HAWKS TOPPLE GOPHERS, 54-50

First Arrival
James Ostidiek

Early Birds Camp at Fieldhouse

By BOB CARROLL
It takes a basketball fanatic to wait in the gymnasium 5 hours for the game to begin.
But a number of SUI students did just that yesterday.
James Ostidiek, A1, Iowa City, was the champion "long-waiter." Fortified with a hamburger and Pepsi-Cola, he arrived at the fieldhouse at 1:50 p.m., 6 hours and 10 minutes before game time. He waited in a 33 degree temperature with the wind whipping 35 miles an hour.
To help pass the time, he brought along an analytical chemistry book. He wanted to get a seat "somewhere in the center section."
The next arrivals were five youths, who appeared at 2:10 p.m. Since there wasn't a large crowd gathering, they departed after 5 minutes.

At 2:20 p.m., four girls, overnight bag in hand, rode up in a taxi. From a Currier cottage, they were Joyce Freese, A1, Monticello; Virginia McCoy, A1, Waterloo; Maryanne Larrabee, A1, Montevideo, Uruguay, and Beverly Barger, A1, Des Moines.
The overnight bag, they explained, contained sandwiches, 2 quarts of milk, oranges and playing cards and magazines.
Asked where the books were to help pass the time, Miss Larrabee replied, "We came to study the boys, not the books."
Miss Larrabee said she had become a convert to basketball in less than a season. "I didn't like the game at all at the first of the season, but now I'm crazy about the sport. In Uruguay people go in for soccer, not basketball."

The four were interested in obtaining seats "two or three rows up, just behind the team." They have a scrapbook "full of stories and pictures of the games."
By 2:50 p.m. the crowd had swelled to about a hundred. Several brought radios, blankets, pillows and such. At 3 p.m. the doors opened and about 150 persons moved inside in an orderly fashion.
The "long-waiters" were "in the warm," but they still had a long wait.

Wier Goes Up For Another

COMING INTO THE TURN, Murray Wier (17) of Iowa lays the ball overhanded to score against the ineffectual guarding of Ed Kernan (6) of Minnesota. Wier hit 28 points to set a new conference season's scoring record as Iowa won 54-50.

Wier Scores 28; 258 Total Sets Big Nine Scoring Mark

BY BUCK TURNBULL
Sports Editor
If you weren't at the Iowa fieldhouse last night you missed one of the all-time great shows. Iowa defeated Minnesota, 54-50, and the game had everything including a boxing match.
In between boxing bouts and free throws, Iowa's all-time great, little Murray Wier, ended his fabulous collegiate career in the local fieldhouse in true form. Murray of Muscatine calmly dropped in 28 points to break Andy Phillip's previous Big Nine season scoring record of 255 points.
Wier has now bettered that mark by three points. Phillip established his record as a member of Illinois' famous "Whiz Kids" in 1943.
Into the game came Stan Straatman. And the smooth Straatman immediately hooked one in from the free throw circle.
The Hawks were out in front, 49-45.
Back came the stubborn Gophers. Chet Tomczyk hit a set shot from 25 feet out and Joe Holewa added a charity toss. The scoreboard read Iowa 49, Minnesota 48. Two minutes, fifteen seconds were left.
Jack Spencer, playing his last game for Iowa on the home floor, was fouled five seconds later and made his only free throw in five attempts.
But Grant, the Gophers' one man gang with McIntyre benched, tied the score at 50-all with a push shot.
With one minute left in the game the husky Guzowski counted what turned out to be the winning points on a layup with no Gopher player within five feet of him. The alert Bob Vollers saw the opening and fired a beautiful pass across court to Guzowski and the big boy dunked it in.
Then came the incident reported earlier between Schulz and Tapsak. The Hawks were stalling when the fight began and Vollers was fouled just as the opposing players surged at each other.
The officials called a technical foul on each team and also let Vollers shoot his charity toss. Vollers and Bill Hall, the latter replacing Schulz who was benched from the game dropped in the final two free throws while Bill Kranz missed the Minnesota attempt.
The game ended shortly after the fans swarming onto the court and surrounding the figure of the happy Wier. After the photographers got their chance at him, the spectators pushed their idol, Murray, onto their shoulders and carried him to the stairs leading down to the dressing room.
Iowa had a shooting percentage of .259 with 20 field goals in 78 tries. The Minnesota statistics were a little lower—19 baskets in 77 attempts for .246.
Grant led the Gopher scoring column with 15 markers followed by Tomczyk with 10. Guzowski and Hays were second with 7, each with six points.
Wier took 31 shots and made good on 11 for a 32.2 average.
The Hawks leave by airplane for their all important game with Michigan's powerful Wolverines at three o'clock this afternoon.
In a preliminary game last night, the Iowa freshman team whipped the Hawkeye junior varsity, 52-38.

National — Housing Maybe; ERP Moves On

Stimulate Action on Housing Bill: Truman

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman told home-seeking veterans yesterday he hopes they can "stimulate a dilatory congress into action" on housing legislation.
The National Veterans Housing conference, opening a two-day session here today, made public a telegram from the President who is vacationing at Key West, Fla. As released here, it said, in part:
"The congress has it within its power to follow the recommendations of the powerful real estate lobby and thus to strangle the administration's program."
Or, he said, it can safeguard the needs of veterans and low-income citizens by prompt action.

Vandenberg Group Sets ERP Figure

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate foreign relations committee yesterday formally recommended approval of a $5.3-billion European recovery program. At the same time it told the world that overseas aid cannot become "a permanent feature of American foreign policy."
The committee said the recovery plan for 16 non-Communist western European nations can be undertaken without "dangerous strain upon the economy of the United States."
The senate begins debate on the recovery measure tomorrow. Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) of the committee laid out a timetable calling for its approval by that body by March 15. The House will act later.

Short Rest for O'Dwyer

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer has suffered no permanent heart impairment and will be able to resume his usual duties after convalescing for a month or six weeks, his heart specialist said yesterday.
Dr. Clarence E. de La Chapelle said extreme fatigue caused heart changes that had been discovered, but it is expected "all will revert to normal" with proper diet, rest and treatment.

Judge Says 'Mentally Ill'; Not Indicted

LEAVING COURT yesterday was Muriel Ostrowsky (left), University of Illinois student of Lawrence, N.Y., and Sheriff Joseph Clancy, after the girl was committed to Kankakee state hospital. County Judge W.L. Springer found the student "mentally ill" in hearing following grand jury's refusal to indict her in connection with the strangling of her newborn baby.

Sigma Nu Privileges Revoked by Council

Interfraternity council yesterday revoked the social privileges of Sigma Nu fraternity and prohibited it from initiating pledges until after May 1.
Social privileges denied by the council ruling included dances, exchange dinners, intramural athletics, house parties, and "gatherings of any kind in the chapter house of more than five couples."
The action followed arrest earlier this week of a Sigma Nu pledge on a charge of "loitering" after he admitted taking a cuspidor from the lobby of the Iowa State Bank and Trust building. He was fined $102.50 in police court, but $75 was suspended.
Sigma Nu, through President Larry Roth, transmitted a letter to the council exonerating the boys and declaring that "no willful, premeditated act precipitated the incidents."
Roth stated the chapter had agreed to "follow all rules of the code of student life, the Interfraternity council and the national Sigma Nu fraternity."
He declared the cuspidor was taken with "the full knowledge and consent of an officer of the bank and alumni of the fratern-

Politics — McGrath on Liberals; Third Party Chairman McGrath Calls for Liberal Rally Behind Truman

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Senator J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island, Democratic national chairman, last night called on "all true liberals" to unite behind President Truman in this election year.
The national chairman was principal speaker at an Indianapolis Jefferson-Jackson day dinner, with plates at $25 each.
Praising President Truman as "our leader for practical, progressive liberalism," Senator McGrath asserted that Henry A. Wallace's third party "has as much place in American politics as does a third party on a honeymoon."
"I do not consider true liberals those who hold that abject appeasement to Communist expansion is a part of liberalism," he said.
Senator McGrath said that "the President's foreign policy is liberal, and I believe it offers the only hope we now have for a lasting peace."

Foster Denies Calling Third Party 'Communist'

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The national chairman of the Communist party denied yesterday published reports that quoted him as saying "the Wallace party is the Communist party."
William Z. Foster told a reporter the Communist party will not slate its 1948 Presidential candidate until its national convention this summer.
He explained that the Communist party has advocated a third party for "years and years" but that it has made "no tie-up whatsoever" with the third party of former vice-president Henry A. Wallace.

International — Finland's Dilemma; U. S. Tightens Korean Frontier

Say Finland Will Yield to Stalin's Demand

HELSINKI, FINLAND (AP)—All indications yesterday were that Finland will heed the summons of Marshal Stalin and enter reluctantly into negotiations for a defense pact with the Soviet Union.
Political circles are discussing the procedure for the negotiations proposed by Stalin in his note to President Juho Paasikivi on Monday. Reliable sources said the President has asked the various parties in parliament to advise him of their attitude by Tuesday.
So far the Finns were in the dark as to what Stalin wants. Sources close to the government said Friday he had proposed a mutual defense pact similar to that with Russia's other western neighbors. This system of alliances now reaches across Europe, from the Baltic to the Black sea.
The main concern here, therefore, was whether Stalin's request was dictated exclusively by the wish to safeguard Soviet territory, especially Leningrad, or whether he has "something up his sleeve."
So far, authoritative sources said, there have been no demands of any kind, such as that the Soviet army be allowed to occupy western Finland in the case of war or threat of war.
The negotiations are expected to show what Stalin actually wants.

Expect Stubborn Finnish Resistance Against Russ

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia is expected to have a much more difficult time forcing Finland into the eastern European Communist bloc than it had with Czechoslovakia.
American officials predict that the resistance of the Finns will be much greater than that of the Czechs. They say it may, in fact, succeed in preserving for Finland some elements of liberty.

Gottwald Threatens War On 'Agents of Reaction'

PRAGUE (AP)—Communist Premier Klement Gottwald threatened a merciless war on "agents of domestic and foreign reaction" yesterday. He said there were going to be thorough-going changes in Czechoslovakia.
Simultaneously the formation of a seven-man commission to purge all political parties of "reactionaries" was announced. The commission is headed by Communist Rudolf Stransky, who helped organize the Communist international information bureau (Cominform) at the historic meeting in Poland.

U. S. Troops Dig In On Korean Border

NEW YORK (AP)—Ray Falk, American Broadcasting Company correspondent in Seoul, said yesterday that U.S. troops were digging in along the line which divides the U.S. and Russian sectors of Korea.
In a message from Seoul to ABC in New York, Falk said:
"Fox holes are being dug at regular intervals along the 38th parallel. American soldiers are also digging in new gun emplacements."
ABC said Falk had just returned from a trip to that area.
Associated Press dispatches from Seoul have said U.S. troops were alerted for action following recent riots in the U.S. occupation zone which brought death to more than 50 Koreans.

State —

Wennerstrum To Talk At Drake Convocation

DES MOINES (AP)—State supreme court justice Charles F. Wennerstrum will address a Drake university convocation here Wednesday night.
It will mark Wennerstrum's first public address since his return from Germany a few days ago.
Wennerstrum presided over the war crimes trial of a group of German generals. His departure was marked by a fierce controversy when the army objected to an interview he gave the Chicago Tribune. In the interview, Wennerstrum objected to the procedure followed in the trial.

Guilty of 30-Cent Theft

SIOUX CITY (AP)—When John W. Forsythe, 21, pleaded guilty to taking 30 cents worth of candy bars from a grocery, a municipal judge fined him $10 but suspended the fine.
Forsythe said he took the candy because he was hungry.
The judge gave a bailiff $1 and directed that he buy Forsythe a meal. Forsythe bought a candy bar for dessert.

Michigan Holds Lead; Nips Bucks, 40-36

Stage Set for Showdown Fight Against Hawks Monday Night

ANN ARBOR, MICH. (AP)—Michigan's front-running Wolverines squeaked by Ohio State 40-36 here last night and set the stage for their first try for an undisputed Big Nine cage title in 21 years. A victory over Iowa here Monday would clinch the title.

Michigan established a narrow lead over the visiting Buckeyes, traded buckets with them until the final five minutes, then stalled to victory.

More than 8,500 screaming partisan fans saw a game in which neither team was in top form.

In the beginning, the Ohio defenses were just as strong as Michigan's with the result that the two outfits were locked in a 10-10 tie with but seven minutes of the first period remaining.

The Wolverines center, big Bill Roberts, picked the ball off the floor during a scramble and hit for two points to break a 12-12 tie and the Michigan team pulled away to a 20-14 lead.

After Buckeye Center Bob Raidiger and Forward Bob Winter each hit for field goals to put Ohio at a 21-18 disadvantage, sub Michigan Forward Hal Morrill hit two free throws to give Michigan a 22-18 halftime lead.

Scoring was sparse again in the second stanza with Ohio scoring but one bucket while Michigan slowly enlarged its lead to 32-20.

A ding-dong of exchange followed, with Pete Elliott and Mack Suprunowicz scoring two points each while Ohio's Raidiger, Bob Donham and Nell Johnson combined for seven points to bring the score to 36-

Captain Bob Harrison hit for a basket and a free throw and with better than five minutes remaining and the stall was on. Bob Burkholder inspired the Buck's losing cause with six points, Raidiger counted a field goal and Dick Schnittker, a leading Big Nine scorer, for two more, but it was not enough.

Michigan hawked the ball, took no shots, and added only Harrison's free throw in the closing minutes to their 39-36 advantage.

The game was tied four times in the first half before Michigan squeezed out a narrow lead which it never relinquished.

The Wolverines aided their cause by hitting 11 of 19 free throws while Ohio connected on just half of their 14 chances.

The victory sends Michigan in the Monday home game against Iowa with a 9-2 won-lost record while Ohio State left the floor with a conference slate of six wins and six losses. Michigan won its last title with a 10-2 record in 1927.

Illinois Rolls Over Northwestern, 60-43

CHICAGO (AP)—Illinois, despite spasmodic shooting, defeated Northwestern 60-43, in the Wildcat's Big Nine basketball finale before 16,000 at the Chicago stadium last night.

The cellar-dwelling Wildcats, who finished the conference race with a 3-9 record, trailed by 18 points, 32-14, at halftime and then made a battle of it in the first 10 minutes of the closing half. Midway in the last period, Illinois was ahead only 36-27, making only one field goal in eight minutes.

However, the Illini recaptured their first half shooting accuracy by the rest of the way and steamed far ahead for their sixth conference win against five defeats. Illinois closes its season Monday night at Indiana.

The Illini attack was well divided with Walt Kersulis and Jack Burmaster topping the scoring with 13 and 11 points respectively. Bill Sticklen sparked Northwestern's sluggish offensive with 13 tallies.

Williams Hits Clincher Sitting Down; Purdue Victor, 51-49

BLOOMINGTON, IND. (AP)—Purdue's Boilermakers defeated Indiana university last night, 51 to 49, in their 79th basketball meeting and finished the Western conference season with six victories and six defeats. Indiana's 3-8 record with one game to go was its worst in eight campaigns under Coach Branch McCracken.

Howard Williams, six-foot Purdue guard, scored the winning field goal just ahead of the gun and his teammates pounded his back until he was livid. It was the first time in 10 years that Purdue had won two games from Indiana in one season.

Purdue got off to a 6-3 lead at the start but Indiana came back for a 7-all tie. Purdue's Bill Butterfield caught his hand in the Purdue net, ripped it down and forced a five-minute time out for repairs.

The lead changed four times in the first half before Purdue's nine-point cluster in the last three and a half minutes gave the Boilermakers a 34-26 midway lead.

Indiana's Hoosiers spurred to a 37-34 lead in the second half but Purdue tied it up at 37-all and 39-all.

Williams, who had scored seven fielders, took a shot at the Indiana basket, and fell down. The rebound came straight into

Cyclones Surprise Oklahoma, 55-35

AMES, IA. (AP)—Romping to an early 20-7 lead, Iowa State college went on to wallop an ice-cold University of Oklahoma team 55-35 in a Big Seven basketball conference game last night.

The Sooners, hitting only 19 percent of their shots, collected just two field goals the first half, and eight for the entire evening. Paul Courty, high scorer for the Sooners with 15, got three of the eight.

The Cyclones held a 22-12 halftime advantage and were out in front by 15 to 20 points throughout most of the second half. Ray Wehde was the game's top scorer with 16.

Swimmers Sink Illinois, 52-32

Iowa Takes Seven Firsts, Illinois Captures Only Two

CHAMPAIGN, ILL. (AP)—Iowa's swimming team, with the great Wally Ris hardly getting wet, dunked Illinois yesterday, 52 to 32.

Iowa won seven of the nine events, the Illini taking first only in the 220 yard free style and the 440 yard free style relay.

Ris, AAU 100 yard champion, swam only the anchor 100 yards of the final relay. He started a full lap behind, couldn't make it up, and the Illinois team won.

The Summary:

- 300 yard medley relay: 1—Iowa (Choe, Berge, Lake). Time 3:08.2.
- 220 yard free style: 1—Schwerdt, Illinois; 2—Huttinger, Iowa; 3—Larrimore, Iowa. Time—2:26.9.

Boxer Dies During Bout; 2nd Fatality in Week

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A 20-year-old Negro boxer with a reportedly faulty heart lay dead yesterday as officials pressed inquiry into the fight game's second professional fatality within a week.

Elroy De Catur, Los Angeles lightweight making his first pro start, collapsed and died in the ring 10 seconds before the end of the fourth and last round of a bout he was winning against Fred Herrera, 20, of Jerome, Ariz.

It was a $75-a-piece preliminary scrap Friday night at Hollywood legion stadium, and came exactly one week after the fatal knockout of Sam Baroudi in Chicago.

CHICAGO (AP)—De Paul university virtually clinched a berth in the National Collegiate basketball tourney by spilling powerful St. Louis university, 52-42, before a capacity 17,860 at Chicago stadium last night.

The Billikens suffered their third defeat in 22 starts after Illinois thumped Northwestern, 60-43, in a Big Nine opener of a collegiate twin bill.

De Paul notched its 21st victory against five defeats by outshooting and out-manuevering the clever St. Louis team in the final half. The Blue Demons were sparked by fiery little guard,

Hawks--Wolves in Title Battle

Iowa Fights For Share

Iowa versus Michigan! The climax to the Big Nine's red-hot 1948 basketball race.

The Hawks leave Iowa City this afternoon at three o'clock, traveling to Ann Arbor by airplane for their battle with Michigan tomorrow night for the conference title.

Last night Michigan defeated Ohio State, 40-36, and held their one game advantage over Iowa. The Wolverines will enter the final game with a record of nine won, two lost and can do no worse than tie for the crown.

The Hawks, after beating Minnesota last night, now have a Big Nine record of eight won, three lost. They must defeat Michigan to get a share of the title.

Should the Wolverines win, they will go to the eastern regional NCAA tournament at Madison Square garden in New York City. However, if the Wolves and Iowa tie for the crown there are a number of things which may happen.

First, Iowa could get the NCAA nod because of a better over-all season's record plus a victory over Michigan.

Second, a vote of the Big Nine coaches might be taken with the winner going to the tourney.

Third, another top midwestern team could get the bid. But, regardless of what could or might happen, Michigan rules a top-heavy favorite to take the Hawks on its home floor, thus winning the conference race with a 10-2 mark.

Iowa hopes rest with the great team spirit which has carried it through this season, along with its mighty scoring demon, Murray

Layne Signs With Bears; Spurns Offer of Colts

AUSTIN, TEX. (AP)—Bobby Layne, fabulous passing star for the University of Texas, yesterday said he had signed a three-year contract with the Chicago Bears of the National Professional football league—thus spurning a $77,000 offer from the Baltimore Colts of the rival all-America conference.

Layne, an outstanding baseball pitcher, also apparently protected his final season of eligibility with the Longhorn nine.

Jack Shelley Of WHO Staff To Speak Here

Jack Shelley, head of the WHO news department since 1940, will speak at Information First at 4:30 p. m. Thursday in the senate chamber of Old Capitol, Chairman Sue Gronna announced.

Shelley, the only midwestern correspondent to cover both the European and Pacific war theaters, will discuss the present dilemma of modern man. His topic will be "Where Do We Go From Here?"

He will make observations he made in a recent visit to the United Nations, and a brief glance at the international situation which he terms "dominated by tension between Russia and America."

Shelley began his Pacific experiences after he had spent five months as an army-accredited correspondent for WHO in the Western European front. He spent most of his time with the First and Ninth armies and covered the Battle of the Bulge.

An official witness of the Japanese surrender ceremonies aboard the battleship Missouri, Shelley was with the first American occupation troops to go ashore in Japan. He interviewed flyers who dropped both atomic bombs on Japan and the scientists who assembled the bombs.

A native Iowan, Shelley received his B. A. degree in journalism from the University of Missouri and then worked for the Clinton Herald before he joined WHO as assistant news editor.

Town Women To Select 2 Candidates For Student Council Representatives

Town Women's association will hold a primary election to select two candidates for student council representative tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the YMCA rooms, Iowa Union.

The candidates will be voted upon by town women in the student council election, Tuesday, March 23.

Candidates for student council representative must have a campaign manager and must present a platform at the meeting.

To be eligible for candidacy, students must have concluded three semesters of college work, not including the present semester, two of which must have been at the University of Iowa, according to Pat Hansen, advisor of Town Women's association.

TB X-Rays Show 4 Cases in County

Four tuberculosis cases were reported from 123 examinations at a Johnson county tuberculosis conference held in Iowa City, Dec. 17, Elizabeth Budreau, Johnson county nurse announced yesterday.

One case was in the beginning phase and another had reached the primary infection stage.

The first part of the program was conducted last year when the county nurse made a canvass of all persons believed to have been exposed to tuberculosis. She took 146 case histories, calling at 77 homes in the county.

Upon advice, 51 persons visited family doctors for tuberculin tests. Of these, 21 skin tests were positive, indicating need for a lung X-ray examination.

Two cases of bronchitis (inflation of one or more of the larger bronchial tubes) and one bone anomaly (bone irregularity) were reported for which further study was recommended.

SUI, Colorado Top Two-Day Collegiate Debate Meet Here

The Iowa inter-collegiate conference on postwar problems closed here yesterday with SUI and the University of Colorado dominating most of the speaking events.

There were 125 speakers from 15 schools taking part in the two day gatherings.

University of Iowa speakers placed superior in two of the three individual speaking contests. The highest ranking schools in debate were Iowa and Colorado, each with records of seven wins and one loss. In addition, Iowa representatives took five of 13 superior ratings awarded for discussion groups.

All participants were rated in one of five categories from superior to below average. The highest ranking was valued from superior to below average. The highest ranking was valued at five points and the lowest at one.

After-dinner speaking results placed two in the superior division, Charles Guggenheim for Iowa and Mark Slen for St. Olaf college.

In extemporaneous speaking John Elliott of Iowa rated superior.

George McBurney rated excellent for Iowa in public speaking. Because Temple university sent only one team to the tourney, Iowa provided speakers to appear for the Philadelphia school.

The Iowans who won three of four debates for Temple were Charles Thodd, Virginia Dickson and Edward Diekmann.

Individual superior debaters from Iowa were Sherwin Markman, Yale Gerol, John Elliott, Harlan Hockenber, Virginia Rosenberg, Maureen McGovern and Virginia Dickson.

Teams ranked highest were Iowa negative I, the Colorado affirmative, Temple affirmative and Iowa affirmative II. The Iowa negative had no losses and the Iowa affirmative lost one debate. The following Iowa debaters were given excellent ratings: Richard Peterson, Charles Guggenheim, Georgianna Edwards, Don Lay, Evan Hultman, George McBurney and Edward Diekmann. Superior ratings in the discussion period were given the following local speakers: Evan Hultman, Charles Guggenheim, Marvin Ebel, George Shapiro, Don Lay and Richard Peterson. In the excellent division for discussion were Eleanor Kistle, Everett Waller, George McBurney, Edward LeClaire, Georgianna Edwards and Harlan Hockenber for Iowa.

Cut Costs With Co-op Barracks, Says Quad Investigating Group

Committee Offers Plan To Eliminate Cost of Maid, Janitor Service

A Quadrangle investigating committee yesterday recommended that the temporary barracks housing students be made into cooperative dormitories. The committee action contemplated elimination of janitor and maid services to reduce costs and lower rates for such units.

The action came after a meeting yesterday with Fred W. Ambrose, university business manager and T. M. Rehder, director of dormitories. The meeting was held to discuss the recently announced rate increases for all dormitories.

A meeting of the Hillcrest house committee was held Friday but action was deferred until a meeting of the council tomorrow night.

Also planned for tomorrow night is a meeting of the Quadrangle council to hear the recommendations of the investigating committee. Tom Neenan, Cedar Rapids, president of the council, said the group wanted further information.

Verne Rehnstrom, Linn Grove, chairman of the Quadrangle committee, issued the following statement after the meeting with the university officials:

"At the request of Mr. Ted Rehder another meeting of the Quadrangle investigating committee was held at the Quadrangle this morning. The costs of operating the dormitory system were discussed with Mr. Fred Ambrose and Mr. Rehder. The committee wishes to state that in this discussion Mr. Ambrose and Mr. Rehder were cooperative in answering all questions put to them.

"The reasons advanced by Mr. Ambrose in justification of the rent raise were felt by the committee to have an equitable basis. Some doubts previously held as to the necessity for a rent hike were dispelled at this meeting. 'All' doubts might have been erased if the actual costs and estimates had been submitted to inspection.

"The justification for the rent increase has been contended to be due to increased costs of operation. A large part of the cost has been, no doubt, due to the erection of the cottage system.

"As a committee representing the students of the Quadrangle, we feel that although these raises may be necessary, something should be done in the way of reducing costs for those who cannot afford these raises. This means, in particular, the non-veteran who must skimp and scrape in order to continue in school today. Further, we feel that part of the cost of erection of the cottages can be supplemented by the following recommendations:

"We would like to see some, if not all, of the non-boarding cottages opened on a reduced rate basis, eliminating the services of the maids and janitors. The university has contended these services have been a major reason for the increased rates. The result would be a cooperative system of non-boarding dormitories for those students financially unable to pay the higher costs."

"A full report will be submitted by the committee to the Quad Council at a meeting Monday evening."

WSUI Returns to Air

WSUI resumed broadcasting yesterday morning under emergency power after being cut off the air at 2 p. m. Friday by a power failure.

SUI Student Forum To Open Campus Political Campaigns

A student government forum will open the campus political year Wednesday night at 7:30 in room 221A Schaeffer hall, Janet Gutz of the Student council election committee announced yesterday.

The forum is designed to sound out the platforms of prospective candidates for the all-campus elections to be held March 23. The meeting will open with a panel discussion of student government. The panel of four students will discuss improvement of the Student council and its past and present projects.

Mel Heckt, president of the Student council, will act as moderator of the panel and floor discussions.

On the discussion panel are Elaine Lenney, UWA president; Virginia M. Anderson, Currier hall representative on Student council; R. Bruce Hughes, editor of The Daily Iowan, and Dean Stichnoth, Interfraternity council representative on Student council.

Miss Gutz emphasized that all prospective candidates for the all-campus elections should attend the meeting.

Organizations in the all-campus elections are Tailfeathers, YMCA, YWCA, Town Men, Town Women, University Women's Association, Women's Recreation association and delegates at large for Student council and student board of publications.

Candidates for delegates at large to the Student council must meet a March 9 deadline for filing of petitions at the office of student affairs, Miss Gutz said.

3 Men Fined $150 For Drunk Driving

Three men paid $150 fines in the Johnson county district court yesterday after pleading guilty to charges of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

John J. Clear, 419 S. Madison street, and Paul C. Leno, 120 Clapp street, were indicted by the grand jury for the February term and James B. McGuin, Ottumwa, was charged in a county attorney's information.

Judge Harold D. Evans fined them $300 and costs and suspended one-half of the sentences. He also revoked their driver's licenses for 60 days and cancelled their liquor permits.

Young GOP's To Hold Marshall Plan Forum

The university Young Republican league will sponsor an open forum, "Implications of the Marshall Plan", Thursday at 8 p. m. in 221A Schaeffer hall, Chairman James P. Goodwin announced yesterday.

The panel will include Professors Hugh Kelso, political science; Hew Roberts, education, and Leo Sweeney, economics. Russell Ross, instructor in political science, will moderate.

Goodwin also announced that a poll of members is being conducted by mail to determine the league's "favorite son" for the Republican presidential nomination.

Men, Beware —

That Day Is Here

By MALCOLM RODMAN

Have you been missing something during the last two or three years? Sure you have.

Some astronomers back in 46 BC decided to rob us of six hours annually. But, thanks to someone's guilty conscience, they reconsidered and decided to let us have an extra day every four years. Today, to be exact, is that extra day.

People probably wouldn't worry about leap year or the extra day in February except for the unexplainable but ever-present custom, the one that carries woman emancipation to an extreme.

No one knows when this custom originated. But some Scottish politician, apparently looking for votes, pushed through the following bit of legislation back in 1288: "It is statut and ordaint that during the rein of hir maist blisist Megeste, for ilk yeare knowne as lepe yeare, ilk mayden layde of both highe and lowe estait shall have liberte to bespeake ye man she likes, albeit he refuses to talk hir to be his lawful wyfe, he shall be mulcted in ye sum en pundis or less, as his estate may be; except and awis gif he can make it appere that he is betrothit aneither woman he then shall be free."

A good lawyer will tell you that this means, "Run, men, it's open season!"

A similar law was passed in France a few years later. Genoa and Florence legalized the custom in the 15th century.

All in all, February 29 means 24 hours more of trouble for "ye man she likes."

If you really want to be finicky about the whole thing, a year is not 365 days and six hours long as the gentlemen who write the encyclopedias and almanacs would have us believe—their estimate is 11 minutes too long.

Married Student Chorus To Hold 2nd Meeting

The new mixed chorus for married students and wives will hold its second meeting tomorrow night, Mrs. Charlotte H. Eastman, chorus organizer, announced yesterday.

The group will begin work on "Canoeing Down the Iowa River" and "Old Gold." Both numbers will be sung as the finale of the Mothers' day pageant on May 9. The chorus, which is open to all married students and wives, meets every Monday at 8 p. m. in 221A Schaeffer hall.

Files for Divorce

Mary Ruth Ferguson, 702 Grant street, filed a petition for divorce from Robert Earl Ferguson, university student, in the Johnson county district court yesterday.

Charging cruel and inhuman treatment, Mrs. Ferguson asked for $30 per month alimony, their household goods and her court costs.

Rising Waters Collapse Coralville Dike

ARROWS POINT TO THE BREAK in the levee at the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company dam in Coralville. Rising water and ice breached the levee shortly after midnight Friday. High Water Danger Temporarily Relieved; River May Reach Flood Stage Monday

The Iowa river began falling in Iowa City yesterday, temporarily relieving the threat of floods along Highway 218 north of town.

After hitting a high of 10 feet at 12:30 a. m. yesterday, the river dropped to 8.5 feet at 9 o'clock in the morning.

The water level then rose slowly and had reached 8.7 feet at 5:30 p. m. yesterday.

Officials at the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research estimated that a new crest of between 13 and 14 feet would be reached by tomorrow. This will come from high levels reached around Marshalltown and Belle Plaine Saturday morning.

The river at Belle Plaine reached a stage of 14.9 feet early yesterday and the level at Marshalltown, measured 15.6 feet at that time.

The hydraulic research officials indicated this crest would take 48 to 50 hours to reach Iowa City.

Last spring, Highway 218 was covered when the river reached about 12 feet.

Some water was running through the lagoon at city park yesterday afternoon, but it was moving slowly.

The rapidly rising water threatened some county roads for a time yesterday morning, but only one trunk road was damaged, according to County Engineer Raymond H. Justeh.

Two miles east of Hills, 300 feet of shoulder was washed away. Justen said barricades were put up, but the road was passable and being used.

A 100-foot break occurred in the dirt levee at the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company's dam at Coralville shortly after midnight yesterday morning. The levee had been repaired with a rock fill last summer after being washed out during last spring's floods.

The run-off of the heavy rain Friday afternoon which caused local overflows in parts of Iowa City, receded Friday evening.

Several basements along E. Rundell street were damaged by water backing up in the sewers.

Water was running-board deep in front of the fine arts building on Riverside drive late Friday afternoon.

The ice broke up between the Coralville dam and the Burlington street dam about 10 o'clock Friday night. The ice was still intact above the Coralville dam yesterday afternoon.

Lower temperatures following the rain Friday night brought high winds of 35 to 40 m. p. h. with gusts estimated at 50 m. p. h. by officials at the CAA weather station.

The winds died down last night to about 20 m. p. h. at the Iowa airport.

Iowa Girls Tie Illini In Mock Swim Meet

Women's swimming clubs from the University of Illinois and Iowa broke even with 13 points during a mock swimming meet in the women's gymnasium yesterday.

The meet demonstrated methods of officiating during the swimming clinic sponsored by the Iowa City board of women officials.

The University of Iowa's Seals swimming club placed first in the 60 yard medley in .39. Illinois' Terrapin club came back to win the 40 yard freestyle in :42.4.

Mrs. Arlene Graham, A4, Omaha, scored 23.13 points diving for Iowa, but not quite enough to match Edith Miller of Illinois who scored 30.97 points.

Roberts To Give Speech

Prof. Hew Roberts of the college of education will speak on "New Influences on Middle Western Schools" at the dinner meeting of the Iowa City Teachers club tomorrow at 6 p. m., in the River room of the Iowa Union.

GI's To Get $10, $15 Raise Automatically

GI subsistence increases will be paid automatically to veterans attending Iowa schools and entitled to the $10 and $15 raise, the Des Moines VA center announced yesterday.

However, veterans with more than one dependent and entitled to the $30 increase will be required to submit evidence concerning the second dependent before the higher payments can be authorized.

For veterans claiming children as additional dependents, such evidence must be in the form of a certified true copy of the public record of birth of a child.

If such evidence has already been submitted to the VA it should be called to the attention of the Des Moines office by the veteran. Such action will help the VA speed up the payments.

If a veteran wishes to claim his mother or father as a second dependent to qualify for the $120 monthly subsistence, the veteran should write the Des Moines VA office for instructions on procedure.

Dependency evidence should be forwarded with a letter completely identifying the student veteran as to full name, address, C-number and service serial number.

Although the new subsistence rates become effective April 1, the increases will not be paid before May 1. This is because checks are not due until the end of the month in which the veteran is in training.

The new subsistence increases are from $65 to $75 for veterans without dependents, $90 to $105 for veterans with one dependent and $90 to 120 for veterans with two or more dependents.

These raises will apply only to full-time students, and not to part-time students, on-the-job or on-the-farm trainees.

First Hand Contact With Brotherhood Week

BROOKLINE, MASS. (AP) — Everybody in the 40-family apartment house where Patrick J. Kelly lives—and is superintendent — is happy because Patrick Joseph Jr., will be ordained to the priesthood in May.

Invitations went to all the other 39 families to the prospective priest's first mass and for the reception to follow. Somebody started a fund which grew to $300 as a gift to the young seminary student—to buy vestments and other religious articles which a young priest needs.

A reporter asked Kelly yesterday if it was correct that all the other tenants were Jewish. Kelly stopped to think for a moment and replied:

"Golly, I guess they are."

Licenses Higher Next Leap Year

Leap year, gals. Four years from now the cost of marriage licenses may be higher.

Inflation hasn't yet affected the price of marriage licenses, according to R. Nielson Miller, Johnson county clerk of court but a hike in price may be effective before the next leap year.

A marriage license costs $1.50 now but a measure was contained in a bill before the last Iowa legislature to raise the price to $2, Miller said.

The state of Illinois recently raised the price of marriage licenses, Miller said. With prices still climbing as they are, Iowa may do the same.

Girls, if you feel you need a hunting license before starting your quest for a man, they will be on sale in the county recorder's office after April 1.

Hunting licenses are $1.50 and you can get a combination hunting and fishing license for only $2.50. But, would you do with a fishing license? Haven't you ever heard a prospective bridegroom called a "poor fish"?

And after all, what's $1.50 for a marriage license when compared with the cost of getting an automobile license? They cost from $7 to $61 and then all you've got is a car. Dog licenses aren't so expensive either. After you get married your husband can get one in the county auditor's office for only $1.

'Furia' Generates Heat — For Chilly Customers

— In Passion-Charged Film

By JACK O'BRIEN

The Italian film, "Furia" is dedicated to a not too-wholesome analogy between a stallion of that name and his groom, a handsome lad named Antonio. The breeding potential of the horse is worth a nice stack of reals to his owner.

Despite this, the analogy falls flat. The biological activities of the groom make Furia seem like an adolescent Shetland pony. Antonio grows frustrated over an obligation to keep only two women happy—but both of them are pretty demanding.

Once a film has launched on a theme of this nature, subtlety is futile. The producers realized this and, even cut as it is, the film generates enough heat to attract long lines of chilly customers.

"Furia" doesn't approach the artistry of the better Italian films which have recently preceded it. But it has the same ingredient of unblinking honesty. This capacity to challenge an issue straightforwardly, more than anything else, lifts the Italian films out of the ordinary. Even though, as "Furia" proves, it isn't enough, in itself, to make them quite great.

The theme of pagan love vs. Pure love has fascinated movie-makers since boys first met girls enough trouble itself, is further complicated by a virginesque step-daughter, who finally persuades Antonio that what he really wants is "true love." There's also a lecherous idiot who makes things uncomfortable for everyone—especially Clara, whom he finally strangles.

The plot is complicated and, at times, downright stupid. The ending is typical Hollywood. It assumes that Antonio's passion is something outside himself and that with Clara gone, he and his child-bride will live happily ever after.

But the acting is such as to make the passion both real and understandable and the stupidity, at least, acceptable. In its earlier scenes, the film has masterful moments as an integrated work of art. The whole farm seems to express an awareness of wild, animal unrest.

Everything: the steaming water pots, the hay-filled stalls, the cell of Antonio's room, reflect the passion which charges through the two leading characters.

The bathtub scene, with the action reflected entirely in the black water; the scene in which Antonio stares at his cealing, listening to the husband and wife above him, and that scene itself, are intense projections of the strained mood of the film.

They are also examples of how effectively the films can treat a sensitive, touchy subject—once they've found the courage to tackle it.

One suspects that the moralists who object to this sort of film never stay around for the final scene. It's difficult to recall a picture in which the most frantic kind of contrivance hasn't allowed virtue to come out gloriously victorious.

"Furia" is no exception. Nearly every commandment comes in for something of a shellacking in the picture, but the familiar moral pattern is the same—evil meets with violence and virtue is its own reward.

Perhaps "Furia" is more persuasive in this respect than any of its predecessors. It, at least, gives something of an idea of the torments as well as the delights experienced by those who are more animal than aesthete.

Last Rites Tomorrow For Charles Seemuth

Funeral services for Charles Seemuth, Iowa City street commissioner for eight years, will be held Monday at 9 a.m. in St. Patrick's church, with burial in St. Joseph's cemetery.

The Rosary will be recited at 7:30 p.m. tonight at Hohenschuh mortuary.

Mr. Seemuth died Friday afternoon in Mercy hospital following a short illness.

The city hall will be closed during the funeral services.

Observations on Dorm Rate Increases

Student protests against the dormitory rate increases should not be unexpected by administrative officials. Strategically, the move came at a bad time, just after the increase in GI subsistence and just when it looked like prices were moving down.

Housing authorities say, on the other hand, the action had to be announced now so that present occupants could make their room preferences and new students could know their assignments.

The central issue is whether the increase is justified. We'll pass on that one, because only a complete accounting of the dormitory system's books could establish either side.

We do think the long-range view should be taken in regard to the dormitory system. It should be remembered that no one dormitory operates as a separate unit. As it should be remembered that a financially-strong dormitory system is one of the bulwarks of the university. The dormitory system was established only over the opposition of real estate interests similar to those that oppose Parklawn.

The university thus began a perilous experiment in establishing the dorms. It couldn't get state money so it had to borrow from private sources. That means the university must charge enough to meet its obligations.

These observations don't answer the question of whether the increase is necessary. But they are things to be considered.

We've convinced of one thing. That is that much student opposition could have been avoided on this and other issues if administrative officials would have taken the time and trouble to consult student groups in advance.

As it is, administrators are put in the position of defending something already determined. They go through the same talks with councils, representatives, etc. But there is a fine difference that is really all the difference in the world—the decisions have already been made.

A few administrators have invited students to offer suggestions and criticisms before a new program is adopted. The students understand fully that a majority vote isn't going to be taken to determine action. But they have understood that their opinions will be respected and fully considered.

This doesn't mean that students determine the action to be taken. But it is a more democratic way and has the practical effect of making the final decision more acceptable.

Housing officials say there wasn't time for that. Maybe so, but it's hard to see what difference one or two days would have made. And even so, it might have paid dividends.

At any rate, the point is a general one—that top administrators have a reluctance to give the students a chance to discuss decisions that will affect them before they are made.

That's bound to cause trouble on any campus where students are interested in applying the democratic process taught in the classrooms.

Let's Get Down to Cases

Our hostile world rivals are making capital of prejudice in the United States. It would not be so bad if our policy was based offensively on intolerance and the "master race." At least it would be honest.

But the paradox is that we have proclaimed all over the world our respect for the individual, regardless of race, creed or color.

But suppose a certain Jew is an outstanding businessman in his community, a person of integrity. He abides by the civil law and the moral law and sees that his children do likewise.

He is generous in his benefactions to civic and public welfare movements. He is greeted familiarly and warmly by his fellow townsmen and in his business and civic contacts. He is, in short, a good neighbor.

But if his family would like to move to a certain residential area or to join a certain local club, he's no longer a good neighbor—he's a Jew.

If he wants to send his children to a certain summer camp or to a certain college or go to a certain resort hotel for his summer vacation, he's treated like a criminal. Actually, worse than a criminal in some respects—for some pretty well known thugs make their permanent residences in these same hotels.

Is this kind of action likely to make him love his fellow Americans the more?

And what has stilled the conscience of the offenders? Will not the creeping paralysis of intolerance and bigotry lead to their ultimate destruction?

The Spread of Communism in Europe

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The war and its aftermath have spread Russian and Communist rule over more than 650,000 square miles and more than 110,000,000 people.

The Communist sphere has been pushed to a line in eastern Europe from Stettin to Trieste—far beyond anything the czars of Russia's imperial days were able to reach.

Czechoslovakia is the latest country to fall into the Communist camp. She may not be the last, because the Kremlin has shown interest in Greece, Turkey, Italy, France, Finland and perhaps eastern Germany and Austria.

Upward of 195,000 square miles and 25,000,000 people were annexed to Russia during and immediately after the war. Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania were absorbed in 1940. Two-fifths of prewar Poland was taken, along with parts of Finland, Romania, Germany and Czechoslovakia—which lost mountainous Ruthenia.

The end of Germany and Japan accelerated the westward drive of Communist forces directed from Moscow and brought under Communist domination Yugoslavia, Albania, Poland, Bulgaria, Romania, Hungary and now Czechoslovakia. These countries represent an area of 447,573 square miles with a total of 85,903,861 people.

Yugoslavia became a Communist state soon after Nov. 1, 1944, when Yugoslav premier Ivan Subasic signed an agreement with Marshall Gen. Draja Mihailovic.

The original guerilla foe of the axis, was tried and executed.

Another Communist, Gen. Ever Hoxha, seized control in neighboring Albania. The U. S., Great Britain and Russia recognized his government on Nov. 10, 1945.

The Polish government was formed in Moscow in July, 1944, as the Polish committee of national liberation. On June 28, 1945, it was supplemented by some of the exiled leaders who had a wartime regime in London. The great powers generally recognized the government headed by President Boleslaw Bierut, a Communist.

The establishment of a Communist state in Bulgaria was a more gradual process. Georgi Dimitrov, an old time member of the Comintern, returned to Bulgaria with Russian occupation troops and became premier with the support of four parties called the fatherland front.

Communist emergence was similar in Romania. Petru Groza and a cabinet drawn from the Communist party and leftist ploughman's front was installed March 6, 1945. The Communists gradually pressured their way to power, crushing opponents on the way.

Hungary had semi-democratic forms of government until last May, when the Communists drove out Premier Ferenc Nagy in a coup. Other anti-Communists escaped into exile. The Communists tightened their control under Premier Lajos Dimnyes.

Czechoslovakia thus found herself virtually surrounded by Russian dominated area.

History Proves — Czechs Find Way Back — From Bondage

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—America only was matchless, a cry burst from every throat as the first vehicle entered the parade area, and as each car limped past the volume grew greater.

"It wasn't staccato like the yells of an American crowd. This sound had compounded in it sadness and exhilaration and pride—and hope, too. It sang in the ears like a strong wind pushing across tumultuous surf.

"Old men and women who have seen the birth and death of two world wars wept together. And young girls and children seeing them were moved, and wept, too, without knowing why.

The Czechs have always found a way to come back.

There are always men, great and small, who are certain that they can do the impossible.

Such a man is Eduard Benes, president of Czechoslovakia, who conceived the brilliant idea of looking both east and west simultaneously.

Czechoslovakia was to have a free economy while at the same time it permitted their own Communists to select the premier, to accelerate a Communist propaganda and to become what is called a majority parity, changing the freedom of western European economics into the slavery of Marxism.

The first sign that the Czechs had that they were not in control of their own affairs was when

THESE DAYS — Benes Got in Steamroller's Way

By George E. Sokolsky (King Feature Syndicate)

Jan Masaryk at the San Francisco conference served as a diplomatic valet to Molotov. That was the tip-off. Masaryk is not a Communist but he could work with them if it suited him. He is an opportunist.

The second sign was when Czechoslovakia wanted to join the nations of western Europe that were to meet to consider the Marshall plan. Russia told Czechoslovakia to stay away.

Benes at that point, could have appealed to the United Nations to judge between him and Stalin, between the right of a sovereign nation to form its own foreign policy, to determine its own economic policy, without interference from outside. Stalin did interfere in the internal affairs of Czechoslovakia and Benes took it.

He probably thought he had another trick up his sleeve. Maybe he thought that Masaryk had another trick up his sleeve. Maybe he thought he could outwit a steamroller that is not to be resisted by speeches.

Book Review

By JACK O'BRIEN

(The Patchwork Time by Robert Gibbons. Knopf, $5.)

Robert Gibbons' novel, "The Patchwork Time," is the story of Johnny Somers. And Johnny is a psychological mess. For one thing, he has an Oedipus complex. He doesn't love his mother, but he worries too much about her.

In conflict with this, is an even deeper devotion to his dead father, whom he confuses with the knight St. George in a fantastic kind of hero worship.

Johnny is naive, shy, miserably self-conscious, obsessed with the memories of childhood and taunted by a demon. He comes, a history-teaching stranger, into the alien cornfield that is Pineboro. But, more than anything else, Johnny is possessed by a "vast, retching emptiness." He is, at 21, still a virgin. This has become the most important aspect of Johnny's personality.

Most of the characters of Gibbons' book suffer from an equally basic directive force. There is one huge motivating source for the men, bitterly desperate, unhappy stream of their existence.

Bill Boone feels he was born to be a drunkard and a bum. Crow is an illegitimate. And "Blackie" is a woman. . . . a woman. But a woman defiled by her abyssmal knowledge of men. She says, "I am what I am, that's all that I am." That's enough.

The plot pattern of Gibbons' novel is rather insignificant, for all its melodrama. The characters make the situations.

Johnny wanders in miserably, self-hating confusion through the peripheral pattern of lives that finally engulfs him in Pineboro. "For Johnny Somers upwardness to man's estate was a snail-paced journey, with at times, no stars at all, and with, always, the goblin that everybody kept trying to get a look at."

And for Johnny, as for his friends, the experience itself is not so important as the frightening things that transpire in his mind. Even the long-awaited experience, which is to make him a

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

A Note of Weakness

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

There is an unbecoming cleverness in the American position on Palestine. How many midnight did the lamps burn, in how many officials' studies, to produce the dismal rationalization that the United Nations has the right to keep the peace in Palestine, but not the right to enforce partition?

It is not that the United States is against partition; heavens, no; it is just that it considers the world's hands to be tied by the United Nations charter.

Who asked the administration to do this lawyer's job for the other side? Why didn't it let some Arab legalist think up this point, if it is a point?

The clear implication is that the administration has reversed itself on partition. For it is a reversal to slip suddenly from the role of advocate into the role of prim, cool, constitutional scholar, unemotionally assaying a set of legalisms. The change in tone is a change in policy.

As for the legal point itself, that the security council has the right to keep the peace in Palestine, but not to enforce partition, that is not law, either.

It takes a certain arrogance to plunge into the general phrases in the charter, and come up briskly with the news that enforcement of partition in Palestine is expressly forbidden.

As for the American position that the security council would be doing something kind of dirty and illegal if it tried to enforce a "political settlement" instead of merely enforcing the peace, one searches for kind words in which to break the news to the administration that there aren't any settlements except political ones.

So long as men must live in Palestine, and work, and trade the fruits of their work, they will need rules, and the rules must be the product of a political settlement.

Or is Palestine to become the world's first anarchist state, a state without a government, when the British pull out in May?

One hopes that maybe the administration doesn't mean it, that maybe it feels partition will come along naturally, as the best solution, once an international police force arrives on the scene, even if only to "keep peace."

Perhaps the administration hopes to get at partition indirectly in this way, without complicating our relations with the Arabs. But there is a familiar note in the new stand we have taken, which makes hope ill.

It is the note of weakness, of weakness put on like a cloak, assumed like a mask; weakness eagerly sought and happily found.

We'd like to do more, but we can't! It isn't legal—isn't that the way the west talked when Ethiopia was in trouble, and Spain, and during Munich? Have we not seen hands wrung in the same manner before?

Council To Receive Bids, Give Contract For Swimming Pool

The contract for construction of Iowa City's swimming pool will probably be awarded by the city council tomorrow night, according to Alderman Frank Fryauf.

Bids submitted for construction of the $107,800 pool will be opened by the council at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon and will be acted upon at its meeting in the city hall council chambers at 7:30 p.m.

City officials recently began investigating the possibilities of borrowing pipe for the pool's drainage system after finding contractors reluctant to bid on the project because of a pipe scarcity.

Officials contacted thus far have revealed their "willingness to help in every way possible," according to Alderman Max Hawkins.

Construction will be held up until June if the city is unable to borrow the pipe. A Birmingham, Ala., firm has promised delivery of the pipe at that time.

A new streets commissioner may be appointed at the meeting, Fryauf said, to fill the vacancy left by the death of Charles Seemuth, commissioner for the past eight years, who died Friday.

Red Cross Solicitors Announced

Nardis of Dallas

Nardis of Dallas

you'll look wonderful
this

Nardis of Dallas does the contour suit—tapers and tailors it in Botany Marchan 100% virgin wool gabardine. New: the emphatically fitted jacket; the look of a basic costume complete without a blouse. It's the little, whittled suit silhouette. Yours in brown, grey, red, kelly, aqua, gold, blue, black, honey or beige. Sizes 10 to 20.

$59.75

the Gibson girl
blouse of the year

Sweet and demure as a girl can be—in this Nardis of Dallas white, tubable, chambray blouse. How wonderful you'll look with ruffles to edge your collar, your cuffs and to frame pearl buttons down your shirt front—all set off by row after row of pleated tucks. White, cinnamon, blue, pink, green. Sizes 10 to 16.

$8.95

who's looking pretty

You, dressed in your poets blouse with long pointed collar, French cuffed sleeves, pearl buttons and the little black tie. Dramatic spice for your long lined suits and full fashioned skirts. Nardis of Dallas tailors it in white rayon. 10-18 sizes.

$8.95

was anything ever more wonderful than

Polka dots

and here they are transformed into something special via the touch of a ruffle on the little round collar—repeated on the tight two-button cuffed sleeve; all above a sash tied, sweeping skirt. Junard of Dallas does it in beige, navy or grey rayon. Sizes 7 to 15.

$16.95

to mix
and match

These take up where winter's new look leaves off—the big collar, the tiny waist, the carved jacket that makes much of its pockets, all above a straight slim skirt. Handsome in Dan River's striped Riverool. Dark Grey, pearl grey, blue or brown. 10 to 18 sizes.

Matching Slacks 8.95

Nardis of Dallas

the go-everywhere cotton suit

For dancing, for dining... for delighting—cotton takes on a very new and very pleasing look, with its tiny waist flaring out into pretty tiers. Fashioned of washable striped seersucker, in green, blue or tan.

spring
strategy

Far-sighted Nardis, to give you the perfect suit for now, next month and on into summer! The tapered bolero jacket boasts a tabbed collar... wear it closed or open to frame a favored necklace. Abundantly-cut skirt beneath a wide midriff leather belt—carefully darted for perfect fit. Of crisp rayon gabardine in suntan, ivory, blue gray, aqua or red. Sizes 10 to 18.
