

Hawks Invade Indiana In Try for Loop Top

Lincoln Train Stops In IC Enroute East

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) The Indiana basketball team stands between Iowa and the Big Nine leadership as the two teams square off here in the Hoosier fieldhouse tonight.

The Hawkeye quintet, riding the crest of three straight conference wins and a six won-two lost league record, can move ahead of Wisconsin's idle Badgers with a victory over Indiana. Wisconsin and Iowa are currently tied for the Big Nine top.

The Hawks defeated Indiana earlier in the season at Iowa City, 61-52.

The Hoosiers of Coach Branch McCracken saw conference action last on Jan. 24 when they soundly thrashed Minnesota and Jim McIntyre, the loop's leading scorer, 65-43, here in Bloomington.

In the meantime, Iowa has defeated its last three foes, Northwestern, Purdue and Illinois, and served notice to the rest of the league that Coach "Pops" Harrison's boys have true aspirations of their own.

The Hawks have now reached the climax of the 1948 season. They have placed themselves among the Big Nine's top teams, roaring down the stretch drive against the Hoosiers tonight. Wisconsin and Minnesota the following two Saturdays and Michigan at Ann Arbor Monday, March 1.

But with tonight's contest starting the climax of the season's play for the Hawkeyes, the Indiana game cannot be billed as one the Iowans must win. In fact, it will be an upset if they do.

However, following Indiana, win or lose, the Hawks must come home to defeat both Wisconsin and Minnesota. If this happens it is quite possible that the finale between Iowa and Michigan could decide the Big Nine winner.

As we look at it, a win here tonight could spur the Hawks on to the crown. The pressure is naturally on them. A loss, which is more than probable with the conference "home floor" advantage, would make things just that much more difficult.

Per usual the Iowa scoring punch rides along with the deft fingers of little Murray Wier, second in conference scoring with an average of 22.3 points.

It is quite probable that Coach McCracken of the Hoosiers will try using a Purdue "defense" against the Hawkeye hot-shot, Murray having been held to five points by such strategy at Lafayette one week ago. McCracken said last night he is toying with the idea.

If such is the case, the Indiana coach will use his own scoring as well as defensive ace, Don Ritter, to guard Wier while the rest of the team uses a four-man zone. When Wier has the ball two men will shift out of the zone to help Ritter with the defensive assignment.

Ritter tried all by his lonesome to hand-cut the Iowa red-head here in the first meeting of the two teams in Iowa City but Murray rimmed 26 points. Ritter is currently ninth in the conference scoring race with a 13.9 average but was held to three points against the Hawkeyes in their first encounter by the alert guarding of Bob Schulz.

Floyd Magnusson will get the call as Wier's running mate in the other forward spot with relief duty assured for Bob Vollers, valuable rebounder and scorer. Jack Spencer will probably see full time action along with Schulz at the guard spots.

Either Roger Finley or Don Hays is set for the starting center job with both definitely slated for action. Stan Straatsma is another possibility in the pivot spot.

The Hoosiers will probably start Lou Watson with Ritter at the guards, Charley Meyer at center, and Bob Lollar and Ward Williams at the forwards.

The Indiana quintet will average about one inch taller than the Hawkeyes with Meyer, 6-feet, 5-inches, and Watson, 6-feet, 4-inches, as the chief rebounding threat off both backboards.

Two Iowa radio stations, WSUI and KSO, will broadcast the game direct from the Indiana fieldhouse beginning at 7:25 p.m.

Time and Place—7:30 p.m., Indiana fieldhouse.

Hawkeyes Grounded

Weather conditions forced cancellation of the Iowa basketball team's intended flight to Bloomington. Instead, the team left here by train at 4:15 p.m. yesterday and was scheduled to arrive in Bloomington early this morning.

National — Says No on Tax; To Return Plane; Challenges Louis

Miss Kellems Defies U. S. Tax Bureau

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—In defiant terms, Miss Vivien Kellems, Westport, Conn., cable-grip manufacturer, declared yesterday she will no longer withhold federal income taxes from her employees unless she is paid for it.

She spoke of the withholding tax law as an infringement on the rights of the public and in violation of the constitution. She added that if "high tax Harry" Truman wishes her to collect the money, he must appoint her an agent for the Internal Revenue bureau.

"He must pay me a salary for my work," she told the Los Angeles Rotary club, "and he must reimburse me for my expenses and I want a badge, too. I am not a tax collector and if an American citizen can be fined and thrown into prison for not collecting taxes from his workers, then let's know about it now."

"Let's see what the court has to say about this law—it's not the first one passed in violation of the constitution."

In Washington, the Internal Revenue bureau received news of her ultimatum reservedly. A spokesman voiced confidence that it will collect from Miss Kellems one way or another.

The law provides that violation of the tax laws may be punished by $10,000 fine and a year's imprisonment, but Miss Kellems told newsmen after her speech that she is prepared to accept the consequences.

British Prepared To Return Wright Plane

WASHINGTON (AP)—The British Museum is prepared to return immediately the Kitty Hawk plane which Orville Wright sent to London in 1928 because of a dispute with the Smithsonian Institution. The plane is the first to fly under power with a man.

A British spokesman for the museum said that London officials had decided to return the aeroplane.

Gloria Whitney Accuses Beery

LOS ANGELES, (AP) — Beefy Wally Beery, screen bad man, was accused yesterday of fathering the son of a 32-year-old film bit player, Gloria Whitney.

The actor admitted knowing the actress for 15 years but denied the charge. Miss Whitney, suing under her real name, Gloria Schumm, alleged that her son was born Feb. 7 of an intimate rendezvous on or about May 1, 1947.

At her home, where she is still in bed, the attractive brunette disclosed that she remarried her husband, Hans Schumm, last August when she discovered she was pregnant.

"Wallace knew about the baby," she told reporters, "but made no provisions for its support." In addition to asking that Beery be declared the father, Miss Whitney's suit in superior court seeks reasonable support plus hospital and medical expenses.

Tells Armed Forces Quit Fighting In Public

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Defense Secretary Forrestal told the armed forces yesterday to quit quarreling in public.

If they intend to say anything to the public or congressional committees about controversial subjects they must give a copy to the defense chief first.

'Twas Wrong Day To Challenge Louis

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis easily retained his title early yesterday in a night club encounter with a 50-year-old Irishman whose pugacity was unquestioned but whose aim was poor.

The only swing was taken by Thomas Delaney. He landed on the floor. Witnesses said the only contribution Louis made to this result was some fancy footwork in ducking the punch.

The champion was leaving the Ebony club, Broadway night spot, with friends, when Delaney stepped up.

"So you're Joe Louis," the Irishman said, "Well, I'm going to beat Walcott to the title. I'm going to become the first Irish heavyweight champion of the world."

Louis hurried out of the club and murmured something about "foolish fellow" as he stepped into his car.

Police took the 6-foot, 200-pound Delaney to a precinct station, advised him Friday the 13th was the wrong day to challenge Louis, and released him.

Senate Group Agrees On European Aid Bill

Upholds Union Of All Western Europe Nations

By R. BRUCE HUGHES
Editor

DES MOINES — Secretary of State George C. Marshall last night described the formation of a western European union as an integral part of U. S. foreign policy.

The proposer of the now-famous Marshall plan unreservedly endorsed the western European union proposed by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

Indirectly, Marshall thus replied to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of N. Y. who declared Thursday in a Lincoln day address that the administration's foreign policy "should be thrown overboard—lock, stock and barrel."

Dewey then went on to urge that the Marshall plan be used to promote a federation of free European nations as a basic step toward economic recovery and world peace—the same thing Marshall declared last night "is our great hope."

Marshall's address was broadcast to a meeting of the national farm institute here after his plane was grounded at Knoxville, Tenn., and he was unable to make his scheduled personal appearance.

In the address he declared "half-hearted and inadequate" U. S. aid to Europe would have the "tragic" result of letting western Europe, the middle east and the entire Mediterranean area pass into the control of "the Soviet Union and their Communist allies."

To "meet the situation grudgingly," the secretary declared, would be the same as doing nothing — and doing it "at great expense."

Marshall recalled saying when he returned from the latest London conference of foreign ministers that "there must be a decided change in the situation before we would have a basis for a genuine settlement with the Soviet Union."

"I meant," he said, "that if a stable and healthy western Europe can be realized, the Soviet leaders, being supreme realists, would be much more inclined to reach a settlement on the terms of a peace treaty."

Marshall said the decision of 16 European countries to pool their recovery efforts — under what has become known as the "Marshall plan" — was "a historical step of first importance towards the making of a peaceful world."

"And now," he said, "there is in progress a further development of this concert of free nations and one of great importance to the future of Europe."

"On the recent proposal of the British foreign minister, Mr. Bevin, they have passed beyond their agreements for economic coordination to the consideration of a western European union. This development has been our great hope."

The European recovery program confronts the American people with "the greatest decision" in their history, Marshall said.

He warned against getting "so preoccupied with the details that we lose sight of the great objectives" of the recovery plan.

These he set forth briefly: "stabilizing the world situation, restoring a normal development of world trade, terminating the chaos which threatens the peace of the world."

Admit Capturing U. S. Marines; One Dead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Chinese Communists acknowledged yesterday that they had captured five U. S. marines, who disappeared Christmas day north of Tsingtao, and that one had died of wounds.

This confirmed a report by the Chinese government commandant at Tsingtao shortly after the Americans vanished. U. S. naval authorities last Monday said they still had no news of the men.

The five enlisted men were on a hunting trip in a jeep when they strayed into territory then occupied by the Communists.

The Communists' radio, however, charged that they were participating in the civil war on the government side.

The broadcast, heard in San Francisco by the Associated Press, said the Communists had "lodged a strong protest with the American navy in China, demanding that it apologize and guarantee no recurrence of such actions."

Otherwise the American troops and United States government will bear full responsibility for the consequences resulting from such action.

Soviets Create New German Administration

BERLIN (AP)—Russia ordered a Soviet model of the British-American economic administration set up in eastern Germany yesterday.

The action was a further step in the partition of Germany between east and west. It marked a further departure from the unified four-zone economy promised by the Big Three at Potsdam in the summer of 1945.

Marshall Vassily Sokolovsky, Russian commander in Germany, issued directives for formation of a 25-member German "economic commission" in the eastern zone. It closely parallels the German economic administration set up by the British and American military governments at Frankfurt for their combined zones.

Spurning repeated invitations to join in the administration and carry out the Potsdam program, Sokolovsky has likened the Frankfurt organization to a western German state and demanded its dissolution. He has warned that its maintenance might break down all joint four-power machinery in Germany.

But when he announced his Soviet zone commission, Russian spokesmen declared it would not be an "east German government."

Der Abend, U.S.-licensed Berlin newspaper, said 17 of the 25 members would be named by the Russians and "there now exists the danger that the economic commission will bleed the Soviet zone white."

Der Abend said Russia already had taken "far more than the $10 billion in reparations demanded at Yalta."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Aid to Europe received a shot in the arm yesterday. Late in the afternoon a Senate foreign relations committee agreed on a four-year European recovery program. The U. S. will put up $5.3 billion for the first 12 months.

This is short of the $6.8 billion which President Truman had asked for the first 15 months.

Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) said the cut—which averages $11,666,666 a month—was "a change in the timetable" rather than a net reduction.

Shortening the 15-month period, Vandenberg told a news conference, will give congress a chance to make "a realistic review of the recovery program" at "the earliest possible moment" and then vote whatever additional funds it thinks necessary.

Vandenberg said a few details remain to be worked out before the committee's bill is put into final form. Yesterday's action cleared away the last major question, however, and meant that the measure may be sent to the senate floor next week.

The committee wrote into its bill a section designed to keep exports to Europe from causing shortages in this country.

This section directs the administrator of the aid program to consider these things when making purchases: "The drain upon the resources of the U. S. The impact of such procurement upon the domestic economy. The vital needs of the American people."

Vandenberg said he hopes for a complete vote on the bill as a whole next Tuesday, after a few details have been worked out. If all goes well, he said, it should be ready for senate debate March 1.

Its fate there is uncertain. Senator Taft (R-Ohio) and other leading Republicans have called for large outright cuts. Taft suggested a $2 billion slash.

Vandenberg said the bill authorizes the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to advance $1 billion to start the aid ball rolling as soon as the measure becomes law.

This means that funds wouldn't be held up while congress debated a separate appropriation bill.

Vandenberg said the bill authorizes appropriations through June 30, 1952, as the administration asked. Thus each congress between now and that date can vote funds without going through the long drawn-out procedure of passing an authorization bill like the present one.

Vandenberg also announced a compromise permitting the Marshall plan countries to charter 300 U. S. ships.

These would have to be dry-cargo ships—that is, no tankers—and would have to be drawn from those not in current use by this country.

The administration wanted to sell the European countries 200 ships and charter 300 others. Maritime unions, the U. S. maritime commission and other groups opposed this.

Powerful Bucks Meet Swimmers

Smith, Hirose Challenge Ris

Virtually any one of the existing collegiate long course records is in jeopardy tonight at 7:30, when Iowa's tankers play host to Ohio State, the nation's leading swimming dynamo for the past two years, in what is shaping as one of the top dual meets of this olympic year.

Perhaps half the American Olympic team will be represented by these two teams. Ohio State has "grand slamed" all four national team honors of 1946 and 1947, winning the Big Nine, NCAA, and NAAU indoor and outdoor meets each year.

Led by Bill Smith, proclaimed by many as the "World's greatest swimmer," the Columbus champions present essentially the same squad which hoarded 12 places on the NCAA all-American selections last year.

Smith, the Honolulu freestyler who has garnered eight world records and eighteen national championships, and Iowa's Wally Ris will clash as anchor men on the sprint relay team in a renewal of the rivalry which never fails to stir top interest in country-wide swimming circles.

Ris, newly crowned national 100-yard record-holder, has beaten Smith at that distance, but is behind the Hawaiian in their contention for 220 honors. Smith last spring set the NAAU indoor record for that event, while Ris in practice has bettered the intercollegiate long course record.

BILL SMITH
Free-Styler
Holder of eight world records

Halo Hirose is considered the greatest sprinter in Buckeye history by his coach, Mike Peppe. Hirose has beaten Michigan's Dick Weinberg, whose 100-yard collegiate record Ris cracked Thursday night.

Peppe, American Olympic team diving coach, will call on Divers Miller Anderson and Bruce Harlan, who divided every single national championship in 1947.

Taking Time Out

With Buck Turnbull

Hoosier Fans Gloat

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. — The Iowa basketball team arrived here by train early this morning after a restless night of riding the rails. The Iowans' usual route of travel, airplane, fell through with an avalanche of snow in Iowa yesterday and the Hawks were forced to forget their wings for this journey.

The team displayed its same nonchalant attitude which it has shown on the four previous Big Nine trips. Cool Jack Spencer... Fidgety Murray Wier, as frisky as ever... Calin Bob Schulz... Happy Floyd Magnusson. On the surface, at least, the boys weren't even thinking about the game with Indiana tonight.

The Hawkeye center problem — somewhat lessened by successive victories over Purdue at Lafayette and Illinois at Iowa City — was the chief topic of discussion here yesterday. Indiana fans were gloating, you might say, over the fact that "Big Red" Metcalfe would not be in the line-up against the Hoosiers tonight.

A quick check of the Indiana-Iowa box score of the first game played in Iowa City, Jan. 17, leads to one conclusion — they may have good reason to gloat. Metcalfe hauled 16 points through the basket in the Hawkeye 61-52 triumph while the majority of other Iowa scoring came from Wier's 26 markers and Spencer's 9.

But this season the Hawks have been able to get the most from the least. That's a quick character-sketch of Coach "Pops" Harrison. No matter what unit takes the floor, it always seems to be instilled with the fiery attitude of "Popsy" himself.

With the loss of Metcalfe due to ineligibility, the Iowa center job fell to two inexperienced reserves, Roger Finley and Don Hays. Finley had averaged less than ten minutes per game during Metcalfe's reign, while Hays hadn't averaged more than a minute.

"I knew that both boys had the potentialities," related Harrison yesterday, "but their inexperience seemed to be almost too much to overcome." He went on to say, "but that worry is gone; they've both done a great job."

Hays, a graduate of Roosevelt high school in Des Moines, said, "With every game meaning so much to the team and that Purdue game really being my first of the year, I was plenty nervous and a little scared."

"Then just before I went in to relieve Rog in the Illinois game," Don continued, "Pops said, 'Remember, this is just like another practice,' and everything seemed to be all right."

Finley stated, "I was afraid that we might let down after we lost 'Big Red' but all of us want to win too badly to let that happen. I've never tried so hard to do anything in all my life the way I've tried to play basketball this year. That's just how the boys make you feel."

Schulz's Touch

The main cog in the Hoosier offense tonight will be Don Ritter, who has averaged 13.9 points per game this year. As usual, the job of stopping the opponent's high-scorer, in this case Ritter, falls to Iowa Guard Bob Schulz.

Perhaps a great deal of the Hawkeye team spirit, which has been so prevalent in its games so far, comes from Davenport's gifted player, Schulz. No team boasting the name of Bob Schulz has lost many ball games.

Here's his record since 1941, when he was a sophomore at Davenport high school.

1. Season 1941-42, Davenport sophomore — played with Jack Spencer; team lost five games; games lost while Schulz was playing — one; team lost to Ottumwa in final game of state tournament.

2. Season 1942-43, Davenport junior — team lost four games; lost to Mason City in semi-final game of state tournament.

3. Season 1943-44, Davenport senior — team lost two games; won 26 straight, losing first and last games of season to Muscatine; record, 26 of 28; didn't make state finals.

4. Season 1944-45, Iowa freshman — Big Nine champions; won 17 of 18 games.

5. Season 1945-46, service at Camp Wolters, Texas — team won 17 of 18 games.

Last year Schulz performed with an independent team in Davenport, the quintet winning 46 games and losing 10 while playing contests all over Iowa.

And so the Hawkeye team enters its game with Indiana here tonight. Finley and Hays, who have done more than anyone had expected; Schulz with his amazing touch; old reliable Spencer; Wier's "out of this world" scoring, along with the good work displayed by Magnusson, Bob Vollers and Stan Straatsma.

They may not be the biggest, the fastest, the highest-scoring or the best team of by-gone Iowa years but they are undoubtedly one of the finest squads ever to represent the university.

Wrestlers Set For Meet With Northwestern

Don Duven stepped back into the 155-pound spot in the wrestling line-up Coach Mike Howard will send against Northwestern tonight at Evanston.

Duven, who has tossed two opponents in two bouts this season, gave way to Ken Keith against Wisconsin last Saturday. Keith declined making the Evanston trip since he recently became a father.

Howard considers that the Wildcats have "three or four good men." In two meets this season the lake-shore team came out with losses to Michigan and Ohio State.

Heavyweight Eddie Nemuth holds the bulk of Northwestern's points with a perfect record of two pinnings, and Captain Miles Taylor is a definite threat to Iowa in the 136 class. Taylor decisioned Maurice Smith of Michigan, the Big Nine's 1947, runner-up at that weight.

The Hawkeye squad making the trip will also go against Michigan Monday night. The roster follows: Vern McCoy, 121; "Rummy" Macias, 128; Don Rodenborn, 136; Dick Barker, 145; Don Duven, 155; Ray Carlson, 165; Capt. Joe Scarpello, 175, and Dick Woodard, heavyweight.

Cyclones Surprise Jayhawkers, 52-50

AMES, Ia. (AP)—The Iowa State Cyclones stalled through the last three minutes last night to win a tip and tuck Big Seven basketball game from the University of Kansas, 52-50.

The Jayhawkers, led by Forward Otto Schnellbacher, led through most of the first half, but just before intermission the Cyclones began to click and left the floor with a 24-21 advantage.

The Iowans were never headed in the second half. With the score 52-48 and three minutes left to play, the Cyclones began to stall to protect their lead.

The Jayhawkers got one bucket with about 45 seconds left, but time ran out on them and gave the Cyclones the game.

The win gave Iowa State a 4-3 conference record, and dropped Kansas to an even 3-3 mark.

Iowa City Cagers Enjoy Perfect Night

Iowa City's four high school basketball teams made a clean sweep last night, as all four schools engaged in road games.

City high thumped Wilson at Cedar Rapids, 54-38, to maintain their contender's position in the Missouri Valley conference. St. Pat's spurted past Cosgrove, 47-39; St. Mary's beat St. Peter's of Keokuk, 25-20, and U. high sunk Mt. Vernon, 41-38.

Grinnell Rips Coe

GRINNELL (AP)—Grinnell turned in its fourth Midwest conference basketball victory in 10 starts by downing Coe, 55-38, last night to take a 2-1 edge in the season's series with the Kohawks. It was Coe's fourth defeat in seven conference contests.

Hawkeye Thinclads Face Irish

Notre Dame's track team, power-packed with an assortment of individual stars, will make its first appearance in the Iowa fieldhouse today in a dual meet with the Hawkeyes.

The first event in the 12-event meet, the pole vault, will take place at 1 p.m. The trial heats in the 60-yard dash are the first track events at 1:30 p.m.

Coaches George Bresnahan of Iowa and Elvin "Doc" Handy of Notre Dame have entered 57 thinclads in the meet. Coach Handy is a former University of Iowa athlete. He earned three degrees at the University.

To date the Irish have lost their only dual meet, that with the University of Missouri. However, they placed men in eight events at the Michigan State relays last week. Iowa won its only meet of the season handily over outclassed

Grinnell college. Iowa's standout is "Ike" Johnson, who topped fieldhouse and university records by running the 70-yard low hurdles in .08. This is only two-tenths of a second off the world record.

Iowa appears to have a slight edge in the broad jump and the high hurdles, while Notre Dame's big advantage seems to be in the distance and field events.

The sprints appear even, although the Irish do have a decided edge in the quarter-mile. The mile relay might be the deciding event, and the Irish appear the better in this event on paper. However, Bresnahan has bolstered his team since last week and the Hawks might push the Irish.

"I'm Western Electric. I back up your Bell Telephone Service with equipment and supplies."

There's a good reason why WESTERN ELECTRIC is in this family circle

Western Electric is a member of the Bell System family circle for exactly the same reason that your local Bell Telephone company is a member—to assure the close teamwork that is essential for efficient, economical, nation-wide telephone service for you.

As the supply member of the family, Western Electric makes telephone equipment, buys all kinds of supplies, keeps these things in stock at 29 distributing houses for delivery to the telephone companies, and installs central office equipment.

This unified service of supply results in many economies to the Bell Telephone companies and, in turn, to you who use the telephone.

Since 1882, Western Electric has been a member of the Bell Telephone family—helping to make your service the world's best at the lowest possible cost.

Many Vets Pass Up Vocational Advice

(This is the fourth of a series of articles describing the results of a survey of college veterans by a national committee appointed by the American Council on Education—The Editor.)

Increased emphasis is placed on the need for the proper selection of the course of training and the vocational objective of the student veteran, the survey shows.

Present veterans' legislation requires that all disabled veterans must select their vocational objective with counseling assistance of the extensive advisement facilities of the Veterans administration.

Non-disabled veterans, those attending school under the provisions of the GI bill of rights, are offered the assistance of these facilities but are not required to make use of them.

The nationwide survey of veterans in college indicates that only about four out of every 10 are availing themselves of the Veterans administration vocational guidance facilities and that of those who are making use of VA guidance, three out of four feel that the guidance they have received has been adequate, while one in four disagrees.

Another phase of vocational guidance is that which student veterans receive from their colleges and institutions. One-third of the veterans polled said they had received adequate vocational guidance from official college counselor sources at their schools, and 16 percent stated they had not received adequate guidance from such sources.

One-half of the student veterans included in the survey said they had not consulted any sources at their institutions.

The colleges and the Veterans administration were not the only sources of vocational guidance for these veterans, however. Of those queried, 37 percent had received additional help from other sources in the selection of their vocations.

In this latter group, 30 percent stated they had received help from members of their family, while 39 percent obtained aid from individuals already in the vocational fields for which they were preparing.

Further investigation showed that of those who had received help from these outside sources, 10 percent thought this aid was less valuable than that received from the college or the VA, 23 percent thought it was equally as valuable while 30 percent felt this assistance was more valuable.

Thirty-two percent of those receiving help from these other sources did not make use of the counseling facilities of either the Veterans administration or the college or university which they were attending.

The disabled veterans, who are required to receive VA vocational counseling, were asked whether the VA had given fair consideration to their own wishes in the selection of a vocational objective. Eighty-five percent indicated satisfaction in this respect and four percent were dissatisfied.

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

Shameful Blame-Passing

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

The point to be made about the grain price collapse this week is that the whole episode is kind of shameful, both the rise and the fall. There is nothing in the entire affair in which anybody can take real pride.

It's sort of a disgusting story, first the sinful, unnecessary rise, crowding food prices up and bringing trouble into many lives, and then the swift descent, forcing the financial news out on page one again, in the ominous way in which screaming birds come calling before a storm.

It was a disgraceful little chapter in our annals. And now, of course, the recriminations are beginning.

A Republican, Rep. August H. Andresen of Minnesota, says the administration caused "the bottom to fall out" of the markets by ceasing to buy wheat.

Clinton P. Anderson, Secretary of Agriculture, retorts that the GOP congressman's charges "can serve only further to upset the market."

And Andresen is probably talking loosely. But then one recalls that the administration's Anderson was an early enthusiast for ending rationing, in the very first days of the peace—and that that played its part in what happened later.

It is characteristic, somehow, though sad, that the wretched little tale of what has happened to us during the last three years should end in this tableau of accusing men pointing fingers at each other.

There will be a flooding wave of this kind of blame-passing, and you had better save your winter galoshes for walking safely through it.

Some of the recrimination will come from another source, of course, the public; already I see letters in the papers blaming "the politicians," in general terms, for having let our economy leave like an untamed bronco.

But, as mentioned above, there is nothing in the whole story in which anybody can take pride, even the public.

For if the public had wanted price control continued, it could have had it.

If the public wants its senators and representatives to stand on their heads for a half hour each morning, it can have that, too; there are some who can be persuaded in a few days.

But the public did not exert pressure for price control. It was a public which had enough money in its fist for a steak, and wanted the steak; a public which had forgotten everything it had learned in thirteen years of dealing with public crisis.

There was that strange outbreak of meat hunger in the fall of '46, when we talked meat, dreamt about meat, read about meat, spent our days mentally licking the bare meat hooks in the abattoirs, until finally we went to the polls and voted for meat.

THESE DAYS—

Some Marshall Plan Questions

By George E. Sokolsky (King Feature Syndicate)

The state department is having an extraordinarily difficult time deciding its own Marshall plan figures. Either it suffers from differences within the department or it is in a state of confusion.

On Dec. 19, 1947, the senate foreign relations committee issued a statement from the department to the committee entitled "Outline of European Recovery Program."

In that statement, on page 117, a table is given of proposed shipments from countries other than the United States in the western hemisphere totaling $3,345,000,000.

On Feb. 7, however, the state department issued a new table showing only $2,490,000,000 of supplies from other western hemisphere countries—or a reduction of $885,000,000.

Does it mean that the United States is to absorb $885,000,000 in American irreplaceable natural resources? Does it mean anything at all?

The original proposal of Dec. 19 called for $701-million petroleum products from the United States or to be bought with American money somewhere.

Recently the state department, under public pressure because of the American shortage, issued a statement that no petroleum products would be shipped from the United States. And there is not enough oil coming from other countries to supply this amount.

There is an obvious shortage of petroleum products in the United States on account of which large areas of this country suffered grievously this winter.

What is the meaning of the above figures and the paradox inherent in them?

Also, it is now disclosed that in apportioning the total $17-billion contributions are to be made to the following countries: Denmark . . . $582,000,000; Portugal . . . 150,000,000; Ireland . . . 497,000,000; Total . . . $1,229,000,000.

If the Marshall plan is proposed to stop the tide of communism, Denmark, Portugal and Ireland are not in danger from communism.

If the Marshall plan is to repair war damage, Portugal and Ireland were not damaged by war. Both Portugal and Ireland were neutral in the war and neither was occupied by Germany.

Founders Day To Be Celebrated By SUI Alumni Clubs

SUI clubs throughout the nation will celebrate the university's birthday this month with Founders day meetings and dinners.

Athletic Director Paul Brechler and Head Football Coach Eddie Anderson will be guest speakers at the dinner meeting of the SUI club of Chicago Feb. 20.

The club at Rochester, N. Y., will see the first showing of color movies of the Iowa-Indiana football game with sound track at their Founders day meeting Feb. 20.

President Virgil M. Hancher will speak at the SUI dinner and reunion in Atlantic City, N. J., Feb. 22, when the American association of school administrators of the National Education association has its annual convention.

Founders day meetings will take place Feb. 25 in San Francisco, Syracuse, N. Y., and Kansas City, Mo. Paul Brechler will speak at the latter meeting.

to the combined grand total of error.

There were those who played on a hysterical fear of communism, and deftly extended it to include almost any moderate action that government might take to protect the economy and the people.

There was a rise of arrogance, born of a few extra dollars in the common pocket, and kind of failure of humility, or respect for the bits of knowledge that progressive economists and students of government have been able to accumulate regarding the sound conduct of public affairs during emergency.

There was a rebirth of an old American primitivism, which denies complexity even where it obviously exists, and enshrines a special kind of audible ignorance, which it calls common sense.

These are some of the things we might think about during the carnival of noises the next few weeks, when our ears are being assaulted by so many swirling shouts of "It was your fault!" and "Ah, shuddup!"

Hold 1st State-wide Water Safety Clinic In Fieldhouse Today

The first state-wide swimming and water safety clinic in the U. S. will be held today in the university fieldhouse pool.

Sponsored by the university and the Red Cross, the Iowa swimming clinic will feature demonstrations of teaching techniques. School swimming teachers, YMCA instructors, scout leaders and representatives of other Iowa organizations will attend.

Free and open to the public, the clinic's purpose will be to help teachers learn new developments in swimming for recreation, safety and speed.

At 10 a. m. "Safety in Teaching Beginning Swimming" will be discussed by Walter A. Hausknecht, St. Louis, assistant director of first aid, water safety and accident prevention for the Red Cross.

Methods of teaching the physically handicapped to swim as an aid to convalescence will be discussed by Carroll Byrant, Washington, national Red Cross director of water supply. He will demonstrate teaching amputees, polio victims and other handicapped persons how to swim.

Jack McGuire, head swimming coach at Iowa State college, will speak on competitive swimming. At 1:30 p. m., David Armbruster, University of Iowa swimming coach, will show movies on swimming techniques. Mike Peppe will discuss diving techniques. He is head swimming coach at Ohio State university, Columbus, Ohio, and will coach the 1948 United States Olympic diving team.

Jury Clears Johnson of Manslaughter

The Johnson county grand jury cleared Warren H. Johnson, 32, Martelle, of a manslaughter charge yesterday morning. The jury also returned eight indictments.

Johnson was the driver of a truck which struck and killed Elwood Dvorsky, Solon, Jan. 26. Dvorsky was hit as he walked along Highway 261 near Solon.

The report returned to Judge Harold D. Evans at 10:30 a.m. yesterday, said:

"It is the opinion of the jury that Johnson should never have been given a chauffeur's license or a driver's license. The party responsible for the issuance of the license should be reprimanded."

Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy testified in the preliminary hearing that an eye test showed Johnson had practically no vision in his right eye.

Johnson was arraigned and bound over to the grand jury, Jan. 30, in justice of the peace court. He has been free on $1,500 bond.

Included in the jury indictments were two charging George Kost, Iowa City, with forgery. Kost has been held in the county jail since his arrest, Jan. 21. He is charged with having cashed two bad checks in local grocery stores Jan. 16 and 17.

Lester Wade Jones, Stratonsburg, N.C., was indicted on a charge of larceny. He was arrested Dec. 6, 1947, and has been held in the county jail since then. He is charged with the theft of watches valued at more than $20 from Hand's jewelry store Dec. 1, 1947.

The jury for the February term, which began deliberation Feb. 3, also reported on conditions in county and city institutions. They gave the county jail and the county home clean bills of health but reported that the city jail is "unsuitable for the confinement of prisoners."

The grand jury also recommended that two-way radios be installed in the sheriff's and deputy sheriff's cars by the county board of supervisors.

Divorce is Granted To Mrs. Ruth Spivey

Judge Harold D. Evans granted a divorce to Ruth Spivey from Jasper Spivey, Tiffin, in Johnson county district court yesterday.

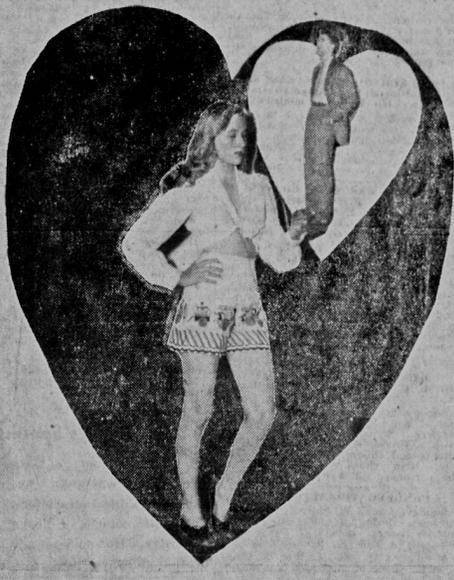

Mrs. Spivey was given custody of three children and Spivey was ordered to pay for their support. Mrs. Spivey also received most of their household furniture and costs of the court action.

She charged cruel and inhuman treatment.

The couple was married in Iowa City, May 15, 1915, and separated Sept. 1, 1947.

Swisher and Swisher represented Mrs. Spivey. Attorneys for Spivey were Messer, Hamilton and Cahill and W. H. Bartley.

Valentine's Day—Leap Year Version

DURING LEAP YEAR and on Valentine's Day, the women have the men in the palm of their hands. A classic example of this is the manner in which Polly Mutschler, A3, surveys Roger Menges, G, in the traditional style. Well, men, don't say we didn't warn you. (Daily Iowan Photo by Rick Timmins)

Parking Reminders

Police Say Meters Refuse Dimes

Since the new parking meters have been installed here, the police station has been a beehive of activity. The reason—many law-abiding citizens have been presented with summons to appear in police court for meter violations.

Police attribute numerous violations to public misunderstanding of how to use a parking meter. In the first place, a dime won't work in the meters. Two nickels can be inserted but not a dime. The meters register only nickels and pennies.

Then too, citizens do not realize that there are time limit parking zones. In the main part of town, the parking limit is one hour and no matter how much money you put in the meter you will get a ticket after the first hour.

But on the outskirts of the loop, there is a two-hour parking limit. A common gripe has been that parking meters are a nuisance. Actually the purpose of the meters is to benefit the public by making the traffic move in downtown parking places.

Many out-of-town visitors are welcomed to Iowa City by receiving a parking ticket. Some of them simply do not understand how to operate a meter.

As many as thirty tickets have been issued in one afternoon, according to police.

There are 403 meters operating in Iowa City at the present time. In December, 1946, 153 were installed and the remaining 250 went into operation last December.

Dan Cupid Dislikes

Modern Valentine's Day

— In Iowa City

By RUSSELL ZELENIAK

Dan Cupid shivered into town this a.m. to celebrate a leap year Valentine's day and was surprised to learn he had no need to make like an Indian with a bow and arrow. Why? Most gals had their guys in the palm of the hand.

"What to do?" wondered the little guy who pitches a mean game of darts. After reflecting for a moment he decided "to make the rounds."

During his wandering about town, he found this Valentine's day not like the "good old days."

"Too little arrows and too many cards," he remarked. "There's a Valentine for the jilted sweetheart, a long-lost lover and a dangerous rival."

Dannyboy compared the horse and buggy days with our jukebox era:

"In the good old days lovers were daintily poetic. For example, 'How do I love thee, let me count the ways—' Today, it's 'Tell me quick, before I faint—Is I yours, or is I ain't?'"

The little archer said that one rhyme knocked him for a loop.

"I tried like this: 'I went to find a Valentine, Especially for you. I looked and looked For days and days, But not a one would do. So I explained it to the clerk And then in nothing flat,

She fixed this EXTRA SPECIAL KIND That suits just you—YOU RAT!"

Adjusting the arrow case on his back and gripping his bow more firmly, the little guy with no breeches said it was time to leave. "I'll be back next year, and I hope I'll be able to get some target practice," he said, disappearing in the shadows.

Trott Fines Troyer $4.50

Dale Troyer, 919 E. Washington street, was fined $4.50 in police court yesterday morning by Police Judge Emil G. Trott, for failure to observe a stop sign.

Greek legend supposed that the horns of the goat that suckled the god Zeus were the horns of plenty.

Former Local Dentist Dies at Cresco, Iowa

Dr. M. A. H. Jones, 80, Iowa City dentist for 46 years, died yesterday afternoon at the home of his son, Morris, in Cresco, Iowa.

Born June 21, 1867, in Iowa City, he attended the Iowa City academy and graduated from SUT's college of dentistry in 1892. He was married in 1902 to Frances Barmet, who survives at the home of her son, a Cresco newspaper editor.

After practicing dentistry in Shelby county for 6 years, Dr. Jones came to Iowa City where he practiced until 1944. Last August he and his wife moved to Cresco.

Dr. Jones was a member of Iowa City's Congregational church of which he was a clerk for 26 years.

Funeral services will be held at this church Sunday afternoon at 3:30.
