GOOD MORNING, IOWA CITY!

Fair and windy is today's forecast. High temperature today will be 60 to 65; low tonight, 40 to 45.

House Votes to Extend Rent Control

19 Plumbers Walk Out On Barracks Job

A walkout yesterday by 19 plumbers, whose AFL union is negotiating a new wage contract with Allied Construction interests in Cedar Rapids, again befogged the labor situation at the university's barrack-apartment site.

However, it isn't expected to delay completion of an estimated 33 units which lack only final cleanup by laborers before they can be painted and turned over to the university.

Laborers are expected back at the project by Monday at the latest. Their union reached agreement on a new wage contract with ACI in Cedar Rapids Wednesday.

They are awaiting approval of the contract by the Chicago office of the federal public housing authority before resuming work. Immediate approval is expected, according to FPHA policy of following in line with settlements between unions and local contractors.

The plumbers' contract which ended yesterday called for a reported $1.75 an hour. Negotiations which have been in progress for several days presumably concern a new pay rate.

Affected by the plumbers' walkout is work upon 63 units which have been completed except for installation of plumbing and concrete porches, and painting. Another 26 units await construction of porches and painting.

Cement finishers at the project, who walked out with the laborers April 1, are still absent from work pending settlement of negotiations between their union and ACI in Cedar Rapids.

Painters returned to work at the project when their union reached agreement with ACI shortly after April 1. In the absence of cleaning up of interiors by laborers, they have been painting outside.

Carpenters have been held up from work due to the absence of the laborers. They have never left the job although their union has been in negotiations with the Cedar Rapids contractor's organization.

WRECK SCATTERS FREIGHT CARS

SCATTERED LIKE MATCHWOOD yesterday were 17 cars of a 34-car Ft. Wayne, Ind.-to-Chicago Nickel Plate freight train when the train was derailed half a mile west of Mentone, Ind. Aerial picture shows wrecking crews starting to clear the tracks.

Dorothy Marine Unconscious 2 Days After Auto Accident

Two university students were released from University hospital yesterday following the two-car wreck 32 miles east of Iowa City late Tuesday in which Howard Falk A3, Dubuque, was killed.

A third student, George McNeal, C3, New Sharon, is scheduled to be discharged this morning, according to hospital officials.

The two students released are SUI football and track star, Dick Hoerner, and Joseph B. Wells, liberal arts student from Boone.

Dorothy Marine, Wilton Junction, was still unconscious and in serious condition last night with a brain concussion.

Noble Jorgensen, driver of one car, is now in satisfactory condition following an operation Wednesday morning for abdominal injuries, but hospital officials said he would probably be in the hospital "from 10 to 14 days more."

Audrey Hitt, occupant of the other car with Miss Marine, is also in satisfactory condition. She has a fractured jaw. Hoerner was released yesterday morning after X-rays taken of his sprained ankles Wednesday revealed he had no broken bones.

Riots Mark Observances Of May Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
May day, Labor's international holiday, brought demonstrations by millions over much of the world yesterday along with a flood of leftist manifestoes denouncing "capitalism" and "war mongers."

In troubled Trieste, British and American military police and civilian police turned tear gas and water hoses on 5,000 Italians attempting to hold a parade which had been banned by authorities.

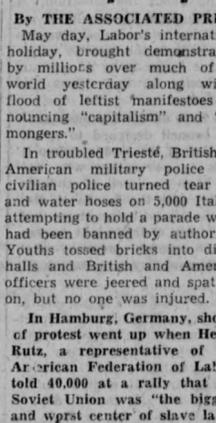

In Hamburg, Germany, shouts of protest went up when Henry Rutz, a representative of the American Federation of Labor, told 40,000 at a rally that the Soviet Union was "the biggest and worst center of slave labor in the world."

In Moscow, where the Soviet Union celebrated its biggest May Day since the war, agile Prime Minister Stalin briskly ascended to the top of Lenin's tomb and tirelessly saluted the hours-long parade in flag-decked red square.

The military display of massive tanks and crack Soviet troops was smaller than usual this year, but there were large formations of workers and sports groups.

In Japan, where communism was outlawed before the war, between 300,000 and 400,000 Japanese celebrated. At the major rally before the imperial palace in Tokyo Kyohki Tokuda, communist party secretary, urged his

Claim Landlord Took Kitchen Away

LOOKING OVER WHAT WAS LEFT of the summer kitchen of their rented home yesterday were Mrs. Jim Munro and "Corky", one of her six children. The Moline, Ill., rent control office said Munro alleged the landlord tore off the kitchen when the family refused to move.

LE CLAIRE, Ia. (AP)—The Jim Munro family yesterday awaited the arrival of a federal rent control official to investigate Munro's allegation that his rented home had been damaged by the landlord because the Munros ignored an eviction notice.

The Moline, Ill., rent control office, meanwhile, announced that a special attorney from Chicago federal rent control office would arrive today to investigate Munro's complaint.

The Moline office said Munro had made this allegation: The landlord, Harold Olsen of Montpelier, Ia., came to the house a few days ago and removed the summer kitchen and the back stoop. Wednesday the owner appeared with three workmen and removed windows from two rooms, took out the front door, and knocked plaster from the living room walls. The landlord was quoted as saying he would tear down the house if Munro did not move.

Efforts to reach Olsen for his side of the story yesterday were unsuccessful. The Moline rent office said it had approved Munro's request for a reduction in rent from $35 to $25 monthly and Munro contended that with retroactive credits he figured his rent expiration date as May 27.

On April 15, he said, he was served with a three-day eviction notice for non-payment of rent but ignored it on advice of his attorney. Munro said his situation was aggravated because he has six children, one of whom is bed-ridden and that they have no place to go.

6 Killed in Ambush Of May Day Parade

ROME, Friday (AP)—Six persons were killed and 15 were wounded near Palermo, Sicily, yesterday in crossfire from machineguns in a mountain gulch overlooking the meeting place of two columns of parading workers celebrating May day.

The firing lasted for 20 minutes. Carabinieri who rushed to the scene were unable to find the people who fired the shots.

Only a week ago Sicily got through a bitterly contested provincial election without bloodshed.

Meanwhile, funeral services for Howard Falk have been set for 1 p.m. today in Dubuque. A member of Falk's fraternity, Sigma Phi Epsilon, said yesterday the entire fraternity plans to attend.

Miss Marine and Miss Hitt, in one car, were apparently making a U-turn on highway 6 when the parading officials.

AFL, CIO Talk Merger

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL and CIO held a five-hour session yesterday on the subject of merging their strength and found enough harmony to permit continuation of the talks today.

AFL President William Green and CIO President Phillip Murray, heading committees of five representatives from each of the big labor organizations, told reporters they had made "definite progress toward an understanding and genuine contribution" toward solving differences.

The meetings will continue at 10:30 a.m. (CDT) today. The five representatives of the AFL, including John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and the CIO committee departed on apparently friendly terms.

Murray told reporters: "We covered the field fairly well here today and we gave to each other a greater understanding of our common problems."

"As a result of our discussion I believe we have a greater appreciation of our mutual interests."

"We are of course united in our opposition to pending anti-labor legislation."

Green pointed to the AFL $1,500,000 advertising campaign to oppose labor bills now before congress as an indication of his organization's efforts to fight a common cause with the CIO. He expressed the opinion that the CIO and AFL are exhibiting all the teamwork in the field that is necessary at the moment.

Both Murray and Green said in advance that they have "an open mind" on the proposal to merge their groups into one big force of 13,500,000 members.

Allis-Chalmers Employees Get 11 1/2-Cent Wage Hike
MILWAUKEE (AP)—Wage increases of 11 1/2 cents an hour and six paid holidays for all hourly paid employees and similar adjustments for salaried workers in its eight plants were announced yesterday by the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co.

The home works of the company were strikebound for 328 days by a walkout of local 248, UAW-CIO, which ended March 24 when the union returned to work without a contract. Main issues in the strike were union demands for a 25 cent an hour wage increase, union shop and control of grievance procedure.

Government officials said Mexico is virtually assured of initial credits of at least $50,000,000 from the U.S. export-import bank on here applications for loans of $150,000,000 to $175,000,000. The funds would be used for the development of Mexican power, irrigation and industrial projects.

In addition, Mexico has applied to the World Bank for a loan of more than $208,000,000, but since the bank has not yet made any

Defeats Plan To Boost Lids Ten Percent

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house passed a bill last night continuing rent control but not the way President Truman wanted it done.

The bill, which now goes to the senate, authorizes landlords to raise rents 15 percent in return for a two-year lease if the tenant agrees.

It exempts new houses and apartments, and any which have not been rented in the last two years.

It abolishes priority and other powers over building materials and construction except those which enable the government to curb the building of amusement places.

It bars the federal government (but not states) from enforcing the rent controls in any city, town or county where the local government decrees they are not needed.

And it continues the federal rent control only until Dec. 31, with authority for the president to extend this to March 31 if he finds it necessary. Mr. Truman had requested a full year's extension beyond June 30, when the present act expires.

The house almost authorized a flat 10 percent increase of the rent ceilings. But this proposal, long debated and finally opposed by both the house and senate banking committees, was defeated on a roll call vote of 135 to 119.

Then, after some further tests of voting strength, the house finally passed the bill 204 to 182. The final rollcall found 141 Republicans joined by 63 Democrats for the bill; 110 Democrats, 81 Republicans and Rep. Marcantonio (AL-NY) against it.

The house showdown came dramatically after the bill narrowly escaped being swept from the floor and returned to the banking committee for further study.

On a standing vote the house first decided 156 to 147 to shuttle the bill back to the committee, where it might have died.

A running tally on a subsequent roll call on the same motion showed the house had sustained the action. But with Republican leaders shutting swiftly about the floor, several GOP members arose and changed their votes — enough to defeat the re-committal, 197 to 189.

Democrats led the move to send the measure back to committee, contending it weakens controls over rents, as well as abolishing government controls over building materials and construction.

Expect Hiatt to Tell 'His Story' at Trial In Jefferson Today

JEFFERSON (AP)—Additional medical testimony was heard in the Robert Hiatt trial yesterday afternoon along with several character witnesses who testified in behalf of the 28-year-old University of Iowa graduate who is charged with assault with intent to murder.

Hiatt himself was expected to take the stand today to tell his version of the March 23 incident in which he is charged with shooting Delmar Van Horn Jr., 22, in the arm. Hiatt has been described as a disappointed suitor for the hand of Van Horn's bride of two months, the former Dorothy Snook of Newton, whom Hiatt knew at Iowa U.

The case may not reach the jury until tomorrow.

A plea of "temporary insanity" due to administration of sleeping tablets has been entered by Hiatt's attorneys.

Dr. J. M. Rhodes of Pocahontas, the day's first medical witness, testified Hiatt consulted him in February and appeared to be suffering from tension and depression. Dr. Rhodes said he prescribed a sedative and added that if Hiatt had taken an excessive amount it might have "caused delusions."

Physicians from Jefferson and Alta also were called as defense witnesses.

Several character witnesses testified for Hiatt.

Freak Train Wreck Kills 4 Persons

HUNTINGTON, Pa. (AP)—Two huge steel plates jutting from a freight train ripped like a giant can opener into a passing Pennsylvania railroad flyer early yesterday, killing four passengers and injuring 40 others.

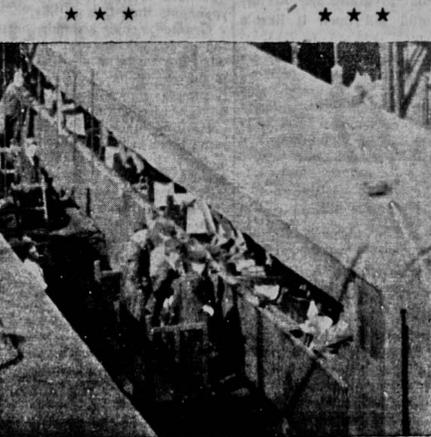

A stream of sparks lit the darkness as the steel tore into the first coach of the 15-car New York to St. Louis passenger train — The American.

The crash at 1:47 a.m. (CDT) jolted the steel onto another track and derailed a third train — a freight traveling in the opposite direction. A railroad spokesman said the freak three-train wreck was "most unusual."

As The American was passing the west-bound freight, the steel suddenly poked into the passenger engine, scraped two mail cars and a combination car and then bit into the coach.

Amid the shriek of steel on steel and the clatter of splintered glass, passengers were dumped into the aisles or dragged through the gaping hole in the side of the car.

As the flyer and freight ground to a stop, the steel toppled to the other side, derailling the locomotive and tender of an east-bound freight.

THIS SHOWS WHAT REMAINED of a Pennsylvania Railroad Flyer coach yesterday after two steel plates from a passing freight near Huntington, Pa., ripped open the side, killing four passengers and injuring 40. Railroad officials said they couldn't explain how the huge steel plates broke loose from their moorings aboard low-sided flat-cars.

Chaplin Pays $95,000 In Plagiarism Case

NEW YORK (AP)—A $50,000 plagiarism suit against movie comedian Charles Chaplin ended in federal court yesterday when Judge Harold S. Burke announced the case had been settled for $95,000.

The suit was brought by the Author Konrad Bercovici charging Chaplin with plagiarism and breach of contract in the motion picture "The Great Dictator."

GOP's Labor Bill a Big Gamble

The United States senate seems to be slipping back into the old unhappy game of party politics. Party lines were generally forgotten during the debate on the Lillenthal nomination. Party unity was secondary when the senate debated and voted on the momentous aid to Greece and Turkey bill.

But now that the senate has turned its attention to an equally vital piece of legislation—the labor bill, battle lines are forming according to party lines.

This was clearly shown Wednesday when the senate voted on the Morse proposal to send the omnibus labor bill back to the committee to be split into four separate bills. The motion was defeated on a strictly party vote.

Only two Republicans, Senators Langer and Morse, voted with the Democratic minority for recommitment. Actually, the balance of power was held by the 11 southern Democrats who voted with the Republican majority.

But the point is, with the exception of the two senators mentioned above and Senator Aiken who did not vote, the rest of Republicans voted down the line to defeat the Morse motion.

It has been hinted that it is deliberate GOP strategy to send to the White House a labor bill so restrictive that President Truman will be forced to veto it. The public wants some sort of labor legislation and it is thought that certain Republicans feel they can make political capital of a presidential veto.

As the labor bill now stands, it is a curious combination of constructive and punitive proposals. While parts of the bill indicate a sincere effort to improve employer-employee relations, other parts indicate a biased resentment toward the labor movement.

The Morse suggestion was simply an attempt to divide the catch-all bill into sections to give the senate and the president an opportunity to pass on individual parts.

But with the defeat of the motion, the senate and Mr. Truman are now forced to either accept or reject all of the bill. On this all or nothing basis, the good will be rejected with the bad or the bad will be accepted with the good.

It may be argued that it's actually not smart politics to make labor legislation a party matter. Such legislation is too important; it affects too many persons. If the senators are considering the bill with next year's elections in mind, they may be risking their political necks.

There were obvious political overtones in the killing of the OPA last summer as well as in the aid-to-the-rich tax bill proposed this session. Both were party issues and both have turned out to be unwise political moves.

An attempt to handoff the unions may please some of the voters, but it seems an awfully big gamble for a party to assume that it will please the majority of the voters.

Nobody Prints All the News

No newspaper prints all the news. Usually it doesn't have enough space and sometimes it doesn't have enough integrity.

That's why you probably haven't heard much about what Claude Pepper told the United States senate last week. His words might have brought a pink tinge to many faces and a sharp pain to many toes.

All Senator Pepper wanted to do was to set the record straight. He writes a weekly column for the newspapers and radio stations in his native state, Florida, and sends it out free to them and other newspapers and radio stations that request it, providing they are primarily distributors of news and not mouthpieces for foreign governments.

When the Chicago Star, allegedly a Communist front publication, printed a column by Senator Pepper, his political opponents charged him with being a contributing columnist of that newspaper. (The column itself was loaded with dynamite because it told how small newspapers were being strangled by the monopoly, cartelism and black marketing in newsprint.)

This charge originated in an article written by Lyle C. Wilson, chief of the Washington bureau of the United Press, a wire service which supplies news to papers of all shades of political belief.

As Mr. Pepper told the senate, the column was sent out to the regular papers on his mailing list, which does not include the Chicago Star. The Star had printed this particular column without Senator Pepper's permission or knowledge, and he did not like to have it implied that he was associated with the paper in any way. Evidently, Mr. Wilson's article carried that implication.

Of course, UP filed a retraction, but this did not enjoy the prominence given the original article. The Miami Daily News pounced upon the Wilson story and used it under the headline, "Pepper Writes for Red Weekly." The Washington Daily News said, "Senator Pepper's column shows Red Ink Blots."

The only thing the senator was able to find in the way of a correction was a little story on Page 34 of the Washington Daily News which said he hinted that the Chicago Star obtained the column by some improper method.

This is more than an anecdote of one man trying to clear his name of unjust charges. It is a skirmish in the fight of a valiant public servant trying to expose a threat to freedom of the press.

And make no mistake about it, that freedom is seriously threatened. It is threatened by cartels and by newspapers buying newsprint from these cartels on the black market.

As Senator Pepper has pointed out, it is pretty clear that newsprint is deliberately being kept out of regular buying channels so that it will bring higher prices, prices which only big-chain and big metropolitan newspapers can afford.

Small-town dailies and county weeklies have been skimming on newsprint for months. Some may have to suspend publication, surrendering the means of public information into the hands of a few wealthy interests.

If we cherish freedom of the press, we must make certain that that freedom remains available to all members of the press, big and little, wealthy and poor. Only then will it be freedom worthy of the name.

That's what Claude Pepper told the United States senate.

Educator Hits Overemphasis On Importance of Degrees

A sharp attack on "diploma mills" and the over-emphasis being placed on "going to college" is made in the current American magazine by President Henry M. Wriston of Brown university who declares that "the importance attached to a college degree has reached the point of absurdity in many fields."

The ever-growing tendency on the part of business, industry, and even some government agencies to make a degree a prerequisite for a position places false values on the degree, says Dr. Wriston.

"Thousands of students now attend college not so much to gain an education as to obtain degrees which will serve as 'passes' to desirable positions and advancement after graduation," he states.

"Such a condition is a menace to our democratic way of life. It threatens real education, since it tends to convert colleges into assembly lines for the production of degrees, instead of institutions where minds are enlarged and personalities developed."

Dr. Wriston points out that a degree "can mean much or absolutely nothing," depending upon the college bestowing it as well as the competence, character, and personal integrity of the individual reaching it. "It is safe to say," he adds, "that as the pursuit of college degrees for the prestige they bring becomes more general the number of degrees representing inferior scholastic accomplishment will increase."

"The current tendency to encourage degree-chasing is hostile to true education, to the long-range interests of the (war) veterans, and to the public weal."

Enlightenment is not a matter of degrees, in the opinion of Dr. Wriston who feels that "we have been too contemptuous of the intelligence of the common man. His capacity for sound judgment has been far too heavily discounted."

"Among the outstanding figures in the world today," writes Dr. Wriston, "Stalin in Russia, Bevin in Britain, Blum in France, and Truman in the United States are statesmen who learned more from experience than from schools. John L. Lewis, Philip Murray and William Green are men who rose to positions of enormous political and public power and prestige without degrees. The history of American corporations recalls Andrew Carnegie and the elder Rockefeller, Henry Ford and Walter Chrysler, and dozens of others who demonstrated that possession of a degree is not a correct criterion of ability."

While tremendous sums are being spent to supply educational opportunities for veterans, Dr. Wriston says "there is clear evidence that in some instances the dividends from our vast enterprise will not be at all commensurate with the time, effort, and money expended." Among the program's shortcomings he cites is the fresh accent it has placed "upon degrees as opposed to education."

"Over-accents upon degrees," writes the Brown university president "is a reflection of too great a concentration of specific skills, and those are often achieved at the expense of a broader perspective by which alone the great program of the GI Bill of Rights can become effective in the public interest. To a large extent degrees are now offered for such specialized work that many have almost no relationship to general competence."

"The greatest need of the world is not people with specific skills. The primary need is citizens with a broad enough outlook to lift their eyes from their own job and both understand and serve the community, the nation, and the world."

Florence Clements Sues F. H. Dreckman for $250

Florence Clements started action yesterday on two counts totaling $250 against Floyd H. Dreckman.

The plaintiff is asking a $100 judgment for a promissory note signed by Dreckman on which she was guarantor. In her petition she claims Dreckman neglected to pay the note when it was due, forcing her to pay it.

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT Time for Dewey to Speak Up

By SAMUEL GRAFTON
New York Post Syndicate

This is one of those high time pieces. It is high time Governor Dewey of New York made some sort of statement about the Taft labor program in its present form. One feels an eager almost boyish curiosity to know just what the governor thinks about it, and it is unkind of him to tease us with his silence. After all, he is in no position to deny that we need his guidance in handling our public affairs.

Come to think of it, the governor never said anything about the Lillenthal fight either; or if he did, I can't find it in the clips. Don't look now, but I think that don't look now has become his motto.

If the governor has burning convictions on such issues (and he is professionally engaged in the business of having burning convictions), it is hard to see how he can endure the reputation he is developing as the sitting-out man in American public life. For if he favors the anti-labor program, then he must want it to pass very much, and if he disapproves of it, he must want it to be defeated very much; and it must be extremely thwarting for him not to help bring either of these events about. If he takes a side, he must want that side to win, whatever it is. Or at least one would think so.

But it is a curious thing how being a candidate sometimes seems to have the paradoxical effect of almost removing a man from public life. To trace the Dewey record of statements through a volume of the New York Times Index (say that for 1946) is to receive an odd impression of semi-retirement. Oh, occasionally he makes little formal statements, and ornate party speeches, but it is done somehow with the air of a man setting himself straight on the issues, rather than that of a leader setting the issues straight for us. The feeling is not that of one who is actively affecting events, but rather of one who is navigating cautiously amongst them.

And there's the rub, for Mr. Dewey has influence, and it is a pity to see influence wasted in this critical time. Mr. Dewey is the head-man of a liberal state, a state which believes in the closed shop (or which, at least, has not passed an anti-closed shop bill); it is a state which believes, by and large, in a good many other principles threatened by the Taft

Wants Student, Faculty Views on Core Courses

TO THE DAILY IOWAN:

This past school year I have heard many disparaging remarks about a system known as the "core course", and it seems to me that the students here at the university are knee-deep in a state of lethargy concerning their education.

Among the student body there have been many good suggestions, pro and con, concerning the core courses, but no one seems to have the ambition or the courage to do anything about the situation. I am certain that the faculty is interested in the students' views and the students in the faculty's views, but there seems to be no medium of exchange for their ideas, and suggestions.

We have on our campus a student council designed to speak the mind of the student when it comes to governing; why not then have a council of students to meet with the faculty to discuss the education problems that arise? Out of this might emerge a core course program that would meet the approval of all.

My suggestion to the core course program would be a minor change. The heads of the various departments should have the authority to decide what core courses they think necessary to give the student a background of general knowledge for a major in that department. There is for example the problem of foreign language. It seems that no one may graduate from the college of liberal arts without the necessary requirement in foreign language. This requirement states that, "a student be able to read or speak a foreign language with a degree of competency", and only an exceptional student can obtain any degree of proficiency in a single year of language instruction. Furthermore, it has been proved that if a language is not used a person will forget 50 percent of it.

Why then should a political science major, or a physical education major be required to take a language in his freshman or sophomore year when upon graduation he will have forgotten 50 percent. It is a well established fact that high school graduates, some with two years of language, are unable to take the comprehensive tests to meet the requirements at entrance because the majority of them feel that they have not retained enough to pass a comprehensive test. This falls particularly hard on the veteran who has been out of school anywhere from two to three years longer than the recent high school graduate.

I sincerely feel that the student body is interested in this problem and that if students were allowed to sit in on faculty discussions this problem could not only be solved, but would help to promote a better basis for understanding between students and faculty.

Mr. Gordon Gets The Last Word

TO THE DAILY IOWAN:

Let me correct a mistaken impression. My comment on polling was not aimed at The Daily Iowan. It was aimed at polling as a technique, but "if the shoe fits put it on." The Editors' apparently felt it fit so well they tried hard to put it on—and very nearly succeeded.

To those who are intrigued by the sterile statements of historical accumulations must we attribute the following statements: "conceding many inadequacies, we nevertheless feel we have learned quite a bit about campus opinions on various subjects. We merely like to compare the results."

Such statements bring to mind the propensity of people to handle familiar and reassuring objects. This mental sensuousness is the psychic parallel of omnism. Can anyone condone such actions or consider this reason a valid one and of sufficient moment for the expense, time, and energy spent? Are we to believe that the polls are only a product of curiosity?

"We feel, however, that the majority, over a period of time, is more often correct than any minority we can think of." Until Columbus proved them wrong, the majority considered the world flat—the earth was the center of the universe for the majority for a great part of history—the sun was a god for the majority for centuries.

Either "The Editors" can (not) think of "many instances" or their "logically correct" has a meaning different from mine. Perhaps the confusion lies in mistaking the criterion for the "correctness" of logic processes. As I see it, the correctness of first order facts lies in a similar perception of extensional objects by a number of people. To apply that criterion to logic processes is to miss the point that such processes are not first order. Therein lies the crux of the whole discussion as I see it.

As for the majority being more often correct than any minority (in a case of logic), I thoroughly disagree. Freud, "Group Psychology and Analysis of the Ego," quotes Le Bon and McDougall to the effect that the intellectual and emotional level of the crowd or group is always below that of the individual and generally nearer that of the unruly child, the untutored savage, or the wild beast. Le Bon, "The Crowd"; "The work of a crowd is always inferior, whatever its nature, to that of an isolated individual."

In this connection, it must be understood that, the People of the U.S., the citizens of Iowa City, the students of the university, constitute psychological crowds as Le Bon defines them. We, as individuals, constitute a part of these crowds by virtue of mental attitudes imbibed from our education and environment. . . . It might well be said that an individual may stand against the world in reasoning if he understands the restraints, controls and disciplines of what might be called the Objective Mind.

But to analyze every statement of "The Editors" would consume too much space. I think it could be proven that their "arguments" are characterized by (since we are being pedantic) dead level abstracting. As examples— "But most people are accustomed to thinking in simple 'yes' or 'no' patterns." "The multiple choice questions often irritate more respondents than they satisfy."

Granted, people are more accustomed to yes and no patterns, what are we to do about it? What if the questions do irritate more responses than they satisfy? You do not answer an argument by presenting more questions on the same level of abstracting. I may suggest that the argumentative process is not a mere stating of bald facts and considering such statements to be arguments. "The Editors' argumentative process, to put it figuratively, is running in a circle on a plain whereas for "proof" it must descend and ascend to different levels of abstracting.

Girl for Bette Davis

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—A new leading lady took the stage yesterday in the Bette Davis household. The 39-year-old actress' first child, seven-pound Barbara Davis Sherry, was born by caesarean section at Santa Ana Community hospital.

Dining cars were introduced on American railroads in 1868.

I occasionally wonder whether college students in other countries spend much time studying the Congressional Record, that oft-times amazing transcript of the day-to-day proceedings of our senate and house of representatives.

For if the Record is examined regularly in the universities of England, France, China, Russia and the smaller United Nations members, we might well wonder why the peoples of the world don't throw up their hands in despair and write off American-styled democracy as an ideology for muddled filibusters.

Take Monday, April 28, for example. Our old friend from Tennessee, Senator Kenneth McKellar, was once again in the thick of the oratorical fog with a lengthy speech of tribute to his political patron, Boss Ed Crump of Memphis.

Apparently not satisfied with the courtesy his upper chamber colleagues had extended him during the debates over the Lillenthal (atomic energy commission) and Clapp (TVA) nominations—when he was allowed to rave on to his heart's content several hours each day for nearly six weeks—McKellar took up a sizeable portion of Monday's legislative session in an address which is sure to provide excellent grist for the anti-democratic propaganda mill in those areas where the American governmental system is looked upon as weak and inadequate.

The aged Tennessee Democrat had nothing but words of highest praise for Crump, sometimes known as the "last of the big-time bosses" and the man who rules Memphis, McKellar and the state's other U.S. senator, Tom Stewart, with an iron hand. Few regions within the United States have a more corrupt political history than Tennessee under Crump these past 20 years, but his power is so complete and the Democratic state machine so ruthless that all attempts to smash him have thus far fallen far short of success.

"Mr. Crump's word is as good as his bond," said McKellar in his Monday speech. (Right off hand, it's only logical to suppose that the senator knows whereof he speaks with references to Crump's promises). "He has made a great success in business. He has a brilliant mind and possesses one of the finest personalities I know. . . . "No more popular spirited man . . ."

" . . . Wanting nothing from any man, I take pleasure," concluded McKellar, "in lifting my voice in honor of one of the great men of the state of Tennessee, and one of the great men of our country."

Thus spoke the senior senator from Tennessee about his mentor and benefactor extraordinaire, Boss Ed Crump of Memphis.

I occasionally wonder . . .

Government Building New VHF Radio Station Southwest of Iowa City

Construction is now under way on a new VHF very high frequency radio range station eight miles southwest of the Iowa City municipal airport.

Arch W. Wade, C.A.A. resident engineer, said yesterday completion of the range is expected early in June.

SUI to Salute Representative Iowa Mother

Mrs. Ruth Hennessy Named Honor Guest For May 9-11 Activity

Mortar Board has announced the selection of Mrs. Ruth Hennessy of Council Bluffs as Representative Iowa Mother, to be guest of honor on the Iowa campus Mother's Day Weekend, May 9, 10 and 11.

Mrs. Hennessy, who is active in state medical auxiliary work, Red Cross activities and the Cancer Society drive, is the mother of four daughters: Mary Ellen, who received her medical degree from the university in 1944; Kathleen, who graduated in liberal arts in 1945; Pat now a sophomore in the university, and Natalie, who attends high school in Council Bluffs and plans to enroll in the university next fall.

To Speak Saturday

Mrs. Hennessy will speak at the Mother - Daughter - Son program May 10 in Macbride auditorium. Also on the speaking program will be President Virgil M. Hancher, Dorothy Kottman, A4, Burlington, and Steve Driftmeier, A4, Shenandoah, will speak as representative daughter and son.

Mortar Board will hold its annual tapping ceremony for new members at the Saturday night program.

Campus Tour

Mothers Day visitors will also tour campus housing units, including barracks-apartments, May 10.

The tour, part of the Mothers Day weekend activities planned by Mortar board, is scheduled from 2 to 4 p.m. Trailers, men's and women's cottages, Currier hall and Hillcrest will be visited, with special emphasis on the temporary units.

Currier and Hillcrest will hold open house.

Porter Novel Published

A short novel entitled "The Irrepressible Clementine" by William Porter, instructor in magazine writing, appears in the May issue of Cosmopolitan magazine. About 25,000 words in length, the story was written last spring. It deals with an elderly college professor's difficulties in adjusting himself to the postwar college student.

Engagement Announced

ANNOUNCEMENT HAS BEEN MADE of the engagement of Nancy F. Pfeiffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Godfrey, Glen Ellyn, Ill., to Ensign Robert V. Towner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Loot Language Webster's Big One Carried Away

Calling the theft of books from the Union library a "breakdown of the honor system," Dr. Earl E. Harper, Union director, revealed yesterday that a large unabridged Webster dictionary is missing.

The theft was probably premeditated, according to Harper. Hiding the dictionary out the window in an accomplice or carrying it down the back steps and out the rear door of the Union are possible ways by which the thief escaped.

"I came very near to closing up the library when I heard about this," Harper said. "I petitioned the library people for four years before I was able to obtain the dictionary."

However, he added that the library would be kept open because "I hate to penalize law-abiding students by restrictions caused by actions of the conscienceless ones."

Union library books are now marked on the back with a white "U" to identify them.

Viewing the situation, Harper said, "In the words of Amos and Andy, 'I'm regusted.'"

HATFIELD DIVORCE GRANTED

Betty Hatfield was given a divorce yesterday from Ralph Hatfield on a charge of cruelty. She was also given custody of Karen, 14 months old daughter. $10 weekly support money and court costs. Swisher and Swisher were Mrs. Hatfield's attorneys.

Woman's Club Presents Organ-Piano Recital

The music department of the Iowa City Woman's club presented an organ and piano recital yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. S. A. Neumann, 229 Magowan avenue.

Those participating were Mrs. Gerald W. Buxton, Bette Neumann and Mrs. Neumann.

Miss Neumann played Art Kahn's modern arrangement of "Stardust," with Mrs. Neumann at the organ.

The following program featured Mrs. Neumann at the Hammond organ and Mrs. Buxton at the piano. Selections were "Triumphal March" by Grieg, "Sheherazade" by Rimsky-Korsakov, "Pastorale" by Gullmunt, "Andante Cantabile" by Tschaiakowsky, "Fantasie" by Demarest, "The Swan" by Saint Saens, "Jesus Joy of Man's Design" by Bach and "Finlandia" by Sibelius.

Political Scientists To Attend Conference

Porter to Participate In Panel on Midwest Political Alignments

Sixteen staff members and graduate assistants of the political science department will attend a conference of midwestern political scientists today, tomorrow and Sunday at the University of Notre Dame in South Bend, Ind.

Held in conjunction with representatives of midwestern social studies teachers, the meeting will bring together about 100 university instructors for a series of discussions on a variety of topics.

Prof. Kirk H. Porter, head of the department here, will appear on the conference program, participating in a discussion of "Shifting Political Alignments in the Midwest." Prof. Herman Trachsel is a member of the eight-man managerial committee which plans the conclave.

Department members attending in addition to Porter and Trachsel, will be Prof. John E. Briggs, Prof. Hugh E. Kelso, Harold P. Christensen, Lawrence E. Dennis, Robert J. Jensen, James C. Lien, Carl Leiden Jr., Kenneth F. Millsap, Russell M. Riss, Richard F. Schier, David Scott, K. Thor Swanson, Max W. Turner and Michael D. Zenor.

City Marble Shoot To Select Champ For State Tourney

Iowa City, marble shooters of eighth grade age or under, will have a chance to shoot for the city championship this month.

A tournament, co-sponsored by the Recreation center and Veterans of Foreign Wars post 2581, will be held the week of May 26 to select the best marble shooter in Iowa City who will then go to the state VFW tournament and possibly to the national VFW contest in Boys Town, Neb., in June.

Exhibitions to demonstrate national marble tournament rules will be held on local school grounds May 5 and May 10. Experts at the game are being sought by General Chairman Fred Robertson to acquaint contestants with these rules.

Local school area tournaments will take place between May 12 and 22. Medals will be given to the three best shooters from each area, with the champion going to the city tournament.

The city-wide contest will be held the week of May 26 and is open to any contestant meeting the age qualification. Three trophies will be given at this tournament. The best shooter in the city will go to the state contest sponsored by the VFW.

Interested marble players can get all information at the demonstrations to be held at the school grounds next week.

Student Publications To Select New Member To Fill Recent Vacancy

Kathy Larson, student member of Board of Trustees, Student Publications Inc., said yesterday that the student members had met Wednesday night to select their nominee for a replacement to the board.

The vacancy was caused when Bob Fawcett resigned to apply for The Daily Iowan editorship.

Miss Larson said the nomination would be presented at the board's next meeting, May 7. This means that the new member, who must be approved by President Virgil M. Hancher before taking office, will not participate in the election of editors and business managers for The Daily Iowan, Hawkeye and Frivol, she said.

Anniversary Program Listed by Religion School

An organ recital by Mrs. S. A. Neuman at 7:30 p.m. Sunday will precede the 20th anniversary vesper service of the school of religion. Mrs. Neuman will play religious selections of all faiths.

"An Hour of Song," a vesper service observing the founding of the school of religion, will begin at 8 p.m. at Macbride auditorium. Protestant, Catholic and Jewish choirs will present traditional music.

The Rev. J. Ryan Beiser, Dr. Judah Goldin and Dr. Marcus Bach, staff members of the school, will present commentaries on the musical selections.

Both parts of the program will be broadcast by WSUI.

FRANK SWAN FINED $25

Frank Swan, student living in the Quadrangle, paid a $25 fine and $1.50 costs in police court for disorderly conduct yesterday.

Women's and children's wear manufacturing...

AN ILLUSTRATION OF INDUSTRIAL MATURITY

For 14 years there has been no major strike in the women's and children's apparel industries . . . and only one in the past 21 years.

In the first post-war year, while American industry in general was losing 120 million man-days of work as a result of labor-capital disputes, the women's wear trades were again setting an inspiring example of continuity of operation.

The history of employer-worker relationship in these industries is a story of consistent progress. The freedom from strife affords them the necessary opportunity for concentrating their attention and effort upon product improvement—enhanced beauty of design and perfected skill of craftsmanship.

This attainment of industrial maturity places the women's and children's wear industry in the vanguard of American progress.

This is the second in a series of interpretations of the general economic highlights of the women's and children's wear industry of possible interest in the choice of a field of endeavor. Series sponsored by Women's Wear Daily, a Fairchild Publication, 8 East 13th Street, New York 3, N. Y.

FACULTY VS. STUDENTS

Two faculty members and two students will match wits tonight at 7 o'clock over WSUI on the "It's News to Me" program.

Participants in the quiz, covering the news of the week, will be Prof. George L. Mosse, head of the western civilization core course, and Mrs. Elizabeth Seip of the social science department.

Student contenders will be Robert Lothringer, C4, Davenport, and Eloise Hakes, A3, Laurens.

6 to 10 Cents Rise In Sugar Ceilings

Dollar-and-cent retail ceilings for granulated, brown and powdered sugar have been announced by the United States department of agriculture sugar rationing administration.

Effective yesterday, the new ceilings are priced according to the type of container, the size of the package and the store classification.

The new price ceilings, effective only in group one and two stores, list price rises of one cent on one pound bags and rises of two to five cents on five pound bags. The price increase on 10 pound bags is six to ten cents.

Government sugar controls were recently transferred to the department of agriculture in accordance with a congressional directive in the law extending sugar controls until Oct. 31, 1947.

The new controls on sugar ceilings do not affect group three and four stores. Most Iowa City grocery stores fall into groups one and two.

UPW Director to Speak At Meeting Tuesday

Milton Phillips, midwest regional director of the CIO United Public Workers, will speak at the UPW meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the CSA hall at Church and Johnson streets.

Phillips will speak on the relationship between the UPW and the university.

All university employees not designated as supervisors may attend the meeting.

Importance of the CIO and meaning of unions in general will be discussed by Bill Smith of the Cedar Rapids CIO council.

The meeting will be open for questions, according to Annette Davis, secretary of the group.

The average circumference of the human eyeball is three inches.

Appreciative Audience Leaves May Day Token

Balmy evenings brought Alpha Chi Omega sorority girls outdoors last week to practice for the university song festival.

Little children perched on the lawn across the street from the sorority house to listen to the rehearsals.

Yesterday morning the girls found a homemade May basket dangling on their front door. Inside the basket was a note, written in a child's scrawl: "To good singers. Not from a male." Incidentally, the sorority won its way to the finals of the song contest.

Hawkeye Nine Ready For Michigan Series Today

Final Game With Irish Rained Out

Prevented by foul weather from attempting to even the count with Notre Dame yesterday, Iowa's baseball team gets back into Western conference competition today with the first of a two-game series at Michigan.

There is a chance that the Hawks can take over first place in the title race if Illinois and Wisconsin conerate. A sweep of the Michigan series would assure Iowa of second spot, and if the Illini and Wildcats split the Hawkeys will be out in front.

Illinois is leading the pack with five wins in six tries while Northwestern has three wins in as many games. The Hawks are in third with a 3-1 record — the only loss being the 5-4 extra inning beating handed out by Wisconsin last Saturday.

Coach Otto Vogel will throw Bob Faber at the Wolverines today, and the big strikeout artist will be after his fifth win of the season.

The rest of the lineup will probably include Dale Erickson, Bud Flanders and Bob Smith in the outer garden; Don McCarty, Doc Dunagan, Jack Dittmer and Don Thompson around the infield, and Lyle Ebner catching.

In the Michigan nine, Iowa will find a team that has had fair success out of the conference but dropped a two game series to the Illini last week.

Wolverine coach Ray Fisher plans to pitch Cliff Wise, an ex-GI who was one of the Big Nine's leading hurlers last spring.

Western conference averages to date include the following:

Dodgers Boost Lead, Defeat Cubs, 5-2

BROOKLYN (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers won their initial 1947 series from a western team yesterday by downing the Chicago Cubs, 5-2, in the rubber game of a three game series at Ebbets field.

The victory enabled the Brooks to increase their National League baseball lead to a game and a half over the rained out Pittsburgh Pirates who supplanted the Bruins in the runner-up slot.

Brooklyn jumped on starter Bob Chipman, who had defeated the St. Louis Cardinals in his previous two outings, for three runs in the second inning on two hits and four walks and added single tallies in the seventh and eighth off Russ Meyer.

Kirby Higbe started for Brooklyn but gave way to Rookie Ed Chandler in the sixth after the Cubs loaded the bases with two out on Bill Nicholson's double and two walks. Chandler induced Dom Dallesandro to fly out to end the inning and give up two hits the rest of the way.

Jackie Robinson of the Dodgers doubled in the first inning to end a hitless string at 20.

ExGiants Match Wits

CHICAGO (AP)—Once New York Giant team-mates, Coach Freddie Lindstrom of "dark-horse" Northwestern and Pilot Wally Roettger of favored Illinois will be calling shots against one another for the Big Nine baseball leadership this weekend.

Cards Drop 8th In Row

Mize's Homer Helps Giants Win 6-5 Tilt

NEW YORK (AP)—The home run bat of Big Johnny Mize struck again yesterday and the blow enabled the New York Giants to defeat the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals, 6-5 and sweep their three game series from the sagging title holders.

Mize came to bat in the seventh inning with the Giants trailing by one run and Bobby Thomson on base via a double, and promptly rifled a pitch off reliever Ken Burkhardt into the upper rightfield stand for the ball game. The homer was his eighth of the season, top output in either league.

The setback was the eighth in a row suffered by the Cards, their longest losing streak since 1938 when they suffered a similar number of consecutive reversals.

The Red Birds, as they did Wednesday, jumped out in front in the initial inning by scoring twice on three singles and an outfield fly and drove starter Dave Koslo to cover in the following frame by tallying three times on three hits, a walk and two groundouts.

However, the Giants came back in the bottom half of the second and registered three times to knock southpaw Al Brazle from the hill. Sid Gordon, who broke up Wednesday's game by doubling home two runs in the ninth, tripled two teammates plateward to highlight the rally. The Giants added another run in the fifth to set the stage for Mize's payoff wallop.

Red Bird President Sam Breadon, who flew in from St. Louis last night to confer with Manager Eddie Dyer and find out first hand the reason for his team's debacle, witnessed the game from the office of Giant president Horace Stoneham.

Against major league clubs the Yankees won 14 games and lost 12 in spring training.

Overeating is one of the major problems facing athletes, says Phil Weinert, Villanova baseball coach.

Derby Field Of 12 Assured As Hopfuls End Workouts

By SID FEDER
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—One possible dark horse starter bowed out of the Kentucky Derby picture, but another bowed right in to fill the hole yesterday as the glamour boy gallopers, wound up all their preliminary prepping up and left a field of 12 or 13 for Saturday's big heat.

At the same time, with Louisville already bulging out of its seams, indicating that Col. Matt Winn wasn't kidding when he predicted a record 125,000 turnout, all signs pointed to the fact that this 73rd run for the roses is going to be the biggest thing to hit Derbytown since bounded bourbon.

It came up sloop again at Churchill Downs yesterday as the advance stepping was completed.

The Virginia pair from Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's Brookmeade stable, Liberty Road and Master Mind, made their long postponed debut on the Downs. And when it was over, Trainer Preston Burch said only Liberty Road will start Saturday.

This left 12 sure-pop gees-gees on the list. Jett Jett, a mudder, will start if the goo is on the Downs about 445 p. m. (CST). He's a black son of Sun Teddy who ran second to Education in the Washington Park futurity in deep mud.

He zipped through six furlongs in 1:16, clicking off the sloppy first half in 48 4-5 seconds, which would be a whole lot better than bad, even on a fast track.

Liberty Road, which cost Mrs. Sloane $26,000 as a yearling, started out in company with Master Mind and sloshed through half a mile in 0:50 and six furlongs in 1:16 3-5. Master Mind decided he

Young GOP Elects Lorch Chairman

The campus Young Republican league last night elected Robert Lorch, A2, Ames, as chairman for the coming year and named three additional new officers.

Lorch succeeds Dean M. Lierle Jr., who did not seek office again after contesting Lorch's unscheduled election last March in a dispute which the student council adjudicated to restore Lierle as chairman until yesterday's regular balloting.

James P. Goowin, A1, Fort Madison, was named vice-chairman, regaining the post he held temporarily under Lorch's former brief tenure. William S. Fulton, A2, Des Moines, became secretary, and Gordon Wahls, A2, St. Olaf, was elected treasurer.

Lorch announced two objectives for the group under its new administration:

(1) To keep the campus chapter aligned with purposes of the state Young Republican organization, and

(2) To stimulate interest in Iowa and national politics among students on the campus.

Events leading up to last night's election began March 13 when Lorch, former treasurer of the group, gained the chairmanship in an unscheduled election along with three other new officers.

Lierle protested its "irregularity" to the student council, which appointed an investigating committee to hear both factions and settle the dispute. This body restored the original officers to their positions and recommended constitutional changes.

Lorch outpolled two other candidates, John Elliott and Alvin Jaspers, to become chairman last night.

Lierle declined to run when candidates were nominated, voicing disapproval of what he termed the league's "petty power manipulation" and "petty bickering."

Mrs. Rose Boarts Dies After Lingered Illness

Mrs. Rose Boarts, 127 1/2 E. College street, died at her home at 2 p. m. yesterday. She had been ill for several months.

She is survived by her husband, William Boarts; a brother, Bill Patton, and a sister, all of Iowa City.

Funeral arrangements have not been made. The body is at Hohen-schuh mortuary.

Understanding Is Peace Basis

Prof. Croft Suggests Informing Commoners By U.S.-Russian Citizen Exchange

International peace can be preserved only through understanding among the common people of the world, Prof. H. O. Croft told the Rotary club yesterday.

He listed as a hindrance the tendency by the press and radio to make an international crisis from each misunderstanding between nations.

In answer to a query, Croft said he believed a program might be worked out in the next 10 years for the exchange of citizens for short periods of residence between the United States and Russia.

Croft represented the American society for engineering education at the two meetings of national commission of UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization) in September and March to advise the state department on means for maintaining world peace.

He explained that UNESCO hopes to increase the international exchange of students and teachers.

"If only one percent of the objectives of UNESCO are realized, the money appropriated by congress will be well spent," he declared.

UNESCO places overwhelming emphasis on the field of human relations; "only 5 members of 70 in the national UNESCO commission are in the field of natural science," he said.

Almost all of the committee's recommendations were adopted by the first international meeting of UNESCO in Paris.

The organization has laid plans for establishing an international broadcasting system, introduction of international research for public health and the founding of international meteorological stations at both the north and south poles.

A project sponsored by UNESCO to study the Amazon river basin in South America is the first of a series of studies to be carried on as an aid to backward areas throughout the world.

He pointed out that Russia and seven South American nations are not now members of UNESCO.

Croft said the next international meeting of UNESCO will be held in Mexico City next October.

Asks Vote of Confidence

PARIS, Friday (AP) — Premier Paul Ramadier will ask the French national assembly today for a vote of confidence and if the vote goes against him he will resign, it was officially announced today.

MAY DAY —

(Continued from page 1) government and bring the fall of Premier Paul Ramadier's cabinet. Hundreds of police ringed the demonstration area, 50 guarding the American embassy.

Stop Work in Greece
There were work stoppages in Greece, where May Day celebrations were banned by the government.

In Palestine 5,000 left-wing Jews paraded in Tel Aviv, carrying a 30-foot replica of an immigrant ship. The Palestine military postponed the nightly curfew in Jerusalem until 9 p. m. to allow the population to attend meetings.

In Budapest, Hungary, where communists have been threatening the equilibrium of the government, 500,000 marchers turned out.

About 500,000 marched in Vienna, too, demanding the early return of Austrian prisoners of war and the quick conclusion of an Austrian peace treaty.

Thousands in Warsaw paraded under a blaze of red flags. A Polish Communist manifesto attacked "reactionary imperialistic groups" abroad and pledged support to workers in Greece and Spain.

Many thousands marched in the rain in Berlin. All the Ruhr's 300,000 miners took the day off, and parades and meetings were held in nearly all of Germany's bomb-ridden cities.

The parade in Oslo, Norway, was unusual in that it was about half the size it used to be in previous years. Among banners carried in a parade was one saying "Hitler is dead but Truman lives."

shaw being eliminated from jury consideration.

The practice trial will continue at 1:30 p. m. today in the law building. Defense counsel Owen Overholt and Earl Shostrom will introduce witnesses.

Not Guilty Verdict Returned in Mock Kidnaping Trial

A seven-man student jury found Richard Parkson (Richard Parks) not guilty of a kidnaping charge by a 6 to 1 vote last night to wind up a two-night mock trial held in the law building.

Key witness for the defense was Willard Nelson (William E. Nelson), a night clerk at the Jefferson hotel where the defendant worked as a janitor.

He testified that on the night of the kidnaping "it would not have been possible for the defendant to have been out of my sight for more than 30 seconds."

He also stated that the ransom money found on Parkson by police was given to the defendant in exchange for smaller bills from the hotel cash register.

Parkson, testifying in his own defense, stated that the signed confession introduced by the state was blueprinted out of him with a blackjack by police Lt. George Schmidt.

Norman A. Erbe, posing as a CAA weather observer at the Iowa City airport, testified for the defense concerning the weather at the time of the kidnaping. He reported that the temperature ranged from a high of ten above zero to a low of five below.

"It would not have been possible for a man to leave a visible footprint in the ground under these circumstances," he said.

Gail Harshaw, Warren Dunkle and Darrel McEntaffer were counsel for the defense; Martin Romig and Carl Winkler, for the prosecution. Prof. Arthur Leff served as judge.

In the first day's proceedings of a mock contested-will suit, "Judge" Leff ruled out evidence purporting to show that "undue influence" had been exercised over "James R. Brown" in the making of his will.

Council for the plaintiff, Bill Nelson and Frank Collins, charged: (1) that undue influence was used and (2) that Brown was mentally deficient at the time the will was made.

"Dr." Lawrence B. Williams, "Bellhop" Gail Harshaw and Mrs. Betty Shaw testified for the plaintiff. The testimony of Har-

Student Life Group Disapproves Enlarging Of Fraternities Here

The committee on student life has rescinded its resolution for considering immediate expansion of the fraternity system here, Prof. Joseph W. Howe, committee chairman, said yesterday.

Howe explained that the committee's action, taken at its last meeting Friday, followed a report on the proposal by its subcommittee on fraternity expansion.

"The committee seemed to feel the fraternities now on campus are not doing as good a job as new ones would be expected to do," he commented. "It's a matter of putting the house in order first."

Prof. Sidney G. Winter, chairman of the subcommittee, previously remarked that "evidences of immaturity" on the part of the fraternities was delaying action on the expansion proposal.

He also said there was feeling among the subcommittee members that perhaps all consideration of expansion ought to be tabled until the fraternities "show they've grown up."

Howe indicated that fraternity expansion here is a definite possibility for the future. He explained that such expansion is desirable as long as it is "wholesome and healthful" and the fraternities are not involved in financial difficulties.

"Some 16 houses have folded here in the last decade or so," he added.

The committee also voted to allow the Panhellenic association to modify present rules for deferred rushing.

Howe said the committee mem-

World Affairs Forum Sets May 18 for Picnic

Plans for a spring picnic to be held in Macbride park May 18 were made at the regular meeting of the World Affairs Forum last night.

A resolution was also passed establishing the first and third Thursdays of each month as regular meeting times.

Members felt the present rules do work a hardship on juniors and seniors. So they amended the present rule to allow junior and senior women to be eligible for pledging before they have completed a semester's residence here.

It is now up to the Panhellenic association to decide whether the modified ruling should be put into effect, Howe added.

Panhellenic President Dorthea Davidson said last night that the proposal to permit first semester pledging for transfer junior and seniors had been referred to the sorority presidents. They will get the consensus of their houses and report at a Panhellenic meeting early next week.

World Federalists Urge Stronger UN

Harlan Hockenberg last night told United World Federalists that "there has never been a confederation which produced peace."

Hockenberg marked differences between "confederation" and "federation" and maintained the United Nations is a confederation. Federation, he said, permits peaceful discussion, makes central government stronger than confederate states, and grants "dignity to the individual."

Stanley spoke in favor of a world court with power to settle Russian-U.S. disputes. Lack of national security, he said, results in arms and has as a "by product dictatorial government."

Sherwin discussed "fallacies of the Truman doctrine." He said that in order "to stop communism we are promoting fascism" in countries like Greece. He said we should continue to finance Greece for food, but said military aid was "different".

Last night the chapter also voted to incorporate.
