Fuel—la. Supply Low; Navy Sends Out Tankers Fuel Nearly Gone in 6 Cities

Statewide Committee Sets 6-Point Program

DES MOINES, (P)—The Iowa advisory fuel committee, set up at its first meeting yesterday, set up a six-point "program of action and policy" and meanwhile received communications that six municipalities either are out of fuel oil or their supplies are very low.

The "program of action and policy":

1. Recommend and promote the organization of local citizens' committees.
2. Every civic agency having authority to do so should stop at once the issuance of permits for the installation of new oil burning equipment.
3. Get oil suppliers together and work out a voluntary plan of emergency supply for hardship cases.
4. Take steps to ascertain accurately the amount of existing stocks and to expose any cases of unjustified hoarding.
5. Establish liaison with all federal agencies which could assist in the acquisition and delivery of oil stocks.

WASHINGTON (P)—Navy oil tankers were speeding yesterday from far-flung shipping lanes toward U. S. ports to pick up cargoes of fuel oil for rapid transport to shortage areas.

U. S. maritime officials reported to the house commerce committee that the tankers are being assembled at Balboa, Panama Canal Zone. From there they will be dispatched to strategic points to pick up oil for transport along the Atlantic seaboard, particularly the New York area and New England. About 40 tankers have been made available for this emergency service.

Meanwhile new cold spells were forecast yesterday for the northeast and midwest, posing a new threat for the critical fuel supply that has made more than 250,000 idle in industrial areas of the nation.

As a new blizzard hit the northern New York "snowbelt" area, and Pennsylvania has raised the danger of possible spring floods.

The new blizzard in the Waterbury area isolated some communities, forced schools to close and crippled highway and rail traffic.

Politics Stassen Tells GOP: Meet Issues Openly

PORTLAND, Me. (P)—Harold E. Stassen asserted last night the Republicans will have a better chance of winning the presidency this year by meeting the issues "openly and frankly."

The 40-year-old Minnesota governor — an announced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination — told a meeting of Maine young Republicans here that he would support the party's nominee "whoever he may be."

Stassen declared that he believed "a Republican party that meets the issues and makes its internal decisions of policy openly and frankly will have a better chance of victory in November than it would if it glossed over or evaded the vital questions of the future."

Visiting Maine on his week-long tour of northern New England, Stassen won an enthusiastic reception.

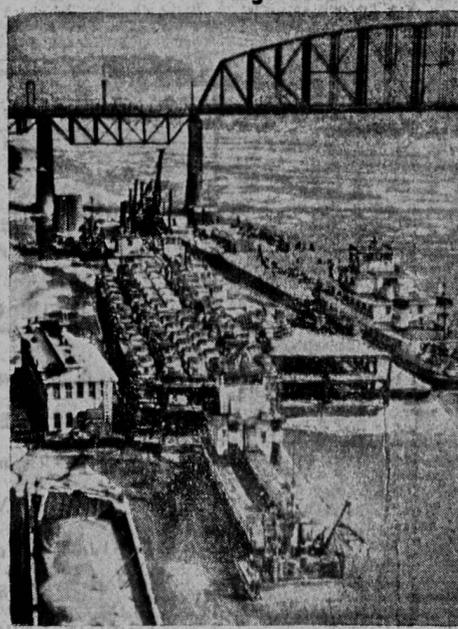

Asked whether he would accept the Republican nomination for vice-president, Stassen replied: "I am running for the Republican nomination for president."

Southern Man May Be Next President

JACKSON, Miss. (P)—Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) predicted yesterday that if southern Democrats withhold from the Democratic party their electoral votes, "a southern man will emerge as president of the United States."

He told the Mississippi legislature it would work out this way: "The south, with 117 electoral votes, could throw them to a 'distinguished southerner.'"

Boys Will Be Boys, Girls Will Please Mothers— Girl Burns Neighbor's Home 3 Times

FERNDALE, MD. (P)—A blue-eyed girl of ten testified yesterday that she set fire to a neighbor's home three times "to please her mother."

"Mother asked me if I could do it," Louise Morrison said in police court. Her foster mother, Mrs. Helen Josephine Lock, 42, was ordered held in $15,000 bail for grand jury action on three charges of arson. She pleaded innocent.

The girl said her mother asked her to burn a seven-room bungalow owned by Mrs. Rose Sellner.

The police judge asked why Mrs. Sellner said she and the Locks had argued over a garage Mrs. Lock's husband wanted to build across the street from the Sellner bungalow.

Louise was asked to burn the house last June 5. "I said I guessed I could and I got matches and coal oil from drums in back of the garage. 'Sister watched the dogs so they wouldn't bark and I set fire to the house and it burned up.'"

The house was two-thirds rebuilt Oct. 11. Then said Louise, "My mother said that she would like to see it burn down again." The blaze was confined to the back porch.

Again on November 16, Louise said, she asked her foster mother if she wouldn't like to have the house burned down again.

"No they'll get suspicious," Louise said her mother replied, but Louise decided to go ahead and set fire to the front porch anyway "to please mother."

Truman Remarks on Rationing, Ike, Politics Offers No Comment on Eccles

WASHINGTON, (P)—President Truman bluntly said yesterday there will be no explanation from him of the removal of Marriner S. Eccles from the chairmanship of the federal reserve board.

He refused to give his reasons at his weekly news conference, which was largely given over yesterday to a discussion of foreign aid.

Mr. Truman made it clear that, on the question of foreign aid, he will insist on a full four-year program.

His comments on other matters: Eccles—The President has a right to exercise his prerogatives, which he did in demoting Eccles to vice-chairman of the federal reserve.

When told that the senate banking committee may investigate, the President said the committee can investigate anything it chooses. It can't investigate the President, he added with a smile, except by impeachment.

Rationing—The administration has not decided that meat rationing is imminent. The situation is becoming very acute but price control would be needed if rationing is to be effective.

Eisenhower—Mr. Truman smilingly discussed the announcement of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's withdrawal. The general controls his own destiny. If he thought that was the best thing to do, then the President was for it.

Other politics—Anybody who wants to get a headline can get it by attacking the President. This was in response to a speech by Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama criticizing him and declaring for the Democratic nomination.

Labor Petrillo Allows FM Music Duplication

NEW YORK, (P)—The American Federation of Musicians agreed yesterday to permit frequency modulation stations to duplicate musical programs carried on standard radio and to a 60-day extension of its present contract with the four major networks.

The action was disclosed in a joint announcement by the networks and James C. Petrillo, president of the AFL musicians union. The union's ban on performances by its members for television remains in effect pending further negotiations.

Henry Ford II, UAW Meet in Unique Parley

DETROIT, (P)—Henry Ford II and Walter P. Reuther shattered precedent in automobile industry management-labor relations yesterday by discussing "general labor policy matters" at a three-hour conference.

Both the 30-year-old president of the Ford Motor Co. and the 37-year-old head of the CIO united auto workers were accompanied by their top aides. It was the first time such a conference was held when no contract negotiations or labor disputes were in progress.

Restraints G-M Plan

NEW YORK, (P)—General Motors Corp., was temporarily restrained yesterday by federal court order from putting into effect its own employee insurance plan next Sunday with respect to 175,000 workers represented by the CIO united auto workers.

Action, Designed To Halt Black Market

PARIS (P)—The national assembly adopted early yesterday Premier Robert Schuman's bill removing all 5,000 franc notes from circulation. The assembly declared use of the 5,000 franc note, worth about $25, as legal tender would be punishable by law.

The vote on the measure, designed to combat black market operations and bring about deflation, was 307 to 286.

The final method by which the note will be redeemed will be established by government decree.

Schuman's action in suspending the large-denomination bills just after midnight was explained by the government as a move against black market operators and hoarders. His opponents said it was a political move to win the support of socialists for his bill establishing a free gold market in France.

At stake were about 330-billion francs, or 37 percent of the French bank note circulation, worth $1,542,000,000 at the new official rate of 214 francs to the dollar.

The action roused a furore of criticism throughout the country. It caught foreigners and travelers short of funds, embarrassed employers who must meet payrolls tomorrow, and caused wide variations in the trade in dollars.

After the vote to suppress the franc, the chamber remained in session to debate another government backed plan, a bill to open the gold market in France to free trading.

Before the voting began, Schuman said his cabinet would resign unless the assembly backed him.

The Communists and deputies of the extreme right opposed the bill as it first was voted article by article and then as a whole.

Schuman also gained support for his free gold market bill from the Socialists who said they would now vote for it with slight modifications.

Before the first voting test, Schuman said his cabinet would resign unless the assembly backed him.

No State Shall Abridge the Privileges— Seek Loopholes to Bar Negroes at Okla. U.

These Negroes Attempted To Enroll at Oklahoma U. Wednesday "If There Is No Institution for Negroes?"

6 Negro Graduates Request Admission

NORMAN, OKLA., (P)—The University of Oklahoma board of regents late yesterday deferred action on the admission of six Negro students to graduate school and requested more information from the state attorney general and regents for higher education in Oklahoma.

Another phase of the hotly-contested issue—the calling of a special session of the Oklahoma state legislature—was cooled off temporarily at least by Gov. Roy J. Turner, who said he had not considered the matter officially.

Dr. George L. Cross, president of the university, is to ask the higher regents if the education applied for is afforded by the state in any other institution and also if the university president is authorized to admit the Negroes if the attorney general answers the question put to him in the affirmative.

The United States supreme court on Jan. 12 ordered Oklahoma to grant Mrs. Ada Lois Sipuel Fisher equal and immediate educational facilities with white students. The state then set up a separate law school for Negroes at the state capitol in Oklahoma City.

Williamson also said that the regents for higher education have broad powers, "as evidenced by their prompt establishment of a state school of law as a function of Langston university; and the governor has the constitutional authority (should he so decide) to summon a special session of the state legislature, if same should be found to be expedient, or necessary."

Meanwhile, white students at the University of Oklahoma, some dressed as mourners, solemnly cremated a copy of the 14th Amendment to the federal Constitution yesterday in protest against the state's ban on Negro students at the institution.

Then they mailed the ashes to President Truman.

An estimated 1,000 students watched in freezing weather and snow the campus demonstration. The university's enrollment is approximately 12,000 as the second semester opened yesterday.

The 14th Amendment provides in part: "No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

Atomic Bomb Worries American Scientist, Gromyko— A-Bomb Blast Would Cripple Nation's Capitol

Vital Buildings Would Fall to Single Blast

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, (P)—How just one atom bomb could be dropped on Washington and destroy much of the nation's civil and military government was described yesterday by Dr. R.E. Lapp, former military advisor and atomic scientist.

Dr. Lapp's study appears in the bulletin of the atomic scientists of Chicago. It is based on studies he made while serving as scientific advisor with the war department general staff. Now he is executive director of the committee on atomic energy research and development board.

Dr. Lapp assumes that the bomb dropped on Washington equals 50,000 tons of T.N.T. This 50,000 tons is only a little more powerful than energies officially attributed to the plutonium type bombs that began with Nagasaki.

Dr. Lapp said he "simply assumes that the enemy would want to knock out the Pentagon building (headquarters of the national military establishment) as the target of highest priority."

"In addition the bomb might be detonated so as to inflict as much possible personnel damage throughout the rest of the city."

"Let it be assumed that the bomb is detonated at an altitude of one-half mile and that ground zero (the point directly underneath) is taken as the Potomac river midway between the highway and memorial bridges."

"Within a radius of less than one mile from this point are the Pentagon, the navy and munitions buildings, the treasury and the new state department building. Included also are the headquarters of the atomic energy commission, the department of the interior, and the department of agriculture."

"All these could be expected to undergo almost complete destruction and the loss of life would probably be above 90 percent."

"Most of the other government buildings along the Mall as well as those surrounding the White House are within one-and-one-half miles of ground zero and would all suffer heavy damage."

"Even the Capitol, some two miles from ground zero would not escape: its huge, structurally weak dome would collapse.

"Only a few of the 20,000 workers in the Pentagon building would be alive after the first day, for the combined effect of the blast wave and radiation upon the building would be a knock-out blow."

Dr. Lapp quotes atomic scientists who have said "there is no military defense against atomic bombs and none is to be expected."

"The atomic bomb," he says, "is a new type of weapon—a triple threat. It is not something mysterious which can magically be pre-detonated or defused by radio waves, ultra-sonics, or other means. In this sense, then, there is no defense against the atomic bomb."

But in the sense that it is a high explosive, an incendiary and a source of radiation it is obvious that one can intercept it before it reaches its target, provided the defensive forces are alerted and the interceptory devices are efficient."

Destroy Atomic Bombs Immediately: Gromyko

LAKE SUCCESS, (P)—Andrei A. Gromyko of Russia insisted yesterday that atomic bombs must be banned and destroyed immediately.

But he would not pledge the Soviet government to agree to a control system after this had been done. He said controls must be worked out after the atomic weapons were prohibited. The ban was the urgent first step to international control, he said.

This would mean that the United States, the only nation known to possess atom bombs, would destroy the stockpile and then begin talking about preventing the making of atomic weapons. The U. S. has rejected this plan.

The Soviet deputy foreign minister's statement was the plainest he has yet made to the working committee of the United Nations Atomic Energy commission.

Olympic Hockey Feud Continues; Games Begin

Fail to Settle Skate Dispute

By TED SMITS
ST. MORITZ, SWITZERLAND, (AP)—Angry feuding swept this snow-blanketed sports capital late last night on the eve of the winter Olympic games, set up to promote peace among men.

The bitter squabble over which of two hockey teams will represent the United States in the ice carnival starting today still raged as the hour for the opening ceremonies drew ever nearer.

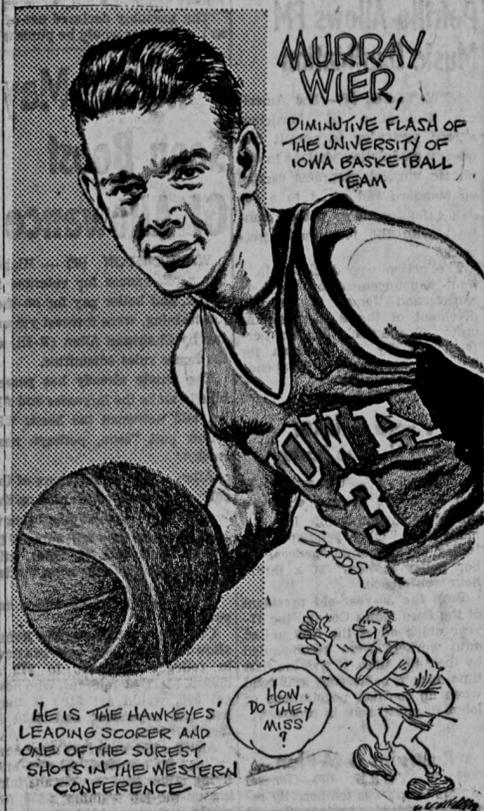

Avery Brundage, president of the U. S. Olympic committee, claimed victory in his fight to bar the team of the Amateur Hockey association and said the way was clear for all American squads—except hockey players—to compete in the games.

The International Olympic committee, supreme governing body, voted 16 to 10 to ban both the

A. H. A. team and the one chosen by the U. S. Olympic committee. But Dr. Albert Mayer, a member of the Swiss organizing committee, said the Swiss hosts would reject the I. O. C. decision because of "contracts" with the International Ice Hockey federation, which backs the A. H. A. team. Dr. Frits Kraatz, president of the International Ice Hockey federation, said hockey would be on the program today "despite all conflicting reports."

One thing seemed clear. The games will start today. Speculation centered on the possibility that hockey would be played but that the argument might rage for months over whether it was Olympic hockey, an exhibition or a world championship.

Martin Gives Sport Trials, Tribulations

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK (AP)—If you are a little on the skeptical side you might gather from reading the papers that sports are conducted with all the harmony of one, big, happy family. Slap-happy, that is.

The dispute in the Olympic hockey competition was just an echo of the trials and tribulations of other sports. Curling seems to be the last stronghold of peace and harmony and amateurism. When those good people start throwing stones at one another we'll give up.

Here are just a few of the discords in the symphony of good, clean sport:

Boxing—You don't know where to begin on that one. The middleweight champion is under suspension. "Political football" charges and countercharges that the game is infested with unworthy characters who should be swept under the rug have been hurled like bean balls.

Baseball—Manages to keep a united front, but right now is in court to defend itself against charges brought by Danny Gardella, the former New York Giant who wandered to Mexico and now wants $300,000 on the claim he is illegally barred from the game in U.S. The reserve clause also made the headlines in a proposed Massachusetts bill to make that very important part of the contract illegal.

Football—Two rival pro leagues are at each other's throats, using ropes made of dollars. The All-America conference is willing to speak to the National league, but the National league prefers to talk to itself. Even college football was forced to pass legislation with teeth in it to keep its members honest.

Golf—All is smooth on the surface right now, but prior to the recent meeting of the P. G. A. in Chicago the boiling point in dissension was reached, with poison pen postcards aimed at the officials part of the heat.

Basketball—It's a case of "who called the piccolo player a bum or who called the bum a piccolo player" so far as the officials and coaches are concerned. The officials blame the rules for the constant whistle blowing. The coaches blame the officials. The fans, stuffing their ears with cotton, don't care who's to blame, but want something done about it.

Horse racing—Has its own cops on duty at all times to keep its house in order, with banishments and suspensions of wrongdoers too numerous to mention.

Nu Sigma Nu Clips Alpha Kappa Kappa

Nu Sigma Nu had to come from behind in the last quarter to nip Alpha Kappa Kappa 21-18 last night in an intramural game at the fieldhouse.

Trailing 16-11 at the end of the third stanza, the Nu Sigs started to find the hoop with Ned Smith potting two buckets and Dave Ivie one to take a 17-16 lead.

An AKK field goal left the Nu Sigs behind 18-17, but baskets by Maurice Gonder and Tom Dorn clinched the game.

The win gave Nu Sigma Nu its fourth straight victory in the Professional fraternity league.

In the other game scheduled for last night, Phi Beta Pi won by forfeit from Psi Omega, 14-0.

Navy Won't Get Wilkinson

Oklahoma Coach Stays With Sooners

NORMAN, OKLA., (AP)—Charles (Bud) Wilkinson yesterday eliminated himself from the bidding for the head football coaching job at the U. S. Naval academy and will remain at the University of Oklahoma.

Dr. George L. Cross, president of the university, said Wilkinson had withdrawn his bid for the navy post.

Wilkinson, 32-year-old former Minnesota university football player, flew east Monday to confer with naval officials on the position left vacant by the retirement of Capt. Tom Hamilton. He returned here Wednesday night and had no comment on his talks with naval officials. Wilkinson steered the Sooners to a tie in the Big Seven conference last season. His team won seven games, lost two and tied one in 1947.

Creighton Strengthened
OMAHA (AP)—Creighton university's second-semester basketball prospects looked up yesterday with announcement that Bob Gradoville of Des Moines, 1946-47 guard who dropped out to devote more time to studies, has rejoined the squad. He will suit up for the St. Louis engagement here Saturday night.

Boston Writers Honor Five Baseball Players

BOSTON (AP)—Five Major league baseball players were honored last night with special awards for achievement last season by the Boston Baseball writers at their annual dinner attended by 900 fans. They are Ted Williams, Frank (Spec) Shea, of the New York Yankees' pitching staff, Bob Elliott, Boston Braves third baseman chosen as the National league's "Most valuable player" in 1947, Sam Mele, Red Sox outfielder, and Earl Torgeson, Braves first sacker.

Parklawn Bids Top Million Dollar Mark

Four units of the Parklawn housing project will cost $221,780 more to build than two years ago, bids received by the university showed yesterday.

The low bids yesterday totaled $1,140,312. The state board of education rejected low bids of $918,532 a year ago as too high.

Action is expected on the bids when the board meets here Feb. 10.

After opening of the bids, university officials declined to comment on the request by the Iowa City Real Estate board that the university "cease and desist" on the Parklawn apartment plan.

The realtors attacked the project in a resolution sent to the university Wednesday in which they charged that the construction would discourage investment of private capital in housing projects here and place a burden on existing tax paying facilities.

Kuchara Construction company, Des Moines, submitted the low bid of $877,000 for general construction. Low bid on heating and plumbing of $199,312 was submitted by Carsten brothers, Ackley, Iowa. Olds Electric company, Davenport, submitted the low bid on electric contract of $64,000.

The bids were opened at 2:30 p. m. in Old Capitol by Robert Loudon, Fairfield, on the business and building committee of the state board of education. Dave Dancer, secretary of the board was present.

Five companies submitted general bids.

International Soiree Set for February 7

An "International Soiree" in honor of foreign students attending SUI will be held in the women's gymnasium at 8 p. m. Feb. 7.

This annual social event is sponsored by the Foreign Students' commission of the Student Christian council.

The evening's activities will include dancing, card playing and games of all kinds, both foreign and American. Refreshments will be served.

There will be no admission charge and everyone is invited, including American students.

Each foreign student is expected, but not required, to wear clothing representing his homeland. There will also be a display of articles typical of the foreign countries.

Anyone who has articles for display may contact Richard E. Switzer, adviser to foreign students, in the office of student affairs.

Spencer To Teach Magazine Production

Richard Spencer, formerly of Look magazine's promotion department in Des Moines, will instruct a new two-hour course in magazine production beginning Feb. 2, it was announced yesterday.

The course, open to juniors and seniors, will consist of training in magazine production processes such as typography, designing and editing.

A graduate of the university's school of journalism, Spencer was a staff artist for The Daily Iowan and Frivol. He also contributed cartoons to well-known magazines.

Correction

The Daily Iowan yesterday incorrectly announced that H. H. Gehlbach would speak on the Information First program yesterday afternoon. He will speak next Thursday, Feb. 5.

FAMOUS PAINTINGS

GAMBLERS QUARRELLING
Which Player Cheated?

(Because of the unusual importance of the Metropolitan art show being exhibited in the art building gallery, The Daily Iowan is presenting daily an illustration of one of the famous paintings with an accompanying article.—The Editor.)

Depicts Colorful Action, Flaring Emotions

By JOAN LIFFRING

Colorful action and emotions are plentiful in this Metropolitan painting by Pieter Bruegel the Younger (1564-1633). Many artists have painted card players, but few have shown them in the midst of a violent quarrel.

Everyone in the painting is much excited. One of the irate players is grabbing a pitchfork from a woman, probably his wife. This same man has already been swatted on the back with some kind of stick. Another man is attempting to pacify a determined woman with a vase.

The cards have fluttered to the ground in the midst of the struggle. It is hard to tell which of the quaint costumed players cheated. A timid man is watching the scene near a tree. Villagers in the distance aren't running to stop the quarrel, but seem to be fighting their own battles.

This painting supposedly isn't as good as Pieter's father did. It may have been taken from a drawing by the elder Bruegel. However, it is colorful, lively and interesting.

Young Bruegel was five years old when his father died. He was not a pupil of his very famous parent. A member of the Guild of St. Luke in Antwerp, he ran a shop producing hundreds of paintings based on drawings and sketches by Pieter the Elder.

Bruegel was not always just an imitator. He produced several of his own compositions. He was especially fond of painting Dutch scenes crowded with many figures.

Davis Leaves Iowan To Run Own Newspaper

S. J. Davis, mechanical superintendent of The Daily Iowan for 15 years, will leave tomorrow for Milford, Mich., to assume co-ownership of The Milford Times, a weekly newspaper in which he bought part interest.

Davis said his partner will be Robert Rowe, newly-elected vice-president of the Michigan Press association. Rowe's grandfather founded the newspaper in 1857.

Philip E. Penningroth, Iowa City, will fill the vacancy on The Daily Iowan.

Postpone Pump Bids

The university has postponed until Feb. 6 opening bids for a new water pumping unit for the power plant, university architect, G. L. Horner said yesterday.

The bids were to have been opened today, but Horner said they would not be opened until next Friday.

File 2 Auto Damage Suits

Two damage suits were filed yesterday in Johnson county district court as a result of automobile accidents.

Alva A. Le Grand, North Liberty, filed a petition asking for a $1,725 judgment from Louis Stusak, for damages he claims resulted from an accident Aug. 9, 1947.

In the petition, Le Grand claimed his son, Lester, was driving the car at the time of the accident, and that Stusak failed to stop before entering U. S. Highway 218 from a side road near Sheuville.

Le Grand claimed $1,100 damage to his car, a $25 towing charge and $600 resulting from the loss of his car to his business.

William F. Morrison is attorney for the plaintiff.

In another petition, James Hausler, Iowa City, asked a $400 judgment from Wendell W. Griggs for damages he claims resulted from an accident Nov. 16, 1947.

Hausler said in the petition that he struck Grigg's car which was stopped across U. S. Highway 218 near North Liberty.

He stated that damages to his car amounted to $270.32. A passenger in the plaintiff's car, Clare Redman, suffered bruises and lost an overcoat, Hausler claimed. Redman's loss and medical care amounted to $129.68.

Attorneys for the plaintiff are Fourtaint, Bridges, Lundy and Stephenson, Des Moines.

Student, Seriously Injured, Operated Upon By Father

The father of Thomas (Tommy) Abbott of Des Moines, University of Iowa student, performed a brain operation on his son yesterday morning after the 18-year-old youth was injured in an auto accident in Des Moines.

Dr. Walter D. Abbott, father of the student, yesterday afternoon said his son's condition was "serious" and that it would take two or three days to determine his actual condition.

He operated two hours after the accident which, police said, occurred at 3:16 a.m. yesterday.

Abbott, who was to return here Sunday, has been visiting in Des Moines between semesters. He is a freshman in the college of liberal arts and lives at the Quadrangle.

Officials at Broadlawn General hospital, where the operation was performed, said Dr. Abbott operated to relieve pressure on the brain brought about by head injuries the youth suffered in the accident.

Alone in the auto, the youth apparently lost control of the car and it careened off a telephone pole and rammed into the front porch of a Des Moines residence.

Abbott was hurled from the auto, his head striking the curb, police said.

Police called Dr. Abbott as his son was being taken to the hospital. At 5:20 a.m. he received anesthetic and the operation was completed at 6:30 a.m.

Abbott's parents said the accident apparently happened as the youth was returning from visiting a friend.

Police placed damages at $500 on the car, $250 on the residence and $50 on the telephone pole.

Girl Scouts Plan Regional Meeting

The Iowa City Girl Scout planning board will meet Wednesday at 4 p. m. in the scout office to discuss arrangements for the Mississippi Valley Area conference, junior and senior division, to be held here April 16-18.

Mary Jane Kelly of Iowa City high school's troop one will act as local chairman for the conference. The program committee of the Iowa City Girl Scout council will assist the planning board in conference arrangements. Mrs. Scott Reger is chairman of this committee.

Approximately 300 girl scouts from the Mississippi Valley area are expected to attend. This district extends along the Mississippi river, one county wide, from Dubuque to Muscatine, and includes Iowa City.

Three Iowa City girl scouts, Barbara Nolan, Jane Condon and Miss Kelly, will attend an area planning board meeting in Morrison, Ill., Feb. 28 to draft final plans for the conference. Miss Nolan is president of this group.

Members of the local planning board are Marilyn Boyle, troop 1;

Betty Welter, troop 6; Ann Neuzil, troop 11; Barbara Beals, troop 12; Katherine Nolan, troop 14; Lyla Seydel, troop 30, and Mary Keating, troop 32.

Main Breaks In Riverside

Repairs were scheduled to work all night in an attempt to repair a water main break which has left Riverside, Iowa's 300 residents without water service since Tuesday night. Officials expected normal service to be restored early today.

The break, occurring in the six-inch main between the source wells and the storage tank, cut off the water supply of all residents connected with the city system and forced dismissal of St. Mary's and the public high school.

The schools, closed Wednesday and yesterday, were expected to reopen today. They have a combined enrollment of 237.

H. E. Colvin, superintendent of public schools, had a 300-gallon tank of water brought to the high school gymnasium for use in the showers so the Washington county high school basketball tournament could be held there.

SUI Gets $17,000 for Scholarships

Two gifts for scholarship funds in the college of engineering have been accepted for the university by the Iowa state board of education.

Common stock valued at approximately $16,000 has been donated by Fred Stebler, Riverside, Calif. Income from the stock will be used to establish the Fred Stebler scholarship to be awarded to needy and worthy engineering students.

Stebler, a native of Johnson county, is a retired mechanical engineer.

One thousand dollars was added to funds providing the B. J. Lambert scholarships in engineering by Nathan Wohlfield, Dallas, Texas. These scholarships were established in 1944 by gifts from alumni, students and faculty members in honor of Prof. B. J. Lambert, who has been a member of the civil engineering faculty since 1902.

Wohlfield graduated from the college of engineering here in 1912 and returned to earn a professional degree in civil engineering in 1920.

Two New American Civilization Courses For 2nd Semester

Two new courses in American civilization will be offered the second semester, each for three hours credit, Prof. Alexander C. Kern announced yesterday.

Kern, chairman of the American civilization majors, explained the courses will be given on an undergraduate seminar basis with the emphasis placed on discussions and reports.

Economic, political, and social factors in American civilization, 45-92, will concentrate on the post-Civil War era of enterprise.

This course will include the growth of the labor movement, the problems of transportation and the rise of business.

American civilization in the 1930's, 45-94, will cover the period 1929 to 1941.

Topics that will be taken up in this class include the economic, political and social changes of the New Deal.

Each course will meet once a week for a two hour session. The time of meeting will be arranged to suit the students taking the course.

For information about the American civilization program and for permission to enter either of the above courses, students should contact Kern.

VA Training Roster Swells

The Veterans administration announced yesterday that the number of veterans in training is now the largest since the inception of the program.

Although the total number of veterans in the overall VA training program is almost 2,800,000, the number of applications for training received by the Veterans administration during the month of November is the lowest for any month since July, 1945.

Enrollments of 308,500 during that month represent a sharp drop from the peak reached during October. Almost all of the decrease was due to the drop in enrollment of veterans in schools, the Veterans administration said.

The November applications for education and training under federal laws administered by the Veterans administration raised the total number since the start of the programs to 7,466,000. This represents slightly more than one-half of the net World War II veterans population at the end of the month.

465 Rent Hikes Granted in 1947

Local Rent Office Turned Down 42 Requests for Boost

By PAUL LUCKINBILL

Did your rent go up in 1947? Approximately 465 Iowa City landlords were granted 15 percent rent increases under the provisions of the July 1 federal rent law, according to area Rent Director T. J. Wilkinson.

The number of leases received in the local rent office over the six-month period totaled 507, he said. Of these, 42 were rejected.

The majority of the leases rejected contained errors, Wilkinson explained, which were later corrected.

Under provisions of the law, landlords were permitted to sign a new lease with the tenant's consent incorporating up to a 15 percent increase, with no change in services. Such a lease had to extend at least until Dec. 31, 1948, and be filed by Jan. 15.

Rent control ended two months early, in effect, for tenants under these leases. Only the terms of the lease will govern such rentals when the rent law expires Feb. 29.

Should a renter, during January or February, leave a house or apartment on which there has been a rent-increase lease, that place, being de-controlled, is then not under the present federal rent law.

Increases may still be given to landlords who file petitions with the rent office showing cause for a raise in rent, Wilkinson said.

Eighteen such petitions were filed in January, three being denied for having no reason to raise the rent charge.

Wilkinson pointed out that federal rent control continues for all rentals not under rent-increase leases. Tenant complaints will continue to be received by the rent office during February and act to gain landlord compliance with rent regulations.

WRA To Sponsor Open House Party At Women's Gym

Women's Recreation association will hold an open house in the women's gymnasium Tuesday from 7:30 to 10 p. m., President Mary Ann Wyant, WRA, has announced.

Entertainment will include swimming, social dancing, roller skating, ping pong and card games.

Those in charge include Joann Kirk, A4, Des Moines, social dance; Jean Swenson, A4, Moline, Ill., roller skating; Thelma Wendel, A4, Elwood, table tennis, and Rosemary Harmer, A4, Iowa City, card games. Chairman of UWA freshmen council hostesses is Betty Schuman, A1, Davenport.

Paul Huntering, A2, Saint Louis, Mo., a member of Dolphin club, will be a life guard for mixed swimming, and Phil Cady, A2, Des Moines, will assist with social dancing.

IC Trio Attend Meeting Of Flood Control Today

D.C. Nolan, Robert L. Gage and Harry Crawford will attend a meeting of the Iowa Flood Control association in Des Moines today.

Nolan, chairman of a committee to draw up articles of incorporation, called the meeting.

Gage is temporary secretary of the group. Crawford was a member of Gov. Blue's commission which recently reported on the Coralville dam project.

Small Fire in Coal Car

Firemen were called to Yoder's Coal company, 701 S. Dubuque street, at 10:20 a. m. yesterday to extinguish a fire in a coal car, Fire Chief J. J. Clark reported.

The blaze, which started when workers were trying to thaw the coal, caused little damage, Clark reported.

Decent Housing for Married Students, Too

The local real estate board which opposes the Parklawn apartment project for married students would discriminate against one type of university students—the married ones.

It's all right, they say, to build dormitories for the single students. And it's OK for married couples to live in the little trailers and barracks. But decent housing for married students? No—it's all wrong for the university to build that.

We don't know—but the people who should know tell us that the married student is likely to be around for some time. Even after the influx of married veterans.

The married student, they say, is likely to be a permanent educational fixture.

That being so, the same provision should be made for his housing as for the single student. The dormitories were built in the first place, over the same objections of the same real estate owners, for one reason. Because the town simply couldn't handle the number of single students.

The same is true now with married students. They need and want most of all apartments. Permanent ones, not temporary structures (which, however, for the present are necessary because that's all that's available).

Can the city supply married students with an adequate number of apartments? Ask the married student who is hunting one. Is the price within a student's budget? Ask him.

That's at the present time. How about the future? Chamber of Commerce President Robert H. Lind estimated the other night that needs of the veterans hospital and industrial plants will require 500 new permanent units—above normal demand.

Can the city do this and supply married students? The answer is probably the same as experienced with housing for single students—adequate until the dormitories were built.

We're sure that the university administration is not anxious to compete with private development. But the overall needs of the university must be met.

If they are not supplied by private facilities, there is but one reluctant choice—for the university itself to build the necessary apartments.

We can appreciate the real estate owners' reluctance to see profitable sales or rents vanish. But adequate housing increases the incentive for students to come to Iowa City.

That in turn means more money spent at local businesses. The permanent good of the city and the university as a whole should outweigh the objections of a small group.

Reward: Fired for Public Service

President Truman has complained he can't get good men to take key government posts. Part of the answer probably is in salaries which aren't high enough to attract men of the right calibre.

A case in point is the refusal of George P. Baker to accept the chairmanship of the civil aeronautics board. He is director of Harvard's transportation school, and said he couldn't get along on the $10,000-a-year pay.

But perhaps another part of the answer lies in the way some key figures are treated once they have given up profitable private occupations to endure the merciless buffeting of public service.

Two very recent cases bear this out. James Landis will not be reappointed to the CAB. Landis was regarded as one of the most public spirited men on the ticklish mission of somehow satisfying the need for air safety and yet pacifying the airlines.

So the story goes, he riled the airlines. Public safety apparently lost the battle.

Now Marriner S. Eecles has been ousted from chairmanship of the federal reserve board. He wanted to take vigorous anti-inflation measures. The banks didn't. Apparently again the public interest has lost.

These instances of being booted out for trying to do a public spirited job aren't much encouragement to prospective agency members.

Recognition and reward for faithful service might be a better method of procuring competent men than salary. At least it doesn't cost anything to respect a man for doing a good job.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS—

Noise on Kremlin-Balkan Party Line

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR. AP Foreign Affairs Analyst. Moscow's disavowal of Georgi Dimitrov's plans for a federation of the central European captive states seems to have caught Anglo-American political intelligence agencies unprepared.

They don't know whether Dimitrov's statement was a trial balloon which aroused so much Czech and Polish resentment that Moscow did not care to buck it, whether he just went off half-cooked, or whether a dispute may have developed between the Communist party and the Kremlin.

Pravda, which gave voice to the reversal of Dimitrov, is the organ of the Communist party, which theoretically controls everything. But it is actually subservient to the bureaucracy despite the latter's pretensions of being merely the party's servants.

Dimitrov, dictator of Bulgaria and prime mover in the new Cominform, has been credited with operating a thoroughly authentic branch office of the Kremlin.

There were reports last month that he had visited the Kremlin and that he and Stalin had agreed on the federation idea. Now Pravda says Georgi doesn't know what he's talking about.

The rule of communism is complete subversion of personal ambitions to the cause, but Communists play internal politics anyway.

There is just a possibility that "Little Joe" Tito may have had a hand in Dimitrov's discomfiture. Dimitrov has been gradually edging the Yugoslav dictator out of the limelight in the Balkans. Conduct of the Greek war and many other matters have been transferred from Tito's hands to those of Dimitrov's Cominform.

Dimitrov, not "Little Joe" has been arranging the central European military and economic treaties. And Tito might be expected to resist a plan which would introduce another authority between him and the Kremlin.

That's just a thought about the mechanics of the deal. As for policy, Dimitrov's proposal was a deviation from the postwar Communist line.

In recent years the old cry for the proletariat of the world to unite regardless of national lines has given way to a new concept that communism can best be promoted from within other countries. This is an effort to avoid the charge of foreign intervention and a decision not to try to buck national patriotism.

It will be interesting to see, now, what happens to Dimitrov. This is the second time he has been in serious trouble. In 1923 his Bulgarian Communist party was bitterly criticized in Moscow for failure to take advantage of a fight between rightist and the peasants which resulted in a rightist coup.

Dimitrov lived that down. Whether a second serious departure from the party line will go unpunished remains to be seen.

"The Unkindest Cut..."

THESE DAYS— Clearing the Decks

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY Copyright, 1948, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

The Republican party suffers the misfortune that are usually associated with a party long out of power. Leadership is diverse and anyone can, with complete irresponsibility, articulate himself as something that he is not.

General Eisenhower's withdrawal cleared the decks of an enveloping fog. Eisenhower must have been astonished at the curious support that barnacled his ship. It could create a stir, but there were no delegates at the convention in those ex-New Dealers, ex-Willkieites, political somersaulters, and general crackpots who headed up the Eisenhower boom. And there could be no victory in association with that political circus.

Some of these individuals, who flip-flop with amazing dexterity, have now associated themselves with Harold Stassen's herculean efforts to become a candidate, win or lose, at any cost. And Stassen, immediately upon the demise of the Eisenhower boom, decided to invade Ohio with the object of getting four or five delegates in that state.

The idea is twofold: 1. To keep himself before the nation as a candidate at no matter what cost.

2. To indicate that he is a candidate for the presidency and not the vice-presidency.

He has mistaken Taft's sportsmanship and generosity for weakness. He has taken pokes at Dewey, too, but dares not come into New York because he says the primary law is not so favorable. He dares not file for the Republican primaries in New York because obviously he cannot get even four or three delegates in this state.

Anyhow, Stassen will probably be cleared off the decks by the time the convention comes because he is a political liability to his party now. He is playing strictly a personal game, without assuming party responsibility. He could have remained governor of Minnesota; he could have run for the United States senate and he probably would have been elected. Instead, he played heroics and organized a four-years' campaign to get the presidential nomination.

His latest maneuver, that is, the one before he filed in Ohio, was to see what votes he could get if Dewey and Taft locked horns at the convention. He discovered, of course, that the favorites in such a contingency are Joe Martin or Senator Vandenberg. Stassen may ultimately become secretary of commerce. The man has ability and presence but suffers the dread disease of uncurbed personal ambition and is lacking in party esprit.

The real contest is between Taft and Dewey and that is as it should be. Dewey was the Republican party's last candidate. He made a good showing and would probably have been elected had he not chosen to take the war out of the election. The choice was his to make; had he pursued the other course, of telling all, it would have told us in 1944 what is being disclosed now. At the request of General Marshall, he avoided discussion of the war and was defeated. He and his partisans feel that he is entitled to another chance.

Senator Taft is the leader of his party in congress and the intellectual guide of most of its adherents. No matter who is nominated, he will have to run on the record of his party in congress, and every line of that record is associated with Taft. No Republican candidate has a chance who will repudiate a lot of the Taft record. Such repudiation would only strengthen Truman; it would give him victory. Therefore, many Republicans feel that Taft had better run on his own record. They feel that he is likely to be victorious.

At any rate, that is how it stands: Dewey or Taft. These two are so evenly divided as to delegates that some anticipate that they will produce a deadlock. That leads to speculation as to what would happen if the fifth ballot is reached and the deadlock is unbroken. In that case, the two candidates might meet and decide on a plan to save the party from dissolution, or they may free the delegates pledged to them. Should such a deadlock persist to the fifth ballot, it is likely that Joe Martin or Arthur Vandenberg, more likely Martin, will be the choice.

But as it stands, it is either Taft or Dewey.

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

Marxists' Real Supporters

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

One can't tell, from here, what really has happened to Eugene Varga, the Soviet economist. It looks as if at least the zingo has been put on him, if not the whammy, for he has apparently lost his job as head of the Moscow Institute of World Economics and Politics, which has been merged with something else, under somebody else. And Pravda has just had an editorial against him.

Varga is, or was, very big, and in putting the zingo on him, the Soviets gave him the big treatment. They held a three-day conference of economists last summer on his new book, "Changes in Capitalist Economy Resulting from the Second World War." According to material published here in the New York Times and in the Daily Worker, some defended him, at least in part, some criticized him, but the upshot was an official decision that Varga had picked up some mighty funny ideas lately, and he lost his Institute.

Now what are some of these notions which have made Soviet leaders shake their heads about poor old Gene? They're fascinating. Chief of them is Varga's idea that because of the war, the governments of capitalist countries have learned to plan, and may therefore be able to postpone their ultimate, inherent economic crisis for as long as ten years.

This, of course, makes orthodox Soviet thinkers laugh out loud; they can't help themselves. "From this one could run off the tracks," snickered Pravda, "into believing that bourgeois state is capable of overcoming... the law of pauperization of the working class, that it can overcome depressions and unemployment, and can become, in fact, planned."

The thing that comes out of the Varga affair then, is the intensity of the Soviet belief that capitalism doesn't know enough to come in when it rains. They really believe that we cannot, by our very nature, save ourselves through planning; they believe this the way they believe that night follows day.

But here one gets a very funny feeling. Who is it who has come along to uphold Stalin's side, so to speak, in the argument with Varga, and to prove that we cannot, or will not plan? Who, but our most distinguished conservatives and anti-Communists, our Tabers and Byrds and Rankins and Tafts, and all other opponents of national planning?

What an odd, mixed-up, paradoxical situation! It is upon our firmest anti-Marxists that the Russian Marxists now depend to prove their theories. For we were doing rather well, on the economic front, during the war and shortly after; we were keeping prices down, and we were distributing food fairly. And a Soviet economist writes a book in which he concludes that government in a capitalist country can solve some of its problems, that it can do good things for the workers, in spite of all internal opposition.

Suddenly one realizes that it is upon American conservatives that the Russians depend to make their prognosis come true, and not upon American radicals or liberals. Rankin fits into their perspective of the future much more accurately than Roosevelt ever did.

The place to strike at Soviet theories, therefore, is not in Russia, nor in Europe, but right here. If we can plan our way out of the recession, which almost every financial page is discussing, we can send a quiver of doubt through Soviet thinking, the first sign of which we already have in Varga's book.

Cities of Well-Dressed Gals—

Bachelor's Baedeker

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK (AP)—A lady who says she is a "beauty engineer" has done the traveling bachelor a favor.

She's come up with a list of ten cities where she says you can find the best dressed women.

This Baedeker of American style-conscious communities has been compiled by Mrs. Veronica Dengel, president of the American Women's Institute. Mrs. Dengel, who is 46, five-foot-eight-inches tall and dark haired, has written books on "Hold Your Man" and other problems of the married sex. Her institute does a mail order business in advice to fashion-born damsels who can't get to the big city.

A poll of 500 fashion leaders throughout the country, she said, disclosed that the three cities with the lowest rating for well-dressed women were:

1. Boston—"Slow, too cautious, never catching up until a fashion is well established."

2. Chicago—"A mixture of good and bad fashion where east and west meet."

3. Palm Beach (yes, Palm Beach)—"Surrounded by beauty in clothes, but not properly affected by it"—whatever that means.

Now to get on to the places where a fellow can make a date and be fairly sure the gal will show the most "ingenuity in dress, newness of style and wear proper fashions best suited" to her personality. Here they are in the order Mrs. Dengel lists them in her own fashionable prose:

1. New York—"The Sophisticated New Look"—where women who are the nation's fashion leaders accept new styles and try them willingly.

2. Atlanta—"The Soft Southern Look"—They couple smart fashion with southern grace and dignity.

4. Detroit—"The Mature Look"—The women are anxious to improve constantly in fashion consciousness just as their city is improving in its national importance.

5. Washington—"The Refreshing Look"—Here the business girl proves it is possible to dress well on a budget when one plans carefully.

6. Philadelphia—"The Pert Look"—The quiet smartness of their city is reflected in unerring choice of beautiful, wearable clothes.

7. Dallas—"The Piquant Look"—Beautiful girls and beautiful clothes in a beautiful city.

8. San Francisco—"The Intriguing Look"—Western charm with eastern flair for distinctive dressing.

9. Salt Lake City—"The Wholesome Look"—Simple, casual living, in clothes with a fashion rightness.

10. Seattle—"The Exciting Look"—A plus quality in a city where everything seems to be a little 'extra'.

Well, boys, there's where the best dressed clothes horses dwell—according to Mrs. Dengel and her poll pals. But they name no community where a man with a slim pocketbook can find a lass and keep her in the finery she wants to become accustomed to.

I can help out there—although you need a passport. Off Java in the Dutch East Indies, there is a small island called Bali. On it dwell gods of simple barefoot girls with a sweet backward look.

They are beautiful, they weave their own clothes from silk or cotton, and they're in the height of fashion with only a half sarong that stretches from the waist to the ankle. This gives them half of the "new look"—and the rest is all outdoors. The only hat they wear is a water jar.

A man could go there with a pocket full of cotton seeds and a hat full of silkworms and keep his lady in style forever.

Dear Westbrook TO THE DAILY IOWAN: This is a copy of a letter to be sent to Westbrook Pegler:

Dear Westbrook, Just thought I'd drop you a line and let you know what some of the boys here at Iowa think about your column.

You see, most of The Daily Iowan readers are college students and the paper must set an example for them as well as protect them from unethical idealists. Therefore, some of us think we shouldn't be exposed to your "dishonest, un-American writing." I tried to find out from the boys just what this concept means, but couldn't find anyone who seemed to know. Do you? Anyway, that's how the boys feel.

Another thing, we sense a slanderous texture in your recent columns about the late president and the history of the stage. This is a democracy, of course, but you just can't go around talking that way about our most respected institutions. Think how our dramatics department must have felt.

There are several other things the boys dislike about your column but I won't bother you with further detail. I thought of buying it for my own personal use but they tell me that "Blondie," "Ella Kell" and a whole raft of other "King Features" come with it. Hell, Wess, we get "Blondie" in our paper every day, and for free!

Notes With Regret

TO THE DAILY IOWAN: It is with regret that I note the substitution of George Ephraim Sokolsky for Westbrook Pegler on the editorial page of The Daily Iowan.

Your concept of a balanced editorial page is an excellent one. Let the press be a forum where all views may be heard and the readers take their pick of the views presented. But if this is done it is imperative that all the divergent opinions be honestly written. I disagree not with Sokolsky's right to write but with the manner in which he writes.

He has chosen to represent the extreme right and to fight for his choice—using distortion, exaggeration, ridicule and sneers as well as dishonest arguments and perverted logic and reason. According to him the end justifies the means. No true Christian can agree with a concept such as this. Nor does this concept have any place on an objective editorial page.

Specifically, my other objections to Sokolsky are these: 1. Before Pearl Harbor he opposed the Lend-Lease bill, the transfer of ships and planes to Great Britain. He was against aid to Russia. He preached the doctrine that Japan and the United States were really the best of friends and asked friendly relations between these two neighbors be maintained at any cost.

2. His column is printed on the editorial page of every newspaper owned by William Randolph Hearst.

3. While a columnist for the New York Herald Tribune, Sokolsky received more than $28,599 from the National Association of Manufacturers and the American Iron and Steel institute. Not until he learned that the LaFollette investigating committee knew of and were about to expose his position as a paid apologist for industry (Dec. 20, 1937) did he bother to let others in on his little secret.

4. Sokolsky has said, "I look upon the Republican with bias and affection." He has termed himself "a partisan and more or less practical politician." Yet in 1940 he voted for Babson, the prohibitionist, because "I could not conscientiously vote for Wendell Willkie."

David Lawrence and Mark Sullivan are both staunch conservatives who could be relied upon to present honest opinion. Both would balance with Grafton. There are men in our political scene capable of doing the same.

Gage Reports Slight Drop in Retail Sales

Although Iowa City retail sales made a slight drop in the third quarter compared to the previous three months, local retailers still believe sales will hit the 30 million dollar mark, said Chamber of Commerce Secretary Robert L. Gage Wednesday.

Iowa City sales, totaling $7,150,160 for July, August and September, dropped three-tenths of one percent.

Gage pointed out that most of the university students were absent during a five-week period in August and September, between school terms. Also several restaurants were closed for repairs and redecorating.

Contrary to the trend among surrounding counties, Johnson county sales increased 21 percent, totaling $8,116,593.50 for the same period.

HOW NOSEY CAN YOU GET. asks Eemie, Meenie, Minee and Moe, four brand new anthropoid additions to the City park zoo. The furry foursome was donated by Iowa City Elks and Moose lodges to replace old Susie and Joe, longtime entertainers at the zoo, who retired from the peanut circuit because of old age. Moe is a male. The others, his harem, haven't gone in for the "new look," we don't know which is which. (Daily Iowan photo by Rena Marcello)

Market Basket Index Hits $17.13

Flour, Soap Paces 2 Cent Price Hike

By PAUL LUCKINBILL

Housewives made another retreat yesterday in their battle with high prices as The Daily Iowan market basket index leveled off at $17.13, two cents higher than last week.

A six-cent jump on the price of a 10-pound sack of flour led the attack while soap moved up to 39 cents for a large box.

Several grocers indicated that flour prices are going to continue to rise in the next few weeks. "Retail prices are just catching up with the market price increase on wheat," according to a local wholesaler.

Cold weather had its bright side this week for the housewife, explained one grocer, as it caused grade A eggs to drop to 47 cents, a two-cent change. He added that eggs normally are the lowest at this time of the year.

Possibly foreshadowing a break in meat prices, pork cuts dropped as much as 10 cents at one store. The mean price of center cut pork chops declined only one-cent, however, with prices varying from 59 cents to 69 cents.

ITEM	This Week	Last Week
1 lb. Iowa Brand Butter	47	47
1 doz. grade A eggs	45	45
1 lb. Hills Bros. Coffee	49	49
1 doz. med. size oranges	49	49
10 lb. Idaho potatoes	49	49
22 can Tenderloin Peas (med.)	50	50
22 can VanCamp Pork & Beans	51	51
2 1/2 can DelMonte Sic. Peaches	51	51
1 can Campbell Tomato Soup	51	51
1 lb. Spicy	51	51
1 lb. can red sockeye salmon	51	51
Large size Ivory Flakes	52	52
5 lb. White cane sugar	52	52
10 lb. Gold Medal flour	1.15	1.09
1-1 lb. 4 oz. box Quaker Oats	1.15	1.17
5 lb. pkg. Baker's Choc. (unsu.)	37	37
1 lb. Armour Lard	38	38
2 lb. Kraft Velveeta Cheese	1.15	1.18
1 lb. Ground Beef	49	49
1 lb. "choice" round steak	75	75
1 lb. Center Cut Pork Chops	69	67
1 lb. 1st Grade Bacon	85	85
20 oz. loaf White Bread	17	17
1 qt. Grade A Milk	17	17
Market Basket Index: This week $17.13. Last week $17.11.

Most dairy products remained steady during the week except velveeta cheese. The two pound boxes came down three cents, selling for $1.15.

Hard-to-get Kleenex and toilet tissue paper are still difficult to find. Wholesalers don't like to handle items of light weight, such as these. Consequently, scalpers are buying up existing stocks and thus cornering the market.

Minor price changes were shown by one-pound cans of red sockeye salmon and one-pound, four-ounce boxes of Quaker oats. Both increased two cents and one-cent respectively.

dropped one-cent while one-half pound packages of Baker's chocolate changed to 37 cents, a five-cent decline.

Canned goods and fresh fruits remained the same.

The Daily Iowan market basket survey is based on prices of 24 food items found in seven representative Iowa City stores. Prices listed are an average of all the stores combined.
