Distillers Vow Grain Cut

ASSISTANT FIRE CHIEF Ray Morgan (left) and Sidney Goldberg revived five-year-old Philip Penningroth yesterday afternoon after the child slipped into the old stone quarry on N. Riverside drive. The boy was taken to Mercy hospital after firemen worked about 45 minutes to revive him.

FRANK JACOBS (pictured above) rescued the Penningroth boy after he was summoned from his barracks apartment by Mrs. Penningroth. Jacobs said the boy had been in the water four minutes.

A GROUP OF PERSONS from nearby Templin park watched firemen revive the five-year-old Penningroth boy. The child was pulled from the water below a few minutes earlier.

Concern Asks For Shutdown Of Industry

Half of Firms Agree To Reduction To Save Food for Europeans

WASHINGTON (P)—The President's food committee got a pledge from about half the distilling industry last night to cut the use of grain for liquor in order to help feed Europe. But one big distilling company declared the pact "doesn't accomplish enough" and called for a complete shutdown of the industry.

Publisher Industries, Inc., one of the "big five" distillers, sent a telegram to Charles Luckman, chairman of the food committee, saying:

"In view of the international food crisis and the huge quantities of grain now being used for beverage production, our companies, representing a large part of the country's distilled spirits industry, stand ready to join immediately in discontinuing all use of grain of any kind in the manufacture of distilled spirits whenever the government to do so."

Earlier Luckman met with officials of the Distilled Spirits Institute, which he said represents 60 percent of the industry. He said the institute decided to recommend that all the industry use no more wheat and 50 percent less other grains during the present "emergency."

Luckman announced at the White House that about half the distillers in the industry pledged themselves to that program.

A. P. Fenderson, an official of Publisher, said his group was amazed at the talk about using no more wheat "because distillers do not use any wheat—they use only corn, rye and malt."

Fenderson said "The distilleries now have enough whisky to last at least four years. There should be adequate supply at reasonable prices for at least a year without further production."

Luckman said the industry is using very little wheat right now but "approximately 5,000,000 bushels of other grains per month."

Drowning Lad, 5, Saved

SUI Student Rescues Boy From Quarry

By RAY HENRY
Five-year-old Philip Penningroth was in good condition late last night, according to Mercy hospital authorities, after nearly drowning in the old stone quarry on N. Riverside drive at 4:55 yesterday afternoon.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Penningroth, 106 Templin park.

Bob Collins, C4, Garrettsen, Iowa, said he was driving by the scene of the accident when he saw the Penningroth lad slip from the six-foot west bank of the lagoon into the water.

Before Collins could reach the accident, Frank Jacobs, L3, Lake City, Iowa, had pulled the boy out of the water, Collins said.

Jacobs said young Penningroth was playing along the edge of the lagoon with several other children from near-by Templin park, a married student barracks unit, when the accident occurred.

One of the boy's playmates ran the 150 yards to the Penningroth apartment and informed Mrs. Penningroth of the accident. She went next door and told Jacobs.

"I'll give Phil a lot of credit. He was paddling around and fighting like the devil to keep above water when I reached him. He's a brave lad and deserves a lot of credit," Jacobs said.

Jacobs declared he and Sidney Goldberg, A2, Sioux City, worked on the child for about five minutes before firemen arrived.

He said the lad had been in the water about four minutes before he reached him.

Firemen worked with a respirator and an aspirator for about 45 minutes to revive the child.

Following the accident yesterday afternoon, The Daily Iowan questioned university authorities to find out why there was no fence around the lagoon.

Robert Cotter, assistant to the manager of dormitory operations, said that a special five-foot non-climbable fence has been on order for about four months from Keystone Wire company.

"We have been waiting for the fence to arrive since the 15th of September when couples started moving into the Templin park barracks area. The company told us about a week ago that the fencing was to arrive between Oct. 1 and 15," Cotter said.

He stated that the fence had been ordered through the Nagle Lumber Co. in Iowa City. Leland Nagle, 714 McLean street, part owner of the lumber company, last night refused to comment on whether the fence was ordered.

Cotter said he had not talked to other university officials about the erection of a temporary fence, but he declared he was fairly sure that none will be installed until the other fence is due to arrive.

"We recognized the hazard at Templin park, but the people were

General Lee Given OK After Probe, Mark Case 'Closed'

WASHINGTON (P)—The army gave Lt. Gen. John C.H. Lee a clean bill of health yesterday and marked "closed" its investigation of articles in which the general is called "Court House Lee" by critics of his discipline, was said by General Dwight D. Eisenhower to have "performed a service to his country which has won the approbation of associates both civilian and military."

The investigation of Lee's conduct as commander of the Italian theater stemmed from a series of articles in which Robert C. Ruark, a Scripps-Howard newspaper columnist, related charges of mistreatment of enlisted men and lavish living by officers under Lee.

Here in Iowa City, Lt. Col. John C.H. Lee Jr., 127 Ferson avenue, said last night he did not know when his father would be returning to this city.

The general left here Sept. 21, after a brief visit with his wife and family, to fly to Washington to appear before the inspector general in connection with the investigation of his Italian command.

Maj. Gen. Ira T. Wyche, army inspector general, made the report. He said Ruark's charges were based on "a few facts, half facts, rumors and untruths." He said there have been only "a few isolated cases of maladministration and probable miscarriages of justice, none of which were condoned and fostered by Gen. Lee."

However, in a memorandum which Eisenhower attached to the 12,000 word report, the army chief of staff noted that there had been some "errors." He said he was sending out orders to the new theater commander (General Lee is in this country awaiting retirement) to correct them.

Specifically, Eisenhower said: General Lee should have "taken special steps" to make clear that his endorsement of membership in an organization called the "Fellowship of U.S.-British Comrades" could not be taken as an order to join it. He said there was "undue pressure exercised by commanders to induce subordinates to join fraternal organizations."

anxious to move in and we had no other choice," he said.

Bob Brose, A4, Clear Lake, chairman of the student barracks council, said last night "the university has been very cooperative in providing all the fencing we have asked for that was necessary."

"I admit they have been a little slow at times, but it was only because the university couldn't get the manpower or material," he added.

Flying Cops Guide Traffic

DES MOINES (P)—An airplane will be used today to help keep traffic unscarred on roads leading into Iowa City, scene of the Big Nine football clash between the University of Iowa and the University of Illinois.

Col. L. P. Orcutt, director of the state aeronautics commission, said yesterday he would be in the plane to radio traffic troubles to the highway patrol's units on the ground. Patrol cars then will be dispatched to the point of congestion, he explained.

This will be the first time a spotter plane has been used by the highway patrol.

"We wanted to see how it would work out," Patrol Chief S. N. Jespersen said.

Politician Killed in Mystery Explosion

ETOWAH, Tenn. (P)—T. Burkett Ivins, a controversial political figure ousted from office in the famed 1946 McMinn county election battle, was killed yesterday in a mysterious automobile explosion.

As Ivins stepped on the starter of his car in his garage a terrific explosion ripped off his right leg, mangled his left arm, injured his five-year-old grandson, Danny, and tore the front of the car to pieces.

"It looks like some new explosive more powerful than dynamite," said Sheriff Knox Henry. "We've got nothing to work on."

Ivins had held public office for 26 years until he and his political allies were beaten in a bloody election by a non-partisan veterans group in August, 1946.

Eleanor Roosevelt Replies To 'War Monger' Charges

LAKE SUCCESS — (P) — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt told the United Nations, and particularly Soviet Russia, last night that "we cling to the right of criticism and disagreement" in the United States.

That was her initial answer — and the first official U. S. reply in the U. N. — to the two broadsides fired by Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet chief delegate and deputy foreign minister, at what he called "war mongers in the United States."

"Sometimes the government and certain people disagree but we cling to the right of criticism and disagreement," Mrs. Roosevelt told the general assembly's social, humanitarian and cultural committee.

"It is the price one pays for freedom and for democracy that the government often has to wait for the enlightenment of the people. Totalitarianism may move faster, for good or ill, but we believe democracy and free people stand on a firmer foundation." The U. S. reply to the Russians capped a U. N. day which saw these other developments:

1. Belgian Premier Paul-Henri Spaak accused Yugoslavia of "mocking" the security council by refusing to cooperate with its now-defunct investigating commission in the Balkans.

2. Czechoslovakia urged the five big powers to declare as soon as possible whether they were willing to enforce any U. N. decisions on the future of Palestine.

3. The security council voted 9-0 (Poland and Russia abstaining) in favor of Australia's demand that an international commission in Indonesia undertake to settle the Dutch-Indonesian conflict.

4. Pakistan told the assembly legal committee that Moslems by the "hundreds of thousands are being butchered" in communal hostilities between the new Moslem and Hindu dominions. India replied that the Pakistan statements were "as baseless as they are untrue."

Wilhelmina To Give Power to Juliana Because of Health

AMSTERDAM — (P) — Wilhelmina, whose golden jubilee as Holland's queen is less than a year away, soon will relinquish temporarily her royal power to Princess Juliana for reasons of health, The Netherlands government announced yesterday.

The 67-year-old queen, who has been reported suffering from fatigue, plans to stay at her summer palace, Het Loo, for a rest, her secretary said.

A communique, issued after Premier L. J. M. Beel told newsmen of the queen's decision, said Wilhelmina had requested it be made clear that there was no reason for alarm over her condition. The bulletin added:

"Nevertheless it is not surprising that the heavy burdens which weighed and still are weighing on her did not leave her health unaffected."

Hawks In Crucial Big Nine Tilt

Dr. Anderson Shifts Lineup For Illinois

By CHAD BROOKS

Powerful Illinois, Big Nine and Rose Bowl champions a year ago, have a football date in Iowa City this afternoon — but we haven't been able to find out just what team they are going to play.

From one source we hear that the Iowa (we look good on paper) Hawkeys are going to furnish the opposition. And these Hawkeys are tough . . . the cinerella team of '46 with nearly every key ball player back . . . picked to finish second in the conference . . . rated seventh nationally.

But then we've also been told that the Illini opponent today will be the Iowa (we got butchered by UCLA) Hawkeys—an entirely different ball club. This team is very weak in the line . . . hasn't got a decent passer . . . only one good ball carrier . . . and isn't a fit opponent for the Illini.

And as we said before, nobody is quite sure just which Iowa football team will take the field tomorrow afternoon.

Dr. Eddie Anderson, the Hawk grid boss, did know yesterday what ball players would take the field against Illinois—and he had a pretty good idea what team it would be when he asked how the experts were picking the game.

Told that the Illini were six point favorites, Anderson could hardly believe it. "Why, they should win by 20 points," the Hawk boss finally blurted out. You see, Dr. Eddie saw the UCLA game.

But back to the players who will play against Illinois. The backfield presents the biggest problem, both as to who to use and how well they will do once in the game.

Injuries and failures have limited Dr. Eddie's crew of ball carriers to a pair of left halves, one inexperienced right half, one fullback, one erstwhile left half just shifted to the right side and Mr. Bobby Smith who can play any of the running back spots.

Lou King will get the nod today at quarterback and Emlen Tunnell, Iowa's only offensive dependable against UCLA, will be in there at left half. Quentin Kaisershot or Bob Smith will run at right half, with Smith or Ron headington at fullback. Smith will definitely be among the starters at one of the two positions.

Behind Tunnell is Bob Longley, not very big or very experienced. Behind the right half back is Johnny Tedore, not very fast and completely green at the spot — having moved over from left half only this week.

There are no fullbacks behind Smith and Headington.

This backfield could keep Iowa in the also-ran class even if the Hawk linemen became the best in the business. They just don't have enough speed or cleverness for greatness.

And who said the Iowa line was great? At least after seeing what UCLA did to the boys.

Hal Shoener and Tony Guzowski will start at the ends, giving Iowa a couple flankers who believe catching a pass is the goal of a coed and not suitable pursuit for a varsity football player.

Bill Kay, most valuable Hawk a year ago, will be back in the starting eleven for the first time this season, replacing Jim Cozad at right tackle—and Kay will be the game captain.

Either Giant Jim Shoaf or Dop Winslow, playing his first game for Iowa since 1944, will win the left tackle berth.

Earl Banks, an all-conference guard last fall, will be among those missing from the starting eleven today (as announced earlier in the week by The Daily Iowan). The stocky fire-ball will be replaced today by Ray Carl-

Bar Russ From Arms Show

WASHINGTON (P)—The Department of the Army said yesterday that it didn't invite any Russians to see a new weapons demonstration because Russia doesn't let Americans see similar shows in the Soviet.

The same treatment was applied to Poles and Yugoslavs, and for the same reason, the department added in an official statement on Thursday's ordinance show at the Aberdeen proving grounds in Maryland.

In other Washington developments bearing on Russia and national security:

1. The Rev. Edmund A. Walsh of Georgetown university told a graduating class of the FBI's national academy that there "can be little doubt that Russia now has the formula for nuclear fission" and blueprints for the atomic bomb.

2. The State department's loyalty review board upheld the firing of seven employes last June as "security risks." Three others who were ordered fired at the same time were allowed to resign "without prejudice." This removed a bar to their possible employment by other branches of government.

3. Official records showed there were, as of last May, more than six times as many Soviet citizens legally in the U.S. than there were Americans in Russia. The figures were 810 as against 122.

Some 3,000 persons witnessed the Aberdeen demonstration. It included some firing of guided missiles, a rocket-assisted armor piercing bomb and nylon-aluminum body armor which can stop a .45 caliber bullet.

son—who was a regular last year. Joe Grothues at the other guard and Dick Woodard at center will round out the starting line.

Strictly on the record there is no reason to believe Dr. Eddie isn't correct in picking Illinois to win today by at least three touchdowns.

But some of those things that don't show up in the records hold out hope for the Hawkeys. All week now the Iowa squad has drilled in absolute secrecy. And it is a sure bet that all week long they have been driven hard. There can be no doubt about any individual's status. Dr. Eddie has been extremely frank with the boys, the cards are on the line (See HAWKS, Page 2)

Alabama Negroes Plan Fight Against Discrimination Laws

MONTGOMERY, ALA. — (P) — Alabama Negro leaders yesterday proposed action to combat restrictive voting laws, to institute court suits for admission of Negroes to state college, and to end "racial discrimination in public transportation."

The proposals were made at the opening of a three-day conference of the Alabama branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The meeting was called primarily to launch an attack on the Bowwell amendment to the state constitution which admittedly was designed to limit the registration of Negroes for primary elections.

After outlining a suffrage program, President Emory Jackson of the Alabama NAACP group suggested in addition that:

1. At least four and perhaps five court suits be filed to demand admission for Negroes at the University of Alabama and Alabama Polytechnic institute (Auburn).

2. An equally determined campaign be undertaken to end "discrimination" on railroad and bus lines, taking the matter into court if necessary.

Jackson said the battle for Negro registration would be the "most sweeping campaign ever undertaken" in Alabama and that the initial litigation would be filed in state courts, carrying the fight to the U. S. supreme court if need be.

Jury Gets 19-Week Overell Yacht Case

SANTA ANA, Calif. (P) — The Overell yacht death case went to the jury yesterday after 19 hectic weeks in court — the longest murder trial on record.

Assistant Attorney general Eugene Williams made an impassioned 3-hour plea for conviction of the two defendants but omitted any demand for the death penalty.

Williams' scathing accusations left 18-year-old Louise Overell sobbing and her co-defendant and fiance, George Colburn, somberly holding his chin in his hands.

Lavagetto's Hit Wins Series Tilt for Bums

Lone Dodger Bingle Beats Bevens, 3-2

By GAYLE TALBOT
EBBETS FIELD, Brooklyn (AP)—Floyd (Bill) Bevens of the New York Yankees was two strikes away from a no-hit game and baseball immortality yesterday when Harry (Cookie) Lavagetto, veteran Brooklyn pinchhitter, lashed a vicious double off the right field wall at Ebbets field to knock across two runs and give the Brooklyn Dodgers a thrilling 3-2 victory in the fourth game of the World Series.

In probably the most dramatic finish in the 44-year history of the classic, Lavagetto, hitting for Eddie Stanky, swung at Bevens' first pitch and missed. On the second he took a full cut and whaled the ball almost on a line to right as the crowd of 33,443 sent up a full-throated yell. Tommy Henrich, Yank rightfielder, made a desperate leap into the air, but the pellet thudded against the boards several feet from his glove.

For eight and two-thirds innings Bevens, a 29-year-old right-hander from Salem, Ore., had throttled the Dodgers. Until he made his last fateful pitch he faced the prospect of being the first pitcher ever to hurl a no-hitter in a series game. As it was, he tied two other flingers, Claude Passeau and Ed Reulbach, both of the Chicago Cubs, in heaving a one-hitter.

What made the defeat even more bitter for Bevens was the fact that he put both the tying and winning runs on base with free passes. In all, he issued a record-breaking total of 10 walks during the game, and the last two finally ruined him.

For the second straight game, Hugh Casey, portly Dodger relief pitcher, gained credit for the victory which deadlocked the play-off at two wins each. He threw exactly one pitch, with the bases full of Yankees and one out in the ninth inning. Henrich whacked it back at him, and Casey tossed to Catcher Bruce Edwards to start a double play.

Lavagetto, reserve third-sacker for the Dodgers, was given a wild welcome by his teammates as he trotted back across the diamond after watching Al Gionfriddo and Eddie Miksis, both pinch-runners, scoot across the plate far ahead of Henrich's throw-in. Five or six of them all tried to hug him at once, and when several wild-eyed Dodger fans tried to get in on the celebration the park police finally had to break it up and escort Cookie to the dugout.

Bevens, after watching Lavagetto's blast hit the wall, turned dejectedly and trudged off the field, a forlorn figure. He owned the distinction of having pitched more hitless innings than any man ever before in a World Series, but that was small recompense for the banlie which escaped his grasp. Red Ruffing of the Yanks had a no-hitter going for seven and two-thirds frames against the Cardinals in the first game of the '42 series before the Cards scalped him.

It wasn't entirely Bevens' fault that the winning run crossed on Lavagetto's larrup. Miksis was on by virtue of some Yankee strategy. Pete Reiser, for whom the young infelder was running, had been passed intentionally after Gionfriddo had stolen second on the 3-1 count. Of course, he might have passed Reiser anyway, and his record for the day indicated that he would have.

At that, Gionfriddo's dash came very near giving the Yankee pitcher his no-hitter right there. Yogi Berra's peg to Phil Rizzuto was true, a foot or two above the bag, and the Yank shortstop slapped the ball on the flying little Dodger as he slid in. If Umpire Babe Pinelli had called the play the other way the Yanks would have been leading three games to one last night and Bevens wouldn't have been a broken-hearted hurler.

Bums Go Wild, Mob Lavagetto

Pinch-Hitter's Double Scores Winning Runs, Knots Series at 2-2

By TED SMITS
EBBETS FIELD, BROOKLYN—(AP)—Hal Gregg was explaining in a sad professional sort of way what it was Bill Bevens had.

"His curve ball breaks like a slider," he was saying as he shaved. "He keeps it outside and he keeps his fast ball inside, way inside."

Harry Taylor, who put the Dodgers in quite a spot in the first inning, lay face down on a bench. There was hardly anyone in the Dodger dressing room because the big celebration was going to come over in the Yankee rooms when Bevens came in with a no-hitter. The loudspeaker said Cookie Lavagetto was going to bat for Eddie Stanky.

"Yeah, I guess that's all right," someone said.

Then a roar started, growing in volume, reaching an ear-splitting crescendo.

The words "tying run . . . winning run" came out of it. The door burst open and players started running in, screaming and cheering.

Cookie Lavagetto came pushing and shoving along, a wide, intense smile on his face, his black hair falling down on his forehead.

Men threw their arms around him and kissed him. He couldn't say anything. All he could do was grin the widest and most complete of all grins.

He was hoisted on Branca's shoulders, with everyone helping. They bounced him up and down. Manager Burt Shotton kissed him.

"It was a high fast one, and I think it was over the plate, but I'm not sure," he said.

He managed to get to the telephone and call his wife in California. She gave birth to their first child last week, a son, Harry Michael Lavagetto Jr.

"I think it was last Thursday or Friday he was born," he wasn't sure of that, either.

He needed a shave, but there was no time for that. He was dragged into the showers amid more singing and shouting. A little later Shotton rescued him and ushered him into his private office.

The game, someone remarked, saw the appearance of two of the highest priced bench jockeys in baseball—Arky Vaughn and Cookie Lavagetto. Vaughn got a walk in the seventh. Cookie got the most stinging double of any World Series in the ninth.

"Between 'em they earn $30,000," said a Dodger official. Cookie earned his fully yesterday.

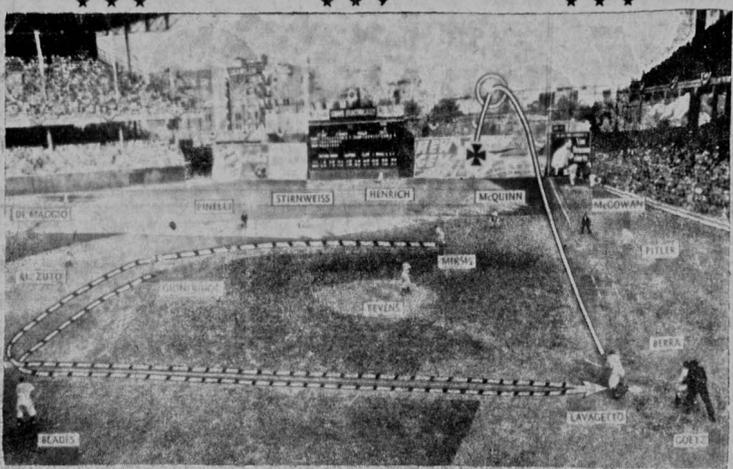

Bevens a Sad Man After Losing 1-Hitter

EBBETS FIELD, BROOKLYN—(AP)—Floyd Bevens' eyes were vacant of any expression as he fumbled along in changing his uniform to street attire in the Yankee dressing room after his defeat in the fourth game of the World Series yesterday.

The big right hander, who was one out away from tossing the first no-hitter in World Series annals, groped for words as reporters, feeling his remorse, slowly asked questions.

Asked what kind of a ball Cookie Lavagetto of the Dodgers hit for his game winning double in the ninth, Bevens replied: "A high fast ball, a little on the outside."

Manager Bucky Harris was cornered, and after announcing that "Frank Shea will face the Dodgers today," he said, "No I didn't talk to the boys, neither did MacPhail. I just wanted them to cool off."

THE HEARTBREAKER as far as Yankee Pitcher Bill Bevens was concerned is diagrammed above when Cookie Lavagetto, Brooklyn third baseman, in a pinch-hitting role, blasted the only hit off Bevens against the wall in right field to tally the tying and winning runs for the Dodgers yesterday at Ebbets field. The Dodgers won the game on this hit to knot the World Series at two games apiece. Scoring on the hit are Gionfriddo and Miksis. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Illini Weaker Than Last Year — Cries and Woes of Ray Eliot

By BUCK TURNBULL
Sports Editor

"There is no doubt in my mind that my Illinois team this year is definitely not on a par with our champions of last year."

These words were spoken by Coach Ray Eliot of the Fighting Illini as he eased back into the armchair of his room at the Hotel Roosevelt in Cedar Rapids yesterday afternoon. Arriving in the Parlor City by plane, the players and coaches of the Illinois football team immediately made their headquarters at the Roosevelt before holding a brief loosening-up drill at Coe field.

"You just can't lose the kind of ball players that we lost last year, and then expect to have a team, to be as good as they were," Eliot said.

Although he was not taking out the old crying towel, Eliot was just speaking plain common-sense words. "Why, we lost the best running back in the country in Buddy Young — and what about Julie Rykovich."

Then he quickly retorted with, "Yeah, and what about Alex Agase"—remembering last year's Iowa-Illinois debacle.

"Oh, yes," said the Illini mentor, "Alex Agase. An all-American guard in every sense of the word."

He then went on to enumerate the others — Captain and Center Mac Wenskunas, End Bill Huber and a host of good substitutes. But then again, fans, — even though this sounds quite disastrous — don't fret over the plight of Mr. Eliot. He knows that his chances are not too bad.

The Illini have the makings of a good ball club — lighter but possibly faster than last year, however. Their hopes are brightened even more by the up-and-coming Lou Levanti, 19-year-old sophomore center.

Apparently, almost everyone who made the trip to Cedar Rapids in the Illini traveling party enjoyed the short journey very much. Eliot estimated that the trip by plane took about an hour

Illini Weaker Than Last Year — Cries and Woes of Ray Eliot

By BUCK TURNBULL

"Lou is just a kid," Eliot said, "who played his first college ball game last week against Pitt. He was one of the high-lights for our cause in a rather poorly played game. Just how he'll go against major opposition remains to be seen."

Queried about his thoughts toward the Iowa game in general, Eliot replied, "We know we're going to have a tough ball game. Iowa could have very easily beaten us last year. We were awfully lucky to win that one, 7-0. And now we're just waiting and hoping for the best."

Following our talk with Eliot, we cornered the ever-cordial Bert Ingwersen, Illini line coach, in the Roosevelt lobby. Bert was the University of Iowa's head football coach in the early '30s.

Asked how his line was shaping up, Bert answered, "They're not bad. We'll probably start Lou Agase at one of the tackle spots along with Bob Cunz. But Agase and Bob Prymski are interchangeable. It doesn't make much difference who we start there."

Dike Edleman will be in the starting lineup at right half-back and we asked Bert what was the matter with Paul Peterson, a regular last year and who started against Pitt last weekend.

Paul has had a bad shoulder for quite awhile and it hasn't been too well all week. Dike did a fine job against Pitt but Paul will see a lot of action against Iowa."

Apparently, almost everyone who made the trip to Cedar Rapids in the Illini traveling party enjoyed the short journey very much. Eliot estimated that the trip by plane took about an hour and a half—this compared to almost ten hours last year when they travelled to Cedar Rapids by train.

"You can't beat it," Ingwersen said. "It's the only way to make trips like this. We're flying to New York next weekend for the Army game in a 51-passenger plane and the whole trip will take us three hours."

There was one person in the Illinois party who didn't quite care for the aerial thoroughfare, however. He was Russ Steger, starting fullback.

Russ had washed out of the Naval air corps because of chronic airsickness and didn't feel too much like making the trip by air. He was finally convinced to do it but did not spend a very enjoyable hour and a half.

"The plane was caught in some pretty heavy winds just before we approached Cedar Rapids and that didn't ease Russ' feelings."

Just then the big, burly Steger walked past in his sweat clothes on his way to the taxi for Coe field. His only remark was, "I feel awful. I hope I feel better tomorrow." So do we, Russ!

BLOOMINGTON, IND. — (AP) — Bo McMillin's fighting Hoosiers of Indiana will open their Western conference campaign today in Memorial stadium against an improved Wisconsin team that mopped up Purdue last Saturday, 32-14. It will be the favored Hoosiers' first grid meeting with Wisconsin since 1943.

and the boys must produce today. There is also the factor of a conference opener—the first game in what was to be Iowa's Big Nine season of destiny. The boys still haven't lost a league battle—and until they do they're still very much in the conference race.

Seldom does a team of any kind get a second chance, but this team has just that opportunity this afternoon. They were shockingly weak against the Uclans a week ago — today they can show whether or not that was a phony.

This Illinois team, due at Iowa stadium at 2 p.m. today is a far cry from the outfit that nipped Iowa 7-0 last fall. They lost backfield speed and power when Buddy Young and Julius Rykovich both decided to join the pros. They lost line power when All-American Guard Alex Agase and all-conference Center Mac Wenskunas graduated and End Billy Huber turned to the play-for-pay ranks.

Left is a pretty fair backfield of Moss, Dufelmeier, Edelman and Steger. And a rugged line of Zatkoff, Agase, Wrenn, Levanti, Steger, Cunz and Owens.

They have a strong passing game with Moss tossing . . . a good running attack with Dufelmeier furnishing the seat and Steger the power . . . the league's best pair of all-around ends in Zatkoff and Owens . . . a good guard in Wrenn . . . and "another Wenskunas" at center in Levanti.

This outfit warmed up against hapless Pittsburgh a week ago, winning 14-0, but obviously had other things on their mind at the time. They are still one of the Big Nine's strongest teams.

Just then the big, burly Steger walked past in his sweat clothes on his way to the taxi for Coe field. His only remark was, "I feel awful. I hope I feel better tomorrow." So do we, Russ!

Hoosiers Favored
BLOOMINGTON, IND. — (AP) — Bo McMillin's fighting Hoosiers of Indiana will open their Western conference campaign today in Memorial stadium against an improved Wisconsin team that mopped up Purdue last Saturday, 32-14. It will be the favored Hoosiers' first grid meeting with Wisconsin since 1943.

UCLA Heavily Favored In Wildcat Game Today
EVANSTON, ILL. (AP)—Heavily-favored U.C.L.A., will seek double revenge in its first football invasion of Northwestern university in 16 years before more than 40,000 fans at Dyche stadium today.

In addition to gunning for their second straight win of the season over a Big Nine contender to further soothe the sting of their 45-14 Rose Bowl trimming by Illinois, the Uclans also hope to avenge an old score—a 19-0 trimming by Northwestern here in 1931.

Northwestern will spot the Uclans some 20 pounds per man in the line and figure to be out-manned and out-spied in the backfield.

Taking Time Out

With Buck Turnbull

It seems that every Saturday the major football games seem to get tougher. And today we are really lashing out the whip on our gridiron experts.

We must admit, fans, that last week's showing by our experts was far from creditable. But we have heard strange rumors that Bob Brooks, who is leading his cohorts, has been holding special classes all week as to just how to pick the ball games. The boys still differ on five of the seven tilts with the Iowa-Illinois game gaining a 54-50 split.

And now into the seven major games of the day. We find it rather tough to get out of Iowa City. Our conscience has been battling better judgment all week and we just cannot find a definite solution to our problem.

Does Iowa have it? Is Illinois anywhere near what they were last year? Will the Hawks be fired up enough in their opening Big Nine game to be able to down the Illini? These questions will be answered at the Iowa stadium this afternoon, but the only trouble is we have to venture a prediction before the game. So we'll stick with our conscience, pick the Hawkeyes and hope the breaks and good hard football will favor them in starting off a good conference season.

Now for the rest of the country. Indiana's Big Nine opener with Wisconsin will get underway at Bloomington today. In a tight ball game with the Badgers offering several threats, we'll pick Indiana—they looked good against Nebraska last weekend.

To the game of the day and Southern California over Rice. Here is a toughie—probably the closest game of the day. Rice is ranked among the first five in the country but they're in California territory today, so we'll pull for the Trojans.

Out east, Navy tangles with Columbia. The Middies are another question mark but we're sympathetic with Coach Tom Hamilton's navy men—a wobbly vote for Navy.

Back to the Big Nine and one very confident prediction that Nebraska will find too big a line in the Golden Gophers from Minnesota. The Gophers by two touchdowns.

Duke and Tennessee will battle on the Volunteers home field this afternoon. Tennessee was battered by Georgia Tech, 27-0, last Saturday, but we're looking for a sharp comeback. The Volunteers in friendly surroundings will take the Blue Devils.

North Carolina will visit the southwest to meet the Longhorns of Texas and the famed passes of Bobby Layne. Just how much Champ Justice of the Tarheels will do against a better Texas line remains to be seen. From our vantage point, the Longhorns will sing the victory song tonight.

Our record after last week, 10 wins, 3 losses, 1 tie.

Forecasts Illini Win over Iowa

Picks Wolverines, Irish, UCLA, Army in Other Contests

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
BROOKLYN (AP) — Having picked New York to win the World Series in four straight, we plunge into another football forecast with some misgivings as the Yankees and Dodgers come to grips once more in that peaceful little valley known as Ebbets field:
Notre Dame vs. Pittsburgh — Can the Dodgers get that run back? They've got two men on base. Can the Irish go through another season undefeated? They've got the material. The side is retired without a score. Same for the panthers. A confident ballot for Notre Dame.
Stanford vs. Michigan — There goes Ruzzuto. Safe at second. Who said the Dodgers had the edge on base running? Those Michigan backs are pretty good runners, too. If Stanford doesn't look sharper than it did against Idaho, the Wolverines can trot home. One big vote for Michigan.
UCLA vs. Northwestern — Robinson won the race to the bag to rob Berra of a hit. That boy can run. If he were playing with UCLA again he'd be on the winning side tomorrow. A handful of votes for UCLA.
Army vs. Colorado — DiMaggio is trying to score on Edwards' overthrow of first. He's out at home, by a mile. The Cadets are at home and should squeeze through. Perhaps close, but the guess is Army.
Illinois vs. Iowa — Johnson tripled, Lindell doubled and it's another Yankee run. There's no defense for that kind of one-two punch. The Illini can give Iowa the old one-two. No other choice but Illinois.
Columbia vs. Navy — The Dodgers have two runners in scoring position. One run comes home. That's all. Columbia may find it tough to score, too. Navy.
 Tagging all the bases while sympathizing with the Yanks:
East.
 Harvard over Boston, Princeton over Brown, Colgate over Kings Point, Yale over Cornell, Dartmouth over Syracuse, Penn State over Bucknell, Pennsylvania over Lafayette.
Midwest.
 Ohio State over Purdue, Indiana over Wisconsin, Minnesota over Nebraska, Kansas over Iowa State, Mississippi State over Michigan State, Tulsa over Drake, Cincinnati over St. Bonaventure, Louisville over Depauw, Western Michigan over Washington of St. Louis. Texas over North Carolina, South.
 Georgia Tech. over Tulane, Alabama over Vanderbilt, Kentucky over Xavier, Wake Forest over Clemson, Virginia Military over George Washington, William and Mary over Citadel.
Southwest and Far West
 Arkansas over Texas Christian, Southern Methodist over Missouri.

Sell Notre Dame Trip Tickets

University students desiring to go to South Bend, Ind., for the Notre Dame game Nov. 1 can obtain tickets now. A booth has been set up at the east side of Old Capitol for the ticket sales. They will also be sold at a booth on the northwest side of the stadium at today's Iowa-Illinois game.
 The cost to students will be $19.90, with a round-trip ticket and a reserved seat for the game included.
 The student group will leave Iowa City at 1:30 a.m. Saturday morning and will arrive in South Bend at noon. They will leave South Bend that evening at about 6 p.m. and will have a four and one-half hour layover in Chicago Saturday night, arriving in Iowa City sometime Sunday morning.
 This will be the same train that the team is on. The student train will hook up with the team in Chicago on the way to South Bend. Ticket sales will end Wednesday, at which time at least 300 students must have purchased tickets.
 It has also been announced that the band will not accompany the team to the Notre Dame game.

Fordham Slaughtered

WASHINGTON (AP)—Georgetown rolled to a surprisingly easy 40-7 football victory over Fordham last night. It was a fine night for long runs, with Babe Baranowski going 71 and John Preston 55 for the longest Georgetown touchdowns.

Boudreau Trade Possibility—Veeck

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Plain-Dealer said yesterday Bill Veeck, president of the Cleveland Indians, admitted he has been trying to trade his manager, Lou Boudreau, to the St. Louis Browns.
 In a dispatch from Brooklyn by Gordon Cobbleddick, sports editor of the Plain Dealer, Veeck was quoted as saying that public sentiment or a possible shift in Boudreau's position could alter the picture.
 So Veeck, said Cobbleddick's dispatch, will fly to Cleveland tomorrow to see for himself whether the Cleveland public will insist on the present shortstop-manager's retention.
 Cobbleddick said the deal considered would have swapped Boudreau, Pitchers Red Embree and Bryan Stephens of the Indians for Shortstop Vernon Stephens, Outfielder Paul Lehner and Pitcher Jack Kramer of the Browns.
 The sports editor said Veeck finally called negotiations off temporarily after a long conference with Browns officials last night.

Tailfeathers Promise Pre-Game Stunt Today

A "spectacular" and "colorful" stunt was promised for Iowa football fans today by the Tailfeathers entertainment chairman, Ginger McDonald.
 The stunt will be presented by the student pep organization before the kick-off and will include "real" Illini Indians, Miss McDonald said.
 Pat Seymour and Dick Taylor were appointed to assist Miss McDonald in presenting the stunt.

Villanova Tied

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Villanova college and Miami university, each capitalizing on a break for a touchdown and extra point conversion fought to a 7 to 7 tie last night in their inter-sectional battle before 26,500 at Shibe park.

Rossie KO's Illinois Man

With Bob Rossie, Jr., setting the pace, three Iowa City boxers scored wins in an inter-city bout in Galesburg, Ill., Thursday night.
 Rossie notched a TKO over Dick Scott of Galesburg in the second round of their bout. Scott weighed in at 160 pounds, 10 more than the local boy.
 Bob Behrens, 165, took a decision over Charles Russel, 183. Behrens, like Rossie, is a university student.
 The other Iowa City victory was scored by Lyle Seydel. Seydel fought Samm Stimson, a 33 year old Galesburg man and veteran of 365 amateur bouts, and won by a decision. Both men weighed 120.
 Cliff Luckett of Galesburg took the only win for the Illinois team when Bob Baird was disqualified because his second continued shouting instructions during the rounds.

West Liberty Tips U-High, 27-14

Blue Hawk Rally Comes Too Late

A 90-yard touchdown sprint on the opening kickoff gave the West Liberty high Comets their first score in a 27-14 victory over University high's gridders last night.
 The Comets went on to score again in the first period and tallied once each in the second and third periods.
University high's two touchdowns came in the fourth quarter, with the last five minutes played in rain.
 An elusive Mr. Jehle, Comet fullback, twisted down the right sideline for the first tally. Duane Crozer, West Liberty right halfback, failed to convert and the Comets took the lead 6-0.
 Still not satisfied Jehle streaked away for 40 yards to score again. Crozer made the placekick, putting the score at 13-0.
 Penalties against the Blue Hawks gave the Comets another scoring opportunity. This time it was Crozer who punched over from his own 10. The conversion attempt was good and the half ended with West Liberty out front 20-0.

It was Jehle again who knifed through the line from the 7 to count the Comet's fourth and final touchdown. This time the extra point was again good, giving West Liberty a 27-0 lead.
 The Blue Hawks sparked in the fourth quarter and fullback Bob Ojemann tallied from the 2-yard-line. Quarterback Merritt Ewalt intercepted a Comet pass a few minutes later on West Liberty's 40. The Blues moved into scoring position and Ojemann went over again on a center smash. Doug Dierks, right halfback, collected extra points after both touchdowns by running around his own left end.

Inflation Here?--Look at China

T. Wong Tells Of Visit to His Native Land

By MERRITT LUDWIG

You think prices are high here? Tell it to Tom Wong, an Iowa City photographer, who has just returned from a place where a pack of cigars costs $6,150—that is, if there are any to buy.

Wong arrived in Iowa City three days ago after spending five months in his native China. The purpose of his trip was to study conditions in China first-hand. But Wong's brown eyes twinkled as he added coyly, "Incidentally, I got married over there." He was sincere, though, when he said getting married wasn't the purpose of the trip. "In the words of Americans," he said, "it just happened."

Wong makes his living as a photographer, but he says he's an artist at heart. He's a fine arts graduate of Ohio university and his ambition today is what it was when he came to America at the age of 15. He wants to learn from America so as to be able to go back and help his homeland. Incidentally, he's an American citizen.

The people of America and China need to get better acquainted, Wong thinks, through the medium of art. That's why he is working to arrange an exchange of art exhibitions between the two countries.

Wong is going to return to China eventually, but he says that now is not the time. Summing it up, he said, "Living conditions are just too unsettled."

He described political and economic conditions in China at length, saying that what Americans read in their newspapers about China is not far-fetched. Lapsing for a moment into his Chinese speaking habit, he said, "Is plenty bad."

According to Wong, Americans know nothing about inflation. He says the Chinese carry their money around in bundles or suitcases. Merchants won't even bother with a bill in denomination of less than $100. At the present official rate of exchange, one American dollar is worth 39,000 Chinese dollars. But on the black market, any one can get $42,000 for an American greenback.

What's more, dollar for dollar, things cost at least four times what they do here. One dollar here will buy a ten-pound sack of flour. It would take four American dollars for the same amount of flour there.

Luxury items such as watches, cigars, fountain pens, etc., are almost non-existent in China. Wong says it is one continuous struggle day and night to keep alive. No wonder, he says, that Chinese are cannot flourish as it has in past centuries.

The heart of political unrest in China is military control, says Wong. He says the Communists would not have ammunition to shoot if it weren't coming from Russia. Yet he does not give full support to the Nationalist regime. "China will never be settled so long as military men are in control," he says. He thinks Chiang Kai-Shek is an honorable man, but totally unable to cope with the influence of his corrupt advisers. In Wong's view, Dr. Sun Fo, present Chinese vice-president, would make a fine leader of the government.

The Chinese people, according to Wong, are looking to the United States as their salvation. They are willing to help themselves, but must have farm machinery, in particular, to do it. The Chinese are grateful for past American aid and Wong thinks their first loyalty abroad is with the United States, not Russia.

With another polite smile and an "incidentally," Wong pointed out his name is not really Wong. That's his business name. He was born "Fong Wee Tom."

Mrs. Wong—Fong—Tom—well, anyway, his wife, lives in Hong Kong and is a British subject. Her name is Chung Ying. Just as soon as matters can be cleared with immigration authorities, she'll join her husband in Iowa City. Wong hopes she'll be here by Christmas.

Fire Equipment Study Planned

Arrangements for the demonstration of fire equipment to all trailer and apartment unit areas was planned yesterday by the University Married Students organization.

At their final meeting, the present UMSSO interim committee selected Bob Brose, A4, and Martin Dimbat, G, to make arrangements with the fire department for demonstration in the care and use of fire equipment.

Last fall the fire department instructed residents of trailer units (Hawkeye and Riverdale) in the use of fire equipment.

According to Roy Whiteman, chairman of UMSSO, "no instruction has been given in the apartment unit areas."

Brose and Dimbat hope to have the demonstrations coincide with fire prevention week (Oct. 5 to 11). They plan on having one demonstration for each of the nine areas.

The two-man committee also plans to request, from the university, printed instructions for the operation of extinguishers for each apartment or trailer unit.

Other business at the meeting included the appointment of an election committee for Quonset park. John Kenyon will serve as chairman, to be assisted by Richard Gerlach, Paul Brach and Floyd Larcher.

Frederick Putnam of the Trinity Episcopal church and was followed by a reception in the Moeller home. Josephine Yarcho, Waverly, served as maid of honor and the bridegroom was attended by Gail Myers, Iowa City. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elinore Racker, Waverly. Both Mr. and Mrs. Thompson are seniors at the university. After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home in Iowa City.

Contributors to the book include Prof. H. P. Bechtoldt of the psychology department and Prof. James F. Curtis of the speech department.

The book of over 500 pages describes modern techniques in dealing with complex personnel problems. Hundreds of tables and a technical appendix supplement the material by Stuit and other contributors.

Asks Arab-Jewish Rule for Palestine

Palestine should be made an independent state for Jews and Arabs, Albert Badre of Lebanon, Syria, said at the Masonic luncheon yesterday.

"Only if such a policy is adopted, will the settlement be peaceful. If it (the Palestine situation) is only a question of might, then let might win out, but the result will not be peace in that area," Badre stated.

He emphasized the nation should be a republic "based on democratic ideals" with a government representative of the two groups. Before the Arabs would agree to such a settlement, Badre believes, the Jews would have to give up the idea of unlimited immigration and making Palestine a Jewish state.

The Arabs, he said, are ready to fight should unlimited immigration be allowed.

"No people in the world will agree voluntarily to become a minority, he added.

Taft's Foreign Policy Speeches

(The Last of a Series)

So far we have challenged Senator Taft's speeches on the grounds that he is essentially isolationist, that he opposes freer world trade, is in opposition to the basic premise of the United Nations and has tried to steal the laurels of Senator Vandenberg which on the record he is not entitled to.

Today we shall wind up this series with a few remarks about his inconsistencies and catch up a few loose ends.

In his Tacoma, Washington, speech, Taft charged that the United States is at one and the same time "coddling Russia" and trying to "boss the affairs of the world."

Now that's a nice one! First he says we are too friendly with Russia, not doing enough to contain her, not resisting her penetration of the Balkans. Then he turns around and says we're trying to tell everybody how to run his affairs, interfering in Greece and Turkey, "exporting" American ideas.

In other words, he says the U.S. isn't doing enough as Mr. Fixit and at the same time is playing the role of Mr. Fixit too much. Now which is it?

Then in his latest speech at Casper, Wyo., at which he closed his western "feel 'em out" tour, he charged that the Democratic administration is "inconsistent!"

There he gave another glimpse of his isolationist tendencies when he referred to Europe as "bankrupt." That has become part of the new isolationist line. Make people believe that Europe is all done out, finished and therefore undeserving of anything but extremely limited American aid. That fits in nicely with his hesitation about the Marshall plan.

Then he mentioned that the administration has "countenanced Communists in China." Unless we are completely misinformed, the state department until the very recent Wedemeyer report openly supported the anti-Communist forces of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Taft charged that it has been difficult to find a "consistent thread running through the actions of the state department during the past year."

It seems to us that underlying the state department's actions has been the determination to resist the expansion of Russia. That policy has necessarily taken different forms at different times and under different conditions.

One may question the wisdom of the application of certain parts of that policy, as we have, but it certainly has been consistent in its desire to stop Russia.

One other statement of Taft's deserves consideration. He bitterly denounced "acceptance of the Morgenthau plan." Now the Morgenthau plan never was an accepted part of the administration's plans.

He concentrates on the necessity of building up Germany. He implies that failure to do so has been a factor in causing this country to be regarded as imperialistic by the British and the French. And here we understood Britain and France were charging that American support for German industrialization is evidence of our imperialism!

It is as unfair to write off all the administration moves to restore economic sanity in the world because the process is proving longer and more costly than had been hoped, as it is to consider all the advances in strength and prestige made by Russia during and after the war as result of American softness or appeasement.

In conclusion:

1. Throughout Taft's speeches he shows definite isolationist tendencies.
2. He is opposed to one of the best ways of promoting international economic stability—freer trade.
3. He is in opposition to the basic premise of the United Nations.
4. His cry that he supports Vandenberg and the implication that Vandenberg supports him is not borne out by the record.
5. His speeches are filled with a multitude of inconsistencies—which wouldn't be so bad but a chief argument of his is that the administration has been inconsistent.
6. His speeches are long on criticism of the past; short on constructive alternatives.

Vote 'Yes' for the City Swimming Pool

We're not claiming that we can stop the ever increasing number of drownings that took place this summer—and the near drowning yesterday. But there is a way to reduce their number.

When young American children, grown-ups too, are out bathing in water too deep for their own safety or are in sailboats or canoes, the inevitable will happen. Another step or a capsize will put their names in the news columns.

What do we suggest? Teach your children to swim or have someone you trust to instruct them.

Now the question, "If our town lacks a swimming pool, where and how will we manage the teaching of our children?" is asked. Only one answer can be given, that is, "Vote yes for the swimming pool next Tuesday!"

The special election next Tuesday has been called to vote additional bonds to supplement those previously voted.

The special election represents the culmination of many years that Iowa City has been without a swimming pool. "There are too many cities and towns in our country today that lack swimming facilities. Some have them but most do not have enough pools to go around for all of their residents. We ask that various organizations and clubs either go together, or singly promote and back the city pool for the betterment of the whole community.

With the backing and promotional action of groups such as the veterans organizations, University club, Lions, Elks, Moose, Knights of Columbus, etc., the cost would be small individually and the ideals high for community welfare.

Here in Iowa City we have many of these fine organizations whose prime purpose is serving the community and bettering its conditions.

Knowing how to swim is far more than a safety measure against drowning. It is a healthful form of exercise that builds strong citizens for the cities of tomorrow.

Residents of Iowa City have read in their newspapers of drownings that happened here in Iowa this summer. We hope that those ever increasing news stories, whose paragraphs tell of someone's mishap and tragedy, will dwindle down so that when it does happen—it will be really news.

The time is now for an Iowa City swimming pool. It would pay for itself after the initial cost of building and clubs of the city will have something to represent their work in the community.

What do you say organizational leaders—Let's back a community swimming pool for Iowa City!

Contradictions Face U.S.

New York Post Syndicate

The Soviet Union is undoubtedly waiting for what it calls "contradictions," big and small, to develop in the western world. It expects us to use quite a bit of our energy fighting ourselves. It expects us to trip over our own feet more than once, to run into many doors; sometimes, even, to knock ourselves out with wild swings.

There are such contradictions among us. It might be kind of smart for us to begin to look them over.

1. There is a conflict between the desire to strengthen western Europe against Russia and the desire to punish western Europe for its socialist leanings. Mondays and Wednesdays we would like to see Britain and France become solid enough to defy Bolshevism.

On Tuesdays and Thursdays we like to use a weakened Britain and France as proof that socialist ideas do not work. We would like to help both countries to get on their feet; we would also like to see it demonstrated that they are unable to produce under socialist leadership.

The National Association of Manufacturers hints opposition to any loans that would have the effect of strengthening socialism in Europe. The NAM does not tell us what to do in case communism overruns Europe as a result of this policy; but not to finish a thought is characteristic of men caught in a conflict.

2. There is a conflict between America's interest in world trade and exports, and America's interest in adequate supplies of goods at low prices at home. The exporters say cheerfully that foreign shipments keep our production level up; the anti-exporters point out that such sales lift our price level.

Everybody is looking everywhere (except in a mirror) for a scapegoat to blame for the current price rise, and it is easiest to blame the foreign buyer.

We have added a new villain to our national mythology, the man in Shanghai who buys an American car, and thus makes those we buy more expensive.

The same newspapers that demand we shall set an economic course for the world, blow a gasket when they discover that American washing machines can be bought in Brazil. Exports are becoming politically unpopular just when they have become politically necessary.

3. There is an unavoidable kind of contradiction involved in the very fact that we are going to have a Presidential election. Some who really agree with the President very much find they have to fight him for political reasons.

He is abused in the conservative press for being "weak" about having us use less food. But if he really tried to institute food controls, the same press would pin his ears back and call him a dictator. He is compelled, by conservative pressure, to take a certain course, then denounced for doing it, which is a contradiction indeed.

4. There is a conflict between our desire to bolster western Europe, and our desire to reduce income taxes. It is a conflict between our desire to save the private enterprise system, and our desire to keep a bit more of the current fruits thereof.

We shall hear that we must furnish foreign loans for "our own" sake; we shall also hear that we should cut taxes instead, for "our own" sake. Two different "our owns" are involved, one public, one private, and the fight between them is convulsive.

These conflicts will play a greater role in shaping our policy adversely than will the Communist party of the U. S. or of France, or of Britain. The Communists oppose the Marshall Plan, but it is Republican and NAM antagonism which will really hurt it.

It is not in the columns of the Daily Worker, but in the columns of the most bitterly anti-Communist newspapers in America, raging for tax cuts, that the hardest blows will be struck against the American program for Europe.

The Communists may not want to see the western world rationalized on a capitalist basis, but it is capitalists who, finally, may see to it that it is not.

Not in our stars, but in ourselves, as the man said, is the fault to be found for much of the trouble we get into.

GRAFTON

Inside Washington

By THE CENTRAL PRESS

WASHINGTON—Republican stock for 1948 is on the upsurge again following the GOP victory in Pennsylvania's eighth congressional district, where the Taft-Hartley labor law was an issue.

The stock of Senator Robert A. Taft, who just toured the west before announcing whether he will seek the GOP presidential nomination, is rising, too.

GOP skeptics who felt that the new labor act might defeat Taft now are not so sure.

Political observers also note a decline in the popularity of New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, whose western trip was anything but a howling success.

Within the party, Michigan's Senator Arthur Vandenberg appears more determined than ever to do nothing to seek the presidential nomination. His friends say he now wishes more than ever to become secretary of state.

Vandenberg is growing closer to Taft and looks with favor on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. It appears certain that Vandenberg would get the cabinet post if either Taft or Eisenhower went into the White House.

● STEEL PROBE—Leaders of the steel industry are convinced a full-scale investigation of the "steel shortage" is inevitable. They believe an inquiry will be forced upon congress by administration arguments on national defense.

The administration argues that war within a very few years is a definite possibility and that the United States would be back against the wall with its present steel-making capacity.

The steel moguls realize that an opposition congress, like the present one, would beat down efforts to force such an investigation. However, they point out that some congressmen would vote for the inquiry on conviction, while others would approve it to bolster their chances for re-election in 1948.

● EQUATOR HIJINKS—Some of the correspondents who traveled with President Truman on the battleship Missouri are bitterly condemning White House Secretary Charles Ross for his efforts to "censor" their dispatches concerning equator-crossing hijinks.

Many returned to Washington physically sore as a result of the merciless initiation ceremonies undergone as they became "shellbacks," persons who have crossed the equator. However, their anger is directed at Ross's attempts to suppress complete stories of the ceremonies, which became very rowdy.

One correspondent tried to write into his dispatches a detailed account of the injuries sustained by the presidential party and navy personnel. Ross reminded the reporter and his colleagues that they were "guests" of the navy, and pointed out that the account was not accurate.

Ross confirmed, however, in the course of his discussion that there was numerous injuries as a result of undue roughness. Nevertheless, he prevailed on the newsmen to "kill" his story.

We Ape Russia in Restricting Visitors

By J.M. ROBERTS, JR.

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Can the United States, which already has stooped to word-brawling in a gutter of Russia's own choosing, improve the situation any by emulating the Kremlin's antagonistic policy toward foreign visitors?

Russia's refusal to admit a senatorial party has resulted in demands that the Washington government retaliate by imposing restrictions on Russians, over and above the normal regulation of entry by avowed Communists. The army already is restricting Soviet military attaches to the same treatment accorded our men in Moscow.

There are solid arguments in favor of action against civilians, aside from the hysteria generated by Russia's current all-out propaganda against the United States and its policies.

Every Russian who comes to this country does so as the agent, in one respect or another, of the Kremlin.

Otherwise he would not be permitted to leave his own country, which is very strict in preventing its nationals from viewing the wonders of the outside world except in cases of real governmental necessity.

And you can rest assured that every so-called legitimate Russian activity in this country has its illegitimate counterpart. That is one of the fixed practices of the Communist revolutionary. There are usually undercover men in New York who wield a strange power even over the Kremlin's formally designated emissaries.

One of them, for instance, once cut a Soviet ambassador off short in the midst of an interview and took it upon himself to tell reporters what the high official really was intending to say.

But these things are well known to our security agencies, and they think they keep sufficient tabs to prevent any real breach of the country's safety. Since no Russian would be allowed to come unless the Kremlin expected to profit from it, keeping them within security limits is not too difficult.

Beyond that, the more they see the better. More than one of them has been converted and refused to return to Russia, becoming instead powerful adjuncts to the campaign against communism here.

The necessities of our struggle with Russia may one day force such action in self defense. But pending a time of such necessity, it would bring an easy feeling to many people that there is in it a violation of civil rights which are in some ways akin to our own.

Arabs Hold Bloodless Strike To Protest Palestine Partition

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON

JERUSALEM (AP)—An estimated 1,500,000 Arabs, protesting the proposal to partition Palestine, engaged in a bloodless general strike yesterday under the eyes of police armed with automatic weapons.

While the walkout which paralyzed Arab sections of the Holy Land was in progress, the British began the trans-shipment to Cyprus of 3,500 irregular Jewish immigrants from two refugee ships intercepted by British naval vessels Thursday and brought to Haifa. This potentially explosive situation also passed without violence.

As the Arabs stayed away from their jobs and flocked by the hundreds of thousands to mosques for prayers and to hear political addresses, similar protests against partition were held elsewhere in the Arab world.

The Arabs were called upon to strike as an evidence of solidarity against Zionism. They heeded the advice of their leaders to avoid dangerous demonstrations.

Except at the start and finish of speeches in the mosques the streets were deserted most of the day in the all-Arab city of Jaffa.

Police had expected strife in the troublesome border area between Jaffa and the Jewish city of Tel Aviv. There and elsewhere in the Holy Land the police carried tommy guns instead of the usual rifles.

At Haifa the Arabs maintained a complete strike but made no effort to demonstrate even near the docks where the Jewish refugees were being trans-shipped.

The partition proposal which the Arabs are protesting has been advanced by a majority of the members of a special United Nations committee and now is before the UN assembly.

Meanwhile, in the U.N., Czechoslovakia urged the five big powers yesterday to declare as soon as possible whether they were willing to enforce any United Nations decisions on the future of Palestine.

The enforcement question, which many delegates believe to be the heart of the entire Palestine problem, was raised by Czechoslovakia delegate Karel Lisicky during the general assembly's 57-nation special Palestine committee as it opened the first phase of its debate.

Lisicky said in effect: 1. Any decision of the assembly will have to be enforced. 2. The United Nations has no enforcement machinery. 3. If the great powers are not willing to back up the assembly's decisions it would be a waste of time to continue discussions.

First Court Order Under New Labor Bill Balks Walkout

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The first court order issued under the Taft-Hartley act was credited with halting an Albany, N.Y., longshoremen's strike Friday.

The AFL International Longshoremen's association announced that union members would return to work after federal Judge Stephen Brennan issued a temporary restraining order in New York on grounds that the ILA was violating sections of the new labor law prohibiting secondary boycotts.

The 10-day old strike at the port of Albany and the state barge canal arose over a shipping franchise.

Planes of the American Overseas Airlines to northern Europe remained grounded due to a four day old strike of the 173 pilots and co-pilots, members of the AFL Air Lines Pilots association.

Wholesale Butter Drops For 2nd Day

The price of butter declined a second day yesterday in the wholesale markets of several cities, and reductions in butter prices paid by retail shoppers were reported in many stores and dairies.

Grain prices showed little change after an erratic day of fluctuations on the Chicago board of trade, and livestock took trends both up and down in the nation's markets.

A 4 1/2-cent decrease was reported in Philadelphia, and further declines were reported at Chicago where the price went 3 cents lower yesterday.

Dealers said that supplies were plentiful, but buying was light with retailers reporting that their customers were buying less of the spread than usual because of high prices. A St. Louis supermarket operator called a 10-day moratorium on butter and egg sales in his three stores in protest against "ridiculously high" wholesale prices.

Wheat closed unchanged to a cent lower in Chicago, with December contracts $2.85 to $2.83 1/2 a bushel. Corn was as much as 3 1/2 cents lower, December quoted at $2.25 1/2 to 1/4. Oats were 1/2 cent lower to 1/4 cent higher, December closing at $1.12 1/4 to 1/2.

Influential on grain prices was a report by the agriculture department that 82 percent of the nation's corn crop was safe from frost September 26 and private estimates that the 1947 corn crop would run 100,000,000 bushels over the government's estimate.

Meanwhile, a retail increase of a cent a loaf in the price of bread in several cities recently, was expected by bakers to become general.

Tailfeathers To Begin Badge Sale Thursday

The 24th annual Homecoming badge sales contest will begin at 7 a. m. Thursday, Prof. Louis C. Zopf, homecoming committee chairman, announced yesterday.

Members of Tailfeathers, student pep organization will compete among themselves for the honor of selling the most badges, he said.

The purpose of these annual sales is to provide funds to finance the various homecoming activities, such as pep meetings, construction materials for the corn monument, and men's organization and university women's receptions, Zopf declared.

Seventy members of Tailfeathers have divided into two competing groups, into a "black" team and a "gold" team. Officers of the black team are Allis Stevenson, captain, and Ginger McDonald and Pat Seymour, lieutenants. Porter Burrets, captain, and Lieutenants Lucie Dean and Patricia Meloy will lead the gold team.

The badge this year is a partial reproduction of the official centennial seal of the university, Zopf said.

Homecoming activities in 1923 were financed by the sale of stamps to paste on the back of envelopes. Previous to 1923 money was obtained by soliciting townspeople and faculty members.

Zopf anticipates the largest sales in the history of the contest and has set a goal of $2,500. Sales last year totaled $1,590.

The homecoming committee released the following schedule for the weekend's activities:

Friday, Oct. 10—Mass meeting on Old Capitol campus at 7:30 p. m.; Dolphin show in the fieldhouse pool at 8 p. m.; Triangle club reception for men and University club reception for women in Iowa Union at 8:30 p. m.; homecoming party at 9 p. m. at the Union.

Saturday, Oct. 11—Hockey game on women's athletic field at 10 a. m.; "I" club meeting in the Community building at 10 a. m.; university open house at 10:30 a. m.; state high school mile team race at 11 a. m.; buffet snack for "I" club at Community building at 11:45 a. m.; football game at 2 p. m., Indiana vs. Iowa; Dolphin shows in fieldhouse pool at 7 and 9 p. m.; open house Saturday evening at Iowa Union.

Taylor Files Application For Dispute Arbitration

An application for arbitration was filed in the county clerk's office yesterday by Wood Taylor, 309 E. Harrison street.

Taylor claims to have received serious injuries while engaged in razing a barn which belonged to the defendant, John Horning, 1311 Smally avenue, Muscatine.

Horning, in his statement, refuses compensation and payment of hospital expenses on the grounds that Taylor was employed on a "casual employment" basis and he is not liable under the workers compensation law for responsibility and payment of debts incurred in treating the injuries.

OLD CAPITOL'S dome will be featured on the 1947 Homecoming badges which go on sale at 7 a. m. Thursday. This scheme is similar to that used on the university's centennial seal this year.

Iowa Citizens Study Dams

Gov. Robert D. Blue yesterday appointed a seven-man committee, including two Iowa Citizens, to study material on the proposed Turkey and Hoosier creek dam sites for the Coralville flood control reservoir project.

The two alternate sites, now under consideration by the office of the chief of engineers in Washington, have been suggested by the army corps of engineers for flood control of the Iowa river above Iowa City.

Named to the committee were L.C. Crawford, associate director of the Iowa institute of hydraulic research, and H.G. Hershey, state geologist, both of Iowa City. Clyde Spry, secretary of the Iowa soil conservation commission; Fred White, chief engineer of the state highway commission; Louis Cook, research consultant for the state tax commission; G. L. Ziemer, director of the state conservation commission, and Rodney Q. Selby, director of the Iowa development commission.

Although construction of the dam at Turkey creek would require costly alterations to the Lake Macbride dam, Col. William N. Leaf, district engineer for the Rock Island district of the upper Mississippi, has said these would be "highly desirable."

The dam would be used for flood control only and not for power as the proposed Red Rock dam on the Des Moines river.

Lake Macbride at present has a water surface area of about 179 acres. It would be enlarged to a water surface of about 938 acres. The lake is now rapidly silting up and its useful life cut accordingly, Leaf explained.

The reservoir project was authorized by the Flood Controls act of Congress, June, 1938.

U. S. farm woodlots cover about 126 million acres, the largest acreage being in the eastern half of the country.

Urges Patience for Job-Hunting Students

Students who have applied for part-time employment should not be discouraged if they don't have a job, Robert L. Ballantyne, manager of student placement, said yesterday.

Changes in registration and class schedules during the first few weeks of the school year make it difficult for Ballantyne and his staff to place each student in a suitable job.

Students who wish to obtain employment are urged to fill out applications at the office of student affairs. Notification will be given by telephone if a suitable job is available.

ISSUE MARRIAGE LICENSE

A marriage license was issued in the county clerk's office to Richard H. Barske of Independence and Edythe M. Hatch of Oelwein.

Musicians' Union Plans Coffee Hour

Representatives of local No. 450, American Federation of Musicians, will be hosts at a coffee hour for student and local dance band musicians from 9 to 10 a. m. tomorrow in the main dining room of Hotel Jefferson.

New members will be inducted at the regularly quarterly meeting following the coffee hour and nomination of officers for the next term will be made. Members will have an opportunity to meet administrative officers and orchestra leaders at the meeting, William L. Meardon, local president, stated.

Present officers of the organization are William L. Meardon, president; Johnny Byers, vice-president; Edward Bryan, secretary; Byron Burford, treasurer, arms. Trustees are Larry Barrett, arm. Trustees are Larry Barrett, Richard Cambridge and Shirley Porter.

Russell House Holds Election of Officers

Agnes Roisen, A2, recently was elected vice-president of Russell House, cooperative dormitory.

Elected at the same time were Marilyn Satterlee, A4, secretary; Peggy Megchelson, A2, treasurer; Lorena Vagts, C4, judiciary; Yvette Wright, A2, social chairman, and Dorothy Koob, A1, freshman representative.

Thelma Wendel, A4, was elected president of the house last spring.

Typography Award To Coleman's Book

A book designed and hand set by Carroll Coleman of the university typography laboratory has been chosen as one of six volumes in the country excelling in design and typography for the two month period, July and August.

The New York book clinic, which makes the bi-monthly award, selected Coleman's as one of the finest printing jobs of some 1,000 books that were considered.

The prize-winning book was "The Ego and the Centaur," a book of poems by Jean Garrigue, formerly of Iowa City. Coleman said he designed the book for New Directions, a New York publishing house.

Working in his own print shop, the Prairie Press, Coleman has in the past few years received national recognition for his skill.

On four occasions since 1935 he has been honored by the American Institute of Graphic Arts for having fashioned one of the nation's 50 topnotch designs of the year.

In February, the art department of Albion college in Michigan will exhibit 50 or 60 books designed by Coleman.

Peterson Baby Dies

A two-month-old baby, William Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Peterson, Reinbeck, died yesterday at the University hospital. He was admitted Sept. 11.

Geiger Joins Staff Of Business Office

Waldo Geiger, 41, formerly of the local defense rental area office, will be employed as an accountant in the university business office beginning Monday, Business Manager Fred Ambrose announced yesterday.

Geiger, 1220 Sheridan avenue, was with the rental office for almost three years. He previously served as executive secretary of the Johnson county rationing and price control board.

A lifelong resident of Iowa City, Geiger graduated from City high school and received his B. S. degree from the University of Iowa in 1930.
