Truman Vetoes Tax Slash; GOP Says Override Unlikely

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman smashed the Republican income tax cut with a veto yesterday.

He denounced it as "the wrong kind of tax reduction at the wrong time."

He declared it "risky" and "unsafe" on the ground that "substantial" payments should be made on the debt in these good times.

And he left unanswered the question whether he will favor lowering taxes next year. It is "impossible to predict" when reductions can safely be made, he said.

Aroused Republicans immediately got busy to try to override the veto in the house today. But they conceded that even if they should muster the necessary two-thirds majority there, they would have no chance in the senate, which then would vote Wednesday. And house Democratic leader McCormick (Mass.) predicted, after checking party ranks, that the veto will be sustained in the house.

So the $4,000,000,000 of income tax cuts ranging from 10.5 to 30 percent which would have gone into effect July 1 now goes out the window.

And bill No. 1 of the GOP-controlled congress changes from a piece of legislation into a hot campaign issue for 1948.

Carroll Reece, Republican National chairman, quickly set the pitch with this comment:

"Mr. Truman has committed his administration to continued support of the 'tax and tax and spend and spend and elect and elect' philosophy of the now discredited new deal. That philosophy was repudiated by the American people last November, and I am confident it will be repudiated again and even more emphatically in 1948. The American people have determined that there will be no fifth term."

Truman's argument that the bill would benefit the big taxpayers more than those "in the low income brackets" was this:

"Under H.R. 1, tax savings to the average family with an income of $2,500 would be less than $30, while taxes on an income of $50,000 would be reduced by nearly $5,000, and on an income of $50,000 by nearly $60,000."

Communists Smash Meeting Of Freedom Party in Hungary

SZEGED, HUNGARY (AP)—Nearly 150 Communists, armed with weighted rubber hose, brass knuckles and hatchet-like Hungarian "fokos" broke up a Szabadsag (Freedom) party meeting here yesterday which had been called expressly to determine whether there was freedom of speech and assembly in Hungary.

In a bloody brawl, during which approximately 700 resentful Hungarian men and women fought back with their fists and wooden clubs—and even pushed one Communist out of a second floor window—an undetermined number of persons were injured.

There was one official report, however, that five Freedom party supporters were sent to a hospital with serious head wounds from the heavy, long-handled "fokos."

Thirty grey-clad policemen who were assigned to watch the meeting, held in the second-floor ballroom of the Tisza hotel, rushed in with rifles and broke up the fight—after it definitely had been won by the Freedom party—and declared the meeting adjourned.

Then, 500 policemen dispersed approximately 15,000 persons standing in the square facing the hotel.

Numerous small fights broke out in the square and, in a number of instances, police smashed their rifle butts into the faces of belligerent persons who would not move back at the first order.

Despite a police threat to use arms on the crowd, there was no gunfire.

Freedom party leader Dezsö Sulyok, who called the Szeged meeting and who had been announced as principal speaker, did not appear to test his assertion in parliament last week that Hungary was a police state without freedom of expression and that armed Communists broke up his party's meetings.

Sulyok announced that instead he would speak "very soon" at Miskolc, northeast of Budapest, in another test of freedom of assembly.

The disturbance came as a surprise because, before the meeting, action by the Communists had been considered doubtful in view of the presence of a number of American and British reporters.

Violin Master Dies

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—Bronislaw Huberman, 64, internationally known master and teacher of the violin, died yesterday at his home at Nant Sur Corsier, Switzerland.

Tax Cut Not 'Unsafe'—GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican chairman of the congressional tax committee yesterday sharply disputed President Truman's argument that an income tax cut now would be "unsafe."

But Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said in a statement that the veto message "constitutes firm assurance to the American people that the administration is determined that the finances of its government will continue to be kept on a sound basis."

Chairman Millikin (R-Colo.) of the senate finance committee commented that "there is no indication from any of the president said that we'll ever have a tax reduction" and that "he'll never have a better budgetary picture in which to give it." Millikin held that the tax cut still would leave $5,200,000,000 to pay on the debt.

The senator also told newsmen that Mr. Truman used "that same old demagogery" in contending that the bill was unfair to persons with small incomes.

Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.) of the house ways and means committee said the president followed the advice of those "who do not understand that we cannot long maintain full employment, full production and a sound economy and at the same time carry the present wartime tax load."

CIO Seamen In Sit-down

NEW YORK (AP)—CIO seamen tied up shipping at many of the nation's busy ports with an unprecedented sit-down yesterday, and Assistant Secretary of Labor John W. Gibson arrived here from Washington seeking a "quick and immediate conclusion" to the stoppage.

Gibson, assigned to the dispute by Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach, hoped to meet both sides within a short time after his arrival by plane.

Joseph Curran, president of the national maritime union, largest of the five unions involved, declared almost 700 ships were tied up in the dispute labeled a "strike" by the operators and a "no contract, no stoppage" by union leaders.

Curran said 500 of the affected ships were in East coast ports and predicted the national total would jump to 2,000 soon if negotiations with tanker companies were unsuccessful.

Frank J. Taylor, president of the American Merchant Marine institute and chief negotiator for East and Gulf coast operators, said reports indicated seamen were aboard the ships but idle. He insisted the stoppage was a "pure, simple, unadulterated strike."

Just before Gibson's assignment was announced, two federal conciliators had said further mediation sessions between union and operator representatives here had been postponed indefinitely.

Curran's instructions, effective midnight Sunday when the unions' contracts with shipowners expired, directed the seamen not to sign-on or sail vessels but he said "all crews should remain aboard as long as possible."

CIO Cooks Threaten West Coast Sailings

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Pacific coast waterfront continued to work yesterday in spite of the east coast maritime walkout, but the threat of an impending west coast shutdown developed from refusal of at least one seagoing union to sign sailing articles.

Under a "No contract no work" ultimatum, CIO cooks and stewards remained aboard vessels in Pacific coast ports but refused to sign on for further work until an agreement is reached with Pacific shippers. Negotiations, however, were in progress.

The effect of this strategy, if continued, would be to tie up all or a major portion of west coast shipping without a "strike" being called. Ships would be prevented from sailing if cooks do not sign.

Negotiations were resumed between the shipowners and the only two remaining unions which have not come to an agreement for a year's extension of their contracts. These are the CIO cooks and the radomen of the American Communications association.

Bury 12 Air Dead In Common Grave

WASHINGTON (AP)—A terrifying picture of a Capital airlines plane—in normal flying position, all control surfaces in place, power on—suddenly ramming a mountain in zero visibility emerged yesterday from official investigations.

The pilot of the ship which crashed Friday night killing all 50 aboard, was coming down from 3,000 feet to fly into Washington "under the weather," reported James M. Landis, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics board.

Disclosing these details of the preliminary investigation, Landis told a news conference the procedure was standard. He said it is a supposition, but only that, that the pilot miscalculated his position when he hit the last Blue Ridge mountain barrier on his flight from Chicago.

The broken bodies of 12 of the victims were buried yesterday in a 20 by 20-foot common grave in historic Fairfax cemetery at Leesburg, Va. Ten could not be identified. Among these was the body of Mrs. John R. Dewar of Ambridge, Pa., so the identified remains of her husband were interred in the same grave. The other identified body buried there was that of Miss Minnie Harman of Washington, identified at the last moment.

Russ Shun Aid To Europe Plan

LONDON (AP)—Britain announced yesterday she was seeking to enlist Russian participation in the aid-to-Europe project advanced by Secretary of State Marshall, but Moscow already appeared reluctant to cooperate in any continental-wide pump-priming effort financed in large part by U.S. dollars.

The British overtures, a foreign office spokesman said, will be made through Sir Maurice Peterkin, British ambassador in Moscow.

The announcement came about the same time that the first Soviet reaction to Marshall's suggestions was published in Pravda, Communist party newspaper in Moscow. Pravda's commentary attacked the proposal as another case of "dollar diplomacy" and said it was an extension of President Truman's plan for "interference" in the internal affairs of other countries.

Foreign political observers in Moscow, after reading the Pravda reaction, said there was little hope of the Soviet Union taking part.

Foreign observers here regarded the Pravda criticism as discouraging, but they said Russia's need for foreign trade, machinery and equipment which Western powers could supply was a factor which might lead to a less chilly official reaction from the Kremlin.

Wallace Urges Berlin Meeting Between Truman and Stalin

WASHINGTON (AP)—Henry A. Wallace last night called for a meeting between President Truman and Premier Stalin. The President should invite Stalin to meet him in Berlin as a "first step" to guarantee world peace, according to Wallace.

"We must be practical," said the chief critic of the Truman foreign policy. "The time has come to substitute a 'get practical' policy for the Dulles-Vandenberg 'get tough' policy."

The former vice president and cabinet officer who is now editing the New Republic made his remarks in a speech delivered at the government-owned Watergate amphitheatre. Efforts by the American anti-Communist association to get a court order barring him from the amphitheater failed.

In his 3,500 word address, Wallace:

1—Declared "there will be a new party, even if it has no chance of election success in 1948," if both parties "insist on pursuing the present suicidal course toward war and depression." He did not say he would lead such a party. President Truman's "only possible chance for election is to make the Democratic party the party of peace," he said.

2—Urged, as another "first step" toward eventual disarmament, that the United States propose a "complete ban" on international traffic in weapons of war.

3—Suggested the administration and Democratic party lead a campaign to nationalize domestic munitions industries. "The people should own and control our armaments plant," he said.

4—Called on the President to exercise "vigor" in behalf of what he called "positive" programs on housing, health, educational, and other legislation.

Leading up to his proposal for a Berlin conference between American and Soviet leaders, Wallace in U.S. district court in Washington a request for their attorney to attack the activities of the house committee on un-American activities. The 16 are charged with contempt of congress for allegedly refusing to produce records of their group for the committee April 4, 1946.

THE SUPREME COURT threw out for the second time an appeal by Boston's Mayor James M. Curley, leaving probation or executive clemency as his chief hope for avoiding a jail sentence of 6 to 18 months for mail fraud. Curley, still in a hospital at Scituate, Mass., where he was taken last Friday, was too ill to be told of the decision.

Asserting the Russians must have peace and desire peace, he said the Berlin conference should be called "for the avowed and announced purpose of drawing up an agreement which will cover all the points at issue between the United States and the Soviet Union."

DESPITE SEIZURE of the Hungarian government by Communists, plans for American relief to that country are going ahead. Richard F. Allen gave that word as he was sworn in as administrator of the $350,000,000 relief program.

THE SENATE restored part but not all of the funds for western power and reclamation projects which the house cut out of the interior department appropriation bill. President Truman had appealed for their restoration on the ground that the cuts would be false economy and would hurt agriculture.

Iowa Union Still in Danger As Workmen Guard Levees

By BOB SCHMIDT

Iowa City held all the honors this morning as the town's second "battle with the river" in the past two weeks appears to have passed the climax. At press time early this morning all levees still held and all public utilities were still at or near normal operation.

One climax came about 7:30 p.m. when the dirt embankment at Iowa Union threatened to give way and university workmen dashed truckloads of clay to reinforce the dike.

Pumps in the sump pits and efforts of the workmen prevented water from pouring into the Union.

Riverdale

Rising waters threatened the Riverdale student housing area yesterday, and at least four families were evacuated from the area.

Many families were warned to be on the alert all night.

The four families who evacuated were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oliver and son, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beem and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Campbell and son, and Howard L. Lynch.

J. Robert Cotter said there were trailers to accommodate any families forced to move from Quonset apartments.

Lack of pumping facilities threatened the university power and heating plant about the same time.

Danger, Work Highlight Flood

By JIM McGuIRE

While the turbulent Iowa river experienced the second worst flood of history, the theme song here yesterday was "River, Stay 'Way From My Door."

To a few Iowa citizens, the flood meant real danger to their homes and property; but to most of the people, the swollen river provided a chance for a sightseeing tour deluxe.

Hundreds of townspeople and students flocked down to the river, either in cars or by foot, to take a look at some firsthand newsreel material.

Traffic, much of which police believed was of the sight-seeing variety, was so heavy on the only open bridge (at Burlington street), that three policemen were stationed there to direct traffic.

All bridges, except the Burlington street bridge, were closed to traffic yesterday.

The Iowa avenue and City park bridges were closed by police early yesterday morning. Police were routing all traffic west of the river over the Burlington street bridge since early morning.

More pumps brought in at the crucial moment kept the seepage traps along the tunnel route at safe levels.

Earlier yesterday afternoon, Snider said, "We'll hold out all right here, if none of the pumps along the tunnel give out."

The high-tension switch board and generator room on the river floor of the power plant held sixteen inches of water yesterday, but circuits and equipment there were safe, he said.

Later in the evening the university power plant tried to get on the city circuit but the circuit was overloaded and could not pull the university load, Snider reported. University plant officials wanted to hook on the city line so they could clear condensers at the plant.

All bridges, except the Burlington street bridge, were closed for as many as four blocks at times yesterday morning.

University maintenance workers kept an all-night vigil, managing pumps and reinforcing sandbag levees on both sides of the river.

Seepage crept into the basements of the art building, university high school and the theater, but pumps kept the water from rising and the sumps (water flood traps) clear.

Late yesterday university high school had about 14 inches of water in the basement. Pumps at the art building kept sumps cleared and were expected to hold off high water at crest stage.

Gasoline Escapes

Gasoline has escaped from storage tanks just south of the Rock Island railroad bridge and is being carried down the east bank of Iowa river by flood waters, according to Fire Chief J. J. Clark.

"Greatest danger," Clark added, "lies in fire." Any careless light dropped from a cigar or cigarette could set the whole area ablaze, he said.

Once started, fire could destroy the stockyards located in that area, and other frame buildings nearby.

Two firemen were stationed near the Benton street bridge last night.

Slaughter, Boudreau Top Hitters

Red Bird Slugger Overtakes Walker To Lead National

NEW YORK (AP)—With the St. Louis Cardinals finally beginning to come into their own, it's only natural that Enos Slaughter, the Red Birds' left fielder, has taken over the National league batting lead with a .359 average.

Sidelined for a few days as a result of a home plate collision with Walker Cooper of the New York Giants, Slaughter has resumed his every day job and passed Harry Walker of Philadelphia who is hitting .356. Both Slaughter and Walker enjoy wide leads in the all-star voting.

Other averages, based on games through Sunday, show Carl Furillo of Brooklyn, the part-time leftfielder who alternates with Gene Hermanski, in third place with a .340 mark and the required 100 at bats. Bert Haas of Cincinnati, who has played first base, third base and outfield so far this season, continues at a consistent .333, good enough for fourth place, nine points ahead of Boston's Bob Elliott, fifth at .324.

Johnny Mize's skid continues with the Giants' slugging first sacker down in sixth place at .319, representing a loss of 51 points over a two-week spread. Mize led the league two weeks ago. Frank Guscine of Pittsburgh is seventh at .318 followed in order by Willard Marshall of New York, .316, Emil Verban of Philadelphia, .313, and Tommy Holmes of Boston, .312.

Mize hit two homers during the week, upping his league-leading total to 17 which, incidentally, now is five behind Babe Ruth's record 1927 pace. Mize continues to lead with 51 runs scored and 46 runs batted in.

Frank Baumholz of Cincinnati clung to first place in the total hits classification with 69 and shares the doubles leadership with Del Ennis of Philadelphia. Each has hit 14 twobaggers. Walker Cooper, Bruce Edwards of Brooklyn and Slaughter are tied with four triples and Jackie Robinson's eight stolen bases for Brooklyn still is tops.

The strikeout race finds Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell out in front with 65 victims to 59 for Brooklyn's Ralph Branca. Although Blackwell has a fine 9-2 won and lost record, the pitching leader is Schoolboy Rowe of Philadelphia, who has won eight and lost one. Despite an injury sustained Tuesday when he was hit on the pitching arm by a piece of Stan Musial's broken bat, Rowe came back to win Sunday. Warren Spahn of Boston, who has led for several weeks, slipped back a peg by splitting two decisions during the week. He is the first 10-game winner in the majors with his 10-2 season record.

Byrd Favors Long Hitters In PGA Meet

DETROIT (AP)—Sam Byrd, the former New York Yankee outfielder who is host pro at the National PGA Golf championship opening here tomorrow at Plum Hollow Golf club, is convinced the long hitters will bear the closest watching in the seven-day match play scramble over Plum Hollow's rolling, stretching fairways.

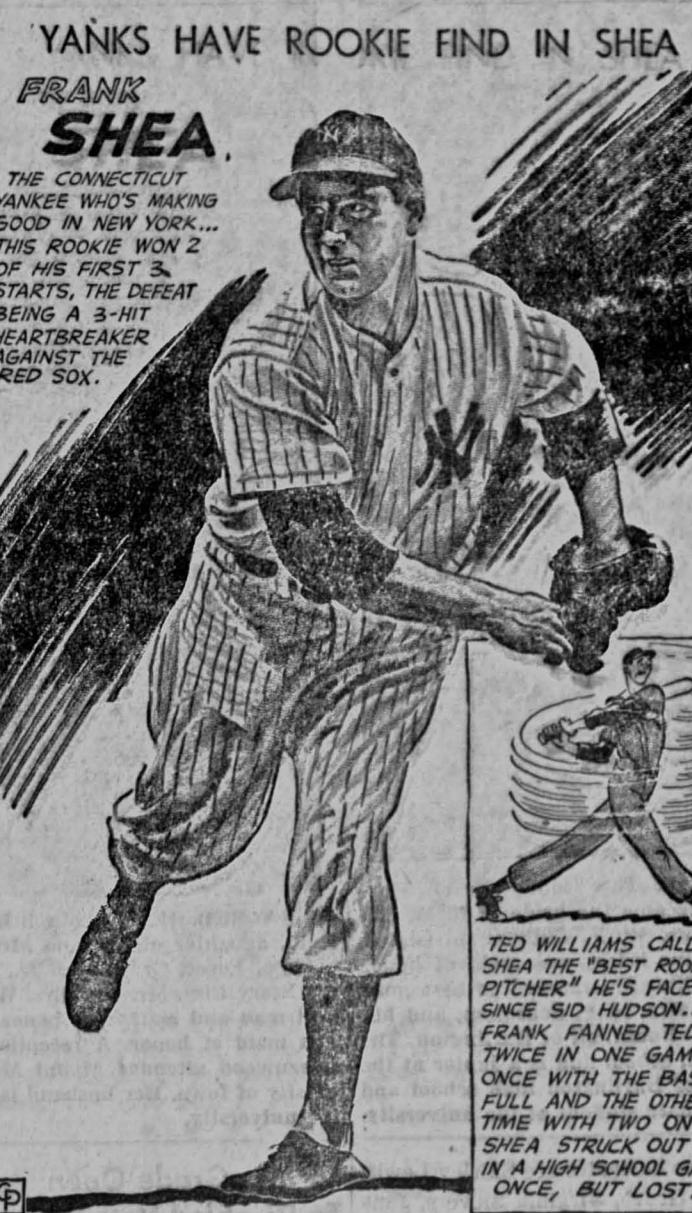

Lenthened by 117 yards for the championship, the tourney layout measures 6,907 yards with five par 5's and as many one-shotters in its par of 72, but there's nothing short about the one-shot holes, four of which are 197 yards or longer.

"It's definitely a layout for the long hitters," Byrd declared, mentioning specifically slamming Sam Snead, runner-up to Lew Worsham in the National Open, Ben Hogan, the little 135-pound belter who is the defending PGA champion, and Jimmy Demaret, the crooning Texan who currently is at the top of his game.

Byrd's diagnosis was immediately backed up by Snead, who was on the course early this morning for a practice tour and rammed home three straight birdies, two of them on par 5 holes. He did not turn in a card.

Officials said that more than half the field of 138 which plays the first round of its 36-hole qualifying test tomorrow already is on hand, coming here directly from the National Open in St. Louis.

He is here fresh from his playoff. Lew Worsham, the Open king is here fresh from his playoff triumph over Snead. So are Ed (Porky) Oliver and Bobby Locke, the South African who prolonged his American stay to compete here. Oliver and Locke tied for third place in the open with 72-hole scores of 285.

McQuinn--Rags to Riches

Veteran First-Baseman Hits New Heights With Team He Wanted to Play For

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—George McQuinn, a willowy 37-year-old who had been bothering for the past few seasons. He said he had a chance to go with Detroit but he wanted to come with us, so I took a chance."

McQuinn reported to the land-based Yankee training camp at St. Petersburg this spring and had worked himself into fine condition when the "tourist group" returned from Puerto Rico and Havana. Figuring he had to give him a chance, although Tommy Henrich then appeared to be the regular first baseman, Harris started him in a ball game against the Cardinals.

Although he played for the Browns' first pennant winners and starred in the World Series, McQuinn never quite made the headlines. Finally the Browns shipped him to the A's for Dick Siebert and George thought of quitting. He changed his mind, played out the year in Philadelphia but was cut adrift at the end of the season.

Manager Bucky Harris of the Yanks likes to tell how he and McQuinn made connections for the 1947 season.

"One day last winter I got a phone call," Bucky relates, "It was from McQuinn and he said 'If you're still interested in winning that pennant, I know how you can do it.'

"Naturally I asked how and he said 'sign me!'"

"Now I know McQuinn has known him for several years. I figured if he had enough confidence in himself to come to me like that I couldn't lose trying him."

"We had him up to New York for a complete physical examination and the doctors said there was

Cleveland Manager 'Backs Into Lead' As DiMaggio Skids

CHICAGO (AP)—Lou Boudreau, Cleveland's manager—shortstop, backed into the lead in the American league batting race this week.

In statistics through Sunday's games, Boudreau was hitting at a .350 pace—a drop of six points from the last mark that gave him a tie with Joe DiMaggio of New York for the lead last week. During this week, however, DiMaggio has slipped 28 points to fifth place.

George McQuinn, Yankee first baseman who held the lead two weeks ago but slipped to fourth place last week, boosted his 13 points to claim second place with a .348 average. Stan Spence of Washington held third place with a .338 total, and George Kell of Detroit was fourth with .337.

Completing the top ten were: Sam Mele, Boston, .321; Luke Appling, Chicago, .314; Pat Mullin, Detroit, .310; Jeff Heath, St. Louis, .307; Buddy Lewis, Washington, and Bill Johnson, New York, tied with .302.

Ted Williams of Boston replaced Charley Keller of New York as leading scorer with 41 runs. Keller retained leadership in the home run department with 13 and runs batted in with 36.

McQuinn was new leader in London singles title, took little time to beat Mohammed with his strong double forearm drives and subtle drop shots. He was in the tougher top half of the draw with Bob Falkenburg of the United States and I. Tocynski of Poland as his chief rivals.

In the pitching department, the Yankees' freshman Frank Shea, lost one game during the week but still was listed as top hurler with a 7-2 mark. Bobby Feiler of Cleveland was unmatched with his 87 strikeouts.

Moose stops Ottumwa In Flood Relief Tilt

Iowa City Moose baseball team dropped the Ottumwa All-Stars, 12-4, here Sunday at the City high school field. It was the sixth straight win for the local nine.

Date Burich, Moose first sacker, smashed a long home run with the bases filled in the first inning to give the locals a four run lead. They scored two more in the second, one in the sixth and five in the seventh.

Charlie Blackman, veteran left-hander, held the All-Stars scoreless until the seventh when they pushed across two runs. They scored their final two tallies in the ninth.

Sunday's contest was a benefit game with all proceeds going to the visiting team. Pre-game ticket sales and Sunday's receipts netted more than $90.

Australian Ace Netster Quits London Meet

LONDON (AP)—John Bromwich, Australia's No. 1 net star, withdrew without explanation from the singles of the London Grass Courts tennis championship late yesterday, three hours after beating India's Ghans Mohammed, 6-1, 6-3, in first round play.

Two other Australians—Denny Pails and Geoff Brown—scratched from the singles Sunday.

A moment after announcing his withdrawal to the referee, Bromwich waved away news-men and announced:

"I have no comment to make on this or any other subject."

A moment later he strode from the grounds with another Australian, Bill Sidwell.

All members of the Australian Davis Cup team were barred from giving interviews before they left.

Colin Long, primarily a doubles player, was the only Australian left in the singles. He said last night that he did not plan to withdraw.

Bromwich, Pails and Brown are all competing in the doubles along with Jack Kramer, American no. 1 and favorite to win the singles crown in the Wimbledon championships beginning next week. Kramer is not competing in the London singles.

Bromwich, favored to win the London singles title, took little time to beat Mohammed with his strong double forearm drives and subtle drop shots. He was in the tougher top half of the draw with Bob Falkenburg of the United States and I. Tocynski of Poland as his chief rivals.

Falkenburg, serving with the dynamite of Ellsworth Vines, defeated W. Skonecki of Poland, 6-3, 6-0.

The four American women entries—Margaret Osborne, Louise Erough, Doris Hart and Mrs. Patricia Todd—all won their first round matches without dropping a set. Miss Hart, who had not played on grass before this season, was within a point of losing the first set against Mrs. N. W. Blair of England, but came back to win easily, 8-6, 6-1.

Denver Nips Soos

DENVER (AP)—Denver's Bears outlasted a hard-to-down Sioux City club in a Western league twilight game last night, 10-9.

Moose said yesterday that Hal Trosky and his Middle Amana nine will be here next Sunday. Jack Dittmer, John Tedore and Keith Kafer, Hawkeye baseball stars, will play with the visiting club.

The Moose team will play a game Thursday evening with a group of local athletes, including former and present Iowa City high school players. This tilt will be on the Little Hawk diamond.

TOLEDO, O. (AP)—Middleweight contender Rocky Graziano of New York won a technical knockout over Jerry Fiorello of Brooklyn in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-round before an estimated 6,600 fans at Swayne field last night.

Graziano weighed 159½; Fiorello 158½.

Referee Barney Ross, former world welterweight champion, stopped the fight at 1:30 of the fifth frame.

A sharp overhand right cut Fiorello's eye in the second, and Graziano concentrated his barrage on the orb in succeeding rounds until Ross stopped the bout because of the flow of blood and possible serious injury to the Brooklyn fighter's eye.

Graziano, suspended by the New York State Athletic commission last winter for allegedly failing to report a bribe offer, won a previous split decision over the durable Brooklynite.

Pharmacy College Receives Two $150 Scholarships

Two new scholarships have been established at the pharmacy college, according to an announcement made yesterday by Dean R. A. Kuever.

The scholarships were presented by Schlegel Drug Stores, Inc., of Davenport, in commemoration of their founder, Gustav Schlegel, and his son, Carl E. Schlegel.

As soon as last semester's grades are in, the pharmacy faculty will select two students, a sophomore and junior, on basis of worthiness, neediness and scholastic accomplishment.

These two students, who must be in residence, will each receive $150 scholarships to cover resident tuition. The scholarships begin next September and the faculty will meet each spring thereafter to select scholarship winners.

Gustav Schlegel came from Germany 97 years ago and founded a drug store in Davenport. Under the direction of his son, Carl E. Schlegel, the Schlegel Drug Stores, Inc., grew to include 12 stores in Davenport, Muscatine, Rock Island and Moline, Ill. A nephew of Carl E. Schlegel, Henry Lischer, is now president of the board of the corporation, which presented the scholarships.

18 Cities to Send Delegates to Child Welfare Conference

At least 18 of the 30 Iowa cities regularly visited by the University of Iowa child welfare department have definite plans for sending representatives to the 20th annual conference which opens Wednesday, it was announced yesterday.

Prof. Afton Smith of the child welfare department reported that delegations of mothers and teachers representing parent-education classes in P.T.A., church groups and study clubs will attend the four lectures and conference panels tomorrow and Thursday.

Question sheets and references for further study will be distributed at the close of the conference. Instructors will then return to teach their classes as "lay leaders."

"Before the war," Prof. Smith said, "we used to have as many as 900 at these conferences. Last year there were 250."

She explained that through the year, child welfare work is carried on by correspondence and by visiting the groups in their home towns. "Last year, we had 151 classes of all kinds in about 30 cities," she said. "During the year, we met 11 of those. We taught classes of leaders who then went out to teach their study groups."

Professor Smith said 4,573 mothers and teachers were reached during 1946 by lectures. The bona fide members of the study groups who were contacted number 2,300.

Daily sessions of the conference will be held in the senate chamber at 9:45 a.m. and 2 p.m. Speakers will be Dr. Paul Witty of the college of education, Northwestern University; Dr. Clyde Kluckhohn, anthropologist, Harvard University; Dr. Thomas Munro, curator, Cleveland Museum of Art, and Dr. Jean MacFarlane, psychologist from the University of California.

Panel discussions will follow the talks by visiting notables, with men and women outstanding in child welfare and related fields participating. All of the meetings are open to the public without charge.

Bicycle Institute Warns All Holiday Cyclists

The executive committee of the Iowa United World Federalists has gone on record as urging President Truman to appoint a new commission for the strengthening of the United Nations through the establishment of enforceable world law.

The Iowa group backed a statement issued by six members of their national executive council.

The statement was based on the findings of President Truman's advisory commission on universal military training. A report from the commission declared "that there is no real security for this country or any country unless war is abolished through the establishment of a reign of law among nations."

An expected increase of several million automobiles on the roads during this year's holiday will create a tremendous hazard to bicycle riders, the institute cautions.

John Auerbach, executive secretary of the institute, has urged all cyclists to follow safety rules and employ caution and common sense to insure a safe holiday.

Police Fines Make 5 Violators Wiser, City $75.50 Richer

Iowa City collected $75.50 from five traffic violators in police court yesterday. Trial for two more was set for advanced dates.

Danial Griffin, 35, 623 E. Burlington street, paid $16.50 on a charge of driving a car without a driver's license. Griffin's 1938 Chevrolet collided with a car driven by Leon W. Gassmann, 23, 609 E. Court street, about 1:30 a.m. Sunday. Griffin said the accident, 6 miles north of Iowa City on Highway 261, "was a sideswipe."

The Gassmann car received about $250 damage. Griffin told police his car received about $150 damage. Both automobiles turned over after the impact but no one was hurt, police said.

Griffin, warned not to drive until he had a license, said, "I sold my car. It was my first and last one."

Two speedsters accounted for $37.50 of the total fines. They were Robert C. Jack, West Liberty, who paid $17.50, and Robert Hockridge, Davenport, who forfeited $20. Both pleaded guilty to driving 40 miles per hour in a 25-mile zone.

Eugene A. Reynolds, 903 Page street, paid $16.50 for driving on the wrong side of the street. Roland E. Protz, Hillcrest, forfeited $5 on a stop sign charge.

How Brightly Burns the Lamp of Liberty?

Speakers on the Town Meeting of the air radio program this Thursday, which will originate at the Iowa Union, will be discussing a problem which lies uneasily on America's conscience—"Should We Admit 400,000 Displaced Persons?"

We who have not seen our lands ravaged by war can hardly appreciate the problems of the 850,000 displaced persons of Europe, many of whom are still huddling in DP camps.

These persons are the helpless victims of Nazi aggression, some who left their homes for military service, others who were forced into slave labor, and others who were part of the vast army of discouraged and miserable civilians fleeing before the Nazi hordes.

Now they are seeking refuge, a chance for a new start, something to build upon for the future. All that they had before is gone—homes destroyed, families split up, jobs and occupations filled by others.

They turn their haunting eyes to the faint glimmer of new hope, and they re-live the stories of their youth that America is the land where initiative and enterprise make anything possible. That is the story they have heard, from movies, the NAM, the Chamber of Commerce.

A bill now pending in Congress would make a specific exception to our immigration laws to permit the entry of 400,000 carefully screened displaced persons. If passed, it would furnish fuel to make the lamp of liberty shine more brightly.

Events have shown that this torch is burning low all over the world. The wick has been trimmed, and what once was a spotlight has ebbed to a feeble glow.

We cannot afford to let this lamp go out, for it illuminates the very nature of our civilization. The lamp of liberty has withstood many a gale of tornadic proportions. It is unlikely to be extinguished by any one single gale. But unless the fuel is replenished from time to time by specific acts broadening the arc of its light, attrition and do-nothingness will snuff it out.

Here is a chance to let the light from the lamp of liberty penetrate the shadows of human misery as a response to suffering. By the admission of 400,000 displaced persons, America could help to re-kindle the light which is in danger of burning out.

Mr. Truman's Tax Message Hits the Spot

Mr. Truman in his veto message quite rightly pointed out that the tax bill offers "dubious, ill-apportioned, and risky benefits." It would grant tax savings to the average family with an income of $2,500 amounting to less than $30, while taxes on an income of $50,000 would be reduced by nearly $5,000 and on an income of $500,000 by nearly $60,000.

This is gross inequity and fundamentally dangerous. Have we not learned the lesson that our mass production system requires mass purchasing power? Even if it were wise to reduce taxes at this time (which we believe it is not) the reduction should come principally for those in the lower income brackets.

Mr. Truman, we believe, is quite right in believing that the national debt should be materially reduced, while the essential activities of the government, which generally were pared to the bone in budget estimates, must also be maintained.

Faith Needed to Make the UN Work

Princess Elizabeth, speaking recently before Prime Minister Attlee and other British dignitaries, said, "Our commonwealth is not so much a single act of statecraft as a miracle of faith."

The future queen of England brought out a fundamental essential of an operating government. The people of a state must have faith in their type of government if that particular system is to survive. If no miracle of faith exists, there can be no miracle of accomplishment.

As the Princess' remark is true of the British commonwealth, so it is true of nations: Russia, Argentina, the United States; and, most important, the United Nations.

Faith must be the motivating force behind the UN if it is to grow stronger, or even to maintain its present stature. There is little in the organization to hold it together except a common belief in its ultimate success and a deep seated desire to stick with world government this time, despite all obstacles and discouragements.

The bickering and stalling at Lake Success accent that tenuous nature of the organization which is supposed to save us from another calamitous con-

U.S. and Argentina Make Strange Partners

The history of U.S.—Argentina relations has been one of rivalry. At many times during the past 50 years, these countries have clashed economically and politically to see which should dominate the lesser American republics.

The climax of these brushes came three years ago when the U.S. state department issued a "blue book" lashing Argentina and its fascist government.

But it now appears that the once enemies have smiled sheepishly, shaken hands and pooled their tomatoes to toss at the kid across the alley in their mutual distrust of his motives.

Russia, as a common bugaboo, has pushed the two states into the same narrow bed. But fear makes strange bedfellows. The friction is still there. Both must have a good share of the ably.

markets of the other South American states if they are to remain prosperous.

The U.S. must export 10 percent of its products if the economic wheels are not to become clogged. We cannot afford to sacrifice South American trade for the sake of friendship.

The bogey of possible recession further forbids a long term promise of friendship.

But it now appears that the once enemies have smiled sheepishly, shaken hands and pooled their tomatoes to toss at the kid across the alley in their mutual distrust of his motives.

Sewage Plant

Iowa City sewage disposal plant employees reported no serious threat to waste disposal operations as a result of the flood. They said. We're o.k., pumps are working, and unless the whole works gives way we'll run normally."

No interruptions in service were expected at the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric plant, authorities reported, since flood pumps were working adequately, keeping pumps cleared.

Freight traffic over the Cranberry line will be held up until Thursday or Friday, rail officials reported.

Water poured over the tracks at a 4-foot depth south of Court Street. Cranberry railroads pulled 64 freight cars to high land, but 10 cars were left standing on the sidings.

Six blocks of tracking were under water from the Court street crossing to Benton street bridge yesterday.

Freemen readied two large state patrol boats for possible emergency operations. The boats were loaded on trucks and kept ready for any emergency.

Highest Flood Since 1918 Spreads Wide Destruction

THIS IS THE FLOOD! Pictured are waters pouring over the Burlington street dam yesterday afternoon. The water level, which exceeded by more than a foot last week's crest of 17.3 feet, began falling late last night.

River Stage at 8:30 Last Night

BREAKING THROUGH an earthen dike (1) flood waters sweep into lowlands relieving pressure on temporary barricades erected in Coralville. To the right in the picture is part of the dam (2) at the Coralville power plant which was safe from the water last night.

QUONSETS STOOD IN WATER as the Iowa river crept toward its crest. The structures above are in the Riverside area. Families remained in their homes despite the high water although four families were forced to leave barracks apartments in the same area.

Workers Rush Efforts to Protect Iowa Union From Flood Waters

WORKERS SANDBAG the river wall to the west of Iowa Union as the flood waters continue to rise. Efforts to stem the rampaging Iowa river appeared successful as far as the Union was concerned. Dirt levees, sandbags, and water pumps were employed in the fight.

DIRT AND MANPOWER bucked the river—and the river lost. Throughout the day, continuous effort was made to protect university property endangered by the flood. In the afternoon, truckloads of dirt were brought to the scene and emergency levees were erected along the Union waterfront. A dike north of the Union was also thrown up between that building and the boat house. Crowds gathered in the afternoon to stand on the footbridge and watch efforts of the workers to protect the building.

Approve Enlistments For 17-Year-Olders

WASHINGTON (P)—A bill to extend indefinitely the army's voluntary enlistment age of 17 years and otherwise stimulate recruiting was passed yesterday by the house and sent to the senate for action.

The bill permits original enlistments for two, three, four, five or six years and reenlistments for terms up to six years. Non-commissioned officers could reenlist for unspecified terms and get a $50 bonus at the end of each year of their terms.

Under present law, the maximum enlistment period is three years.

Boy Hunts Rabbits, Bags Movie Stars

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (P)—Jon Hall and Frances Langford escaped injury Sunday afternoon when their cabin plane made a forced landing at Santa Monica municipal airport — apparently after being hit by a small caliber rifle bullet.

West Los Angeles radio officer C. W. Wood arrested a 14-year-old boy in an adjacent field and confiscated his rifle. He quoted the boy as saying he was shooting at rabbits.

In the 15th Century the Belgian territories formed a whole with Holland.

House Protects Wool

WASHINGTON (P)—Adamant in the face of an anticipated presidential veto, the house endorsed anew yesterday a policy of protection for American wool producers from foreign competition despite declarations that the step may scuttle the Geneva Trade conference.

Chrysler Walkout

DETROIT (P)—Chrysler corporation's DeSoto-Wyoming plant was closed yesterday by a walkout of 2,560 CIO United Automobile workers protesting the disciplinary layoff of a worker accused by the company of careless handling of material.

Marriage Licenses

Marriage licenses have been issued to the following Iowa City residents:

Sidval G. Brekke and Kathleen Roseland; James R. Baxter and Mary McLachlan; Vern D. Miller and Helen Gardner.

Licenses were also issued to Harold Marshall and Violet Underhill, wood, both of Winfield, and Guy E. Fuller, Illinois City, Ill., and Donna Gentler, Muscatine.

Scattered between the Iowa-Missouri border and Dubuque are seven plaques marking the end of the "Old Military Road". One is displayed in Iowa City's city hall.
