

You Gotta Give Him Credit for Trying

ATLANTA (AP)—Atlanta police chronicled yesterday the sad tale of a victim robbed twice in one night by the same trio of thieves.

The victim was relieved of $60 in a holdup. Vowing revenge, he rushed home, grabbed an automatic shotgun, returned in time to take three shots at the robbers as they counted their loot under a street light.

Unimpressed, the trio took the shotgun too.

U. S. Aircraft Outstrips Sound

Flies Up to 1,500 M. P. H.

CLEVELAND (AP)—U. S. research experts disclosed yesterday that pilotless aircraft in this country have been flown at twice the speed of sound.

Since the speed of sound varies with atmospheric temperature, the top speed attained has been about 1,500 miles an hour, one expert disclosed.

The announcement followed a British report Wednesday that a rocket dropped from a Mosquito bomber into the Atlantic attained a speed of 900 miles an hour.

The expert, a member of the national advisory committee of aeronautics, said that U. S. "missiles" have been launched from the ground and flown out over the Atlantic from the NACA's pilotless aircraft research station on Wallops Island off the Virginia coast. The first such missile launched reached 1.4 times the speed of sound or about 1000 miles an hour.

Since then research planes in the same series have reached the 1,500 mile an hour mark.

One expert here stated that the U. S. is two to three years ahead of the British in such research. He said American pilotless aircraft reached 1,000 miles an hour at least two years ago.

Scientists contemplate that navy drop tests with ram jet assistance will reach 2,000 mile an hour mark. These missiles, unlike their predecessors, will have wings for the study of airflow design.

A widely known aircraft engineer said last year that 800 mile an hour operational planes, a long step beyond experimental missiles, would be ready in three years.

Clark Backs UMT, Hits Communism in AFL Parley Talk

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The convention of the American Federation of Labor yesterday cheered a denunciation of communism by Gen. Mark W. Clark, which he capped with a proposal for a "balanced" military program founded on universal military training and a strong army and navy.

Although the federation's position consistently has been opposed to peacetime military conscription, delegates rose to applaud Clark's inclusion of universal training in a program he declared was necessary "to serve notice that we intend to keep those freedoms" won by the war.

The commander of the sixth army, who acted for the United States in the unsuccessful Austrian peace treaty negotiations, was caustic and critical in his comment on Soviet dealings in Austria. He said Russia violated its Potsdam pledges on Austrian partition, economic reparations, handling of displaced persons, and war claims.

"Being in uniform," he remarked, "I can't say all I think. I might make Vishinsky's all-American 11."

He referred to Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet delegate to the United Nations, who recently called 11 prominent Americans "warmongers."

Clark's address was the principal business before the general convention, still stunned by the sudden death of Joseph A. Padway, the federation's general counsel.

The English born attorney suffered a stroke Wednesday as he flayed the Taft-Hartley labor law in a convention address.

Used Cars Drop $100
DES MOINES (AP)—Wholesale prices of used automobiles were $100 to $200 less per car yesterday than they were a month ago in Des Moines.

Bidding was cautious at a weekly automobile auction here, and many dealers indicated they were retrenching on their stocks of used cars.

Prices on top cars were strong, however. A Buick Super convertible sold at $3,300. A few weeks ago it would have brought at least $3,500.

Truman Renews Criticism of Rent Law After Increases Bring Angry Protests

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman emphasized anew yesterday his dissatisfaction with relaxed rent controls as a 5 percent boost in the Louisville, Ky., area drew angry protests from labor unions and others who expressed fears of nation-wide increases.

Mr. Truman told his news conference that his housing expediter, Frank R. Creedon, was obliged by law to approve the Louisville increase.

Under the new control act, passed by the last session of congress, he said, Creedon has no power to change a newly recommended rent control board.

But he invited attention to his words when he signed the act—that it is "plainly inadequate" and that he signed only because otherwise rent ceilings would be wiped out completely.

Creedon's action in granting the Louisville rent increase, effective yesterday, followed recommendations by the Louisville rent advisory board.

Mr. Truman's interpretation of the rent control law as giving Creedon no power to reject the recommendations of local boards ran counter to some opinions on Capitol Hill.

An aide to Senator Myers (D-Pa), author of a bill to extend rent controls beyond next Feb. 29, told a reporter that Myers was convinced the local boards had "no mandatory powers."

Russ Boycott Border Watch

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—Russia and the Soviet bloc defied the United Nations majority yesterday and announced they would boycott a Balkans border watch approved Wednesday by a 34 to 6 vote of the general assembly's full 57-member political committee.

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister, led the way with a short, violent attack on the United States-sponsored Balkans border committee.

The United States suggested Wednesday that Brazil, Mexico, the Netherlands, Poland, Australia, Pakistan and the five great powers be named to this committee.

Vishinsky took Russia out of the list and Dr. Oscar Lange, of Poland, quickly did the same. Yugoslavia thanked Russia for refusing to serve on the watch committee.

White Russia, Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Ukraine in turn attacked the Balkans committee and renewed the charge that the procedure setting it up was "illegal."

Dolphins Kid, Dive, Romp For 2 Hours

By SAM GOTTESFELD

The 1947 Homecoming frolic opened with a splash last night as the Dolphin club swam, dove, romped and kidded through hours of aquatic extravaganza at the fieldhouse pool.

Sally Sears of Kappa Alpha Theta was crowned Dolphin and Homecoming queen at the start of the show. Isobel Glick and Don Lee Iverson of Currier, Marjorie Lowry of Chi Omega and Elizabeth Lane of Delta Gamma were picked as her attendants.

The queen, garbed in white, and her attendants in black took the seats of honor across the pool. Then the royal group and some 2,500 others watched the conglomeration of athletic prowess, dancing, music and burlesque, of "Holiday in Paris."

Here's what they saw.

The backdrop—Paris, Seine flowing into the pool. Colorful lights, the Eiffel tower. Larry Barrett and his band and their smooth stylings. Bill Ewell as master of ceremonies.

Then it began. An uproarious Apache dance, mad diving antics, a stumbling cancan by the Dolphin chorines, popping firecrackers, swim ballet, relay race.

The high lights—Larry Gilmore, ex-Hawkeye of the 1930's, a stunner prize guest, convulsed the crowd with his agile and ribald comedy.

A trapeze act far above the pool and unscheduled slip-ups, the acrobats plunging into the pool.

The piece de resistance—Pete Latona, aflame, dropped into the pool, set afire and Marv Stevens and Jack Wickman dove into a fiery ring. The famous fire dance ended the show.

There's another show tomorrow and two Saturday night.

Lauds Food Saving Plan

CHICAGO (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson said yesterday he had "nothing but praise" for the program of meatless and poultryless days to conserve food and help Europe but declared "the United States should not stand alone."

Anderson told a news conference that the food conservation program of the citizens committee "will help greatly."

"A slice of bread saved a day will save 38,000,000 bushels of wheat a year," he said.

"These savings by individuals and by groups like the distillers will run interference for even greater return in grain feed savings—perhaps 10 million tons by lightening livestock to be marketed."

The purpose of the food conservation program, he added, "is to remind people of the shortage of grain—mere observance of any one day means little."

"It is to get the public in a frame of mind to make joint sacrifices," he said.

Asks Fifteenth Divorce in Twenty-Two Years

SALEM, ORE. (AP)—An attractive brunette sought yesterday to rid herself—for the fifteenth time—of marital shackles.

Mrs. Betty M. Dunlavy, 40, acquired her first husband in 1924 when she was 17. She seeks now to divorce No. 15. Her petition to the Marion county court charges cruel and inhuman treatment.

Although wed 15 times in 22 years, the court record shows there have been only 12 men in her life. Husband No. 3 was divorced, but remarriage made him No. 4. No. 6 was divorced and became No. 7 as well. No. 8 had his moment, but then the combined No. 6-7 became also No. 9 or, more correctly, No. 6-7-8.

Half of Vets Cash Leave Bonds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Veterans of World War II, repeating the performance of World War I vets, cashed out half of their terminal leave bonds exactly five weeks after getting the opportunity.

Cashing began Sept. 2, and official records for yesterday disclosed that cash-ins reached $943,345,650 on Oct. 7 crossing the half way mark to liquidating the $1,865,000,000 outstanding when cashing began.

Eva Peron Believed Assassination Target

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Federal Judge Juan Maria Louge ordered 11 men held for trial yesterday on charges connected with an alleged plot to assassinate the wife of President Juan D. Peron.

He said there was evidence that the assassination had been planned as a step toward an armed uprising against the government. He said it was to have been attempted when Mrs. Peron appeared for proclamation of a law giving votes to women.

HELPED BURN HITLER'S BODY?—Arthur Axmann, leader of the Hitler Youth told U.S. investigators at Nuernberg that he saw Adolf Hitler and Eva Braun dead in their Berlin air raid bunker. He said he helped burn their bodies in the Reichschancellery's garden. Axmann is under arrest because of his high rank in the Nazi party. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Say Cabinet Man Aided Rebel Attack

HAVANA, (AP)—Charges that Jose Manuel Aleman, minister without portfolio in President Grau San Martin's cabinet, financed the recent abortive military expedition against the Dominican Republic were sent to the Dominican house of representatives yesterday by the supreme court.

The court accused Aleman of "being the one who financed the armed expedition" and of "misapplying public funds". The court said he paid the salaries of employees of the ministry of education who had enlisted in the expeditionary corps.

Admit Downey Confession

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—An oral confession which Police Chief I. B. Bruce said was made to him by David A. Downey, 29, former University of Iowa student, in the death of Downey's attractive 24-year-old wife, was admitted in evidence yesterday as the murder trail continued.

Chief Bruce testified minus the presence of the jury as the defense strove vainly to have any oral statement made by Downey excluded from evidence.

The elderly police chief quoted the suave, dark-haired Downey as saying he struck his Czech wife with a rock as they walked in the rampant range near here last July 18. Then, Bruce said the San Franciscan told him, he strangled her while she lay on a slope only 300 yards from a highway.

Defense counsel contended Downey made the oral admission "to escape further grilling." In rebuttal, the prosecution called Bruce who testified Downey had not been heckled by a quartet of officers and that "no rough stuff" had been employed.

New Meets Old

EDGAR C. CORRY JR., (left) Des Moines, newly elected AmVets commander, confers with his predecessor, Ray Sawyer, Arlington, Va. Corry said the army's investigation of Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee was little more than a "white-wash." (AP WIREPHOTO)

That's just the way it went when World War I vets were allowed to cash their adjusted compensation bonds (bonus) in June, 1936, officials said.

Government economists said it is a "mystery" as to where the new money has gone. "We can't tell much about it yet, and we probably will never know, they said. But they made this guess:

1. Retail sales as reflected in department store reports got no impetus in the first couple of weeks after cashing began, but took a jump in the final week of September.

2. Savings totals improved in September.

That appraisal is based in part on:

1. British sources said the Arab countries would be unable to muster any major military forces at short notice.

British Minister of State Hector McNeil told reporters:

"I'd like to find out more about it. I can't believe that these responsible governments are permitting such irresponsible behavior."

'Reconsider,' Is Plea Of Distillery Official

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Joseph O'Neill, president of the distillery rectifying and wine workers union (AFL), in a message to President Truman yesterday asked reconsideration of the wheat-saving plan to close down the nation's distilleries for 60 days.

O'Neill sent identical messages to the President, Agriculture Secretary Anderson and Charles Luckman, chairman of the citizens food committee.

It said in part:

"Representing 35,000 American workers who will be out of work as a direct result of your proposal to shut down the distilling and rectifying industry, we sympathize and desire to cooperate with your plan for feeding western Europe, but your shutdown will have only a microscopic effect in achieving that result.

"Certainly the results do not justify taking the livelihood away from these American workers. Furthermore, the distilling industry, uses practically no wheat, which is the chief shortage. Instead, it uses low-grade corn unfit for human consumption."

Hancher To Speak At Rally Tonight

The Homecoming pep rally will be held at 7:20 tonight on the east approach to Old Capitol.

President Virgil M. Hancher and the vice-president of the alumni association, Frank Horack, now professor of law at Indiana university, will address the group.

Game captain, Ray Carlson, and some team members will speak. Some members of the 1922 football team will be present.

A special demonstration by the Highlanders, music by the university band and a skit written by Charles Guggenheim, Herb Kanzell and Bob Haakenson will complete the rally.

Dean Stichnoth will be master of ceremonies.

War Dead Arrive For Military Rites

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) The first funeral ship of World War II will sail through the Golden Gate shortly before noon today, and America's first memorial service for the 3,028 she carries will be a mid-day ceremony at Marina park, on the bay shore.

Escorted by 48 planes, the gray transport, Honda Knot, is to anchor at noon off the Marina.

Throughout the ceremony that follows will be heard the boom of cannon as the army fires a 31-gun salute, the highest tribute army protocol provides.

Speakers will include Gen. Mark W. Clark, commanding the U. S. Sixth army; Governor Earl Warren; and Secretary of the Navy John L. Sullivan.

Typhoon Razes Iwo Buildings

TOKYO, (AP)—Iwo Jima was cut off from communication with the world today by one of its worst typhoons, which blew down or damaged all buildings on that Pacific island.

(The coast guard in Honolulu reported, however, that its radio station on Iwo Jima was operating again after the typhoon blocked it out for 15½ hours.

(The coast guard said it had been advised by Iwo Jima that most station buildings had been demolished but personnel were uninjured, having taken refuge in the galley. There was no word of other Americans on the island.)

The Far East air force learned from Guam that a Superfortress sent from its Yokota air base here had landed on Iwo early this morning.

Headquarters said winds up to 170 miles an hour howled across the tiny volcanic island conquered by U. S. marines in one of the bloodiest engagements in the war with Japan.

The American population on Iwo Jima, which includes many children, lives in a quonset hut community located under the brow of a cliff on the leeward side of the island, air force headquarters reported.

Including dependents, the population was estimated at 1,500.

Kuhel Named Nat Manager

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Washington Senators yesterday sought a way out of their seventh-place troubles by hiring a magician for their manager.

Joe Kuhel, who does card tricks and is a member of the Society of American magicians, signed a one-year contract.

He follows Ossie Bluege, who this week was given the job of running the Senators' farm clubs.

In the 17 years Kuhel was in the majors he established himself as one of the finest fielding first basemen in baseball.

He spent four months last summer managing the Hot Springs, Ark., club in the class C Colton State league. He took over the club on May 28, when it was sixth and last in the league, and managed to pull it up a notch higher, to fifth place.

Kuhel divided his Big league time between the Senators and the Chicago White Sox.

The Senators saw him first, in 1930, when he hit .372 for Kansas City. They were so impressed they forked out $65,000 for Kuhel. That's the most the Senators ever paid for a player.

In 1938, he was swapped to the White Sox.

But he came back to Washington in 1944, and then returned to the White Sox last year.

They sent him down to manage their Hot Springs club, but released him when Clark Griffith, Senator president, said he wanted Kuhel to be head man here.

Highest Score of Intramural Season—

Thatcher Wins in Romp, 50-0

Sig Ep's, Delta Chi, ATO, Sigma Chi Win Intramural Grid Tilts

The Thatcher team, led by Hawk basketball ace Murray Weir, racked up the highest touch football score this season in defeating Shaefter, 50-0, in the Town league yesterday.

Sigma Phi Epsilon shut out ATO, 17-0; Theta Xi beat Delta Chi, 20-2, and Sigma Chi edged Delta Tau Delta, 13-7, in the lower bracket of the Social fraternity league.

Also in the Town league, Mac Bride forfeited to Dean.

Weir ran for two touchdowns and snagged passes from John Mason for two more. Mason pitched two other scoring aeriels to Ed Colvert, ran for one and went over on a pass from Colvert. Colvert and Gus Kennedy kicked an extra point apiece.

The Sig Ep's were sparked by Russ Dickinson and Truman Smith. Dickinson booted a field goal, completed a scoring pass to Bud Phelps and tossed to Smith for a point after. Smith hit George McNeil for a tally and kicked one extra point.

Al Grier spearheaded the Theta Xi attack, running for one marker, completing one to Duane Mabb for another and passing to Jack Osler and Bill Starr for conversions. Howard Wenger threw to Ken Snyder for the other Theta Xi score.

Russ Bills was featured in the Sigma Chi scoring column. He ran for a touchdown and the point after, and tossed to Mel Foster for the other tally. Bob Shepherd registered for the Deltas on a run and they converted on a pass from Dick Wehrman to "Mok" Witters.

Tomorrow's games at 4 p. m. Field 1—Phi Kappa Psi vs. Pi Kappa Alpha.

Field 2—Phi Delta Theta vs. Phi Epsilon Pi.

Volleyball Results

Sigma Nu and Phi Gamma Delta won two games apiece to gain the quarterfinals of the Social fraternity outdoor volleyball tourney yesterday.

DU, SAE, Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Chi each won one and lost one to survive in the lower bracket.

The scores: Upper bracket—Sigma Nu 46, Beta Theta Pi 19; Sigma Chi 36, DU 30; Phi Gamma Delta 38, Pi Kappa Alpha 20; Phi Gamma Delta 38, Pi Kappa Alpha 20. Lower bracket—DU 36, Beta Theta Pi 22; SAE 25, Pi Kappa Alpha 24.

Armbruster Delegate To A. A. U. Convention

Swimming Coach David Armbruster has been appointed a delegate from the Iowa association to the National A. A. U. convention in Omaha, Neb., Dec. 4-6.

Iowa's veteran coach is regarded as a possibility for the management of the U. S. Olympic swimming team, which will compete in London in the summer of 1948.

Prank Havlicek, former assistant swimming coach and now business manager of athletics, has been named chairman of the men's swimming committee of the Iowa association of the A. A. U.

Babe Zaharias Upset By Texas Lassie, 1 Up

FORT WORTH, TEX. (AP)—Tiny Bettye Mims White of Dallas exploded one of the year's biggest links upset in the face of Mrs. Babe Zaharias here yesterday, eliminating the World's top feminine player in the Texas Women's open quarterfinals, 1 up.

The straight-shooting little Dallas amateur climaxed her startling triumph on the 18th green in a thrill-paced struggle.

Mrs. White, a 106-pounder, clinched her victory by calmly stroking in a six-foot birdie putt while 500 spectators tinged the green in absolute quiet.

She qualified for a semifinals match today with Carol Diring, Tiffin, O., who defeated Polly Riley, Fort Worth, 1 up.

Peggy Kirk, Findlay, O., fired one of the day's hottest rounds in ousting another pro and former National champion, Patty Berg, Minneapolis 4-2.

Miss Kirk will oppose Betty Jameson, San Antonio, Tex., former national title, in today's other semifinals struggle. Miss Jameson ousted youthful Betty Rawls, Austin, Tex., 4-2.

Illini to See Aerial Barrage From Army

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—The Army football team indicated it would unleash an aerial barrage against Illinois Saturday as the Cadets stressed forward passing in yesterday's last heavy workout before the Yankee stadium meeting.

First and second string quarterbacks Bill Gustafson and Arnold Galiffa hit receivers with regularity at close quarters and at long range. Charles Gabriel, who completed three or four passes for 36 yards against Colorado last week, also is expected to test his wares against the Illini.

West Point officials announced that 3,000 standing room tickets would go on sale at the stadium at 11 a. m. Saturday. They said 70,000 persons were expected to fill the New York ball park.

Iowa Medley Relay Nears Record Time

A three-man 150-yard medley relay team came within two seconds of breaking the world's record for the event in the intersquad race at the Dolphin follies last night.

The team composed of Dick Maine, backstroke; Larry Larimore, breaststroke, and Free-styler Wally Ris churned the water of the fieldhouse pool and came out with a time of 1:25.

Record time, set at San Francisco in 1940, is 1:23.2.

The other varsity team competing took second place. Cohoe, Lake and Straub comprised the group.

The two freshman teams took the last two places in the contest, but all four teams finished close together.

Duane Draves, letterman backstroke missed action because of a pulled leg tendon.

Iowa High Schools Hold Track Meet Tomorrow

Twenty-seven Iowa high schools will seek championships in the state one mile races on the University track Saturday morning.

Iowa High School Athletic association officials have announced that 146 athletes will be entered in the event. Each school is allowed a total entry of five men, three of whom will figure in the scoring.

Defending champions will return in all classes, Clinton in AA, Franklin of Cedar Rapids in class A, Marion class B and Central City, class C.

Team Loses Pants—May Have to Call Game

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—The Nutley-West Side (Newark) high school football game Saturday may have to be called off to avoid embarrassment to West Side, which lost its pants two days before the contest.

Irving S. Rosenberg, athletic faculty adviser at the Newark school reported that 50 pairs of football pants and other equipment were stolen from the school locker this morning.

the jerky merry-go-round.

Illinois vs. Army — Seems a shame, but that army string can't go on forever. The Illini have one of the country's best backs in Perry Moss as well as superior depth. The cadets' string of games without defeat stands at 30, and in newspaper language that means "the end." The nod goes to Illinois.

Oklahoma vs. Texas — It was the Soomers who took some of the starch out of the Texas sails a year ago. The Oklahoma line might give the Longhorns trouble on the ground, but how are you going to stop Bobby Layne when he takes to the air? One confident vote for Texas.

Notre Dame vs. Purdue — After upsetting Ohio State, Purdue might make a game of it if Bob De Moss gets his throwing arm in shape by kickoff time. Even then, the Boilermakers aren't the ones to halt the country's No. 1 power-house. Cast the usual ballot for Notre Dame.

Mississippi vs. Vanderbilt — Here are two of the season's surprises. A Vanderbilt team that tripped Northwestern and Alabama appears good enough to top Ole Miss, with wins over Kentucky, Florida and South Carolina. The call is Vandy.

California vs. Wisconsin — In their first season under Lynn Waldorf, the Bears already have won more games than they took all last year. Waldorf isn't returning to his old neighborhood just to visit. California.

Oregon vs. UCLA — Catching UCLA on the week after the Bruins' hopes for another all-victorious season were dashed by Northwestern is an unfortunate break for Oregon. A double handful of votes for UCLA.

Georgia vs. Kentucky — By slugging Louisiana State last week, the Bulldogs suggested that the loss to North Carolina was all a mistake. They're on their way to another southeastern title. Georgia.

Indiana vs. Iowa — You can overlook Indiana's 7-7 tie with Wisconsin. The Hoosiers piled

Vines Starts Tennis, Golf Clinic Monday

H. Ellsworth Vines Jr., famous tennis and golf player, will start instructional work in the two sports at the university next Monday. He will be here on a three-week appointment as teacher and conductor of clinics.

Athletic Director Paul Brecher said yesterday that Vines' efforts will be directed toward building up a general interest in the sports.

The service will be available to university faculty members, students, varsity squads, high school pupils and the general public, Brecher emphasized.

Men's basic skills courses in physical education will be instructed in both sports next week. They will have one session in golf and one in tennis.

During the second week a similar arrangement will be made for women's basic skills classes.

The varsity squads will participate in instruction at 4 p. m. Monday through Friday for the first two weeks.

A golf clinic for the general public will be offered Saturday, Oct. 18 at 9 a. m. On October 25 a similar clinic and exhibition is set for golf enthusiasts.

Merritt Ewalt started the first three games at the signal-calling post. Right guard will be filled by Bob Aikin, completing the first major lineup switch this season.

The kickoff time is 3 p. m. at the University of Iowa practice field. The Blue Hawks, after a 27-14 pasting by West Liberty last Friday, seek their first victory this year.

Monticello's eleven have dropped three games and captured one. Tipton was responsible for Monticello's 14-0 defeat last week. Three regulars will be missing from the Monticello lineup. Grant Adamson, fullback, Guard Bob Lubben, and End Eugene Hanken are out with injuries.

Dean Willworth, veteran back, strengthens the visiting team, returning to the starters after a leg injury and flu attack.

Today's contest is the second Eastern Iowa conference game for the Blues.

The probable starting lineups: UNIVERSITY HIGH MONTICELLO Schoenbein .. LT .. Paulsen Hulme .. LG .. Hagen Canney .. LG .. Jorgensen Jennings .. C .. Williamson Aikin .. RG .. Rieken Harney .. RT .. Lesokamp Williams .. RE .. Guilan Carson .. QB .. Skelly Lawry .. LB .. Willworth Dierks .. RB .. Schneider Ojemann .. FB .. Claus

Two Big Nine Tilts Feature Weekend

Illini Head For New York

CHICAGO (AP)—The eyes of many Western conference football fans will be on New York Saturday where defending Champion Illinois tangles with unbeaten Army but back in the Midlands two conference battles may untangle the lower brackets of the Big Nine.

Army will go into the game with a record of 30 victories without a defeat. Illinois has registered wins over Pittsburgh and Iowa, and there are many who claim the Illini are much stronger than last season's Rose Bowl championship team.

Northwestern, after an upset win over UCLA last Saturday, goes to Minneapolis to play the reviving Gophers, who are undefeated in two starts. Northwestern hopes were somewhat dimmed by the news that Alex Sarkisian, center and Northwestern line mainstay, had suffered a broken right forearm in practice Thursday night. He will be out for several weeks.

Indiana will travel to Iowa City seeking to redeem itself for last week's tie with Wisconsin and to maintain hope for a share in the conference title. So far Iowa has not lived up to its pre-season rating as Big Nine darkhorse, since it has lost to Illinois 35-12 and to UCLA.

The four other conference teams will meet non-conference opponents, two contests continuing the rivalry with the Pacific coast conference.

Pittsburgh meets Michigan's powerhouse and all comparisons point to a third Michigan victory and a third straight loss for Pitt.

At West Lafayette, Ind., the Purdue Boilermakers, who astounded even their most loyal fans by defeating Ohio State last week, face Notre Dame. It will be a moral victory if Purdue can keep the score down in the lower brackets.

Coach Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf returns to his old stamping ground, the Big Nine, when his undefeated California Bears invade Madison, Wis. Wisconsin after a conference victory and tie are a bit stronger than expected and it will be another of the current tests of strength between the Pacific coast and the Western conference.

At Columbus, O., Ohio State will entertain the University of Southern California and may well be expected to bounce back from last week's startling defeat but both the Buckeyes and USC, tied last week by Rice 7-7, remain somewhat unknown quantities.

Indiana Linebackers Doubtful Starters—Hoosiers May Miss Two Stars

Hawks Still Shifting Lineup for Hoosiers

Continuing behind locked doors yesterday afternoon, Coach Dr. Eddie Anderson and his Iowa football squad ran through their last heavy workout before their 36th annual Homecoming tussle with Indiana tomorrow afternoon.

For the linemen Dr. Eddie prescribed work with the "bucking sled" to strengthen their blocking ability while he was working with numerous combinations of first, second and third string teams.

Still doubtful on his starting lineup, he has been shifting positions all week. The middle of the line is pretty well set with Dick Woodard, center; Joe Grothus and Captain Ray Carlson, guards, and Bill Kay and Jim Shoaf, tackles. Herb and Hal Shoener will probably get the call at the ends but an offensive pair of Jack Dittmer and Bob McKenzie are ready for a lot of action.

Only two sure-starters in the backfield are Emlen Tunnell and Bob Smith. Tunnell is slated for

53 Straight Wins For Tallassee Team

TALLASSEE, ALA., (AP)—Six years ago this month the scrappy Tigers of Tallassee high school lost a hard-fought gridiron decision to rival Phenix City, Ala.

Coach J. E. (Hot) O'Brien didn't like it; the players didn't, either, and they haven't been beaten since then.

Topping the record of Massillon, Ohio, the Bengals have taken the field 53 times in a row without a defeat and with only a scoreless tie to keep it from being a perfect ledger.

The 0-0 contest with Wetumpka, Ala., high was early in the 1944 season, and Tallassee has triumphed in all 29 encounters since.

In the 53 games since the last met defeat, the Tigers have rolled up 1,636 points against 128 for their opponents, and have been scored on in only 15 encounters.

One of every three dollars collected by the state of Florida last year in pari-mutuel revenue was from Hialeah horse racing.

Parking Warning

Football fans are again urged to park their cars away from the stadium area for the Homecoming game with Indiana tomorrow. Iowa officials urge you to follow these directions: park in Manville heights, University heights or the residential district east of Iowa river—depending on which direction you head homeward.

the left halfback slot but Smith will either start at fullback or right half.

Should the Hawks kickoff, Lou King and Ron Headington will probably be in the starting eleven. But if they receive, Di-Marco may spell King at quarterback, Smith moving to full and Johnny Tedore jumping in at right half. Tedore is a converted left halfback.

Quarterback Johnny Estes will play a good share of the game on the defensive and will probably do a bit of the passing from the T-formation. And Bob Longley, used sparingly so far this season, may do a lot of the running at right half.

Injuries are still bothering some of the Hawks. Jim Cozard is nursing a bad knee; Bud Kaisershot has the same trouble, and Duke Curran will not see much duty due to his injured leg received early in the North Dakota State game.

The squad will hold a light workout in the stadium this afternoon.

Hot Off The Gridiron

Connor Injures Foot, Out of Purdue Game

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—George Connor, Notre Dame left tackle and captain, engaging in his second contact drill after being out two weeks with an ankle sprain, tore a muscle in the same foot yesterday but probably will be able to play against Purdue Saturday.

The Irish squad held an extensive scrimmage against a freshman team using Purdue formations.

DeMoss Readies Arm For Notre Dame Struggle

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Bob DeMoss tossed passes with all his old accuracy yesterday as Purdue polished its aerial game in preparation for its contest with Notre Dame here Saturday.

The hurling star, who reinjured his left shoulder against Ohio State last week, wore a special harness to protect it and appeared ready for offensive action against the Irish.

Northwestern

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Northwestern's football squad continued work on defense in a full contact drill yesterday, but without the services of Alex Sarkisian, their star center, who suffered a broken right arm in last night's workout.

Coach Bob Voigts said Sarkisian would be replaced for Saturday's game with Minneapolis by Dick Priece, a sophomore.

Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—A long drill with no contact work yesterday virtually wound up practice this week for the University of Michigan football squad as it prepared for the invasion of Pittsburgh Saturday.

Coach Fritz Crisler, whose team is in top physical shape for the Panthers, put the main emphasis on pass an drunning defense.

Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Coach Wesley Fester was undecided yesterday on the Ohio State university starting lineup he would send against the Southern California Trojans here Saturday.

The Buckeye mentor worked a revamped line with only three of his former starting players this week. Pandel Savic has done the quarterbacking in place of Dick Slager, a starter against Missouri and Purdue.

Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Earl (Jug) Girard flashed the form that made him a standout for Wisconsin in 1944 in practice sessions yesterday and indications were he would get the call to start at left halfback against California here Saturday.

Girard, a sophomore who played with the Badgers before he entered service, got off 60 yard punts, threw perfect passes and displayed the running style that made him the freshman sensation in '44. An injury earlier this season has held him back but he may replace Wally Dreyer in the lineup Saturday.

Iowa State

AMES, IA., (AP)—Iowa State emphasized aerial maneuvers yesterday as the Cyclones wound up heavy work for their Big Six conference football game with Nebraska here Saturday.

Coach Abe Stuber had Jim Sutherland, John Griffith and Bob Erwin, all backs, tossing passes for the first time this fall.

Nebraska will have a big weight advantage over Iowa State.

Nebraska

LINCOLN, NEB., (AP)—The University of Nebraska football squad had a brisk workout on pass defense yesterday the last on home sod before the Huskers meet Iowa State at Ames Saturday.

Statistical comparisons with the Cyclones have caused Nebraska to fear the aerial offense of the Iowans in Nebraska's Big Six opener Saturday. Coach Bernie Masterson and a squad of 35 leave today for Des Moines for a workout in Drake stadium before going to Ames on Saturday morning.

Bob Waterfield, All-Pro quarterback with the Los Angeles Rams, coached the UCLA backs last spring.

Thor AUTOMATIC WASHER

Changes from Clothes Washer to Dishwasher in 1 1/2 Minutes

It's revolutionary!—but so simple—so practical once you know the secret. The Thor Automatic Washer that's on its way is ONE streamlined cabinet with TWO separate tubs—one for clothes and one for dishes. Each tub is complete in itself—compact, sanitary, operated automatically. You simply lift one tub out of the cabinet and put in the other to make the switch from clothes washer to dishwasher. Takes 1 1/2 minutes to make the change that gives you TWO work-saving washers in ONE! This new Thor is in production now, so your waiting days are almost over.

The Clothes Washer You've Yearned For!

The Thor Automatic Clothes Washer washes the dirtiest clothes clean—rinses them twice—damp-dries—all with hardly more than a kind word from you!

Change Tubs and Have An Automatic Dishwasher!

Lift the Thor clothes unit (so light a child can handle it!) from the Thor Automatic and place the dish unit in to have a Dishwasher that washes and rinses dishes, silver, glassware—even pots and pans.

A Real Seven Day Wonder!

The Thor Automatic takes over both the washing jobs you've longed to be rid of—makes your life happier 7 days a week! What's more, you can buy Clothes Washer or Dishwasher alone—add the extra unit later for little extra cost.

Buy it optional, with or without the dishwasher.

All senior women and women 22 and over eligible for senior privileges are required to attend the meeting, Miss Gutz said.

The Daily Iowan reported yesterday that the cost of installation of the floodlighting equipment at Shrader field was $12,007.82. The cost of the installation, according to Verne R. Miller, superintendent of grounds and buildings for the Iowa City school board, was $1,207.82.

This correct figure, Miller said yesterday, represents almost $8,000 in savings for the school system over the lowest estimate ($9,000 to $10,000) by an electric equipment firm.

The saving to the school board was made possible, Miller said, after he received permission from the board to direct the construction, using personnel and equipment already available to the school district.

The Daily Iowan regrets this error.

Market Basket Down 44 Cents

Butter Drops Ten Cents To Lead Decline

By MERRITT LUDWIG

Iowa City housewives joined the nation this week in consumer resistance to the price of butter. The result, according to local grocers, is a ten cent drop in the price of a pound of butter today.

The decline in butter price, together with six other price drops in basic foods, brought this week's family market basket to $16.61—44 cents less than last week.

The market basket is made up of 24 basic foods in most common use by an average student family—husband, wife, and one small child.

Several Iowa City grocers noticed a marked increase in oleomargarine sales last week when butter sold at an average 83 cents. The opposite reaction has come with the 10 cent reduction this week.

The manager of one of the local creameries says butter prices tend to follow the eastern markets. There were reductions there also this week.

With a two and one-half cent per pound increase in butter price in New York announced yesterday, Iowa City housewives can expect butter to go up here again soon.

Another creamery manager here is sticking by his earlier prediction that butter will be a dollar a pound by Christmas.

While butter had the major price decline this week, other basic foods showed less spectacular reductions. Red salmon was down three cents for a one pound can. Canned peas, pork and beans, peaches, tomato soup, and a 10 lb. sack of flour each took a one cent drop.

At Iowa City meat counters, ground beef went down two cents for the second consecutive week.

Continued high pork prices were reflected in a four cent per pound rise for center cut pork chops. A pound of last cost two cents more yesterday than last week.

Other basic foods increased in price this week with vegetable shortening in the lead. It was up five cents a pound. Fats and oils processors announced a 10 percent wholesale price rise two weeks ago. Not until yesterday was that increase absorbed in local retail prices.

A pound of coffee was two cents higher this week than last, and a two lb. box of American cheese was three cents higher. Oatmeal, baker's chocolate, and five pounds of sugar were up one cent each.

Butter was the biggest factor in sending the market basket index down 44 cents this week. Last week the index was $17.05.

The index is determined by multiplying the price for a basic food item times a constant ratio. The results for 24 items are added to give the weekly index.

The index is not determined by adding the figures shown in the market basket insert. That sum would not account for relative amounts of basic foods which are used by the average student family.

The index shows the exact change in the grocery bill which an Iowa City housewife can expect in a given week.

Veterans' Play-School Council Elects Officers

Mrs. George de Schweinitz was elected chairman of the veterans' play-school council Wednesday night at the Congregational church. Mrs. Allen Ruttenbeck, outgoing chairman, announced yesterday.

Elected representatives to the council include Mrs. Glenn Ball, Mrs. William Hardin and Mrs. Robert Mohr, Riverside Park; Mrs. Frank Ryerson, Hawkeye village; Mrs. William Wallace, Central park; Mrs. Philip Hassman, Newton park; Mrs. E. Craig Houston, town; Mrs. Philip Bezanon, Quonset park.

Additional representatives to the council will be elected at the first meeting, Oct. 15, at the home of Mrs. de Schweinitz, 810 N. Linn street, the new chairman announced.

Does Anybody Have A 1929 Street Light?

A street light post was snapped off at its base when a delivery truck backed into it on Dubuque street, police reported yesterday. The city engineer's office said the post would be paid for but it might be hard to replace since that type was purchased 18 years ago.

Police Judge Emil G. Trott yesterday fined Carl Eehrich, Oxford, $100 and $2.50 costs for assault and battery. The judge later suspended the $100 but required payment of costs.

Lige H. Britt, 404 1/2 E. Davenport street, was assessed $17.50 on a speeding charge.

Church Searches—

For Whom To Toll Bells

—Asks Help Here

By GERRY JONES

A new species of vanishing American came to light last week when the plight of a church with a steeple—but without a bell or belfringer—became known.

The church in Grand Junction, Colo., solved the problem of finding a bell with the aid of a national radio program.

An appeal for one penny from each radio listener brought 187,000 responses representing more than 30 religious denominations.

Having acquired a bell, the church was faced with another problem—who should toll it? After a long search, it was decided that, with the advent of the machine age, the art of bellringing was lost—that insensible machinery controlled by a push button cannot tell effectively the story of marriage, death, birth, glad tidings, or call to worship. A push button has no personality.

This explains why a plea for help was received last week by Jim Jordan, director of the university information service. After explaining the above situation, the wire stated:

"Do you have chapel, class or other bell on campus and how have you solved your problem? Do you know of an experienced belfringer who might volunteer to tutor some member of congregation?"

Melvin Belger, who rings the bell in Old Capitol for university classes, was glad to explain how he rings this bell.

Navy Offers College, Commissions to Boys Of High School Standing

A college education and navy commission will be offered to high school seniors or graduates who can qualify for the Navy's second nationwide competitive examination, scheduled Dec. 13, 1947, it was announced yesterday.

The program is open to male citizens of the United States between the ages of 17 and 21, with quotas based on high school population.

Applications are available at the university examination service, room 114, University hall. Dr. Robert L. Ebel will provide any special information on the program.

Initiate 18 Members In Iowa Flying Club

The Iowa Flying club initiated 18 new members at its first anniversary meeting Wednesday night.

According to John Donnell, L3, the new members are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barrett, Robert Hotchkiss, John Perdock, Chester Neudling, Jim Vogel, Don Roth, Clifford Branstad, Dr. James Lee, David Weichman, J.E. Ekwall, Jim Hogan, Carrol Yoder, Mary Lou Tyler, Stanley Cebuhar, Al Owens, Phillip Paule and Nile Jones.

It was decided by the group to purchase a portable two-way radio, which they can use in either of their two ships.

4-H Club Picks Officers

Don Johnson, Oxford, was elected president of the Johnson county 4-H livestock club Wednesday night in the community building.

Other officers elected were John Beecher Jr., West Branch, vice-president; John Carson, Iowa City, secretary-treasurer, and Dick Davin, Oxford, historian. The new officers will be installed at a county-wide club meeting in the community building November 12.

Promise 'The Best' To Representatives On 'College Salute'

"The best entertainment on campus" is promised representative students from 12 colleges who will spend weekends at SUI this fall and winter as part of a college salute program sponsored by WSUI and the student council.

While here, the students, two or four from each college, will appear on Friday afternoon "Teatime" broadcasts.

A tour of the campus, conducted by members of Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity, will begin each group's visit to the university.

Friday evening and Saturday the men and women will be guests at university parties, plays and other functions. Cornell students who will arrive in Iowa City this afternoon will attend the pep rally, Dolphin show and dance at Iowa Union this evening.

The students will be overnight guests at sorority and fraternity houses and dormitories.

"Iowa State Teacher college students who were here last weekend had such a good time they're coming back this weekend," Melvin Heck, A4, Student council president said. Wartburg students were guests Sept. 28.

The wearing of apparel creates for America

AN EVERYDAY ART

FUNCTIONALLY SERVICEABLE, American clothes are a means of personal expression. In this country, the standards of style as well as utility are set by the needs and preferences of the public.

WOMEN'S CLOTHES IN AMERICA are an eloquent expression of true democracy; grace and beauty of apparel are accorded a circulation as broad as the nation, reaching into every community everywhere and available, not merely to the hundreds or the thousands, but to the millions.

THIS IS VITALLY IMPORTANT to the nation's morale, because clothes are one of the few mediums for relaxed self-fulfillment in a nation of rapidly-moving commercial competition.

A Score in the Bleachers

A GOAL FOR ANY COLLEGE GIRL is this coat of imported English-tweed which Jeanne Waugh, A4, Burlington, will wear to the Iowa-Indiana game. New features of the coat are the popular swagger back and the hood. Hot weather may force Jeanne to remove the coat but her forest-green gabardine suit will still be in style. To complement her outfit, Jeanne selects Robin Hood shoes that match her green-figured scarf.

SUI Prize Winners At Iowa State Fair Show Work Here

Paintings, sculpture and engravings by university prize winners at the Iowa state fair last summer are on display until Oct. 20 in the east foyer of the art building. This show has just returned from being displayed at Ames.

In the oil painting class, all but one second and two third prizes were awarded university artists.

Byron Burford, instructor, won first prize for his painting, "One of These Long Hot Summer Days." The painting is now on display at Decatur, Ill., with the faculty art show.

"Pieta," by Dorothy Eisenbach, former summer school student, and "Trailer View," by Hayward L. Oubre, G, received first awards.

Second prizes were awarded to Joe Cox, assistant professor, and Leroy Burke, assistant. Paul Running, G, Lee Chesney, G, and W. K. Nowack took fourth place honors for their paintings.

"Composition," an engraving by Prof. Mauricio Lasansky, won a first award. Lee Chesney was awarded second place. Fourth place honors went to Ray French, G.

Frederi Schlesselman, G, won second place for his sculptural entitled "Restless Rest." Joan Cox, G, received a fourth award.

There are more than 20,000 motion picture theaters in the United States.

Stassen Changes Color at Des Moines

Harold E. Stassen seemed almost entirely different in outlook at Des Moines than at Jefferson, Iowa, this spring. This observation has to be tempered with the fact that it is only a personal observation—something that you feel rather than are definitely able to prove.

We were able to compare only on the basis of what we saw, what we hear him say and what others were saying. First at a press conference. He sits easily in a hotel room surrounded by some 20 reporters. Some are friendly and other definitely antagonistic. Most are rather indifferent. He answers some questions directly, others he parries and avoids.

Then we had a few minutes to talk with him alone. It was a longer time at Jefferson. He makes every word count. He wants to be nice to everybody, so he's careful what he says.

Then we listened to his formal addresses. What he says there is vastly important, because he's speaking from a prepared manuscript, which gives ample time for each word, and each inflection, and each selection of thought to be carefully weighed and analyzed. But the audience—in the one case mostly farmers at Jefferson and bankers at Des Moines—has to be considered.

Then you see him talking to various individuals in the hotel lobby. If you're close enough, once in a while you overhear a few words.

Then he meets Taft at breakfast. Obviously, only the nicest pleasantries are exchanged. After all, they met there only by agreement from both.

Then there's a Republican luncheon. Stassen is in earnest conversation with Gov. Blue. Afterwards he has another prepared manuscript from which to speak.

Occasionally, he departs from the text. That's the spur of the moment stuff, which may indicate an attempt to appear well at ease and tie up some little item which arose after the speech was prepared. Or, it may be what he really feels coming out unconsciously. It's hard to tell.

Anyway, from those observations, we are convinced that Stassen is politically almost another man from what he was at Jefferson.

At the little town of Jefferson he made his first major foreign policy speech after returning from his globe-circling tour, during which he had interviewed Stalin. It was a "heavy" speech. The immediate audience were farmers and townspeople of Jefferson and surrounding towns. But it really was meant for national consumption via radio.

At Jefferson, Stassen was young, confident, challenging. He was the "liberal" determined to break through the Old Guard Republicans by sheer weight of intellectual argument—not that he really was very liberal.

He tried hard to give the impression that no matter what happened, he'd never dismount his white charger. He was slugging, he was aggressive. He tried hard to play the role of successful politician who never really had been a politician at heart.

He was after the Republican presidential nomination only. He wasn't interested in deals. It was all or nothing at all. If it turned out to be nothing, he would be a martyr, something in the spirit of La Follette.

But at Des Moines all this had changed pretty definitely, it seemed to us.

First was the obviously suspicious arrangement on speaking from the same table as Taft. George Jones, his press representative, said that the dual speaking arrangement had been cleared with Taft. And Taft backers said announcement of the Ohioan's candidacy had been delayed so the two could appear together in Ohio later this month.

Another factor was his speech Tuesday night before the Iowa bankers convention. Now bankers are naturally conservative persons, and perhaps that is why Stassen dwelt so long on negative approaches to our domestic affairs. Never once did he get on the offensive, calling for improvements in our economic machinery which he so plainly indicated at Jefferson are in order.

In his press conference, Stassen left no doubt in a good many reporters' minds that he was willing to make any possible deals with Taft. There was the thin camouflage of "second choices for first place," etc.

But it was apparent that what he really was trying to convey was his willingness to be first choice for second place. Let us stop to point out that Stassen didn't say anything specifically about accepting the vice presidential nomination under Taft. No, he didn't come right out and say so. But we, at least, got the definite impression that the offer was open.

How he thought at Jefferson that he could avoid any sort of deals we don't know. It would seem that an outsider like Stassen trying to crash through the Old Guard would almost of necessity have to make deals.

Whether he went to Dewey with deals in mind and was repulsed, we don't know. Perhaps, as they said, it was just "friendly conversation."

But the interesting question is why, and whose idea it was, to make the "deals" with Taft. Hotel lobby gossip had it that his backers with the money were insisting on a compromise with Taft. That is reported for what hotel gossip is worth.

Anyway, we couldn't escape the conclusion that Stassen is now ready to deal with Taft. Whether that's good or bad depends on what you think of Taft. To our way of thinking, Taft is the worst possible candidate he could compromise with.

London Meel Seen Stalemaled

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Next month's meeting of the council of foreign ministers in London may mark the end, for all practical purposes, of the two-year effort by the western powers to obtain an agreement with Russia on the future of central Europe. I haven't seen anyone who thinks there is the slightest chance that agreement can be reached on the Austrian and German peace treaties.

Relations between the United States and the Soviet have passed completely out of the negotiation stage, and each side is now directing its efforts toward fixing the blame for the present state of the world and any subsequent worsening.

Russia may have thought that her inclusion of the French and Italian Communist parties in her New Axis would frighten the west into some sort of bargaining. There is a bare possibility that she will come up with a suggestion that if the west will drop its interference in her sphere, including eastern Germany and eastern Austria, she will confine herself to its consolidation and lay off further expansion.

The Bolsheviks are just the sort of "realists" who would fail to understand the west's abhorrence of such an immoral deal.

Actually, the upshot of the London conference is likely to see the contending parties going entirely separate ways.

Russia may make some formal moves to incorporate her occupation zones and some of her satellite into the Soviet Union, or she may just continue the de facto incorporation as at present.

Britain and the United States, with France expected to join, are going ahead full steam with their plans to make western Germany a vital producing center, a virtual colony, for the resuscitation of western Europe.

Inside Washington

By THE CENTRAL PRESS

WASHINGTON—Hard-bitten Democratic politicians are a bit uneasy over President Truman's choice of a chairman for the national Democratic committee. Sen. J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island is a good lad, all right, the boys are saying, but is he too fancy?

When a fellow piles up two regular college degrees and six honorary ones—well, do you have to talk high falutin' language to him? And does he pontificate in Harvard accents and does he talk only with God as the Cabots and the Lodges are supposed to (but don't)?

No, he doesn't. He speaks straight English—straight from the shoulder. He brings more learning to the Democratic chairmanship than that office has seen since the days of Cordell Hull, following World War I. But he is direct from the sod.

Born 44 years ago at Woonsocket, R.I., of parents who had to scratch for a living, J. Howard—who probably was plain James or Jim then—went to parochial school, then to LaSalle academy in Providence. He gained his first degree at Providence college in 1926 when 23, and an LL.B. at Boston university in 1929.

McGrath started uphill immediately. He was a businessman (real estate, insurance, building and loan) as well as a lawyer when other young men still were looking around and gained a comfortable fortune while in his thirties.

McGrath's POLITICAL CAREER BEGAN in 1930, when he was 27, as city solicitor of Central Falls, R.I. He held that job for four years then became United States district attorney for Rhode Island under the Roosevelt administration, resigning after six years (in 1940) to accept the Democratic nomination for governor.

McGrath was elected not only in 1940 but in 1942 and 1944 as well. He resigned in 1945 to become solicitor general of the United States. That was his first contact with Washington. He impressed Washington. He resigned one year later, in October, 1946, to accept the Democratic nomination for United States senator.

The new Rhode Island senator was the only Democrat elected to the Senate in that pro-Republican year from New England. In fact, only two other states east of the Rockies and outside the solid south returned Democrats—Maryland and West Virginia.

Here was a man who not only gathered in the labor vote but the business vote as well.

"Why? How?" Washington questioned. He was a liberal who thought in constructive terms. He was a businessman with successful ventures. He was honest in opinions and dealings.

Labor was for him in spite of his directorships in corporations because of his understanding of its problems. Business was for him because of his non-rabble-rousing approach to labor-management questions.

WHEN SENATOR TRUMAN CAMPAIGNED for the ticket in New England, McGrath welcomed him to Rhode Island. Perhaps President Truman still recalls with a chuckle McGrath's introduction at Pawtucket: "I now introduce the next president of the United States—" The governor hastily corrected himself, but he had been prophetic. Perhaps he will be again.

McGrath began going to national conventions in 1932, attending the convention in Chicago which nominated Franklin D. Roosevelt. Even then, at 29, he was chairman of his state's delegation.

SALLY'S SALLIES

AS PEGLER SEES IT Shouldn't Have Been in Two World Wars—Third Forecast

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
(King Features Syndicate)

NEW YORK—If the United States had not interfered in World War I in Europe, the second war would not have occurred and the world would be that much better off today.

The trend of current events and barroom repartee between the official journalism of the Russian state and whomsoever the Russians can entice into argument here is toward a third war.

In this war, the United States and Russia would be the main adversaries. Thus, for the first time, after two practice bouts imbued with false sentiments, the western world would openly, and in our own name and in our own cause, engage the eastern.

Twice the United States has fought for the survival of primary European contestants to whom we were unreasonably partial. To be sure, Pershing preserved the nationality of his regiments, but we sidled into the first war as understudies of the veteran British and French soldiers and with a distinct understanding that our mission was to save Britain and France from a whipping and some nameless punishment.

Again, in the second war we not only furnished the tools to the great reduction of our wealth, but went belligerent and provided the fighting punch that certainly settled the war. If it had been true that the British were fighting our war, the long spell of indecision while they were bleeding and we were getting up our nerve would have been a disgrace to us.

It wasn't true, of course, but we have learned only recently that the Nazis had good reason to punish us if we had confined our participation to non-belligerent help and heckling. It now turns out our Roosevelt sent an ambassador to Germany in 1933 whose whole purpose was to organize Britain, France and our country against Germany for the sake of Russia.

Russia was Germany's natural enemy and day by day, now, we better understand why the Germans hated and feared the Bolsheviks.

The intentions of the Kaiser, revealed after the first war, were predatory, inconsiderate and brutal, but practical and not unusual. So were the intentions of Britain, France and Russia. The Germans would have absorbed Holland, Belgium and a little more of France. They would have let the British off with some humiliation and the loss of some property in Africa. The British, being nimble, versatile and pietistical, would have adjusted themselves spiritually in a few years.

The treatment of France here deserves only superficial consideration. She has been slovenly inefficient, ill-tempered and her own worst enemy and in 1914 she started a career as a political and economic parasite. This is now her principal vocation.

In any case, the Germans of the Kaiser would not have created the Bolshevik monster of Lenin and Trotsky had we attended to our own business in that war. It was only by the desperate connivance

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT No Sacred Cows Here

By SAMUEL GRAFTON
(New York Post Syndicate)

Let's stop fooling. What we need is a law, or something, to cut our feeding of meat animals by several millions of tons of grain during the next twelve months. I am for Charles Luckman all the way, and shall issue orders to have my breakfast toast reduced from two slices to one, starting tomorrow morning. But if I do with a slice less, so must so me damn heifer.

Otherwise it is all going to become very silly. The President isn't going to eat any bread for two days this week. You mean a steer can eat wheat, unchecked, and the President of the United States can't? Really, now, we knew the farmers had a lot of political power, but that's rubbing it in.

Who do those cattle think they are, anyway, snuffling in the rich grain, while we are instructed to eat "perfection salad"? I'll eat it, of course. But I'll feel so foolish, doing it to save some shorthorn, or a pig. And this is the basic fault which underlies our timid food program, and gives it that indescribable flavor of marshmallow which is settling over it, as the fancy menu issue from the public authorities.

This is not a marshmallow crisis, it is a real one and the suggested dishes, with their gobs of sugary stuff, slabs of quivering aspic, and pretentious names, reflect our official approach, sweet and rather empty.

If any New Deal bureaucrat had suggested that we eat less wheat, while letting our cattle eat more, we would have laughed ourselves ill at his expense. Yet that is what we are doing under the voluntary program. We are walking on our heads to save shoe leather.

The odd thing is that if we forced a reduction in the total quantity of cereals fed to livestock we would, at least for the short run have more meat. A certain number of the animals would have to come to market, because they couldn't be fed; breeders and feeders would have some what less room in which to maneuver, and we might find that we had started a minor run to the stockyards, and had even cut into prices.

The Wall Street Journal has a story about a rancher who says he isn't going to sell any of his 2,000 cattle until next year, because he doesn't want to climb into a higher income tax bracket. But it will take corn and wheat to carry them. They won't eat coffee mallow.

The "eat less meat" program probably starts at the wrong end as a way of saving grain, for animals, that aren't eaten have to be fed. A reduction of five percent in the amount of grain fed to meat animals, which is hardly a significant cut, would save enough to save Europe. The funny thing is that we'd have more hamburgers, and more rolls to put them on, for a meat animal that is slaughtered saves grain from that day on.

The Luckman program should be supported to the uttermost, partly for the reason that it is going to make our farm feed program look as ridiculous as it is. The picture of Americans daintily saving a mouthful of cereal here and there, while unrequited animals on the feed lots burn it by the shovelful, like so many furnaces, cannot long continue without causing the kind of national titter which, in America, leads to action.

It would be rather sweet to set up a "Bundles for Bovines" program to trace our breakfast savings through, so that we could know which particular animal was furnished with our bit of toast. We might even give him a pet name. Hindu labels would be quite appropriate for those sacred beasts, whom no politician will touch, though humans suffer.

Russia on Stalin's promise to quit interfering in our political and industrial home-life.

We have fought and won two European wars in which we had no justifiable implication. The second mishap, which almost finished us off, was the direct consequence of Woodrow Wilson's moral weakness and political prudence in the first.

Even so, we could have kept out of it if we had elected president someone with an undivided devotion to the United States.

In the end, though, it was the common man himself who impoverished our own country and raised up Russia to gigantic size and monstrous mien by electing Roosevelt four times.

of the Germans in the days of the Kaiser's decline that the Bolsheviks were enabled to take over Russia.

Our country, therefore, was responsible for the creation of the power which now taunts us to fight. Even if the creation of this power were something to be proud of, we would have forfeited all credit because our assistance to the Bolsheviks was unintentional and unforeseen.

We had made matters desperate for the Germans, who therefore helped the Communists, who then obligingly dissolved the eastern front, permitting the Germans to shift so many divisions to the west but not enough to win.

Actually, we went so far as to fire off a few rifles at the Russians at Archangel and in Siberia. Thus we may be placarded in their postoffices and railroad stations as historic enemies of the revolution, wanted dead or alive.

The Bolshevik revolution actually was a tremendous backflip into the dark ages. It was an insensate massacre, continued for years. All the superior Russians who couldn't escape to become cab-starters, maid servants and gigolos in Paris, London and New York were slaughtered.

The British lumps who had been groping their way toward civilization in the new freedom granted by the Czars were now caught up by new masters, more savage than any that their ancestors had known. The Russian peasant and the dull, dumb, urban slob were organized to enslave themselves in a new and much worse thralldom.

The Czars never thought of playing it down that work was an obligation of the person to the state. On the contrary indolence was one of the quaintly charming characteristics of the Russian robot.

Inefficiency was a highly specialized Russian folk art. The one liberated himself to become a toiler with a fixed and allotted position in the state's industrial plan, whether in a mine, a lumber camp or a buttonhole plant.

The very jargon of the new slave very emphasized the hideous name of work. Ivan was no longer a man but a worker or a toiler. He had better work because if he doesn't he is a counter-revolutionist and may be exiled, shot or thrown down an old well and stoned.

In reverse, the Muscovite system was tested in the United States in the skip-strikes of the motor industry. John L. Lewis was organizing the CIO under the patronage of Franklin D. Roosevelt, who got acquainted with mankind by watching the lower classes through the carriage window by his mother's side and hearing their mechanized and witless huzzahs on his campaign tours.

Henry Ford had found that a certain number of men with a minimum of intelligence, each giving a wrench a certain twist three times a minute, eight hours a day, could turn out flippers by the hundred.

The Bolsheviks had decided

Halloween Party Planned For Children

Pledge Cards Admit School Children to Dance, Vaudeville

All Souls' day will become Children's day in Iowa City Oct. 31 as the local Moose chapter cooperates with the Community Dad's club to put on a special Halloween program for the youngsters.

Tentative plans for the day's program were announced yesterday by J. Edgar Frame, manager of the city recreation center.

An all-children parade, fireworks, a vaudeville show and a dance are scheduled to keep the youngsters busy on a day traditionally devoted to soaping windows and treats or tricks and pranks.

Fireworks shot from the tops of buildings will begin the day's festivities, according to Frame. He emphasized they are for sound effects, and will not be a lighting display.

The Moose Grenadiers will lead the parade which follows, and boys and girls may enter anything from baby buggies to fancy floats and costumes. Prizes will be given.

The parade will end at the Community building, where a vaudeville show will be put on. A dance will end the day.

Before Halloween, pledge cards will be distributed to all Iowa City schools, including high schools, by which the children promise not to destroy any property during Halloween season.

The cards reads, in part, "For my promise my community will provide for me an entertaining program." The pledge card is also admission to the show and dance.

The idea for a statewide Children's day was adopted at a recent Moose convention. Illinois has initiated a similar program, and the Moose hope to make it national, Frame said.

University Club To Hold Open House

University club will honor all visiting women at their traditional Homecoming open house at 8:30 tonight, in the University club rooms of the Iowa Union.

Mrs. Louis Zopf, chairman of general arrangements, is being assisted by Mrs. Earl E. Harper, program chairman. Others on the committee are Marcella Hotz, Mrs. W. J. Petersen, Mrs. W. P. Herrick, Mrs. A. C. Marks and Mrs. Edwin B. Kurtz.

An informal reception will precede the program. Receiving the guests will be Mrs. Virgil M. Hancher, Mrs. Earl McGrath, Miss Hotz and Mrs. L. A. Van Dyke, president of the club. Hostesses will be Mrs. Chester Phillips, Mrs. E. T. Peterson, Mrs. Alvin W. Bryan, Mrs. Francis M. Dawson, Mrs. Carlyle Jacobsen, Mrs. R. A. Kuever, Mrs. Mason Ladd, Mrs. Bruce Mahan, Mrs. C. Woody Thompson and Mrs. Paul Blommers.

Two members of the state board of education will appear on the program. They are Mrs. Hiram Houghton, Red Oak, and Mrs. George Kyseth, Clarion. A talk by President Virgil M. Hancher and music by Prof. Herald Stark, accompanied by Mrs. Stark, will complete the program.

Keep milk cold, and keep it in the dark to preserve riboflavin.

Gas Hawks 'Rev Up' for State Meet

Iowa City Gas Hawks will compete tomorrow in a model airplane meet at Ames. The Iowa City club won most of the prizes in last year's state meet.

L.R. Johnson, local machine shop owner, will fly the club's largest model, the Playboy Senior, which has a wing span of 80 inches. This plane won last year's Pavlis trophy for the longest flight at the state meet in Cedar Rapids.

Ed Smull, E2, Wilton Junction, will fly the smallest model, the Baby Zipper, which has a 32 inch wing span.

Cromwell Jones, a city high senior, will be the club's youngest competitor. At the state contests in August, Jones qualified for the national meet.

Robert R. Palik, E3, Iowa City, will compete in two classes. Bob Strub, A2, Iowa City, will enter the controlled contests.

Larry Connover, an Iowa City postal employee and a winner last year, plans to enter both gas and glider models.

Plane Spotter Will Control Game Traffic

Using field artillery fire-spotting technique, an airplane will again fly overhead to help keep traffic unscrambled on the roads leading to Iowa City Saturday, scene of the Iowa-Indiana game.

Lt. Clarence B. Day, area commander of the highway patrol in southeast Iowa, explained Thursday that an effective check could not be made of the plane experiment last Saturday. The craft did not arrive in Iowa City until early in the afternoon.

The spotter plane was used last week for the first time by the highway patrol. Charles Nord, superintendent of radio communications of the department of public safety, was the operator who radioed news of trouble spots to the highway patrol's unit on the ground near the stadium.

The mobile unit in turn called patrol cars operating near the points of congestion, and they drove over to correct the trouble. The plane will fly at an average height of 1,200 feet, Day said. If weather conditions are favorable, the flyers will be able to see for about five miles.

Thirty-five highway patrolmen will be on hand to direct road traffic both to and from the Homecoming game, Day added. They will be supplemented by city police.

Originator of the idea of using a plane in cooperation with the ground patrol is Commissioner Alfred W. Kahl of the Iowa department of public safety.

Issue Four Licenses

Marriage licenses were issued at the Johnson county courthouse yesterday to Donald E. Johnson, West Branch, and Mary Suchmoel, Solon; David L. Robbins, Oskaloosa, and Ivalene Mason, Oskaloosa; Ellsworth A. Brown, Jr., 1307 Buscatine avenue, and Beth Ellen Shaffer, 327 Brown street, and Robert G. Rayner, Boone, and Illa P. Statton, Boone.

Iowa Needs Agency To Study Flood-Control Problems—Crawford

Iowa faces a real bottle-neck in getting federal flood control appropriations because the state has never created an agency to survey flood-control needs, according to L. C. Crawford, university hydraulics engineer.

"Kansas, Illinois, Indiana — in fact, all our neighboring states — have set up permanent agencies to do the planning necessary before submitting proposals to the federal agency," he told 90 Rotarians and guests in the Hotel Jefferson yesterday noon.

Many states have created agencies to select locations and work out technical problems before submitting final plans to federal agencies for approval and necessary appropriations, he indicated.

"The state of Iowa," Crawford informed the Rotarians, has never created such an agency.

"The procedure in our state," he said, "is more complex. The governor is informed of needed control and in turn calls on persons qualified to do the planning."

The obvious failing of this method, Crawford stated, is that "sometimes they can do the work and sometimes they are too busy to oblige."

"What is needed," he concluded, "is a permanent agency to work out the detailed planning required by the federal government. If such action is not taken, Iowa will have the flood control problem for some time to come."

Local Rent Inspector's Job To Go Unfilled

No one will be named to replace W.F. Geiger, who resigned as inspector-examiner of the Iowa City rent office Monday, T.J. Wilkinson, area rent director, has announced.

John M. Stearns, inspector-examiner in the Cedar Rapids rent office, will be in the Iowa City office for half-days on Wednesdays and Fridays, Wilkinson said. The local office will continue to be open Monday through Friday.

This move is due to a recent budget cut which has closed three offices and caused eight employees to be released in Iowa.

Schedule State Job Examinations Nov. 15

Merit examinations for positions with four state services are set for Nov. 15, the merit system council has announced.

Applications must be filed by Nov. 1. Positions are with the department of social welfare, services for crippled children, employment security commission and the state department of health.

Iowa City residents may obtain application blanks and further information from the Iowa State employment service in the Community building.

Making a Mole Hill Without a Mountain!

If you're a fresh air fan, you won't mind a few preparations. You can throw open all the windows, prepare the bed warmer and pile on a mountain of covers. Then you'll fill the hot water bag, breathe deeply and, like a mole, burrow your way to bed. Of course, you'll wake up weary from all the weight, and sudden temperature changes may necessitate complete reorganization. Personally, we believe there's a better way. With one of those new Automatic Electric Blankets or Comforters, you just select the temperature you prefer... climb into a pre-warmed bed and relax. Regardless of temperature changes, you'll sleep undisturbed. Automatic controls mean uniform warmth and better sleeping comfort. So buy your Electric Blanket or Comforter today!

WARMTH OF THREE BLANKETS... WEIGHT OF ONE

You'll sleep snugly and relaxed under a new Electric Blanket or Comforter. They deliver the warmth of three ordinary blankets, with none of the tiring weight.

SIMPLE TO OPERATE

Simply select the temperature at which you're most comfortable, set the dial... and that's all! You'll sleep safely and soundly and ignore the weather.

AUTOMATIC TEMPERATURE CONTROL

Forget outside temperature changes with the setting of single or dual controls. Temperatures are kept constant by automatic controls which respond instantly to weather changes.

Davenport Bishop To Bless Chapel of St. Thomas More

The Most Rev. Ralph L. Hayes, S.T.D., Bishop of Davenport, will solemnly bless the new temporary chapel of St. Thomas More at the Catholic student center at 10 a.m. Sunday.

Built for Catholic students here at the university, the new chapel is part of St. Thomas More parish, the only university-student parish in the United States, according to its director, the Rev. Leonard J. Brugman. There are more than 1,800 Catholic students here this year.

The 120 by 42 foot quonset-type structure will seat 450. Father Brugman estimated total cost of the chapel at $35,000—$25,000 for the building itself and $10,000 for furnishings.

Father Brugman announced the following officers of the solemn mass for the blessing Sunday: chaplains to Bishop Hayes are the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Carl H. Meinberg, V.F., and the Rev. E.W. Neuzil; celebrant of the Mass Rt. Rev. Msgr. U.A. Hauber, Ph.D.; deacon, the Rev. Gerald Lillis, Ph.D.; sub-deacon, Rev. William J. Collins, Ph.D.; thurifer, the Rev. Pasquale Ferrara; acolytes, the Revs. Sebastian Menke and Aubrey Zellner, O.S.B.

Bishop Hayes will deliver the sermon at the Mass. His honor guard will be formed by the Knights of Columbus. The Revs. J. Walter McEleney and J. Ryan Beiser will be masters of ceremony.

University President Virgil M. Hancher and the deans of the various colleges will be guests at the blessing.

Sunday afternoon will be "open house at the student center for all students, their guests and friends. Members of the St. Thomas More guild will sponsor a Silver tea during the open house in the priests' dining room.

Rev. Brugman also announced student appointments to the Mass. They are William L. Martin, M4, crossbearer; John W. Martin, A3, mitrebearer; William P. Buhs, A3, crossier; and Fred Vissel, holy water bearer.

Homecoming Display Judges Announced

Names of judges for the annual Homecoming decoration display contest were announced yesterday by Prof. Louis C. Zopf, chairman of the Homecoming committee.

Lions club judges include Harold Reedquist, chairman; A. O. Kelley and O. Clyde Sutherland. Kiwanis club named Robert Yetter as chairman, and William L. McArthur, W. J. Jackson, Norman Meyer and Prof. H. J. Thornton.

The Elks judges are as yet unannounced. The decoration-displays of dormitories, sororities and fraternities will be judged between 6 and 10 p.m. tonight, Zopf said. The winning displays will be announced tomorrow.

Hitch-Hiking Dog Gone

"Pandy", a Pomeranian who loves to ride in cars and be carried by grownups, is missing from his North Liberty home. He hasn't answered roll call there since Monday night at 11 p.m.

Mrs. N. H. Matthes, North Liberty, asked Iowa City police Thursday afternoon to keep an eye out for "Pandy", a small bluff-colored male dog. She believes the pet, who got his name because he looked to much like a baby panda when he was little, may have hitched a ride in this direction.

Says Nations Play Game of Power Politics

Levin Attacks U. S.-British Attitude in Palestine Problem

The United States and Britain are playing a tragic game of "power politics" with Palestine, Prof. Leo Levin of the college of law told a gathering of students at Hillel house last night in the first lecture of a series sponsored by the Intercollegiate Zionist Federation of America.

Speaking on the subject "The UN Special Committee Report on Palestine," Levin attacked the "procrastinations" of the big powers on the special report which advocates partition of the country. The Jews several weeks ago accepted the plan.

"Here we have the United Nations committee recommendations and now the United States says, 'the plan will serve as a basis for discussion.'"

"Now, they say, we can invite the two factions together to discuss the committee report. Discuss what?"

The United States, Levin advocated, should come out for immediate support of the committee's recommendations.

Levin, who has been active in the Zionist movement added that if you clear away the fog of power politics, you find that "at the grass roots level, the Jews have always lived well with the Arabs."

"Fundamentally, we can get along. Every time a group of Jewish pioneers plants a new settlement in the desert, the neighboring Arab chief comes for the baring visit. The next day the Jews return the visit."

The Jews feel sure, he concluded, that they can continue to get along with their Mohammedan neighbors.

Glockler Heads 2nd Of A-Energy Series

Prof. George Glockler last night held the equivalent of 3,000 tons of burning coal at the end of a piece of string.

At the end of the string was a one-gram weight, so small that it did not even stretch the string out straight. Glockler told the audience a second in the lecture series on atomic energy.

"If this little gram of matter suddenly became energy, it would become 21,500 billion calories. It would take 3,000 tons of coal burning to have the same energy release."

The head of the university chemistry department used to demonstrate to explain to his audience of about 250 students and townspeople in Macbride auditorium that heat and energy have mass.

He pointed out that if the one-gram weight were to "disappear," it would have to be replaced by a predetermined amount of energy.

These remarks highlighted Glockler's lecture on some basic concepts of atomic structure. At least 400,000 different substances (material in any shape) have been made by man and nature, and matter is composed of substances, he said.

When a person understands the presence of substance and matter in the world, Glockler went on, the world is not static, he asserted, he imagines a static world. But instead, he said, matter exists in varying degrees of permanence. Iron rusts, milk sours, food spoils, and living organisms exist and die, he said, in explaining some of the basic concepts related to atomic energy.

Four Pay Fines in Local Police Court

Carl Eckrich, RFD, was fined $100 and $2.50 court costs yesterday in police court by Justice Judge Emil Trott for assault and battery. Judge Trott suspended the $100 fine.

Roy C. Fackler, 803 1/2 S. Dubuque street, paid $6.50 to the police court for intoxication.

Lige H. Britt, 402 1/2 E. Davenport street, and Wayne Grunder, West Liberty, each paid $17.50 for speeding, according to police record.

Free Dance Tonight In Community Building

A dance for everyone will be held tonight in the Community building.

Sponsored by the city recreation center, admission is free. J. E. Frame, manager of the center, said that people are welcome to the dance to complete a day of Homecoming festivities.

Music is by Local 450 of the American Federation of Musicians under direction of Hal Webster.

The Philippines have seven private universities of recognized standing.

Hawk Stands Though Shorn of Corn

Even though it is stripped of its usual coat of corn, the 1947 Homecoming monument will live up to its predecessors, according to Edward Meilnik, instructor in the mechanical engineering department.

Erected yesterday at the corner of N. Clinton St. and Iowa Ave., the monument represents a hawk rising out of an Iowa cornfield.

The rising hawk symbolizes the phoenix, fabled in Egyptian mythology to have risen in youthful freshness from its own ashes.

The monument represents "a rebirth of school spirit on the campus and peace in the world after the past war," Meilnik said.

First day's sales of 1947 Homecoming badges were 13,600, it was announced yesterday. The goal set for this year by Prof. Louis C. Zopf, Homecoming committee chairman, is 32,500 badges. Last year's sales amounted to 31,590. The badges are being sold by the Tailfeathers pep club which is divided into two teams, the "Golds" and the "Blacks." The Gold team, captained by Porter Burrets, sold 6,900 badges yesterday and the Black team, captained by Allis Stevenson, sold 6,700.

Proceeds of the sales will go to defray expenses for Homecoming events.
