

Grain Prices Slump Again; May Curb High Retail Costs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The prices of grain and other commodities banged downward a third successive day yesterday, but most government economists said they don't think a business slump will result.

Some declared the price break is "healthy" and may stop the upward spiral of retail food costs. But few predicted whether the nose-dive trend will end quickly or plunge to substantially lower levels.

Although there was no indication that the grain market slid was over, the stock market showed mild recoveries after two days of heavy losses.

Wheat and corn futures dropped their full permissible limits the third day in a row.

At the same time, the millers' price on flour dropped another 20

Baruch Says Price Control Need May Be 'Less Pressing'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bernard Baruch has informed the senate banking committee that commodity market trends may make "less pressing" any need of price control.

Chairman Tobey (R-NH) of the committee yesterday made public a telegram from Baruch, financier and adviser on economic matters, asking to be excused from testifying before the senate group about rationing and price control.

Baruch said he does not know the details of administration plans and would prefer not to testify under present conditions, including "high political pressures."

His telegram was dated Feb. 4, the first of the last three days of heavily dropping grain prices. It said, after giving reasons for not wanting to testify:

"Another point: there is evidence, superficial perhaps, but existing, that commodities show a tendency to soften. Were that to come about, the need for control would be less pressing."

Most government economists last night called the commodity price break "healthful." They held small fear of any collapse which would lead to a business slump.

General Confuses His Rank At White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, announced his own promotion yesterday, but it turned out to be all a "misapprehension."

In a few hours he was right back where he started.

The general told the press his new job was chief armed forces aide to the President, with three assistants.

This got into the papers. Several hours later, Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross called White House reporters to his office. Speaking, he said, for Mr. Truman, Ross told them:

"There is no change in the White House setup as announced earlier in the day. There seems to have been some misapprehension."

What happened, Ross said, is that the appointment of Col. Norbert B. Landry of New Orleans as air forces aide gives the President a total of three aides.

All, Ross said with emphasis, are of equal rank. "There are no chief aides," he said.

The three are Landry, Capt. Robert L. Dennison for the Navy, and Vaughan.

Vaughan took the news of his own promotion with an air of good-natured bewilderment.

He said he thought when he made his announcement that the President had elevated him.

He suggested removal of those unhappy in Dixie.

JACKSON, MISS. (AP)—A Mississippi legislator came forth with the proposal yesterday that congress put up the money to finance removal of people of the south who feel they are discriminated against.

The Mississippi house immediately sent the resolution to its rules committee.

The resolution proposes asking congress for a law on the subject.

Under this law, any person who feels he is a target of discrimination because of race, creed or color, would receive free transportation and "a $10 bill" to go elsewhere.

Up, Then Down Again

CHICAGO, (AP) — Richard Uhlmann, president of the Chicago board of trade, had the lesson re-emphasized again yesterday of how quickly grain prices can change in a wild fluctuating market.

Uhlmann was recording an interview for a radio broadcasting system while the market jumped around. It was a five minute interview. Uhlmann concluded, "As we started this interview, grains were rallying. Corn had risen eight cents."

Fran Bisson, board public relations man who was watching the grain ticker, said: "It might interest you to know now that corn has dropped eight cents again."

cents at 60 cents a hundred pounds lower than last Tuesday at Minneapolis, and one grocery chain announced its retail price for 10-pound sacks of flour would drop 4 cents Monday.

However, one expert declared that the gyrations in the commodity markets won't be felt in many instances by retail store shoppers immediately.

Paul S. Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, called the commodity price break "a step in the right direction."

"If commodity prices stabilize at a lower level, pressure on manufacturers will be eased," Willis said. "Unless other cost factors such as labor offset this lessened pressure, a halt to the upward price movement is indicated."

Not all commodities shared in the downward price movement. Butter ranged from a new wholesale high of 95 to 98 cents a pound at Baltimore to 2 and one-half to 3 cents a pound lower at Chicago. Feeds, poultry, lard, cocoa and other food items remained even or better.

A slump was reported in the London securities market on the basis of the grain declines in the United States.

Consider Self Rent Decontrol

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Proposals for automatic rent increases and automatic decontrols of rental units in whole areas under certain circumstances were reported under consideration yesterday by the senate banking committee.

Informed persons on Capitol Hill said these provisions were included in the 14-month rent control extension bill drawn up by a subcommittee headed by Senator Cain (R-Wash.).

In addition, it was reported, the subcommittee's draft would give legal sanction to rent increases of any size when landlord and tenant could agree on a lease running through all of 1949.

With the present rent control law running out Feb. 29, the banking committee studied the two "automatic" provisions recommended by Cain's unit:

1. Automatic increases in rent, up to 15 percent, if a landlord could show that his operating costs had gone up.

2. Automatic decontrol of rents in any city or rent control area if the census bureau found vacancies of 1 percent or more among all dwelling units offered either for rent or for sale.

The full committee looked over the proposed bill and decided to withhold its vote until Feb. 16.

"We've decided to sleep on this with our consciences and then come back a week from next Monday and make all decisions," Chairman Tobey (R-N.H.) said.

Under the automatic increase proposal any landlord who could show that his taxes, labor costs, repairs and similar expenses had advanced a certain percent would be allowed a rent increase of half that percentage, with a maximum rent boost of 15 percent officially contained. If his costs had gone up more than 30 percent, the 15 percent lid would prevail.

Politics — Leads Move To Prevent Demo Split

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Gov. M. E. Thompson of Georgia took the lead last night in a move to block a bolt of southern Democrats from President Truman.

Thompson, here for a conference of southern governors, called Truman's program of civil rights for Negroes "unnecessary" and "unwise." But he declared it would be even more unwise for the south to bolt the Democratic party.

Thompson opposed an open bid by Alabama's gigantic governor, James Folsom, for support of his candidacy for president of the United States.

"I cannot join in any movement," said Thompson, "which indirectly or directly would cut the feet from under the Democratic party and its leaders and thereby deprive the south of its greatest strength."

"I will support the Democratic party."

State — Dismiss Overturf Action

DES MOINES, (AP) — District Judge Earl Vincent of Guthrie Center yesterday dismissed the $25,000 bond forfeiture action brought by Polk county against the bond of Vane B. Overturf, former sheriff.

The judge's ruling sustained a motion by Overturf's bonding company, the State Automobile Insurance company.

Labor — CIO Attorney Quits To Help Wallace's Bid for President

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Lee Pressman resigned as the CIO's chief attorney yesterday to help Henry Wallace's third party bid for president.

Long identified with the labor organization's leftwing element, Pressman quit as general counsel for both the CIO and the CIO Steelworkers union.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO as well as the steel union, expressed "regret" but said the resignation avoided "embroiling yourself or me in difficulties concerning matters of fundamental CIO policy."

Printers' Union Opposes Publisher Intervention

INDIANAPOLIS, (AP)—The International Typographical union filed a brief yesterday opposing motions by three groups of publishers to intervene in a federal court test of injunction provisions of the Taft-Hartley act.

The ITU brief said the proposed intervenors "will only complicate an already burdensome proceeding" and that the groups should show that their help to the national labor relations board in the action is necessary.

The brief said the injunction sought "is exclusively a public remedy and not a private remedy."

The American Newspaper Publishers' association, Southern Newspaper Publishers' association and Inland Daily Press association, all favoring the injunction, have asked permission to intervene and take part in the case—a step further than merely filing briefs.

International — De Valera's Majority Goes As Irish Vote

DUBLIN, (AP)—Prime Minister Eamon De Valera's majority in the Eire parliament was wiped out today.

Complete returns from the general election showed that the American-born Irish leader's Fianna Fail party elected only 66 deputies.

The number elected by combined opposition groups in Wednesday's balloting totalled 76.

However, government party leaders were confident that De Valera would draw enough independent deputies' votes to continue the regime he has headed for 16 years.

Determination of Fianna Fail's final strength in the dail (parliament) must wait for the election of five remaining members of the 147-seat dail in Carlow Kilkenny.

It was regarded as certain that lively debate will ensue when the new dail convenes Feb. 18. The dail elects the prime minister.

During the campaign De Valera said he would not form a coalition government with other parties. Elaborating on the party's position in the face of the election returns, Thomas L. Mullins, Fianna Fail secretary, said:

"Mr. De Valera still has not thought of a coalition. He will pursue his long standing independent Fianna Fail policy and I am confident the independent and national labor members will voluntarily support him in the interest of a strong, stable government."

Fianna Fail needed to win 74 seats for a majority in the 147-member dail.

Gandhi's Ashes To Go on Third Class Train

NEW DELHI (AP) — The Indian railway board announced last night that a special train will carry Mohandas Gandhi's ashes for immersion in the waters of three sacred rivers next Thursday.

The train will consist of third class coaches, such as Gandhi used in his lifetime, and will carry a limited number of persons who will neither smoke nor chew betel nuts during the trip, the announcement said. These were regulations in conformity with Gandhi's habits of abstinence.

The train will leave New Delhi Wednesday morning and reach Allahabad at the confluence of the Ganges, Jumna and Saraswati Rivers on Thursday morning. The ashes will be scattered at the spot where Rama, Gandhi's favorite deity is believed to have performed the funeral obsequies for his father, Dasaratha, King of Ayodhya.

Devadas Gandhi, son of the Mahatma, said his father left no will or property. He said any possessions which might nominally be considered his fathers would be distributed for the benefit of charity.

International — ERP Bill Goes Up, Combat General to Greece

State Department Increases Its Estimate On Foreign Aid Cost

U. S. Sends Army General To Direct Greek Resistance

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is dispatching one of its top-flight combat generals to help Greece smash its Communist rebellion.

The army announced yesterday Maj. Gen. James A. Van Fleet has been named commander of all American army, air and navy forces assigned to the Greek mission.

Maj. Gen. William G. Livesay, who has been serving as head of the mission and the military groups, will retain overall command. But Livesay henceforth will concentrate on the problems of handling U.S. supplies furnished under the Greek aid program.

The program has the dual aim of enabling Greece to put down the guerrilla revolt and rebuild her war-ravaged economy.

As head of U.S. advisory forces in Greece, Van Fleet will help Greek military leaders step up preparations for a big spring offensive.

Thus Van Fleet, who the army says is "no arm chair general," will be able to put to use the combat experience gained among such places as the Remagen bridgehead, where the Rhine was first crossed, and other critical battles of the European campaign.

Van Fleet has been serving recently as assistant chief of staff for operations at American army headquarters in Germany. A native of Coytesville, N.J., he was graduated from West Point in 1915.

Meanwhile news dispatches from Athens indicated a new phase in the civil war. The Greek navy was ordered to attack and sink all unidentified submarines in Greek territorial waters.

The order followed the reported appearance of two strange submarines off southern Greece.

Of all the countries charged with supplying aid to the Greek guerrillas, only Yugoslavia is listed as possessing submarines. Jane's fighting ships reports Marshal Tito's country has two submarines in its fleet.

Strengthen Bizonal Economic Controls

BERLIN (AP)—British and American military governments proclaimed yesterday the establishment of a more powerful German economic administration in their combined zones.

As a result the east-west split over Germany's future yawned wider. The Russian-controlled press declared the "partition of Germany was now official."

The proclamation becomes effective Monday and within 15 days the economic council of the two zones at Frankfurt will be increased from 52 to 104 members by elections. A staff council, or upper house, consisting of two representatives from each state, will take office at the same time.

An executive committee, or cabinet, composed of five members and a chairman who will be a virtual premier, will head bizonal departments for economics, finance, transportation, communications and food and agriculture.

A high court of ten members appointed by the American and British military governors will sit in Cologne to enforce the decisions of the enlarged "economic parliament."

But the new administration will have no political or police powers. Its chief power rests on its authority to allocate food supplies.

Britain Protests Jewish Use of Bulgarian Ports

LONDON (AP) — Britain has handed a bluntly worded note to Bulgaria protesting against use of Bulgarian ports by illegal Jewish immigrants bound for Palestine, the foreign office disclosed last night.

The note was delivered in Sofia on Jan. 31. It indicated that 18,905 Jews, most of them embarking in Bulgaria, have tried to reach Palestine in four ships since last August.

Arabs Warn UN Against Military Intervention To Enforce Partition

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—Palestine Arabs told the United Nations yesterday that they would battle any international military units sent to enforce partition.

The Arabs charged also in a formal note that "the pressure put by the United States delegation and government on certain nations is nothing short of political blackmail." This was in reference to U.S. support of the UN assembly's Nov. 29 partition decision.

The Arabs, through their higher committee representatives, further advised Secretary-General Trygve Lie that UN efforts to divide Palestine would be considered as an act of aggression.

The Arab statement came in the midst of these other developments in the situation:

1. In an interview, the Soviet Ukraine accused the British government of obstructing the partition plan.

2. Replying to the charge made thus by Delegate Vassily A. Tarasenko, a British spokesman said UN members are waking up belatedly to the dangers of splitting the Holy Land. He said Britain had been consistent in her stand and had tried to warn the UN of the dangers it would face while armed only with a paper plan devoid of enforcement measures.

3. The security council put the Palestine situation on its provisional agenda for discussion at the next meeting on Monday.

Second German General Kills Self In Prison

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Otto Von Stuepnagel, the iron-handed German administrator of occupied France hanged himself yesterday in a Paris prison cell to avoid trial on war crimes charges.

Guards of Cherche-Midi prison found Stuepnagel swinging in his cell before dawn. The 69-year-old general had fashioned a noose from strips of bedding and fastened it to a bar of the window. He was still alive when taken down, but died less than an hour later.

Stuepnagel's suicide was touched with irony. From the same prison scores of hostages were sent to their deaths during his administration as Nazi governor general of France.

Stuepnagel's death came a little more than a day after another German general, Johannes Blaskowitz, killed himself in a jump from a prison catwalk in Nuernberg, Germany. Blaskowitz also faced war crimes charges.

CAA Suspends Flyers For Alleged Bomb Plot

WASHINGTON (AP) — The civil aeronautics administration announced yesterday that four American pilots returning from Nicaragua will be suspended as the result of an alleged plot to bomb the capital of Venezuela.

Administrator T.P. Wright telegraphed CAA agents in New Orleans to meet the pilots when they arrived there aboard a Pan American airways plane last night.

Hawklets Snip Davenport's String, 51-50

Stop Devils After Thirty Straight Wins

By AL SCHMAHL, Assistant Sports Editor

The Little Hawks of Iowa City high school handed Davenport its first loss in 31 starts last night when they took a thrilling, 51-50, win over the Blue Devils on the local court.

The Hawklets won this one on sheer fight and spirit. They outplayed Davenport throughout the last three quarters of the contest, but they faced overwhelming odds. The Blue Devils had only six fouls called on them during the game, despite its furious pace.

Meanwhile, the Hawklets, were assessed with 16 fouls and a good many of them were questionable. Furthermore, it seemed that every time a jump ball was called, towering Jim Stange did the jumping for the Imps, despite the fact that it was often one of his teammates in on the mele. All in all, it was one of the most poorly officiated games seen in Iowa City for a long while.

Gene Hettrick walked off with the game's scoring honors. He collected 20 points, two more than Stange made for the Imps. But the real hero of the game was "Whitey" Diehl. Diehl scored 15 points in the contest, 12 of those markers coming in the last half. It was "Whitey" who scored the winning basket on one minute, 20 seconds left to play.

The game started slowly and at the four-minute mark the Blue Devils held a 4-0 lead. Hettrick made a jump shot at that point for the Little Hawk's first basket. By the end of the quarter Davenport had raised their margin to 13-6.

In the second period the pace became fast and furious. Midway in the quarter the Hawklets went ahead for the first time, 19-18, on a long push shot by Bob Beals. After that both teams made virtually every shot they attempted, and they left the floor at halftime with City high ahead, 27-26.

Shortly after the second half began, Hettrick committed his fourth foul, and he played under wraps from then on. But Diehl, with his great play under the offensive board, kept the Hawklets in the game. The period ended with the score knotted at 42-42.

During the hectic last quarter, the lead changed hands eight times. Diehl put the Hawklets ahead, 49-48, with a beautiful drive-in shot at the automatic. But Davenport came right back and went ahead on a lay-up by Rog Diercks. That set the stage for Diehl's winning basket.

With one second to play, Diehl was fouled, but the fans swarmed on the floor and the players went to the dressing rooms, thinking the game over. Fully five minutes later the official got them back on the floor. City high took the ball out of bounds, Diehl got it and folded it in. That ended the Blue Devil winning streak.

Oxford Stops Irish, 32-29

By FRANK BUCKINGHAM

St. Patrick's Shamrocks ran afoul of stubborn Oxford and their own glaring floor miscues here last night, succumbing, 32-29, before the visitors' late rush.

Although St. Pat's dropped Oxford earlier in the season, it mattered little. For the Irish, 14-all at half rest, faltered in a rough third stanza. They never regained a semblance of their poise.

Oxford went into the fourth period leading, 23-17, but the Irish, buoyed by Gerard "Boo" O'Connor's three beautiful goals, surged ahead, 25-24 with two minutes, 20 seconds left. And Bob Grady's pusher broke a 25-all knot with two minutes to go.

Don Terrell's pair of belated buckets plus three gifts for the Seabees, were more than a match for Grady's set pitch from the lane at the 1:30 mark. The Irish fouled thrice in desperate efforts to get possession of the ball.

Hawk Cage Squad Travels to Purdue For Game Tonight

The University of Iowa basketball team is confronted with its fourth Big-Nine game away from home tomorrow night when the Hawks of Coach Pops Harrison, with a 4-2 record meet the Purdue Boilermakers at Lafayette. Game time is 7:30 p. m.

The Hawkeye squad of 17 players, including Bill Kay, football tackle, who recently reported for basketball practice, left last night by airplane. The Hawks will fly back immediately after the Boilermaker game, meeting Illinois here Monday night.

The Hawks previously defeated Purdue in the Iowa fieldhouse, 60-49. Tonight the Boilermakers, with the Big Nine home court advantage, rule six-point favorites. Twenty-three of the twenty-six conference games to date have been won by the home team.

Pops Harrison, faced with the problem of replacing the ineligible Red Metcalfe at center, has given no indication of his choice for the pivot job. However, he did say that the starting assignment will rest with either Roger Finley or Don Hays, both 6-foot, 5-inches. The Boilermakers, led by lanky Center Dick Axnes, return to the conference cage wars tonight after a two week lay-off. They meet Minnesota at Minneapolis Monday night.

Hancher Acts To Support Vet Hospital

President Virgil M. Hancher, in a telegram to Senator Wayne Morse (R-Ore.) in Washington, D. C. yesterday, made known the university's support of Congressman Thomas E. Martin's amendment to the Talle bill.

The amendment, adopted by the house of representatives, provides that operation of Schick general hospital in Clinton should not conflict with plans to build a veterans administration hospital in Iowa City.

Morse is chairman of the senate committee on education and labor which is now in hearing on the Talle bill. The bill, passed by the house, asked the re-opening of Schick for domiciliary and recuperative veteran cases.

Gov. Robert D. Blue signed papers Wednesday for the $133,000 sale of state-owned land in Iowa City to the federal government as a site for the Veterans hospital.

President Hancher's telegram to Morse endorsing the Martin amendment stated:

"Strongly support statement submitted to you by Rep. Thomas E. Martin endorsing veterans administration program of establishing veterans hospitals at strategic centers adjacent to colleges of medicine throughout the United States and the establishment of such a hospital in connection with the college of medicine of the State University of Iowa."

"The veterans administration program exhibits medical statesmanship of a high order and provides the maximum safeguards for a continuous supply of highly trained medical personnel for high level medical service in veterans hospitals everywhere. This program has had the complete and enthusiastic endorsement of the State University of Iowa at all times."

"It is our understanding that those sponsoring the reopening of Schick general hospital do not oppose the opening of a hospital at Iowa City but urge the utilization of Schick's facilities as an additional service to veterans of an entirely different type."

"Accordingly you are urged to see that any action taken by your committee properly protects the veterans administration in its plan for the construction and operation of the veterans hospital in Iowa City."

Air Policy Report: Abolish War Itself

The President's air policy commission report of last week—known as the Finletter report—provided grist for the news commentators' mills for several days running.

Now that there's been a little time to study the report and digest the various comments on it, there seems to be reason for a more dispassionate appraisal of it.

Most of the newspaper columnists and radio commentators snatched up the parts of the report that recommended a larger air force. Newspaper headlines made most of the estimate by the commission that we'd have a monopoly on the atomic bomb until 1953.

It seems that with few exceptions these newshawks ignored the commission's warnings that even a tremendous air force could not protect us from possible atomic attack or wage for us a successful aggressive campaign.

More important yet were the strong statements by the commission that we absolutely cannot be safe from the ravages of war unless we abolish war itself.

Like the President's committee on universal military training, the Finletter commission pointed out that our insurance policy for peace can only be taken out on the diplomatic front.

That is to say that armies and armaments, navies and air forces, cannot save us from war's destruction. The only protection, they both indicated, is to make every effort to create a peaceful world without use of arms.

In both cases, the commissions made recommendations for increased national defense as a matter of last resort, the result of fruitless searching for more constructive recommendations.

This is important: in both cases, the commissions went out of their way to say that we must "wage peace instead of war" before going on to complete the assignments the President had given them.

In the meantime, both these realistic commissions agreed, we must maintain and strengthen our military, since our diplomatic tools are too dull to use without military strength behind them.

It is not logical to say on the basis of the Finletter report—as so many have been saying—that air power is all we need. The Finletter report was properly cautious in describing the limitations of air power as a defensive and offensive weapon. It did not preclude the necessity of having what Walter Lippmann calls "the precision tools of diplomacy."

This is the term he used to describe the force of marines in the Mediterranean. He points out that a force of marines can knock on a government's door without injuring innocent people, while dropping an atomic bomb—or any bomb—as a show of force would kill and maim thousands. Dropping bombs is neither precise nor defensible as a diplomatic method. Using marines is at least precise.

We're not ready to predict war but we're frightened by the gloomy prospects of the future. A realistic appraisal of the Finletter report, in its context with other similar reports, makes a call for peace that sounds like a still, small cry in contrast to the frenzied clamor for military strength.

There's an overtone of patient discouragement in the commission's report. It's as though they were saying: "It's a little too late to be making suggestions, but..."

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

New Victim for Bulgarian 'Trials'

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Dimitar Gichev, one of Bulgaria's great patriots, is the latest victim selected for the drum-head court-martials which are called "trials" by Georgi Dimitrov, Kremlin-appointed official of this troubled captive state.

Gichev, unlike his compatriot, Nikola Petkov, may just barely escape death. Dimitrov, under world castigation for the legal murder of Petkov, may think to show himself a dispenser of justice with mercy by commuting the death sentence which the court is generally expected to hand down. But the course of the trial is a foregone conclusion.

Gichev has been a power in the Agrarian party for many years. He was a right-hand man of Alexander Stambuliski, who bitterly opposed Bulgaria's alliance with Germany in World War I, then fought off both Communist and rightist attempts to take over the country after the war. Gichev has been a power in the Agrarian movement ever since Stambuliski was killed 25 years ago while attempting to halt a rightist coup in Sofia.

But Gichev's arraignment is taking the same form as that of Petkov. Several mysterious co-defendants were arrested with him. They can be expected to come forward with confessions whose principal purpose will be to convict Gichev.

These confessions will have been obtained in the usual way, which has been best described by Peter Koev, another Petkov lieutenant who was one of the few men ever to go free after a Communist "interrogation." Koev wrote Dr. Georgi M. Dimitrov about it. Dr. Dimitrov, former peasant leader now in exile, is the antithesis of Communist Georgi despite the name similarity.

Koev said he was kept in solitary on the "hunger treatment" for 21 days, then questioned continuously for five days while standing, handcuffed, without food or water. After 12 hours rest, he was trussed and beaten on the soles of the feet intermittently for four nights. Pressure from his friends and his membership in the national assembly finally produced a temporary release.

The Communists, however, were determined to make him sign a statement against Petkov. They ordered him re-arrested.

Before leaving the assembly for the last time he defied the Communists to their faces:

"If it should happen later that, after a period of 'instruction,' I should make some 'confessions,' they will have been extorted from me by means of violence."

But Georgi Dimitrov, in order to carry out the great Communist plan for "liberation of peoples," must eliminate his opposition, must have his one-party state. Order must be maintained behind the newly-established Soviet front, so as not to interfere with the work of advance units in France, Italy and the middle east who likewise seek to extend the Kremlin's form of "democracy."

If Someone Says to You —

'Let's Talk About the Weather'

— Here's Some Good Quotes

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—This has been such a bitter winter that the old-timers are running out of other winters to compare it with.

People also are exhausting their slim store of conversational remarks on the weather.

The only famous remark the average man can quote from Mark Twain is the observation that "Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about it."

And, of course, Mark Twain never said it. Charles Dudley Warner made that wisecrack in an editorial in the Hartford Courant in 1890.

What Mark Twain said in 1876 was:

"There is a sumptuous variety about New England weather that compels the stranger's admiration—and regret... in the spring I have counted one hundred and thirty-six different kinds of weather inside of 24 hours."

But you don't have to limit yourself to Charles Dudley Warner or Mark Twain in discussing the climate. Nor need you merely dumbly mutter "Hm-m-m" the next time someone comes stomping in from the great outdoors and says, "Some snow, eh?"

THESE DAYS — 'Justice' Was Not Served

By George E. Sokolsky (King Feature Syndicate)

It is interesting to note the heart of the decision, written by Dr. Lewis A. Wilson, acting commissioner of education in the state of New York, concerning dismissal of Francis J. Thompson from the faculty of City College of New York.

Thompson was dismissed in 1941 on the grounds that he was a Communist. The decision held that it was not actually proved that he was a member of the party. This follows the logic of the judicial decision of Judge Fuld, who held that it is libel per se to call a man a Communist unless such membership can be proved. As the membership rolls of the Communist party are secret and as some of the principal and most effectively beligerent advocates of communism in this country never disclose themselves as members and even deny it, it is impossible, in many important instances, to prove the truth in judicial terms.

This is the heart of the Wilson decision: "Until such time as the legislature has outlawed this party, a board of education would be without legal justification in dismissing a teacher because of membership. This does not mean, of course, that a teacher may with impunity, either through his teachings or expressions of opinion, advocate any subversive doctrine."

What is a subversive doctrine and how can anyone tell whether a teacher is teaching it? Let me put it this way: Marxism holds that man is a product of his environment and is conditioned by the way he earns a living. In a word, no moral criteria govern man's conduct but only the materialistic circumstances of his life. Conscience is no guide; only necessity governs him.

Out of that theory arises an entire philosophy of political, economic, and social action, which completely eliminates religion, morals, faith, charity. Virtue is not based upon moral law but upon economic necessity. For moral law, the will of the state (or, as they would put it, the democracy, meaning the Communist party) is substituted.

Obviously, a man can teach all this and not be provably subversive. He may never say a word about overturning our government by revolution. He does not need to. He destroys the foundations of a moral society by teaching that there can be no moral society; that man is not a mortal being but a biologic creature conditioned by his environment. If man is not a moral being, then there is no right or wrong. Only the necessities of the state matter—and those necessities may, from our standpoint, be criminal, as Russia's have been in Poland, for instance.

If either the Fuld or the Wilson decisions are permitted to stand, it becomes possible for any teacher to poison the minds of our children, particularly as the law forbids teaching the opposite because the opposite is religion. In a word, a man cannot be dismissed from our schools for teaching Marxist dialectics but he can be dismissed for reading Micah to a child or for explaining the morality of the Sermon on the Mount.

I am sure that neither Judge Fuld nor Commissioner Wilson have even estimated the dangers of their decisions. Both assumed the same legalistic position, namely, that the Communist party is a legal organization in the state of New York and therefore any man has a legal right to be a Communist and that if a man says he is not one, that is sufficient evidence that he is not one, unless proved otherwise by usually unobtainable evidence.

These learned gentlemen apparently have no understanding of the revolution in ideas and life which is occurring throughout the world. I would ask them to read Hal Lehrman's "Russia's Europe." Lehrman went to Europe for "PM" and "The Nation"—which marked him pretty left of center—but what he saw in Greece, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia apparently convinced him that "... Soviet policy everywhere (with the tentative exception of Czechoslovakia) aimed at spoliation rather than cooperation, the fortifying of the Soviet economic and military arsenal rather than the strengthening of the subject peoples..." His book is the record of stomping upon human life, human initiative, human thought, the independence of the human spirit. It is a good book for doctrinaire liberals to read.

Kobes Back From Washington; 'Victim of Delaying Tactics'

Jake Kobes of the Kobes Brothers manufacturing company, Iowa City, yesterday said, "the small businessman just hasn't got a chance unless he has a friend in the senate who's against the big trust firms crowding the little fellow out."

In this way he summed up his recent trip to Washington, D. C., where he appeared before the senate judiciary subcommittee investigating monopoly.

His attorney, Robert Dreher, Des Moines, charged at the committee hearing Wednesday that the Kobes Brothers product has been subjected to unfair competition.

Dreher, rather exuberant because the committee had ordered the bureau of standards to make tests immediately said, "the democratic processes are still at work when a group of citizens can go to Washington, have their side of the story heard, and get results."

"We were victims of delayed tactics," Kobes declared. "It's the same old routine of trying to kill off a young business before it can get started. I know of one outfit that tried unsuccessfully for six years to get tests made."

The Des Moines Better Business bureau in November issued a statement warning motorists against using anti-freezes of petroleum or salt bases. B-Lo has a magnesium chloride salt base.

Kobes has contended since then that B-Lo is safe.

"We have developed an 'inhibitor,' and field and laboratory tests have proven that it does not cause corrosion," he declared at the hearing.

Herb Ridgely, secretary-treasurer of the B-Lo Anti-Freeze corporation, distributors said yesterday the report by the Des Moines Better Business bureau was "used by our competitors in an attempt to wreck us."

"We've lost approximately $125,000 worth of business this year," he said.

Ridgely said Sen. William Langer (R-N.D.) chairman of the subcommittee, made the following statement at one point during the hearing:

"What I am interested in and what the committee is interested in is the fact that since early in December when there was a tremendous shortage (of anti-freeze) with the price going up and up—going as high as $10 a can, nearly four times what it sells for ordinarily—whether the fault lies with the federal trade commission or the bureau of standards, nothing was done, apparently, to get the anti-freeze (if they have a good product here) to the people of this country."

It was revealed during the hearing that the bureau of standards had not tested B-Lo. Bureau officials said the federal trade commission, which had requested a test, had failed to supply a sufficient sample for testing.

The officials said the federal trade commission furnished the needed quantity last week.

Richard McDole, Des Moines, vice-president of the B-Lo corporation, and Paul Shaw, secretary-treasurer of the Kobes firm, also attended the hearing.

The five men arrived in Iowa City yesterday via plane from Ft. Wayne, Ind., where weather grounded them Thursday night enroute from Washington.

GOP Organization Backs Me: Ludwig

"I do not believe in emphasis on small details, but stand for an honest, constructive government and I intend to represent general statesmanship." G. M. "The people of Johnson county have had contact with me and my newspaper column; my policies should be plain."

Personal affairs had kept him away from politics for many years, he explained, and he sees this as an opportunity to enter the field.

"I am happy to have the full support of the Republican organization. This has been gone over carefully before I made any statements," Ludwig said. "I may or may not have any opposition in the June primaries, it is too early to tell."

He will not oppose Thomas E. Martin, who is seeking re-election to the U. S. house of representatives from this district, as was previously stated.

Lazy Ants Invade Eastlawn Closets

Eastlawn women are hostesses to an army of red ants. The ants aren't very energetic—maybe the girls don't feed them—so it isn't hard to corner and kill one. But another ant always appears in the dead one's place.

If the ants were more active or numerous, or if they bit, the girls wouldn't tolerate them so readily.

As it is, they feel no urgent need to get rid of their little tenants. The centers of interest for the visitors are the washbowl, so the girls are conscious of them in direct proportion to the number of times they wash their hands or take a drink of water.

Efforts to poison the ants seem to be futile, but the girls have fun laying trails of poison bait.

The ants aren't interested in the girls' food, but they invade the closets which means clothes have to be shaken before they're worn. A girl may find an ant or two in her blouse as she settles down for a lecture.
