Navy Pilot Sets New Record In Jet-Propelled Skystreak

MUROC, Calif. (AP)—The navy sent the jet-propelled D-558 Douglas Skystreak, piloted by a veteran combat flyer, bellowing four times over a three-kilometer course at an average of 640.7 miles an hour yesterday to set a new international air speed record.

The stub-winged craft was piloted by Cmdr. Turner F. Caldwell, 33, of Arlington, Va., and by his streaking flight over this arid Mojave desert army air base he returned the air speed record to the navy for the first time since Lt. Al Williams set a then-prodigious 268.59 miles an hour record in a Curtiss plane in 1933.

The navy craft, an experimental job which will be turned over shortly to the national advisory committee on aeronautics for further tests, flew at 653.4 miles an hour on the fastest of its four flashing passes at the course.

The new record was 16.9 miles an hour faster than the recent army-established mark.

Caldwell, who flew scouting planes and fighters in the Pacific area during World War II said his speed runs were made at an altitude of approximately 75 feet.

The plane in establishing the new mark broke the record set a month ago by army Col. Albert Boyd, who flew the course at 623.8 miles an hour in the army air force's Lockheed jet P-80-R.

Asked what would have been the result if a down draft had struck his hurtling craft at 75 feet altitude or less, the slim, wiry Annapolis graduate, Commander Caldwell, replied:

"Oh well, you get to be a fatalist at anything below 200 feet."

Caldwell disclosed he had first flown a jet plane—a P-80—only two weeks ago yesterday. He had logged approximately three hours in the craft in which he broke the record.

The navy said the one-seater plane, very sleek with stubby thin wings and an extremely high elevated tail is comparable to a fighter type.

The Skystreak completed 19 test flights before yesterday since it first took the air May 28.

Caldwell, 33, who wore a pressure suit to keep from blacking out during the runs, is a native of Narbeth, Pa. He saw action in the Pacific on the Yorktown and Enterprise and at Guadalcanal. He is one of the first naval officers to win three Naval crosses and also holds the Distinguished Flying Cross.

The plane is heavily padded with a special harness to protect the pilot against jolts. It has a split air intake in the nose and a jet exhaust in the tail. The pilot's bubble canopy lies well ahead of the leading edge.

Hitler's Doctor and Six Others To Die For Medical Crimes

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP)—An American court yesterday sentenced to the gallows seven German doctors, including the personal physicians of Adolf Hitler and Heinrich Himmler, for callous disregard of human life in medical experiments on concentration camp inmates.

The only woman defendant, Herta Oberhauser, got 20 years for her part in the experiments at Ravensbruck, where thousands of women died.

Death sentences were passed on: Hitler's physician, Karl Brandt, an SS (elite guard) general and chief of the Reich's medical branch, who was found guilty of such experiments as pumping sea water into men until they died.

Karl Gebhardt, also an SS general and president of the German Red Cross, who served as personal physician to Himmler, head of the dread gestapo.

Rudolf Brandt, adjutant to Himmler and chief of the SS hygienic institute.

Joachim Murgowsky, chief hygienist for the SS medical corps.

Victor Brack, SS colonel and chief administrative officer under Martin Bormann.

Wolfram Sievers, as colonel and director of the military research institute.

Waldemar Hoven, chief medical officer at Buchenwald concentration camp.

Princess Alice Has A Ripping Good Time

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Princess Alice, an elephant, broke out of her quarters at a zoo yesterday and, after a rampage, seemingly went to visit her caretaker.

She ripped up a drinking fountain, unrooted a tree and stripped branches off five others. Her delighted trumpeting brought Peter Mattsson, caretaker, running out of his house.

The Princess turned on Mattsson. He jumped back into the house and locked the door.

Alice went up on the porch and defiantly hurled away a chair. Then she underwent a change of mind and lumbered back to her corral.

Indonesians Ready To Abandon Capital If Open War Flares

BATAVIA, Java (AP)—Indonesian leaders prepared yesterday to abandon their capital in anticipation of renewed full scale war with the Dutch as the Netherlands governor general bitterly charged the Indonesians with a two-year record of "murder, arson and torture."

Members of the Indonesian cabinet met in Jogjakarta with top military leaders, who made no secret of the fact they believe the Dutch will launch a drive soon to capture the interior capital city of the republic. A mountain fortress in Sumatra was seen as the possible new capital.

Dr. Hubertus J. Van Mook, the Dutch governor general of the Netherlands East Indies, announced in a radio broadcast here that Indonesian authority over the rich regions of Sumatra and Madoera occupied by Dutch troops since July 21 would not again be recognized by the Dutch.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie assured him that the question would be placed on the provisional agenda of the assembly, which meets in New York Sept. 16.

Earlier, Lie had taken a firm stand against Russian demands that the UN recall its team of observers from the Balkans.

Lie told a news conference that as far as he was concerned the subsidiary group of the Balkan investigating commission was in Greece on orders of the security council and was going to stay there until the council ordered it to leave.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko took the position Tuesday that both the Balkan commission and its subsidiary group were automatically "liquidated" when his two votes killed the last proposals to solve the Balkan problem.

In any event, it was considered almost certain that the subsidiary group would be barred from entering any of the Soviet satellite countries on Greece's troubled frontier.

Third Ambush Victim Dies

CARROLL, Iowa (AP)—Clayton Wessel, 40, of Glidden, died last night, becoming the third victim of a Sunday night ambush shooting following which Sheriff Tom Finegan said the slayer committed suicide.

The elder Wessel died at a hospital here where he was taken after the shooting with three bullet wounds in his abdomen and two in his chest.

Triple funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. today for Clayton, his brother Elgie, 55, and his daughter, Lois Mae, 16.

Says Extermination Program Is Killing Thousands in India

LAHORE, Pakistan (AP)—Major Gen. T.W. Rees, commanding a joint military border force here, said yesterday he believes underground leaders are waging a systematic program of extermination in riot-torn Punjab where the best compilations indicate thousands of Indians have been killed since Aug. 11.

Fighting has stopped in Lahore, former capital of Punjab province, and in neighboring Amritsar, across the border of the divided province in Hindu India, the second major trouble spot.

But Lahore's Moslems have slain or driven away the vast majority of the Hindu and Sikh population which once represented about half the population of this city of 500,000.

In Amritsar the Sikhs and Hindus have killed or driven out practically all Moslems who once composed about half the population of 500,000 there.

This extermination and enforced exchange of populations between Hindu India and Moslem Pakistan has been attended by a fury never witnessed in all the preceding months and has left the two cities looking like battlefields.

A tour of Amritsar disclosed street after street of buildings ruined as though in an air raid. Broad sections of the city are nothing but heaps of brick and debris as high as a man's head. Smoke still curled from the ruins, and here and there a blaze still crackled. Vultures perched on cracked walls, and a stench hung over wide areas.

Competent officials estimated that between 15 and 50 percent of Amritsar's buildings were destroyed or made useless by fire and grenade. Many streets were impassable. Business was at a standstill. But the Sikh's golden temple had been spared.

A similar picture is presented by Lahore, where remnants of walls totter amid ruins that might have been churned by shellfire.

Thousands of refugees are still herded miserably under guard in camps waiting to be moved to safer localities with the few possessions they have saved.

Special trains move 1,000 a day in each direction between Lahore and Amritsar, while motor and bullock cart convoys, protected by the military, move many more sad-faced people who mourn the slain.

Neither side has spared women and children from ghastly knifing, burning alive and crimes of lust.

Four SUI Artists Win

Top honors were awarded to four University of Iowa artists in yesterday's art contest at the 1947 Iowa state fair. The four Iowa winners were Prof. Mauricio Lasansky, Byron Buford, Dorothy Eisenbach, and Hayward Oubre.

Lasansky placed first in the print division. No title has been bestowed upon his work as yet. He finished his entry only a week before it was entered in the contest. According to Professor Lasansky, his print is a product of a new process being developed at the university art department.

Winning prizes with his art work is a thrill, but no new thrill to Lasansky. This makes his 29th award. His reputation was well founded when he came to the Iowa campus as a professor two years ago.

First awards in oil painting went to Buford, Miss Eisenbach and Oubre. Professor Lasansky stated that Miss Eisenbach and Oubre were graduate students this summer with Miss Eisenbach receiving her M.F.A. degree this month.

Buford received his award on a painting titled "One of These Long Hot Summer Days." The material for this work was gathered while touring the south under a Rosenwald fellowship.

A native of Jackson, Miss., Buford also received his M.F.A. degree this month. His prize winning started at last year's state fair with a similar first prize in oil painting.

Winner of the grand prize was George Shane, a veteran reporter of the Des Moines Register. Shane chose a Catholic cathedral in St. Louis as foreground feature of his work entitled "Side Street".

Plays Hide and Seek With Runaway Boat

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—John F. Lott, 36-year-old boatman, said he was chased all over municipal harbor yesterday by an outboard motorboat "going around in circles like a dog chasing its tail."

Lott was working on the engine "when she started bucking like a horse." He was thrown into the Ohio river and started swimming toward shore. Then he noticed the boat coming toward him "at about 40 miles an hour."

Lott dived, evaded his pursuer and continued the hide and seek process for more than 10 minutes, he said, before he reached a pile of driftwood and temporary safety. By that time, the gasoline supply in the boat was exhausted.

Experts Say Russia Wants New World Safe for Sovietism

WASHINGTON (AP)—A study prepared for the senate foreign relations committee pictures Soviet Russia as wanting a complete change in the world's political, economic, social and cultural setup.

The report, written by the legislative reference service of the library of congress, says the base of the Kremlin's foreign policy is a desire to "make the world safe for Communism and Sovietism."

It was made at the request of Senator Connally (D-Texas), former chairman of the committee.

For the most part, the report quotes writers on Russian affairs, but the reference service experts, headed by Dr. Francis O. Wilcox, add their own comments at numerous places.

Summing up Soviet foreign policy, the report says: "The summit of Communist hopes and aspirations is, as in Lenin's time, a complete change in the world's political, economic, social and cultural aspirations, and at the base of the Soviet foreign policy lies the desire to make the world safe for Communism and Sovietism."

Relations between Russia and the United States, the report says, have deteriorated "dangerously," and adds this comment: "The future depends, of course, not on the United States alone, but hinges on the policies and aspirations of Soviet leaders."

Russia, the report says, does not possess the atomic bomb.

In their efforts to achieve their goal, the Russians are prepared to play any card available at the time and which promises maximum success in a given situation. . . . The ends certainly count more in the eyes of the Communists than the means applied in attainment."

Resigns Saying Seven U.S. Clergymen 'Whitewashed Tito'

NEW YORK (AP)—A lay member yesterday resigned from the board of trustees of the Churchman because, she said, the Rev. Guy Emery Shippler, editor of the unofficial Episcopal magazine, and six other protestant clergymen who recently visited Yugoslavia "undertook to whitewash Tito's regime of all charges of religious persecution."

The resigning trustee, Mrs. Natalie Wales Paine, former president of Bundles for Britain, said in a four page letter to Shippler: "For propaganda purposes Tito, like Hitler, prefers to arrest priests and members of religious orders on trumped up political charges where the defendants are held incommunicado and where all the techniques of totalitarian justice operate."

Shippler, who termed Mrs. Paine's letter a "tissue of lies," said later, "I have made no defense whatsoever of the Tito regime. I reported faithfully our observations. Nowhere did we see any religious suppression."

Under attack from Archbishop Richard J. Cushing of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Boston, Shippler said in a statement, "The facts in the case of Archbishop Stepinac, the Quisling collaborator with Hitler . . . are the last things the Roman hierarchy wants reported in this country or elsewhere."

Tuesday night in Boston, Cushing told a Knights of Columbus convention that the seven Protestant clergymen, including Shippler, who reported finding religious freedom in Yugoslavia, "became conspirators in a Communist campaign."

TOKYO (AP)—The captain of a small Japanese ship docking yesterday reported he had been attacked by unidentified warplanes and Tokyo's newspapers broke out the black type this morning.

Then the Far East air force ruined a good story. It announced that six P-51's on routine dive bombing practice had been forced to jettison their sand-filled bombs because of bad weather at sea.

One of the pilots had trouble releasing his bomb and broke formation. When he finally freed it manually, he did a wing over and to his surprise saw the Japanese ship in the bomb's path.

The bomb missed the stern by about 100 yards.

Relief Misses Midwest; Even Chicago's Tropic Plants Suffer

Iowa Citizens' spirits fell as the thermometer rose to a torrid 100 degrees yesterday, when they learned the promised relief from the heat would pass them by.

They mopped their brows, forgot about world politics and "sweated out" the hottest day of the present heat wave with something less than quiet dignity. No actual casualties from the heat were reported here yesterday.

The low mark here yesterday was 73 degrees, with a reading of 81 reported by the CAA weather station at 9:30 p.m.

The Midwest bore the brunt of the hot spell, the Associated Press reported, with Sioux City sweltering under a top of 101 degrees, and thermometers in Des Moines, Lincoln, Neb., Pierre, S.D., and Kansas City climbing to the century mark.

The promised cold air relief shifted its direction yesterday and will skip most of the parched fields and fevered brows of the nation's breadbasket area.

The Chicago weather bureau said the cold wave would proceed eastward along the Canadian border, and the only relief forecast was some easterly winds for those lucky enough to live near the Great Lakes, and "the possibility" of a few scattered thunder-showers.

Humans weren't the only sufferers from the heat. In Chicago, even tropical plants drooped with dismay.

Horticulturist Robert Van Trees yesterday said the Garfield park conservatory's specimens — whose forebears came from the steaming Latin-American jungles — were bathed thrice daily to cool them off.

"In heat like this they'd wilt and wither if we didn't take precautions," he said.

Grain prices on the Chicago board of trade moved upward as the weather forecast, unfavorable to crops, was issued.

The cool air mass, headed for the east to give New Englanders a comfortable week end, will touch North and South Dakota, the northern Great Lakes region, and extreme northern Illinois and northern Iowa by tomorrow, the Chicago weather bureau predicted, but south of that area it will continue hot and humid, with no general relief foreseen through Saturday.

Out on the west coast, Oregonians, huddled into sweaters, read about the midwest heat wave and promptly turned up the furnace yesterday.

The thermometer at Portland sank to 46 degrees for the second straight day. Other Oregon towns shivered, too; and in central Oregon the city of Bend recorded just one degree above freezing.

But midwesterners and Oregonians both could consider themselves more fortunate than the inhabitants of the Kanawha county courthouse in Charleston, W. Va., yesterday.

An unusual visitor there made things a lot better than the 94 degree reading indicated.

Betty Keesey, a clerk, came up on the visitor in a washroom.

"Kitty, Kitty, What are you doing here?" she asked.

"But it wasn't an ordinary kind of a kitty. It was, you guessed it, a skunk."

Miss Keesey realized her mistake when an odor that spread through the courthouse and surrounding blocks suddenly arose.

The city police department arrived with a tear gas gun—to fight fire with fire. Chief Deputy William Burkhardt had a better idea. He disposed of the skunk with a .22 caliber rifle.

But, the memory still lingers, it reported.

Other parts of the country had their share of weather—of all kinds.

Way down south a tropical storm with 50-mile-an-hour winds continued westward across the lower area of the Gulf of Mexico, and headed toward the Mexican coast. Its center was located about 43 miles south of Pensacola, Fla.

In the east, temperatures were pleasantly cool. Boston had a reading of 64, with drizzle and fog, and New York had 74.

Don't You Know The War's Over?

SEEKS UNION MERGER

CLEVELAND (AP)—The AFL International Typographical union yesterday called for "immediate steps" to unite the AFL, the CIO and the railroad brotherhoods into one labor organization and urged defeat of legislators who voted for the Taft-Hartley labor act.

Merger of all organized labor into one "mighty" organization was proposed, the ITU convention agreed, because of "recent attacks on labor and labor unions, particularly the Taft-Hartley slave labor law."

Cards Split Dodger Series; Top Bums 3-2

Kurovski Homers in Eleventh For Redbird Victory Margin

BROOKLYN (AP)—The never-say-die St. Louis Cardinals, on the brink of defeat twice, smashed back to nip the Brooklyn Dodgers 3-2 in twelve innings yesterday when George (Whitey) Kurovski ramed his 22nd home run of the season into the left field seats.

The victory enabled the resilient Redbirds to gain an even break in the crucial four-game series with the Dodgers and narrow Brooklyn's first place margin to 4 1/2 games.

Kurovski's game-winning blow, his third in as many games against the Dodgers, was hit off relief pitcher Hugh Casey's first toss at the top of the 12th.

Ralph Branca, Brooklyn's 21-year-old star righthander, pitched seven hitless innings before the same Kurovski nicked him for the first Cardinal hit to lead off the eighth, a looping single.

Even then the Dodgers seemed almost certain of victory as they were boasting a 1-0 lead at the time which became 2-0 in the last of the eighth. Ed Stanky doubled to left and scored on a single by Dixie Walker. The Dodgers had made their first run off starter Murry Dickson as early as the third inning when Stanky smashed a two-out single to right and raced all the way home when Jackie Robinson lined a double into the left field corner.

Red Schoendienst revived St. Louis hopes in the ninth by drawing Branca's third base on balls, but the hope quickly died when the strong-armed Mt. Vernon, N.Y., hurler easily disposed of Terry Moore and Musial on routine infield grounders. Branca quickly whipped over two strikes on Enos Slaughter, the next batter, but Slaughter walked. When Branca threw two balls to Ron Northey, Manager Burt Shotton waved in Casey. Northey slapped a single over second to score Schoendienst and sent Slaughter to third.

When Kurovski hit a medium fast grounder toward third, it seemed the Dodgers had gotten out of the jam, but Third Baseman Johnny Jorgensen, in his eagerness to whip the ball to second for a force-play, fumbled the ball and Slaughter raced in with the tying run.

Mize Homers Twice As Giants-Reds Split

NEW YORK (AP)—Big Johnny Mize belted his 37th and 38th homers of the year yesterday but the best the New York Giants could do was split a doubleheader with the Cincinnati Reds. The Giants won the opener, 10-3, and the Reds came back to win the closer, 3-2.

In the first game the Giants thumped Bucky Walters and Ed Ewart for 12 hits including a homer for Mize and another by Mickey Vitek. Rookie Larry Jansen found it easy to chalk up his 14th victory of the year against four defeats with an eight-hit performance. Grady Hatton homered for the Reds.

Pittsburgh Power Boys Pound Boston, 16-10

BOSTON (AP)—After hitting the million home attendance mark for the first time in history, the Boston Braves celebrated that feat in disappointing fashion yesterday by dropping a 16-10 game to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Pirates, led by Jim Russell, set off a 20-hit barrage against four Boston pitchers. Russell had a triple, a double, and three singles and Jimmy Bloodworth four singles. The Tribesmen, who never threatened, collected 14 hits off Lefty Fritz Ostermueller and Elmer Singleton.

Cubs Tie Phillies in Six Innings, 1-1

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia's Phillies played a 1 to 1 tie yesterday in a game halted by a downpour of rain with the Phils at bat in the seventh. The Cubs' Henry Wyse, who was hooked up in a pitching duel with Al Jurisich, halted Harry Walker's hitting streak after the Phillies' centerfielder had hit in 17 straight games.

Hawks Boast Great Guard Group

By ERIC WILSON
Look down the line of fine guards at the University of Iowa during the past quarter century—Chet Mead, Pete Westra, Fred Roberts, Zud Schammel, Ham Snider, Ken Pettit—then consider that the stand-outs of the present crop won't have to apologize to any of the old-timers for their caliber of play.

Not that the 1947 Hawkeyes have several sets of all-conference guards, but it is a fact that six of the seven lettermen have been regular starters in from three to seven major games of 1946, 1945 and 1941.

In all, ten guard candidates will report for the first Hawk practice drills Sept. 2.

It's no overstatement to say that this is one of the finest guard groups in Iowa football history.

There is Earl Banks, the Chicago boy who was picked on the United Press all-conference team last fall. Stocky Banks, who is 5 foot 7 inches and 205 pounds—and takes his football with a broad grin, is exceptionally active and agile at right guard and equally tough on offense and defense.

Banks started four major games last fall as a freshman and in games he didn't start he entered early and stayed late.

The other two veteran right guards are of practically the same caliber. Russ Benda of Chelsea, 205 and 5-10, started three big games last season at left guard. A reserve halfback on the 1942 squad, Benda has the speed to make him an outstanding line backer on defense.

Ross Anderson of Mason City is one of the smallest of the guards at 183-pounds and has been out for football for six years but he has experience gained as first team man in six games in 1941 and three in 1940, including 59 minutes in Iowa's 7-0 win over Notre Dame in '40.

At left guard is Ray Carlson of Ft. Dodge, 180-pounds of aggressiveness and the No. 1 pick in four games last fall. He will get plenty of competition from Dave Day of Brighton, who won two major letters at Minnesota during the war and started four games for Iowa a year ago.

More talent at left guard will be present in the person of Davenport's Joe Grothus, who was a reserve tackle last year but who could very easily be the best of Iowa's guards this fall.

Then there is Louis Ginsberg, starter in seven 1945 games but in the army last fall. A 190-pounder, he hails from Cedar Rapids.

Big Chester Moore of Akron, O., won a minor "I" last season. He is 200 pounds and 6-2 and had football experience at Akron U., Ohio Wesleyan and Great Lakes. Dick Rust, Cedar Rapids 185-pounder, was on a war-time Iowa squad and Bobby Nelson of Des Moines, one-time all-state prep tackle, moves up from the 1946 "B" squad.

Yankees Score Eight Times In Two Innings; Edge Tigers

DETROIT (AP)—Overcoming an eight-run deficit in two innings to tie the score with a five-run rally in the ninth, the New York Yankees squeezed out a wild 14 to 13 decision over the Detroit Tigers yesterday in the 11th inning when Johnny Lindell singled and Phil Rizzuto doubled him home with the Yanks' 19th hit of the game.

Detroit chased Bobo Newsom in three innings but Larry Berra's two-run homer helped the Yankees take a 5-4 lead in the fifth before the game went completely wild.

The Tigers seemingly put the game on ice with a nine-run spurge in the seventh off Frank Shea and Joe Page that put them out front 13-5 but New York wouldn't quit.

Lindell's triple helped the league leaders score three times off Virgil Trucks in the eighth and six hits—all singles—off Al Benton and Hal White in the ninth enabled the Yanks to tie the score at 13-13, pinch-hitter Lonnie Frey knocking the last two runs across with a single after two men were out.

Detroit got one hit off Karl Drews, fifth New York pitcher, in each of the last four innings but the lanky righthander hung on to register his sixth win against two defeats.

The Tigers collected a total of 22 hits, three more than New York, but only four of them went for extra bases—all doubles.

New York used 17 men in the 3-hour and 18-minute struggle and Detroit 16.

A's Come to Life; Beat Chisox, 5-2
CHICAGO (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics, held scoreless for seven innings, came to life in the last three rounds to gain a 5 to 2 ten inning decision over the Chicago White Sox before 3,806 fans yesterday.

Orge Cooper's pinch double supplied the A's first run in the eighth. Then Ferris Fain scored in the tying run in the ninth when Don Kolloway booted Pete Sider's double play roller.

The A's sewed up the game with three runs in the tenth off Earl Caldwell, third Chicago pitcher. Fain singled for one and Sam Chapman drove two more home with another single.

Taft Wright drove in both Chicago runs. His infield roller was good for one in the first. Wright picked up another RBI in the third with his first of three singles.

Indians Top Senators Twice in Overtime
CLEVELAND (AP)—Al Gettel's triple and a single by George Melkovich scoring pinch-runner Eddie Bockman in the 10th inning of the nightcap of a two-night doubleheader last night gave the Cleveland Indians a 7-6 triumph over Washington after the Tribe had clipped the Nats, 4-3 in the 12-inning opener.

The losses were numbers 10 and 11 in a row for the hapless Senators, and gave the Indians a win streak of six straight.

Dick Hainline Loses In Parks Net Tourney
INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Lou Fiquin of Memphis and broiling summer heat knocked defending champion Dick Hainline of the University of Iowa, out of the National Public Parks tennis singles yesterday while two other players collapsed.

The 28-year-old Memphis sporting goods salesman will meet a fellow Tennessee, John Hyden of Nashville, in the quarterfinals Wednesday after a five-set victory over Hainline 4-6, 4-6, 6-4, 8-6, 6-0.

Nora and Leonard Prosser, Kansas City, defending champions in mixed doubles, won by default from Mary Hernandez and Gene Russell, Detroit, when Russell decided to concentrate on men's doubles.

Chattin' with Chad

By CHAD BROOKS

Football's most crucial week started last Monday... championships will be decided... coaches will reach the pinnacle of success or sink into the darkest failure—all before Sunday morning.

You see, this is Official Crying Week for the Benevolent and Protective Order of Pessimistic Football Coaches.

And with some of the boys already in full "cry," it's pretty obvious that there isn't going to be a single football team worthy of the name in the Big Nine this fall.

From Illinois, where Coach Ray Ellet is suffering through with only 34 returning lettermen from last year's championship squad, comes the first tear jerker. Says friend Ray, "Illinois will have just an average ball club in 1947 and probably won't rate as a contender to repeat its Big Nine title."

(That means Illinois is almost a cinch to go undefeated this fall.)

From Ann Arbor, Michigan, where Fritz Crisler is assembling the odds-on favorites to win this year's conference bunting, comes the sad note that "the smallest University of Michigan varsity football squad during Crisler's tenure as football coach will report for the opening of gridiron drills. Only 67 players will be on hand."

(Iowa has invited 34 candidates for the opening practice session.)

But Crisler wasn't content to stop there. He continues, "We've lost a full team of lettermen, plus several valuable spares. These are largely normal losses through graduation or completion of eligibility, but they will definitely affect our strength since we haven't the replacements coming in."

(Crisler threw three teams of almost equal ability at Iowa last fall so this means the poor man only has two championship-calibre units left. Tsk, tsk.)

Then Purdue steps in for their turn. "Lacking a single center candidate with any holdover competitive experience from last fall, we face a real problem in attempting to locate a successor for Joe Kodba or Bob Johnson... and there are only two experienced guards available."

(We must say we feel mighty sorry for the poor Boilermakers. All they have left is DeMoss, Cody and Canfield—as fine a trio of backs as one'll find in the league.)

The other coaches haven't been heard from as yet—must be preparing some sort of secret weapon in their attempt to grab down the title of Grand Exalted Waller for 1947.

PASS THE HASH... From Los Angeles way comes word that the UCLA Bruins have added two new ball-carriers to their already star studded backfield squad... Says Southern California coach Jeff Cravath, they "are better than anything UCLA had last year."

One of the transfers, Charlie Page, was a regular on the 1943 Southern Cal eleven which went to the Rose Bowl and the other, Jerry Whitney, is from Ventura J.C. via the famed El Toro Marines, a 215-pounder who is shifty enough to play halfback... Seems that the Bruin boys are planning a strength in numbers campaign when Iowa's Hawkeyes invade the West come Sept. 26.

With last week's announcement of the addition of young Bob Otto to the University of Iowa football coaching staff it would seem that Dr. Eddie Anderson now has his crew of assistants back to pre-war status both in numbers and ability.

Swifty Stars In Practice

By JERRY LISKA

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Claude (Buddy) Young, Illinois' jet-propelled halfback, may prove the show-stealer in the College All-Star game which will pack 103,000 thrill-hungry football fans into Chicago's Soldier field tomorrow night.

Young, an unbelievably fast Mr. Five-by-Five, will be on the spot against the favored Chicago Bears of the National Football League.

The Bears undoubtedly will take great pains trying to bottle up Buddy, not only because he is almost impossible to catch from behind, but also because he is the prized property of the New York Yankees in the rival All-American conference.

Young, however, is a great money-player. He proved this in the Rose Bowl game last Jan. 1, when—after a methodical Big Nine season—he led Illinois to a resounding Pasadena triumph over UCLA, by scoring two touchdowns and rushing 103 yards, 42 more than the entire Ucan total.

Young is in far better shape than the late-reporting Doc Blanchard of Army and Charley Trippi of Georgia and injured Glenn Davis of Army and Bob Fenimore of Oklahoma A&M.

He has astounded Coach Frank Leahy with his speed and willingness to work in All-Star practices. Buddy, who reported to the New York Yankees three weeks ago weighing a plump 186 pounds, now is close to his best playing weight of 168.

Although Leahy hasn't disclosed his starting line-up, Young probably will start in the same backfield with Chuck (Rabbit) Smith of Georgia, at the other half; George Ratterman of Notre Dame at quarterback; and Jim Mello of Notre Dame at fullback.

The starting line may have Horace Gillom of Nevada and Joe Tereshinski of Georgia at ends; John Mastrangelo of Notre Dame and Dick Barwegen of Purdue, for the second time selected as All-Star captain, at tackles; Waldon Humble of Rice and Bill Collins of Texas at guards, and Paul Duke of Georgia Tech at center.

Davenport, Cincinnati Advance to Finals in Legion Tourney Play

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP)—Bentley Post of Cincinnati and Post No. 26 of Davenport, eliminated Christie de Parco of St. Paul from the Junior Legion Sectional baseball tournament here yesterday afternoon.

Cincinnati defeated St. Paul 4-3 in 11 innings and then Davenport racked St. Paul's hopes in the second game of the afternoon 5-4 under a blistering sun, and 100 degree temperature reading.

Davenport and Cincinnati will tangle today at 1:30 p.m. They will play again Friday afternoon, and if they split the two games will play a third Friday to decide which will go to the little world series in Los Angeles next week.

In the first game, the Bentley team squeezed past St. Paul on the tight two-hit hurling of Bob Andres.

superb ball, singled to center for the winning run. His hit scored George Mueller, center fielder who had singled. Two bunts, one by Glen Sample, and the other by Bill Rohé, had moved Mueller to third.

All three St. Paul runs were scored in the second inning, all unearned.

Davenport had to come from behind to win the second contest as their star twirler, Dick

Kenyon, was pounded for a total of eleven hits and yielded all four runs in the first three frames.

St. Paul grabbed a three run lead in the second inning and added another in the third after Davenport had tallied twice in the top half of the inning. Then the Blue Devils went to work on St. Paul starter Jim Bodner, collecting a run in the fourth, the tying marker in the fifth and the game-winning run in the top of the seventh.

Armed Breaks Record
CHICAGO (AP)—Armed galloped to a new track record in winning the $43,750 Whirlaway Stakes at Washington Park yesterday.

With Pleasure was second and Service Pilot third. Armed, tuning up for his $100,000 match race with Assault Aug. 30, ran the mile and an eighth in 1:48 3/5, knocking four fifths off the former record established by Be Faithful a year ago.

Marshall Claims Aid to Europe Vital to Hemisphere Economy

Pledges Aid In Securing 'Sound Basis'

QUITANDINHA, Brazil (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall told the inter-American conference yesterday that the United States had assumed heavy economic burdens to meet the challenge of political and moral problems in a Europe "now threatened with starvation and economic chaos" and that "the economic rehabilitation of Europe is vital to the economy of this hemisphere."

In an obvious reply to persistent demands for a "Marshall plan" for Latin American countries, the American secretary pledged that the U.S. would continue to help Latin American countries to seek "a sound basis" for practical economic cooperation.

Marshall was given a thunderous applause at the end of his speech. Among his listeners was Senora Eva Duarte Peron, wife of the Argentine president. She took a seat directly behind the Argentine delegation.

In his address Marshall made clear that the United States feels that it is the sole business of the present conference to draw up the treaty for mutual defense and security contemplated by the Act of Chapultepec at Mexico City in 1945, and that economic considerations should be left over for the subsequent meeting in Bogota, Columbia, in January of next year.

"Today, at Rio De Janeiro, our concern is with mutual defense and security; tomorrow at Bogota we shall go on to reorganize and strengthen our inter-American system and to make it a more effective agency of cooperation in the pursuit of our common interest," he said.

Cuba has asked for a clause against "economic aggression" in the treaty. Argentine declarations have emphasized the importance which that country attaches to economic matters.

Claims Depression Nowhere in Sight

WASHINGTON (AP)—There is not a thing in sight to show a depression is coming, Director Ewan Clague of the bureau of labor statistics said yesterday.

Coincidentally, President Truman added $2,100,000,000 to his estimate of individual tax payments to the government this fiscal year—basically on continuance of employment, prices and incomes at present levels through next June 30.

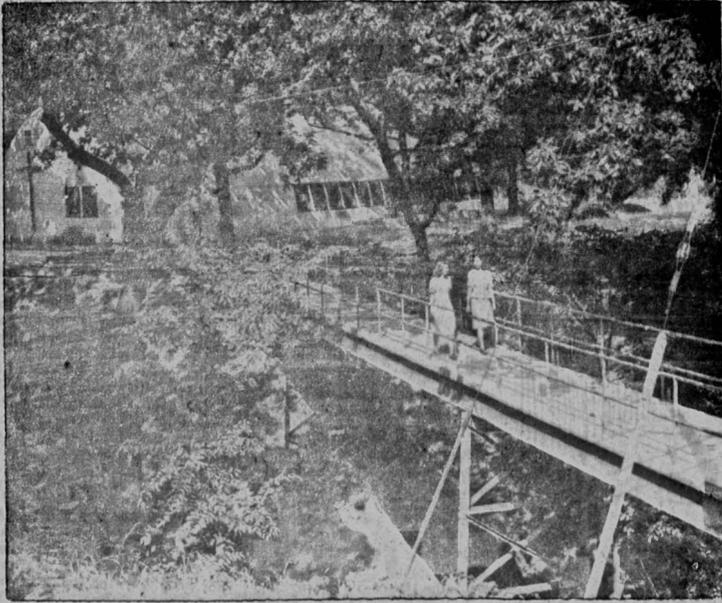

Mr. Truman's midyear revision of his January budget figures estimated receipts from these direct taxes will total $21,200,000,000. He is counting on unbroken prosperity to build a record-smashing treasury surplus of $4,667,000,000—a vast increase over his January estimate of $202,000,000.

Clague told a news conference that a summer slump predicted by some has been "indefinitely postponed."

Current high prices contain "nothing spectacular" of an economy-wrecking explosive nature, he observed.

Employment topped 60,000,000 in July for the second consecutive month—and even a drastic drop

New Bridge to Student Chapel

CROSSING THE NEW BRIDGE that joins St. Thomas More chapel and the Catholic Student center are Micky McGivern (left), A4, Marengo, and Mrs. Donald Glennie of Missouri Valley. Forms were removed from the concrete yesterday and the bridge will be painted soon.

A footbridge now joins the new St. Thomas More chapel on north Riverside drive and the Catholic Student center at 108 McClean street.

The 120-foot steel and concrete span bridges a deep ravine separating the backs of the two buildings.

Construction was begun July 1 by the Frank H. Berger construction company of Iowa City and forms were being torn from the concrete yesterday, marking completion. Painting is scheduled to begin soon.

Reviewing the progress of construction on the St. Thomas More chapel, the Reverend Leonard J. Brugman, pastor, stated that only landscaping remains and this work is going forward rapidly.

The 120 by 60-foot Quonset chapel was begun April 8 and put into service July 3.

Landscaping, which has continued since that time, included terracing the steep east approach, shrub-planting, lawn-seeding, and building stone tree-base reservoirs.

A crushed rock parking and concrete sidewalk parallels Riverside drive. Concrete stairs lead from the parking up the terraces to the chapel entrance.

Sodding the terraces is being delayed awaiting more favorable weather.

Father Brugman also stated that extensive redecorating and renovating is being done at the Catholic Student Center.

Daniels Asks Divorce

Asking a divorce from Lorene Wilson Daniels on grounds of cruelty, Frank A. Daniels filed suit in Johnson county district court yesterday.

The couple was married June 16, 1946.

The plaintiff's attorney is William F. Morrison.

in exports would not mean a corresponding slump in employment, the official said.

GM Setback Chills Car Making Hopes

DETROIT (AP)—The car industry's hopes for an early upturn in production received another setback yesterday as General Motors announced steel shortages will close some of its plants and curtail schedules in others during the last week of August or the first week of September.

The announcement came just as other elements of the industry, particularly Ford and Studebaker, saw possibility of resuming full production schedules following settlement of a month-long strike in the Murray Corporation of America plants.

Harris Suit Asks $25,000 Damages

Daniel Harris of Muscatine county filed action in Johnson county district court yesterday and sought to collect $25,000 damages which allegedly resulted from a collision with a milk truck on June 21.

The suit was brought against the Farmers Automobile insurance exchange, the Truck insurance exchange, the Farmers insurance group and Thornton D. Roberts, agent for one of the above companies.

Harris claimed he received a multiple fracture of the lower jaw, lost four teeth and was unable to work for six weeks after a collision with a Muscatine County Milk Producers Cooperative association truck driven by Rollie Safely, an employee.

Shortly after the accident, the petition continued, Roberts approached Harris and "by fraud and deceit" obtained a purported release of all claims against the cooperative. Harris said that Roberts, acting as an agent for one of the insurance company defendants, had paid $200 toward his doctor and hospital bills, but that Harris had not received any money directly.

The plaintiff asked that a judgement giving him $25,000 for personal injuries and damage to his car be rendered against the defendants, claiming this to be the amount he could have recovered from the milk association had the waiver not been signed.

Attorneys for the plaintiff are Smith and Swink, Montezuma, and D. C. Nolan, Iowa City.

Contracts Let for Stadium Paving and Fieldhouse Seats

The Iowa State Board of Education let contracts totaling $55,701 Tuesday afternoon for the paving of two concourses under the stadium and the purchase of 1,900 folding bleacher seats for the university fieldhouse.

The William Horrabin Contracting Co. of Iowa City received the contract to pave the concourses under the Iowa stadium. Their bid was $18,654.

Other bidders on the concourse project were the Kucharo Construction Co., Des Moines, $20,880; Collignon Construction Co., Cedar Rapids, $21,696; Haegg Construction Co., Cedar Rapids, $19,700.

The contract for the 1,900-seat folding bleachers for the Iowa fieldhouse was awarded the Horn Manufacturing Co., Ft. Dodge, which submitted a bid of $37,047.

Only other bid submitted for the bleacher project was $49,316 by Fred Medart Products, Inc., St. Louis, Mo.

Paving of the concourses in the stadium is expected to be complete before the start of the football season, while the bleacher installation is planned for completion near the end of the year.

Miss Donohue Weds Gerald F. Neuzil

Teresa Jean Donohue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Donohue, 120 Evans street, was married to Gerald F. Neuzil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Neuzil, Tiffin, yesterday morning before an altar decorated with gladioli and roses.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. C.H. Meiberg officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Ann Donohue, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and James Neuzil, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Attendants were Esther Swenka, Iowa City, and Mrs. Marjorie Pedersen, West Branch. John Donohue, Solon, and Francis Neuzil, brother of the bridegroom, served as ushers.

Mrs. Neuzil was graduated from City high school and has been employed at the Northwestern Bell Telephone company. Her husband was graduated from Cosgrove high school.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE APPROACHING marriage of their daughter, Jean, to Harold Swales, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Swales, Keosauqua, is being made by Dr. and Mrs. Don H. Newland, Belle Plaine. Miss Newland was graduated from Belle Plaine high school and received her B.A. degree from the University of Iowa in June, 1946. She is now studying for her M.A. degree in Romance languages at the university. Her fiancé was graduated from the Keosauqua high school and attended the University of New Mexico and St. Ambrose college, Davenport. He is now a freshman in the university's college of law. The wedding will take place Sept. 7 at the First Congregational church, Belle Plaine.

PERSONAL NOTES

Prof. and Mrs. Harold M. Frosie are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Haakenson, 130 Riverside Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Frosie were graduate students at the university from 1940 to 1942 when Frosie received his master of science degree in physics.

He received his Ph.D. degree in June from the University of Wisconsin. In September he will join the physics faculty at Kansas State college, Manhattan, Kans.

Bette Rohrbacher, 811 E. College street, entertained at a miscellaneous shower last night honoring Jacqueline Sheldady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd U. Sheldady, 431 Brown street, who will marry Robert Benson, son of Mrs. Paul N. Benson, Burlington, at 3:30 p.m. Sept. 6 in the Methodist church, Iowa City.

Rosemary and Maureen Farrell, 710 S. Summit street, will also entertain Miss Sheldady at a miscellaneous shower this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Noah, 228 S. Summit street, will visit their parents in Charles City this weekend.

Mrs. Eva Rentz, 404 S. Governor street, has returned from a three week's vacation at Estes Park, Colo.

In celebration of their golden wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kruse, 1212 Ginter avenue, will hold an open house from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Macy, 228 S. Summit street, and children, Skipper and Bobby, have returned from 3½ weeks vacation at Gull lake near Brainerd, Minn.

Open 1,350 Jobs in Processing Plant

Workers are wanted by a food-processing plant in eastern Iowa. Work will begin next week, probably Tuesday, and will continue until about mid-October. The plant will operate a round trip bus schedule from Iowa City to the plant daily, according to E.E. Kline, manager of the local Iowa state employment service.

Temporary workers will be accepted for any part of the food-processing period. University students will be welcomed to work until the start of school.

Applications are being accepted now at the employment office in the recreation center at the Community building.

The plant, which normally has 350 permanent employees, will expand to 1,700. There are some jobs for physically-handicapped workers.

Wage rate will be 62½ cents per hour for women and 72½ cents per hour for men. The work day will be ten hours.

Kline reported that the office still lists several clerical openings. Typists and stenographers are needed in Iowa City right now.

Complete 24 Units For Married Vets

Acceptance of 24 completed barracks apartments in the 700 block of Finkbine park was announced yesterday by the university housing office.

The assignment of this group of apartments to married students will proceed as rapidly as possible according to the housing office. Students assigned may occupy the units immediately.

This is the second release of apartments in the Finkbine area, bringing the total of completed apartments to 380. The unfinished portion of the 636-apartment project is expected to be finished by early September.

There are 174 housing units yet to be completed in Finkbine park, 38 in Templin park and 34 in the south section of Westlawn.

Many early New England homes had secret hiding closets for the protection of women and children during Indian attacks.

Eyes of Fashion World on Texas

Houray for the gals of Texas. The eyes of the fashion world are certainly upon you.

Seems that the women in that great and independent state have organized resistance to the so-called newest fashion of longer skirts.

They've gotten together and demanded an end to this foolishness of changing styles by order of Paris and New York. Everyone knows there's nothing "stylish" about it at all. It's just a simple way of making what mildly already has in the closet out-moded and no longer of use—in the best company, that is.

A shopkeeper of Dallas told a meeting of the Texas women the other night, "I think the designers and dress industry are trying to get away with murder." So they are, so they are, my little chickadee.

One of the club's chief organizers and president, may have a potent argument in her favor: "Why should a girl cover up her legs—they may be her best selling point."

Of course she's right when she says, "I don't feel like throwing away my entire wardrobe and there are a lot of other women who feel the same way."

There probably are. And some of them ought to be in Iowa City.

We're just waiting for the local ladies to stand up on their two pretty little legs and start yelling about this kind of "style change" which benefits nobody but the dress designers and clothing mills.

More power to them.

Student Responsibility at Macbride

Yesterday we were writing about the beach charge at Lake Macbride, which we feel should not go to a private individual as profit off a state-owned park.

While this subject is in mind, perhaps it would be well to call attention to the various rules and regulations which have been established in the park to keep general order and protect lives.

Every year there is a big complaint about students taking advantage of the freedom of a state park to make themselves generally obnoxious and create serious difficulties to proper administration of the park.

One of the most frequent complaints is about fires built all over the park. Quite obviously, for everyone's protection, fires should be built only in the picnic areas. Otherwise, they are likely to get out of hand. One disastrous fire could destroy the whole park. A carelessly built fire could easily do that.

Students frequently swim

outside the protected swimming areas, definite dangers to the swimmers' lives. Students probably are not too conscious, either, of their obligation to keep the grounds as clean as possible.

Other groups of students seem to think that the park was built for their frequent summer parties, without regard for the rights of others.

Of course, the park is a place for one to enjoy himself, but the rights and privileges of others should also be considered.

When groups make a terrific amount of noise, scatter their refuse around, and generally raise the devil, they are denying the full enjoyment of the park to others.

Students are not the only ones guilty of these practices, but park officials see some significance in the fact that misdemeanors of this sort rise and fall with the sessions of the university.

It certainly is an obligation for each student to do his part in keeping the park an enjoyable place for all.

'To Be Spiritually Minded'

(From Christian Science Monitor)

As we begin to day the third year of so-called peace, it is clearer than ever that war does not produce peace. War may halt aggression. It may at present be necessary to hold international crime in check. We should not in disillusionment say that it settles nothing. But we can see that it does not work the change that humans always hope for—it does not cause hate, fear and greed to vanish. It does not bring real peace.

Do we also perceive that no other material measure—no political change, no economic reform, no international organization—will of itself establish peace? For peace is essentially mental and spiritual. The present state of the world illustrates that fact. There is relatively little actual combat today, but in many respects there is more unease and unhappiness than during the war. Peace has escaped the chancelleries mainly because it has found no home in the hearts of men.

Jesus, leaving with his disciples the great spiritual truths of Christianity, supplied a key when he said, "My peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you." Does that mean that we must drop all of the world's efforts to obtain peace? Is there no hope in work for economic welfare, political reform, or the establishment of law among the nations? Of course there is hope in those endeavors. The world has made progress in all those lines even while only partially Christianized. Continued progress should end anarchy on the international scale as it has been ended on the national.

But all progress is first mental and spiritual—it begins with thought. We shall get ahead faster with genuine peacemaking—in the home, in the factory and in the chancelleries—if we act on that truth. To men filled with hate, greed and fear an ordered society—peace—is little better than a jail. But men who were even partially following the rule to do unto others as they would have others do unto them would need little policing. It was Paul in the epistle to the Romans who said, "To be spiritually minded is life and peace."

Remember when you complain about the high cost of living that at least you're living!

The costs of accidents in 1946 totalled nearly $6,400,000,000, according to the 1947 edition of "Accident Facts," the statistical yearbook of the National Safety Council.

This includes accidental injuries that cost $3,600,000,000, property damage in motor vehicle accidents of $900,000,000, fire losses of $554,000,000 and other costs of occupational accidents of $1,300,000,000.

In other words, the accident cost to each person in the United States averaged $45.71 in 1946.

Commemorative stamps honoring gold star mothers will be issued by the post office department under a congressional act signed by President Truman.

"DUTCHMAN'S BRITCHES"

Sees Britain As Customer, Not As Rival

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Analyst

Recently published figures show that Great Britain is producing from 10 to 20 percent more than she did before the war, with steel at an all-time record.

This causes some people to question her motives in asking for greater help and easier terms from the United States. There seems to be some suspicion that Britain is presenting her ragged side to us while actually using our help to compete with us in world markets.

Britain never lived on exports alone. It used to be that about half her income came from investments abroad, from her position as the world's greatest banker and insurance dealer, and from the vast services such as shipping which she provided for other nations.

In order to conduct the war, Britain had to liquidate a vast proportion of her investments abroad. Even that was insufficient. Year after year, to obtain war materials, she ran up an unfavorable trade balance.

Former profits from trade with such countries as India and Egypt became deficits. For example, she wound up owing some $5,000,000,000 to India alone. Her shipping industry was torn to shreds.

The shipping angle is one place where the United States may have a legitimate complaint against British recovery efforts. It very probably is an embarrassing factor in the current Washington talks.

Half of all the shipping now under construction in the world is on British ways. American experts are inclined to feel that Britain might "make do" with war surplus bottoms as long as she is so dependent on American help.

With prices for the things she must import far above prewar levels, Britain will not be able to balance her export and import books until her production is about 75 percent above prewar normal. Until then, Britain as an ally and customer far overshadows her prospects as a future competitor.

Half Billion to Chinese

NANKING (AP)—The government said yesterday it had received "only half a billion dollars" worth of reconstruction assistance from the United States in the two years since V-J day.

There are two general theories on depression, Prof. Davies explained. The American writers take the view that an excess of credit causes the boom. The bulk of business is financed by checks of credit. If business becomes overactive, inflation occurs and a depression follows.

The European attitude is that in a business boom, expansion occurs too fast. A succession of new business or new factories each bring in less profit than the former—the law of diminishing returns as it's known to economists. When the returns get too small, a depression may result.

No one can predict just how severe the next recession will be, said Davies. Although the depression of the thirties was the most severe in history, there is nothing to indicate increasing severity of recessions is the trend, he pointed out.

This Thing Called 'Depression'

The term "depression" is getting kicked around a lot today. Economists, congressmen, business executives and even the man on the street are taking turns talking "depression."

What is a depression—this bogeyman of the nation's business? "A decline in total volume of business," is a thumbnail definition by Prof. George R. Davies of the State University of Iowa bureau of business research.

Business cycles vary a good deal, but a relationship exists between wholesale prices and production, according to November 1946 "Iowa Business Digest."

Over a period of years, the cycle of business rises and falls creating booms and recessions.

The average length of time from one boom into a depression and to the next boom is about four years, says Prof. Davies. But three and one-half years is the most common length of time, he added.

Taking an average of a dozen or more cycles before the "Great Depression" of the thirties, a boom and recession would look like the accompanying graph. When pictured on a graph, the business cycles look like a continuous wave.

Just where is the United States today on this graph? Prof. Davies

Britain Rations Trade Money

WASHINGTON (AP)—In an extraordinary emergency measure, Britain imposed tight rationing yesterday over the dollars she has left for world trade—a step taken with United States approval to avert economic chaos.

Simultaneously, Sir Wilfrid Eady, chief of a British financial mission here discussing modification of additional terms of the dwindling $3,750,000,000 loan, disclosed at a news conference that Britain:

1. May have to cut imports for home consumption even beyond the drastic restrictions which already have been announced.

2. Already has notified the United States of its intention to make another withdrawal from the $850,000,000 remaining of the loan. He declined to disclose the exact amount but said a reporter's speculation that it would be in the neighborhood of $150,000,000 to $200,000,000 had "about hit it."

3. Will have to rewrite 25 to 30 trade agreements with other countries containing clauses calling for exchange of pounds into dollars.

Dispatches from London quoted Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton as figuring the balance of the British loan at $758,000,000, as compared to a Washington treasury figure of $850,000,000. This may be explained by the possibility that Dalton included the new withdrawal which Eady said has been requested.

The agreement calls for at least a temporary halt in future withdrawals, but the British decision to tap the credit again could have been taken before the new plan was drafted.

The rationing of Britain's remaining dollars was put into effect by suspending temporarily the dollars-for-pounds free convertibility program—one of the conditions of the big loan.

A U.S. treasury spokesman at another news conference said a "pretty big dollar run on the bank of England" preceded the decision.

SALLY'S SALLIES

Inside Washington

By THE CENTRAL PRESS

WASHINGTON—To freshman Republican Senator Irving M. Ives, of New York, reportedly has fallen the pre-campaign role of go-between for Gov. Thomas Dewey and Harold E. Stassen.

Ives is said by political observers to have become the latest bridge in the growing campaign for a Dewey-Stassen ticket when the Republicans joust next year to turn President Truman back to pasture in Missouri.

Everything may well be said to be in the formative stage. Dewey and Stassen have met.

Both the New York governor and the former Minnesota governor denied that they talked politics when they met several weeks ago in New York City.

Dewey's first choice as a running mate—and he is now certain he can beat out Senator Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, for the GOP nomination—is still California's Gov. Earle Warren. But Warren is reluctant. Chances are he will stay out of national politics just as he did in Chicago in 1944.

Thus communications between Dewey and Stassen, reportedly the New Yorker's second choice, are presently being transmitted through Ives, avowed Dewey man and GOP Senate "liberal."

INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE—Do not look for any great development of the international brigade reportedly being formed to aid the Greek guerrillas fight the present United States-supported Greek regime.

Veterans of the old international brigade which fought Franco in Spain in 1937 are convinced that there is little chance of any substantial new brigade being organized.

They contend that the issues which led to formation of the brigade in Spain are not so tightly drawn this time. Moreover, they believe that the shortage of manpower and tight political issues in most European countries are likely to keep would-be joiners at home.

Another factor against the establishment of a new brigade is travel. For example, anyone in the United States who wanted to fight in Greece would find it difficult to obtain passage.

However, American officials admit that they can do nothing to halt this type of movement if it starts and is encouraged by Yugoslavia. For the present, they are simply not validating passports for Yugoslavia—an admittedly weak measure.

NO FREE SOVIET PROPAGANDA—The Russian government solemnly and officially announces that that segment of the American public desirous of reading and studying Soviet propaganda issued directly from the embassy in Washington is going to have to pay for it.

For some time, the embassy has been issuing an official "Information Bulletin." During the war, this publication was a small four to six page rough paper affair. Occasionally, it contained stuff which made news items. Most of the time it did not.

Then came the end of the fighting and the beginning of the "cold war." The Soviet bulletin changed its face, enlarged its size and appeared as a "slick" papered publication about the size of weekly news magazines.

It carried glowing stories of life in the U.S.S.R., recounted the glories of Stalin and Lenin, the Soviet philosophers, youth life behind the iron curtain and other propaganda extolling Russia.

The latest issue of the bulletin, which will be published twice a month and run to 32 pages, contains the startling news that those who want the publication in the future must pay $2.40 a year or 10 cents a copy.

The announcement concluded: "Owing to circulation limits, it will be sent by subscription only, and will not be sold on news stands."

No doubt, the subscription list would make interesting reading.

Martin Disclaims Presidential Candidacy

FALL RIVER Mass. (AP)—Fall River tried hard to be non-partisan as it honored House Speaker Joseph Martin (R-Mass) with its biggest clambake yesterday but Senator Brewster (R-Me) injected a note of Republican presidential politics into the proceedings.

Brewster, himself a potential "favorite son" candidate from Maine, told a crowd gathered at a local amusement park that "the end may not be yet" for Martin's political climb.

But the house speaker, subscribing to the Democratic-directed efforts to keep politics submerged, told a reporter he is not and does not expect to become a candidate for the 1948 Republican presidential or vice-presidential nomination.

Martin's disclaimer of his possible candidacy, made in a statement to a reporter, was not so sweeping that it eliminated him as a potential recipient of a Massachusetts Republican "favorite son" endorsement.

NEW YORK (AP)—Sheila Hynes, 19-year-old English girl who broke her engagement to one American and came here to marry his pal after a mail romance, has changed her mind again.

She said yesterday she would get married next month, but not to Harold Conley, the ex-coast guardsman she became engaged to by letter. Instead the bridegroom will be Carl Wesch, 23, Ebets field grounds keeper who met her in England, became her fiance, and later gave her address to Conley.

Sheila was met at the pier last Thursday by Wesch, pinch-hitting for Conley because the latter had forgotten his pier pass and gone home to get it.

She went to stay with Harold's parents, but moved out and into the Wesch home after she decided to go back to her first love.

Beer Doesn't Flow Freely Anymore
Barkeep Thinks Shrimp Shortage To Blame

By RAY GUTH

According to a man who has been drawing beers for university students for over four years, the average college man (and woman, too) is drinking less beer now than before the war.

Albert VeDepo, 36, 1315, Lukirk St., said in an interview that "business was good for the first year after the war, but since then the students have been quieting down and not drinking so much." VeDepo tends the beer faucets at a local tavern.

He thinks that ex-servicemen are running out of surplus money by this time and are watching their dimes more closely. Conduct is improving, too, since ex-servicemen have "found their place and settled down," said VeDepo. He says he believes that most vets wanted a few months to enjoy themselves after the war,

I guess we'll start serving them again this fall.

VeDepo is somewhat concerned about students and their drinking. He doesn't think an occasional beer hurts anyone, but says, "I'd rather have 'em stick to beer instead of whiskey."

He's also concerned that people should attach a bad reputation to all taverns as a matter of course.

VeDepo expects business to "pick up" this fall when the new semester starts.

Get Marriage Licenses

Marriage licenses were granted to two couples in the county clerk's office yesterday.

The couples were Oda F. Sulley, Jr., Council Bluffs, and Eleanor R. Browning, Iowa City, and Neal E. Kleindolph and Betty Marie Hain, both of Muscatine.

Dads Sell 350 Bike Tickets; Sandra Reynolds Leads List

More than 350 tickets have been bought from the Community Dads and 148 votes for Johnson county boys and girls to receive free bicycles have been cast by the purchasers, according to Doug Fairbank, chairman of ticket sales.

The Community Dads are selling the tickets for $1 each to finance projects they plan to sponsor.

Purchasers may use a stub from each ticket to vote for a boy or girl in Johnson county whom they consider the most worthy to receive one of the 16 bicycles which the Dads will buy with proceeds from the ticket sales and will give away Aug. 31.

Bicycles will be given to the boy and girl receiving the highest number of votes in each of the five city wards. Bicycles will also be given to the three boys and three girls in the county, outside Iowa City, who receive the largest number of votes.

Of the 148 votes that have been cast to date, Sandra Reynolds of route 4 has received 41 to lead the entire county. Robert Brown of the third ward has received 29 votes, the highest in Iowa City.

The complete listing of the boys and girls who have received votes follows:

First ward—Michel Kinney, five and Darla Hacher, James Callahan Jr. and Jim Jensen, one each.

Second ward—Shelia Smith, eight, Mary Fran Cilek, three, and Kenneth Weller, one.

Third ward—Robert Brown, 29, and James Clark, Gary Rittenmeyer, Leonard A. Rodgers, Jim Kadera, Billie Kadera and Dickie Kadera, one each.

Fourth ward—Bill Phelps, 11, and Wayne Smith, Marilyn Stockfle and Buddy Yoder, one each.

Fifth ward—Theodore Fay, four, Judy Fay, three, Roberta Jean Cooper, three, Paul Lemme, three, Judy Frank, three, Henry Boldt, two, and John Nolan, Alvon Huntzinger, Margaret Smith, Beverly Funk, Donald Funk, Wayne Murray, Larry Dreckman and James Lehman, one each.

Boys and girls living outside Iowa City who have received votes are:

Liberty township—John Seelman, one vote.

East Lucas township—Terry Rodgers, five, and Susan Kay Tauber, one vote.

Sandra Reynolds of route 4 received 41 votes, and Johnny Dohrer of route 7 and Mary Lou Smith of Westport each have received one vote.

Three children, who each have received one vote but are unidentified as to place of residence, are Carolyn Hill, Karen Louise Movis and Phil Oldis.

Tickets may be purchased from any of the Community Dads and votes may be cast by depositing the stubs at any window of either of the two Iowa City banks.

Joanna Files Asks $2,000 for Injuries

In an action brought against Grace Dautremont in Johnson county district court yesterday, Joanna Files asked $2,000 for personal injuries received in an accident occurring July 2. The suit was filed for Miss Files, a minor, by S. O. Files, her father.

In her petition, the plaintiff alleged that she received a cut over her left eye, bruises and lacerations on her face, arms and legs which required treatment at University hospital following a head-on collision with an auto driven by the defendant on Highway 6, two miles west of Coralville.

The plaintiff requested a jury trial. Her attorney is Will J. Hayek.

Grants Mackey Divorce

District Judge Harold E. Evans yesterday granted Abner Mackey a divorce from Marjorie Elaine Mackey on grounds of cruelty.

The defendant was granted permission to use her maiden name. The couple was married on Aug. 23, 1940.

Bees Make a Humming Business

But Sometimes Not So Sweet

By ELFREDA KOLSCH

The old adage "Busy as a bee" is no bunk, according to 70-year-old Dr. David Boot, 419 Park road. Known as Iowa City's "Honey Man," Boot has been raising bees most of his life. He's the man Iowa Citizens call when they have bee trouble.

To be or not to be a bee raiser? Boot decided on this at the age of 12. "My father and grandfather raised bees, too," he said, settling back in his porch swing.

"When I was 12 my father gave me a hive of my own—finest way on earth to keep me off the streets." But it is just a hobby with him. He is a teacher by profession.

Dr. Boot said he built a glass top on his first hive. He became fascinated by the cooperative system of the bees. Now, 58 years later, he's still fascinated.

He received his M. S. degree from the University of South Dakota in 1901. He received his M. A. degree in education from the University of Iowa in 1910, and his Ph.D. in botany in 1917.

He taught in the midwest and in Arizona—"down where the women all carried six-shooters." He taught in the college of pharmacy here for a dozen years.

"It used to really get hot down there in Arizona," Boot said as he looked up at the sun. "As much as 120 degrees at Flagstaff where I had the education department in the state normal school."

A bee hive is one place where a woman's word is the law. Bees won't stay in a hive without a queen and two queens won't live together, explained Dr. Boot.

"Too bad some one can't cross a chicken and a bee. A good queen will lay 2,000 or 3,000 eggs a day in early summer."

The grey-haired "Honey Man" now has 55 swarms of bees. He estimates there are 10,000 to 20,000 bees in a swarm.

Iowa bees, like Iowa residents, have a hard time keeping cool. They drink lots of water these days—"red-hot prohibitionists," said Boot.

Boot indicated the bee business isn't all milk and honey. He spoke of a "certain painter" who stole a hive of bees, of a "certain masseur" who never returned some borrowed hives, and of a "certain mail man" who after five years, still owes him for 22 pounds of honey.

"I remember one call from a professor's wife," Dr. Boot recalled.

Dr. David Boot and Bees
The Bees Have a Hard Time Keeping Cool, Too

"Wind blew her hive over down the bluff east of the river, and she wanted me to fix it. Those bees were fighting mad. I got 41 stings. My hands were so swollen I couldn't use them for two days. I asked $15 for the job, and her husband would only give me $5."

When handling bees, Dr. Boot wears a straw hat with net attached to cover his face and neck, long gauntlet gloves and a heavy jacket.

"You have to tie strings around the bottom of the trousers, too," he said. "A half-dozen bees under the trousers will make a man forget the government and the war—even his wife, for awhile."

Dr. Boot told of an Iowa City paper hanger who failed to don the proper bee outfit when investigating a swarm of bees in the side of a house. The result—"a series of neck stings that looked like a monstrous goiter."

"There was another man here who had a swarm of bees in his chimney. Instead of trying to smoke them out, he tore down a large part of the chimney to get at them."

"Be sure and put this in the article," said Dr. Boot, as he told of treating bee stings. "Just pull out the stinger and apply a paste made from one-half teaspoon of baking soda and water. Lots of people might not know that."

Getting a swarm of bees is "no trouble at all," according to Boot. "A swarm gathered in my cherry tree not long ago. I placed a hive beside the tree, then took a net and lifted them down on the hive. When I tapped on the hive the bees knew it was hollow and proceeded to set up housekeeping."

Boot sells his honey to the university and to Iowa City residents. He never robs the hives until after a frost so that the honey will be well sealed and ripened.

"No, I never touch it," he said. "The doctors told me 16 years ago that I couldn't have sweets. I'm just a 'Honey Man' who can't eat his own honey."

Fines Lone Tree Man

Irwin Fountain, of near Lone Tree, received a $15 fine on a charge of assault and battery in Justice of the Peace J. M. Kadlec's court yesterday.

Fountain was arrested by Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy on a complaint signed by Fountain's wife.

Drop Labor Cases If 'Non-Communist' Filings Not Made

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the national labor relations board, announced last night that more than 3,000 cases before the board will be thrown out unless the unions involved register and file non-Communist affidavits within 20 days.

This ruling put new pressure on labor leaders to provide the documents called for in the Taft-Hartley law. There was no immediate comment from the CIO or AFL. Generally speaking, CIO unions had planned not to file.

Starting Friday, the new law will prohibit a union from using the services of the NLRB unless the union and its parent bodies have complied with the filing provisions.

A large independent union, the International Association of Machinists, with 600,000 members, announced its registration yesterday and made public that President Harvey M. Brown receives $12,000 a year, Secretary-Treasurer Eric Peterson, $10,000 and the resident vice-president, Albert J. Hayes, $9,000.

The union said these salaries are the "lowest of any major labor organization."

Peterson wrote the department that the machinists have barred Communists from membership since 1925.

Commends Des Moines For Noise Reduction

NEW YORK (AP)—The national Noise Abatement council said yesterday 14 cities in the nation had been cited for outstanding work aimed at reducing needless noise in homes, streets, and factories—and for special effort in educating the public on the subject of unnecessary din.

The 1947 achievement award winners announced by the council included Chicago and Des Moines.

Sues To Evict Tenants

Dorothy M. Spratt, administratrix of the estate of John and Anna Valashek, brought suit to evict Elbert C. Slade and Ruth L. Slade in Johnson county district court yesterday.

The defendants are tenants at 519 First avenue under an oral lease which was terminated by the plaintiff with a 30-day notice and also a 3-day notice to move, according to the petition.

The plaintiff's attorneys are Will J. Hayek and Lucas and Bowen.
