Cleveland Ohio — The mayor of this city stepped on the stage three years ago promising to shake Cleveland out of its financial doldrums and deliver the city an Olympic Games. Although the Olympic bid proved unsuccessful at that time, the mayor’s effort has brought other changes into the city. Cleveland has become a much brighter place to live in recent years, and its citizens are now hoping that the city will be able to host the next Olympic Games in 1976.

The mayor’s efforts have not been limited to the city’s finances. He has also worked to improve the city’s schools, public transportation, and parks. Cleveland has become a much more pleasant place to live in recent years, and its citizens are now hoping that they will be able to host the next Olympic Games in 1976.

Not So Free and Lively

The United States is primarily known for its freedom, but this is not true for all citizens. There are still many who are not free, and this should be a concern for all of us.

WASHINGTON—Step-Carsons lawyers, who wanted to take their client's case to the Supreme Court, have announced that they will file a last-minute appeal to the high court in order to give the case a better chance of being heard.

Mr. Carson, the attorney, is in court today, seeking to have the case stay on the docket. He has been representing the baby for the past year.

Mr. Carson said he was going to take the case to the Supreme Court because he wants to have the best chance of winning.

The Supreme Court will hear the case next week.

WASHINGTON—The government's effort to get more people to vote in the 1960 election is working, as more people are注册ing to vote.

According to the government, 90% of eligible voters registered to vote, which is an increase of 20% from the 1956 election.

The government also said that they expect the number of registered voters to continue to increase.

WASHINGTON—The government is stepping up its effort to get more people to vote in the 1960 election.

The government is trying to encourage people to register to vote by holding special events and by sending out mailers.

The government is also trying to make it easier for people to vote by extending the voting hours.

The government is hoping that these efforts will result in a higher voter turnout in the 1960 election.

Votes Ralston Creek Improvements

Council Delays Sewer Plan—Bid Too High

A plan to improve Ralston Creek, one of the Twin Cities' major watercourses, was delayed by the city council. The plan, which included sewer extensions and improvements along the creek, was estimated to cost $1.63 million.

Two plans were considered: one with sewer extensions and the other without. The sewer extension plan was deemed too expensive, as it cost $1.63 million, while the other plan was estimated at $1.5 million. City officials believed that the extension plan was unnecessary and would not benefit the residents.

The council also discussed the need for a comprehensive creek improvement plan. They decided to reconsider the plan at a later date, after further studies and public involvement.
