Necessity is the mother of invention. The recent increase in the haircut price to one dollar by local barbers forced a student to turn barber. A Quadrangle resident offered his services and scissors to his friends Wednesday night. The price—50 cents.

Atomic Bomb Secret Out, Molotov Says

Anniversary Speech Accuses U. S., Britain Of War Preparation

MOSCOW (AP)—Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, in an address keynoting the 30th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, last night declared the "secret of the atomic bomb ceased to exist a long time ago." The United States and Britain, he said, clearly were making "a preparation for aggression."

(Molotov did not go as far as to say Russia had an atomic bomb.) Officials in Washington expressed the conviction that the speech was intended to calm Russian fears that they couldn't produce a bomb.)

Molotov emphasized that "all real friends of peace—and they constitute the majority of the people of any country—can rely on the fact that the Soviet Union will defend to the end the interests of universal peace."

He asserted the United States and Britain were pursuing a "quite different" policy. "It is clear that the creation of military bases in various parts of the world is not designed for defense purposes, but as a preparation for aggression," Molotov said.

(Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, Russia defense minister and a deputy premier, issued an order of the day declaring, "The Soviet people in two years of the five-year plan have built a country which can stand against any enemy.")

Molotov's statement on the atomic bomb said: "It is interesting that in expansionist circles of the U. S. a new, peculiar sort of illusion is widespread—while having no faith in their internal strength, faith is placed in the secret of the atomic bomb, although this secret . . . ceased to exist a long time ago."

"Evidently the imperialists need this faith in the atomic bomb which, as is known, is not a means of defense but a weapon of aggression."

Lashing out at "American imperialism" he declared certain quarters in the U. S. "no longer hide the fact that the United States is acquiring new naval and air bases in all parts of the globe, and even adopting whole states for such aims."

He cited Denmark, who, he said, had been unable to reassert her sovereignty over Greenland, and Egypt, who he said demands the withdrawal of British troops without effect.

450 Students Vow 'No Haircut' Until Price Is Lowered

In three hours yesterday, 450 students vowed not to get haircuts until local prices are lowered.

The action is a protest against the price increase on Monday, of haircuts from seventy-five cents to one dollar.

Several petitions were started at 4 p. m. yesterday by two students, Paul Opstad, A2, and David Taylor, A2.

The promoters said they would circulate the petitions to all fraternities and men's dormitories today.

Taylor said, "Our petition is intended to show the barbers of Iowa City that the student body as well as the town people regard this price raise as unnecessary."

Opstad continued, "This same action was taken in Purdue last fall. The students there signed a petition similar to ours and succeeded in lowering the prices for haircuts."

Both students urge the student body to support the petition. They said, "If everyone takes this protest seriously and refrains from paying this inflationary price, there is no doubt that we can alter this clipping."

Stassen Declares He Won't Accept Vice-President Spot

NEW YORK (AP)—Harold E. Stassen said yesterday he would not accept nomination for vice-president on the Republican ticket in 1948.

Stassen, avowed Republican presidential candidate, made his statement in reply to questions before leaving by plane for Minneapolis.

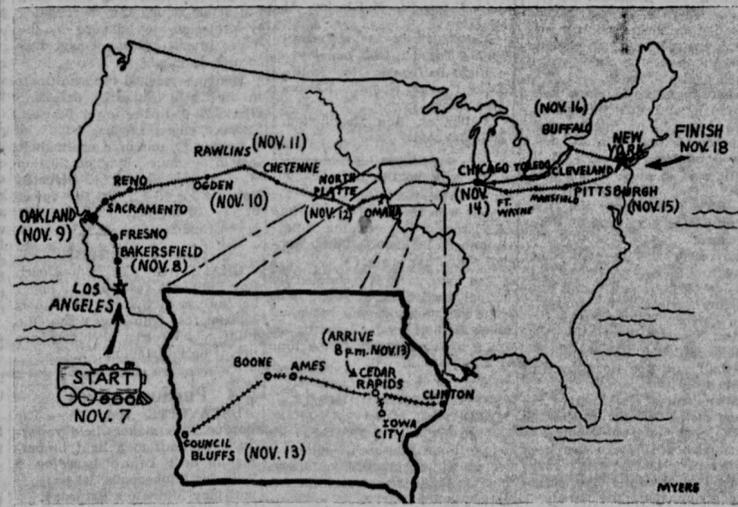

He first was asked by reporters if he would accept nomination as vice-president on a slate headed by General Dwight Eisenhower or General Douglas MacArthur.

"No," he replied, "I am running for the presidential nomination."

Then asked if the vice-presidential nomination were definitely unacceptable, Stassen replied in the affirmative.

Stassen told newsmen his campaign for the presidential nomination was "coming along in an encouraging manner, particularly in the middle west." He added that his supporters estimated that of 130 delegates from North and South Dakota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri and Minnesota approximately 100 would vote for him on the first ballot at the Republican convention.

Friendship Train Starts Journey Today

Friendship Gifts Mount to $978

Plan Booths On Campus

By RAY HENRY
The Friendship Train drive in Iowa City gained momentum yesterday as contributions mounted to $978.

Gifts yesterday came in from: Rotary $170, Individuals to banks $140, By mail $54, VFW post 2581 $25, To the mayor $17.

The train is scheduled to leave Los Angeles at 1 p. m. (CST) today. Arrival in Cedar Rapids, where it will pick up contributions from Iowa City, is set for 8 p. m. Nov. 13.

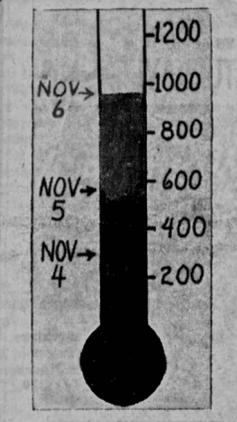

Harry Dunlap, chairman of the drive, said the campaign was progressing well. He said, "Our committee is urging the general public to contribute as well as the organizations in Iowa City."

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is spearheading the campaign and plans to contact schools, service clubs, fraternal groups, churches and civic groups before Monday evening, when the drive closes.

To collect money on the university campus, the American Veterans committee decided to set up booths. Townspeople may send money by mail to "Friendship Train, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Iowa City, Iowa," or take money directly to either bank.

The Jaycees plan to buy rolled oats at cost from a Cedar Rapids company. Along with the food gifts, special sheets with names of contributors will be sent.

The sheets carry at the top the American flag and the following message in French and Italian: "All races, colors and creeds make up the vast melting pot of America, and in a democratic and Christian spirit of goodwill toward men, we the American people have worked together to bring this food from our fields to your doorstep, hoping that it will tide you over until your own fields are again rich and abundant with crops."

The campaign has reached widespread interest all over the United States and the world. Hawaiian Governor Ingraham Stainback is flying to San Francisco to present a carload of sugar to be attached to the train today. The gift is given by the people of Honolulu, who donated an average of eight cents per person.

Two special trains are being attached at places along the announced route. One is coming up through Texas and will be put on at Omaha and the other starts at Louisville, Ky., and will be attached at Hammond, Ind.

Eight cars from Los Angeles and vicinity will make up the train when it leaves there.

Pair Charged With Murder

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Murder charges were filed yesterday against a young couple who were quoted by police as saying the hotel room shooting of William Pence, 45, was the outgrowth of a robbery plot.

Pence was found nude on his hotel room floor Monday with four bullet wounds in his body. He died yesterday.

The charge was filed against Carol Joy Campbell, 20, and her husband, Marvin Eugene Campbell, 19.

Detective Wayne Harbolt said the Campbell woman gave the following account of what happened in her signed statement: She met Pence Sunday night and after visiting a night club, telephoned her husband that they were going to Pence's room where there would be a poker game.

She said her husband was to have come to the hotel to break up the game and take the money. However, he failed to appear because he could not find a sitter for their 8-month-old baby daughter.

The Campbell woman said that after she had gone to bed with Pence, she got up and lit a cigarette, got the gun out of her purse and hit him over the head with it.

"He got up and started toward me. I shot him. I remember hearing three shots. He took the gun away from me and hit me with it. I ran into the bathroom and through the window out on the porch."

World in Action—Around The Globe

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTERS of Russia, Britain, France and the United States met yesterday in London to try to lay the groundwork for German and Austrian peace treaties. The deputies have the task of paving the way for new and probably decisive Big Four talks due to begin in London Nov. 25.

MUNICIPAL undertakers, truck drivers, sewer cleaners and health department workers of Paris went on strike last night as a gesture of solidarity with striking garbage collectors and water department workers.

IN ROMANIA Liberal party members were swept out of the Communist-dominated government yesterday as a result of the treason trial of Peasant Leader Juliu Maniu. Premier Petru Groza set about reorganizing his cabinet. The Liberals were the second largest party in parliament.

SEVEN Protestant clergymen who visited Yugoslavia to investigate the status of religious life there yesterday reported they found all churches being used "with as much freedom as we take for granted in America. There is in Yugoslavia today a genuine equality of religion before the law and the beginnings of true tolerance."

UNION REPRESENTATIVES from 92 General Electric company plants yesterday approved a program calling for a wage increase, curbs on any profiteering and stabilization of prices at lower levels.

Republicans To Seek 'Complete Report' On Europe Aid Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress squared away yesterday for a big battle over methods of aiding Europe, as Republican leaders called for a full disclosure of facts and scored the Truman administration for "incompetency" in handling foreign relief billions.

Secretary of State Marshall was asked to appear before senate and house foreign affairs committees next Monday and explain "in detail" the program for emergency aid this winter. Congress members specified the right to question him Tuesday and Wednesday.

They expect Marshall to give "a preliminary, general view" of the proposed $22,400,000,000 long-range Marshall program of European recovery.

Officials variously have estimated this country's direct share in the proposed, long-term program as from $16,000,000,000 to $20,000,000,000.

The latest estimate indicated that the United States, which had been expected to shoulder the bulk of the foreign-aid cost may be called upon to carry virtually the entire burden.

Earlier, President Truman tagged the matter of stop-gap help the No. 1 priority when congress returns Nov. 17, giving it precedence over inflation control.

But the whole question of billions-for-Europe threatened to boil over into a protracted wrangle even before the lawmakers' return as evidenced by House Speaker Martin's (R-Mass.) dictum that his party will stand for no "rubber stamping" of the administration's plans.

Martin Says Extra Session To Speed Aid

Feels Tax Bill Should Top List When House Meets Next January

WASHINGTON (AP)—The prospect for tax cutting legislation during the special session of congress was dampened yesterday by President Truman and House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr.

The President told a news conference that his message opening the extra session Nov. 17 will contain no references to tax revision.

At the same time, Martin told another group of reporters that he thinks the special session will be too busy on foreign aid and price stabilization problems to consider taxes.

The Republican speaker added, however, that it is his own "personal inclination" that a tax reduction bill be made the first order of business when congress assembles in regular session next January. Under the constitution, all revenue legislation must originate in the house.

Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.) of the house ways and means committee has been urging quick action on a proposed $4,000,000,000 tax cut.

Senator Maybank (D-S.C.), who visited the White House after the news conference, told reporters that Mr. Truman wants to confine the special session exclusively to the foreign aid and anti-inflation taxes.

The President, who already has vetoed two tax bills this year, declined to comment when a reporter asked if he would veto a third. He said he would take care of that situation when it arises.

Martin made it plain that he was speaking only for himself. He said the Republican steering committee of the house may have different ideas.

Meanwhile, there were the strongest indications that the administration will offer its own tax program to congress some time next year with the accent on revision and reform, rather than outright cuts.

It is expected to differ sharply from Knutson's percentage-cut proposals. The Minnesota legislator sought to authorize reductions ranging from 30 percent in the lowest brackets to 10.5 percent at the top.

Senator Wherry (R-Neb.) announced he will back legislation which would restore to farmers the right to deduct from their income taxes the cost of fertilization and other improvements to the land. Wherry is his party's whip and assistant floor leader.

Hughes Plane Plant Called Country Club

WASHINGTON (AP)—A discharged plant manager yesterday called Howard Hughes' aircraft plant in California a "country club" in which he was unable to speed production on $40,000,000 worth of wartime contracts.

Charles W. Perelle, the airplane production manager, also told the senate war investigating subcommittee he personally fired John W. Meyer, Hughes' free-spending publicity man, by letter in September, 1945. Meyer, however, has been shown to have stayed on the payroll.

But by December, 1945, Perelle said, he himself had been discharged from his $75,000 job by Hughes for "insubordination."

Perelle's long recital of "internal bickering" in the wartime Hughes plant came after the senate group put aside for the time being a committee contention that Hughes and his companies owe a "tax deficiency" of $5,919,921.

Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich.) said the committee must maintain its witness schedule and that Hughes or his aides will get a chance to explain the tax and profits angle later.

'Hens for Harry' Arrive at White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Crates of clucking chickens began arriving yesterday at the White House and the Luckman food committee headquarters as irate fowl producers protested poultryless Thursdays.

The idea, variously described by Washington wits as a "Hens for Harry" or "Leghorns for Luckman" movement, apparently originated in New York and was spreading.

The thesis the growers were trying to get across was that they couldn't sell the birds, couldn't afford to keep feeding them, and therefore the government ought to figure out the answer.

By coincidence, the agriculture department issued a report that poultry is glutting the nation's markets. It was estimated that close to 100 chickens had reached here by mid-afternoon. The food committee was forwarding its crates to the Salvation Army, and the White House sent its donations to the Walter Reed hospital for veterans.

Grocers Up Prices On 9 Basic Items

BY MERRITT LUDWIG
The student family market basket index this week took the biggest jump yet recorded in The Daily Iowan price surveys.

One grocer said, "You haven't seen anything yet. We grocers have been taking a beating in efforts to go slow on price increases. But now the break has come and we're going to have to raise prices."

Nine of 24 basic foods surveyed yesterday went up in price to peg the index at $18.60, a 19-cent increase over last week's figure.

Major increases came in butter, coffee, canned peaches, soap and flour. Meat prices were down, but not enough to offset the sharp rises in other prices.

Food Index Hikes to New High

Butter led the price increases this week—8 cents above last week. It sold at an average 79 cents a pound yesterday. Grocers lamented they practically were giving it away at this price in view of the wholesale price rise.

A 10-pound sack of flour went up 10 cents to $1.15. This increase was laid to higher transportation rates.

Yet at the same time, grocers spoke of impending rises in all cereal products. Said one, "All cereals from rice to Wheaties are going up rapidly."

Coffee, an old reliable at 49 cents a pound, was tagged 51 cents this week—8 cents above last week. A No. 2 1/2 can of sliced peaches also went up 2 cents.

ITEMS	THIS WEEK	LAST WEEK
1 lb. Iowa Brand Butter	79	71
1 doz. grade A eggs	59	59
1 lb. Hills Bros. Coffee	51	49
1 doz. med. size oranges	49	49
10 lb. Idaho potatoes	63	60
No. 2 can Tenderwest Peas (med.)	30	30
No. 2 can VanCamp Pork & Beans	15	15
No. 2 1/2 can DelMonte Slic. Peaches	35	33
1 can Campbell Tomato Soup	12	12

1 lb. 4 Oz. box Quaker Oats	18	17
1/2 lb. pkg. Baker's Cocoa (unsweet)	39	39
2 lb. Kraft Velveeta Cheese	99	99
1 lb. Armour Lard	34	33
1 lb. Ground Beef	45	47
1 lb. "choice" round steak	75	75
1 lb. Center Cut Pork Chops	65	67
1 lb. 1st Grade Bacon	35	39
1 20 oz. loaf white bread	17	17
1 qt. grade A milk	17	17
Market Basket Total: This Week—$18.60. Last Week—$18.61.

Despite agriculture department reports of great supplies of sugar, the price of 5 pounds of cane was 55 cents yesterday, an increase of 2 cents. Grocers said there was no "run" on sugar in Iowa City this week. One ventured the guess that industrial users of sugar had made the "run" and were responsible for the price rise.

Peace definitely has been declared in the soap price war of a few weeks back. A large size box of soap flakes was marked 37

Rossie Downed by Thornton

Berens Held to Draw in CR Bout

Bob Rossie, University of Iowa student, dropped a three round decision to Ralph Thornton of Keokuk at Cedar Rapids Wednesday night in a 155 pound bout.

Rossie was one of four Iowa City glovemans who took part in the Cedar Rapids card. The quartet returned with two wins, one draw and one loss.

Thornton, a lefthander, kept Rossie away throughout two rounds, giving him few openings and handily withstood the local's outburst in the third. The win gives Thornton a 2-1 edge over his rival in three meetings.

Bob Berens, another Iowa student and former state middle-weight champion, earned a split decision in his slugfest with Don Twachtman of Oxford Junction in the 160 pound division.

Roger Welty, also of Iowa City, a squat 147 pound ringman, won his bout with Dewayne Porter of Ft. Dodge. His victory was a definite decision over the taller Porter.

Lyle Seydel of Iowa City, 118, fought to a clean win over Ft. Dodge's Bud Flair, weathering a second round pelting in doing it.

Injured Hawklets Face Viking Eleven

City high's limping Little Hawks, minus two key men, will take to Shrader field tonight against the powerful Decarah high Vikings. Kick-off time for the Little Hawk finale of the season is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

The Vikings, who lost to Waverly last week, 7-0, after being undefeated, meets City high in its worst physical condition of the year.

Ends Virgil Troyer and Dick Brown, injured in the rough Burlington game, will dress for this evening's contest, but it is doubtful whether either of them will see action. Brown, a defensive wingman, and Troyer, a good pass receiver and a defensive end, will be missed by the Red and White forward wall.

Billy Reichardt, City high's 1947 all-state prospect, will see only limited service, if any at all. The big fullback is limping on an ankle which was also hurt in last Monday night's Greyhound battle. same game.

Other Red and White casualties are Backs Dick Williams and Bob Beals and Guard Don Strub and End Keith Hemingway. Hemingway, who played his best game of the year at Burlington and received a bruised leg and a black eye doing it, will start at right end in place of Troyer.

To add reserve strength to the crippled Hawklet varsity, Coach Frank Bates will dress some of the more promising members of this fall's unbeaten Freshman-Sophomore team. Halfback Jerry White and Quarterback Kenny Hay may get to play their first real game against Decarah, Bates said yesterday.

Decarah brings one of the best teams in the state here tonight, and the City high eleven will be more than busy if they are to stop hard-charging Viking Fullback Jack Dickman. Dickman is also an excellent passer.

Hamlet Peterson, Decarah quarterback, is only a sophomore, but if he lives up to advance notices, he'll be something for the Little Hawks to keep an eye on, too.

Exams Foil Badgers

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—School examinations kept many Wisconsin football players away from gridiron workouts yesterday and the rest of the squad went through a general review of assignments for the Homecoming Saturday against Iowa.

Iowa Line Juggled as Team Departs

With four newcomers added to the starting lineup, Iowa's Hawkeyes will leave via bus for Madison, Wis., this morning at 8:30 in a round-about route which will take them to Janesville, Wis., where they will spend tonight before going on to the Badger school tomorrow morning.

Coach Eddie Anderson yesterday announced a 36-man travelling squad to make the trip and also announced four line changes different than the one which opened against Purdue.

Anderson plans to start Bob McKenzie and Bob Phillips at the ends in place of the Shoener twins, while Don Winslow has moved into the first string left tackle spot in place of Big Jim Shoaf. One other change will see Dick Laster with the first string center job ahead of Dick Woodard.

The rest of the line will round out with Bill Kay at right tackle and Joe Grothus and Game Captain Ray Carlson at the guards.

Emlen Tunnell is listed as the second string left halfback while Al DiMarco has been dropped to fourth string. DiMarco has been playing in a fourth string backfield all week while the scrubs were scrimmaging the varsity.

Travelling Squad

Right tackles: Bill Kay, Jim Cozard, Bob Geigel

Right ends: Bob Phillips, Herb Shoenker, Jack Dittmer, Tony Guzowski

Quarterbacks: Louis King, John Estes, Jim McKinstry, Al DiMarco

Right halfbacks: Bob Smith, Duke Curran, Quentin Kaiser-shot, Jack Legg

Fullbacks: Ron Headington, Bob Reynolds

This will be the last of four consecutive road trips for the Hawks who will be playing before a Wisconsin Homecoming capacity crowd of 45,000 at Camp Randall stadium.

The Iowa party is scheduled for arrival in Madison at about 10:30 Saturday morning and will eat lunch at the Lorraine hotel before going to the stadium. Game time is 2 p.m.

Intramural Grid, Volleyball Results

SAE defeated Sigma Chi, 42-21, and Phi Gamma Delta, 24-19, yesterday to make a clean sweep of the lower bracket and gain the finals of the Social fraternity volleyball tourney.

Law Commons B trounced North Grand, 37-21, to reach the finals in the SGL league. Law Commons A forfeited to South Quad II in the lower bracket of that loop.

On the intramural gridiron, Beta Theta Pi nosed out Phi Gamma Delta, 14-13, reversing a previous 9-0 defeat which they successfully protested, to advance in the lower bracket of the Social fraternity league.

Thatcher reached the semifinals in the Town league by defeating Black, 29-0. In the lower bracket, Spencer edged Loyola, 7-0.

Section G, unscored on in their last three games, handled Section B, 7-0, and Section K defeated Section F, 19-12, in the lower bracket of the Hillcrest loop.

N. Y. Group Honors Iowan

BY CHUCK SMITH

Earl Banks, Hawkeye guard, has been selected as one of the outstanding gridmen of the year by a special committee of newspaper and radio sports experts.

He received the following telegram yesterday afternoon:

You have been selected by a special committee of newspaper and radio sports experts as outstanding football player of the year. This year's winter ball and dinner will be held at the Waldorf Astoria, N. Y., on Saturday evening, November 23, to honor the football players selected by the committee of sports writers. Therefore we invite you to attend the dinner and the ball with any girl of your selection at our expense including railroad fare and hotel accommodations at Waldorf Astoria and receive your special gift to be presented by the committee headed by the mayor of New York City.

Please wire me collect your acceptance to 47-51 33rd st., Long Island City, N. Y. or phone reverse charge Plaza 5-4306 if further information is required. Congratulations. Walter S. Mack, member ball executive comm.

Mack is an executive in the Pepsi-Cola company.

Banks made all-Big Nine last season and was rated as one of the top linemen in the country.

He was in the starting lineup for the Hawkeyes this year until the Iowa-UCLA clash. After that game Coach Eddie Anderson "benched" him. However, despite losing his starting berth to Ray Lineman of year . . .

Carlson, he has been an important cog in the Hawkeye line, both as offense and defense.

In the eyes of some mid-western sports writers, he had lost the "zip" that made him the terror of the midwest last year.

"I couldn't believe it," Banks said last night after reading the telegram. Coach Anderson couldn't be reached last night for comment.

Banks' home is in Chicago. He is a graduate of Wendell Phillips high school, Chicago, where he made all-city and all-state in 1944. This is the team that won the city championship.

Banks entered the service in August of 1944 and upon his discharge, he entered the University of Iowa in 1946.

WSUI To Feature Music by Iowans

The Daughters of the American Revolution will present another in the series of radio programs featuring original compositions by Iowa composers tomorrow morning at 11:30 over WSUI.

Compositions written by Mrs. Val Jean Phillips have been arranged by Mrs. Paul Shaw, member of Pilgrim chapter, for the half-hour program.

The five compositions to be played are "Sonatina for Flute"; "Fuguetto", a piano selection; "Two Short Pieces", a piano suite; "Many Moons", an oboe suite, and "Post Ludium", a cello solo.

Mrs. Phillips received the first and second prizes for her oboe and piano suites this summer in a contest sponsored by the Iowa Federation of Music clubs. She was graduated from the university in 1946 and is now an Iowa City resident.

Cedar Rapids Dance Open To SUI Students

SUI students may attend a free dance at "The Loft", 119 1/2 Third Avenue, S. E., Cedar Rapids, from 7:30 to 12 p. m. Friday.

The dance, sponsored by the Cedar Rapids playground and recreation commission, will be open to college students in the Cedar Rapids vicinity. Al Spetino's band will play.

According to Irwin Nelson, director of activities, the dance will give college students from neighboring schools an opportunity to meet.

'Back-To-School' PTA Meeting Announced

Annual back-to-school and membership night Monday at City high school will begin PTA meetings this year.

"School" will start at 7:30 p. m. and each teacher will be in his classroom to meet parents of the students. Following "classes" a social hour will be held in the cafeteria.

Mrs. A. E. Williams, president, invites all parents to attend and become members of the group.

Attends Soil Parley

H. Howard Oak, local conservationist, has been attending the bi-annual meeting of Iowa district soil conservation officers at Ames the past three days.

SUI Puts On Winter Coat

The university is preparing for winter.

Outdoor pipes in temporary housing units and university buildings are being drained, according to Glenn Wentzel of the university steam and plumbing shop.

"Before the temporary housing units were here it took two men one week to do this job," Wentzel said. "They have drained 1,000 pipes in the past month," he added, "and the work is not quite finished."

One hundred and twenty-five wooden coverings for tunnel ventilation units were installed this week.

According to R. J. Phillips of the physical plant, screens must be removed from Old Capitol, leaves raked and removed and seeding completed before the first snowfall.

Tri-Delts Celebrate 59th Anniversary

Delta Delta Delta sorority will hold its annual founders day dinner Monday night at 6 o'clock in the River room of Iowa Union.

The dinner will celebrate the 59th anniversary of the group. Alumnae and active members have been invited to attend.

Mrs. Phyllis Kelso will be toastmistress. Susan Gronna will speak for the active chapter and Mrs. Merle Bristol for the Alumnae group.

Three awards will be presented by Mrs. Jean Wolfe, scholarship advisor, to the members with the highest scholarship rating for the year.

Mrs. Phyllis Kelso and Mrs. Beth Johnson are in charge of arrangements.

Through the thousands of store buyers who are the patrons of the apparel production centers of the nation comes the voice of the clothes-consuming public.

The choices of the retailers, transmitted to the manufacturing markets through millions of miles of their own and of salesmen's journeys, are originally the tastes of the wearers.

'Shoeshine' -- Disturbing Tragedy

By JACK O'BRIEN
"Shoeshine" is rank, unadulterated tragedy. As such, it is a novel experience in contemporary cinema. It is a noble experiment in the documentary technique. It is a disturbing, fatiguing, heart-sickening movie. And it is a marvelously effective movie.

The recent and ridiculous Hollywood collaboration with the house un-American activities committee provided filmdom with another and, we assume, welcome opportunity to reiterate its stand on film making. The primary purpose of the American movie, as of the American radio and most of our other media of communication, is to entertain, say the distinguished powers-that-be.

Educate? Yes—if you insist. But, it's the old story of the sugar-coated pill. First you must entertain and amuse. Information must forever remain an unconscious process. To instruct is to invite box-office disaster.

So far as I could determine there is nothing "entertaining" about "Shoeshine" in the rather limited American definition of the term.

The film starts off on a misleadingly light note. The introductory musical score has an almost carousel-like gaiety about it. But the movie soon evolves into a harrowing note of reality. The natural attitude of the performers; the news-reel-like authenticity of the backgrounds are matched by the merciless chain of futile circumstances which enwrap the characters . . . events which construct the basis of the film story.

This is tragedy in the classic sense. A modern, documentary retelling of the unalleviated tragedy which originated with the Greeks and which so fascinated Shakespeare. A couple of likeable youngsters are swept along in a vortex of events, both circumstantial and bureaucratic, which are beyond their comprehension . . . beyond their childish efforts of struggle or even explanation.

Friendship is warped into hatred through lies and intrigue. Understanding is distorted into confusion and despair through hatred and revenge. And the natural, the inevitable result of hopeless accumulation of emotions and events is . . . the ultimate tragedy . . . the accidental death of one friend at the hands of another.

This is a depressing film. But who can be politically-economically realistic without being depressed? If there are those who must think it is weak because there is no final note of encouragement, there are all those who must appreciate the fact that it is strong because there is no false note of melodramatic hope.

The Italian film-makers are slowly but convincingly realizing a complete metamorphosis in their cinematic art. "Open City" was a realistic portrait of that nation at war. It was excellent. "Shoeshine" is an equally realistic portrait of the aftermath of the same war on that same nation. And it is equally excellent.

The honesty of the Italian film-makers is to be commended. Their sordid picture of an embittered but still so human people lost in a state of bureaucratic chaos; opportunists and victims in the black market, is too mature to be condemned . . . as cinema. There is no clear-cut moral. There is only the simple statement of a demoralizing fact as it exists.

Their portrait is utterly hopeless, utterly futile. But because of this their movie is extraordinary. There is no acting. There are only people behaving as people.

There is no "art." Except for those who realize that any reflection on celluloid of life as it is being lived by a whole people now . . . in our time . . . is art of the most vital and compelling kind.

You may not "like it, but "Shoeshine" is a great picture in its own unglamorous way. You most certainly will not be amused. But, if you have the courage to view simple, senseless tragedy (an art which is lost to the American cinema) you owe it to yourself to see it.

TO ALL SENIORS:

College of Liberal Arts and Commerce

DEAR SENIORS:

The University photographer will begin taking Hawkeye pictures of all seniors in the colleges of Liberal Arts and Commerce on Monday, Nov. 10.

Sometime this month you will receive a postcard from the Hawkeye office, listing the time of your appointment with the photographer. The cards are being sent out alphabetically at the rate of 50 a day, and the first group already has been mailed.

Besides telling you the time of your appointment, and the location of the photographer's studio, the card will inform you that you must first call at the University Treasurer's office to pay the fee of $2.00, which covers the cost of the Hawkeye picture and one additional print.

Be sure to have this receipt with you when you come to be photographed.

Signed Respectfully,

'No OPA' Says Merchants in Iowa City Poll

Iowa City's small businessmen vigorously oppose re-establishment of OPA controls.

This opposition was revealed by figures released yesterday by Robert L. Gage, Chamber of Commerce secretary.

Figures are obtained by balloting on questions of national policy posed by the National Federation of Small Businesses, Inc., Gage said. Federation membership includes 75 local businessmen.

Members were asked their opinions on six questions, Gage explained.

All those voting were against re-establishment of OPA controls to counter the price spiral.

Seventy-one percent also favored ending "double taxation" on corporate income and dividends.

Three-fourths of the businessmen polled favored tax reduction regardless of reduction of the national debt, while 86 percent were for tax reduction regardless of foreign relief.

When questioned on the issue of prohibiting gas, fuel oil and fuel oil exports until domestic needs are met, 88 percent were in favor of the ban. The same number opposed labor union "follow the leader" wage patterns where major unions and large industry fix contracts for the entire industry.

The completed ballot, signed by the member, is mailed to his congressman. Thus the federation provides a means for small businessmen to express their views to their congressmen on national policies, Gage said.

Speakers Arrive for Iowa-Oxford Debate

The three Oxford debaters, arriving this afternoon for the 20th international debate with Iowa, will be entertained, interviewed and banqueted before and after tonight's verbal battle in Macbride auditorium.

At 4 p. m. today, Elaine Lenney will interview the British and Iowa debaters over WSUI.

Delta Sigma Rho speech fraternity will give a dinner at Iowa Union before the debate. Members of Delta Sigma Rho, their wives and husbands, the participants, and Rhodes scholars including President and Mrs. Virgil Hancher, and Paul Engle, chairman of the debate, will attend.

Delta Sigma Rho members will hold an informal reception at the Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity house following the debate.

There will also be a reception at the Hancher home Saturday night.

The Oxford debaters, who are traveling throughout the United States and Canada in the second postwar international debate, are Sir Edward C. Boyle, Mr. David K. Harris, and the Honorable Anthony Wedgwood Benn. Iowa participants are David Cornell, Merrill Baker, and Charles Guggenheim.

The subject of tonight's debate is "Resolved: That the danger of war can best be averted by an all-purpose Anglo-American Alliance."

Decision will be made by the audience on the merits of the question. There are no reservations or admission charges.

A daughter weighing 6-pounds, 14-ounces, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kadlec, 1103 1/2 E. College street.

Favor Stassen For President, Poll Reveals

Harold E. Stassen is the favorite Republican presidential candidate of 40 percent of 400 students polled by the university Young Republicans league last week.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of N. Y. drew 17 percent, Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Mich., 8 percent, and Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, 7 percent.

Some 61 percent of the students questioned did not believe presidential tenure should be limited to two terms.

A big 70 percent did not want the voting age lowered to 18.

Seventy-three percent did not believe both sides of the controversial Taft-Hartley bill had received equal publicity.

The poll did not indicate which party, labor or management, had received greater publicity.

Students were more evenly divided on the issue of American Communists. On the question of whether American Communists follow dictates of the Russians, 46 percent voted "yes," 33 percent "no," and 21 percent had no opinions.

A slight plurality, 38 percent, thought American Communists were trying to overthrow our government. Thirty-four percent disagreed, and 19 percent had no opinion.

The poll was conducted in several fraternities and in political science, economics and speech classes.

Finish Paving Walks In $18,000 Project

Three-fourths of a mile of paved walks at the stadium were finished this week, according to George Horner, university architect.

This $18,000 project also includes the installation of storm sewers, Horner said.

The work was started Sept. 1.

Today's Special—Roast Leg of Mutt

The Quad cafeteria is a pretty doggy place.

Canine visitors make their way downstairs to the dining room in spite of the vigilance of dieticians and the help. Once there, they beg morsels of food from anyone who will give them a handout.

One night last week as supper was going on with the usual ear-splitting din, one of the younger moochers became entangled with a paying customer who accidentally stepped on the mutt's foot. The resultant yelping brought a momentary lull in the conversation.

"You can't get away with that," came a stentorian voice from one corner of the hall. "Get that dog out of the meat grinder."

It's Tough All Over

RAPID CITY, S. D. (AP)—Major William I. Wilson, a B-29 pilot at the army air field here, housed-hunted six months. Meanwhile, he and Mrs. Wilson lived in tourist cabins and whatever temporary quarters they could find.

At last they spotted and bought a house. They had their friends in Wednesday night for a housewarming.

Yesterday Wilson was transferred to Spokane.

Issue Permits For 4 Houses

Charles Morganstern, realtor, and Hubert Miller, contractor, have obtained building permits from the city engineer for four of 31 new homes to be constructed in the 7 1/2-acre addition opened in east Iowa City this fall.

The four residences, with adjoining garages, are valued at $9,000 each. They are a part of what the builders call the "College Court addition."

Morganstern earlier announced that construction would begin along East Court street from the College street intersection.

P.H.A. loan services will be available to purchasers of the dwellings.

Marshalltown Displays 22 Paintings by Cox

A one-man-show of 22 paintings done in watercolor and gouache by Prof. Joseph Cox of the art department is now on exhibition in Marshalltown.

The paintings have already been shown at Concordia and St. Olaf colleges in Minnesota. The Marshalltown exhibit, held at the exhibit room of the Central Art Association, will last through November.

We Must Aid Europe Davidson Tells Rotary

William Davidson of Davenport, one of the farmers who recently toured Europe to survey food needs, spoke today at the weekly meeting of the Rotary club in the Jefferson hotel.

Davidson told of conditions in the war-ravaged states of Europe, and placed great emphasis on the urgent need for American help—soon—if we are to have any voice in future world affairs.

Quonsets, Trailers Get Outside Paint

Quonset park is getting a "new face."

All units in this area were repainted on the outside, according to J. Robert Cotter, manager of married students housing.

The apartments are now being painted, Cotter said, according to the residents choice of color.

Utility trailers at Hawkeye village and Riverdale are also getting a new coat of paint, Cotter added.

Apartment units will be painted every five years, he said.

Suffers Broken Hip

Mrs. Sarah Warnock, 74, route 1, Washington, Iowa, was admitted yesterday to Mercy hospital with a broken hip.

Prof. S. B. Barker Speaks to Seminar

Prof. S. B. Barker of the physiology department will speak at the zoology seminar today at 4:30 p. m. in room 205, zoology building.

He will discuss the International Physiological congress held at Oxford, England last summer and will show colored pictures taken at Oxford, Cambridge and London.

Barker attended the congress as a representative of the University of Iowa.

Barnes To Address Industrial Managers

Prof. Ralph M. Barnes of the mechanical engineering department will speak before the industrial management society conference in Chicago today.

He will also address a luncheon meeting of SU1 alumni there.

Barnes will give a preliminary report on a college of engineering study on the standard time requirements for certain factory operations.

Nurses Can Register Now for Army Duty

Graduate registered nurses, physical therapists and dietitians may apply for duty in the army nurse corps, Sgt. O. A. McClung announced yesterday.

Nurses will be commissioned second lieutenants with a pay grade of $180 a month. Other allowances are also permitted.

Registered nurses must be under 35 years of age and have no dependents over 14 years of age.

The Only Thing That Stands in It's Way . . .

(Modeled in Clay and Photographed for The Daily Iowan by Gail Myers)

Friendship Train Symbol of America

Iowa City's contributions for the Friendship Train are rolling into Junior Chamber of Commerce headquarters as evidence of local support for this means of helping to feed Europe.

Iowa City schools, service clubs, fraternal groups, churches, civic clubs and veterans organizations are all doing their bit to help.

For this is the way a national public policy filters down to the individual citizen. No one thinks the Friendship Train of itself will banish hunger in Europe this winter. It will be only a small part of the vast amount of aid that will be needed.

This train symbolizes the grass roots desire of individual Americans to help Europe and that is vastly important.

It needs all the backing and support of every local citizen. Only unalloyed indifference can prevent its success. The organizations and individuals who have already contributed can expect others to give generously to this expression of our real desire to be friendly.

The Friendship Train will reach into many cities and towns and draw for others what may prove to be our strongest weapon in a fear-fraught world—friendliness.

SUI Men Pick 'New Look'—Or Did They?

The male judges at the UWA fashion show Wednesday night may have thought they were picking the "new look" but they were actually complimenting grandmother.

For centuries women have been trying to improve upon their standard equipment of a mouth, two eyes, a nose and a few hanks of hair in an attempt to out-glamourize their competition of the past. Fashion magazines have been introducing the "latest thing" ever since their first publications.

Every new beauty aid on which women squander money has its counterpart in the past.

When today's woman combs her hair in an elaborate sweep she thinks about how her boy friend will like it, when she should be comparing herself with the Warrau Indian woman of South America who kept her top knot neatly in place by kneading it with honey and then plastering it with iridescent fish scales.

When the modern girl applies bright paint to her fingernails and toenails she's merely imitating the Fellatah women of Africa who dyed their entire fingers and toes bright purple by wrapping them in henna leaves.

Recently a member of the Gibson anthropological expedition opened an ancient Peruvian tomb. He discovered the mummy of a pre-Inca girl who lived more than one thousand years ago.

She had rouged lips and cheeks, plucked eyebrows, bobbed hair and tinted fingernails. Found in her vanity bag were a powder puff, tweezers and orangewood stick, rouge, lipstick and powder.

The eagerly sought "new look" was considered old stuff by our ancestors years ago.

Another Round in Great Game of Politics

Before very long the tumultuous assemblies of Republican and Democrat national conventions will herald the coming of the great American pageant—the national election.

The rumblings have started and will soon crescendo to an electoral decision, the weight of which will rest upon the American people.

The problems of dollar a pound butter, food control, increased living costs resulting from aid to starving Europeans, control of atomic research and many other issues of national and/or international importance will be fired at voters by members of both parties.

Hundreds of speeches will be made, floods of ink and several million dollars expended, all for one purpose—to influence voters. Out of the barrage of ballyhoo and bullying the voter must make his decision. The responsibility is great, and in order to perform his job well the voter must go to the polls armed with as much of the truth as he can possibly glean from news sources and enlightened speakers.

The time to start gleaning is now—Iowa primaries will be held in June.

Conscientious citizens of the state will have investigated their candidates by then and will be prepared to vote intelligently. Citizens of less probity will wait until after the national conventions and form their decisions on emotional foundations.

Calm and enlightened decisions keep a nation dynamic—not wildcat opinions developed in the heat of political campaigns.

Pressure War Over German Peace Pact

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

A separate peace treaty with western Germany would mean a major shift in American policy toward Europe and, at least until further information is available, reports that it is being drafted can be taken with reservations.

It must be remembered that the deputy foreign ministers are at work and that the foreign ministers themselves will meet soon. There is a bitter conflict over Germany, and each side is conducting a pressure war.

If Molotov could be convinced before he comes to London that the other nations plan drastic action unless the four powers can reach some agreement, it might cause him to make some concessions.

The United States, however, has been holding firmly to one facet of its policy. That is a determination not to accept the division of Europe as permanent. A separate peace with western Germany would violate that policy by making the division far more rigid.

For the anti-Communist bloc to take such a step would also put the Germans in a nutcracker which they are by no means ready to withstand. Once we sign with a German government, the Germans would know just where they stand with us. Then they would be faced with peace proposals from the Communist bloc to the east. Tremendous pressure could be applied, and big inducements offered. Russia would still be in a bargaining position after the western powers had tied their own hands.

Also, a separate peace would be no peace at all, from either our own or the German standpoint, unless it provided for withdrawal of troops. France, justifiably, would scream bloody murder at that. And the Russians would immediately begin an infiltration of western Germany.

It is possible that, to impress Russia, the proponents of a "separate peace" are using the phrase as a general over-all term rather than in its specific meaning. If you substitute the term "settlement" you may get a better idea of what may actually take place. It has been obvious for nearly two years that the western powers eventually would have to organize western Germany as an entity, dropping the pretense of four-power control. It is just as obvious that we have every intention of using German industry as a weapon in the fight to save all Europe from the bolsheviks and as one of the greatest factors in the European self-help share of the Marshall plan.

The needs of the present seem to call much more strongly for Germany to be used and managed to the utmost as a forward position for the anti-Communist fight than for worry over her rebirth as a nation.

Letters to Editor

(Due to a misunderstanding, an editorial class assignment by Ray Guth was printed as a Letter to the Editor yesterday. The position taken by Mr. Guth was merely for the purpose of a class exercise and is not his own conviction.—The Editor.)

Professor Favors Canvass of Class

TO THE DAILY IOWAN:
There is much to be said in favor of grading professors. Certainly a dull, lifeless instructor is intolerable, just as a student of like nature is a thorn in a professor's flesh.

But isn't there danger that this whole campus movement may backfire and blow up in the students' faces? After all, the professor has the last word in determining grades. He is a pretty sensitive being. He is self-conscious and in general is a conscientious fellow, especially the less experienced one. If the instructor thought his class had given him a low mark on ability to put across his subject, he might reason that his lack of success was due to the stupidity and un-receptivity of his class. The grades of his students at the end of the semester might show his adverse reaction.

I can envision a better plan than a questionnaire of rating professors, which imposes a distasteful duty upon the administration. Would it not be better for students to canvass the members of a class secretly and present a statement to the instructor setting forth what was felt lacking in his method of presentation, including the assurance that the criticism was endorsed by the entire class.

As I have just said, most instructors are conscientious but are not always aware of short-comings. A polite but earnest statement such as I suggest would carry more potency than a veiled or open threat.

Some of us instructors have the feeling that if and when we have become dulled by age and appear sunk in a groove, we hope to be pitched out. For the present age calls for men and women instructors for men and on their toes and have fresh ideas regardless of age.

Rats, Not Dogs Are Menace in Riverdale

TO THE DAILY IOWAN:
There was an article in The Daily Iowan of Wednesday to the effect that all pets must be removed from university housing areas. This ruling will cause much bad feeling among owners of these pets. It seems to me that to enforce this regulation is quite unnecessary.

The article says that a child was bitten last spring. It doesn't say whether by a student-owned pet or by one of the stray dogs which hang around the housing areas. Incidentally, many of these "stray" dogs wear collars and city and county dog tags. Eliminating pets won't eliminate the danger of the children being attacked by dogs.

Dr. M. E. Barnes of the health department recommends disposal of the pets as a means of preventing disease and injury to children. I am sure Dr. Barnes would agree that rats are as much or more of a menace to health than are dogs. If the university is primarily concerned with the health of residents, let them exterminate these rodents first. All they've done so far is to advise us not to feed rats, by leaving garbage in exposed places. Our system of garbage disposal in Riverdale is very satis-

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT Plain Talk to Congress

By SAMUEL GRAFTON
New York Post Syndicate

There's no law says the President's communications to congress absolutely have to be written in a tony, formal style.

I wonder what would happen if the President talked things over with the legislative branch, in the simple, direct way a man uses with his business associates, his wife, or even his board of directors during a crisis.

The President could say something like this, when congress convenes on the 17th: Gentlemen: Well, here we are again, and my first word to you is: Leave us not kid each other.

"Have I been getting it, since you were last here? First you kill price control, and then you go away. A fine thing, mountains and seashore and trips abroad for you, but you leave little Harry in the White House, so when anybody gets sore at the price of beef, who do you suppose he writes to? Yeah, that's who.

"Then you tell me I've got to stop Stalin. Well, I've been stopping Stalin for four months, now, while you've been away on your undoubtedly pleasant little trips. I did get off to Brazil for a bit, but that car skidded. However, that's neither here nor there. The point is, you say to me, let's you and him fight, and you go away, and to stop Stalin I have to get some food to Europe.

"Without price control? Why, every time I buy a car of wheat, the price shoots up. When I don't buy, it shoots up anyway, on the theory that I'm going to buy. "I try to ease the pressure on wheat by setting up a food saving program. Out of respect for you, I have to make it voluntary. You boys and girls get nervous at anything compulsory, so I have to do it with publicity. Stop world famine, you tell me, with publicity. Why don't you just give me a paper fan, and tell me to wave it away?"

"So we set up a poultryless Thursday. You know what happens. We eat fewer chickens, so the chickens aren't killed, they eat more grain, and we end up using more grain than ever.

Meanwhile, I begin to look as if I'm not very good in there. All because I'm respecting you. I don't mind respecting you, but it hurts when it makes me look as if I don't know where to put my feet.

"Same way with meatless Tuesday. Every farmer goes right on feeding grain. But you wouldn't ask your farmer friends to agree to an allocation of feed grains, would you? Oh, no. I do without bread two days a week while every cow in the country eats its head off in corn and wheat. And who am I? Just the President of the United States, that's all.

"When I ask for a few controls that could handle the thing right, some of you boys on the Republican side yell that you can't work with me, because you don't like my theories of government. I know what means, don't tell me. There's a Presidential year coming up, and so maybe you're going to bring out that old line that I'm some kind of a dangerous Communist. Who, me? Just consider my philosophy, my birthplace, my bow tie. Look, fellows, it's me, it's Harry! You're not really going to give me an anti-Communist program to carry out, and then call me a Communist when I ask for something to do it with. You're not, huh, fellows?"

I don't know why he can't say it like that.

Iowans Had 'Friendship Train' in 1891

By MERRITT LUDWIG

Oldtimers watching Iowa City's drive to buy a carload of rolled oats for the Friendship train recall Iowa's own "friendship train" back in 1891 which sent 225 cars of corn to Russia.

Iowa had a bumper grain crop that year while Europe was hit by a devastating drought. Millions were starving, especially in Russia.

The people of Iowa were aroused when they learned of the famine conditions in Russia, according to records of the State Historical Society. Their answer to the peasants' plea for help was spontaneous.

Churches, schools and business firms went all-out. The railroads furnished "friendship trains" free of charge to carry the shelled corn to ports.

Town people who had no corn to donate gave money to charter ships to carry the grain to Russia. Gov. Horace Boies organized The Iowa Russian Famine Relief commission. Mrs. Evelyn Schuyler Schaeffer was appointed to lead Iowa City's friendship train campaign.

University of Iowa students staged benefits with all receipts going to the famine relief fund. E. F. Tillinghast, an Iowa editor in 1891, wrote, "I have read of no other instance where millions of people without official direction or support, subscribed money and gave of their abundance . . . in sending supplies and substantial cheer to other and unknown millions suffering from widespread famine."

The contents of Iowa's 1891 friendship filled a whole ship, the "Tynehead."

The ship docked at a Russian port in May, 1892. She was greeted by throngs of cheering peasants and the salutes of harbor whistles.

While Iowa's friendship train contribution was being unloaded that day in 1892, an American representative told the starving peasants.

"This cargo is from the people of the agricultural state, Iowa, some of whom have suffered from failure of crops in their own country . . . and they have simply taken this method of expressing their sympathy, for it is their custom to give in a like manner in their own country whenever . . . calamity or suffering of any kind require the aid of outside help."

'Meet-Less' Tuesday

The Triangle club picnic supper, which has been held on the second Tuesday of each month, has been changed to Thursday, Prof. Paul Blommers, chairman of the entertainment committee, announced yesterday.

The change is in compliance with President Truman's "meatless Tuesday" program. This month's supper will be held Nov. 13.

New U. S. Policy for Germany

(This is the last in a series of three articles by Marion McCaulley on the shift in American policy for governing Germany—The Editor.)

By MARION MCCAULLEY
Protests against the new American policy for governing Germany have come from Sumner Welles, former undersecretary of state, and from Columnists Thomas L. Stokes and William Shirer as well as from French and British sources.

The same influences responsible for American policy toward Germany between 1919 and 1933 are making themselves felt again, Welles charges.

All three men accuse industrial and banking interests (the international cartels) of sponsoring the new directives. Occupation authorities and economy-minded congressmen are also blamed. Herbert Hoover is criticized by Stokes for recommending that German industry be restored to the 1936 level.

Shirer admits that "the American taxpayer is fed up with shelling out money to keep Germans alive." Therefore relief is sought by a quick German revival.

Middle Ground
Stokes asks that a middle ground be found. Germany must not be "economically insufficient nor strong enough to threaten peace." He writes "No selfish interest should be allowed to force a repetition of post World War I mistakes."

On the other hand, Fortune magazine feels assured that there is a "profound difference between the aim of the present American policy and the Germany of the past." Lamenting the high occupation costs ("$200-million a year from the United States; $320-million from the British"), the magazine editorially asks for reliance on German business men. The main thing now is to stop standing still, according to Fortune.

The New York Times and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch also back the new policy. The Post-Dispatch says the new directive "goes to the very heart of the occupation problem" by calling for "a stable and productive Germany" held in check by "necessary restraint" to keep down a "revival of militarism." The Post-Dispatch commends those who worked out the directive for "seeing in the long run, the German people must save themselves."

The Times believes the policy offers an end to the "stagnation of Europe—the most important issue affecting Germany."

Succeed or Fail
How well the new plan will be carried out, no one can predict. A course nobly and realistically chartered often bogs down in practice. The event of December bears small resemblance to the plan of May, Vincent Sheehan wrote. It is at the scene of action that the policy eventually will succeed or fail.

Shirer reveals how one German motor-truck factory exceeded its quota. In charge were an American captain and a young sergeant, who "had a knack for getting things done."

The only drawback, as Shirer saw it, was that a Nazi party member was the German manager. The workers protested and threatened to strike, but the two American soldiers demanded "no nonsense." So, the workers concluded that Americans "are either political idiots or conquered Germany to save it for the Nazis." In miniature, Shirer fears, "this is the picture of our occupation."

Incentive Plan
To spur German miners to dig more coal a new incentive plan has been devised:

1. A percentage of the foreign exchange from the sale of the coal will be used to import consumer goods for miners.

2. American 10-in-1 army rations, consisting of 40,000 calories, will be awarded to those miners in pits reaching their production target within four months. The target for each pit is set at the highest production record since the occupation began.

3. The full individual food ration (frequently higher on paper than that actually received) will be guaranteed to miners. The miners will also be given the extra tobacco and liquor allotted under previous incentive systems. "Perhaps the worst drag on German recovery is that there is too little premium on productive labor and so much emphasis on a 'black-market' operations," a Christian Science Monitor correspondent wrote from Frankfurt. "The most revealing quip is that a man hasn't time to work—he's too busy supporting his family."

3 Medals to Lounsbury
Gordon W. Lounsbury, 131 Newton park, is the first Iowa City veteran to receive the full quota of medals issued by the recruiting office.

Lounsbury received the defense medal, victory medal and the foreign service clasp this week. He served four years in the army.

AS PEGLER SEES IT Glamour in Washington

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
King Features Syndicate, Inc.

For three delirious days and nights, the Statler hotel was just a glamorous little bit of Hollywood dropped into stately Washington, D. C.

A whole shiplod of unreal idols of our dreams flew in to protest about the hearings about un-Americanism. Some Hollywood committee about freedom of speech was back of the party.

By a happy coincidence most of them were on my floor. Some times, in the elevator, I even rubbed elbows with them. I wanted to ask Danny Kaye for his autograph in my book along with the autographs of his friends, Leo Durocher, George Raft, Frankie Boy Sinatra and Buggsy Siegel, but I choked up. I lost my nerve.

One of the glamorous heroines of the glittering world of make-believe on my floor was that girl who sat on the piano at the press club that night when Harry Truman was not yet President and he played a few cross-handed licks and long zips.

Now this glamorous creature was right on the same floor with me.

Her name is Lauren Bacall and her intimates call her "Baby." But I suppose it is my fate as a mundane, common man of the workaday classes to not ever have the privilege to call her "Baby."

Tuesday night, Frank Conniff, the young columnist, came into my place. He is amusing because he is so naive and his neck swells and his face gets "red as a beet" when he talks about how mistaken the glamorous characters of Hollywood are, only "dumb" is the word he uses. "When I think about those guys I was with, and how a lot of them died and then to hear these people how they actually don't seem to know the score when you ask them if they realize this is the way congress has been running investigations since way before they were even born and, otherwise people would never had learned about teapot dome, honest I get so mad—"

Conniff was a combat correspondent in the war right up there "mid shot and shell."

Danny Kaye got a decoration last year. He got an award for his great services to true Americanism always in the vanguard to protect bullwicks against bigotry. It is an award named after Maj. Gen. Maurice Rose, who was killed in France.

"I knew General Rose, personally," Conniff said, "and I don't think they honored his name by giving that Rose memorial to Danny Kaye, in my humble opinion. He was a fighting general."

Conniff got a medal himself, but it was not a medal for protecting true Americanism against Nazi-minded bigots spreading disunity by whispering "Communism" at high-class Hollywood writers and actors.

Conniff got a medal for swimming. It seems that he was on a landing boat that hit a mine and he swam several wounded soldiers ashore.

Still, even if he does disagree with Danny Kaye, Danny can't accuse him of race hatred. They were negro soldiers.

Town Men's Election
Ray Hudachek, E3, Hot Springs, Ark., has been elected president of the executive council of the Town Men association.

Maurice Rose, C3, Crawfordsville, was chosen vice president and Ray Hogan, C2, Fort Dodge, was named secretary of the council.

10 Enlist in Local National Guard Unit
 Ten national guard enlistments were announced yesterday by Frank Tallman, commander of Iowa City's 34th Cavalry Reconnaissance troop.
 New guardsmen are Charles L. Allender, 405 Stadium park; Lu-Verne M. Anciaux, 909 Seventh avenue; Douglas L. Benyshek, R. F.D. 2; Willis G. Calkins, 1818 I street; Darrell D. Coffey, R.F.D. 1.
 Richard N. Coffey, R.F.D. 1; Ronald C. Latta, Riverside; Craig E. Mahaffy, 907 Davenport street; John W. Miller, 430 E. Bloomington street, and Robert W. Smith, cottage 22, Quadrangle.
 The enlistments, which bring the local troop's strength to 67 men and 5 officers, were attributed by Tallman to the national guard recruiting caravan which visited Iowa City last week.

Students Rise Against SUI 'No Pet' Rule

Thirty-five determined married student pet owners and sympathizers in a mass meeting in the Riverdale housing area last night named a committee to fight the university's "no pet" ruling.

The announcement banning pets came from J. R. Cotter, manager of married student housing, who stated Wednesday the clause in resident's leases excluding pets from the housing areas must now be enforced due to "accumulating" complaints and the danger of disease.

Cotter cited a medical report by Dr. M. E. Barnes, director of the university department of health, last June recommending that no pets be housed in the temporary housing areas to prevent disease and possible injury to the children.

Condemning the university's confusing administrative policy of not enforcing the ban at the beginning of the semester when hardship would have been at a minimum, the pet owners declared that now large outlays of money and inestimable sentiment are involved.

War veteran Robert E. Simpson, 44, 421 Riverdale, told of his delicate and successful efforts to bring his dog home from Europe by smuggling it aboard ship in a duffel bag. The dog, Simpson said, traveled all over the continent with him. The new ruling will force him to keep the dog elsewhere.

The committee planned to contact the other pet owners in Hawkeye village, Finkbine and Stadium Park to coordinate their activities. They will draw up and submit a "substantial and constructive" program to university authorities in an effort to keep their pets.

Named to the committee were: Florence Mullen, 105 Westlawn Park; Don and Carolyn Hakes, 418 Riverdale; Jean Draves, 460 Riverdale; R. P. Stephenson, 555 Riverdale; Henry Allan, 450 Riverdale; and Ivor Hyndman, 420 Riverdale.

Importance of Atomic Radiation Explained

As a result of the atomic age the layman is becoming more conscious of his body and what it's doing, according to Prof. Titus C. Evans, of the Columbia university department of radiology.

Evans, speaking in the sixth of the atomic lecture series last night in Macbride auditorium, described the effects of atomic radiation and the useful purposes of radioactive isotopes.

Early in 1948 Evans will return to Iowa to head the new radiation research laboratory in the school of medicine. He devoted part of his talk last night to description of radioactive tracers and the part they play in discovery and treatment of malignant diseases.

Following the atomic energy lecture Eastern Iowa Scientists met with Dr. R. L. Meier, new executive secretary of the Federation of American Scientists, to discuss the social responsibilities of scientists in the United States.

Meier discussed a tentative policy statement by American scientists on the subject of United Nations atomic energy control. Prof. L. A. Turner, head of the physics department, summed up the policy as "The U.S. scientists think the rest of the world should take this (atomic control) more seriously."

Engineer Seniors Elect

Four officers for the senior class of the college of engineering were elected Wednesday.

They are Bennett Fischer of Vinton, president; Allen Crain of Missouri Valley, vice-president; Joseph Summers of Ardon, secretary and Clyde Hartzell Jr. of Erie, Pa., treasurer.

I Want You To Stay

TWO-YEAR-OLD ANN KEDDINGTON embraces four-year-old Penny who is threatened with eviction by the university's recent "no pet" ruling. Mr. and Mrs. John Keddington, 405 Riverdale, say the dog is just like "a member of the family." In fact, says Mrs. K., she had Penny before Ann appeared and it would be just like giving her child away.

UWF Outlines Aims For World Peace

"A world federal government with authority to enact, interpret and enforce world law adequate to maintain world peace" is the goal of United World Federalists, the university chapter was told last night.

Delegates to the national convention at St. Louis Nov. 1 and 2 reported the adoption of this policy statement and other actions of the convention. Harlan Hockenberg, 41, Des Moines, and Virginia Anderson, 43, Harcourt, represented the university chapter. David Stanley, 41, Muscatine, was a delegate of the state branch, of which he is president.

Stanley was a member of the five-man committee which drew up the policy statement.

The group hopes to achieve world government using the amendment processes of the United Nations to transform it into such a government, by participating in world constituent assemblies or by pursuing any other "reasonable and lawful means."

Most important amendment to the constitution which the convention adopted was a provision having each state select a member of the national executive council, the delegates said. Previously most members had been from the east and west coast.

Iowa City Now Civilized

By GERRY SCHROEDER (Chicago) Sunday, Jan. 16, 1869.

Once in a blue moon the pale hand of history reaches out and slaps us gently across the face. This week the slap landed square in the face of Iowa City.

An illustrious American name can now be added to the long list of victims claimed by the warped, buckling sidewalks of Iowa City. The victim's name is one Samuel L. Clemens, otherwise known as Mark Twain. In a letter to his sweetheart, Olivia Langdon, the beloved humorist writes:

(Chicago) Sunday, Jan. 16, 1869.

"My dearest Livy:— I am uncomfortably lame this morning. I slipped on the ice and fell, yesterday in Iowa City, just as I was stepping into an omnibus. I landed with all my weight on my left hip, and so the joint is rather stiff and sore this morning."

Continuing his letter to Livy, Mark Twain scores another mossy local institution: the landlord. "Yesterday morning, at the hotel in Iowa City, the landlord called me at 9 o'clock, and it made me so mad I stormed at him with some little violence. I tried for an hour to go to sleep again and couldn't . . . I wanted that sleep particularly, because I wanted to write a certain thing that would require a clear head and choice language. Finally I thought a cup of coffee might help the matter, and was going to ring for it—no bell. I was mad again. When I did get the landlord up there again, by slamming the door till I annoyed everybody on my floor, I showed temper again . . . and he didn't. See the advantage it gave him? His mild replies shamed me into silence, but I was still too obstinate, too proud, to ask his pardon. But last night, in the cars, the more I thought of it the more I repented and the more ashamed I was; and so resolved to make the repentance good by apologizing—which I have done, in the most ample and unmincing form, by letter, this morning. I feel satisfied and jolly, now.

For all time devotedly, Saml. L. C."

From the faded, yellow folios of The University Reporter—which eventually became The Daily Iowan—of that year comes another report of Mark Twain's visit here. On Jan. 15, 1869, Mark Twain spoke before a group at the YMCA. His lecture on his foreign travels was well received, but one brassy undergraduate reporter added insult to injury in his critique. Apparently the Jack O'Briens are not limited to this century.

"A large audience gathered at Metropolitan hall on the evening of the 16th ult. to see and hear Mark Twain. All went to laugh, and all did. The reputation of the speaker insured this. Some seemed to laugh because they thought it the business of the evening; some, because others did it; some, because they could not help it; and many laughed just for fun."

In an editorial called: The American Vandal Abroad, the writer continued: "Mark looks like a Vandal; he walks like one; he is the veritable vandal.

"Mark was characteristically a clown.

"His hearers will never forget Athens. His description was a picture in words; a poem without verse."

After this somewhat conventional reporting the young man inhaled deeply and really let go: "Thus we heard Mark Twain. We came away feeling a satisfaction that we had heard and seen the man whose fun we have read, but dissatisfied in this, that we had heard so much, that we never care to hear again. It is sad to know that so much power and genius as he possesses are not the instruments for accomplishing a holier purpose than is exemplified by the man's life."

"The Love Letters of Mark Twain" are published in this month's issue of the Atlantic Monthly.

Since January 1869 many issues of the University Reporter and subsequently The Daily Iowan have rolled off the presses. Iowa City has been "civilized" and lecturers at the university need no longer face the kind of weekend that undoubtedly endeared us to the heart of Mark Twain. Streets are now kept free of ice, landlords are no longer meek and shame their visitors into silence or apologies, and school reporters are trained in the virtues of discretion. The millennium is here indeed.

Admitted to Hospital

Mrs. Alice B. Wilcox, 75, 240 Woolf avenue, was admitted to Mercy hospital yesterday suffering from a cerebral hemorrhage. Mrs. Wilcox was alone when the hemorrhage occurred, and summoned aid by telephone. Hospital authorities described her condition as good.

AVC, YRL Berate Actions Of Rep. Thomas Committee

The Johnson county chapter of the American Veterans committee last night called for "action to abolish the house un-American activities committee."

Demands to "kill the Thomas committee" and its "bad methods" echoed from the 100-odd members present.

Local AVC members charged the committee was "packed" and "conducted in an un-American manner."

The method of presenting the issue to congress was left to the discretion of the chapter civil rights committee.

However, individual members were urged to begin a "letter writing campaign on their own" to congressmen.

Discussion and possible steps on other matters were presented. The local barber shop discriminatory practices, the eviction of a University of Wisconsin co-ed from her private rooming house because she dated a Negro, and the Pacific Junction, Iowa case in which six men demanded the eviction of a Negro vagrant from the town, were mentioned by AVC Chairman Jack Adams.

The chapter agreed unanimously to participate in the Friendship Train drive.

The SUI Young Republican resolution committee "condemns" the house un-American Activities committee investigation "into the opinions of American citizens," according to a resolution passed Wednesday night by the committee.

In announcing the resolution last night, Jim Goodwin, chairman of YRL and the committee, said the measures "will be presented" to the league's full membership at the next regular meeting, tentatively set for Nov. 20.

Goodwin said copies of the resolution will go to all Iowa congressmen and to J. Parnell Thomas, chairman of the un-American activities committee.

The resolution reads:

"The resolutions committee of the Young Republican league of SUI condemns the investigation by the house un-American Activities committee into the opinions of American citizens and its disregard for individual civil liberties.

"The resolutions committee resolves that the house of representatives should take adequate steps to guarantee use of recognized legal procedure in presenting both sides of any investigation."
