BOISE, Idaho—John B. Johnson, Boise taxicab driver, picked the wrong time to dispute the right of way with a pedestrian. The pedestrian happened to be Police Magistrate Edith I. Miller. She took out her book and issued a ticket on the spot. It cost him $5.

U. S. Says Russia To Blame In Failure of Peace Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new official declaration of United States foreign policy heaped blame yesterday on Soviet Russia for failure of the United Nations to "grasp the fruits of peace and victory."

In a document prepared for public distribution, the state department charged Russia with "intransigence," or refusal to compromise, in carrying out wartime agreements.

"A basic aim of the United States," the report declared, "is to press for the necessary treaty settlements which will permit withdrawal of occupation troops from Germany, Austria, Korea and Japan and enable all nations of the world to return as soon as possible to a peacetime basis."

It is an over-all survey of this government's aims and stand on major postwar international issues.

"The Soviet Union, along with the United States, is party to commitments with reference to the demilitarization, political reconstruction and economic unification of Germany," the report said.

"The USSR has failed to implement many of these commitments, however, and has been mainly concerned with extracting maximum reparations from Germany and insuring that a new German political regime shall be 'friendly' to the Soviet Union."

"The United States has been concerned chiefly with economic rehabilitation which may render Germany self-sustaining without jeopardizing security requirements and with Democratic reconstruction on the basis of free political action by the Germans themselves."

Tax Revision Is Disputed

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Controversy developed yesterday within a 10-man special tax study committee which today is expected to recommend a general revision of federal taxes to the house ways and means committee.

A majority of the group, it is understood, will recommend 46 major changes in tax laws, 33 of them affecting individual income levies.

Reports circulated on Capitol Hill that Matthew Woll, AFL vice-president and labor's member of the committee, will file a minority report contending that the majority proposals would:

- 1. Shift the tax load from those best able to pay to those less able to pay.
2. Disregard revenue needs for European aid.
3. Severely reduce federal revenues.

The group was set up by the ways and means committee, with Roswell Magill, New York lawyer, as chairman.

Magill was an assistant treasury secretary during the early administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt. He supported the $4,000,000,000 tax-cutting bill which President Truman stopped twice with vetoes earlier this year.

This study is separate from the announced plan of Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.) to press again for a $4,000,000,000 slash in federal income taxes immediately upon the return of congress Nov. 17.

Accident Fatal to Ex-Student

A former university student, Rosemary Jacobson, 19, Tama, died yesterday afternoon at Broadlawn General hospital, Des Moines, as a result of injuries received in an automobile accident early Sunday near Des Moines.

Miss Jacobson failed to respond to treatment for chest, rib and internal injuries. She died at 2 p. m.

Four other persons were injured in the two-car collision which occurred on highway 69, four miles north of Ankeny. Three Story City passengers injured in the car were Arlen Hougland, 26, owner of the automobile, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nordskog, both released from Broadlawn hospital after treatment for back injuries. Hougland was being treated for head injuries at Mercy hospital, Des Moines. A fourth passenger in Hougland's car was uninjured.

Miss Jacobson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Jacobson, Tama, was teaching school in Randall, Iowa. She was a sophomore student in the university last year and also attended the 1947 summer

95 Percent of Cafes Pass Inspection, Health Report Says

The city council met as the city board of health last night to hear Dr. D. F. Fitzpatrick, health physician, give his quarterly health report.

Fitzpatrick told the board an inspection of all food establishments in Iowa City had been "spot" checked and 95 percent had been determined as meeting health requirements.

He said the remaining 5 percent signified they would correct unhealthful conditions.

The water in the swimming pool at Junior high school had not been analyzed since September, he said, and suggested the board appoint someone to take a weekly water sample and send it to the state laboratories for analysis.

William Grandrath asked the mayor to appoint a committee to determine the possibility of erecting refuse cans on downtown Iowa City street corners.

He suggested that money be taken from the liquor tax fund to buy refuse cans.

The mayor appointed Charles T. Smith, William Grandrath and James Callahan to the committee.

The board also discussed the use of a new system of garbage disposal at the dump.

Inflation Comes to Head; Haircuts Raised To $1

Haircut prices were raised to one dollar yesterday in all but three of the Iowa City shops, according to Andrew J. Page, Jefferson Barber and Beauty shop.

Prices in the three outlying shops were raised to 90 cents. Shaves in the downtown shops will cost 50 cents, Page said.

This action was taken following the reorganization of the Master and Journeyman Barbers association in Iowa City last week.

Increases in barber supplies and the general price level were given as reasons for the move, Page added.

Satira Trial Delayed

HAVANA (AP)—Another 10-day postponement was ordered yesterday in the long-extended trial of dancer Patricia (Satira) Schmidt on a charge of homicide in the shooting of John Lester Mee, Chicago, aboard his yacht in Havana harbor last April.

Failure of witnesses again to appear caused Presiding Judge Cristobal More to recess the case until Nov. 14.

Russ Demand British Quit Palestine Jan. 1

LAKE SUCCESS, (AP)—The Soviet Union yesterday demanded that the British terminate their rule over Palestine by Jan. 1 and turn interim administration of the turbulent Holy Land over to the security council pending partition into independent Jewish and Arab countries.

Russia also called for withdrawal of all British troops from Palestine no later than May 1, 1948, and official establishment of the two new nations by Jan. 1, 1949.

Delegate Semen K. Tsarapkin presented the long-awaited Soviet policy statement before a closed meeting of the "partition" subcommittee of the assembly's 57-nation Palestine committee after rejecting an American plan for implementing partition.

The U. S. had asked the British, as mandatory power, to retain control of the Holy Land until July 1 when it was suggested that partition could be effected.

FOUR former top-ranking SS (Elite Guard) officers, headed by Oswald Pohl, who constituted the "business brains" of the Nazi concentration camps, yesterday were sentenced to the gallows by an American war crimes court at Nuernberg.

REP. HARTLEY (R-N. J.) yesterday said that congress may be asked to take action to prevent James C. Petrillo, president of the AFL-American federation of musicians, from halting production of phonograph records if "Petrillo goes through with his plan."

THE NUMBER of reported deaths from Saturday's earthquake in Peru rose to 53 when dispatches from San Ramon said three persons had been killed in that town, 130 miles northeast of Lima.

THE BALTIMORE SUN yesterday said "private advices from Tokyo . . . state flatly General Douglas MacArthur will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for president in 1948."

John Winant Kills Himself

CONCORD, N. H. (AP)—John G. Winant, 58, former ambassador to the Court of St. James's, committed suicide last night by shooting himself in the head, Dr. Clarence E. Butterfield, medical referee, reported last night.

Winant was alone in his home, with his private secretary and maid, when he shot himself in the right temple with a .32 caliber Belgian automatic pistol, the doctor said.

His private secretary, Miss Irene Mason, a native of England, said neither she nor the maid, Miss Orol Maers, heard the shot but were aroused by the thump of his body in an upstairs bedroom.

County Solicitor Raymond Perkins quoted the secretary as saying Winant appeared to be suffering "a mental and physical fatigue."

Winant had just completed his war memoirs.

Perkins said "there was no foul play."

Winant's wife and mother were in New York at the time.

Winant was appointed ambassador to the Court of St. James's in 1941 and served through the war years.

While ambassador he was present when the United Nations economic and social council was organized in London in January, 1946.

The following March President Truman announced Winant's appointment as permanent U. S. representative on UNESCO. In December, 1946, Winant asked to be relieved of his U. N. assignment to "pick up life again as a private citizen in my own country."

Plan Iowa City Contribution

Parking Meter Injunction Hearing Today But Fear Effect Of Depression

Three developments yesterday set the stage for a temporary injunction hearing against Iowa City's purchase of 250 additional parking meters at 10 a. m. today in the Johnson county district courthouse.

The developments are: 1. John Lindsey, 718 S. Capitol street, filed a motion for temporary injunction.

2. City Solicitor Edward W. Lucas answered the petition.

3. Eleven subpoenas were issued for witnesses.

John Taylor, attorney for Lindsey, asked for the hearing of the original injunction petition after Mayor Preston Koser signed a contract Oct. 27, with the Duncan Meter corporation, Chicago, for the 250 meters.

Lucas, attorney for the defendants, filed a motion to strike portions of Lindsey's petition which, Lucas said, were irrelevant and immaterial. He also charged that "it was not necessary to give public notice of any kind prior to introduction and adoption" of the resolution authorizing purchase of the meters.

Lucas asked that plaintiff post $52,000 bond, if the injunction is issued, to cover the city's loss of revenue from the meters.

Lindsey subpoenaed City Clerk George Dohrer to appear today. Dohrer signed the parking meter contract Oct. 31.

The defendants called Dohrer, Ray Henry, Henry Still, O. A. White, Edward Ruppert, Harold Glaspey, Ned Raymond, John Lindsey, Don Purvis and Max Hawkins.

The defendants at the hearing are the city of Iowa City, Mayor Koser, Raymond and the Duncan Meter corporation.

Mikolajczyk Reaches London Refuge

LONDON (AP)—Stanislaw Mikolajczyk reached refuge in London yesterday after a dramatic flight from Poland that included a dash through Soviet-occupied Germany. He said he fled because the present Communist-led Polish government planned to kill him and two of his associates.

"I did not want to be shot and killed like a sheep," he said. Britain had promised sanctuary for the anti-Communist leader. The leader of the opposition

Decides on 'Quick Action' To Get Iowa City's Contribution

Iowa City's Friendship Train drive got a boost last night when representatives of several civic organizations met and decided on "quick action."

Meeting in Mayor Preston Koser's office, W. W. Summerwill, president of the Chamber of Commerce, Harry Dunlap, representative of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Rex Conn, farm editor of The Cedar Rapids Gazette, Ray Spielman, president of the Cedar Rapids Junior Chamber of Commerce and the mayor agreed upon a drive to collect money to purchase rolled oats as Iowa City's contribution to the Friendship Train.

The Friendship Train drive is a nation-wide plan to send a trans-continental train across the United States from Los Angeles to New York City to pick up food contributions to go to feed starving people in France and Italy.

The train will make a number of stops along the route to pick up separate contributions from each stopping place. The train will stop in Cedar Rapids Nov. 13 at 8 p. m. where the food gift from Iowa City will be put on the train.

Earlier yesterday, Koser appointed a Friendship Train committee for Iowa City. It includes Summerwill, Ted Stuck, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Emmett C. Gardner, county extension director.

A definite plan of action was discussed by representatives at the meeting last night, but will not be publicly announced until Wednesday.

The group, however, decided money contributions would be the only gifts accepted because of the shortage of time available to complete the drive.

The representatives also decided the money contributed would go to purchase rolled oats from either the National or Quaker Oats companies of Cedar Rapids.

This type of food was chosen because the Cedar Rapids companies can easily satisfy the specifications that the goods be packed for overseas shipment.

Conn and Spielman met with the group last night to discuss the Friendship Train drive which has been completely underway in Cedar Rapids since last Friday.

They said contributions have been coming in "amazingly well" and they consider the first few days of the drive very successful.

Conn, who recently returned from a European tour with a number of Iowa farmers, explained that the Cedar Rapids drive is planning to send rolled oats. The amount depends on the money raised through the program there.

"We all know," Conn said, "that the Friendship Train will provide only a drop in the bucket to what is required. But it will make the French and Italians aware that the United States is the nation that is feeding them."

LONDON (AP)—The Labor government's month-old decree giving the minister of labor power to direct unemployed men and women into undermanned industries was upheld last night by the house of commons, 252 to 144, after the order was attacked by Conservatives and a handful of rebellious Labor members of parliament.

Without disclosing what its eventual decision might be should Vice-President R. J. Thomas persist in defying the Taft-Hartley oath requirement, the board appeared ready to accept the notice of UAW President Walter P. Reuther that the executive board had voted to comply.

The outlook appears very bright for our graduates," he said. "The June group had six job offerings for every man and I expect the next graduating class to be in a similar position."

A. W. Bryan, dean of the college of dentistry, said the acute shortage of dentists in the nation today leaves many opportunities for newcomers.

"Most of our graduates," he said, "will probably open their own offices at locations picked out by themselves. However, a large demand exists for dentists in government divisions and public services."

The picture for journalism graduates, Prof. L. G. Moeller, head of journalism, said is "very good."

"We have had, in the past three months, 15 or 20 requests we could not fill," Moeller said. "Students who graduated as recently as August have a choice of four or five jobs in practically every case. I'd say the situation will be good for 18 months to two years, unless there is a pronounced change in business activity. That goes for advertising and radio work as well."

Commerce graduates, Dean C. A. Phillips of the college of commerce reported, face an excellent job picture.

"The demand for our graduates," he said, "has never been greater. That applies to every division of the college. The June class had six job offerings for each graduate. One graduate went up to Chicago with a list of 12 employers in his pocket. The situation today, except for possible depression, remains excellent."

Former Iowa Star Gets New Position; Harsha to Coach JV

Herbert Wilkinson, former Iowa all-American guard, has been appointed freshman basketball coach to aid Coach "Pops" Harrison, it was announced late yesterday by Director of Athletics Paul Brecher. At the same time the appointment of Vincent Harsha, one-time Hawkeye player, as junior varsity coach was made known.

Wilkinson, a senior in the dental college, is scheduled to complete his studies there next March. He finished his competition as a member of the all-star West team in Madison Square Garden last year.

Harsha won three letters at guard for Iowa over the seasons of 1939-42, when he was a notable defensive player. He received a physical education degree from the university in 1942.

Harrison Names 17 For Varsity Cage Team

Ten lettermen were among the 17 candidates chosen for the SU1 varsity cage team, according to coach Lawrence (Pops) Harrison yesterday. The rest of the original squad of 50 reported for junior varsity drills.

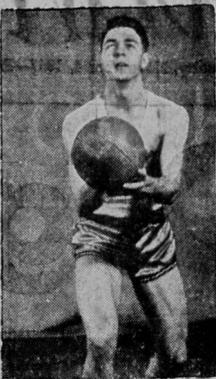

Leonard "Red" Metcalfe was the only regular center returning to plug the gap left by Noble Jorgensen. Roger Finley and Don Hays are the other two pivot-plans.

Letter-winning forwards include Stan Straatsma, Murray Weir, Charlie Mason, Floyd Magnusson, and Jack Wisniewski. Bob Vollers, Keokuk, is the lone newcomer to the forward ranks, and Bob Freeman was a minor letter winner last year.

Four of the seven guards have earned letters at SU1 before this season. Jack Spencer, Eugene Hall, Bob Shulz and Glen Kremer have all seen considerable action under Harrison before 1947.

Three guards who may make things tough for the veterans are Tom Parker, Elgin, Ill.; Buck Harris, Palatine, Ill.; and Jack Watkins of Warren, Ohio.

Clint Smith, new coach of the Tulsa Oilers in the U. S. Hockey League, formerly played center for the New York Rangers.

Army Tilt May See Lujack at Fullback

SOUTH BEND, IND., (AP)—Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame yesterday did some off-the-field tuning up for Saturday's farewell tangle with Army with a press conference in which he said:

1. He bore no animosity, as often reported, against Coach Earl Blaik of Army.

2. He was personally against any post-season bowl appearance by the Fighting Irish.

3. Johnny Lujack will start at quarterback, but may take a shot at fullback against Army.

The possibility that talented Lujack may perform at fullback arises from the injury of Johnny Panelli and Mike Swistowicz, although both are expected to be ready for action against the Cadets.

Other factors in the switch are the passing brilliance of Lujack's quarterback understudy, Frank Tripucka, and the running ability of the all-America quarterback. Lujack has carried the ball six times this season and galloped 127 yards for an amazing 21.1 average.

Burlington Nips Hawklets

Special to The Daily Iowan
Burlington high school's grid team scored one touchdown in the second quarter last night and went on to defeat Iowa City high's Little Hawks, 7-0.

The game, cancelled last Friday night because of rain, was a rough and rugged battle from beginning to end but the Greyhounds had the stamina to ward off continuous Hawklet offensive thrusts and hold their slim margin of victory.

Midway in the second quarter Burlington took over a City high punt on their own 25 yard line and marched for 75 yards to the touchdown. Backs Jess Beardsley, Al Morgan, Jim Rungblum and End Jerry Franklin carried the brunt of the Burlington attack to the City high 13 yard marker.

At this point Halfback Bob Gahn scampered around the Hawklet left end and into the end zone for the tally. Gahn also added the extra point.

The second half was an up-and-down field fight with the Little Hawks moving inside the Greyhound 20 yard line on two occasions but unable to capitalize on the scoring opportunities. On one series of plays the Hawklets moved from their own 28 to the Burlington 38 but a holding penalty stopped their march and the Greyhounds took over.

Iowa City Fullback Bill Reheardt was the outstanding player on the field completely dominating the Hawklet offensive and stopping many Burlington threats on the defense.

The game ended with Burlington deep in City high territory on the three yard line after a sustained ground attack which carried for 48 yards.

Iowa City lost three players during the hard-fought battle because of injuries. Don Strub, left guard, suffered a bad leg injury, the extent of which was not known late last night. Williams and Beardsley also suffered leg injuries.

Most passes ever caught in a Bowl game was sight by Hub Bechtel of Texas in the '946 Cotton Bowl.

Hawks Prepare for Badger Tilt

Anderson Names Ray Carlson as Iowa Game Captain

Dr. Eddie Anderson and his Hawkeye gridders set their sights on spoiling Wisconsin's Homecoming next Saturday afternoon as they prepared for their fourth straight road game yesterday.

This marks the second straight year that the Hawks will be playing before the Badger homecomers before a sell-out crowd of 45,000.

Anderson also announced yesterday that Guard Ray Carlson will captain the Iowa team for the Madison tilt. Carlson also captained the Hawkeyes in the Wisconsin game last year.

In talking about the team's physical condition yesterday, Anderson said, "The players are sore and battered after that game at Purdue. None has any serious ailments but they received a pretty thorough going over from that hard-charging and fired-up Purdue team."

Asked what his thoughts about the coming Badger game were, Dr. Eddie remarked that he had held no great fear for Coach Harry Stuhldreher's team until they clubbed Northwestern at Evans-ton Saturday, 29-0.

Thanksgiving Holiday in 1948 Gets Student Council Study

University students may have a Thanksgiving vacation next year. Student council members will discuss suggestions for getting the vacation into the 1947-48 calendar at their meeting at 7:30 tonight in Old Capitol. A council committee has been invited to sit in on forming of next year's calendar, which is expected to begin soon. Reasons the university calendar committee gave last month for refusing to add a day to the vacation this year were:

1. A full 16-week semester is required by the North Central Conference of Colleges and Universities.

2. The calendar was approved some nine months ago. Changes now would adversely affect many scheduled plans of the university.

3. Any change could be approved only by the state board of education.

Council members who will meet with the calendar committee are President Mel Heckt, A4; Keith McNurlen, D2, and Clark Houghton, L3.

Members of the Panacea committee and Dan Schuffman, A4, director of the student show, will attend the council meeting tonight to discuss plans for all the student show. On the committee are Jean Sprott, A3, council representative; Bill Bauer, E4, Omicron Delta Kappa representative; and Margery McDonald, A3, Mortar Board representative.

Ray Tierney, A4, Campus Chest chairman, will report on the organization of the Chest drive, which will be sponsored by the council.

The council will discuss the possibility of students grading professors, as suggested in a recent Daily Iowan editorial.

Students interested in tonight's discussions are welcome to attend the meeting and offer suggestions, Heckt said.

Fishbein To Address County Medical Society

Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association and Hygeia, will address the Johnson county medical society tomorrow at Hotel Jefferson.

Fishbein will speak on a topic of his own choosing following a dinner and business meeting at 6 p. m.

For the past 20 years Fishbein has been chief spokesman for the American Medical association and an outspoken opponent of a federal compulsory sickness insurance program.

Billy Mitchell Unit Meets

Students To Present Music Recital Today

Seven students of the music department will present a recital this afternoon at 4:10 p. m. in north music hall.

This recital is the second in a series of student recitals for the 1947-48 school year.

Soprano, Janet Allbee will sing Haydn's "Del Mio Core." Mary Lincoln Ecroyd, mezzo-soprano, will sing "Beau Soir" by Debussy.

"Sonata in A Flat," opus 49, No. 1, by Reger, will be played by Elbert Masmar, clarinetist, and Mary Beth Maloff, pianist.

Mozart's "Magic Flute" will be presented by Offie Leeper, bass singer.

"Die Mainacht," by Brahms, will be sung by Shirley Remer, soprano.

"Sonata in A major," by Boccherini, will be played by cellist Charles Becker.

The recital is open to the public.

'Love It or Leave It'

Prospects that a system of grading professors might be established at SU are greatly increased when a survey of faculty members showed a substantial number favoring the plan.

One professor has even posted a "suggestion box" where students may drop in comments, suggestions, or gripes. University administrators have commented that they would be willing to see the plan tried on an experimental basis providing the details could be ironed out.

Not all comments on the suggestion are favorable, however. In our original editorial suggesting the plan, we said students who went into a store to buy a quart of milk and received only a pint would certainly let the storekeeper know about it.

An unsigned letter we received this week says: "Did it ever occur to you that if you trade at a store where they do not have what you want, you can always go to another store. Students don't HAVE to go to Iowa."

Certainly students don't have to go to Iowa. Neither do people have to live in Iowa City. Is that any reason why people ought not to "grade" their city officials at election time?

Sure, it could be arranged so that people who didn't like it here could just move on—down to Davenport, for example. Some of them do. But there still is a system whereby if enough people don't like it, the kind of government we're buying can be changed.

As a matter of fact, almost any good businessman is more than glad to have people make suggestions. They can actually help him to improve his service. If a clerk shortchanges you, the manager usually wants you to tell him about it.

But it's pretty hard and impractical for the individual student to tell the president of a university about getting shortchanged in a course.

So we think it would be a good idea for the students in each class to "grade" their professors on a standardized rating sheet at the end of each semester. A lot of professors we've talked to would actually welcome suggestions for improving their courses. The plan might be put on a voluntary basis at first.

The student council might very well be the organizational body. At their meeting tonight they might discuss the practicality of polling the professors to see which ones would agree to be graded. Those that accepted could be supplied with standard rating sheets to distribute to their classes at the end of the semester. It might be left up to each professor whether he alone should see the results or whether they should be forwarded to the head of the department.

Our anonymous letter writer is right when he says students don't have to go to Iowa. But most of them would like to make it a better place.

A Letter to Mr. Charles Luckman

Get up and give a lady your seat, Mr. Luckman.

A Charles City, Iowa, woman wrote in a strongly worded letter to an Iowa newspaper that she objected to a "bunch of men" telling housewives how to save food for Europe. The "bunch of men" includes you, Charles Luckman, as head of the food administration.

But food is saved in the kitchen. There's where the woman has her say. The woman shops for the groceries and plans the meals in most American families. Ultimately it is the woman who skips meat on Tuesday and eggs on Thursday.

It's really the American women who will feed Europe, isn't it, Mr. Luckman?

responsibility for its success lies in large measure with the American public.

The man-about-the-house probably follows the news and commentaries on starving, Communist-threatened Europe. He probably has some ideas of his own on feeding Europe.

That should amuse you, Mr. Luckman, because for several years you have been successfully telling American housewives to buy your soap products. But don't laugh—in a way the Charles City woman has the right idea.

No matter what "bunch of men" administers the voluntary food-saving program, the

Installment Buying: Inflation Fuel

A race among merchandisers to offer increasingly liberal credit terms to their customers is a possible outcome of the end of federal credit curbs.

An Associated Press survey showed a majority of the nation's retailers and credit executives have pledged themselves to "sound credit practices" and "conservative terms."

But they also admitted they are prepared to make the newly available lower terms still more lenient if forced by the pressure of competition.

Sears Roebuck & Co. and Montgomery Ward & Co., the two giants of the mail order business, have announced they will require a down payment of only 10 percent, and 18 months to pay, on all merchandise sold on the installment buying plan.

This new policy makes it much easier to buy on the installment plan than under the now defunct regulations. They provide for a 20 percent down payment on furniture and 33 1/3 percent on other controlled items, with 15 months to pay.

Twenty of the country's leading pediatricians, anthropologists and child psychologists will advise the government bureau on current research needs in this country. Their attention will be mainly focused on social aspects of child care and training.

AS PEGLER SEES IT It's No Sin To Be Rich

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Among my bigotries, if any, you will find, so help me, not the faintest prejudice against money, or those who pursue it or have it, as such. Time was when I warmed my revolutionary fibers with a smoldering hatred of the rich because it seemed to me that they were all ill-mannered. Actually, however, at that time I knew no rich people and my state of mind was a naive tribute to the shrill hauteur of the high-busted burlesque queen who squawked "the very audacity" at the bum who flicked his ashes down her front. She made the rich seem awful stuck-up.

Still, that was snobbish of me and the application of a double-standard because I knew that we poor, or the non-rich, were often unrefined ourselves.

I think my first exposure to wealth in the mass occurred when Tex Rickard formed his bond of the most-well-to-do and socially-exclusive millionaires in New York at the new Madison Square garden uptown. Those were the days which will ever be remembered as the days when I recall a sense of surprise that so many of them were not yet 40. I was secretly skeptical because some of the older ones were so horn-handed in their speech and social bearing and I half-expected their purple smoking jackets—they did wear purples, then—and fine linen to fade into dungarees. Some of the sprouts had been brokers' boys just a few years before and some of the portly fellows had skunk mules and fired locomotives.

The complaint against the rich is no more valid in morals and law than so much heckling on a picket-line. An essayist who addressed the subject lately called as one witness Mark Twain, whose autobiography is said to have viewed with contempt a passion for gold which debased the morals and enervated the manhood of the glorious old United States of A. That from Mark Twain, a pot-boiling money-lover who wore a white dress suit in London for the same reason that Hollywood hams wear smoked-glasses in the Stork, is on a par with the late Roosevelt's threat to the money-changers except that we must admit that Twain never put himself in God's place. Roosevelt often did. Mark Twain was as bad as he was good and if he did say this about the pursuit of wealth he knew what he was doing when he ordered his memoirs sealed until he was dead.

If the pursuit of money degrades those who get a lot of it, were the motives any finer or the results preferable in the millions who were actually instructed how to stall and cheat and protected in the practice by unions in the war? The passion for gold was burning there and the difference between the plunger and the pincher, the big-shot and the punk is not of morals but only of size.

A great man, truly indifferent to money, given prominence and influence during his life, by noble example could quell the writhing in our tripe and induce us to sweeter works on earth. My own feeling against the whole greedy, mocking horde of freebooters who came plundering under pietistical mottoes in 1933, from Roosevelt down to the dirtiest little union racketeer, is not mere primitive anger at cheats and thieves. It is not mere contempt for hypocrisy. It is bigger than that. It is a loathing of those fakers who profess to hate avarice but still honor or him who profiteered in the faith of millions.

Officers of the circle are Mrs. Fred Jones, president; Gertrude Dennis, vice-president and Mrs. D. E. Cherry, secretary-treasurer.

parties owe their allegiance to Moscow.

In Italy, where the majority left wing Socialist faction operates in a coalition with the Communists, they didn't fare so well in the Rome elections.

Communists were hard hit again in Denmark, where they have been making considerable noise and have been especially antagonistic toward the United States. Their representation in parliament was cut in half.

In Norway's municipal elections the trend was the same. The Communists lost heavily, and the 1945 majority of the Laborites was almost exactly reversed in favor of the conservatives.

In England and France, however, there are strong indications that the voters were expressing themselves more against economic conditions than governmental theories. The Ramadier government in France already has adopted a middle-of-the-road policy designed to prevent De Gaulle's extreme right from taking advantage of public discontent, and the British Socialists can be expected to follow suit.

Nationalization of the British steel industry, already delayed lest it rock the boat of U. S. economic aid, probably will be shelved indefinitely.

IC Unitarians Attend 70th Annual Meeting

Attending the 70th annual conference of the Iowa Unitarian association at Des Moines last weekend were the Rev. and Mrs. Evans Snyder, 934 Iowa avenue, and William Gaskin, G, 510 Ronalds street.

Rev. Worthley, pastor of Iowa City's Unitarian church, said the conference was aimed at promoting larger fellowship among the Unitarian churches of Iowa and Nebraska.

The tonnage carried by U. S. Railroads almost doubled between 1940 and 1944.

Davenport Group Finds Formula for Successful 'I' Club

By JAY KANE
There's a difference between an "I" club and an alumni association.

Dr. Jim Berney, president of the Davenport "I" club, recently told how that group has found the formula for a successful group, and friends are likely to believe him after they have seen the record.

The Davenport group, which was organized just this year, already has enlisted more than 300 members. The members have their eye on the 600 mark and expect to make it before the year is over.

"Our formula is simple," Berney said. "We jam them in every Thursday noon at the Chamber of Commerce clubrooms to see movies of the Hawkeyes in action on the previous Saturday.

"Then there is a speaker. Usually it's a football coach of national or local fame, or a fellow like Paul Breecher or Max Kedetsky, state president of the group," Berney continued.

But the part of the meeting that draws the most interest, he said, is when the members submit their predictions for the following Saturday. The winners are announced on the next Thursday and a collective razzberry is given any and all who didn't sense an upset.

The group attends all Iowa home functions en masse. Their membership in the "I" club entitles them to seats within the 40-yard lines. When the Hawks win their game, the Davenporters are walking four feet above the ground. When they lose, you can hear 300 different theories why, Berney said.

The group is planning a large banquet for the end of the year which they predict will be a highlight of the season. Glen L. Seydel, secretary-treasurer of the club, is in charge of these social activities.

In the current membership campaign, every man and woman in the organization is on the committee. "It's a street corner sales job," Berney said, "but we don't have to do much talking after they hear about those meetings."

Meier To Address Iowa Scientists on Atomic Politics and Education

R. J. Meier, executive secretary of the Federation of American Scientists, will address the Association of Eastern Iowa Scientists Thursday night at 9 o'clock in room 21, physics building, J. I. Routh, association president, said yesterday.

A dinner will be held in his honor Thursday evening and Meier will be a guest at the regular atomic energy lecture. Following the lecture, the eastern Iowa group will meet with Meier to discuss atomic politics, atomic education and the general social responsibilities of scientists, Routh said.

Meier was active in the northern California science group at Berkeley before assuming the secretary position in the national federation headquarters in Washington.

Battle of Hollywood TO THE DAILY IOWAN.

There have been all kinds of opinions concerning the Battle of Hollywood. Here is just one more.

To the members of the congress of the United States:

You compose what is considered to be the greatest lawmaking body in the history of mankind. I ask that you be as discreet in all of your activities, especially those centering around investigation. Some of the incidents during the current investigation are beneath the dignity of the congress.

This is supposed to be the country where liberty and justice are the cornerstone of government. It is your sworn duty to preserve these principles, having been chosen by a free electorate to do so.

To the members of the motion picture industry:

You have lowered a lot of peoples' opinion of you and the industry you represent, despite the efforts of some of your more conscientious associates.

Why are you screeching to Zeus about the bill of rights? No one has arranged a deal-at-dawn for you. Being upright American citizens, you have a duty to your country; you should be more than glad to aid the congress if you are asked to appear at a hearing.

Or have you something to hide? Is that it? People might say that perhaps you ARE being instrumental in destroying the bill of rights, and demanding legal protection under it while you are doing it.

There can be no possible justification for such a mess (the investigation).

This sort of thing, in which everyone is accusing everyone else of trying to destroy the things the investigation was intended to preserve, may well be the opening wedge for the real Communists, whoever they are, and anyone else that might attempt to destroy the principles of democracy upon which this United States was established.

Meardon Re-elected Local AFM Head

William Meardon was reelected president of the American Federation of Musicians, local 450, at a meeting Sunday in the Hotel Jefferson.

Meardon, a student at the university, was first elected president last year. He is the leader of a local 18-piece orchestra.

An application for a union booking license submitted by Willard Merrill and James B. McKenzie was disapproved by a vote of the membership.

Other AFM officers elected at the meeting are Byron Burford, vice-president; E. Ward Bryan, secretary; Dean Crawford, treasurer; and Noel Thoen sergeant of arms.

Larry Barrett, James Russell and Shirley Porter were elected trustees. Edward Bryan was chosen to attend both the mid-western and national conventions.

Tunnell for Captain, King for DiMarco

TO THE DAILY IOWAN:
I wonder when Dr. Eddie Anderson is going to work around to bestowing that high honor of game captain upon Em Tunnell. It seems that the honor is awarded on the basis of past performances, or on performances made in the last game played. I believe that Tunnell's performances in any of our games have been great enough to merit him the honor of being the captain of the Hawkeyes for one game. He is not the type of player who gives a bad exhibition of football today and probably mess up next week. He gives a good performance every week. In fact, it is not necessary for me to describe his past performances in this letter because everyone, seemingly, has high praise for his playing.

While I am writing I may as well get something else off my chest. I wonder why Dr. Eddie doesn't let Lou King call the signals instead of letting pass-happy Al DiMarco throw those sloppy, loopy passes all the time. If Tunnell was not a good pass receiver, most of DiMarco's passes in the Indiana game would not have been any good. The same goes for those to the ends, Kalso and Shoener. We have gained our best yardage by rushing from the single-wing while Lou King called the plays. He is definitely a good quarterback for the single-wing and uses his head when calling plays instead of going pass-happy like DiMarco. I say let's have more of Lou King and less of Al DiMarco.

Same Tune, Same Words

By SAMUEL GRAFTON
New York Post Syndicate

Harry ran into Bert on 34th street, first time since France. "Eat," said Bert, and they went into a sandwich place.

Harry had never seen Bert in civilian clothes before. The long, double-breasted coat was hooked with one button somewhere down near the knees.

"What are you doing, Bert?" asked Harry. He remembered Bert as a handy man in a cigarette deal, and the fountain-head of a stream of Leicas.

"I'm going into the ball pen business," said Bert. "Say, I want to get some samples around, so the public will get to know them. Want one for a dollar? Worth three seventy-five." He rolled a pen across the table.

"Can't afford it," said Harry, not looking at it so as not to get into a thing about it.

"Why don't you get yourself some cash?" asked Bert. He picked up the pen. "You always were a jerk about money. Got a car you want to sell? I can make a deal for you."

Some old Black Market Bert, thought Harry. But it had been something almost cute about making the big deals in a muddy soldier suit, that was lacking now in the double-breasted gray.

"Hey, you do have an apartment, I know," said Bert. "I can get you a couple hundred for stepping out, and this party would still have some left to bonus the landlord. Fix it for you for twenty-five percent."

There had been one night in France, not really dangerous, but noisy and unhappy. Harry had a flash memory of Bert's face in the moonlight that night, looking relaxed, even bored, about the whole thing.

How much of the man remained under the new civilian manner? he wondered.

"Shoot you for the lunch," said Bert. He took an oblong leather dice case from a pocket.

Harry recalled the legends about Bert and the dice game. The louse wants to take me for a stinking lunch, he thought. He and his off-truce dice. Go to that much trouble to hook somebody he once fought with.

"I'll pay for the lunch," he said quietly, and picked up both of the punched checks.

"Oh, hell," said Bert. He seemed troubled.

"You mean you're just going to pay for it, like that?" he asked.

"It's all right," said Harry, and pushed his chair back.

"Let me do something for you," said Bert. "Here, have the pen." "I couldn't take it," said Harry. "It's all right," said Bert. "Take it. Take it. I found it in the subway."

He rolled it across the table, and turned away to the door, the long coat breaking just right to make him look tall, and jaunty.

Maj. Parsons To Speak To Air Reserve Unit

Maj. Irvin Parsons of the ROTC department will speak on the history of the air force before the Iowa City air reserve detachment tomorrow night in room 124, fieldhouse armory.

Members of the 211th Composite squadron, Cedar Rapids, will assist in transferring Iowa City reserve personnel to the detachment, according to Roger Barnhart, training and personnel officer.

The Iowa City detachment was organized recently as part of the 211th squadron. A series of lectures is being conducted to meet reserve requirements.

Quad Dissolves Tie With William's Band

The Quadrangle council last night dissolved affiliation with Nat Williams' orchestra in compliance with a musicians union resolution. The resolution, passed Sunday by Local 450 of the American Federation of Musicians, stated no union band could play under the name of any university organization, according to Mark Payton, manager of Williams' orchestra.

Better Production Means Less Cost? No, Survey Reports

"The illusion that rising production necessarily brings falling prices is a consequence of faulty observation," according to the latest issue of the Iowa Business Digest, published by the university bureau of business research.

The report, available today, emphasizes that experts in the field of price control should be banking officials and economists, rather than the National Association of Manufacturers or the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

When production increases, the price level does not necessarily change, the report says, for in normal markets costs and purchasing power are proportioned to output. Inflation and deflation merely obscure but do not materially alter these price interactions.

In spite of increased production, wages and profits rise, and prices reflect the increased costs of production, the report continues.

Under adequate central banking controls and investment expansion abroad, the report suggests

The orchestra has been playing under the sponsorship of the Quadrangle.

An invitation to the Quad council to attend the Dean's Dinner, Nov. 19, was announced by Council President Tom Neenan. The 35 members of the council will attend at the invitation of Dean C. Woody Thompson.

County TB Survey Starts

Elizabeth Budreau, Johnson county nurse, yesterday began a canvass of persons in this county who are known to have been exposed to tuberculosis.

The canvass is the first step of a three phase program which includes tuberculin skin tests and X-raying of persons whose reaction to the test is positive. Dr. R. H. Flocks, president of the Johnson county Medical society, and Dr. L. H. Flancher, tuberculosis director of the Iowa health department and Iowa Tuberculosis association, are conducting the program for their organizations. Christmas seal funds help finance the project.

Pick Jury for Dvorsky Collision Damage Suit

A petit jury was chosen yesterday at the Johnson county district courthouse for the case of Paul Dvorsky vs. Town of Solon which begins tomorrow.

D. C. Nolan and W. F. Morrison are attorneys for Dvorsky who asks $17,805 damages for a collision involving his automobile and a fire truck owned by Solon. Will Hayek and Jack C. White are attorneys for Solon which seeks $1,198 damages in a counter-claim.

Jurymen are Wilda M. Hester, Stella Swanson, Margaret Crum, Merton Thompson, Herbert Cochran, Pauline Lierle, Olive Ricketts, David C. Duncan, Grace Webster, Jesse Sleichter, George F. Bedell and Nellie Floyd.

Vets Can Stop Vacation Pay

A special list of veterans who wish their subsistence interrupted during Christmas vacation will be sent to Des Moines Nov. 14, Director William D. Coder of the veterans service office said yesterday.

Coder pointed out that this list will not contain names of those who indicated this desire when they registered last fall. These names have already been sent to the Des Moines veterans office, he said.

Veterans may add their names to the list by going to the veterans service office at 110 Iowa avenue between now and Nov. 14.

Ebenezer F. Hamilton, Pioneer Farmer, Dies

Ebenezer F. Hamilton, 90, 205 Black Springs circle, died early yesterday morning in Mercy hospital after a five-week illness.

Hamilton was born March 26, 1857, on a farm west of Tiffin which he operated until entering the hospital. His wife preceded him in death Nov. 21, 1933.

He is survived by a daughter, Berniece, wife of Atty. Herbert J. Ries, Iowa City; one granddaughter; one grandson, and three great-grandsons.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at McGovern's funeral home, with the Rev. Donovan G. Hart officiating. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

Cub Pilots Turn Back

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—A sudden weather change forced round-the-world fliers George Truman and Clifford Evans to turn back late yesterday to Nakhik, where they had taken off at 6:09 p.m. CST for Anchorage.

Vets' Groups Offer Military Funerals

Military funeral services for returned Iowa City war dead were discussed last night by heads of local veterans organizations.

Ben Summerwill, commander of Legion post No. 17, indicated that military rites would be conducted only upon the family's request.

Families wishing to hold military services should contact Mayor Preston Koser, Commander Summerwill or Commander Sam Shulman, VFW post No. 2581.

Pallbearers, firing squad, honor guard and buglers will be provided through local veterans groups.

Seeks $4,590 in Suit Over 'Exploding' Coke

A soft-drink bottle that exploded two years ago was the basis for a $4,590 damage suit filed Saturday at the Johnson county courthouse.

Barbara Livingstone Rathbun, Waterloo, charged that a bottle of Coca Cola, manufactured by the Cedar Rapids bottling company, exploded Nov. 3, 1945. She said a portion of the bottle was driven into her chin, mouth and lip.

It is the duty of the defendant, she charged, to "furnish goods which are free from defects." She said this bottle was defective.

She asked for $3,500 for injuries, $1,000 for permanent scars, and $90 for medical expenses and costs of the action.

Asks 'Peace Priority'

clarifying that "peace must have priority," Senator Vanderberg (R-Mich.) yesterday called for a separate peace with Germany and adjournment of the council of foreign ministers if the Big Four deadlock persists this winter.

Waery To Leave City

REV. JAMES E. WAERY

The Rev. James E. Waery, minister of Iowa City's Congregational church since 1941, has announced his resignation effective Nov. 23.

He will assume a pastorate at the Congregational church in South Waterbury, Conn., while attending the school of divinity at Yale university.

He and his family leave here Nov. 24, and Waery will assume new duties Dec. 7.

Thus far, the church has not selected a successor, but a pulpit committee under Prof. J. W. Howe has been appointed.

Dean and Mrs. Carl E. Seashore and Mr. and Mrs. Clint Moyer head a committee to plan a farewell party for the Rev. Mr. Waery.

Under his leadership, the Congregational church has paid off a substantial debt and returned to a solvent financial basis. During the same period, membership has almost doubled.

In the past, he has served as president of the Iowa City Ministerial association, and has been active in the Kiwanis club.

SUI Student's Engraving Wins Wisconsin Award

"Self-Portrait," an engraving by Helen L. Peters, A4, Cherokee, has been awarded the Wisconsin Union purchase prize of $50.

Miss Peters' engraving received the award as the most meritorious work in graphic arts at the annual Wisconsin salon of art. The exhibit is now being held in Madison at the University of Wisconsin's Memorial Union.

Over 300 works of art in oil and tempera, water color, pastel, sculpture and graphics were submitted by the jury for exhibition in the salon.

Parade Units Asked To Contact Committee

Local organizations desiring to participate in the Armistice day parade and ceremony are requested to contact Charles Kennett, chairman, 517 Brookland Park drive or dial 2737 as soon as possible.

Kennett said yesterday he wanted to ascertain the size of each organization in order to facilitate parade plans.

The Armistice day committee will meet Thursday night at 7:30 in the American Legion rooms at the Community building.

Fliers To Register For Air Certificates Under New Ruling

Iowa City fliers felt the first effects of the Iowa Aeronautics commission's new enforcement policy when they were notified this weekend to apply for state airman certificates.

About 200 airmen are expected to register through the Iowa City Flying service by the end of this month, according to Joan Humphries, secretary.

The notice closely followed a visit to the Iowa City airport Oct. 25 by J. W. Walsh, commission enforcement officer.

All airmen holding CAA certificates are required to register with the Iowa commission, according to the 1946 code of Iowa. The registrations are in addition to federal government CAA requirements. Owners of aircraft will be held responsible if the plane is flown by a non-registered pilot.

Planes are also required to be registered with the commission. A fee of one-half of one percent of the manufacturer's list price is charged. The rate decreases to a minimum of 10 dollars on older planes.

Is Yours a Fickle Eye?

by Elizabeth Woodward
America's foremost authority on young people's problems

You've reached a point where you wonder if you ever will know what you really do think! This time last week you blew dead south. But so many things have happened since then to change your direction to due north. Right now you feel rudderless . . . and wishy-washy!

Somebody asks you to go somewhere. You can't make up your mind. You answer "maybe" or "I'll see" . . . vaguely putting off the chore of coming to grips with a decision. You don't know what you want to do. You can't decide what to eat . . . what to wear . . . who to call . . . what to think. You have moments when you feel completely unstrung.

And for some of you these moments last for years. You never quite get yourselves collected. You keep blowing hot and cold. Going overboard for things one minute . . . avoiding them like the plague the next. Falling head over heels for people one week . . . blithely ignoring them the next. You wear your emotions lightly on the sleeve. And people think yours is a fickle eye.

They could put their finger on you more readily if your nose and ears stood lined up in plain sight. If you'd make it known which foot you stand on. If your opinions and interests were definite. You'd be easier to cope with . . . and to catalogue . . . if you weren't so changeable.

When you were twelve you were positive you'd grow up to be a missionary. When you were fourteen you were equally sure you'd have separate rooms when you got married. When you were fifteen you knew you'd found the love of a lifetime. You may not now agree with your former self. You've accumulated information, experience, new points of view to color your thinking.

So think as straight as you can right now. Be flatfooted in your convictions—but keep on learning new ones. Have reasons for your tastes. Make sharp decisions. It's not a fatal operation to change your mind!
