur-bit"!

And that's the way you ought to be about saving money. For you've got to be steady AND speedy if you ever want to reach the financial security and independence you're working for.

How can you be both? That's easy! Buy U. S. Savings Bonds on the Payroll Savings Plan!

Steady? These regular Bond purchases are the steadiest, surest method of saving money anyone ever figured out. Every payday you automatically save part of what you've earned!

Speedy? You'll be amazed how fast those Bonds pile up when you buy 'em on the Payroll Plan. Why, before you know it you'll have a sizable emergency fund—and a growing stock of dollars for that home you hope to buy, or to pay for college for your kids.

And don't forget, U. S. Savings Bonds are a mighty smart investment, too! Every $75 you save today will grow to $100 in just 10 years!

So keep on buying every Bond you can. Every one you buy helps you, and helps your country, too! For Bond-buying plays a big part in keeping the U. S. financially sound.

You can get Savings Bonds at any bank or post office. But the best way to buy them—the steady, speedy way—is on the Payroll Savings Plan.

Get on the Payroll Plan where you work! Stay on it! And you'll come in a winner, too!

SAVE THE EASY WAY... BUY YOUR BONDS THROUGH PAYROLL SAVINGS!

One of Dodgers' 14 Runs

COMING HOME was Brooklyn Dodger Ed Miksis in the fifth inning of the Dodger-New York Yankee game yesterday. Brooklyn, with the only Negro in professional baseball—Jackie Robinson—stationed at first base, tripped the Yankees 14-6. (AP WIREPHOTO)

IN MAJOR LEAGUE DEBUT . . .

Robinson Goes Hitless

By JOE REICHLER
BROOKLYN (AP)—Jackie Robinson, Negro Brooklyn infielder, had the unique distinction of batting in three runs although he failed to hit safely in five trips to the plate in his major league debut yesterday as his Dodger mates humbled the New York Yankees, 14-6 in the first of a three-game weekend exhibition series.

The flashy Montreal alumnus, trying desperately to answer the pleas of 24,237 Ebbets field fans for a base knock, managed to connect solidly twice, flying out to deep left in the third and lining out to center in a wild 11-run fifth inning. Each time a man scored easily from third after the catch.

A total of 15 Dodgers batted in the fifth, six hitting safely, three reaching base via walks and two on a pair of errors by Shortstop Phil Rizzuto.

Robinson, stationed at first base by Acting Manager Clyde Sukeforth, handled 14 chances flawlessly. They were all of the easy variety. He played through the entire nine innings.

"I plan to give Robinson a thorough trial at first base," Sukeforth said before the game. "If he fails to make it, he will be used in a utility role either at second, short or third. I am satisfied he can play any of the infield positions."

Robinson's mates more than made up for his mediocre showing at the plate by hammering four Yankee pitchers, including ace Floyd Bevens and Chandler, for 16 safeties. Catcher Bruce

Edwards was the most prolific hitter, belting four hits including a double. Stan Rojek, filling in for the ailing Peewee Reese at shortstop, smashed three safe blows and scored as many runs. Johnny Lindell, Joe DiMaggio's replacement at center, paced the Yankees' nine-hit attack with a triple and a booming two-run homer.

Iowa Grid Tickets Retain $3 Price

Increases in the cost of living will not effect University of Iowa football tickets, E. G. (Dad) Schroeder, director of athletics, announced yesterday. Price will be $3, the same that was charged last season for the home games.

The home games for the 1947 season are against Illinois, Oct. 4; Indiana (Homecoming), Oct. 11 and Minnesota (Dad's day), Nov. 15.

For the only non-conference game on the home card—against North Dakota State on Sept. 20—only general admission seats will be sold at a price of $2.

The athletic department will mail out more than 25,000 ticket application blanks early this summer.

Michigan Loses, 4-0
LEXINGTON, Va. (AP)—Washington and Lee university's baseball team shut out Michigan, 4-0, yesterday behind the three-hit pitching of Ligon.

Cornell Team Paces AAU Meet

Lang, Thomsen Win By Falls, Thomas Takes Wide Decision

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Opening the defense of his national 165-pound amateur wrestling title, Doug Lee of the Baltimore, Md., YMCA yesterday threw Loran Deming of Southwestern Tech, Weatherford, Okla., in a first-round match of the National AAU wrestling championships.

Wrestlers from Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Iowa, set a fast pace in the early stages.

The fastest fall scored in the first 20 bouts came when James La Rock of the Ithaca, N. Y., YMCA tossed Robert Bird of the San Francisco YMCA in 35 seconds flat in the 165-pound class.

More than 150 entrants, including seven defending national titleholders, took over the two rings in the San Francisco Olympic club for two days of wrestling which ends in the championship finals for all weights tonight.

Cornell's squad included the Lang brothers, both of whom scored victories.

Lowell Lang, defending 135-pound champion, rang up his 76th consecutive mat win when he threw Bill Boldman of Washington State college to open the 135-pound preliminaries. He disposed of Boldman in 8 minutes 15 seconds.

Leo Thomsen, Cornell college 128-pounder, threw Roy Hutchinson of the Salem (Ore.) YMCA in 5 minutes 24 seconds.

165 Pounds—James La Rock, Ithaca, N. Y., threw Robert Bird, San Francisco YMCA, 35 seconds.

165 Pounds—Doug Lee, Baltimore, Md., YMCA, threw Loran Deming, Southwestern Tech, Weatherford, Okla., 1:41.

165 Pounds—Leland Merrill, New York A. C., defeated Ed Coppie, Lincoln, Neb., 8-2.

175 Pounds—Edward Blake, Baltimore YMCA, threw Hans Kraner, San Francisco YMCA, 1:29.

175 Pounds—Jim Gregson, Oklahoma A. and M., Stillwater, Okla., defeated Bob Dierdorf, San Diego State college, 8-2.

175 Pounds—Dale Thomas, Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Iowa, defeated Clarence White, Southwestern Tech., 8-2.

Bill Fox K.O.'s Kochan In Seven
NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Fox, the Philadelphia flyer with the fight game's all-time knockout record, started up the light-heavyweight comeback trail last night by stopping the durable New York barber, Georgia Kochan, in the seventh round of a ten-rounder in St. Nicholas arena.

Making his first start since his knockout by Champion Gus Lesnevich in a title bid five weeks ago—which ended his run of 43 straight knockouts in his professional career—the tan thumper from the Quaker city came off the floor from a first round knockdown and recovered from two cut eyes before catching up with Kochan at 2:12 of the seventh round.

With Kochan trying to get up from his second knockdown in half-a-minute, Referee Johnny Byrne stepped in and halted the proceedings.

Hawkeye-Luther Game Posioned

Iowa's diamond home opener will be delayed until Monday when Western Michigan will be here for a two game series. Coach Otto Vogel announced last night that the scheduled game for this afternoon with Luther college has been postponed until Wednesday because of wet grounds.

Ohio State Whips Wisconsin 3-2 In Big Nine Opener

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Freshman Pete Perini pitched and batted Ohio State university to a baseball victory over Wisconsin yesterday 3-2 in their western conference opener.

Perini gave five hits, the same number allowed by the Badgers' ace, Gene Jaroch, but one of the blows of Jaroch was Perini's triple down the right field foul line in the fifth inning. The only extra base hit of the contest, the blow scored Ray Gebhardt who had reached first on Glen Selbo's error.

A total of nine bobbles were committed by both nines who clash again today in the windup of their two-game series.

Singles by Selbo, Ed Butcher and Jaroch produced the Badgers first run in the second inning, but the Bucks returned to even the count in their turn at bat.

More Drake Entries

DES MOINES (AP)—Seven more college class entries, including San Diego state from California, yesterday raised to 12 the number of teams entered in the Drake Relays April 25-26.

Tigers Name Starters

LOUISVILLE (AP)—The starting lineup for the Detroit Tigers 1947 American league opener against the Browns at St. Louis Tuesday was chosen here yesterday by Manager Steve O'Neill, and except for the first base position vacated by big Hank Greenberg it might have been last year's roster.

O'Neill decided to start Outfielder Roy Cullenbine on first base in preference to the well-thought-of newcomer, George Vico.

Otherwise, it's last year's lineup: Eddie Lake SS; George Kell, 3B; Cullenbine, 1B; Dick Wakefield, LF; Hoot Evers, CF; Eddie Mayo, 2B; Pat Mullin, RF; Birdie Tebbets, C and on the mound, Lefty Hal Newhouser.

Richmond, Va. (AP)—The New York Giants won a home run slugfest from the Cleveland Indians yesterday, 6 to 2.

Thomson's solo home run in the third traveled 370 feet over a 15 foot fence, while Peck's 1-run circuit blow in the same inning cleared the left-field wall.

Lohrke belted one over the left field wall in the 5th for a giant run. The fourth solo homer of the day was by Metkovich of Cleveland in the fifth. Hartung's 4-base blow in the sixth was good for two New York runs. Thomson's second homer in the seventh was good for two giant runs.

At Chicago: Chicago (AL) vs. Chicago (NL), cancelled, wet grounds.

At Dayton, Ohio: Cincinnati (NL) vs. Pittsburgh (NL), cancelled, rain.

At Louisville, Ky.: Detroit (A) vs. Louisville (AA) postponed, wet grounds.

BOSTON (AP)—Tex Hughson pitched the first five innings with the form he showed last season in winning 20 games as the Red Sox defeated the Braves 3-0 yesterday in the first of a three-game city series.

The paid crowd of 14,655 cheered loudly as Ted Williams got Boston's first hit of 1947, a

Coaches Draft Cage Schedule

CHICAGO, Ill. (Special)—Big Nine Conference basketball coaches will meet here today to arrange their 1948 schedule of Conference games.

The pattern of the 1948 schedule already has been determined as a duplicate of the 1947 schedule except for the reversal of game sites. The schedule consists of twelve games for each team, six at home and six on the road.

Each team plays four other Conference teams in a two-game series on a home-and-home basis and meets the other four Conference teams in single games, two of them at home and two away.

The basketball coaches in their meeting today will be required only to fill in dates for their games, according to the pre-arranged pattern.

THE SCHEDULE
ILLINOIS: Wisconsin, Northwestern, Ohio State and Indiana, home-and-home; Purdue and Michigan at home; Minnesota and Iowa away.

INDIANA: Ohio State, Iowa, Purdue and Illinois, home-and-home; Wisconsin and Minnesota at home; Michigan and Northwestern away.

Western Michigan Ties
PEORIA, Ill. — Bradley University and Western Michigan battled to a 7-7 stalemate yesterday in a baseball game halted after 11 innings by darkness.

Right-fielder Bernard Compton's three-run homer escorted Western Michigan into a 6-3 lead after six innings, Bradley rallying for three runs in the last of the eighth to tie the score. Both teams pushed over a single run in the ninth, but neither could score in the next two frames.

GO HOME? NOPE, I LIKE IT HERE

LOST BUT UNDAUNTED, little Rebecca Tidrick, 2½, smiles and refuses to tell Police Officer Harlan Sprinkle how she negotiated a 5-block solo trip yesterday afternoon from the backyard of her home at 630 Bowers street. Her jaunt, which included crossing heavily traveled Burlington street, ended at the police station when Mrs. William B. Hagenbuch, 330 S. Dodge street, found her stalled near the courthouse and called police. Police were unable to find out anything about her except that she was a "big girl" until her mother, Mrs. R.T. Tidrick, came to the station to claim her.

LEFT, This touching scene came at the end of a grueling week of school as the boys and girls relaxed at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon "Sweater Party" last night. The lad floored by the occasion is Chris Larsen. The lass giving him the treat instead of the treatment is Nancy Dunlap. To the left, bending over the couch, Audrey Folsom. Seated are Paul Van Order, Roger Strand and Doris Lotts.

RIGHT, This study in concentration that would make any pre-final college student turn green with envy was caught in a tense moment during the practice court trials in the law school Thursday night. The man with the deep brown is Bill Lierle. The bubble belongs to Clarence Updegraff.

Mr. Rat Settles His Housing Problem In 'Tin Can Alleys'

Here's Mr. Rat
These Are His Haunts

"Hi ya, rat. How about answering a few questions?"
"Well, make it short, Bud. Ask 'em, then beat it and let me scrounge for my dinner in that trash can over there."

"How's the housing situation?"
"Great, boy! Great! I'm holed up under that trash barrel there. Haven't had to move since Iowa beat Notre Dame in '39. A few of the boys got rough that night and kicked over my old home. Ain't been bothered since. Some of my pals been bothered though. These people who pay 40 or 50 cents to have trash hauled away really annoy us."

"Any other troubles?"
"Well, not too many. Of course, the lice get bothersome in the summer. Germs are pretty thick too—but they don't bother us much. On the whole, this is a good spot. Lot's of fine food. Look at that wasteline! Must have picked up 7 ounces this winter. It's been a good year."

"Yeah, this is a pretty fine spot for us rodents. It's a nice place to bring up a flock of little b-rats. Hope nobody gets the idea to change things around here."

"Well, my fat one, maybe they won't—and maybe they will."
