Housing More Vital Than Race Tracks

The decision of the house appropriations committee to cut some five million dollars in veterans benefits and to do so out Frank Coxe as housing expenditure has been presented by him.

The legislation still up to go to the senate, where it is hoped the appropriation bill will be approved by the committee of 1947, which is in the last session of the legislature.

It will be noted that the housing bill is not included in the long list of demands of the state legislature, which includes the construction of roads and bridges and the development of education and industrial development.

It is to the point that any bill that may be signed to expenditures that veterans benefits are the most important and that the $5 million dollars in veterans benefits is not enough to meet the needs of veterans returning from the war.

The decision of the house appropriations committee is unfortunate because it will mean a loss to the veterans who have served in the war and who are in need of assistance.

Radioactive Elements May Aid Cancer Wrs

Jacobs Tottary

Artificially produced radioactive elements have been used in the treatment of cancer patients. The elements are administered to the body in small doses, and are then followed by X-rays or other forms of radiation. This is an innovative approach to cancer treatment, and has shown promising results.

Getting more of the students' minds on track was the challenge that faced the educational system in the area. Several schools have been particularly active in this regard, and have implemented new strategies to improve student engagement.
