

Not All It Was Cracked Up To Be . . .

BALTIMORE (AP)—An energetic safe cracker broke into a warehouse sometime Sunday night and went to work on a small strong box. He tried to get it on a dolly and drag it out the back door. Couldn't make it. Then he chopped through the back of the safe. It was empty. "He should have tried the handle," an official of the company said yesterday. "That safe wasn't locked."

Requests UN Armed Force To Halt Palestine Violence

North Koreans Set Up Army, Republic With Russ Backing

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The radio in Russian-held north Korea told yesterday of a strong Korean army and "Democratic People's republic" aimed at ruling all Korea under a hammer and sickle flag. A highly-placed American puppet charged at a news conference that both were Soviet puppets created in open defiance of international agreements and of the United Nations.

The broadcast from Pyongyang, Soviet occupation headquarters, said a constitution had been presented to the North Korean Peoples council but would not be finally voted until mid-March.

The American official, who insisted on anonymity, said a puppet government already had been established in Pyongyang.

Also, he said, "we have ample information" on the north Korean army, estimated to total at least 100,000 men. It is reported equipped with Russian medium tanks, light planes and other modern weapons.

The Pyongyang broadcast was headed by U.S. army monitors. In it, Kin Il Sung, chairman of the North Korean People's committee, announced organization of the Korean army.

Other Pyongyang radio announcements said the new regime would one day embrace all Korea, with Seoul as its capital.

Truman Appeals to Arab League for Order in Palestine

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Truman has appealed personally to several "interested" governments to prevent the spread of violence over the Palestine issue, the White House disclosed yesterday.

The pleas were reported to have gone to leaders of the seven Arab league countries which have declared opposition to the United Nations decision on Palestine. This calls for the partition of the Holy Land into separate Arab and Jewish states.

One message was addressed to King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, informed government officials said. They added it was logical to assume that either Mr. Truman or American diplomats appealed also to the other Arab league states. They are Egypt, Syria, Iraq, Lebanon, Trans-Jordan and Yemen.

At Baghdad, officials of the government of Iraq disclosed that they have received a message from Mr. Truman. They said it asked that Iraq use its influence to calm the Palestine situation.

Their attitude was that the United States should first exert its own influence by adopting "a really neutral attitude."

Mr. Truman's action was announced by his press secretary, Charles G. Ross, on the eve of a threatened new Palestine crisis in the United Nations over the use of force to bring about partition and restore order.

Commission Seeks End of Open Warfare

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—The Palestine commission called upon the security council last night for adequate military force to prevent uncontrolled bloodshed in the Holy Land and religious war in Jerusalem.

The five-member commission in a unanimous special 4,500-word report declared that time is of the "utmost importance" in carrying out the decision of the 1947 United Nations assembly to divide Palestine into Jewish and Arabic countries.

The commission, speaking bluntly to the council, declared that "powerful Arab interests, both inside and outside Palestine," are defying the assembly and are deliberately trying to alter by force the partition plan.

It said also that certain elements of the Jewish community in Palestine continue to commit irresponsible acts of violence which worsen the security situation.

The commission said it could not maintain law and order "unless military forces in adequate strength are made available to the commission when the responsibility for the administration of Palestine is transferred to it."

The commission urged the council to provide armed assistance to stop what it said would be open warfare on an organized basis after the British end their mandate. It said the British forces must be replaced by an "adequate, non-Palestinian force" which will assist in maintaining order.

The commission thus left to the security council the size and makeup of the requested force.

The five members of the commission agreed unanimously to the report, on which they have worked daily since mid-January.

Repeatedly calling attention to the resistance to the partition plan in the middle east, the commission said it "finds itself confronted with an attempt to defeat its purposes and to nullify the resolution of the general assembly."

The assembly approved the partition plan in a long resolution adopted by a 33 to 13 vote last Nov. 29.

The commission urged the council to take prompt action to avert great bloodshed and human suffering in Palestine and warned that a "dangerous and tragic precedent" will have been established if force deters the will of the UN.

The commission appealed to the security council because the assembly asked the council to take the necessary measures to see that the plan works. The council is expected to decide today just when to open debate on the Palestine situation.

Protest Cutting Down Trees

Iowa Citizens yesterday made many telephone calls to the city hall protesting the cutting of trees on N. Dodge and N. Governor streets for installation of an electrical line.

City officials then toured the affected property and said that the citizens have no legal basis for complaints. Mayor Preston Koser and Alderman Max S. Hawkins made the tour accompanied by Robert H. Lind, district manager of the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company.

After the tour Koser and Hawkins agreed with a statement made earlier by Lind that the cutting took place with the consent of property owners.

Lind said no trees had been removed without permission of the property owner.

The tree-cutting is part of the company's plan for the new electrical system in Iowa City.

Property owners, Koser said, have the right to prevent the company from cutting trees on parking areas abutting their property, but he did not think the question of the power company's cutting or trimming trees was a matter for the city to decide.

Most of the work is completed.

Lind said. He added that only six or seven trees must be cut or trimmed to finish the operation. These trees, he said, will be cut or trimmed as the property owner may choose.

Lind explained that the line had been routed indirectly at one end on existing circuits in order to prevent cutting more trees than was necessary.

Mrs. Owen Edwards, president of the American Legion auxiliary, voiced criticism to the operation. "It seems such a shame," she said, "that Iowa City's greatest claim to beauty, her trees, have to be destroyed when it could be prevented. Other cities have solved the problem with underground cables and routing the lines through alleys."

One council member suggested that the reason for not using underground cable may be the limited period of the franchise which the company has received.

The new electrical circuit will connect the new N. Dodge street sub-station with the Sheridan avenue station. The line extends south on N. Dodge, south on Governor to Washington, east on Washington to Muscatine avenue, down Muscatine to East College, east on College, south on Fairview, west on Court, southeast on Muscatine avenue to the alley between Rundell and Dearborn, south on the alley and west on Sheridan to the sub-station near the Oakland street intersection.

Limited Rent Controls Approved

Senate Committee's Bill Asks Extension

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate banking committee agreed yesterday to extend rent controls for 14 months in modified form. The new bill provides for higher rents where landlords are suffering losses.

The house banking committee decided to recommend an emergency 30-day extension of existing law while it works out details of a longer run plan. The present law expires Feb. 29.

Both branches came within hours of a supreme court decision upholding the constitutionality of rent controls. It said the law was a valid use of the war powers of congress.

Both branches of congress will have to act to keep rent control alive. The solution may be a stop-gap extension while the more permanent legislation makes its way through congress, and house and senate versions are adjusted.

The senate committee bill would continue controls through April 30, 1949. After a series of votes on amendments, the committee approved the final form unanimously.

Present law provides that landlords may increase rents as much as 15 percent if tenants agree to such an increase in return for a lease running through 1948.

The new bill provides that in the cases of tenants who made such agreements, the landlords is barred from raising rents again until April 30, 1949. Thus these tenants are given an additional four months of protection against increases.

'Gusher' in New York City

NEW YORK (AP)—An oil "gusher" roared up in midtown Manhattan just off Fifth avenue yesterday.

The fuel, a precious commodity in winter-harrassed New York, splattered pedestrians, halted traffic along 49th street, and spurted up the side of Saks Fifth Avenue store to the second floor.

The gusher "came in" through an air vent pipe as a tank truck was pumping oil into the Saks basement storage tank through a sidewalk connection.

Commodities Rally, Bound Upward Again

CHICAGO (AP)—Prices of many commodities yesterday bounded upward in one of the strongest rallies since the slump began almost two weeks ago at the nation's major primary markets.

Grains, hogs and cattle, leaders of the American menu, were up rather sharply at the Chicago board of trade and livestock market. Wholesale butter was up as much as 3 cents a pound in Chicago and 2 and one-half cents in New York. New York stocks also revived, although volume was small.

Retail food stores continued to feature lower meat prices because of recent market recessions. However agriculture department economists in Washington said the meat price dips probably would be short-lived. They said meat animals on farms were declining and consumer demand was expected to continue high.

Search for Other Skeletons: Thomas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) told fellow lawmakers yesterday to stop bothering him about his speculation. He dared them to look instead for skeletons in other senators' closets.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), to whom Thomas flung the dare, said there will yet be a public hearing on Thomas' trading "if the evidence merits it."

Ferguson heads a senate appropriations subcommittee on speculation. It yesterday cleared E.T. Maynard, Chicago trader, of having used any "inside information" in making a killing during the grain market break two weeks ago.

The group unanimously agreed that Maynard used only his own judgment and public information in making a profit estimated at from $200,000 to $400,000.

Decision on Negro At Okla. U. Declined By Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The supreme court declined yesterday to order admission of a Negro woman student to the University of Oklahoma law school at this time.

It emphasized, however, that it was not passing on the merits of Mrs. Ada Lois Sipuel Fisher's case. She recently won a high court ruling that she was entitled, not only to educational facilities equal to those given any other student, but also to get them as quickly as anybody else.

Oklahoma's solution was creation of a special segregated school for her. She came back asking an order for admission to the all-white school.

Yesterday the supreme court turned down her plea. A majority of the justices said they could not pass on her criticism of the special school until Oklahoma had ruled on it.

ICC Permits 96 Lines To Boost Fare Rates

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ninety-six railroads in the west and south yesterday received permission to raise their passenger coach fares 13.63 percent.

The interstate commerce commission authorized the roads to make the increases on five days' notice to the traveling public. The order covers interstate travel and also makes the increases applicable to intrastate travel in Arkansas, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, and Wisconsin.

Ver Helst Defense Rests

MASON CITY (AP)—The jury in the Charles Ver Helst murder case apparently will not hear the farm youth's own version of what happened the night Arlene Mott met her death.

The defense rested its case at 3 p.m. yesterday without calling the husky high school senior to the stand.

Highlight of defense testimony yesterday afternoon was that of two physicians.

The physicians said a sudden movement of the head could cause unconsciousness. The state previously had made much of the fact that no mark or wound was found on Ver Helst's scalp.

U. S. Talked Peace To Nazis, Russ Say

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union charged last night that the United States and Britain talked peace terms with Germany during World War II.

It also accused Britain and France of seeking to start a war with Russia in 1940 instead of fighting Germany.

Russia said that Allen W. Dulles, a brother of John Foster Dulles, represented the U. S. in conversations with a German spokesman in 1942 which touched on the question of concluding peace with Germany.

The Soviet government also accused the Allies of failing to fulfill a promise of a second front in Europe in 1942 and 1943, and charged that leading Finnish circles sought to make Finland a springboard for Hitler's attack on Russia.

These charges were contained in the fourth installment of a Russian series designed to answer the U. S. state department's disclosure of documents dealing with Russian-German relations.

Sends Ship To Antarctica

LONDON (AP)—Britain disclosed yesterday her navy's south Atlantic flagship is en route to the Falkland islands, and promised "full support" to her governor against Chilean and Argentine claims to those bleak subantarctic territories.

It was another chapter in the long controversy over the strategic islands which lie northeast of Cape Horn and the Strait of Magellan, and about 300 miles east of the Argentine mainland.

A British foreign office spokesman confirmed that the 8,000-ton cruiser Nigeria was definitely on the way to "show the flag" in what the government considers British territory. The Nigeria steamed out of its Simonstown, South Africa base yesterday morning under emergency orders.

In the house of commons Minister of State Hector McNeil told a questioner steps are being taken to ensure that the British governor of the islands, Miles Clifford, will receive the support he needs.

Yesterday's disclosures came amid widespread speculation in the British press of a possible show of naval strength by the three powers following rejection by Argentina and Chile of a British proposal to submit the dispute to the international court of justice.

Asks Military Aid For Greece, Turkey

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman told congress yesterday he will ask more military help to strengthen Greece and Turkey against Communism.

Greece in particular cannot be saved from Communist-engineered collapse until rebel forces "subservient to foreign influences" are wiped out, the President said.

He was reporting on the $300-million program of military aid to Greece, and the $100-million for Turkey, voted by congress last year to help both countries protect their freedom.

Chairman Bridges (R-N.H.) of the senate appropriations committee said meanwhile his group is going to want "much more information" before it decides how much should be spent for European recovery in general.

The President asked $6.8-billion for the first 15 months of the program, which involves 16 countries and western Germany. The senate foreign relations committee last week recommended $5.3-billion for the first 12 months.

Palestine Fighting Claims 41 Victims

JERUSALEM (AP)—Thirty-five Arabs and six Jews died yesterday in the fighting in Palestine. Their deaths brought the total fatalities since partition was voted Nov. 29 to 1,243.

Official sources said 30 of the Arab victims were killed while attacking the Jewish settlement of Tirat Zvi in northern Palestine.

The attackers were engaged by British military units as well as by Jewish settlers. Jewish casualties were said to have been one killed and two injured.

The Arabs also attacked two neighboring settlements. Palestine police said. All are in the Beisan valley on the shores of the Jordan.

Jewish sources said the attackers were in military uniform and were well-armed.

Three Arabs and one Jew were shot dead in other scattered Palestine incidents.

Civil Rights Talk Balked

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Democratic National Chairman McGrath isn't going to make that speech in Atlanta after all—on civil rights or anything else.

Georgia Democrats changed his plans by changing the date, from March 5 to March 9. They, like many in the south, are up in arms at what they call anti-southern proposals by President Truman on civil rights.

McGrath, senator from Rhode Island, messaged Governor Thompson of Georgia yesterday that he couldn't be there at the postponed date.

Another political development provides today the first test of Henry A. Wallace's ability to pull votes from the Democrats.

Wallace is backing American Labor party candidate in a special congressional election in New York's Bronx. The district normally is a Democratic stronghold. On the Republican political front:

Senator Martin (R-Pa.) hastened to declare that there was no disagreement between him and Republican Governor Duff of Pennsylvania on "objectives" of the Marshall plan for European recovery.

Earlier comments by the two men on this big issue had attracted attention.

Michigan Takes Big Nine Lead; Wisconsin Falls

Wolves Rip Indiana, 66-54; Iowa, Badgers in Second Spot

ANN ARBOR, MICH. (AP)—Michigan's fast-improving basketball team grabbed first place in the Big Nine race last night by spilling Indiana, 66 to 54, while Wisconsin was losing to Ohio State at Columbus. The outcome left Michigan with a 6-2 record and dropped the Badgers into a second-place tie with Iowa, each with six wins and three losses.

The Wolverines had to stand off a determined effort by a hard-hitting Indiana team that flickered out in the last 10 minutes. More than 8,200 fans saw the contest.

The teams battled evenly the first half with Michigan pulling to a narrow 23-22 margin at the half.

In the second half, the same form was followed with the lead changing hands four times before Don MacIntosh hit for six quick points from his pivot spot and Capt. Bob Harrison made two free throws to give Michigan a 48-41 lead, with 10 minutes to go.

From there on, Indiana furnished only token resistance while Michigan enlarged its margin of victory.

Michigan hit for 22 of its 32 free tries to aid the cause considerably while Indiana scored 11 of its 20 tries.

Mack Suprunowicz, showing more of the flash that made him a ranking conference scorer last year ripped the lanes under the Hoosier basket for 21 points, while MacIntosh threw in another 10 on a pivot shot he works increasingly well.

Riveters Trample Minnesota, 54-38; McIntyre Nets 14

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Bill Berberian's seven consecutive points midway in the second half turned a close game into a walk-away as Purdue defeated Minnesota in Western conference basketball last night, 54-38.

It was Minnesota's second loss in eight days to Purdue, the Boilermakers having won at Minneapolis last Monday night, 53-51. The Gophers played last night without the direction of Coach Dave McMillan, who was in his hotel room here with an attack of flu.

Purdue traveled at top speed all the way, and the pace was too hot for the Gophers. Dick Axness was high for Purdue with 16 points and Berberian had 14. Jim McIntyre, Minnesota's high-scoring center, tallied 14 under the effective guarding of Andy Butchko.

Purdue took the lead in an opening flurry at 7-6 and stayed in front all the way, but the margin was never comfortable until Berberian took charge. After Purdue made it 10-6, Minnesota never came closer than four points. It was 25-19 at the half.

Murray Wier Boomed for All-American

— Branch McCracken—Wier's an All-American

Wier's 329 Points Breaks Dick Ives' All-Time Iowa Mark

Little Murray Wier, the kid who started his basketball career in Grandview, Iowa, before he ever entered grade school, is now being boomed for all-American.

The "Wier for all-American" cry is coming from virtually every coach, fan and sports writer who have seen the flaming basket artist perform.

Murray has rimmed 202 markers so far and is not only pointing for Ives' record but also the Western conference season's record held by Andy Phillip, former Illinois star, with 255 points. This mark was set in 1943.

The latest praise of Iowa's Wier came from Coach Branch McCracken of Indiana after Murray's scoring had come close to beating the Hoosiers Saturday.

"If there was ever an all-American in the United States," yelled the jovial McCracken Saturday night in the Indiana locker room, "it's Murray Wier."

Wier is currently fighting with Minnesota's gigantic center, Jim McIntyre, for the conference scoring crown. Last night "Big Mac" was held to 14 points against Purdue at Lafayette, giving him a conference total of 203 points, one notch above Wier.

Both McIntyre and Wier now need to average 18 points in their remaining three games to surpass the record set by Phillip. Minnesota plays Michigan at Ann Arbor next Saturday night while the Hawks are at home with the Badgers. Then the following Saturday Minnesota comes to Iowa City and the dueling duo will meet face to face for the second time this season. In the first game, played at Minneapolis, Murray and "Mac" put on individual scoring shows which made the nation's headlines. McIntyre scored 36 points while Wier came through with 30.

MURRAY WIER—Iowa's potential all-American, who broke the all-time Hawkeye season's scoring record after his 23-point outburst against Indiana Saturday night. Wier is now one point behind Jim McIntyre in the Big Nine race, having totaled 202 points.

Taking Time Out With Buck Turnbull

Spencer's Fault? No!

Many local fans think Jack Spencer lost the Indiana game Saturday night. All we can say is, "He did not."

The Hawks were awarded one free throw—not two—when Spencer was fouled with two seconds left in the contest and had no choice but to take the ball out of bounds and hope for a tying basket.

Due to the mix-up in the final minute, which baffled the radio announcers as well as the fans, it would be very easy to get a distorted idea of what happened.

Here was the situation. Iowa tied the score at 47-47 on a push shot by Bob Schulz with a little more than a minute remaining.

With 47 seconds to go, Hoosier Don Ritter sank a free throw and Indiana led, 48-47.

The Hawks came down the floor and Schulz hit a short lay-up following a brief scramble under the basket. The shot was disallowed, however, and Referee Wallie Marks of Chicago called a jump ball.

This was the first of two questionable plays called by Marks. The Iowa players claimed there had been no whistle indicating a held ball until Schulz had scored the basket.

However, following the jump, Indiana took possession and went down to its offensive zone where Ritter was fouled again. He made the gift toss good for the 49-47 advantage. Twenty-three seconds of play were left.

Iowa went back down the floor, missed a shot and the Hoosiers took over again with about 10 seconds to go. Ritter took a pass just over the center line in his own territory, and had the ball batted out of his hands by Spencer.

Jack dribbled toward the Hawkeye goal and was cut to the floor by Ritter with two seconds remaining—this was our press-box viewpoint, high atop the fieldhouse grandstands. Referee Bill Orwig immediately raised two fingers indicating an intentional foul with two free throws in order.

This was where the radio announcers ate their respective microphones. Referee Marks cried the fracas with hands criss-crossing in front of him and over-ruled Orwig's "on the spot" decision. Marks raised one finger and rushed over to the official scorer's table to tell him only one shot would be forthcoming.

So the Hawks took the ball out of bounds and a quick shot by Bob Vollers fell short and the

Almost But Not Quite

Some of the Iowa players remarked that Ritter never touched the "Thin Man."

From our vantage point—we still hadn't toppled from the balcony to floor level in our excitement—it looked like Ritter had caught Spencer behind the knees. If he didn't, then Jack is in the wrong business. He should be a stunt man in the movies, diving over cliffs and falling down stairs for the movie stars.

Incidentally, the ruling states that when a player deliberately fouls an opponent anywhere on the court, the opponent should be awarded two free throws. If in the act of shooting a player intentionally fouled and misses the shot, the referee can—technically, anyway—give the player three free throws.

'Pops'—No Gripes

Commented Coach "Pops" Harrison yesterday, "Ritter came in from behind Spencer. He couldn't have helped touching Jack."

"Pops" also remarked, "Who am I to be beefing about this ball club of mine getting beat. As a fellow on the train Sunday said, 'Harrison, you have no gripes coming. It would be just like the guy who inherits an oil well and then hollers because it's not pumping enough oil.'"

So the Hawks took the ball out of bounds and a quick shot by Bob Vollers fell short and the COLUMBUS, OHIO, (AP)—Ohio State's in-and-out Buckeyes knocked Wisconsin's defending champions out of the Big Nine basketball lead last night, 54-47. State led at halftime, 25-15.

Wisconsin, which lost the conference lead to Michigan, was ahead of Ohio State only once. That was early in the game, 6-3. State, upset-conqueror of Michigan two weeks ago, moved ahead, 8-6, and never was behind after that.

Dick Schnittker, the Buckeyes' one-man scoring gang, paced the OSU attack with 24 points.

He broke Wisconsin's morale midway in the final half after the Badgers pulled up to 34-33. Schnittker wheeled in 10 of State's next 12 points to give the Buckeyes a 46-36 margin.

With two minutes to go, State led, 51-41. Wisconsin's late rally was anti-climatic. Bob Cook paced the Badgers with 17 points.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Iowa won five of eight matches in defeating Michigan, 19-9, in a Big Nine wrestling match here tonight.

The Hawkeyes scored the only two falls in the contest, Joe Scarpello, 175-pound Big Nine and National AAU champion, getting one and Don Rodenborn making the other in the 136-pound class.

Don Duven suffered his first collegiate defeat in dropping a close 1-0 decision to George Curtis, 155.

"Rummy" Macias, 128-pound Hawk, kept alive his string of dual meet victories with a 4-0 shutout win over Bob Johnston.

Ray Carlson, 165, and Bob Geigel, heavyweight, gained the other Iowa points on decisions. Dick Barker, 145, dropped a 10-7 decision to Jim Smith and Byron Dean of Michigan, 121-pounds, whipped Iowa's Vern McCoy, 5-2.

DUBUQUE—With 32 seconds of life remaining, St. Mary's Ramblers saw Loras academy's center, Orville Pleckenstein, score a two-pointer to cap a last quarter rally which sunk the Ramblers, 28-27, here last night.

St. Mary's carried a 21-17 lead into the last quarter, which they had extended to 26-20 with three minutes left, when they began stalling. In a minute and a half, Loras had tied it, 26-all. Johnny Suplepp made good on a foul with a minute remaining to put St. Mary's ahead once more, 27-26.

Thirty seconds later Pleckenstein stole victory from the visitors with his fifth field goal, after which Loras intercepted the Ramblers' ball and hugged it until the buzzer.

Paul Flannery of St. Mary's hand-cuffed Fred Gallardo, Loras hot-shot, to the extent of three field goals.

Iowa State Squeezes Past Missouri, 48-47

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Iowa State college nudged Missouri 48-47 last night, handing the Tigers their third Big Seven conference defeat and writing their basketball championship hopes.

Missouri rushed to an early lead, and the game was 13 minutes old before Iowa State came abreast at 20—all on a set-up by Roy Wehde. Lloyd Kester's free throws and another basket by Wehde put the Cyclones in front for the first time, 23-20, but the Tigers evened the score at 23-23, and again at 25-25 as the first half ended.

With less than a minute to go, the Irish caught fire. Roy Duffy, Bob "Gat" Grady and Bernard "Boo" O'Connor all pumped life back into the Southsider's late season hopes.

On the basis of that about face and an earlier well-earned win over the tough Cedar Rapids five, the Irish hope to sweep the campaign series with the visitors.

Tex Beneke Duets Sell Out Quickly To Morning Throng

Forming a line which started at the Union desk, looped through the main lounge, back into the lobby and out into the street as far as the woman's hockey field, some 1,300 university students tried yesterday morning to buy tickets to Friday night's All-University dance.

The dance, featuring Tex Beneke and his orchestra, will be in the main lounge of the Union Friday night. The Hawkeye queen will be presented.

According to the central party committee, nearly 500 students were turned away. The tickets were sold only to persons with identification cards and only one couple ticket was allowed for each card.

Mrs. Lloyse Fisher, who was on duty at the desk when the sale began at 7 a. m., said the situation reminded her of pre-war days. Mrs. Fisher said students used to bring blankets and lanterns for warmth and sit on the Union steps for hours waiting for the doors to be opened.

Living up to Mrs. Fisher's memories, one eager student waited yesterday from 5 a. m. He was the first in line when the desk opened for business.

The student who obtained the last ticket was no slouch, according to Mrs. Fisher. He started at about 7:15 and stood in the line until 9:15 o'clock when the last ticket was sold.

As a precaution against overzealous Beneke fans "crashing" the line, Frank Burge, assistant director of the Union, placed two special police on duty yesterday morning.

According to the central party committee, the reason for the 800-couple limit placed on the dance is that engineers' surveys show that the main lounge will not accommodate more than 1,600 people.

City Officials Declare Jail Cells Are 'Merely Inadequate'

Building Now Used Built For A Small County Seat Town

By NEAL BLACK

The Iowa City jail is "merely inadequate," city officials said yesterday when questioned about the recent grand jury report that the jail is "unsuitable for the confinement of prisoners."

"The building housing the jail, the police court and the police department was built for a small county seat town with no provisions for the future," a city official said. "Four walls were thrown up and three cages were installed for a jail."

Chief of Police Ed Ruppert said, "The jail is hard to heat and the cells are too small. It just isn't adequate."

City officials said they have known for a long time that the jail does not meet the needs of the city, but other matters are too pressing and jail improvements are shoved into the background.

The grand jury for the February term of the Johnson county district court inspected the jail last week. Ruppert said previous grand juries have reported the jail unsuitable, but nothing has ever been done.

The Iowa City budget for the fiscal year ending March 31 gave the police department $900 for office expenses and $250 for prisoners' meals. City officials realize the need of jail improvements, but feel it is lack of facilities at hand that prevent them.

The city jail consists of three cells, one about seven feet square and the other two 10 by 7 feet. The larger cell contains three bunks and a stool and the smaller ones have two bunks and a stool. The bunks are made of crisscrossed strips of steel and have one blanket on them.

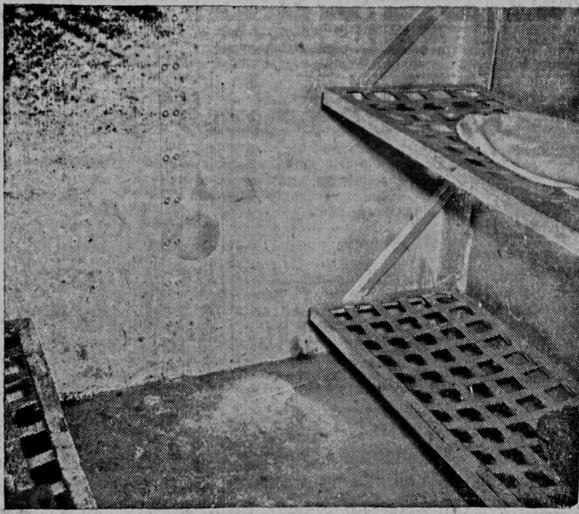

Officials didn't know when the jail was built. Estimates ranged from "25 to 30" years ago, to shortly after the erection of the city hall, which was built in 1881.

His wife preceded him in death. Surviving are two brothers, Harley Miller, Iowa City, and Arnold Miller, Mt. Pleasant; one sister, Mrs. Willard Endsley, Cedar Rapids, and one son, DeWaine, Muscatine.

STEEL BUNKS, flaking paint on the walls and generally bad conditions are standard equipment in the cell of the Iowa City jail pictured above.

County Education Board Nominees Must File Today

Today is the deadline for filing nomination papers for the county board of education, Frank J. Snider, county superintendent of education, said yesterday.

Five places will be filled at the general school elections Monday, March 8. This is the first time members of the board will be chosen by popular vote. The 52nd Iowa state legislature passed a law providing for popular elections.

Johnson county is divided into four areas which group its 21 townships thus: Big Grove, Cedar, Graham and Newport, area one; Clear Creek, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Oxford and Penn, area two; West Lucas, Hardin, Liberty, Sharon, Union and Washington, area three; Fremont, Lincoln, East Lucas, Scott and Pleasant Valley, area four.

One candidate from each of the areas will be elected and the fifth member of the board will be elected at large from the non-high school section of the county.

Nomination papers must be notarized and have the signatures of at least 25 voters.

Members of the present board include James Bell, Fremont township; Morley Palmer, Washington township; Ray Smalley, Union township; Jim Bowersox, Jefferson township; Louis Lord, Scott township, and Eugene Colony, Penn township.

"We can better represent students if we can get student opinion. Letters or attendance at meetings will help," he said.

Rhoades Says Gas Tax Is Deductible

If you're looking for another item to deduct from your federal income tax return, this may be it. Iowa motorists may deduct state gasoline taxes paid during 1947 when reporting their income, R. E. Rhoades, Iowa Motor club manager, said yesterday.

The Iowa gasoline tax is four cents per gallon. A person who used an average of 20 gallons a week may deduct $40 from his income.

"In order to take advantage of the deduction," the motor club official pointed out, "a return must be made on the long form 1040."

"Deductions are not to be listed if a withholding receipt is used as a return or if the car owner files form 1040 and uses either the tax table or standard deduction, since a blanket allowance is made in lieu of such deductions," he explained.

When using the long-form Form 1040, all sums paid during the taxable year in the form of registration fees, driver's license fee and personal property tax, may be deducted from the car owner's gross income in arriving at the taxable income.

The Federal gasoline tax and other federal excise taxes are not deductible.

If a car is used entirely for business, Rhoades indicated, all maintenance expenses and depreciation may be deducted along with interest on money borrowed for the purchase of the automobile.

In the event the car is used both for business and pleasure, only a proportionate part of the maintenance cost and depreciation based on business use may be deducted.

Accident Map at Courthouse Depicts County Danger Spot

By MAX ELDER
The red and green dotted map in Sheriff Albert J. Murphy's courthouse office is a graphic picture of death and destruction on Johnson county highways.

A part of the Iowa department of public safety's campaign for safe driving, the map is designed to keep a running total of accidents and deaths on the highway. Each county map is kept up by the state highway patrol in cooperation with the local law enforcement officers.

Originating with the Oct. 1, 1947, responsibility law for drivers, the maps were set up to give drivers and the public, at a quick glance, the location of the danger spots for automobile accidents.

Lester C. Nieland, highway patrolman for this district, pointed to two red pins near Shueyville and Solon.

"Red stands for death in this case. These red pins represent the two Johnson county fatalities since Oct. 1," he explained.

Four areas, north, south, east and west of Iowa City, Nieland added, are the worst areas for accidents in the county.

"A blind man could feel over this map and tell where U. S. highways 218 and 6 run, just by the accident dots," he continued slowly.

Linn county ranks at the head of the 11th district, comprising six counties. Linn county reported 115 accidents and $122,610 property loss since Oct. 1.

Johnson county runs second with 97 reportable accidents and $49,840 property damage, closely followed by Tama county. The other counties, Benton, Poweshiek and Iowa, are considerably lower than the top three on all counts.

Traffic violations involving moving cars in Johnson county have amounted to 37 since the new law went into effect. There have been five license suspensions and six revocations since that time.

Iowa City's accident total, Nieland related, is greatly increased by sports fans who converge on the city during the winter months. He said football fans cause more accidents than do the basketball crowds because they drive from greater distances and are in a greater hurry to get home.

The patrolman said future plans call for pictures of all major accidents to be posted along with the map. From each accident picture, a red ribbon would lead to the scene of the accident on the map.

"We hope with the map and pictures to make people realize the hazards involved in driving," he continued. "A good accident picture should always remind the driver that no matter how new or in what condition his car is in, it can still fold up."

Nieland said he hopes a downtown location will soon be available where the map will be constantly in front of the public. He said this location could be sponsored by some interested Iowa City organization.

In conjunction with the new responsibility law, Nieland has erected a board in the sheriff's office that displays all the necessary forms to fill out in case of accident. He stated that there is too much confusion among drivers over the numerous forms that accompany the law.

The highway patrolman said he felt the new law has made drivers more cautious and safety minded.

"If drivers really want to help in this campaign," he suggested, "the least they can do is to drop in here and pick up a copy of the pamphlet of public safety's department that gives a brief analysis of the law and its requirements. This is for their own good as well as the good of the other drivers on the road."

The petition will urge congressmen "to work and vote for the adoption by congress of Senate Concurrent Resolution 24 and House Concurrent Resolution 59."

These resolutions call for amendments in the United Nations charter "which would enable the United Nations to enact, interpret and enforce world law to prevent war."

The drive will be directed by

Three paintings by members of the University of Iowa art faculty have been selected to be shown as part of the University of Illinois competitive exhibition of contemporary American painting, Feb. 29 through March 28.

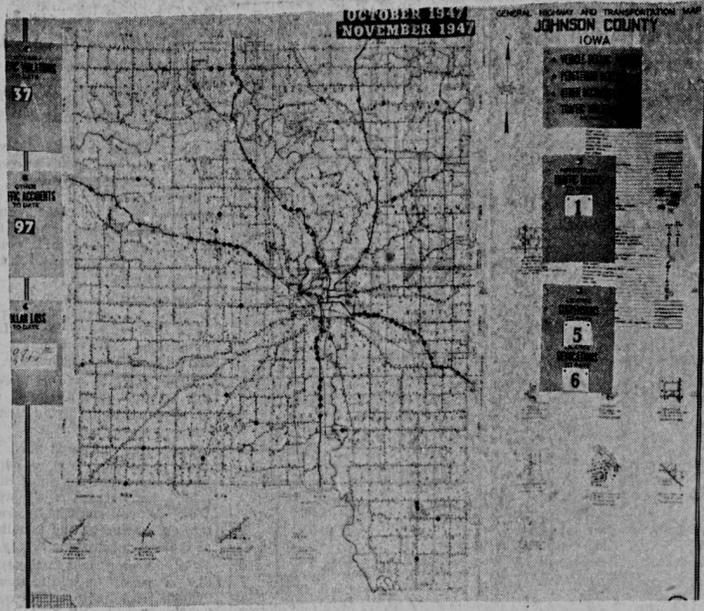

The three paintings are "Musicians" by Byron Burford, "Room Interior No. 1" by Joe Cox and "Coenties Slip" by James Lechay.

Three art authorities examined 925 paintings sent to Illinois by artists from all over the nation.

According to Jerry Farnsworth, one of the judges, the show will be a cross-section of every type of painting from "complete realism to abstractionism."

Purchase prize money amounting to $7,500 will be divided among several of the artists showing their work at the exhibit. Winners will not be notified until after Feb. 29.

UWF To Drive For Revised UN Charter

William R. Shuttleworth, A2, Cedar Rapids, yesterday announced United World Federalists' plans for a campus-wide petition drive calling for congressional action to propose United Nations charter revisions.

The drive, sponsored by the university chapter of UWF, will be held in March, Shuttleworth said. Definite dates of the drive depend on engagement of a "suitable nationally-known speaker," he said.

The petition will urge congressmen "to work and vote for the adoption by congress of Senate Concurrent Resolution 24 and House Concurrent Resolution 59."

These resolutions call for amendments in the United Nations charter "which would enable the United Nations to enact, interpret and enforce world law to prevent war."

The drive will be directed by

Lawrence E. Dennis, university instructor in journalism and political science.

"The immediate purpose of the drive is to attempt to throw a little weight during the coming political campaign," Shuttleworth said.

"UWF realizes that world government is not just around the corner," he said. "The goal, therefore, is to make federal world government an issue, to make people aware of why it is being advocated and to tell how the United Nations can be strengthened."

"Obviously," he said, "the most practicable approach is that of working through the United Nations which is already an established institution."

Prof. J. A. Swisher, temporary chairman of the recently organized Johnson county chapter of United World Federalists, announced yesterday the names of five chairmen of committees in the organization.

Chairmen and the committees they head are H. H. Hiett, membership; Mrs. Richard L. Holcomb, public relations; V. J. Weight, governmental activities; Richard Cambridge, finance; and Raymond J. Schlicher, program.

the organizational meeting of the UWF chapter Feb. 5, are Prof. Swisher; Mrs. William Porter, secretary, and John Knox, treasurer.

The three temporary officers and the committee chairmen named by Swisher are members of the chapter's executive council. The executive council will meet at 7:30 tonight in the Swisher home at 114 N. Gilbert street to discuss plans for a public meeting in city hall, Feb. 27.

David M. Stanley, president of the state branch of United World Federalists, has been hired for full-time duty by that organization, Jean Leu, executive secretary of UWF of Iowa, Inc., said yesterday.

Stanley began the full-time work yesterday when he returned from New York City where he attended a UWF field workers' conference last week.

He will divide his time between organizing work in Iowa and executive duties in the Iowa City office. His schedule includes trips to Fort Madison, Burlington and other communities in which UWF chapters are being organized.

Stanley was until recently a student in the university where he organized the first college UWF chapter in Iowa. Before coming to Iowa City, he lived in Muscatine. He plans to postpone his years in order to work in the world government movement, Miss Leu said.

Miss Leu also announced the election of four members to the state executive council of UWF. They are Harlan Hockenberg, A2, Des Moines, president of the university chapter of UWF; Thomas M. Kelly Jr., Des Moines, vice president of the Drake university chapter; Dr. H.H. Palmer, minister, First Methodist church, Mount Vernon, chairman of the Mount Vernon chapter, and Neil I. Parsons, corresponding secretary of the Iowa State college chapter at Ames.

SUI Band To Play; Tickets Available

The university concert band will present a concert of nine selections tomorrow evening at 8 in the Iowa Union lounge.

Of the nine selections to be performed by the concert band under the direction of Prof. C. B. Richter, three will be presented for the first time by this band group. They are Handel's "Ballet Suite," Brahms' "Rhapsodie, Opus 119," and Lecuona's "Malaguena."

Other numbers on the program are Bach's "Choral Prelude," Humperdinck's "Prayer and Dream Pantomime," Bizet's "Fandango," Fourdrain's "Symphonic Episode," Howland's "Mood Mauve" and "Symphony No. 5," by Shostakovich.

Free concert tickets are available at the Union desk, Whetstone's and the band office in the music building.

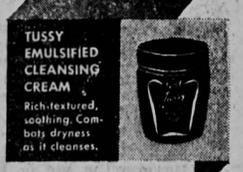

Thirty-one counties in the U.S. are named for George Washington, 21 for Thomas Jefferson, 18 for James Madison and 14 for Abraham Lincoln.

Farmers Maligned in Price Talk

In current discussions of the wage-price spiral, American farmers are being seriously maligned. It is being generally said that since food prices are basic in the fluctuations of our economy, and since they're too high, "the farmers are on top of the heap nowadays."

That's true enough. But it's not true—and not fair—to say that "farmers should be willing to reduce their prices" or that we should take the "floors" from under farm prices.

In the first place, only the price of potatoes is supported by a legal "floor." The complicated structure of "parity" helps to assure farmers a stable relationship between the prices they receive and the prices they pay, but it does not set a "floor" on prices.

"Parity" may help to keep prices up in one respect. This is because the government steps in to buy certain products when the price goes below a certain percentage of "parity." This point at which the government will buy depends on the amount appropriated by congress for that purpose.

But "parity" hasn't operated to keep prices up now because most prices are over the "parity."

Farmers don't control prices on their production in the same way that manufacturers control their market.

The price for grain, for example, is determined by the bidding on the floor of the Chicago grain exchange. It would take the concerted, long-range action of a great many farmers acting toward the same end to control enough grain to in turn control its price on the grain market.

As a matter of possibility, farmers could control these markets, and thus our entire economy, if they would band together in united action. They have no organizations large enough or strong enough to do so at the present time, and because of their nature and the nature of their industry, are not likely to form such organizations in the near future.

This is a small point in the larger picture of rising prices and inflation, but we get a little tired of hearing the blame placed where it should not be.

Price Readjustment or Beginning of a Bust?

Comparing Present Decline With 1920's

By The Daily Iowan Research Staff

Are we in for a temporary, thorough welcome readjustment of prices, or are we witnessing the beginning of a lengthy decline—the bust which follows the boom? Even the economic experts do not agree on the significance of the recent fall in farm products prices.

In either case—sag or bust—a comparison between the present market situation and that following World War I should prove interesting.

It is now approximately two and one-half years since V-J day. The great collapse of commodity prices after World War I began a year and nine months after the Armistice, in August, 1920.

However, there had been a minor decline in commodity prices surrounding the Armistice of Nov. 11, 1918. This temporary decline lasted for six months.

If the present decline proves to be temporary (and there are indications of a leveling off), it may bear comparison with that temporary one of 1918-19. If the present price decline proves lengthy, it can be compared with the lengthy one which began in August, 1920.

(It is to be noted that in 1920 the prices of farm products began to skid a month before the general wholesale price level collapsed.)

Farm prices began their present decline around the middle of last month, gathering speed during the past two weeks.

A comparison of certain on-the-farm prices in mid-January, 1948, and in mid-June, 1920, is as follows:

	Jan. 1948	June, 1920
Wheat	$ 2.81	$ 2.56
Corn	2.46	1.85
Hogs	26.70	20.40 (a)
Cattle	21.50	9.32
Cotton	.35	.37

(a) June 1919, peak price.

The sharp drop in wholesale prices following World War I continued for 10 months, until June, 1921. Prices then bumped along the bottom for another 10 months, until April, 1922, followed by a slight rise for several months after which wholesale commodity prices in general remained remarkably stable for six and one-half years

Two Hits, Two Errors, Close Decision at First

TO THE DAILY IOWAN:

1. As a journalism major myself, I realize that it takes at least some semblance of intelligence to write up a story and to do a little copy-reading. But when your writers turn out two blunders, both on major stories, in one issue, and this plus the many usual errors — it all makes me burn up inside and wonder when you're going to crack down.

2. Take the market basket story. If your underlings would take time to add up two columns of simple arithmetic figures they would discover that:

(a)—Prices did not go up this week as is noted but went down.

(b)—The two columns of figures listed do not total up to $17.27 and $17.18, respectively, but to $12.21 and $12.27. Just a mere difference of about five dollars.

Paragraph three hints that a one-cent hike in milk was responsible for the entire basket rise of nine cents. But you and I know that even though your reporter missed the milk rise the previous week, that there was no basket rise of nine cents this week — just no rise at all.

3. Now turn to your sports page of that same issue, Friday, Feb. 13. What started out with a bang with an excellent lead fizzled out in paragraph four.

It could have been an error in Duwane's figures but, regardless, Holway Draves did not "topple his own university record for the 200-yard breast stroke." Draves does not swim the 200-yard breast stroke, he does not hold any such record, but he does swim the 150-yard back stroke and he did better his own record in that race.

4. I'm sure that you and your staff are open to criticism and eager to improve the Iowan and every opportunity.

5. Just picked up your Sunday issue and couldn't help noticing something that rightfully belongs on the comic page. I may be behind the times but I don't ever recall hearing of a "national advertising fraternity for women."

Lady Astor had planned to present a fragment of stone chipped from the British house of parliament by the Nazi air blitz on London.

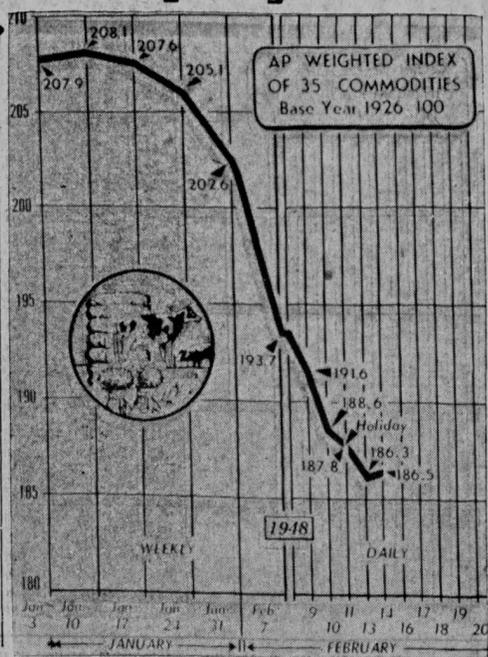

The presentation was by Lady Astor who came here to address the National Farm Institute last Saturday.

Lady Astor had planned to present a fragment of stone chipped from the British house of parliament by the Nazi air blitz on London.

One item at a time: 1. A journalism major, did you say? Be patient, your time to be on the firing line will come.

2. The market basket. The market basket index is not supposed to be a total of the average prices. That is why the figures at the bottom of the table are not under the respective columns. They are the weighted totals for each item, as the story explains in paragraph 15.

These "weights" have been de-

(about 40 percent lower than the June, 1920, postwar peak), until the depression of 1929-1933 began.

The fall was greater in farm prices than in commodity prices in general in the severe and lengthy readjustment of prices downward following World War I.

In April, 1922, the general index of all wholesale prices was 41 percent lower than in June, 1920; the index of farm prices was 47 percent lower.

Security prices on the stock market have been following the general trend of farm prices, but at a less sharper rate. They haven't so far, for, presumably — common stock prices were falling for the most of the time commodity prices were shooting up.

After World War I stock prices began to fall about 10 months before commodity prices fell, began to recover about nine months before commodity prices did. The sharp drop in the 1920 farm prices may be attributed to two factors:

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TO THE DAILY IOWAN: I see in Frivol that students, by taking an introductory course in art, can find out what goes on on the "left bank."

The writer, Gail Myers, seems intrigued by the left bank, but a little wary of its opinions. Evidently someone should point out that at Iowa art is in reality on the right bank (which proves that the left bank may sometimes be right); and, hence, there is no cause for concern.

On Taxes and Common Sense

By George E. Sokolsky (King Feature Syndicate)

A high budget can easily become a habit. Federal, state and municipal budgets are the products of 15 years of that habit.

Certainly, it is not necessary in peacetime for the employment of more than 5,000,000 persons in the various branches of government. In many offices, they trip over each other.

At any rate, there will be a full report on this subject, so far as the federal administration is concerned, in January, 1949, when Herbert Hoover's committee makes the facts known. That date was set by congress in the original bill; it would be more satisfactory to have the facts now.

The high cost of government is appalling to those who have to pay taxes, although it may not bother the few remaining non-taxable citizens. For instance, the magazine, "America," has this to say about taxes:

"... It's a sad prospect for the reduce-taxes-at-any-price crowd, who are much more sensitive to vote-catching techniques than to the grim realities of the postwar period."

There is no reason to be contemptuous of the "vote-catching" member of congress. Ours is a representative government of elected officials. All members of congress have to be elected and therefore must "catch votes."

"The intellectual or any other kind of snob who is sure that he knows what's what but refuses to submit himself or his ideas to the test of a vote ought not to look down upon the citizen who stands the test of our representative system."

We can, of course, switch over to an authoritarian system, but thus far that does not seem to be the choice of the American people. In another editorial in "America," the writer indicates an emphatic dislike for the congressional system by a denunciation of

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

Perhaps a Time for Joy

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

Harry found himself enjoying the news stories about the break in the commodities markets.

He felt, obscurely, that he was enjoying them too much, with a great, strange glee; he knew that if the break went too far it wouldn't be good for anybody. But he couldn't help it.

He carried his paper into the kitchen one evening and read items to Margaret while she fried something. "Steak is down six cents," he proclaimed happily.

"That ought to save us 18 cents this month," said Margaret, and he retreated to the living room.

Again he wondered why the front pages made him so happy. Wheat down another dime; down fifty, sixty cents in a week. Wow! A real smash! He found himself staring at the headlines, as if they had intrinsic beauty.

"It's blowing right in the speculators' faces," he said at dinner. "That'll teach those profiteers, in their yellow tweed sport coats, and their blue convertibles."

Margaret looked at him wonderingly. "You sound as if you're talking about somebody in particular," she said. "And you're higher than a kite about it."

Next morning, as he walked to work, he remembered.

There had been that night in Fayetteville, during the war. He suddenly saw again the crowded little soldier town, and the street leading off from the railroad station, past the hotel.

He remembered himself, squatting on the sidewalk in the hot North Carolina night, watching some children at play. He was lonely and bored, and sheathed in sweat, and only the darkness was kind; at least it wasn't khaki with sun on it.

Then the blue car had stopped, and the man in the yellow coat had asked the way to Washington. Harry had looked up, taking it all in, the sport jacket, the pretty girl companion, the cool, dirt-free look of both of them.

They're the ones who are staying home and making a good thing out of the war, he had thought, looking at them. They'd be a hundred miles from Fayetteville, soon, while he squatted on the sidewalk.

Funny, he thought, how pictures like that stayed in the mind. When the wheat market had crashed, he had thought instantly of the man in the yellow coat losing his fat war-time money.

But in the elevator that evening, going down on his way home, he did a double take. There was only one other passenger, an old-young man, with a tired look. Could it be he?

Harry had seen him several times before; was that why the old Fayetteville memory had come back? It was impossible. Yet there was a resemblance, and Harry tried to think back to that night in Fayetteville, tried to remember the features of the man in the yellow coat.

He wanted, urgently, to ask his fellow passenger if he had ever been in Fayetteville during the war, especially one hot August night; but it would be a silly question, thrown across an impassable gulf.

"Nice day, isn't it?" said Harry. They walked out together, and Harry stopped bumping on the jammed sidewalk, as he watched the pretty girl in the parked blue convertible throw open the door, for the man with the paper in his hand to hop in.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Ike's Philosophy for World Peace

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst General Eisenhower, in his valedictory as chief of staff, makes recommendations to the American people which amount, in effect, to his stamp of approval on current American foreign policy.

His thesis is that everything must be done to avoid war, with the hope of eventually ending its use as a measure of diplomacy, and in the meantime be prepared so that if it comes America shall not be the loser.

Pending the time when the nations will be truly united for the welfare of all, he says, the only preventive measure that will work is to convince any would-be aggressor that he can resort to war only at the risk of his own total destruction.

Development of the United Nations into an effective defender of peace, which may require "a generation, or even a century," constitutes the general's long-range security program.

For the short-range, to prevent an outbreak in the interim, he wants naked power, without which "the consequences could be disastrous for the moral and social principles which the United States has proven, twice during my army career, to have regarded as more vital than even the blood of its finest young men."

He wants universal military training as the alternative to maintenance of a vast peacetime military organization. But at any rate, he says, the army must have 1-million readily available men for the first day of hostilities, plus full mobilization of industrial, agriculture and financial resources.

Stress is laid on the military establishment as only "the cutting edge of the national machine through which destructive force would be applied against an enemy."

Eisenhower has had to deal with the political as well as the military problems of war to an extent approached by few other men in history. He speaks not only as a general but as a statesman, and his whole emphasis is on military power not as a solution, but as an unwelcome stopgap.

He would not "walk softly and carry a big stick." He would march boldly, exploring every road to peace. But he would be prepared to repel bandits wherever they might appear along the way, lest they forever prevent him from reaching the goal. It's hard to see how anything can make better sense than that.

Plot Stereotyped, but Sex-Exuding Dietrich

By JACK O'BRIEN
 For anyone who has been within listening radius of a juke box during the last six months, the romantic plot of "Golden Earrings" holds no surprises.

And the rest of the plot, involving storm troopers and a poison gas formula, won't startle anyone who has seen an American war picture in the last six years.

Ray Milland plays a stuffy English officer who only has eyes for the gas formula and prudishly evades the "attacks" of Marlene Dietrich who struggles to bring out the gypsy in him. She apparently succeeds (somewhere beyond the range of the camera) because at the end of his term of duty he rushes back to his Rom-another "Lost Weekend" will be type casting.

The good? . . . this is simply ridiculousness which defies mis-interpretation. It's so bad, it's good. And Dietrich is the picture's salvation. By her do its sins become virtues.

Glamour is a word "coined" by filmland (that's a pun, son) and, whatever it means, it belongs to Dietrich. Her very artificiality is her stock in trade.

Smeared in mud; reduced to a shadow of her once sartorially too-perfect self; her dialogue minimized to a gibberish, she still exudes sex as permeating as the combination of jasmine, violets and cod-liver oil smeared in her hair.

In the anti-natural way of the cinema, it seems only natural that her appeal should ratio directly with her advancing years.

Parts: lacquer, legs and amorous animal come out in her as one of the few screen stars who is all woman.

She makes artificiality palatable by becoming a part of it. Avoiding the price of taking stupidity seriously, she places her tongue where it almost protrudes through her cheek and makes such innuendoes as . . . "Oh, how he could fiddle." seem like inspired dialogue.

During the recent war, Dietrich shunned the usual special services to give something extra special to the boys. While the late Gertrude Stein incited the GI intellect to argumentative activity, Dietrich stimulated what was left of the uniformed male's personality.

Her job was beyond the call of duty . . . but it wasn't the sort of thing that ever is recognized with medals. Who cares? Dietrich enjoyed herself, which is more than can be said of other camp show-ers, and the GIs privileged to know her, enjoyed themselves.

Maybe a shapely leg and "The Boys in the Backroom," accompanied on the musical saw, isn't art—but to a soldier—sincerity means more than sanctity.

Even lads young enough to be her children enjoyed thoughts far any love, her bumpy little trailer and a steady diet of fish. He finds her right where he left her a war ago . . . but this is one of the lesser coincidences in a movie which is all goop and 20,000 leagues beyond reality.

We are concerned with it primarily because in its happy way it represents all that is typically bad and typically good Hollywood.

The story is something to be ignored. About all the moral it affords is . . . "be careful whose ears you pierce." Ray Milland does everything but beat his head up against the birch bark trees . . . more of this sort of thing and from maternal. Her records have this same charm. Those who find them artistically naive, miss a smiling casualness which says: . . . "You fool, you, this isn't singing." It isn't . . . but there's a lot more there than positive pitch.

Of course, this enthusiasm, will be wasted on many. One either loves Dietrich or loathes her.

If you're on the negative side, there's a Bugs Bunny cartoon, the plot of which seems sage in comparison to the feature film. And for the rest, there's the chance to sing "San Antonio Rose" with Bob Wills . . . "Take it away, Leon." We'll clean a fish with Marlene anytime.

U.S. Has Wealth, No Security

By ARDATH YOUMANS
 "The United States has enormous wealth but no sense of security," said Prof. Louis Wirth of the University of Chicago sociological department in his lecture on "Changing Values in Contemporary Society" last night.

The "shifting and uncertain basis upon which our economic system rests" causes this insecurity, he said. The frontier of natural resources has been reached and is now a dwindling supply of iron, coal and lumber. On the frontiers of technology and science we now face a limited supply of manpower brought by the declining birth rate.

"What stands in the way of collective security more than anything else," said Wirth, "is the degree of economic illiteracy and, particularly, illiterate conservatism."

He pointed out that a far greater difference existed between the capitalist democracy of 50 years ago and that of today than between capitalist democracy, such as we have, and socialist democracy.

Planning for security is a community affair as well as an individual one, said Wirth. "Why individual efforts to make their lives secure should be applauded and community efforts to the same end decried is hard to see," he said.

"Bureaucracy will not destroy us," Wirth said, "as long as we maintain the right to decide who those bureaucrats shall be."

One of the nation's foremost authorities on race relations and minority groups, Wirth was recently appointed chairman of the committee in charge of a large-scale research project in that area. In an interview yesterday, Wirth explained the $150,000 grant he will administer as follows:

"The grant, in which Rockefeller foundation and Carnegie corporation join, is unconditional for five years. It includes not only Negro-white relations but the position of all minorities in relation to the white group."

"This is the first year of the grant, which involves (1) development of a curriculum for instruction; (2) finding a place in graduate study for people majoring in some other department of social studies but who want to do work in this field, and (3) trying to do away with some areas of more appalling ignorance through a strategic program of research."

Wirth will attend a sociology department luncheon today at Iowa Union. He will speak to graduate students and senior majors in sociology at 2:30 p. m. in room 211 University hall.

LOUIS WIRTH, professor of sociology at the University of Chicago who lectured here last night, arrived on the 5:50 p.m. Rocket. Prof. Anne Pierce, left, of the music department and head of university high school music department, whisked him away to a dinner at the home of Prof. Elizabeth Halsey, head of physical education for women. ## Nominates Horack, Garfield for Alumni Assn. Presidency

Frank E. Horack Jr., professor of law at the University of Indiana, and Judge Theodore Garfield, Ames, Iowa States supreme court justice, have been nominated for the 1948-50 presidency of the SUI alumni association, Loren Hickerson, executive secretary of the association, announced yesterday.

A new president, two vice-presidents, eight directors and a nominating committee of five members will be elected by members of the association by mail balloting during March.

Arlo Wilson, New York City, son of the late Prof. Charles Bundy Wilson whose biography was recently published as one of the ten centennial biographies of outstanding university members, declined nomination because of his inability to attend the two annual alumni meetings.

Vice-presidential candidates, of which two will be elected for two-year terms beginning this June, are J. Ray Murphy, New York City; Dr. Walter Anneberg, Carroll; Harold Newcomb, Des Moines and Dr. Max R. Kadesky, Dubuque.

Nominees for four Iowa district directors are Carl Riepe, Burlington, and L.M.B. Morrissey, Daventport for district 1; Robert Finlayson, Mason City, and R. E. Romey, Mason City for district 3; William F. Riley, Des Moines, and Vincent Starsinger, Des Moines for district 5, and Dwight Hoover, Audubon, and Clifford Powell, Red Oak for district 7.

Four regional directors are to be elected from eight candidates. Among the ten candidates for the five-member nominating committee were two Iowa Citizens; Eric C. Wilson, and Ingalls Swisher.

The new president to be elected this year will succeed Dr. J. K. Von Lackum, Cedar Rapids, who has headed the association since 1946.

The household goods and a 1941 automobile.

The defendant was also ordered to maintain two life insurance policies in force, with members of the family named as beneficiaries.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogler were married in Puerto Rico on July 22, 1927, and lived together until December, 1947, according to the petition.

Mrs. Rogler's attorney was Earl J. North of Cedar Rapids.

Aviation Men To Meet Here

Twenty-six Iowa aviation authorities and several national figures in airport management have been selected to speak before the first Iowa conference for airport managers and operators at the University of Iowa March 8 and 9.

The two-day conference is expected to cover all phases of airport operations, and seven two-hour sessions are planned, each followed by panel discussions, according to Prof. E. C. Lundquist of the mechanical engineering department, who is supervising the local arrangements for the conference.

Registration fee for the entire conference has been set at $3.50, not including the price of the Monday evening dinner, Lundquist said.

No pre-registration is planned, he said, but those expecting to attend should notify him by postcard before their arrival.

Iowa City Police Court Collects $81 in Fines

Fines totaling $81 were collected by Police Judge Emil G. Trout in police court yesterday.

One person was fined $27.50 on intoxication charges.

Three persons fined for speeding were Harold W. Jensen, Route six, $15.50; Meinard Thomas, West Branch, $17.50, and Arthur D. Doran, 702 N. Riverside drive, $17.50.

Stanley M. Yocum, Route 3, was fined $3.00 for parking in a fire zone.

Less than half of one per cent of inter-city passenger travel in the United States in 1940 was by boat.

Just Like Spring! As Iowa Citizens Wade In Melted Snow

It might as well be spring. Although that season still is 32 days away, according to the calendar, the mercury's girations for the past two days partially convinced Iowa Citizens that there'd be an early spring this year.

Yesterday the temperature climbed to 49 degrees at 4:34 p. m., and forecasters said the mercury might hit the 50's today. Sunday the thermometer rose to 44 degrees above after an early morning low of zero. Sunday night's low was a "mild" 35, the first time in weeks that the reading hadn't fallen below freezing.

Iowa Citizens slogged through slush and waded through puddles as the sun melted much of the snow and ice which had covered the ground since the 6-inch snow Jan. 1.

Throughout the state mild temperatures were reported. Atlantic and Ottumwa recorded a 53 degree temperature, Des Moines 49, Mason City 44, and Burlington 43.

The respite from the cold was especially welcomed after 21 days since the first of the year in which Iowa City's thermometer struck zero or below.

Grant Rogler Divorce In Uncontested Suit

Mrs. Carmen Rogler, 323 N Capitol street, was granted a divorce Feb. 10 from Prof. Charles C. Rogler of the sociology department by Judge Floyd Philbrick of the Linn county district court, Cedar Rapids.
