Time to Build Farm Program Is Now

Senator Thye from Minnesota introduced a resolution about a month ago which has a lot of meaning for the farmer. The resolution was sent to the senate agricultural committee. As far as we know it's still there.

The resolution asks that a joint senate and house committee be set up to study farm legislation. Besides Senator Thye, the proposal was also backed by Senator Aiken from Vermont and Senator Young from North Dakota. Keep your eye on these men. Their records show they have the knack of usually doing things right.

Everybody knows the farmers of the country are teetering on the razor edge between boom and bust. Prices have never been higher and output has never been greater. But, unfortunately, farm prices have a habit of going down when production goes up.

It's pretty generally ex-

'Cold Realism' Without Logic

The house of representatives made quite a bit of noise this week amending the foreign relief bill to make sure that Russia wouldn't be able to drain off American dollars and food meant for others.

The representatives were much calmer, though, in slashing President Truman's requested $350-million for foreign aid to a slim $200-million.

This is the kind of expedient economy that always ends up in bigger and better bills later on. Even as originally outlined, the president's aid program was no more than a stop gap measure; 350 millions doesn't go very far in the disintegrated Europe of today.

At best it can put off the hunger pains and ease the ulcerous sores of poverty only for a while.

If we are to interpret the Truman doctrine as a policy opposed to the spread of communism, the only positive method of doing this is by eliminating the conditions which are sympathetic to its growth — insecurity and want.

The 200 millions which the house seems to feel is sufficient from their look-out post on Capitol Hill is to merely tease hungry people by letting them sniff at the kitchen door.

Hunger and poverty breed discontent, whether in Italy and China or in Greece and Turkey. Hungry people are more inclined to listen receptively to new ideas which offer the promise of security.

Labor Unions Pushed Toward Merger

Merger proposals have been flying back and forth between the AFL and the CIO for the past several months, but so far nothing has come of them.

Bringing the country's two largest unions together into one has been a possibility for some time, but never a probability. Things have happened in the last few months, however, which may produce the much-talked-about wedlock.

The unions were told not so long ago that if they behaved themselves they might escape punitive legislation. The majority of them have, and in the face of rising prices and profits and steadily declining real wages. But it has apparently had no perceptible effect on most congressmen.

If national legislation such as the house-approved Hartley bill becomes law, the Wagner act—labor's bill of rights will for the most part be nullified. This will mean that labor will be back where it was 20 years ago fighting for recognition.

There seems little doubt and freedom from want than those who don't have to spend their thin energies wondering whether or not there is to be another loaf of bread—much less where it is coming from.

Speaking for his amendment to prevent relief from going to Poland, Rep. William Colmer (Dem., Miss.) declared that "We are embarking on a policy opposing the spread of communism, and we must be coldly realistic about doing it."

If it is cold realism which argues that the hungrier people are the more they will resist communism and appreciate the virtues of democracy, it isn't even luke-warm logic.

Rep. Colmer's brand of cold realism doesn't look as far ahead as next week.

If we are to interpret the Truman doctrine as a policy opposed to the spread of communism, the only positive method of doing this is by eliminating the conditions which are sympathetic to its growth — insecurity and want.

The board will meet again next Wednesday to elect students who will be responsible to them and Publisher Fred Pownall for the way in which the publications are operated.

But besides its job of electing editors, the board members also manage the financial affairs of its charges and decides any major question of policy in which it feels one of the editors is acting unwise.

As a "board of directors," the board members have the right to remove from office at any time any one of the editors or business managers they have appointed.

Another Power

The board and its publisher and general manager (both positions are held by Professor Pownall) may change the whole election.

That one big union, acting as a unified force, would be a better guarantee of survival. And most union leaders recognize this fact.

On the other hand, labor unification need not be entirely negative.

Unity could be a starting point for correcting labor's faults. It would end jurisdictional battles between the AFL and CIO for one thing.

And if a basis is found to reconcile the industrial unions of the CIO with the craft unions of the AFL, some basis might be used in settling inter-union disagreements.

We happen to have faith in the majority of the labor leaders in this country and cannot feel much afraid of a combined AFL-CIO. It can be a source of great good to the whole society.

AT MOCK KIDNAPING TRIAL

Signed Confession Introduced in Mock Kidnapping Trial

A signed confession was introduced in the mock court of Prof. Arthur Leff in the law building last night in an effort to convict Richard Parkson (Richard Park) of kidnapping.

The reconstructed facts of the sham case, "The State Versus Richard Parkson," were that John Murphy (Ray Franks), bank president, was kidnapped from his home at approximately 1:30 a.m., Jan. 20.

He was blindfolded, bound and taken to a cottage by an unknown kidnapper and held until early the following morning, when he was thrown into a ditch beside the road to Lake Macbride.

He went to a nearby farmhouse where he was picked up by Lt. George Schmidt (Bruce Mallum), city detective.

Miss Amanda Waterman (Theresa Grimes), Murphy's housekeeper, had identified Parkson's voice as that of the kidnapper.

When Parkson was later arrested, he was carrying $300 in currency with serial numbers corresponding to part of the ransom money.

Lieutenant Schmidt testified at the mock trial that a footprint cast taken at the alleged scene of the imprisonment, a cottage near Lake Macbride, corresponded exactly with a shoe worn by the defendant at the time of his arrest.

Schmidt further testified that Parkson readily wrote the confession when confronted with this evidence and the ransom notes written by the kidnapper.

On the witness stand at the time of adjournment was Rex Miller (David Stone), handwriting expert in the mock kidnapping case.

Council for the defense were Warren Dunkle, Darrel McEntaffer and Gail Harshaw; for the prosecution, Martin Romig and Carl Winkler.

The concluding session of the case will be held in the practice court room of the law building at 7 p.m. tonight.

Brewery Workers Get 'Beer Time' In Contract

NEW YORK (AP)—Six thousand brewery workers last night got what a U.S. conciliator said was the first union contract ever to include a guzzle clause.

U.S. conciliator John Fenton said it was the first instance in which "beer time"—long a tradition among brewery workers—received contractual recognition.

A musical program under the direction of Patsy Kelley will follow the dinner which will be served by a group of De Molay boys.

Both Rainbow girls and their parents will attend the function.

Yugoslavs Say U.S. Provokes Greek Strife

LONDON (AP) — Yugoslav communists accused American-led "imperialist cliques" of "provoking civil war in Greece" last night as millions of Europe's toilers prepared to celebrate May Day in great public demonstrations.

Many nations turned leftist since the war, will join tomorrow with the Soviets in Moscow's Red Square in parading a show of military strength, and hold noisy mass rallies in their capitals and cities. Banners denouncing "capitalist exploitations" which to many leftist Europeans has come to refer to the United States, will fly from the northern countries to the Balkans. In many countries the day is a legal holiday for the first time.

The Central communist party of Yugoslavia, in its first May Day proclamation, declared Marshal Tito's new five-year plan was a part of the struggle of "democratic, peace-loving people against the imperialistic cliques."

"These same imperialist cliques," said the manifesto, "inflicted injustices upon Yugoslavia at the peace conference in Paris, are attempting to curtail the just requests of Yugoslavia in the peace treaties with Germany and Austria, and are provoking civil war in Greece in order to become her master, and they are aiding reactionary fascist and semi-fascist organizations and regimes throughout the world."

The proclamation hailed the "mighty brotherly Soviet Union," while Pravda, Communist party organ in Moscow, declared the U.S.S.R. "a reliable bulwark of peace and security" and warned that "the new pretenders to world domination would do well to remember the fate of German and Japanese imperialists."

Call Strike At Indiana Steel Plant

INDIANA HARBOR, Ind. (AP) —

A strike at Inland Steel company, seventh largest producer of steel in the nation, began at 12:01 a.m. (CDT) yesterday and negotiations on a new contract continued without agreement after the strike deadline had passed.

A union spokesman said shortly after midnight that "the strike is on." Pickets had been placed at the two Inland plants in this area shortly before the deadline.

The walkout is the first major one in the industry this year.

A company spokesman said the company-union meeting "probably will continue through the night."

Inland employs 14,000 CIO workers at its plants in Indiana Harbor and Chicago Heights.

With some members demanding a blanket 10 percent rent boost while others called for an immediate end of all controls, the house put off a showdown on the politically potent rent issue until today.

Rep. McCormack (D-Mass.) capped the day's first debate with the announcement that he will attempt to send the entire housing-rent bill back to committee for rewriting.

McCormack told the house that abolishing controls on building materials runs counter to appeals from all veterans organizations.

Across the capital, Senator Wagner (D-N.Y.) and Taylor (D-Idaho) advocated carrying on the present rent program at least through June 30, 1948.

Pravda Names 'Friends of Russia' in U.S.

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda declared yesterday that communism was gaining strength around the world and that "a warm sympathy toward the Soviet Union is living and growing in the hearts of workers abroad."

Pravda listed as among the American friends of Russia:

"A protestant priest, Melish. (The Rev. William Howard Melish is chairman of the National Council of American-Soviet friendship).

"The California prosecutor, Kenney.

"Johannes steel (German-born radio commentator and economist who recently appeared in Moscow during the foreign ministers conference).

"Former Ambassador to Soviet Union Joseph E. Davies.

"Albert Einstein (the mathematician).

"Paul Robeson (Negro singer and many others.)

Sen. Claude Pepper (D-Fla.) and Former Vice President Henry A. Wallace were mentioned as having voiced the same sentiments on the question of international relations.

'Europeans Fear Truman Doctrine,' Wallace Declares

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry A. Wallace declared in a radio (CBS) speech yesterday that European peoples with whom he talked on his recent tour greeted the Truman doctrine "with fear because they regard it as a step leading toward war."

The former vice president said Europeans look to the United States as the only nation which can supply capital and goods needed for rehabilitation but they do not want help through the Truman aid program.

Wallace aroused a storm of congressional criticism with his speeches aboard in opposition to President Truman's Greek-Turkish aid program.

He took notice of these attacks in his radio talk, saying "some people have accused me of arousing Europe against America." "On the contrary," he asserted, "I have been searching for the one basis on which a progressive Europe can cooperate with America. That basis I found in Europe—it is a strong United Nations."

The former cabinet member said the European peoples he visited "hold no hatred for any nation. They do not go around asserting that the third World War has already begun."

"They are not pro-Communist. They want to be friends with America and with Russia, and they want America and Russia to be friends."

No A-Bomb Defense, Roth Tells Chemists

Scientists thought humanity would have sense enough to sit around a table and work out the A-bomb problem after the war, said Prof. Lloyd J. Roth of the college of pharmacy last night.

But such is not the case, he continued. Though the bomb could be brought here by anything "from airplanes to rockets to suitcases," persons still speak of defense against the bomb and hope to keep its secret.

There is no defense against it and production of the bomb by other nations is only a matter of time, he explained.

"Once a nation begins producing the bombs, it becomes cheap enough that you can waste 50 if you can get one into a large city," he said.

Prof. Roth spoke last night before student associates of the American Chemistry association.

Durant Gets 15 Years For Hesse Jewel Theft

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Col. Jack W. Durant was sentenced to 15 years at hard labor and cashiered from the service yesterday as the U.S. court wound up its prosecution of "principals" in the fantastic theft of the $1,500,000 Hesse crown jewels.

Army sources predicted "further prosecutions" might be initiated soon in United States civil courts against other persons connected with the looting.

The prosecution asserted repeatedly at Duran's stormy, five-month trial on both sides of the Atlantic that other American officers, some ranking as high as generals, were implicated in removing various articles from Kronberg castle.

Duran's wife is serving a five-year term for the looting of the buried gems.

Plans Laid For Drive On Rats, Fleas

Sanitation Measures Discussed by Civic Leaders, Technicians

Preliminary plans for a citywide rat and fly control campaign were laid last night at a meeting of civic leaders and technical experts in the City hall.

Next step will be a conference between Secretary Robert Gage of the Chamber of Commerce and Emmett C. Gardner of the Johnson county farm bureau to determine community interest in sending a delegation to Cedar Rapids for a DDT demonstration May 8.

Conducted by the state health department, the meeting would acquaint representatives from cities in this region with fly control methods.

Other tentative measures discussed for local use were:

(1) Bringing in an expert from the U.S. public health service to make a survey of unsanitary conditions here.

(2) Using city trucks after 5 p.m. or on Sundays to collect trash and rubbish in a general city cleanup program.

(3) Starting a "sanitary land-fill" refuse-disposal system at the city dump to eliminate that area as a rat and fly breeding place and to end the smoke and odor nuisance.

Confirmation that a distinct problem does exist locally came from the 16 committee members, who assembled at the request of Gage and Mayor Preston Koser.

Attesting to the prevalence of rats and citing the need for community action were City Restaurant Inspector Charles Schindler, Prof. Luther O. Nolf of the zoology department, Alderman Charles T. Smith and James W. Jones, Dr. Paul Reed (city health physician), Prof. Marcus Powell (university health inspector), Gage, Gardner and several other interested citizens.

To Destroy Habitats

Their opinions indicated that a sustained drive should be undertaken with all Iowa Citizens participating to destroy pest habitats. Further information on plans will be released after scheduled conferences occur, Gage said.

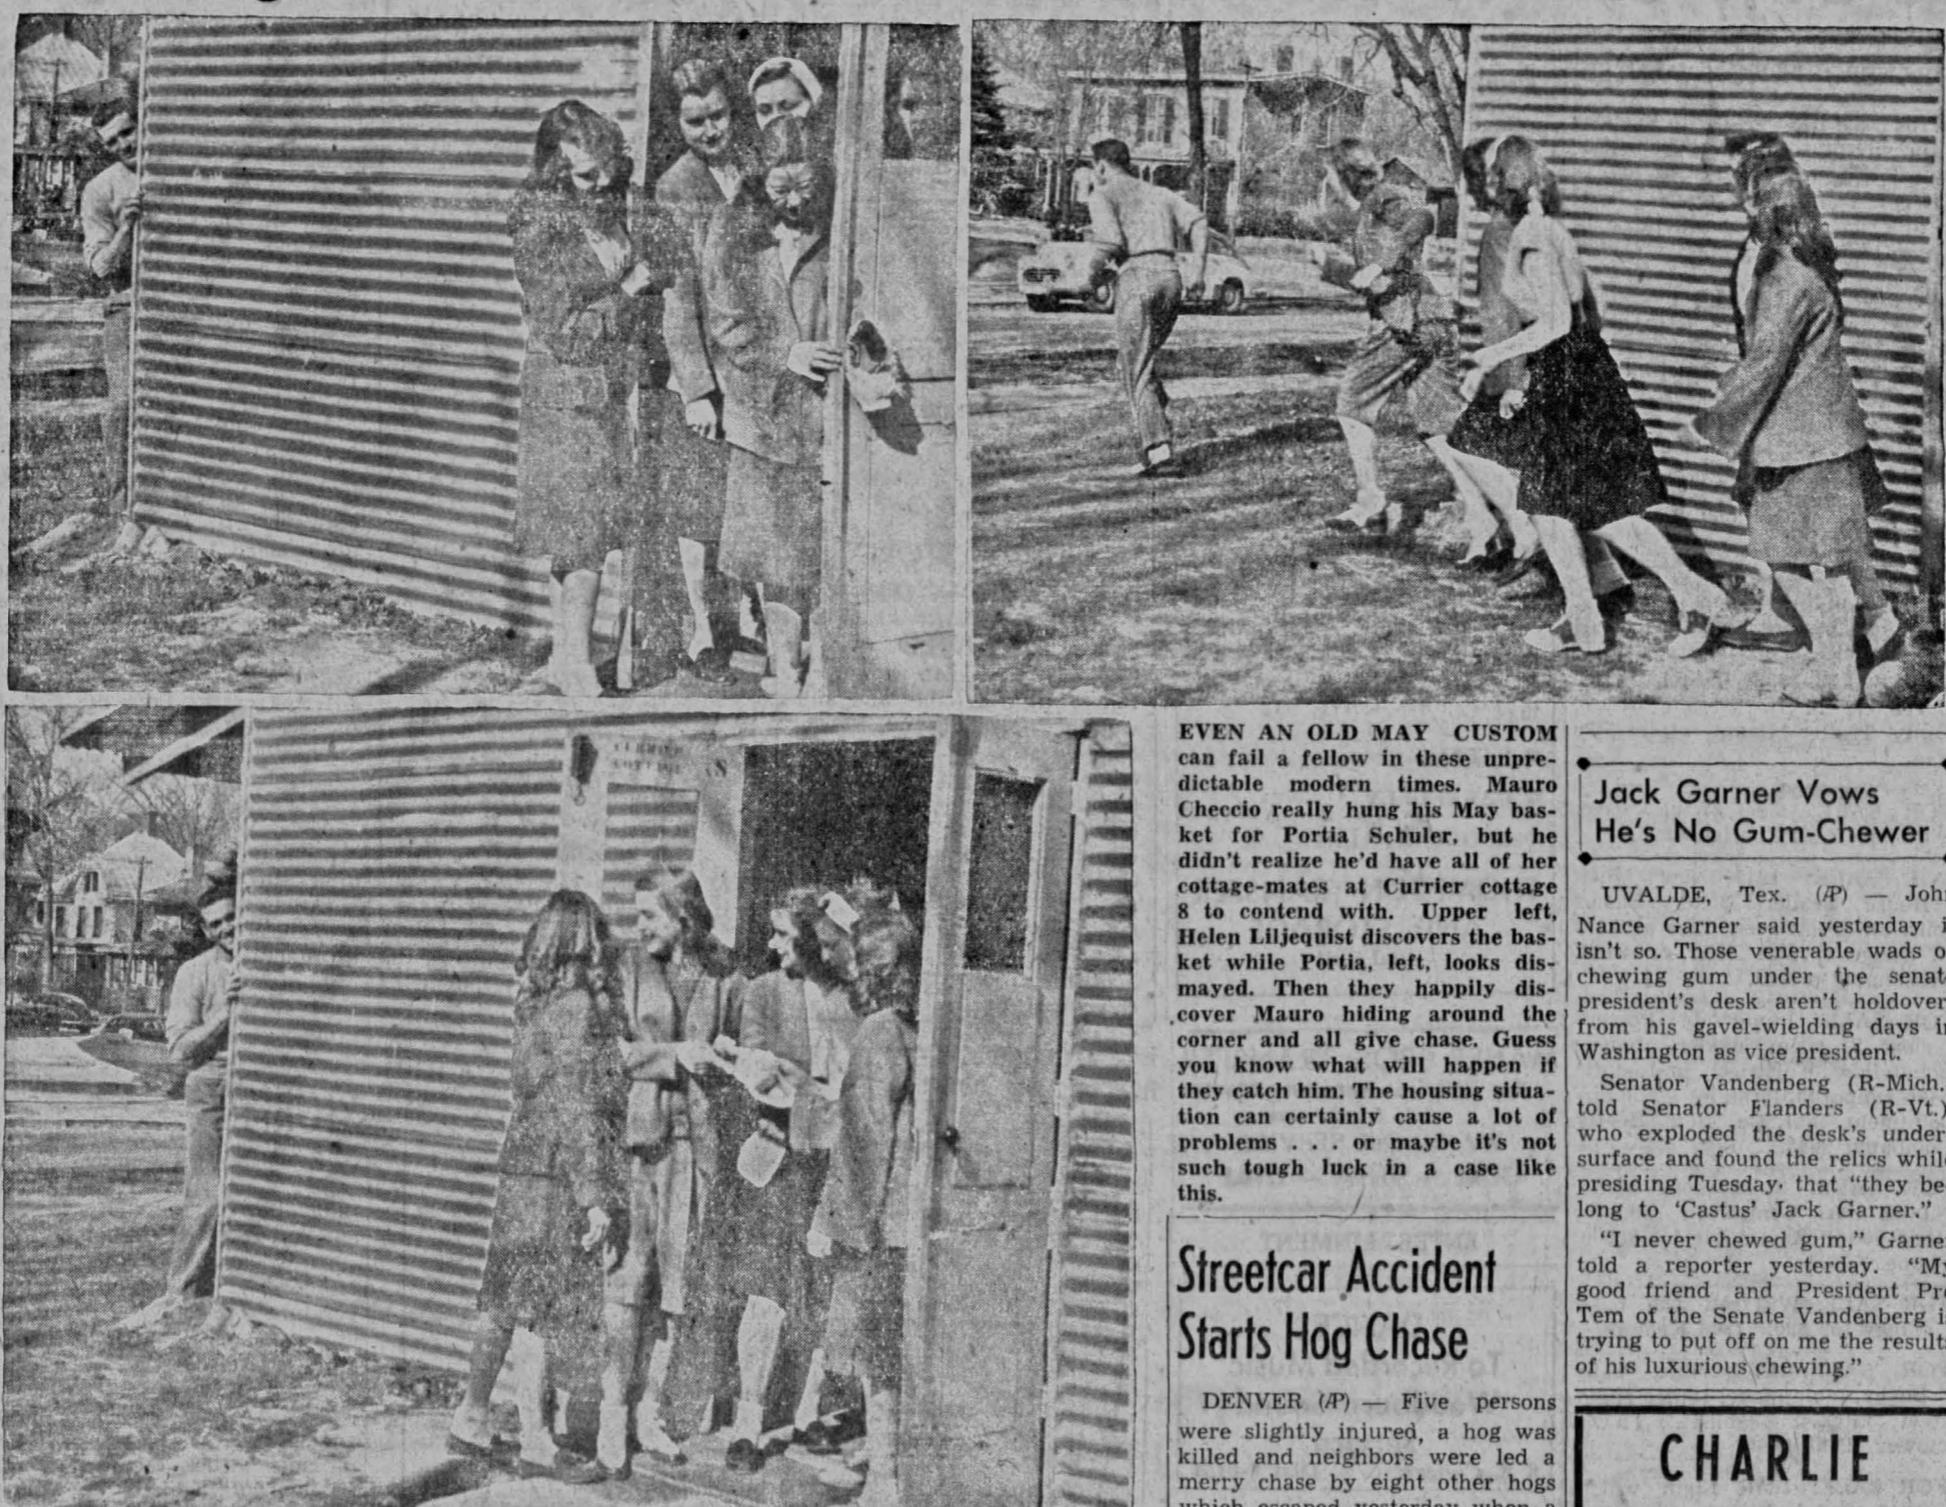

Alderman Smith presented to the committee a report received yesterday from A. L. Bennett, state public health engineer, recommending a new dumping system here after a survey Bennett made April 16.

The engineer emphasized unsanitary conditions at the city dump and said the area would make an "excellent sanitary fill" — where all trash would be dumped into a ditch and covered with two feet of dirt from another trench instead of being burned or left open as is now the case.

He also suggested that the university contribute a share of equipment and operating expenses to the city if the plan is adopted. According to a dump attendant, half of all refuse deposited now is brought by university trucks.

Court Awards $2,750 to Thomas Swiger In Suit Against Interstate Bus Line

Judge Harold D. Evans yesterday handed down a judgment of $2,750 to Thomas C. Swiger and Edward L. O'Connor against the Interstate Transit Lines.

Swiger and O'Connor started action against the bus company after Swiger was refused passage on a bus at the Iowa City bus depot and was injured in a fight that followed.

In presenting their case at the hearing April 16, the bus company claimed that Swiger was intoxicated and belligerent, so the driver revoked the tickets Swiger had bought for himself, his wife and their son. They also accused Swiger of starting the fight which followed.

In his decision Judge Evans stated that "if the plaintiff Swiger were the aggressor in the fight, the defendants' employees, three or four of them, considered by the city council at its next meeting May 12.

Out of last night's meeting came these specific assertions of the growing rat menace:

(1) A resident of Hawkeye Village has complained to Gage about the "serious problem" there.

(2) One Iowa City woman reported seeing 15 to 20 rats at one time near a downtown eating place.

(3) Schindler received 15 rat complaints in April.

used much more force and rough tactics than were reasonably necessary to protect themselves from injury, keeping in mind that only one of them, the driver, was attacked if he was attacked at all."

Judge Evans explained that if Swiger were as belligerent as the defendants' employees claimed, they could have held him in check until the police arrived and "that there was no necessity on their part to inflict the punishment and injuries to the plaintiff." Judge Evans pointed out that while the driver knew that Swiger and his family were not leaving Iowa City on the bus, he neglected to recover their baggage for them. The baggage went to Chicago where Swiger had difficulty finding it.

Concluding the reasoning in his decision, Judge Evans said that "up until the tickets were taken away, no trouble was had at all between plaintiff Swiger and the bus driver; or what later turned out to be an army of bus drivers, one of whom wielded a steel punch; and restaurant men and ticket sellers.

"As it turned out, plaintiff Swiger was a one-man army fighting against a company at almost war strength, and the one-man army did pretty well at that, in his own defense."

Judge Evans also stated that the company failed to fulfill its legal duty as a common carrier to a passenger for hire.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs were Swisher and Swisher and Edward L. O'Connor. The bus company was represented by a Des Moines law firm.

BACK-TO-WORK MOVEMENT IN LONDON DOCK-WORKERS

LONDON (AP) — One-tenth of London's 10,000 striking dockworkers decided yesterday to go back to their jobs and the leaders of the remainder called for a mass meeting today to vote on the back-to-work movement.

The motorman and three passengers were cut by flying glass as the impact knocked the tram off the tracks and overturned the truck, injuring one occupant.

The hogs finally were rounded up by a crew from the Denver stockyards and sent on their way to market.

NO RIOTS IN LIBERIA

Porter Recommends 5-Year $335-Million Plan to Aid Greece

WASHINGTON (AP) — A five-year $335,000,000 reconstruction plan for Greece, to be partly financed by either the United States or the United Nations, was recommended yesterday by Paul A. Porter.

Reporting to Secretary of State Marshall on the two-months official survey he headed, Porter expressed hope that direct American financial assistance will not be necessary after mid-1948.

He questioned, however, whether the $300,000,000 for Greek military and economic aid contemplated in the administration's pending legislation, along with relief funds, will cover needs until that time unless accompanied by stringent economic control measures enforced by the Greek government.

DENNIS INDICTED

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eugene Dennis, secretary of the Communist party in the United States, was indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday on a charge of contempt of congress and a warrant for his arrest was ordered by the district attorney.
