Labor Outlook Brightens as CIO, General Motors Reach Accord

U.S. Renews Efforts to End Phone Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The outlook for industrial peace brightened on several major fronts yesterday and the senate opened debate on labor curbs which AFL President William Green said he considered inevitable.

These were the developments:
1—CIO President Philip Murray signed a two year contract with the U.S. Steel corporation and announced he would meet "as soon as possible" with Green to discuss a proposed merger of the two labor organizations.

2—General Motors and the CIO United Auto Workers union were in general agreement on a pay increase totaling 15 cents an hour, with only the method of computing the raise blocking agreement.

3—The government proposed a meeting of the unions and three key units of the Bell Telephone company in a new effort to settle the telephone strike and the unions immediately accepted.

Twister, Winds, Hail Hit Northern Iowa

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Hail, winds, and a freak twister hit northern Iowa yesterday and damage is expected to run into thousands of dollars.

Hail, with some stones an inch and a half in diameter, caused heavy damage in Charles City, littering the business district with glass from smashed windows and display signs.

Other cities suffering damage were Hillmore City and Badger. Telephone lines were downed in the northern part of the state.

Mervin Risher, farmer from near Badger, reported being carried 2,000 feet by a twister which struck that area.

Conciliation Director Edgar L. Warren, who sparked the government efforts to revive peace talks, said he had no new basis for settlement but would "make a renewed effort to get one."

"All Advantage to Labor"
As Senator Taft (R-Ohio) told his colleagues that present labor laws give "all the advantage" to labor, Green said at a news conference his federation had abandoned hope of preventing "vicious anti-labor legislation."

"We may succeed in having them remove some of the more objectionable parts," Green added. The senate bill would impose restrictions on unions, including curbs on their right freely to call strikes, and outlaw the closed shop.

In the General Motors negotiations, which were recessed until today, the company offered a 1 1/2 cent hourly wage increase plus 3 1/2 cents for six paid holidays annually.

Overtime Costly
A company spokesman said the higher the straight hourly rate, the greater the cost in overtime payments and sick payments. Spread over 220,000 production workers, he said, the amount could be considerable.

SET GREYHOUND STRIKE
OMAHA (AP)—The Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric, Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America (AFL) last night set 12:01 a.m. (CST), Saturday, as the date for a strike against Overland Greyhound lines in 13 states, including Iowa.

Other labor developments:
An agreement for a 10 cents an hour wage increase was reached between the Brown and Williamson Tobacco corporation and approximately 3,340 striking employees in plants at Louisville, Ky., Petersburg, Va., and Winston-Salem, N.C.

A three man mediation board announced a formula under which issues that threatened a strike of financial employees against the New York stock and curb exchanges and other wall street houses would be submitted to an arbitrator.

Meanwhile, long distance cable lines were cut in Wisconsin, South Carolina, California, Michigan and Kentucky as the telephone strike went through its 17th day. The severed cables disrupted press, government and public lines.

A dark spot appeared on the labor horizon, however, when a strike of 1,100 overland Greyhound bus line employees in 13 midwestern and western states was called for 12:01 A.M. (CST) April 26. The strike is the result of a dispute over establishment of a trust fund. The workers and members of the AFL Amalgamated association of Street, Railway and Motor Coach employees. States affected would include Iowa, Minnesota, and Illinois.

The Day in Congress

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Housing—The senate banking committee voted 7-6 for legislation aimed at construction of 15,000,000 homes during the next ten years at an estimated federal cost of $7,500,000,000. The goal: "a decent home and suitable living environment for every American family."

Foreign—The house got tangled in arguments over President Truman's $400,000,000 Greco-Turkish aid program and postponed until Monday a decision on the administration's separate $350,000,000 foreign relief measure.

Broadcasts—A house subcommittee decided to junk government broadcasts to Russia and other features of the state department's cultural relations program, estimated to cost $31,381,000. Chairman Taber (R-NJ) of the house appropriations committee said the program outside the western hemisphere has not been authorized by law.

Veto—President Truman vetoed legislation giving special powers to the senate war investigating committee for its inquiry into claims that the navy paid excess prices for Arabian oil.

NW PHONE CONFAB
OMAHA (AP)—Representatives of the northwestern bell telephone company and the five-state northwestern union of telephone workers will confer with Gov. Luther Youngdahl of Minnesota, at 2 p.m. today, it was announced last night.

L. E. Lawes, Famous Sing Sing Warden, Succumbs At Home

GARRISON, N. Y. (AP)—Lewis E. Lawes, 63, the warden who converted Sing Sing prison from a grim, hard-boiled institution to a world-famous model of progressive penal methods, died yesterday at his home where he had been in retirement six years.

In failing health for a year and a half and seriously ill for the past 10 days, Lawes died of a cerebral hemorrhage at his home, 15 miles from the "Big House" at Ossining, N. Y.

Lawes began his work at Sing Sing in December, 1919, appointed at 37 as warden by the late Gov. Alfred E. Smith. The youngest man ever to hold the post, he retired voluntarily July 16, 1941.

Among his reforms were introduction of football and other athletic events with prison teams competing among themselves and with outsiders, installation of radio and motion picture facilities for convicts, and construction of enlarged and more sanitary cell quarters.

Although a bitter foe of capital punishment, he was called upon to officiate at 303 executions.

Lawes wrote several books on prison life and made many lecture appearances. One of his books, "Twenty Thousand Years in Sing Sing," was made into a motion picture.

Wallace Says Depression Threatens U.S.

PARIS (AP)—Henry A. Wallace in a series of speeches yesterday called for a $50,000,000,000 world reconstruction program and declared the United States would have the gravest depression of its history unless it took the lead in world-wide repair of the ravages of war.

"This will be one of the most serious depressions the United States has ever had, a most amazing phenomenon which will affect the whole world," the former vice-president told the Centre d'Etudes de la Politique Etrangere, a French organization similar to the foreign policy association in the United States, in an address last night.

"4 to 6 Years"
Predicting the situation would come to a head in four or six years in a devastating way unless we are prepared to meet it thoughtfully," the American also predicted a minor United States depression next year. However, he said this probably would be alleviated by increased armaments expenditures or by loans to foreign nations.

Earlier, at a news conference he said Russia should get $10,000,000,000 to $17,000,000,000 worth of goods and services in the $50,000,000,000 world economic reconstruction program which, he made clear, would come mostly from the United States.

In a second speech before the American Veterans Committee, Wallace outlined his creed for world unity and peace, declaring his belief that "toughness breeds toughness and that both the United States and Russia by their actions have already undermined the solemn cause for which their young men died."

Repeats Criticisms of Loan
In a third address delivered to a closed meeting of the foreign affairs committee of the national assembly, Wallace was said to have repeated his previous criticisms of the proposed American loans to Greece and Turkey.

About 150 of the 1,000 members of the French parliament invited were reported in attendance. Representatives of the Socialist, Radical Socialist and Popular Republican parties were present, but most were Communists, parliamentary correspondents said.

In yet a fourth speech, Wallace spoke to the Union Nationale des Intellectuels, a group of French scientists and scholars, along the lines of his talk to the veterans.

Stassen Saving Comment Till Return to America
LONDON (AP)—Harold E. Stassen, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, adhered to his decision against any public speeches during his European fact-finding tour yesterday and declined an opportunity to speak over the British Broadcasting corporation network.

"I was merely adhering to a decision I made before I left America," Stassen said. "Whatever I may have to say I want to say in America."

P. Ryan, BBC news director, said Stassen has been offered as much time on the air as Henry A. Wallace, who spoke over BBC on his recent visit to London.

Rubinstein Sentenced To 2 1/2 Years, Fined
NEW YORK (AP)—Serge Rubinstein, 39-year-old Russian-born financier who has had a dazzling career in several countries, was sentenced to 30 months in prison and was fined $50,000 yesterday in the most prominent draft-evasion case growing out of World War II.

Rubinstein was convicted Tuesday night after a seven-week trial on charges of filing false statements as to his liability for military service and conspiracy to file such statements.

The government contended in Rubinstein's trial that he falsified his draft status by maintaining that his business activities were vital to the war effort and his induction would leave his dependents without financial support.

SUI Building Fund Approved by Senate

DES MOINES (AP)—The Iowa senate set the stage yesterday to end the 1947 legislative session with adoption of a resolution tentatively fixing the time for sine die adjournment at 5 p.m. tomorrow.

This action came at the end of a busy day during which the senate passed six money bills appropriating $43,119,664 for the two years of the next fiscal biennium.

Among the appropriations passed was a bill providing $2,780,000 for capital improvements for the University of Iowa and four other board of education institutions. The house has not yet acted on this appropriation.

Indications were that even though the house approved the adjournment resolution the legislature would not be able to complete its work Friday afternoon unless many of the measures now on the calendar were left to die without action.

There were two possibilities. One was that both houses might work Saturday and another that the legislature clock would be stopped and that the lawmakers would return Monday to wind up their business.

The senate has disposed of all major appropriations issues except those relating to the program for increasing state school aid and a last minute suggestion to use a big part of the state surplus for farm-to-market roads.

An appropriations committee proposal which would allow $13,000,000 a year for school aids will come before the senate today.

Go Back to House
The money bills which the senate passed yesterday must go back to the house for final approval. They include:

Departmental offices: $9,713,222 annually, an increase of $2,095,390, mostly for old age pensions, above the amount the house allotted.

Board of control institutions: $7,948,600 for operating purposes, or approximately $760,000 above what the house allowed.

Board of control capital improvements: $4,000,000 a year, same as the house figure.

Allotment to a special fund to meet contingencies: $1,000,000, same as the house figure.

Repairing a viaduct of the state house grounds: $16,000, awaiting house action.

Blue Okays Building Children's Hospital Here
DES MOINES (AP)—Gov. Robert D. Blue yesterday signed the bill appropriating $500,000 for construction of a hospital-school for handicapped children at Iowa City and $59,000 a year for its operating expense.

He also signed the adoption bill, requiring district court judges to have made an investigation before signing an adoption decree, requiring a year's residence of the child in the foster home before the decree becomes final, and prohibiting signing consents to adoption in blank.

He also signed the $12,012,500 a year state board of education school support appropriation bill; the bill transferring $60,000,000 in surplus to the general fund; the bill to use $75,000 of interest on building funds for a governor's mansion; the bill making 16 occupational diseases compensable under workmen's compensation, and the bill prohibiting hunting from an airplane.

SUI Morals, Liquor Activities Criticized By Iowa Senate Dry Leader Leo Elthon
DES MOINES (AP)—Speaking on the senate floor, Republican Majority Leader Leo Elthon of Fertile yesterday criticized what he said were unwholesome activities going on at state board of education institutions "with respect to liquor and morals."

Elthon rose to speak while the senate was approving a bill to allow the board of education $2,780,000 to its capital account for new building construction.

He said he did not oppose the bill but that he was opposed to "some of the things, which to my satisfaction, are going on around the campuses of our institutions."

"I refer especially to the University of Iowa," Elthon said. "I understand that there is some sort of a rule there that when a boy reaches the age of 21 he must get a liquor permit."

"I have waited all during the session for an opportunity to say something about these matters. I am saying it now because I believe it is the duty of someone to bring these things to the attention of this legislative body."

"It is not my thought to criticize the board of education or the presidents of these institutions too severely."

"But I am taking the opportunity to reprimand those responsible for these things and I believe that while we are considering an appropriation bill for the board it is a good time to call attention to them."

Elthon, one of the senate dry leaders, confined his remarks to generalities and did not mention any specific instances of misconduct on the institutional campuses.

To Wind Up Big Four Meet Today

By WES GALLAGHER
MOSCOW (AP)—The foreign ministers council neared the break up of its longest and perhaps most hectic conference last night with major issues unsolved. The ministers agreed to try to wind up their Moscow meeting today.

In a session which was delayed two hours in starting, U.S. Secretary of State Marshall caustically charged the Soviet Union with blocking action on the treaty for Austria and declared the United States favored referring the whole problem to the United Nations assembly if a treaty is not completed by the time the assembly meets in September.

Marshall also charged Russia with blocking the American-proposed four-power pact to keep Germany demilitarized.

Every Important Difference
Pointing out that on the four power pact and essential clauses in the Austrian treaty the three western nations were lined up three to one against the Soviet Union, the American Secretary of State declared Molotov had rejected the four power pact by introducing in the form of amendments "nearly every important difference which exists between the four powers on the subject of Germany."

"I will only state that the United States government regards very seriously what in effect is virtually a rejection of this treaty by the Soviet government," he added.

In a reply as curt, Molotov declared the United States was trying to force other powers to sign its draft without amendment.

"If it is the intention of the United States delegation to substitute a new and narrower agreement for Potsdam and Yalta it would be better to say so," the ro-tund Soviet foreign minister said.

Try to Soften Situation
In the exchange, British Foreign Secretary Bevin and French Foreign Minister Bidault tried to soften the situation. Bevin interjected that "when someone starts to build a bridge between East and West it would be better not to thwart it."

The only constructive action of the whole meeting was the sudden Soviet yielding to the British proposal for the return of all prisoners of war to Germany by Dec. 31, 1948.

Russia holds more prisoners than any other power.

To Discuss Next Meet
The four ministers will meet today to discuss again Austria, an American proposal to limit occupation forces in Europe, and the date and place of their next conference. Their deputies will discuss some remaining minor questions on Austria. Molotov also will reply to Marshall's statement about Germany today.

The French already had sent some of their baggage to a special train ready to leave as soon as possible after the session ends. Secretary Marshall has ordered his plane from Berlin to be ready by today.

War on Inflation Gains Support

Eastern Stores Cut Prices 10 to 30 Percent; Broadway Follows Suit

NEWBURYPORT, Mass. (AP)—its sales in Newburyport averaged 60 percent above a normal Tuesday — "an indication people are eager to buy but can't because of high prices and are holding back."

A half-dozen New England manufacturers and wholesalers — including a hosiery firm, confectioner, hardware producer and men's clothing — gave stores a 10 percent discount.

Sponsors of the "Newburyport plan" — Inaugurated yesterday as a 10-day experiment — have emphasized their aim was to force prices all the way down the line from manufacturers and wholesalers to retailers.

The following occurred: Broadway has started to trim prices of plays and musicals. One hit musical ("Carousel") has cut the top price from $5 to $4.80. Some shows faced with declining seat sales, have adopted a "two-for-one" policy on seats unsold at certain time, which amounts to cutting admission in half. A show opening next Tuesday ("A Young Man's Fancy") will have a $3.60 top, even on opening night, when prices are usually double.

The view of several manufacturers was expressed by Cowhig industries, Boston hardware producers, in putting into effect a 10 percent price cut with the assertion: "Price reductions are difficult at this time due to the increased cost of labor and raw material. However, we have learned that increased business volume will more than make-up for our percentage decrease in profit, per unit of goods."

New York — The battle for lower prices found new recruits in the ranks of makers of soap, fats, oils, chemicals, wire and cables, music records and producers of Broadway plays.

May to Take Stand On Bribery Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Andrew J. May, wartime chairman of the house military committee, plans to take the stand in federal district court to deny that he took bribes to obtain munitions contracts.

His lawyer, Sawyer Smith, told the court yesterday that it is untrue that the 71-year-old Kentucky politician profited from deals between the Garsson munitions combine and the Cumberland Lumber Co.

"Andrew J. May will take the witness stand and explain to you how every dollar of that money was spent, and how not one cent went to Andrew J. May," Smith told the jury.

May is on trial with three co-defendants accused of war fraud charges in connection with the $75,000,000 Garsson combine.

The co-defendants are Henry and Murray Garsson, brothers, heads of the war syndicate, and Joseph F. Freeman, Washington agent for the Garssons.

There's Both Interest And Need, Gentlemen

Yesterday's announcement that Dean Earl J. McGrath is appointing a faculty committee to "explore the possibility" of offering a course on the implications of atomic energy is indeed a welcome piece of news.

The Iowan has stated in these columns before its contention that such a course would have great value. It is extremely encouraging that Dean McGrath and other faculty members feel the idea warrants investigation.

Our public opinion poll, which appears elsewhere on this page, would indicate that the course would be well received by the students. In fact, if as many signed up for the course as said they would, it would have to be held in the fieldhouse.

Improbable though it may be that 44 percent of the students would enroll were the course offered, the figure nevertheless is a significant indication of interest.

There seems to be a question, however, of how much a course on atomic energy is really needed. But we feel certain the committee's investigations will show a serious need for all possible information and research on this most vital of world problems. In the words of Dean McGrath, "Unless a large percentage of Americans and other persons in the world realize the full significance of atomic energy, we may all be destroyed in our ignorance."

People's Savings Rapidly Dwindling

Economic observers are viewing with some alarm the steadily declining rate of individual savings. According to figures released earlier this week by the department of commerce, by the end of last year savings had dropped to $16-billion from the "abnormally high" $33-billion figure of 1945.

The commerce department report stated that the slump in savings is due to several factors. The higher cost of living is blamed for eating up much of the savings. Increased quantities of goods available for purchase have had their effect. Also, the fact that wartime savings appeals no longer exist is considered a factor.

During the war, a significant number of persons who had previously been unable to save, found themselves able to buy government bonds, take out insurance policies and open bank accounts. They were able to do these things because the wage level was high, prices were controlled and spending was limited by the shortage of consumer goods.

But now that we have reverted to a more "normal" economy, many of those who were temporarily in the savings bracket during the war are again back in the non-saving bracket.

It may be pointed out that the unusually high level of savings during the war years was the result of the unusual economic conditions that prevailed between 1941 and 1946. And it also may be expected that in shifting to a peacetime economy, savings will again assume a more "normal" pattern.

The thing that is worrying the economists is that although savings seem to be falling back to the traditional stage, there is little or no indication as yet that prices are also falling back to a normal stage.

The current decrease in the mass savings which grew out of the war represents a decrease in mass purchasing power. Viewed in this light, the reduction in savings appears to be a contributing factor in the present tendency for buying power to lag behind producing capacity.

The dissipation of individual savings sounds a clear warning that our economy is resting upon a shaky foundation. Unless prices are reduced voluntarily, there is considerable evidence that economic forces are shaping up which will bring the inflated price structure tumbling down on our heads in an uncontrolled deflation.

Only by living nobly can we justify the sacrifice of those who died so nobly that we might live. — WORLD WAR II VETERAN.

IN THE GARDEN OF ECONOMICS

Students Favor Proposal For Atomic Energy Course

A great majority of students interviewed by the Daily Iowan believe that the university should offer a general course on the implications of atomic energy.

Furthermore, a great many students expressed their active interest in taking such a course. A majority of students said they had no objection to such a course being taught by more than one man, and many commented that an interdepartmental course would be the best way to teach the subject.

Students were asked the following questions:

"Do you think that the University of Iowa should offer a general course on the implications of atomic energy?"

Yes 70%
No 17%
No opinion 4%

"Would you enroll for such a course if it were offered?"

Yes 42%
No 44%
No opinion 14%

"Would you object to a course on the implications of atomic energy being taught by more than one man?"

Yes 6%
No 87%
No opinion 7%

Students who thought they would enroll for the course said: "A very timely and profoundly important subject."

"The future will be a great deal dependent on atomic energy."

"Believe it would help me in my career."

"If it weren't for too many hours."

"I want to know more about this atomic age we're coming into."

"If time permitted."

"As an extra course it would be interesting."

"Students need to realize the implications of atomic energy on the future."

Those who said they would not enroll said:

"Why have it anyway? We get it in classes now."

"Outside my field, no time to spend on it."

"At present the subject is not thoroughly enough developed."

Prof. Haefner Says . . .

German School System Poor

By OLIVE VAN HOUTEN
"The general school situation in Germany is not bright," according to Prof. John H. Haefner of the history department.

Recently returned from a two-month study in Germany, he attributes difficulties in reorganizing education in the American zone to poor equipment and lack of leaders.

"You cannot educate for democracy with empty stomachs, no shoes and no clothing," he said.

The German schools were reopened in October, 1945, but "little more has been done than to take the children off the streets. The schools are open, but there is nothing in them."

He explained that there are no teaching aids, no maps, no blackboards, chalk, paper or pencils. There are a few libraries, but almost no new books because of the paper shortage. The Russian zone controls 90 percent of the German paper supply. Many new books used in the American zone are Russian written because there is no other source of supply.

Prof. Haefner explained that part of the difficulty in setting up a new educational system lies in clarifying our system of education.

"The Germans were befuddled because we asked them to rebuild their school system on democratic lines in terms of something they didn't understand."

Haefner said that the Germans cannot fully consider educational reform until they know if the United States will remain in Germany to complete the task.

Although 90 percent of the children of school age are back in school, many only attend two hours a week, mainly to receive assignments. Biblical histories are the only books available in large numbers, and children have only slates on which to work out assignments.

Shortage of teachers is also acute. "When teachers were screened for Nazi sympathies in October, 1945, more than 30,000 instructors, two-thirds of the supply, were dismissed," Haefner said. "Most of the ones retained were not the cream of the crop."

Average age of teachers in the elementary and secondary schools is between 50 and 60. Germans seem to believe, he said, that a teacher is "not any good until gray-haired and bearded—the older the more effective."

One of the biggest problems is the inefficiency of teacher training institutions, Haefner pointed out. He indicated that there are too many, and consolidation is necessary to improve them.

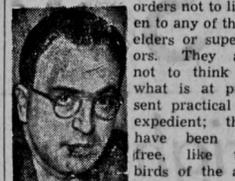

Students attending these schools are hampered by food and book shortages. "They spend hours needed for study standing in line waiting to be fed, and although 90 percent of them can read English they have few books to use."

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

Removing the Blindfold

By SAMUEL GRAFTON
(New York Post Syndicate)

General Eisenhower has got hold of a provocative and original idea; he has detailed a staff of young officers to spend their full time thinking about atomic war, and he has placed them under strict orders not to listen to any of their elders or superiors. They are not to think of what is at present practical or expedient; they have been set free, like the birds of the air, unchained souls, to adventure among possibilities; not, and 'tis empowered to stop their doodles or their dreaming.

General Eisenhower feels this is the only way not to blind ourselves against what may be coming in the field of atomic warfare, and to avoid those subtle errors of conception which are almost enforced upon men who have to filter their ideas through budgetary or organizational screens.

This is a powerful notion, one of those easy wonderful ones which make General Eisenhower the formidable man he is. The idea of being set free to think, of being commissioned to respond sensitively to the deeper pulls and tensions in this world, without regard to rank, place, channels or circumstances is, in fact, almost too good to be confined exclusively to the military. It occurs to one that there are other areas in our government which could adopt this approach.

The state department might well use a dozen or so bright young men, under orders to put themselves in tune, into sympathetic vibration, so to speak, with leftist and liberal movements in such countries as Greece. The dodge ought to be considered, purely as a way of getting accurate information, for under present circumstances, any young fellow in government who attempted, on his own, to give us a sympathetic and understanding portrait of such tendencies as I have mentioned, might well find himself in trouble with his superiors, the FBI, and half a dozen congressional committees.

To set aside a squad of young persons, under orders to detach themselves from current American prejudices, to disregard the opinions of their fellow country club members, to sink themselves, so to speak, in the trends and tendencies of the world leftward drift, might be like opening a window on a landscape we do not perhaps always see clearly.

It could of course be made plain to friends and associates of these young people that they were acting under orders, so that no moral opprobrium would attach to their interest in liberalism, as they sat at their desks, free to think and to wonder. One contemplates with a kind of envy these dedicated young people, firmly instructed to look into the heart of things, set free of that film of uneasiness and conformity through which most of their contemporaries must peer in this agitated time.

For this business of "not blinding ourselves," as General Eisenhower puts it, is an extremely subtle one; it is a great danger to us not to understand what is happening when liberals for example, through hatred of fascism, take to the hills in Greece to join the Communists. It is perhaps as difficult for an ordinary state department careerist to understand such tendencies as it is for a balding major general to form adequate conceptions of atomic war.

Since real liberalism is, by common consent these days, a danger, one is forced to this idea of setting up a band of gallant youth—ordered to be free, instructed to be bold, paid to be clear, to serve us at best as untrammelled advisers, at worst as fools at the feast—and even the latter, if history can be credited, is no mean function.

They Already Speak About the Next War

(The Daily Northwestern)
In the minds of wise men the next war is here already. Inside the Gothic arches of the great universities and the Greek columns of Congress, men are speaking of the inevitability of World War III.

Authors write of the "Struggle for Civilization" between Communistic Russia and the Capitalistic United States. It is almost impossible, learned professors say, for two such conflicting systems to live together in peace. Only a miracle can save them from clashing.

Evidently it is not miracle enough that none of the little people anywhere want war. Certainly Americans don't want it; and the Russian people are still exhausted from the last one.

Little people all over the world, sick of war, have heard the whispering echos from the lips of the wise men; and they are confused. "Why must we fight?" they say.

And so the little people, hating war, will go on wondering and working and hoping their leaders will hear them; while their leaders go on talking and working and arguing about bases and oil.

Then one day, men who never wanted to fight will kill other men who never wanted to fight, and the world that dreamed of peace will be at war once more.

very tired. Let the guns rust for a change. Let the first bodies rot before we bury new ones. Can't you leaders do something? Don't you hear us? Or don't you care?"

And the wise men in the high places do hear them, and they do care. They "don't want war" either. But they are "practical" men. They have important things to do. They must hold this strategic base or preserve that sphere of influence, or grab that outlet to the sea. They'll work hard for peace, but first of all, they must protect their bases.

And so the little people, hating war, will go on wondering and working and hoping their leaders will hear them; while their leaders go on talking and working and arguing about bases and oil.

Then one day, men who never wanted to fight will kill other men who never wanted to fight, and the world that dreamed of peace will be at war once more.

Lots of Plans, Little Action on School Aid

Public support for federal aid to education, spurred on by teachers strikes and other manifestations of educational inadequacies, has reached the point where one would think it could not be ignored.

Yet, it is questionable whether the present congress, like the last, will get around to approving a federal aid bill.

The last congress was given an excellent opportunity to alleviate the educational crisis by passing a far-sighted aid measure sponsored by Senators Morse, Oregon, Republican, and Murray, Montana Democrat. But this bill was defeated by an amendment device.

Murray and Morse have withdrawn their legislation this year—feeling that it's a little too rich for the conservative tastes of the present Capitol Hill crew—in favor of a middle-of-the-road bill sponsored by Senator Aiken, Vermont Republican.

Senator Aiken's measure is supposed to be a compromise between the Morse-Murray approach and a bill introduced by Ohio's Senator Taft with the backing of the National Education association.

Aiken's proposed legislation would grant federal money to the states for education aid in more generous portions than Taft's, but the real difference between the two lies in the approach and the terms involved.

Taft is simply trying to "equalize" discrepancies in educational opportunities in the various states and districts. His bill provides for a floor of $40 per child per year on combined federal and state educational expenditures.

The catch is, of course, that most states already spend more than $40 per child per year and practically all of the federal grant under Taft's proposal would go to the southern states.

Aiken, on the other hand, would give the states $20 a year for each school-age child and would eventually provide for a $100 floor on combined expenditures.

The age old issue of states' rights crops up here too.

Taft's bill would allow the states free reign in deciding how the federal money would be spent. Not so with Aiken's proposal. He wants federal control in cases where the government felt its money was not being properly used.

Aiken has been under attack for contending that a uniform proportion of the federal money go to non-profit private schools. Taft would maintain the status quo by allowing the states to use the aid money for parochial schools in no greater proportion than exists at the present.

The Morse-Murray bill was defeated last session chiefly because of a clause which would have refused aid to states which practice segregation in their school systems. Aiken supported the bill, but has omitted such a clause in his own measure for fear that it would meet the same fate.

We happen to think that Aiken's bill is the better of the two, but we'd be happy to see Taft's measure become law in spite of all its inadequacies.

The Vermontor may succeed in his attempt, however, to incorporate his overall federal responsibility approach into Taft's measure. But even if he does, the prospect of getting any kind of federal aid to education through the present conservative, economy-minded congress is still pretty black.

Get That Muscle Out of My Eye

Up to now our only exercise has been derived from dodging innuendoes and trying to knot bow ties. But, because it has been pointed out that this might lead to the decline and fall of Western Civilization, we have decided to mend our ways.

What finally brought us around to this harsh realization was a desperate appeal from that venerable body-builder de luxe, Bernard MacFadden. The appeal will be available to the general public in Mr. MacFadden's May issue of Physical Culture magazine.

"Every citizen was shocked beyond expression when 50 percent of the flower of our youth were rejected for services in the army," says Mr. MacFadden, who doesn't seem to have any trouble expressing himself.

"What activity has our government instituted to . . . help the millions of our defective young men to regain the vigor and vitality which is their inalienable right?" he asks.

Final Exams Start May 27, End June 4

Final examinations for this semester will run from May 27 to June 4, the university examination service announced yesterday.

No examinations will be given May 30 and the schedule includes the mornings of Saturday, May 31, and Wednesday, June 4. The other days will each contain six two-hour examination periods, starting at 7:30 a. m. and ending at 9:20 p. m.

No student has to take more than three examinations in a single day. Undergraduate students with more than this number or with two examinations scheduled for the same period should request a change of schedule at the registrar's office by noon Saturday, May 17. Graduate students with conflicts should see their instructors to make schedule adjustments.

Schedule Changes
Where two courses either in the same or different departments conflict, the one with the lower department number takes precedence.

For example, 6:131 takes precedence over 31:101 and 17:1 takes precedence over 17:3.

Instructors will inform students where examinations will be held and will notify them about the time and place of make-up examinations.

Makeup Exams
If a student misses a final examination he must have authorization of the dean of his college to take a make-up test. Such absence automatically results in a final grade of incomplete unless the student would have failed the course anyway.

Second semester commencement, climaxing a special week's observance of the university centennial, will be held Saturday, June 7, at 9:45 a. m. in the field-house.

The baccalaureate service, with a centennial honors convocation, will be held June 1.

PERSONAL NOTES

Prof. William J. Petersen, research associate of the State Historical society and Dwight L. Agnew, G. Iowa City, are in Columbus, Ohio today attending a conference of the Mississippi Valley Historical association. The conference will continue through Saturday.

Mrs. G. B. Wlakup of Ames is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. E. P. Kuhl, 119 West Park road.

Prof. Paul Engle of the English department will speak tonight on "The Sources of Poetry" at Grinnell college's second annual writers conference.

Weekend guests of Mary Lou Sanner, A1, Farley, will be Betty Jean Pauls, A1, Newton, and Phyll Kersey, A1, Des Moines.

Several journalism students will travel to Independence this weekend to make a two day readership survey on the Bulletin Journal. Students making the trip include Roger Newburger, Beverly Benson, Robert Schmidt, Marjorie Schmidt, Mary Witmer, John McDonough, Mary Auwaerter, Jean Chambliss, Lorella Petreht and

Editors, Managers To Be Announced At Banquet May 8

Thirteen candidates filed applications yesterday for executive posts on university publications, bringing the total number of applicants to 15.

Candidates and the position they filed for are:

For editor of The Daily Iowan—Harry B. Fawcett, A3, Burlington; Ferne Gater, A3, Cedar Rapids; R. Bruce Hughes, A3, Sioux City; William Miller, A3, Baltimore, Md., and Philip E. Penningroth, U, Iowa City.

For editor of Frivol—Margaret Eisenman, A3, Burlington; Samuel Fulkerson, A3, Cedar Rapids, and Albert McLaughlin, A3, Burlington.

For business manager of Frivol—Mary Jean Casey, A3, Mason City; Barbara Henderson, A3, Sioux City; Jane Lord, A2, Burlington, and Milton Paule, A2, Burlington.

For editor of Hawkeye—Carolyn Anderson, A3, Mallard.

For business manager of Hawkeye—Jeanne McDonald, A2, Lima, Ohio, and Leah Mendelson, A1, Omaha.

There were no aspirants for Daily Iowan business manager.

Final selections will be made by an eight-person board of trustees on May 7 and announced at the Matrix table banquet, May 8.

Fawcett, Daily Iowan editor candidate, was a member of the board, but said that he submitted his resignation last night. His resignation was declared necessary before the board could accept his application for editorship.

Begin Table Tennis Play

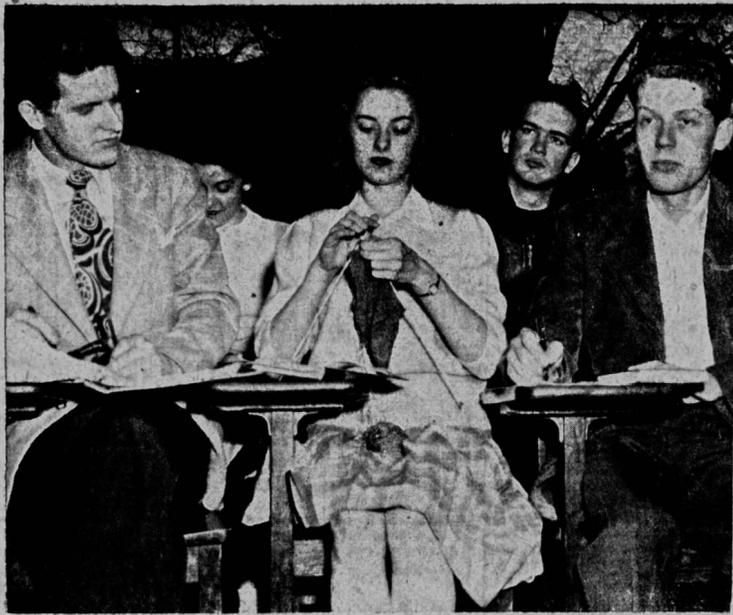

Men's singles and doubles table tennis tournament will begin today in the Social Fraternity league. All other intramural division matches will start Monday.

The tournament will be played in the table tennis room, fourth floor of the fieldhouse at 4, 5, 7 and 8 p.m.

League Champions will be determined in both singles and doubles events. Social and intramural league winners will then compete for the all-university crown.

Ruth Ann Hay Weds La Wayne Weinard

Ruth Ann Hay became the bride of La Wayne F. Weinard at 8 a.m. yesterday in St. Patrick's church.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick J. O'Reilly officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Doris Hay, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and La Verne Weinard of West Liberty, a brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Mrs. Weinard, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence D. Hay, 652 S. Governor street, was graduated from City high school and attended the university. She has been employed at the University printing service.

Her husband, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Weinard, West Liberty, was graduated from West Liberty high school and is employed by the Metcalf Hamilton Construction Co.

The couple will be at home in Des Moines after May 10.

Survey of Iowa Deer Tabulates 155 Herds With 11 Animals Each

The deer population in Iowa includes 155 herds with an average of 11 animals each, according to a survey made by conservation officers in February and March.

Tabulations showed that 58 counties have one or more herds present, and 22 counties have scattered individuals. In eight counties only occasional sight records were reported; in 11 counties no deer were sighted during the census.

Largest herd of over 100 deer was found at Ledges Park near Boone. Other large herds were: 80 southwest of Avoca in Pottawattamie county; 80 southeast of Fort Dodge in Webster county; 60 in the Josh Higgins Parkway vicinity in Black Hawk county, and 42 east of Avoca in Pottawattamie county.

Most herds were located in the rough river bottoms. The check was made difficult by the movement of the deer up and down the

Former Instructor Dies in California

John Fielding, university metallurgy instructor for 24 years, died April 11 at his La Jolla, Calif., home.

Sixty-two years old, Fielding retired after a heart attack last June to go to California.

He was born in England and worked in London on royal ordnance before coming to the United States.

As an American, Fielding fought at Chateau-Thierry and the Argonne during World War I.

Fielding is survived by his only son, James A. C. Fielding, Iowa City, his widow, a sister in England and a granddaughter.

Fielding was buried April 15 in La Jolla.

Officers report that some herds may have been counted twice, and that some scattered deer were probably missed.

Missouri Lawyers Honor Bordwell

Prof. Percy Bordwell of the college of law will be the principal speaker and guest Saturday at the 75th anniversary of the University of Missouri school of law, Columbia, Mo.

Bordwell will speak Saturday evening at a law school banquet before members of the Missouri supreme court, the law school, friends of the law school and federal judges of Missouri.

During the day, he will be an honored guest of the school at the anniversary program.

A nationally known authority in the field of property law, Bordwell has been a faculty member at the University of Iowa since 1910, according to Dean Mason Ladd of the college of law.

Prof. and Mrs. Bordwell will leave tomorrow to attend the law school foundation dinner tomorrow evening.

Short Story Contest Offers $50 Prize

A short story contest for undergraduate students was announced yesterday by Prof. Paul Engle of the English department.

For the best short story submitted, a prize of $50 will be awarded by the Iowa chapter of the National Society of Colonial Dames, Engle explained. He said that manuscripts must be submitted to the English office before noon, May 3, and must be signed by a pen name rather than the author's real name.

"Contestants must enclose the manuscript in an envelope bearing the title of the story, the author's nom de plume, and his real name," Engle added.

Engle said the award is known as the annual French Memorial prize in memory of Alice French, a novelist who wrote under the pen name of Octave Thanet.

GI Insurance Week

April 28—May 3 Set For Drive

The week of April 28 to May 3 has been designed as "GI Insurance Week" for Iowa City and surrounding area by Mayor Preston Koser.

Aim of this special week is a concerted drive by veterans organizations urging ex-servicemen to reinstate their lapsed National Service Life insurance.

Agents of commercial life insurance companies are also equipped to handle reinstatement of NSL insurance for veterans.

Veterans in this vicinity have dropped many thousands of dollars worth of their GI insurance since leaving the service, according to W. J. Doherty, head of the veterans administration contact office here.

Stating that the majority of men while in service had carried government insurance up to the maximum of $10,000, Doherty said:

"Now that the war is over, congress has provided that this insurance may be continued in force by these veterans and has provided all the features usually available in good commercial insurance. In addition, the government bears all the cost of administration."

For a limited time, he stated, veterans can reinstate GI terms insurance merely by paying two monthly premiums and signing a statement that they are in as good health as at the time of lapse.

Mountaineers Plan Summer Outing in Sawtooth Mountains

From a base camp on the shore of Little Redfish lake 6,500 feet above sea level, Iowa Mountaineers will explore the Sawtooth range of Idaho during their eighth annual outing August 13 to 28. During the three-week stay in the mountains, campers will have opportunities to climb 12,665-foot Mt. Borah and the shorter but more difficult 10,229-foot Mt. Heyburn.

Overnight Trips
Overnight trips away from the main camp will be made by small groups of climbers, hikers, fishermen, botanists and geologists. Less strenuous activity will take the form of evening campfire entertainments. Outing members, guides and invited guests will contribute.

A school of mountaineering will be conducted, and all outing members may enroll for it. Mountain climbing experience is not necessary.

Guides Named
Paul Petzold, a veteran of the Swiss Matterhorn, the Grand Teton and of several first ascents in the Andes, will serve as guide. Assisting will be Ken Jones and John Ebert.

Mountaineering membership is not necessary to join the campers. Transportation will be the only restriction on registration. Equipment will be furnished, except for sleeping bags, mess kits and personal items.

Participants may register for two, three or four weeks. The long outing includes a five-day trip to Yellowstone National park September 1 to 5.

3-Man Group to Air AYD Views to Council

American Youth for Democracy last night selected a three-man standing committee to act as liaison between the group and the student council.

The committee members, Gerald Morgan, Bernard Yadoff and Rosemary Boulton, are to present AYD arguments for two issues believed within the scope of the student council and to report to AYD the attitudes of student council members on them.

The issues are:
1) The possibility of affiliating the university with the National Students organization.

2) The establishment of a cooperative university book shop.
The Iowa City group in a new membership drive set itself a goal of 60 members, twice its present number. It gained one new member at last night's meeting in the city council chambers.

The group's first meeting since it was denounced by the house-un-American activities committee as a communist front group drew 45 persons, both members and non-members. Among them were James Goodwin and Robert Lorch of the now defunct campus Americans for Democratic Action, an anti-communist group. They said they were merely "curious observers."

AYD's attitude toward the house committee's accusations was summed up by the sign it posted on the door of the council chambers. It read, "School of Lawlessness for Young Bundists."

On exhibition also are prints by Prof. Mauricio Lasansky, Miriam Shapiro Brach, LeRoy Burkett, Lee Chesney, Charles F. White, Wilfred Beny, Tom Lias and Barbara Ellison.

J. L. Records Rites Set for Tomorrow

Funeral services for James L. Records, 74, 121 Grand avenue court, will be held at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow in Oathout funeral chapel, with the Rev. James E. Waery of the Congregational church officiating.

A resident of Iowa City since 1900, Records died in Mercy hospital yesterday morning after a stroke suffered Sunday.

Surviving are his wife, Verna Mae Shedd Records; one daughter, Mrs. Herbert Hammer of Billings, Mont.; three sons, Edwin and Theodore of Iowa City, and Donald of Billings, Mont.; one brother and 11 grand children. His first wife, Anna Stone Records, preceded him in death.

While in business in Iowa City, Records was associated with the W. F. Main company and the Brenard Manufacturing company. In recent years he was president of the River Products company.

Active in civic groups, Records had served as president of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce and the Iowa City Rotary club. He was also a member of the public library board.

He was a past grand patron of the Order of Eastern Star of Iowa, and a thirty-third degree Mason, the supreme honorary degree in Scottish Rite Masonry.

Cautions Landlords Against High Rates

Persons buying residential property for rental purposes should check with the area rent office before completing the transaction. T. J. Wilkinson, area rent director, said yesterday.

"With today's really prices inflated as they are, some purchasers have found the legal return from their property considerably less than they counted on when they paid such a big price for the property," he explained.

The Iowa City office can not adjust rents just because the new owner may have paid too high a price, Wilkinson said. "To do so would be unfair to the tenant, and would raise the rent for that unit above rents for comparable housing in Iowa City," he continued.

Pointing out that maximum rents for all residential property in the Iowa City area are on file in the rent office, Iowa State Bank building, and are available to persons considering the purchase of the property, Wilkinson concluded, "A check-up in advance can save many a financial headache later."

Bad Check 'Artist' With Seven Aliases Alerts I.C. Police

Police yesterday warned local merchants, especially furniture and electrical appliance dealers, to be cautious about checks they cash within the next few days.

According to police reports, a notorious bad check "artist," who earlier this week obtained $345.20 from two merchants in Vinton, is expected to arrive here within a few days. He uses checks of the First National bank of Iowa City.

Police believe the "artist" is Eugene LeRoy Saunders who employs such aliases as William P. Donaldson, Edward H. Kruger, Fred H. Ferguson, Floyd B. Anderson, Fred H. Shaefer, George Schrader and William P. Fredrickson.

Saunders, police related, operates mostly in furniture stores. He usually buys about $50 or $60 worth of furniture and pays with a check larger than those amounts. Then he leaves the furniture at the place he made the purchase and tells the merchant he will return later for the items.

At Vinton he did exactly that and disappeared with $168.60 and $176.60 on two different checks. They were made out to "George H. Sellers" and signed "William P. Fredrickson."

Police said Saunders started blazing a bad check trail in Iowa in April, 1946. He netted a total of $700 that year. His stops included New Hampton, Spencer, Waterloo and Anamosa.

Saunders' description, according to police, is: age 40; height 5'7"; partially bald.

District DeMolays Plan Conclave Here

Plans for the spring meeting of the eastern Iowa district, Order of Demolay, to be held here tomorrow and Saturday, were announced yesterday by the local chapter.

Over 175 Demolay delegates are expected from Davenport, Clinton, Fairfield, Burlington, Marion, Muscatine Washington and Iowa City. The two days of activity, including ritual and degree work, will end with a dinner dance Saturday night.

Registration will start at 9 a.m. Friday, the opening sessions of the conclave at 10:30 a.m. Degrees will be conferred upon new members Friday afternoon.

A dinner for the delegates will be served at 6 p.m. in the Masonic temple by mothers of the local Demolays.

During the evening the Davenport Court of Chevalier chapter will present the Chevalier degree to a number of delegates, including grill. Following the dinner a pledge exam will be given and plans will be made for the Matrix table banquet.

Bob Kringel, George Gay, John Murphy, Dick Emmert, Don Jackson, Louis Jenkinson and Evan Smith of Iowa City.

A basketball tournament will be held Saturday morning and the final session of the conclave during the afternoon. New district officers will be elected at that time. A dinner at the Masonic temple and a dance at 9 p.m. in the Community building will terminate the conclave. Nat William's orchestra will play at the semi-formal dance.

About one-fourth of all U. S. senators in 1947 were more than 65 years old.

Hawkeye Nine Meets Luther College Here Today

Iowa's Demro On Mound In Non-Loop Tilt

Wes Demro will hurl for Iowa's Hawkeyes when they engage Luther college in a twice postponed baseball game this afternoon at 3:30 on the Iowa diamond.

The game will open a busy week for Coach Otto Vogel's nine which will be host to Wisconsin tomorrow and Saturday to open the home Big Nine season.

Long range weather forecasts have it that today the weather will be cold but fair but the man with the precipitation meter may call off the Big Nine tilts.

Luther was originally scheduled here April 12 and later on April 24 and Vogel is hopeful that today's game will be played to give the Hawks a warm-up before the crucial Wisconsin series.

Helping Demro with the mound chores will probably be Roy Stille and if Vogel has a chance he hopes to give the other reserves opportunity to play.

The contested third base spot may go to Don McCarty today with Keith Kafer around for relief. Jack Dittmer or Don Thompson will be on second with the other first stringers holding their positions.

Lyle Ebner will be behind the bat, Pete Everett on first, Doc Dunagan at short, Dale Erickson in left, Bud Flinders center, and Bobby Smith in right.

McCarty still leads Iowa hitters with a .450 average with 11 hits in 25 times at bat. Dunagan is second on the list with a .303.

27 Iowa Trackmen Enter Drake Relays

Coach George Bresnahan named a 27-man track squad yesterday to compete in the Drake Relays at Des Moines this week end. Nine athletes will leave for the relays by car at 8:00 a.m. tomorrow with 18 men to follow for Saturday's competition.

Definite lineups for the 880, mile and four mile relay events will not be selected until the day of the race. Teams and alternates have been named for each of these races.

The group, which will enter six relays and five individual field events, is the largest Iowa Squad sent to the Drake carnival since 1941.

Hawkeye prospects were given a definite boost in the four mile relay event when it was announced yesterday that Fred Feiler, Drake's great distance runner, would not anchor the crack Bulldog relay team.

With Shaver, Oxley, Tupper, Keller and McClanahan to match strides at four miles, the Hawkeyes will have a team that is capable of turning in an 18 minute performance in the four mile relay. This time has been good enough to win 25 of the last 36 relays.

Here is the Iowa lineup: 440-yard relay—Jack Simpson, Newell Finch, Tom Hall, Willard Elder, 880-yard relay—Simpson, Finch, Elder, Eric Wilson Jr., Tom Sangster, Mile relay—Simpson, Finch, Sangster, Wilson, Bud Flood, Shuttle hurdle relay—Jack Nygaard, Dick Stoll, Russ Merkle, Fred Eno, Distance medley relay—Melvin Rosen, Elliott McDonald, Keith Keller, Don Roth, Four mile relay—Gene Shaver, John Oxley, Dick Tupper, Dick McClanahan, Keller, Discus—Jim McKinstry, Dick Hoerner, Shotput—Hoerner, Pole vault—Charlie Mason, Clair Jennett, High jump—Dick Erdenberger, Bill Metter, Clay Wilkinson, Broad jump—Metter.

He Made It

BRUCE EDWARDS, Brooklyn Dodgers catcher, is safe at third as Jim Tabor, Philly third baseman, takes the relay from outfielder Elvin Adams in the first inning at Ebbets field yesterday. Outfielder Pete Reiser was on third and right fielder Dixie Walker on second when Jorgensen hit a grounder to Emil Verban, Phillies second baseman, who booted the ball. Reiser and Walker scored an Edwards, who was passed intentionally, made it to third. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Tennis Team Opens '47 Season Against Ottumwa Tomorrow

By WILLARD WHITE

Intercollegiate tennis will be resumed at Iowa this spring with the best prospect for a championship team in the history of the school. The Old Gold racquet wielders meet their first test against Ottumwa Pre-flight at Ottumwa tomorrow afternoon.

Although the university tennis facilities have been more than a little limited, Coach Art Wendler has been readying a squad of 10 men for the initial meet. Outdoor courts have been inaccessible and squad eliminations are being played on the canvas-covered basketball court in the field-house.

University net competition among Big Nine schools will be played as a team match of six singles events and three doubles matches.

On the Hawkeye varsity, the six men competing in each of the intercollegiate meets will be decided during the previous week.

Heading the list of tennis candidates is Dick Hainline of Rock Island. Hainline is a national net figure having won the National Public Parks tournament at Nashville, Tenn., last year as well as 1946 singles titles in the Missouri Valley tourney at Des Moines and the Iowa open at Cedar Rapids.

Wayne Anderson of Shenandoah should be able to team with Hainline to give Iowa a top-seeded doubles combination in Big Nine play. Anderson has won the Iowa State High school championship twice and played on the varsity tennis team at Tulane.

Dave Danner, well known Iowa City net star, and Bud Newnam of Columbus Junction, 1941 11th naval district doubles king, in their own words are looking forward, "to the best season yet!"

Starting berths for tomorrow's meet with the Ottumwa Pre-flight have not yet been announced but the rest of the travelling squad will be made up of: Bill Metz of Burlington, 1943 state high school champion, and Bill Metz of Burlington, 1943 state high school champion. (See TENNIS TEAM, Page 7)

Cubs Batter Reds, 7-1

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs scattered their errors a little more harmlessly than the Cincinnati Reds here yesterday and took the rubber tilt of their three-game series, 7-1. It was a loosely played contest marred by seven errors with the Reds having a 4-3 edge in the misplays.

Johnny Schmitz went the route for the Cubs with one of their errors resulting in the lone Cincinnati run in the eighth. Cincinnati bunched three of their boots with four Cub hits to give the Chicagoans three runs in the third. Ed Erazo, rookie righthander, then was routed for the third straight time by another three-run cluster in the sixth.

Bob Scheffing, Cub catcher, was forced to retire in the third inning when he was struck in the head by Bert Haas' bat.

Braves Slap Giants

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Braves jumped on their "cousin," Dave Koslo of the New York Giants, again yesterday and defeated the lefthander and the Giants, 5-1.

Big Softball Program Set

'Major League' Teams To Play in New Park

A 10-year sports program designed to put Iowa City on the nation's sports map in "major league" softball was announced last night by Tom A. Kelley and Ralph W. Tucker. Initial item on the program is the construction of a model park "Kelly field" south of the Iowa City airport on U.S. highway 218.

The park will include 10 acres of recreation facilities and parking space. Both temporary and permanent seating will be installed around the softball field which will be lighted by equipment providing 48,000 watts of electricity. The lighting equipment is termed by Tucker "the best in the state."

The field will be the home park for the Complete Auto Service Cardinals, a local team backed by Kelley and managed by Tucker. The team is affiliated with the National Softball Congress and will play in the "major league" circuit.

The team will be picked from 65-90 candidates who will report for initial practice about May 1. Outstanding players from all over the nation will bid for berths on the team.

First game will be against the 1946 national champion Zollner Piston Rings from Fort Wayne, Ind., on or about May 17. Other teams booked for appearances this and future seasons are Joe Louis' Brown Bomber aggregation and the Caterpillar Tractor's outfit from Peoria, Ill. The 1946 Iowa champion, John Deere Tractor team of Waterloo is also slated for an early appearance.

While the primary consideration now is the promotion of the Cardinal softball machine, the sponsors of the park have laid long-range plans which include the centering of other sports in Kelly field. A golf driving range under lights is under consideration as is a regular series of boxing shows. The latter the result of the amount of good talent around Iowa City and a radius which includes Cedar Rapids, Peoria, Keokuk and Oskaloosa.

One night each week the park will be reserved for play among junior boys' teams of the city and the field will always be open to boys and girls of high school age and younger with no admission charge according to Kelley and Tucker.

Manager Tucker is regional director for the National Softball Congress, which has its headquarters in Phoenix, Ariz., and will conduct state, regional and national championship tournaments through August and September. Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, plus St. Louis and Kansas City area title play, will be under his direction.

Hawk Golfers Trounce Coe

After being rained-out in their match last Saturday against Illinois, the Iowa golfers chipped their way to a 17½ to 1½ point victory over Coe golfers yesterday on the Finkbine course.

Foursomes were Charles Updegraff and John Campbell for Iowa against Bill Chadama and Wallie Pinckney for Coe with the Hawk golfers winning the match 3-0. The second foursome was led by Bob Graham and Dan Sheehan for Iowa and J. Van Antwert and M. Trickey for Coe. Iowa won in the second flight 3-0.

In single play Updegraff defeated Chadama, 3-1; Campbell beat Pinckney 3-0; Graham decided Van Antwert, 2½-1½; and Sheehan stopped Trickey 3-0.

Medalist scores were as follows: Updegraff lead the field with 78; Graham and Sheehan shot 79's and Campbell posted 81. For Coe, Van Antwert shot a 82; Pinckney, 85; Trickey, 87; and Chadama 90.

Brown's Win State Bowling Tournament

Brown's cleaners bowling team of Iowa City was presented a trophy last night at a dinner in Reich's cafe here for winning the women's Iowa state bowling championship last Saturday night in Davenport. Over 360 teams were represented in the state-wide tourney.

Members of the Iowa City team are Marjorie Gross, Connie Marling, Edith Snook, Beatrice Opfel and Estelle Brown.

The Brown's cleaners team rolled a neat total of 2381 to narrowly slip past Kacena of Cedar Rapids with 2378 points.

Bob Jeter, of the Playmor bowling alley in Iowa City, presented the trophy.

Reynolds' 2-Hitter Blanks Boston, 3-0

NEW YORK (AP)—Allie Reynolds, who came to New York from Cleveland in the Joe Gordon deal, made a brilliant Yankee home debut yesterday with a two-hit, 3-0 win over Boston's Red Sox that missed being a no-hitter by the margin of two late inning blows by Rudy York.

The husky righthander had a no-hitter for 6 ½ frames until York, "the big Indian" from Cartersville, Ga., doubled into left center. An alert crowd of 30,729 was fully aware of the opportunity beckoning Reynolds toward the hall of fame until York slammed that two bagger into the hole between centerfielder Joe DiMaggio and leftfielder Charley Keller.

Again in the ninth it was York who was the villain. He slapped a single past shortstop Phil Rizzuto after two were out.

Aaron Robinson got the Yankees out front early with a right field single scoring Joe DiMaggio in the second inning.

Robby let the one run lead ride along until the fifth when the husky catcher drove a Dave Ferris pitch into the 15th row of the lower right field seats for his first home run of the season.

In the eighth, Phil Rizzuto's triple that bounced to the base of the left field wall away from Ted Williams, was followed by George McQuinn's single to right.

Thomas Edison built his first model of an electric locomotive in 1880.

Seek to Open Atomic Energy Study This Fall

Faculty Committee Headed by McGrath To Develop Program

A newly-formed faculty committee discussed Monday the possibility for a course in atomic energy. It would be open to the public as well as to students and faculty members.

The committee felt that such a course might best be presented by means of one evening lecture a week through most of the year.

Dean Earl J. McGrath of the college of liberal arts heads the committee and named as its members Professors Joseph H. Bodine, head of the zoology department; George Glockler, head of the chemistry department; Everett W. Hall, head of the philosophy department; H.W. Saunders of the sociology department; Kenneth W. Spence, head of the psychology department, and Louis A. Turner, head of the physics department.

Prof. Lawrence A. Ware of the electrical engineering department will probably be invited today to join the committee, McGrath indicated.

Temporary Committee

The committee is a temporary one set up to "explore the possibility" of presenting the course. McGrath said the committee's study has a "fair chance of being adopted."

The committee was somewhat hesitant in its first meeting because it did not know student opinion on the matter, McGrath said. He felt that there would be considerable time and effort required to plan the course but that the faculty committee is very much interested and would be "quite willing to work it up" if enough students are interested.

When he heard the results of The Daily Iowan poll of student opinion appearing in yesterday's paper, McGrath said it "sounds good" and that the committee will go forward with the project.

Course Elements

McGrath indicated that instruction for the course would probably include elements of physics, sociology, engineering, economics, political science, philosophy and religion.

The committee discarded the idea of trying to initiate a course this summer, feeling that more time would be required to develop a good course. Instead, at its second meeting early next week, the committee will start shaping a program for the next academic year, McGrath said.

ART EXHIBIT CLOSES

Closing today in the art building is an exhibit of 50 representative prints from 16 Latin-American countries.

The show is part of a mutual exchange of prints being carried on between the United States and Latin America.

Dynamite Does It--Or How To Dig A Ditch!

WORKERS LAY DYNAMITE in preparation for a demonstration in 'digging' a drainage ditch by using high explosives. Dynamite cartridges were planted in a series of small holes which extended across a point of land on Ralston creek. Water was poured over the holes so the blast could be detonated, using the propagation method. Only one cartridge is primed, the concussion from the explosion of this being sufficient to propagate the detonation through the wet earth and set off the whole line of charges.

THE BLAST SHOOK the earth for hundreds of yards and threw dirt into the air, forming a mud geyser over five hundred feet high. Heeding warnings, many observers watched the explosion from a distance of one mile.

2 Johnson County Men Will Compete Saturday In Clean-Plowing Meet

Two Johnson county Farm Bureau members are among the 74 contestants who will participate in the national clean plowing contest Saturday. County Extension Director Emmett C. Gardner will be a referee at the contest.

Wilfred Yeggy, Solon, and Leonard Dolezal, Oxford, will each compete for some of the $1,000 contest money at the Earl Elijah farm near Stanwood in Cedar county. A home-made gadget contest, educational and farm machinery displays and a demonstration of DDT dusting by airplane will also be featured at the contest.

A 40-acre field has been reserved as an airport for those who wish to fly to the contest.

Schramm to Preside At Iowa Editors Meeting

The Iowa Industrial Editors' association will have their annual meeting and short course in Iowa City, May 2 and 3.

The meeting will open Friday afternoon in the senate chamber of Old Capitol with Prof. Wilbur Schramm, director of the journalism school presiding.

The program will include discussions on law of the press, typography, labor-management relations, editing, improvements in copy and planning. Journalism instructors in these special fields will be available to editors for consultation Friday afternoon.

CRAIG RICE DIVORCED

LOS ANGELES (P) — Mystery writer Craig Rice was divorced yesterday by her fourth husband, novelist Lawrence Lipton. He alleged cruelty.

She did not contest the suit. They were married in 1940 at Fort Atkinson, Wis.

RESULT OF THE BLAST is being examined by several men who witnessed the demonstration. The explosion dug a clean ditch approximately four feet deep through the designated area. The demonstration was to show farmers a new and quick method of digging drainage ditches using ditching dynamite. This same method can be employed to dig ditches for pipe lines, straighten streams, or blast water holes for cattle. (Daily Iowan Staff Photos)
