Help! Tree Surgeon Wanted

TIMBERLINE LODGE, Ore. (AP)—The Mount Hood ski patrol rescue corps answered a routine summons for help from a ski enthusiast stranded high on a mountain with a broken leg.

Rescuer Harold Johnson reported the skier was in no pain—he had broken his artificial leg.

Senate Rejects Attempt To Cut Stop-gap Aid

Beats Proposal 56-30; Postpones Final Vote On Bill Until Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate yesterday postponed until Monday its final vote on the $597 million emergency authorization for European winter aid.

Before the decision was reached, the members defeated, 56 to 30, a proposal sponsored by eight Republicans to cut the total to a flat $400 million.

Iowa's two republican senators were on opposite sides on the proposed reduction of aid. Senator Wilson voted for the cut while Senator Hickenlooper opposed it.

The bill would authorize appropriations of the sum to provide essential winter needs of France, Italy and Austria. Separate legislations, not yet introduced, are necessary to actually set up the money. It is described as stop gap aid pending action on the Marshall plan for long-range economic rebuilding of western Europe.

Sen. Vandenberg, (R-Mich.), chairman of the foreign relations committee which approved the measure unanimously, took the floor in opposition to the $197 million cut proposed by Senators Malone (R-Nev), Bricker (R-Ohio), Kern (R-Mo), Williams (R-Del), Wilson (R-Iowa), Ecton (R-Mont), Dworshak (R-Idaho), and Jenner (R-Ind).

Meanwhile there were other developments on the foreign aid front:

1. Government officials said the administration will be ready next week to present to congress the long range Marshall plan for facilitating European recovery. It is expected to entail the spending of $16 to $20 billion over the next four years.

2. Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett said congress may be asked to supplement the $300 million it voted for aid to Greece last May.

Italian Newspapers Report Communists Set Dec. 1 Strikes

ROME, (AP)—The Italian Rightist and Independent Press reported from "trustworthy sources" yesterday that nation-wide strikes were being planned in Italy and France for Dec. 1. The Communist party ridiculed the reports.

The independent Espresso said Christian Democrats, who are backing the government of Premier Alcide De Gasperi, believed the disorders of the past two weeks in Italy which have taken at least 24 lives were "a specific plan by Togliatti and Thorez, put into operation under orders of the Cominform."

Palmiro Togliatti is Italian Communist chief, and Thorez is the French Communist leader. The Cominform is the new Communist International Information Bureau set up in Belgrade, Yugoslavia.

Risorgimento also said the last fortnight's violence "zone by zone throughout the country" was planned as a rehearsal by Communist followers for a "national manifestation."

Espresso said rumors also were being spread of plans for a coup d'etat between Dec. 24 and 30 which called for blowing up bridges across the Po.

Hitler, Eva to Be Tried

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—A Bavarian denazification court will shortly try Adolf Hitler and Eva Braun in absentia to determine disposition of their own and other Nazi fortunes and properties, Stars and Stripes reported from Munich yesterday.

The U. S. army newspaper's dispatch, quoting a Bavarian military government official, said the properties of Hermann Goerring, Rudolf Hess, Martin Bormann, Heinrich Himmler, Julius Streicher and Baldur von Schirach would be dealt with in the same trial.

IC Barbers Launch Publicity Campaign To Explain Increase

Iowa City barbers yesterday launched a campaign to tell the public the reasons behind their recent 25 cent haircut price increase.

This decision was reached at a joint meeting Tuesday night of the Iowa City Master Barbers association and the local journeymen's union. Paul Puckett, A4, Sterling, Ill., was named official representative of the barbers.

Long-Hair picketing of seven local barbershops was not resumed yesterday as the society had planned.

"We were unable to contact and organize our pickets," Dick Johnson, A1, Bloomfield, picketing chairman, said yesterday.

Long-Hair chairman Sam Bishop, A2, Churdan, declared yesterday that the society will continue active protest of the haircut price increase.

"We hope to resume picketing Friday," Bishop said.

A. E. Morehouse, Cedar Rapids, secretary-treasurer of the Iowa Master Barbers association, attended Tuesday night's meeting to "show local barbers that the barbers of the state approved their action in maintaining the price they have set," according to Puckett.

"Iowa City barbers do not wish to attack the Long-Hair boycott or picketing," Puckett explained yesterday. "They are answering the student protest by presenting to the public the facts behind the haircut price increase."

The barbers have listed these reasons as justifying the 25 cent haircut price increase:

1. At 75 cent haircut prices, journeymen barbers in the last year earned from $45 to $54 per week. The barbers do not believe this is an adequate living wage in these times.

2. Unless wages are increased, journeymen barbers will leave Iowa City or abandon the trade.

3. Costs of supplies and equipment has increased as well as rent and depreciation expenses.

4. By charging $1 for haircuts, Iowa City barbers may maintain professional standards comparable to those in other cities of the same size and having the same living costs.

5. A union barber works an average of 55 to 60 hours a week, earning an average of $48.50. This is less than $1 an hour and under the standard wages of a union laborer.

Partition Plan Vote Delayed

NEW YORK (AP)—Arab-led forces fighting the proposal to partition Palestine into Jewish and Arab countries held a slim lead last night in a see-saw battle in the United Nations assembly. A final vote was put off until tomorrow.

On the basis of present declarations, 28 nations including the United States and Russia have come out for partition. At least 15 nations are opposed. The partition forces thus would need two more votes under the assembly rules requiring a two-thirds majority of those present and voting for approval of a major issue.

Developments in the ballot battle were:

1. The Philippines, Greece and Haiti came out against partition.

2. The Netherlands, New Zealand and Belgium pledged their votes for partition.

Partition had been approved by a 25-to-13 vote of the assembly's special Palestine committee at Lake Success Tuesday. Only a simple majority was needed there.

Business Bureau Calls Meeting To Discuss Firm's Anti-Freeze

A meeting to determine whether B-Lo anti-freeze is safe for use in automotive cooling systems will be held by the Better Business Bureau in Des Moines next week, Hal R. Sheridan, bureau manager, told The Daily Iowan last night.

The Kobes Bros. Manufacturing company, a local firm making magnesium chloride based B-Lo, yesterday objected to a warning against all salt base anti-freeze solutions issued by Sheridan Monday.

"The bureau will assemble a group of those in authority on the subject," Sheridan said, "so we can come out and state flatly whether or not B-Lo is in the class of anti-freeze solutions harmful to car cooling systems."

Sheridan said he hoped to gather the group by the first of the week and planned to make a statement within the week. A representative from the Iowa City company will be invited to the meeting, he added.

In a Des Moines Register story Tuesday, Sheridan quoted the National Bureau of Standards as saying:

"Both magnesium and calcium chlorides are too corrosive for use in automotive anti-freeze solutions."

The Kobes Bros. company stated Wednesday, their product contained "inhibitors" discovered by them which protected radiators from rust and corrosion.

They claimed the product had been tested and proved safe for use in vehicle cooling systems. Sheridan said the Society of Automotive Engineers assured the National Better Business Bureau that they know of no inhibitor which will make these inorganic salts safe for use.

Wednesday, Jake Kobes, Sr., part owner of the firm, said the SAE research department informed him they hadn't released any information on the subject since 1943.

Kobes claimed the bureau used "obsolete" information in warning motorists against using magnesium based anti-freeze solutions similar to B-Lo.

He said the company has been unable to find any legitimate complaints against the product. An estimated 30,000 cars in Iowa and Minnesota are using B-Lo.

No Paper Tomorrow

Because of observance of the Thanksgiving holiday, The Daily Iowan will not be published tomorrow. The next issue will be dated Saturday.

Indiana Jury Indicts Noble In Accident

Robert D. Noble, 29, University of Iowa alumni official, yesterday was charged with reckless homicide in two St. Joseph county, Ind., grand jury indictments.

The indictments were returned in connection with the deaths of Marie Despres, 19, Grand Rapids, Mich., and Joseph Haller, 20, Los Angeles, Calif., in an automobile accident Oct. 25 at South Bend.

Noble was driving a university owned automobile that hit a group of students crossing a highway between Notre Dame university and St. Mary's college the night of the Notre Dame-Iowa football game.

Noble received a fractured leg and three passengers in his car were hurt as the vehicle hit a telephone post. Two other students in the group suffered injuries.

According to The Associated Press, County Attorney Wilford V. Walz said a warrant would be issued for the return of Noble.

The grand jury, after questioning 20 witnesses, charged six traffic violations.

They were:

1. Driving about 60 miles an hour in a restricted speed zone.

2. Failure to keep a proper lookout for pedestrians.

3. Failing to keep within the northbound lanes on the six-lane highway.

4. Following another car closer than prudent.

5. Driving in a southbound lane.

6. Failing to sound horn.

Noble said yesterday afternoon he "was surprised to hear of the grand jury action."

"I thought the whole incident was dropped after the coroner had cleared me."

Shortly after the accident, St. Joseph County Coroner Marion W. Hillman said he could find no evidence of traffic law violation and released Noble.

Noble is now managing editor of the university alumni magazine. He was editor of The Daily Iowan in 1942.

Russia and West Agree To Consider Austria Pact First

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in a slashing attack upon "imperialist" forces raised the specter of a third world war before the foreign ministers last night. Secretary Marshall replied he was convinced Molotov "does not really believe his allegations."

Earlier Molotov and the ministers of the western powers succeeded in resolving their differences over priority on items on the conference agenda.

Molotov agreed to putting the Austrian treaty in the No. 1 spot with the provision that it be referred immediately to the deputies for resolving of outstanding differences. This was done in short order.

Marshall and the western powers gave way to Molotov's demand for discussing preparation of a German peace treaty ahead of economic and political unification of Germany.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin commented on Molotov's speech that "apparently we are all war mongers—there is only one saint, the Soviet Union, and the others come from down below."

French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault said he did not think Molotov's remarks contributed to Big Four harmony.

Molotov charged that the western powers were blocking a German peace treaty, imperialistically seeking to enslave small nations and trying to tear down the German economy to avoid competition and build up the German war potential.

He said the Soviet Union, and the others come from down below.

Premier Schuman, in a radio appeal last night to the strikers to return to work, told them a "grievous moment" in French history had been reached and urged them to "examine their consciences."

The announcement of expulsion listed four officers of the "Soviet Patriotic Union" as among those expelled, and said most of the 19 were white Russians.

White Russian exiles in France usually are anti-Communists who have lived here since the Bolshevik revolution. But Arkadii Boudakov, Soviet press attache at the Russian embassy, explained that many had changed their opinions and taken a "patriotic attitude towards the U.S.S.R. and the Red Army during the war."

Administration Asks For Power To Control Steel Distribution

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Aiken (R-Vt.), advocated yesterday reorganization of the Republican party "from top to bottom."

"This," he told a reporter, "includes National Chairman Carroll Reece. He should resign."

The senator said the party, under the direction of Reece, has failed to keep pace with national sentiment on various problems.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration asked congress yesterday for "last resort" power to control distribution of steel, grain, farm machinery and fertilizer to most essential uses.

"Standby" authority for price control as well as rationing of grain was sought by both Secretary of Agriculture Anderson and Secretary of Commerce Harriman, as a measure of combating rising living costs which President Truman put forward in his message to the current special session of congress.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the senate-house economic committee, told Harriman he thinks automobiles should be brought under export control. "Shipping them abroad," Taft said, "is just as much a drain on our economy as the export of steel."

Harriman agreed that automobiles should be put under export license. "But we cannot do it, sir," he told Taft, "unless we have more money."

Both Harriman and Anderson backed Mr. Truman's call for authority to restore, if necessary, price and wage controls and consumer rationing.

Other administration spokesmen have asked congress for the return of gasoline rationing, price controls on coal and oil, if voluntary fuel-saving methods fail, and curbs on installment plan buying.

Taft and another leading GOP senator, Millikin of Colorado, said before yesterday's testimony by the cabinet members that part of the President's 10-point program probably would win congressional approval by Christmas.

Seek Friendship Pact BUCHAREST, ROMANIA, (AP)—Romania and Hungary said yesterday they would seek to conclude a treaty of friendship and mutual assistance. A cultural agreement was signed Monday.

Charge They Interfered 'In Affairs'

Mob of 20,000 Trying To March In Lyon Dispersed by Police

PARIS (AP)—The three-day-old Schuman government, carrying out a policy of "act fast and talk little," announced yesterday the expulsion of 19 Russians for "interfering in French affairs" as violence broke out at a number of places in strike-harried France.

With Communist banners in the van, a crowd of 20,000 attempted to march on the prefecture in the textile center of Lyon and was dispersed by police throwing tear gas. Several persons were injured.

Eugene Thomas, secretary of state for communications, charged "Communist elements" had launched a "violent offensive" against postal employees who refused to strike and a number of postmen were reported beaten up in Paris.

Fights between strikers and non-strikers were reported in northern Lille, center of the coal strike, and a number of localities in eastern France as a general strike of railwaymen got under way.

Premier Schuman, in a radio appeal last night to the strikers to return to work, told them a "grievous moment" in French history had been reached and urged them to "examine their consciences."

The announcement of expulsion listed four officers of the "Soviet Patriotic Union" as among those expelled, and said most of the 19 were white Russians.

White Russian exiles in France usually are anti-Communists who have lived here since the Bolshevik revolution. But Arkadii Boudakov, Soviet press attache at the Russian embassy, explained that many had changed their opinions and taken a "patriotic attitude towards the U.S.S.R. and the Red Army during the war."

Site of Ship Wrecked on Rock

4 Shipwreck Survivors Found

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP)—Four shocked, chilled survivors and the bodies of four other crew members were found yesterday on the beached bow section of the shattered army transport Clarksdale Victory, and the second mate said he thought the other 43 crewmen went to the bottom in the stern half of the broken ship.

The coast guard said second mate Henry H. Wolfe of Oakland, Calif., informed his rescuers that no survivors were able to get away in lifeboats after the ship rammed onto rocky little Hippa island Monday night and broke apart under the hammering of the rough sea.

Other survivors reported by the coast guard rescue party were Third Mate William M. Rasmussen, Modesto, Calif., and Clair E. Driscoll, Los Angeles, and Seaman Carlos Sanabria, Honduras.

The survivors were reported suffering from shock as well as from the long salt water exposure of their feet.

Late yesterday afternoon a coast guard plane messaged it had sighted a "vertical stick" upright in the water about 100 yards astern of the grounded bow section. Attempts were made to place the four survivors aboard a coast guard cutter late yesterday afternoon and they may be brought into Ketchikan, the coast guard said. The cutter will probably not leave the vicinity, however, until it is definitely determined there are no more survivors on the island.

The 10,850-ton transport, south-bound with cargo, hit the island, off the northern British Columbia coast 140 miles southwest of here.

Bealmear Picks Army, Penn, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Georgia

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

NEW YORK (AP)—Digging out of last week's wreckage, we take a final fling at football forecasting for 1947 with slim prospects of boosting an average that slumped to .792 on 564 correct predictions and 148 misses after the unfortunate happenings of the past Saturday.

Army vs. Navy—Navy, which matched Army in everything except extra points last year, always fires its biggest guns against its traditional rival and could make things hot for the Cadets this time. Three cheers for Navy, but one considered vote for Army.

Texas Christian vs. Southern Methodist—Win, lose or draw, the Mustangs go into the Cotton Bowl as Southwest Conference hosts, but they need this one to clinch a clear-cut claim to the title and complete an all-victorious season. TCU has the stuff to make it close but can't be expected to engineer an upset. A confident vote for Southern Methodist.

Georgia vs. Georgia Tech — A renewal of one of several traditional intrastate rivalries scheduled Saturday. Georgia Tech.

Cornell vs. Pennsylvania — one hefty vote for Pennsylvania.

Virginia vs. North Carolina — After six straight wins, the Tar Heels have developed into the power they were figured to be before dropping two early season games. This should make it seven. North Carolina.

Texas vs. Texas A. and M. — Another traditional Turkey Day clash, with the Longhorns shooting for a Sugar Bowl bid and hoping for a Southern Methodist upset to give them a title tie. All the way, Texas.

Mississippi vs. Mississippi State — Ole Miss needs this one to take the Southeastern Conference title. Mark it down for Mississippi.

Rice vs. Baylor—Rice.

Oklahoma vs. Oklahoma A. and M. — The Big Six co-champions should win handily but they mustn't overlook what the Aggies did to Temple. Oklahoma.

Alabama vs. Miami (Fla.) — The bowl-bound Crimson Tide can use this as a laboratory experiment for testing any new-fangled dodads it may want to take to New Orleans. Alabama.

Arkansas vs. Tulsa — It could be interestingly close. Out of the hat, Arkansas.

Oregon State vs. Nebraska — An inter-sectional struggle between a couple of also-rans from their respective conferences. We'll take a flier on Nebraska.

St. Mary's After Fifth Straight In Ottumwa Tonight

St. Mary's Ramblers roam far afield tonight in quest of another basketball victory when they journey to Ottumwa to meet Central Catholic on the Ottumwa high gym floor.

"Central Catholic perennially starts one of the best teams in the Diocesan league, and we can expect a tough battle tonight," Coach Frank Suplee said last night.

The Ramblers will go into tonight's battle greatly hampered by injuries that have plagued them all season. Mottet starting forward, will still not be available because of sickness. Boyd, center, is suffering from pluriety and though thoroughly taped up, will see action. Bauer, reserve guard, is also nursing a bad leg and will be absent.

Coach Suplee will probably rely tonight on the same combination that has performed so well in previous contests. Seydel, a scrappy little forward who has proved his merit on defensive work will probably get the nod over the sharpshooting Black at one forward slot. The other forward slot will be manned by lanky Suplee who is always good for points, and who can easily be the high scorer when hot.

Boyd, who has shown up well in recent games, will fill the center slot, and Flannery, the old reliable redhead, and Long will man the backcourt.

Delta Sigma Delta Gains Professional Frat Finals

Delta Sigma Delta whipped Alpha Chi Sigma, 34-14, in an intramural volleyball game Tuesday night to gain the finals of the Professional fraternity volleyball tournament. They will play Phi Delta Phi next Tuesday night.

Phi Delta Kappa forfeited to the Delta Sigs in the first game.

South Grand defeated North Grand, 31-25, in the other game Tuesday night, and will meet Law Commons C for the SGL league championship.

In intramural tennis, Bill Buhs, Upper C, won from Bob Orr, Upper C, 6-3, 6-1, to take the quad singles championship.

CENTER HOPEFULS—Iowa university's basketball squad will be represented by these three center candidates on the hardwood this year. Rog Finley (left), "Red" Metcalf (center) and Don Hays (right) are short on height but should fit in well with the style of play that "Pops" Harrison's cagers will use.

Taking Time Out

With Buck Turnbull

(First in a series of three columns on Iowa's 1947-48 basketball team.)

It's hoop-it-up time in the corn belt again. And Monday night Coach Lawrence "Pops" Harrison will unveil this year's Hawkeye cagers for the local hardwood fans in a non-conference game with Carleton college of Minnesota.

To put it in the words of Pops, he has a "willing and scrapping" bunch of ball players. As far as Big Nine teams go, they definitely lack height. But this will have to be offset by speed and good shooting.

The three centers on the Iowa squad reflect this lack of height more than anything else. Although all stand at least six-feet, four-inches tall, this has come to be relatively small as far as modern day pivot-men go.

As it looks right now, Leonard "Red" Metcalf, letterman and veteran of 12 Hawk games last winter, will get the call at the first string center job. A senior from Calvert City, Ky., "Red" is the oldest member of this year's squad at 27 years.

The Redhead is the smallest of three contenders for the post at six-foot. He played a lot of basketball before coming into the Hawkeye state, having seen action at Murray State Teachers college in Kentucky and then three years with the El Toro marines while in the service. He scored 28 points in his 12 games last season.

Another out-of-stater, six-foot, five-inch Roger Finley is battling along with Metcalf for the pivot position. Finley is a 22-year-old sophomore from Franklin, Minn.

A veteran of last year's B squad, he is considered by Pops to be a fine prospect. A good rebounder and excellent defensive player, Finley should see a good bit of action as the season wears on.

While in the army, he was a member of the First Infantry division cage team which won the ETO and all-European basketball titles, serving in Europe for 29 months.

Des Moines Roosevelt high school adds the third center in Don Hays, lanky six-fiver who earned all-state honors while at Roosevelt in 1944.

Hays was also a member of the B squad last year. He is a good scorer, rivaling Metcalf in the offensive category. A sophomore this year, Don is one of the bright spots in Pops' plans for future years.

Wendell Hill, new B squad basketball coach, said yesterday that his team will play a preliminary tilt before the Carleton contest against an intramural squad led by Jack Dittmer.

Dittmer headed an intramural team last winter which won the all-university title. The game is scheduled to begin at 6 p. m. with the varsity encounter getting underway at 8 o'clock.

Doug Mills, Illinois athletic director and midwest representative on the NCAA basketball rules committee, has announced that the Big Nine will cooperate with the NCAA in testing two suggested rule changes this year. Should the changes prove satisfactory, it is likely that colleges throughout the country will adopt them.

The two changes are: (1) all jump balls will be moved to the nearest of three areas: either of the free throw circles or the center circle.

(2) during time outs it will be legal for the coach to talk to his players.

"Since these are departures from currently accepted rules, we feel that fans should be notified of the experiment which Big Nine schools will conduct this season," Mills said.

Kansas Gets 3 Bowl Bids and 3 Feelers

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — E. C. Quigley, athletic director at the University of Kansas, disclosed yesterday that Kansas had had three definite football bowl invitations and feelers from three other post-season grid extravaganzas.

"At present we have declined an invitation to the Pineapple Bowl in Hawaii," Quigley said, "but we have told the other five that we are very much interested. Personally, I feel kindly toward George Sauer's fine Kansas football team being represented in an outstanding, reputable post-season bowl game."

Tops Punting Mark

NEW YORK, (AP)—The punting average of Leslie "Footsie" Palmer of North Carolina State wobbled a bit last weekend, but he still has a chance in his remaining game against Maryland Saturday to set a new collegiate record.

Hawklets Chill Marengo, 50-23

Hettrick Stars In First Tilt

By "SPANK" BRODERS

City high's Little Hawks opened their 1947-48 cage season with a 50-to-23 victory over Marengo's Tigers last night in the City high gym.

Bob "Whitey" Diehl scored the first points of the season for the Hawklets with a lay up shot from under the basket before the game was 10 seconds old. Gene Hettrick, who took scoring honors for the evening with 16 points, followed Diehl's basket with another shot from close in to give City high a 4 to 0 lead with less than a minute gone in the first period.

Lindsay fashioned Marengo's first point of the ball game from the free throw line after being fouled by Reichardt. The Tigers, however, were only able to score four more points during the first quarter while City high was scoring 10 more to take a first quarter lead of 14 to 5.

The Hawklets went on from this point in the game to maintain control of the situation for the rest of the evening.

Six foot, two inch Gene Hettrick was a tower of strength under both the offensive and defensive baskets. Time after time, during his short stay in the contest, Big Gene had his hand over the ball to deflect the shots of Marengo's cagers beneath the hoop.

Also working well for the Hawklets were Bill Reichardt, who counted eight points besides playing a good floor game, and Jerry Dunham, who tossed in seven points from the pivot position. Bob Beals and Bob Diehl collected four and five points, respectively, to make the scoring well balanced among the five men who started the tilt.

Coach Gil Wilson used all 15 men that dressed for the encounter. Reserve Center Keith Hemmingway looked very nice as he tossed in two beautiful field goals in the second half.

Last night's game was a typical opening night hard-court fracas with frequent miscues on the part of both teams. Although City high's passing, floor play and shooting were ragged, at times the Hawklets displayed an encouraging type of basketball.

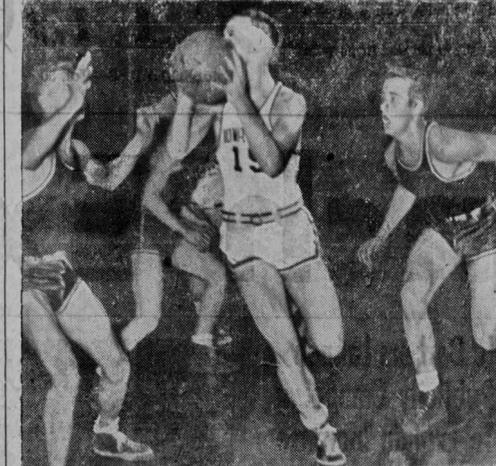

Coach Howard Moffitt's City high sophomore team defeated the Tipton high sophomores in a preliminary game last night 33 to 24 to make it a perfect evening of basketball for City high.

The Little Hawks meet foe number two on their 20 game schedule tomorrow night in Newton when they take on Newton high.

Robinson Will Get Pay Raise—Rickey

NEW YORK, (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers will offer Jackie Robinson a "substantial increase" in salary for the 1948 season and hope to be able to announce their 1948 manager before the close of the major league baseball meetings on Dec. 10, President Branch Rickey said yesterday.

In guarded replies to questions tossed at him during a press conference, Rickey explained that he had been "working directly" on the managerial situation for the past six days and would continue to do so if he does not find it necessary to go to Miami for the minor league convention.

"If I have to go South—and I don't want to go—it will be physically impossible to announce a manager by Dec. 10," he explained.

The Dodger president mentioned Robinson and Peeve Reese as two of about a dozen players he would not trade. Two clubs have shown interest in acquiring Robinson and one "keeps asking and insisting on" a reply as to whether Reese is on the market, he said.

"I am not going to discuss any deals today," Rickey commented on various rumored trades.

Spartan Back Stays Home With Wife and New Son

EAST LANSING, MICH., (AP)—Horace Smith, fleet Spartan half-back, was grounded by the stork yesterday and did not make the plane trip to the west coast with the Hawaii-bound Michigan State college football team.

Smith's wife, Julia Mae, gave birth to an eight-pound son at a Troy, Ohio, hospital Monday night, and Smith decided his place was with his wife. Coach Biggie Munn agreed.

Irish Hold Stiff Defensive Drill

SOUTH BEND, IND., (AP)—Warned by Coach Frank Leahy that Southern California will provide the toughest competition of the season next week, Notre Dame's football squad went through an intensive defensive drill yesterday.

The practice session ended with a brief pass defense drill, with Johnny Lujack and Pete Ashbaugh, defensive quarterbacks, in the defensive backfield at the same time.

Leahy, who personally scouted the Trojans last Saturday, warned that the Pacific Coast conference champions have a big, hard-charging line and a fast, hard-running backfield.

Spotlight on Longhorns-Aggies Army-Navy In Top Tilt Sat.

NEW YORK (AP)—The blocking and tackling will be just a little more rugged than usual during the next 72 hours, when the nation's college elevens are slated to bring their seasons to a grand climax in a rash of traditional battles.

Heading the list of today's Turkey Day games will be the struggle down at College Station in Texas between the once-beaten Texas Longhorns and their arch rivals, the Texas Aggies, in which the Southwest conference title will be remotely in the balance.

If the Longhorns win it, as they are heavily favored to do, then the undefeated Southern Methodist Mustangs will have to beat their old rival, Texas Christian, on Saturday to gain a clear hold on the conference crown and carry a perfect record into the Cotton Bowl.

William and Mary can wrap up the Southern Conference title by overrunning Richmond in their Thanksgiving tussle at Richmond. Should Richmond score an upset, then North Carolina would grab the championship regardless of the outcome of its non-league game with Virginia on Saturday.

Saturday's slate, headed by the annual Army-Navy classic at Philadelphia before President Truman and all the generals and admirals who can get off for the day, is studded with high explosives.

Mississippi, with its stellar Conerly-to-Poole passing combination, will be gunning for the Southeastern conference crown when it takes on Mississippi State on the latter's home field. A victory would give "Ole Miss" a final conference record of six wins against a single loss.

Penn State to Face SMU in Cotton Bowl

DALLAS, TEX. (AP)—Powerful Penn State will match its undefeated, untied record against Southern Methodist university in the Cotton Bowl here New Year's Day.

Acceptance by the Nittany Lions to play in the classic was announced yesterday afternoon by Cotton Bowl athletic association chairman Dan D. Rogers.

The Cotton Bowl faced the possibility of having the only game in the country matching perfect teams, with Southern Methodist one game away from an undefeated, untied season.

The Mustangs play their final game of the season against Texas Christian Saturday.

Penn State will be the first eastern eleven to play in the Cotton Bowl since Fordham met Texas A. & M. in 1941 and it will be the first team with Negro players ever to play in Texas.

The Cotton Bowl association announced the Penn State team would be quartered at the Dallas Naval Air Station. The association said coaches of both teams expressed the desire there be no banquets or entertainments with the two teams present.

Southern Methodist clinched the host spot in the classic by beating Baylor, 10-0, last week. Texas, the only team that could possibly share the crown, withdrew from consideration late Monday night. Texas is considered a sure bet to play in the Sugar Bowl if it beats A. & M. today.

Both Penn State and Southern Methodist have played in the Rose Bowl—the Lions in 1923 when they lost to Southern California 14-3 and the Mustangs in 1935 when they bowed to Stanford, 7-0.

It will be the first appearance for each in the Cotton Bowl.

University of Miami is adding polo to its sports program this winter but will restrict competition to intramural activity the first season.

Bluehawk Opener At Williamsburg Tomorrow Night

University high's Bluehawks leap into the 1947-48 basketball fray tomorrow night, hoping for a conquest at Williamsburg.

Last of the four Iowa City high schools to open their cage season, University high exhibited both length and strength in practice sessions this week.

Length is manifested in a starting lineup height average of 6 feet, 1 inch. Strength is expected to come from a combination of controlled and down-court fast break ball.

Williamsburg displayed power in their opener Tuesday, breezing past Conroy, 48-17. Bob Menary was the big gun, punching in 19 points.

Starting at the pivot-post for the Blues will be Fritz Harshbarger, 6 foot, 3 inch letterman. Forward spots will be filled by Bob Rasley, a 6 foot, 2 inch veteran of last year's team, and six foot Curtis Miller. Back court guardians getting the nod are letter-winner Bob Ojemann, 6 feet, 2 inches, and Dennis Hagler, 5 feet, 11 inches.

Forward Doug Dierks will probably see considerable action if his charleyhorse does not handicap him at game time Friday.

Capt. Edmund B. Taylor, U.S. Naval Academy director of athletics, formerly played football, baseball and lacrosse at Navy and was a member of the boxing team.

Ohio State Guard Lineman of Week

NEW YORK (AP)—Although he battled for a losing cause against Michigan, Dave Templeton, Ohio State guard, received a Thanksgiving Day present today by being named lineman of the week in the sixth Associated Press poll of the season.

Templeton, 215-pounds of aggressiveness, was regarded as the outstanding lineman on the field Saturday as Rose Bowl-bound Michigan defeated the Buckeyes, 21 to 0.

Bob Hooper, of the Ohio State Journal, praised Templeton thusly: "He was primarily responsible for stopping Michigan's buck-lateral series. He not only was lauded by members of the coaching staff and fellow players, but was hailed as outstanding by Michigan players after the game."

Templeton is the first guard to win the poll this year. Of the previous five, three were centers, one an end and one a tackle.

Tulsa Places 6 on All-Valley

DES MOINES (AP)—Six members of Tulsa's championship team were named yesterday on the 1947 Missouri Valley all-star football team selected by the conference coaches for The Associated Press.

Three Wichita players and one each from Drake and St. Louis were picked on the first team.

Nelson Greene, a 233-pound tackle who was a repeater from the 1946 all-valley team; Guards Ralph Detwiler and Arnold Burroughs; Center Bill Cagle, converted from a halfback in spring drills; and Backs Jimmy Finks and J. R. Boone were the Tulsa stars selected for the first team.

Boone was the leading conference scorer on the eve of Tulsa's final game with Arkansas today. Wichita, second place team in the conference race, landed Linwood Sexton a halfback honored for the third time; Art Hodges, the 195-pound fullback and Paul Houser, tackle, on the first eleven.

Tom Bienemann, Drake's rangy freshman end who was one of the top pass catchers in the country, and Harry Sortal of St. Louis, also an adept handler of passes, completed the team.

Position	Name	School
End	Tom Bienemann	Drake
End	Harry Sortal	St. Louis
Tackle	Nelson Greene	Tulsa

Mother Evicts Son-in-Law And Family

Harriet Riley, 34 Lincoln avenue, yesterday at the Johnson county court, secured a judgment evicting her daughter and her daughter's family from Mrs. Riley's home.

Judge Harold D. Evans ordered that the daughter, Mrs. Guy Richard Fink, her husband and three children vacate the home as soon as they can find a residence. He added that they must move before Jan. 2, 1948 or a writ would be issued ordering the sheriff to take possession of the premises.

The defendants, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Richard Fink, were awarded all their personal belongings. Judge Evans ordered Mrs. Riley to pay $400 to the defendants for improvements on the property. Both parties in the suit must pay one-half of the court costs.

Mrs. Riley charged that her daughter moved into the house temporarily after marrying Guy R. Fink in 1943 and agreed to move when Mrs. Riley's son returned from service. Her son returned April, 1946.

According to Mrs. Riley the defendants promised to move, but finally refused. The failure and refusal of Mr. and Mrs. Fink to move, Mrs. Riley said, had caused her to be ill and lose $500 wages.

Junior Gets Realistic—

Wants a Cement Mixer

—Instead of Hard Candy

By BILL McBRIDE
It's a difficult job to get Junior past some of the Iowa City store windows now displaying the new stock of Christmas toys.

Mr. Claus has outdone himself this year in the production of electronic gadgets and scale model toys for the small fry.

It used to be Junior's lot on Christmas morning to find a sock full of hard candy and a teddy bear under the evergreen tree. Now he expects something more practical and realistic.

A tiny cement mixer which really mixes cement or an electric stove which actually cooks

For the musical child who likes to play daddy's record player (much to daddy's chagrin) there is an electric phonograph with a turn table resembling a merry-go-round.

The absence of record surface scratching, which might frustrate Junior's delicate mental facilities, is the result of war-time experiments in electronics. All excess noise is electronically filtered from the speaker by a set of radio tubes.

Daddy should have a great time with the electric cannon now on the market. It fires a wooden projectile 10 feet with a trajectory of about 36 inches. The cannon's magazine holds six "shells" and is

Old Capitol Has Bats in Golden Dome

By RAY EASTMAN

This may come as a distinct shock, but Old Capitol has "bats in its belly."

The gold-covered cupola atop the building has long served as rendezvous for the flying rodents according to Melvin Belger and Alfred Klaffenbach, janitors at Old Capitol.

As if that weren't enough, the bats get into the lower floors of the capitol building, too.

"One morning when I came to work," Belger declared, "something hit me in the face as I opened the door. I fumbled for the light switch, turned on the lights, and saw a bat flying 'round and 'round the circular stairway."

The bats hide themselves when sleeping in the dome and under the roof, but Klaffenbach said, "You can hear them chattering up there. I thought they were birds—there are some starlings up there, too—until I saw them."

He climbs to the very top of the dome interior every evening to lower the flag which flies from the mast on the dome.

That climb is quite an experience. Alfred—he's the type of man you call by his first name—fired by simply pressing a button . . . excellent training for a future "push-button war."

A midget soda fountain offers fine possibilities for teaching Junior a vocation.

The fountain is about 10 inches high and is equipped with five plungers to squirt cola, rootbeer and other flavored syrups either into a glass or on the floor, depending upon Junior's interpretation of the art of soda jerking.

Practical fathers who are genuinely interested in their children's welfare want a toy which will be both useful and entertaining. They will be pleased to note that those clever body-building gifts known as toy snow shovels are back on the market.

With the prospect of much snow to be scooped from sidewalks and driveways during the next few months this handy little item is just the thing to keep Junior happy and at the same time save wear and tear on daddy's back.

Former SUI Professor Undergoes Surgery

Troyer C. Anderson, former professor at the University of Iowa, is reported to be a patient at Colonial hospital in Rochester, Minn. He underwent major surgery there Thursday.

Anderson is head of the history department at Hunter college in New York City.

He was a member of the history department here from 1942-44 when he left for war service in Washington, D. C.

Street Gets Divorce

Trula Street yesterday received a divorce from Milbern Street by default at the Johnson county district court before Judge Harold D. Evans.

Judge Evans granted a request by the plaintiff to resume her former name of Trula Collins. She charged cruelty and habitual drunkenness after marriage.

The couple was married August 9, 1927 at Bakersville, N. C. and separated Sept. 15, 1946. Swisher and Swisher represented the plaintiff.

The last ladder is a short one leaned against the flagpole, which extends down into the dome. After climbing it, a trapdoor in the very top of the dome affords ac-

Local PCA Petitions For Abolishment of Thomas Committee

A petition demanding the abolishment of the house committee on un-American activities is being circulated locally by the Johnson county chapter of the Progressive Citizens of America.

The list of signers will be sent to the U.S. house of representatives with the request that the Thomas committee be disbanded, according to Estelle Fuchs, A4, publicity chairman of the local chapter.

PCA groups throughout the United States are distributing similar petitions, Miss Fuchs said.

The local drive for signatures began Nov. 24 and will continue until most students, faculty and Iowa Citizens have been contacted.

Three reasons for abolishing the Thomas committee were given by PCA in the petition:

1. The committee violates the first amendment to the constitution guaranteeing free speech and expression.

2. It has made "a mockery of the bill of rights."

3. It seeks to impose a system of "thought control" on the American people.

Application Blanks For Scholarships Are Now Available

Applications for the La Verne Noyes, Carr and student aid scholarships are now available in the office of student affairs, according to Robert L. Ballantyne, manager of student placement.

The applications must be returned to the office of student affairs by 5 p. m. Tuesday, Jan. 6, in order to be considered for the second semester.

Applicants for the La Verne Noyes scholarships must have been enrolled in the university for one semester or must have completed 11 semester hours of credit, must have satisfactory grade averages, must be blood descendants of citizens who served in the armed forces during World War I, and must furnish information showing need for the scholarship. This scholarship pays the full tuition for one semester for the student.

Requirements for the Carr scholarship include a satisfactory grade average, attendance at the university for one semester and proof of the need of the student. The Carr scholarship pays $30 per semester.

Applicants for student aid must be residents of Iowa, have satisfactory grade averages, and be entirely self-supporting. Student aid provides tuition payment for those to whom it is granted.

Child Desertion Charge Filed Against IC Man

Floyd Dreckman, 212½ S. Dubuque street, was arraigned in police court yesterday on a charge of child desertion, which was signed by County Attorney Jack White.

The case came before Judge Emil G. Trott yesterday morning and was postponed until further notice.

Judge Trott said Dreckman would be released as soon as he executes a $20 weekly wage assignment to Mrs. Fannie Messner, 1105 Keokuk street, who is caring for the child. This was arranged by the court in place of fixing a bond.

Marines To Accept Recruits Here Sat.

Volunteers for the Citizen's Marine corps will be accepted at room 204 post-office building again Saturday from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. by reserve Lt. Robert B. Asprey.

The Citizens reserve is open to all veterans, and other men between the ages of 17 and 32 with no previous military experience. Members will be allowed to retain former rank, receive longevity pay and participate in an annual training period if desired, Asprey said.

University graduates wishing to participate in the platoon leaders class can apply to attend a school at Quantico, Va., and work for a reserve officer's commission, Asprey added.

The Citizens Marine corps was organized last Nov. 10. The marines hope to enlist 100,000 men in the reserve during the recruiting drive to be conducted this month and next.

Tea Dance Ends Campus Chest Drive

An all-university tea dance will climax the Campus Chest drive, Publicity Chairman, Bud Booton, A4, announced yesterday.

Booton said the closing date of the drive has been extended to Dec. 6, the day the tea dance will be held at Iowa Union.

A free movie, "Seeds of Destiny," will be featured several days next week. The time and place of the showings will be announced later, he said.

A total of 160 solicitors will cover town and campus in the effort to collect $10,000, the goal of the campaign, according to Joy Bowers, A3, general solicitations chairman. Solicitors will give a button to each person who contributes one dollar or more to the Chest fund.

Organized housing units will be utilized to contact most of the students, and general campus solicitation will contact those who cannot be reached through an organized group.

Proceeds from the drive will be divided as follows: World Student Service fund, 45 percent; United Negro College fund, 20 percent; American Cancer society, 10 percent; National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, 10 percent; Nil Kinnick scholarship fund, 7 1/2 percent, and emergency fund, 7 1/2 percent.

First year's dues, $369, for the National Student association will be taken from the proceeds before division among organizations. Contributions may be earmarked to any of the above groups.

They Crack Piggy Banks--Legally

By DON RICHARDSON

George P. Dvorsky, 730 S. Summit street, Tuesday night admitted taking money from children's "piggy banks." But it was legal.

Although he could not recall the exact amount "filched," he stated that he and an accomplice, David Stochl, 825 N. Johnson street, last week cracked one child's bank which netted $16.18.

No jury will ever convict Dvorsky or Stochl; their acts were all in the line of duty. They are tellers at a local bank and one of their services consists of opening "problem piggy banks" for customers who have lost the keys and don't want the child's keepsake destroyed. The money is, of course, credited to the bank owner's account.

Opening piggy banks may sound simple. But how would you open a beautiful blue china "piggy bank" without breaking it and without using the keys.

Dvorsky met the problem with two pencils, twisting the points around in the lock, but that didn't work. So he called Stochl. After some effort and a struggle with screwdrivers and pliers on the bank, it yielded the money. The piggy bank was intact and the child's account was $16.18 larger.

Thrifty children, he said, don't understand banking. They save their money and want to see it grow in their possession. They can't understand, Dvorsky said, people who put money in the city bank.

One day, he explained, Kenneth Fisher, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Fisher, 1123 N. Dodge street, brought his small bank to Dvorsky to be opened. After Dvorsky took out the money and credited it to Kenneth's account, the youngster grew angry.

"You open the bank and keep the money," Kenneth complained. Dvorsky laughed and said Kenneth left the bank vowing never to bring his savings to me, because "I kept the money."

"The Buyers' Dilemma" To Be Panel Subject

"The Buyers' Dilemma," a radio panel discussion, will be sponsored by the American Association of University Women Dec. 3.

The program will be heard at 4 p. m. over WSUL.

Dr. Sybil Woodruff, head of the home economics department, will lead the panel in discussion of cost of living problems.

Others on the program will be Prof. Lulu E. Smith and Prof. Maxine McDillitt, both of the home economics department.

Explosion Rocks Refinery

ESTIMATED $250,000 damage was caused yesterday by an explosion at the Frontier Oil Refinery co. works in Tonawanda, N.Y., which propelled this 5,000-gallon gas tank across the yards, shearing the holes near the bottoms of the two tall smokestacks on the left. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Not One Smythe But 125 Smiths, And Some Johnsons

There are no Smythes attending the University of Iowa.

Even without help from this branch, the Smith family still has the most names in the student directory.

The Smith listings gained over last year by a score of 125 to 116.

The Johnson family, a feeble second with 71 representatives, lost one listing from last year's number.

The Miller clan, with 69 members at SU, will soon catch the Johnsons if the present trend keeps up. They gained nine over last year.

A weak fourth place were the Andersons with 57—a gain from 48 last year.

Hardly in the running were the Petersons with 45 representatives.

They and 11 Petersens have exactly the same number at SU this year as last.

Cub Pilots Back In U. S.

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP) — The "round-the-world" fliers, George W. Truman and Clifford V. Evans, landed their light planes two minutes apart at Metropolitan airport last night, completing a 1,275-mile nonstop hop from Lethbridge, Alta., in approximately 13 hours.

Touching landing gears on continental United States soil for the first time since they left Teterboro, N.J., Aug. 9, the fliers were greeted by a crowd of at least 500 persons, including Mayor Fletcher Bowron of Los Angeles.

Tractor Co.—College Outline Cooperative Engineering Course

Plans for a cooperative course between the college of engineering and the Caterpillar tractor company of Peoria are being formed, L. J. Fletcher, director of training for the company, said yesterday.

Fletcher and Professors H. O. Croft and R. M. Barnes of the mechanical engineering department will work out details of the course, tentatively entitled "methods engineering."

Under the proposed project, a student will study mechanical engineering at the university, Fletcher said. During his engineering course, arrangements would be made for the student work at the Peoria plant for short periods, totalling 12 to 18 months.

Fletcher expects a student will be prepared to step into a job with the Caterpillar company after five years of combined training.

He said such cooperative courses had been set up at the Illinois Institute of Technology and Northwestern university.

Earlier in the day, Fletcher addressed a meeting of the student branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Speaking on the topic, "Industry Looks at Engineering Graduates," Fletcher told the group that ambition, personal appearance, cooperation, and proper attitude were primary qualities for success in the engineering field.

He also described his company's yearlong training course for graduates. Young engineers are assigned to a job, receive on-the-job training and technical lectures before they become permanent employees, he said.

Mrs. Glenn Frank Writes for 'Coronet'

Mrs. Glenn Frank, who last June gave a summer session lecture at the University of Iowa, is the author of the leading article in December's issue of Coronet magazine.

Many students who heard her talk last summer protested her opinion that college fraternities and sororities should be abolished. Mrs. Frank, widow of the president of the University of Wisconsin, was expelled from her own sorority after several articles she wrote in 1945 appeared in national magazines.

Artist Lechay Attends Own New York Show

Prof. James Lechay of the art department is now attending his one-man show of 14 paintings at Macbeth gallery in New York City, the art department announced yesterday.

The exhibition, which opened Monday, contains nine oil paintings and five water colors which were recently shown here. The Lechay show will close Dec. 3.

Lechay is expected to return here sometime this weekend.

Where Quality and Beauty go hand in hand

Seek Improvements for Temporary Housing at SU

Cotter's Visit Reveals Units Lack Beauty

Married student temporary housing areas may get a "new face," according to J. Robert Cotter, manager of married student housing.

Plans for improved public relations between the university and the residents are also included in Cotter's plans.

After returning this week from visiting four midwestern universities, Cotter said, "these proposed improvements are the points where our housing project may not be on equal par with others."

Cotter visited the University of Illinois, Purdue, Indiana, Northwestern universities where he inspected married student housing.

"Landscaping at these schools," Cotter explained, "was superior to ours."

He attributed the large supply of labor in these areas and direct aid from the state as the reasons for "good looking" housing areas.

The state highway commission built asphalt roads in the housing areas at Purdue university.

The University of Iowa constructed dirt roads. "These roads have repeatedly been reconditioned with cinders and crushed rock," Cotter said. Naturally they don't hold up as well as asphalt roads.

"The schools I visited have prohibited any outdoor construction by the residents thus keeping the areas consistent and neat in appearance."

The University of Iowa can be more lenient in regard to this type of action.

"I hope a program can be worked out between the university and the students so the landscaping and general appearance of our housing areas will compare with other schools."

"The morale of our residents is one of the most important factors in the success of our housing project."

He said he hoped to build better landlord-tenant relations through weekly meetings with area chairmen.

Parking and other safety problems must be solved in these areas, he added.

"We want the students to realize we are interested in their welfare and must work out their problems with them."

University Circulates—

$2-Million a Month

—In Iowa City

Nearly two million dollars is put into circulation in Iowa City each month by the university through its students and employees.

Listed as part of the income for Iowa City business firms, this information is contained in a booklet, "That's Where Our Money Goes," to be released by the League of Women Voters, Dec. 1.

A breakdown of this figure shows $8 million is paid to 3200 university employees each year, a large part of which is spent locally.

The institution spends $7,800,000 for materials and supplies to maintain and operate its plants annually. Most of this money goes to local business men.

Using as a basis, $800 per person a year, the university's 10,000 students spend about $8 million in the community every year.

This adds up to a total of $23,800,000 a year or approximately $2 million per month which flows through Iowa City because the university is located here.

In addition, the university building program calls for the expenditure of more than $17 million during the next 10 years.

There is on hand, $3,642,000 for new academic buildings. Plans have also been made for $7,450,000 worth of buildings which pay for themselves (like dormitories). Other campus units costing $6 million are expected to be constructed.

Since the university is state owned, it pays no property taxes for the support of Iowa City public schools, police and fire protection, and street construction and maintenance.

Its students, however, receive

SUI Housing Units Equal Other Schools

By PHYL WHITE

If you are living in one of the 932 married student housing units at the university your living standard is relatively equal to other midwestern student-veteran families.

A recent survey of eight midwestern universities revealed their temporary housing projects were quite similar to the University of Iowa's.

Of the eight schools questioned by letter, only Iowa State college and the University of Wisconsin exceeded Iowa in housing accommodations with 1,256 and 1,015 available units.

Rentals here compare favorably with other schools. Four room unfurnished apartment units cost $31 to $42 monthly. Under the Public Housing Authority's regulations rent cannot exceed 21% percent of the resident's income. Monthly trailer rental is $25. All rentals include utilities.

At Purdue university "590 apartments are contained in 164 converted barracks buildings." Three room apartment rental is $35, plus $6.50 a month for gas. Forty dollars, plus $8.50 for gas is the monthly rental for four room apartments.

The University of Wisconsin's Badger village, 34 miles from campus, has four room apartments renting for $25 a month. All utilities except heat are included in the rental.

Four room quonset buildings at the University of North Dakota cost $18.90 to $35 a month, including electricity "for normal use" and water.

"Converted army barracks buildings" at the University of Missouri contain four room apartments renting for $32.50 a month. This rental includes water and "electricity for lighting only."

Seventy-six trailer units are available at the University of Michigan for $27.50 a month, including the cost of utilities.

Barracks apartments, similar to the ones at the University of Iowa, rent for $33 monthly at Iowa State college.

P.H.A. apartment units at the University of Nebraska rent for $37.50 a month including utilities. These four room apartments are located in space "formerly used as army hospital wards."

Four room units "with eight apartments to a building" rent for $42.50 a month, including utilities at Indiana university.

"Build It Yourself" project is underway at the University of Nebraska. Space is leased to the individual at $20 a month. Materials are provided by the housing authority without cost, and the individual erects his own partitions.

Wiring, plumbing and the outside door are supplied by the housing officials. Lights and water are furnished to the residents free of charge.

Fifty students, to date, have "built their own."

At all these schools, including Iowa, regular mail delivery, garbage disposal, and maintenance are available to residents without charge.

A super market, drug store and barber shop are available to residents of Badger village. Regular 10 cent bus service to Madison is maintained by the university.

As the housing project at the University of Nebraska is located "some distance from the campus," two grocery stores, drugstore, cafeteria (for non-kitchen units), postoffice, barber shop, beauty shop, laundry and bus service are maintained by the university.

At the University of Iowa, a grocery co-op at Riverdale is available for married student members. Washing machines are located in the trailer areas.

Construction is underway at Indiana university on 236 permanent, fireproof apartment units.

"Part of these will be available by Sept. 1948," they said.

Parklawn, proposed 374 apartment project for married students at the University of Iowa, has been on the university's permanent construction schedule since April, 1946.

Bids then indicated the project would cost more than $2,000,000. Plans were dropped temporarily because of the high bids.

Many university officials said they feel Parklawn may be the next project the board of education will place on the market for bids. The board is now advertising for price offerings for the Currier hall addition.

Air Force Will Train 3,000 Cadets a Month

War-time qualified aviation cadets who were discharged at the end of the aviation cadet program in 1944-45 may be reinstated, M/Sgt. O. A. McClung, army recruiting sergeant announced yesterday.

Candidates must be between the ages of 20 and 27 years, unmarried, and have at least one-half the credits necessary for a university degree or pass an equivalent examination, McClung added. The air force plans to train 3,000 men a month under a new program.

Qualified cadets should write to Aviation Cadet section, Washington 25, D. C., for information and instruction, McClung said.

The Barbers' Message to Students & Citizens of IOWA CITY

In view of the current controversy over increased haircut prices from 75 cents to $1, we, the Master and Journeymen barbers of Iowa City, feel that it is our responsibility to present the facts to the students of Iowa university and the citizens of Iowa city.

We do not doubt the sincerity of the student "Long-Hair" society. On the other hand, we feel that these students are misinformed. We believe that if the "Long-Hairs" understand the facts involved and consider our position without prejudice, they will agree that the haircut price increase is warranted.

Meeting with representatives of the student group Monday, we attempted to explain to them why it was necessary to raise prices to $1. For the benefit of those persons who were not at that meeting, we want to make this information public.

1. At 75-cent haircut prices, journeymen barbers have, in the last year, made a weekly wage of $45-$54. We do not believe this is an adequate living wage in these times. Furthermore, it should be remembered that journeymen barbers receive only 70% of their gross income.

2. There is a shortage of trained barbers. Unless wages are increased, our journeymen barbers will leave Iowa City for more fruitful locations, or abandon the trade altogether.

3. Increased operating costs are a contributing factor to the haircut price boost. Cost of supplies and equipment has increased steadily, in addition to rent and depreciation expenses.

4. By charging $1 for haircuts, we will be able to maintain a professional standard in Iowa City comparable to that in other cities of the same size and having the same living costs.

5. Remember, a barber works an average of 55 to 60 hours a week. At an average weekly wage of $48.50, a union barber earns less than $1 an hour—considerably under the standard wages of a union laborer.

On the basis of these reasons, we must remain firm in our stand. We desire to be fair with our customers, and we ask them to be fair with us.

Consider our side of the question honestly, and we believe that you will agree our price raise was necessary.

Dorothy Greazel, Leonard Cooney To Speak Vows Today

Wedding vows will be spoken at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Wenceslaus church by Dorothy Greazel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Greazel, 1225 Rochester avenue, and Leonard Cooney, son of Thomas Cooney, Riverside.

The Rev. Edward W. Neuzil will officiate at the single-ring ceremony. Virginia Kessler, Iowa City, will be bridesmaid and Dean Cooney, Richland, will attend his cousin as best man.

A dinner for the immediate families will be given at noon at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride was graduated from Lone Tree high school and will continue to work at Alden's department store where she has been employed. Mr. Cooney was graduated from Cosgrove high school and is now employed at Montgomery Ward and company in Iowa City.

The couple will be at home after Dec. 1, at 1133 Hutz avenue.

"New Look" Skirts Likely For WACS

The "new look" has hit the army!

WAC uniform hemlines will be lowered to keep up with women civilian fashions if congress passes legislation making the WACS part of the regular army.

Lt. Col. Mary Louise Milligan, commanding officer of the 8,728 WACS still in the service, reported in a recent edition of the Recruiting Review that stylists at Ft. Monroe are redesigning WAC uniforms to meet with new styles in women's clothing.

At present, the WACS have been largely inactivated and no new members are being accepted. A bill is pending the next session of congress to authorize a permanent peacetime women's army.

Stranger in Town?

SANTA CLAUS HAS COME TO TOWN as Iowa City prepares for the Christmas season. Small children crowded close and listened intently to the city's first Santa this year, while older boys and girls smiled patronizingly. Pictured above are Robin York, 1026 Finkbine, on Santa's lap, and Anita Ann Fell, 117 Central Park, as they explain what they would like to see under the tree on their third Christmas morning.

City's Craft Guild To Sell Handiwork

A sale of articles made by the nine craft groups of the Iowa City Craft guild will be held Monday and Tuesday in the assembly room of the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company building.

The sale will be held from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Monday and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Tuesday. Candles, textile paintings, shell-craft, block printings, woven goods, toys, ceramics, leather and silver work will be included among the items for sale.

Mrs. L. G. Lawyer and Mrs. Frank Lorenz, co-chairmen, assisted by Mrs. A. C. Trowbridge, Mrs. Harry Jenkinson and Mrs. C. W. Edney, will be in charge. Mrs. George Glockler is president of the guild.

Christmas Stockings For Oakdale Vets

Veterans at Oakdale will receive Christmas stockings from the American Legion auxiliary, Mrs. Fred Gartzke, rehabilitation chairman of the Iowa City auxiliary, said yesterday.

Stockings are being filled with cigarettes, safety razors, candy bars, fruit and boxes of candy, and will be given to the veterans two days before Christmas. Those who wish to donate small gifts may make arrangements with Mrs. Gartzke, who is in charge.

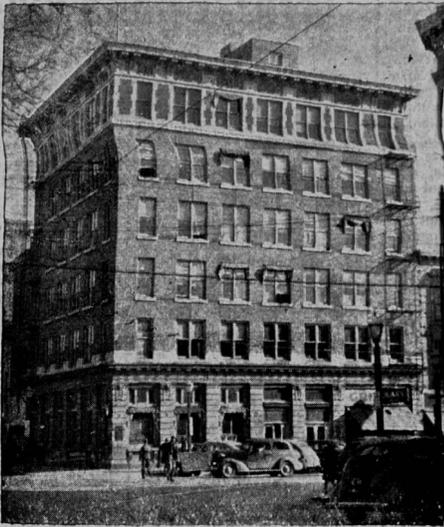

Funeral Saturday for Miss Mayme Carey, 73

Mayme Carey, 73, 922 Bowery street, died at Mercy hospital yesterday morning after a lingering illness. She had resided in Iowa City for many years.

Miss Carey is survived by two brothers, John Carey, Lone Tree, and Martin Carey, Marengo.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. Saturday at St. Patrick's church, with burial in St. Mary's cemetery at Nichols.

The rosary will be recited at 7:30 p. m. Friday at the Hohen-schuh mortuary.

A Stranger at Today's Feasting

Americans are going to have one more guest than they planned for at their feast of Thanksgiving today. In this stranger's eyes will be a questioning look. For he represents the millions of persons throughout the world whose one last hope is the United States.

He asks the soul-searching question which epitomizes Thanksgiving of 1947: What will the United States do with its power and plenty?

The stranger will softly censure in father's simple but sincere prayer to the Almighty for His truly bountiful showers of food and plenty. (For he is of a land where the grace of God has been forsaken for the heel of tyranny.)

He will marvel at the golden-baked turkey, wonder how so few persons can eat so many dumplings, potatoes and biscuits. He will be astonished at actually seeing butter. He will not understand where the fruit salad, the bread and the seemingly endless flow of milk and coffee come from. (For he is of a land where drawn faces, weary eyes and withered bones blurt out their story of human misery.)

He will not understand the marvels of electric iceboxes, ovens, toasters and percolators which eased mother's preparation of the meal. (For he is of a land where mere existence precludes these things except for the extremely wealthy.)

He will feel the shadow of the secret police when the table discussion turns to politics and junior openly flouts his father's settled convictions. He will recall his concentration camp horrors when another diner interposes a third interpretation of political thought. (For he is of a land where politics is the sole business of a ruling clique.)

He will not know what to make of the variety of newspapers strewn around the living room to be read after dinner. (For he is of a land where the press is the monopoly of the state, purged of anything that counters the official viewpoint.)

He will not comprehend the vast stretches of land that have yielded up their fruit, the expansive buildings, the peace and security of a quiet meal at home or the tranquility of an individual satisfied for at least one day with the horn of plenty at his mouth. (For he is of a land where all these are nothing but vague dreams in the hearts of his countrymen as they struggle in the mire of misery.)

Truly, Americans have much for which to be thankful on this feasting day—but they also have a challenge to gulp down with a tender leg of turkey.

School Spirit—Friendliness, Courtesy?

News that the Student council has named a committee to study this intangible thing called school spirit reminds us of an incident we observed during fall registration.

A young freshman girl, just out of high school, trembled as a fellow student standing in front of her boomed, "You can't enroll in that class! Read the instructions!"

The girl, completely squelched by this lack of courtesy, meekly turned and edged her way slowly through the throng of strange students. This was a new world for her . . . a strange and sometimes rude world of university life.

The girl mentioned might seem to be an insignificant cog in this great wheel of university life. But the oft repeated adage that the little cogs make the machine function cannot be forgotten. Some day this girl will be an alumna of Iowa and, though the incident may seem small, it may stand out as a bitter memory.

Perhaps this intangible called school spirit is basically friendliness and courtesy.

The young freshman cannot feel any love for the university when her first introduction to it is a booming, sharp command from a fellow student. Neither can another student be expected to have spirit when he is laughed at by his classmates for a question he asked of the instructor.

The university is not a group of impersonal buildings situated on a tract of land. A university is faculty, students, staff and townspeople . . . the people who give life to these buildings . . . the people, the student meets in his daily college life.

Partition Would Be a Bloody Operation

By RELMAN MORIN
Palestine is a gentle and lovely country.

It is made of blue hills and soft yellow sand, of live trees and lemon groves that rustle sweetly in the afternoon wind. The Judean slopes are tawny and immensely old. They look down on the Jordan, moving quietly across the plain. This is desert country, but the sun is gentle and the skies are not the blinding blue of the desert.

It is no wonder that the Jews and Arabs love it so much. Then why can't they live there together? The country is so infinitely peaceful. Why can't they live there in peace?

There are many answers, but none is the complete one, and perhaps there never will be a complete one. It is not race. They are the same race. It is not religion. They both know and practice tolerance.

In part, you could say "economics." The Jews are a dynamic people, bent on creating a model state, a nation of industry and commerce. They have great plans for building ships and making glass, for arts and crafts, for hydro-electric power, for farming and fruit and glittering cities.

The Arabs are changing, but they are still, at bottom, a pastoral people. They love the open spaces. Their aristocratic families do not live in, nor believe in, cities and towns and farms with fences. Amman, the capital of Trans-Jordan, just across the river from Palestine is probably as old as Jerusalem. It looks a thousand years older.

So at that point—the future race of Palestine—one fundamental disagreement emerges. The Jews, enjoying international help, have the money for schools and hospitals and model farms.

The Arabs do not have money. The percentage of Arab children who can go to school is pathetically small by comparison to the Jews.

The Arabs may and do receive treatment in Jewish hospitals from Jewish doctors. They can and are learning better agricultural methods on the collective farms of the Jews.

But because of religion, they cannot send their children to Jewish schools, even if the Jews had room for them.

So perhaps there is envy and fear in the picture. And even beyond this, there is great emotion, great passion that each feels about Palestine as the homeland. It is home for each of them, and it has been their common homeland for more than 2,000 years.

That is the reason why the Jews could never accept those other plans which would have given them the space in Africa or South America on which to build a Jewish nation. It was better land, potentially, richer and with greater natural resources. But it was not Palestine. It wasn't home.

"As a gentile," the woman said to me, "you would have great difficulty in understanding that. You would have to search for something deep in your heart, for comparison, to know how we feel."

On the other hand the Emir Abdullah, ruler of the Trans-Jordan, a descendant of the Caliph, told me:

"Palestine is ours. The Jews may stay here, but only with that as the basis of our relationship. Otherwise, we will fight." Is partition the solution? Can

Takes Issue

TO THE DAILY IOWAN:
I would like to take issue with certain items in the otherwise excellent letter of Prof. John A. Eldridge.

Prof. Eldridge first stated that the un-American committee has a right to make these investigations. A congressional committee can investigate only the fields in which congress can legislate. The supreme court so decided in Kilbourn v. Thompson (1880). Since the first amendment states that "Congress shall make no law . . . abridging the freedom of speech or the press . . ." the committee is acting unconstitutionally.

Second, Prof. Eldridge concedes that the men accused were technically guilty of contempt.

This I question. They refused to answer questions about their union and political affiliation.

The supreme court has repeatedly ruled, ". . . a witness rightfully may refuse to answer where the bounds of the power are exceeded or the questions not pertinent to the matter under inquiry." In McGrain v. Daugherty (1926) 273 U. S.

The committee not only is acting illegally, but has never adopted a definition of subversive or un-American. Its method and purpose is smear and intimidation.

Thomas Mann has revealed the committee in true ugliness: "As an American of German birth I testify that I am painfully familiar with certain political trends—spiritual intolerance, political inquisition and declining legal securities. That is how it started in Germany. What followed is fascism, and what followed fascism was war."

The un-American committee must be abolished.

Praise From ISC

I wish to express my thanks to Elaine Lenney and Virginia Rosenberg and the State University of Iowa in general for a very interesting and pleasant afternoon at the Iowa State college Coffee Forum (Friday).

The young ladies' assumptions and logic could have borne some scrutiny, yet this distracted but little from the forceful, vigorous and most eloquent arguments they presented.

Their opposition was anything but equal and for that I apologize. Knowing but little of the university, my impression of it, though obtained vicariously, is a good one, and I feel I speak for many of the others present at the forum.

The students there (SUI) may be justifiably proud to number Miss Lenney and Miss Rosenberg among their associates.

Gripe From SUI

Who pays tuition at SUI, students or faculty? One thing is clear, the faculty has first claim on university library facilities.

There can be no objection to the fact that members of the faculty are permitted to keep books out of circulation so long as there is no call for them. But that they refuse to return books requested by students for the purpose of fulfilling class assignments seems an inconsiderable abuse of a privilege.

What with the large number of graduate assistants on the campus accorded faculty status so far as use of library facilities are concerned, it becomes increasingly difficult for the common garden variety of student to get the books he needs.

We suggest a check on faculty book shelves and a new provision making it mandatory for everyone to return books called for by the expiration of the two-week period.

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

Importance of Being Thankful

By SAMUEL GRAFTON
New York Post Syndicate

One can give thanks for fall itself, a fine time of year. One can give thanks that one need not give thanks to any other nation for getting up a relief program for us. (Consider what Thanksgiving would be if the Swiss, say, were getting up an American aid program, and were marking their parcels "Swiss Aid" so that we would be sure to be grateful.)

One can give thanks that our reasons for giving thanks are obvious, almost corny, and need not be literary contrivances.

One can give thanks on a high level or a low, merely for what is on the table, or for the content of one's days.

One can give thanks, for example, that America has, so far, passed through the most serious crisis in human affairs without internal violence. That is not such a take-it-for-granted item as it may seem, considering how few places in this world can say the same.

Thanks, then, that we are not breaking each other's heads; that is quite remarkable on this planet today. We have trembled on the edge of it, at a couple of public affairs lately, but we haven't done it.

Thanks for blessed, nonconformist America, and for the newspapers and public figures, a fair, fat handful, who still stir themselves to fight for the right of any American not to think like any other, if he doesn't want to.

Thanks, not that we are to the right, nor that we are to the left, but that we aren't punching. Thanks for the democratic fabric, which has held. May it never fizzle; and a solemn, thoughtful Thanksgiving to those who would like it otherwise, with more intellectual or physical roughness. Thanks for an America in which one may build model railroads or be a theosophist, if such be his pleasure, without regard to prevailing opinion on model railroads or theosophy.

One may legitimately give thanks for the way our children look, on the fields or on the streets.

Thanks, also, for time itself. Thanks for the two years since the war's end. Thanks for each slow day which, in passing, erodes a little more of that strange, naive bumpiness we showed at the end of the war, when we decided that we did not need to help the world, nor to help each other, to keep our prices low and our tables filled. Thanks for the months and years which are always so mercifully given to us in which to make up for our mistakes.

Thanks for the gift of time itself, denied to so many other countries. Thanks for that second chance, which we seem always to get. Thanks for the way the world waits while we test out our attitudes, and may the future, incredibly, be as generous with the months and years as the past has been.

Thanks for time, which cools the shouting man, and answers him long after he thinks to have silenced all opponents.

One can give thanks, by all means, that we still have a chance to keep the peace, even though it be so narrow that we can only get our fingers in, or a pencil, against the final closing, the shutting down.

Thanks for William S. Hecksher of the art department conducted a gallery tour Tuesday night of the prints and paintings now on exhibition in the main gallery of the art building.

Unions' Powers Come First

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
King Features Syndicate, Inc.

We have in the United States a few private associations, embracing roughly ten million citizens, which enforce laws and inflict punishments so harsh that no public government would undertake to impose them. The Brooklyn

Law Review in an essay on "The Judicial Process in Labor Unions" some years ago referred to these bodies as "intra-state governments."

This was a study for lawyers of the paradox of brutal totalitarian government carried on under the protection and political patronage of a national government which, at that very time, was interfering in the domestic affairs of Germany on the ground that Hitler's treatment of his chosen victims was undemocratic.

"Such intra-state governments are now exercising jurisdiction concurrently with the state itself, over millions of Americans and their families," the article said. This was an understatement. The jurisdiction of the unions does not flow quite together with the government's jurisdiction. It comes first in most matters. The unions come first in taxes and loyalty. The nation, state, city, family and church follow, not necessarily in that order, and, until now, the national government and most of the state governments have bowed to this priority.

In one of the congressional inquiries during the war, Congressman Edward Herbert, of New Orleans, drew from Harry Posner, a boss of the united auto workers of the CIO, the admission that in any crisis he would put the union's welfare before the safety of young American fliers who were fighting the enemy.

Mr. Herbert raised such a row over Posner's declaration that he would rather let an American flier die than sacrifice any interest of the united auto workers that, finally, it was found expedient to draft Posner.

Until the adoption of the withholding tax the unions had first lien on the earnings of all those millions of workers. If the worker didn't keep his dues paid up, his assessments and shakedowns for clam-bake tickets and the like, he found his card "pulled" when he came to work. No matter how urgent the government's need of his skill, the union's financial interest took precedence over the nation's peril.

That is still true, but the government has pulled up neck-and-neck with the unions in the sprint for the pay window to nick the worker's wages. The government now collects the income tax by checkoff, but so does the union.

However, the government must do it by law, according to rates adopted by the elected representatives of the people of the United States.

But the union's greed is limited only to the conscience of the unionizers, who may be gangsters of the foulest kind. They may never have been elected at all.

TB Can Be Eradicated by 1965

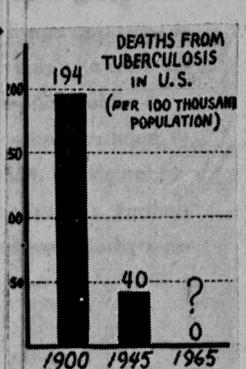

(This is the last in a series of three articles about tuberculosis—its cause, cure, and prevention. The source of all information in the articles is the National Tuberculosis Association—The Editor.)

By MERRITT LUDWIG

In less than one generation, no one need die from tuberculosis. Medical science aided by public cooperation can wipe out TB just as it has defeated former killers such as cholera, yellow fever, and the plague.

"Prevention" is the watchword in the fight against TB: find out who is infected, and get them isolated so they can't give the disease to others.

America's battle against TB is 60 percent won already. In 45 years, tuberculosis mortality has

Workers Take Over Stadium From Gridders

Although the football season ended here 11 days ago, work is still underway at the stadium. University employees are removing temporary bleachers from the south end of the field. Last week all water and steam was shut off at the stadium and pipes drained. The canvass field covering must still be dried and put away for the winter.

Spending Thanksgiving at home are Shirley Trowbridge, A4, Charles City; Nedra McNabney, A4, Cedar Rapids, and Darrell Stille, A3, Storm Lake.

Gertrude King, A3 of Griswold, will spend Thanksgiving at the home of Doris Colbornson, A2, Marengo.

Local Retail Sales Reflect Inflation: Gage

Retail sales in Iowa City will reach the 30 million dollar mark in 1947, Robert L. Gage, Chamber of Commerce secretary, predicted yesterday.

"This reflects the inflationary trend that has taken place in the nation since 1941," he said.

This estimate represents an increase of almost 160 percent over the 1941 figure of $11,700,000.

"This rosy picture is tempered considerably," Gage continued, "by the fact that inventory costs have doubled during this period." He said that this forced retailers to dig into surplus or capital funds to make up the difference in inventory replacement cost with every turnover of stock.

When this is considered along with the sharply increased cost of sales and increased depreciation allocations, Gage contended, it becomes clear that the retailer is little or no better off, economically speaking, than he was before the war.

"Even if he doubled his net profit," he claimed, "the retailer's dollars, like everyone else's, will only buy half of what they used to buy."

A further testimony to the nation-wide inflation, in terms of local interest, according to Gage, is a survey by the Chamber of Commerce of the 22 banks in the Iowa City trade territory.

The survey revealed that in October, these banks were holding 61 million dollars in customers' checking and savings accounts, compared to 18 million dollars in October, 1941.

Also, these figures do not show that Johnson county farmers have reduced their mortgage indebtedness by approximately 2 million dollars during the 1941-45 period, Gage said.

There are more than 16,000 barn fires every year.

Personal Notes

Mrs. L. W. Cassell of Omaha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Vanhorne, 213 S. Capitol street, and her sons, David, William and Jerry Allen, will sail for Europe Dec. 1. They will join Major Cassell, who is chief of military personnel at U.S. army headquarters in Austria. They will live in Vienna for three years. Mr. and Mrs. Cassell attended SUI.

Dr. and Mrs. S. B. Barker will entertain 12 medical students and friends at Thanksgiving day dinner at their home, 309 Sunset street.

Guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Darl E. Vander Ploeg, Betty Cupp, Betty Jane Schmidt, Betty Barry, Bob Horton, John Tyrrell, Frank Forsythe, Ed Jacobs, Dick Eckberg, Jim Maharry and Everett Nitzke.

Alpha Tau Omega men held their annual Club Tau formal dance last night at the local chapter house. Duke Williams was general chairman and Dean Ohlson headed the decorations committee.

Chaperons were Prof. Jack Johnson of the political science department and Mrs. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ewers, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Spencer, and Mrs. Thelma Yetter.

Dr. Troyer C. Anderson, a professor in the university's history department from 1942 to 1944, recently underwent major surgery at Rochester, Minn., and is now at the Colonial hospital there.

Anderson left the university to enter the historical division of the war department in Washington, D. C. Since 1946 he has been head of the history department at Hunter college, New York City.

Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Enderby, 741 Oakland avenue, and daughters Barbara Sue, Margaret Anne and Betty Lou will leave Iowa City Dec. 1 to make their home in Green Bay, Wis. Dr. Enderby has been practicing osteopathy here for eleven years and will continue his practice in Green Bay.

Ken White, A4, Rockford, Ill., and Dick Kjos, A2, Chicago, are spending Thanksgiving at their homes.

Martha Dawson, A2, Sigourney, will spend the weekend in Davenport as the guest of Sue Kropf, A3, Clinton, this weekend.

John Suurballe, A3, Fort Wayne, Ind., will visit Ken Snyder, A3, Clinton, this weekend.

Students spending Thanksgiving at their homes in Fort Madison will include: Robert E. Buffum, A2; Harold Paul, A2; Huetta Ward, A3; Bill Casady, A2; Charles Sanders, A4; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sprott; Mr. and Mrs. Howard I. Inbody, Frank Dodge, A2; Bob Taylor, A1; Gene Edlen, A2, and Jack Spiess, C4.

Joan Rashid, 1011 Woodlawn street, and her nieces, Inez and Ernestine Rashid, both A1, of Ft. Madison, will spend tomorrow in Ft. Madison.

A Reason For Thanksgiving

The spirit, faith and gratitude that led early Americans to set aside a day for Thanksgiving still should be very much alive today. We have produced abundantly in this country of ours... and holiday tables will be filled for the festive occasion. But this year, amidst plenty, we look upon a hunger-filled world... and it is a good time for each of us to renew his faith in our American way of life... a good time to be grateful for our capacity and opportunity to give less fortunate peoples elsewhere a reason for Thanksgiving.
