THE WEATHER TODAY

Partly cloudy today. Slightly warmer tomorrow, with light snow beginning in the southwest and spreading over remainder of state tomorrow night. High today, 20-26 degrees. Low tonight, 10-18 degrees. Yesterday's high was 27, low was 11 degrees

King-Sized Steaks . . . at 20 Cents a Pound

THIS FARM GIANT, a four-year-old shorthorn owned by Jim Bean, Beloit, Kan., caused a flurry of apprehension at the Kansas City stockyards yesterday when buyers questioned whether or not packing house hoists were heavy enough to handle the animal. The big steer, 6 feet 2 inches tall and weighing 2,170 pounds, was a foot taller than yardman Hab Whitney (right). It was sold, finally, for 20 cents a pound. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Splits Religion, Education Court Favors Atheist's Suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The supreme court ruled unconstitutional yesterday the use of public school systems to help any religious group spread its faith.

The decision upheld a protest by Mrs. Vashti McCollum, self-styled atheist wife of a University of Illinois professor, who complained that her eldest son, James Terry McCollum, 12, was "embarrassed" because he was the only child in his class not taking religious instruction. Illinois courts had denied her plea for an order prohibiting such teaching in the schools.

Religion and government, the decision said, "can best work to achieve their lofty aims if each is left free from the other within its respective sphere."

Justice Hugo Black, delivering the main opinion, held that under the facts shown, the state's compulsory education system "assists and is integrated with the program of religious instruction carried on by separate religious sects."

He said pupils legally required to go to school for secular education are released from some of that legal duty on condition that they attend religious classes.

In Champaign Mrs. McCollum said yesterday that the decision "safeguarded our school system from sectarian domination."

The Champaign school board council's statement said, "The decision is a severe blow to religion, which is not softened by Black's assurance that it is delivered without hostility."

"Religion, like anything else, may be killed with kindness and good intentions as well as by design."

A council on religious education—including representatives of the Jewish, Roman Catholic and Protestant faiths—sponsored the school classes.

Under an arrangement between the school board and the council, 30-minute classes were held once a week during school hours. No pupil was permitted to attend without written parental consent.

Steel Price Listings Barred From FTC

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the nation's leading steel companies held a legal wrestling match with the federal trade commission yesterday for possession of the steel producers' price lists.

FTC Counsel L. C. Paulson sought to examine the lists for possible evidence that the American Iron and Steel institute and 101 producers got together in a price-fixing "conspiracy."

But lawyers for Carnegie-Illinois and the Superior Steel corporations of Pittsburg, among others, insisted they be allowed to take the lists back home with them until they are admitted into evidence.

The legal struggle occurred before FTC Trial Examiner Frank Hier, who said he would rule today as to who gets the lists. Until he is keeping the lists in his own possession. He is presiding at a hearing of FTC price-fixing charges against the steel firms.

Runaway Girl Says She Loves Married Cabbie

BENTON HARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Pretty Gracie Mills, 14, who ran away from home in Chicago two months ago, yesterday professed undying love for a 31-year-old married taxicab driver.

"I love him and I want to marry him. I'll wait for him forever if necessary," she told newsmen.

The cab driver, Willis R. Barker, was held by police. An overseas air forces veteran, he is estranged from his wife.

Det. William Vosbaugh said he signed a statement admitting he lived with the little high school freshman for several weeks after they met by chance at a service station.

"I'm sorry I got him into trouble," Gracie lamented. "It wasn't his fault. He's a wonderful fellow."

Oleomargarine Tax Repeal Efforts Gain Support of Treasury

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the approval of the U.S. treasury, a drive got under way on Capitol Hill yesterday to end federal taxes on oleomargarine.

Rep. Rivers (D-S.C.) told the house agriculture committee that the 10 cents a pound tax on colored margarine, one-fourth cent on uncolored and other special levies "are chains around the necks of the people."

Rep. Poage (D-Tex.) asserted that the tax represents "an inexcusable piece of discrimination."

Bills by Rivers and Poage are included among the 18 proposals before the committee to eliminate the taxes.

Earlier, A. Lee Wiggins, under-secretary of the treasury, recommended repeal of the taxes, which have been on the statute books for decades.

Under sharp questioning by Rep. August H. Andresen (R-Minn.), ranking Republican on the committee, as to whether his views represented those of the administration, Wiggins replied:

"My statement has the clearance of the bureau of the budget, which has the approval of the administration, and it speaks for President Truman."

"It is the treasury department's view that the present oleomargarine taxes distort the competitive position of two domestic industries."

"They unnecessarily burden consumers far in excess of the amount paid in taxes."

Andresen, Rep. Murray (R-Wis.) and various other committee members from dairy states tossed in brisk comment.

Murray said the repeal drive jeopardizes the whole dairy industry. He referred to the cow as "the nearest thing to perpetual motion this world has ever seen" and asked:

"What would we do with the butterfat if we don't use it to make butter?"

Rivers said the margarine tax "is really a duty and a ransom exacted from the housewives and consumers of the nation for and on behalf of the butter industry."

A Dry Oasis?

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A contradiction will go to the polls, come primary election in April.

Among state referenda, is the problem facing voters in a Wauwasha county community: Whether the town of Oasis shall remain dry.

Charles G. Leedham, A3 Springfield, Iowa, and Jean Gallaher, A3, Appleton, Wis., last night filed the first petitions for candidacy for Student council posts as delegates-at-large.

Deadline for filing of petitions has been extended to 5 p.m. Thursday. Leedham was the first to file.

Submitted with his petition was a three-plank platform calling for: 1. Increased publicity for the Student council as "an instrument of self-government."

2. Machinery for submission and consideration of legitimate student complaints and suggestions.

3. A promise to be "readily available as an actual representative of the students."

The petition was signed by 25 persons favoring his candidacy. Leedham claimed in his petition platform that "the majority of students have been only vaguely aware of the existence and functions of the Student council."

"With a better knowledge of the council," he said, "they will be better able to use it effectively."

Will Run for a Full Term if Nominated, Truman Announces

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Truman announced yesterday in Washington that he will run for a full term in the White House if the Democrats nominate him.

He also made known that his civil rights stand is unchanged in spite of the southern Democratic revolt against it.

Democratic National Chairman J. Howard McGrath gave both announcements to newsmen after conferring with Mr. Truman at the White House.

McGrath said: "The President has authorized me to say that if he is nominated by the national Democratic convention he will accept and run."

This was the announcement reporters and others had tried for months to get from the President.

It blasted the hopes publicly voiced by some southern leaders that he would withdraw from the 1948 presidential race.

Mr. Truman has been bitterly assailed by these leaders for asking congress to pass federal laws against lynching, the poll tax requirement, job discrimination on racial grounds and other matters bearing on Negro-White relationships.

Will he withdraw or modify any of his recommendations in view of the Dixie outcry? McGrath gave Mr. Truman's answer:

"The President's position is unchanged since he delivered his message to congress, and I might say that in my view his position, as expressed in the message, is as old as the Constitution itself and as new as the 1944 Democratic platform."

McGrath and Gael Sullivan, the Democratic national committee's executive director, also talked with the President about the Palestine situation—reportedly a factor in the Democrats' loss of a Bronx congressional seat recently to a Henry A. Wallace supporter.

McGrath's report of the Palestine conversation:

"It affects the security of the nation and possibly of the world. The President will continue to handle the problem without consideration of its effect on politics."

First southern reaction to Mr. Truman's announcement that he would run came from Senator Johnston (D-S.C.), who said:

"I'm for General Marshall or General Eisenhower. I believe either can be elected hands down. As it stands, I don't see how Truman can possibly get the Solid South."

There was no discussion of the Wallace third party movement or of the President's participation in the campaign ahead, McGrath said, adding:

"My own feeling is that he is a pretty busy man in the job of being President."

MacArthur Gives Nod To Backers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

General MacArthur said in Tokyo yesterday he would accept the presidency "if called by the American people," but would not actively seek it.

In a special statement commenting upon Wisconsin petitions filed in his behalf, the supreme commander for the allied powers said:

"While it seems unnecessary for me to repeat that I do not actively seek or covet any office and have no plans for leaving my post in Japan, I can say and with due humility, that I would be recreant to all my concepts of good citizenship were I to shrink because of the hazards and responsibilities involved from accepting any public duty to which I might be called by the American people."

The 68-year-old general said he was "deeply grateful" for the "spontaneous display of friendly confidence" by those who filed his name in the Wisconsin primary next April 6.

In addition to the Wisconsin move in his behalf, Hearst newspapers have begun a "MacArthur for America" boom, seeking his nomination as Republican candidate for the presidency.

Until his public statement yesterday, General MacArthur had not committed himself in any way—refusing to say whether he would accept a nomination.

His announcement was regarded here as a go-ahead signal for the MacArthur campaign in the United States, which in the past has been given no direct encouragement from the general himself.

Some observers said it showed he has decided he has a good chance of obtaining the nomination even while remaining in Japan.

In the past he has avoided all direct comment, saying merely that he would remain in Japan "until my task is completed," or until called away "by extraordinary circumstances."

There was no indication in yesterday's terse announcement what factors finally prompted it. The growing importance of the United States' anti-Communist stand appeared to be one of them, however.

MacArthur has counted among his proudest occupation accomplishments the relatively unimportant political strength of Communists here.

In Madison, Wis., General MacArthur's statement was great news last night to his Wisconsin backers who have been boomer him as a "favorite son."

The general was born in Arkansas but his family roots are in Wisconsin and he calls Milwaukee his home town.

Russ Hit 'Europe Split'

Charge Power Plot By Western Nations

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia charged last night that the United States is leading a western power plot to split Europe and build up military might in Germany "with the purpose of aggression against the USSR."

A Soviet note to the United States, Britain and France charged that in the attempt to carry out the plot, the major western powers are trying deliberately to liquidate the four-power council of foreign ministers.

The note rejected a British reply to an original Soviet protest that the three power conference in London on Germany's future violated the Potsdam agreement. Russian authorities said the note was delivered Saturday to the governments of the western powers. It was made public yesterday at a news conference.

It accused the western allies of "paralyzing" the allied control council in Germany. It added that the British and Americans merged their zones in western Germany so they would not have to demilitarize the region "nor liquidate their military enterprises in Germany."

The Soviets said the United States had decided to:

1. "Split Europe into two camps."

2. "Include schismatic western Germany in the western bloc" with the purpose of "building up military potential in the Ruhr."

3. Turn "western Europe into a strategic base for American imperialism in Europe with the purpose of aggression against the USSR."

The note did not say what action the Russian government intended to take in view of its interpretation of current events.

The western powers wish to liquidate the council of foreign ministers, the note said, "in order to get rid of all constraints which might hinder the conduct of such a policy as the council of foreign ministers could not agree on."

Moreover, it said, Bizonia, the economically merged British and American zones, was created also "as preparation for putting into effect the so-called 'American plan' for Europe."

American Soldier Shot In Back by Russ Sentry

VIENNA (AP)—U. S. army authorities said yesterday that Pfc. Jack Grunden, 18, Portland, Ore., was shot in the back Sunday night after refusing to obey a Russian order to get off a sidewalk.

They described the incident as the "boldest act yet perpetrated against a member of the occupation forces in Vienna by a Russian soldier."

The shooting occurred in front of a Russian headquarters hotel in the international district. The American will recover but may lose his left arm, the provost marshal's office said.

Plan Speedup Of ERP Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate and house leaders will meet today in a new effort to speed the $5.3-billion European recovery program through congress.

The meeting was arranged late yesterday, after Secretary of State Marshall, known to be deeply concerned over Russia's next move in Europe, pleaded in person with the Republican leadership of the house to speed the aid legislation.

Chairman Eaton (R-NJ) of the house foreign affairs committee said the big question was whether his committee would reverse its decision to package ERP with aid to China, Greece and Turkey—all in the same bill.

The state department wants ERP adopted separately and quickly. Officials say it is badly needed to combat Communist efforts to win control of Italy in or after the April 18 election.

Eaton agreed that the "one package" idea might delay action on ERP. But he said his committee decided to lump the three programs into one bill because of strong opposition to "piecemeal" legislation.

Vandenberg is scheduled to attend today's speed-up conference, along with Eaton, House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.), House Republican Leader Halleck of Indiana and several other legislative figures.

Marshall conferred with House Speaker Martin behind closed doors in an effort to get favorable action on the senate bill by April 1.

But Martin told reporters later he doubted if the measure could get through until April 10 or shortly after.

Two U. S. Women Shot To Death Near Saigon

SAIGON, INDOCHINA (AP)—Two American women employed by the U. S. state department were shot to death near Saigon Sunday night. Their attackers were presumed to be anti-French guerrillas.

The women's jeep, found twisted and burned west of the Saigon airport, was flying an American flag.

Victims of the shooting were Mrs. Jeanne R. Skewes, 32, of Evanston, Ill., and Miss Lydia Ruth James, 30, of Hillsdale, Ind. They were the first American civilians killed in Indochina fighting since V-J day.

It was believed the women, who left home together about 5 p. m., were returning from a pleasure drive just at dusk when attacked.

The body of Mrs. Skewes, in the driver's seat, was badly burned. Miss James' body had several bullet wounds in the head. It was thrown clear of the jeep.

Russ Planes Attack Chennault Transport

SHANGHAI (AP)—Two P-39 fighter planes with Soviet markings attacked a Chennault commercial transport plane late yesterday while it was enroute from Mukden to Tsingtao, North China, the airline has reported.

Whiting Willauer of the airline staff said the Soviet fighter planes made five passes at the transport, firing each time. The transport, which was carrying passengers, was not hit.

Willauer said the transport's pilot, L. B. Buol of Stockton, Cal., an ex-marine flier, took pictures of the attacking planes. They were marked with red stars, Willauer said.

Scene of the attack was approximately 120 miles north of Tsingtao and 40 miles west of the Kwangtung Peninsula, over the Gulf of Chihli.

The private airline was organized by Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, retired American air commander in China during the war. It has been aiding in aerial evacuation of hundreds of persons from Mukden since the Manchurian city has been encircled by attacking Chinese Communists.

Willauer's report did not say whether pilots of the fighter planes were Russian or Chinese. The Chinese government frequently has charged Russia with providing arms for Chinese Communist forces.

Finland To Negotiate With Russ for Pact

HELSINKI (AP)—Finland decided yesterday to begin negotiations for a friendship and military pact with Russia—a step which may bind this northern nation to the Soviet bloc.

The decision climaxed two weeks of careful study of Soviet Prime Minister Stalin's request for such negotiations. The Finnish cabinet acted in a 90-minute session with President Juho Paasikivi.

Stalin had suggested that either Moscow or Helsinki be designated as the site for the talks.

A foreign office spokesman told a news conference that Paasikivi's reply to Stalin "might be sent to Moscow today." Its contents, however, were a closely guarded secret, at least until Helsinki knows that the answer has reached the Russian leader's hand.

CONSUL RESIGNS

HAMBURG, GERMANY (AP)—Col. Wyan Hagny, Czechoslovak consul general in Hamburg, has resigned because of differences with his country's Communist government.

Discrimination Bill Quashed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top-heavy house vote beat yesterday a proposal to withhold federal funds from states discriminating against Negroes.

But the members averted a record vote on the controversial anti-discrimination amendment, which goes well beyond President Truman's civil rights program.

The test was on an amendment to the $1,017,851,000 appropriation bill financing the labor department, the federal security agency and several other agencies for the fiscal year 1949.

The amendment was offered by Rep. Marcantonio (Am. Lab.-N. Y.). It was defeated by a standing vote of 119 to 40.

Then the house by voice vote passed the bill without change and sent it to the senate.

Some Republicans said before the measure came up that they didn't want to get this far into the civil rights fight between President Truman and southern Democratic leaders.

One GOP member said his party was glad to see the Democrats divided. But if the Republicans got behind yesterday's measure, he said, the south might get madder at them than it is at the President.

UMT Hearings by Senate Unit Slated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators pushed the go-ahead button yesterday for public hearings on a universal military training system.

The cost, it was estimated, would be about $1.541-billion the first year and $4.281-billion in 1952, the year of peak expense.

House leaders sat tight on a similar measure within that body's rules committee. Unless they change their mind, there seems little chance of any final congress action on the issue in this session.

Despite this prospect, Secretary of Defense Forrestal told reporters that the senate armed service committee's unanimous order for early hearings represents real progress on a project fully backed by the nation's military leaders.

Chairman Gurney (R-SD) said Forrestal and the top men of the army, navy and air force had told the committee in a closed session that UMT is "not only necessary but mandatory."

Two File for Student Council

Give Platforms With Petitions

Charles G. Leedham, A3 Springfield, Iowa, and Jean Gallaher, A3, Appleton, Wis., last night filed the first petitions for candidacy for Student council posts as delegates-at-large.

Deadline for filing of petitions has been extended to 5 p.m. Thursday. Leedham was the first to file.

Submitted with his petition was a three-plank platform calling for: 1. Increased publicity for the Student council as "an instrument of self-government."

2. Machinery for submission and consideration of legitimate student complaints and suggestions.

3. A promise to be "readily available as an actual representative of the students."

The petition was signed by 25 persons favoring his candidacy. Leedham claimed in his petition platform that "the majority of students have been only vaguely aware of the existence and functions of the Student council."

"With a better knowledge of the council," he said, "they will be better able to use it effectively."

Referring to his second plank concerning machinery to handle student complaints, Leedham maintained that in the past students have not known how to reach the council and have been unable to air their opinions.

Generalizing his claim for the council seat, he said he would work with and for the student body in all matters concerning them.

Without promising specific benefits in his program, Leedham said he would make himself and the council readily available to the students.

Leedham lives at 114 E. Market street.

In Miss Gallaher's platform, she pledged herself to work for:

1. A more comprehensive advisory system handled by a full-time paid staff.

2. The adoption of the Student Organization assembly and coordination of the SOA with the Student council.

3. A more representative Student council.

4. A more authoritative Student council.

5. Increased cooperation between students and faculty through student-faculty committees.

Twenty-eight students endorsed Miss Gallaher's candidacy.

To secure a more representative Student council, Miss Gallaher said, "I would favor a student committee system whose chairmen would act as ex-officio members of the Student council."

More open forums, all-campus polls and publicity for the Student council would help it to become more representative, she said.

Increased backing from the student body as well as the faculty and administration is necessary for a more authoritative Student council, Miss Gallaher pointed out.

Miss Gallaher, who is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, emphasized that she is "not running on any ticket but my own. I definitely do not believe in coalitions." She is a speech major.

Petitions for candidacy for delegates-at-large to the Student council will be accepted at the office of student affairs up to 5 p.m. Thursday. According to Janet Gutz of the Student council's central elections committee, the deadline has been extended to allow more students time to file.

Requirements for candidacy are a 2.0 grade average, completion of two semesters in the university and filing a petition with attached platform signed by 25 students, she said.

Delegates-at-large, two men and two women, will be elected in the all-campus elections to be held March 23. An election-eve caucus will name the candidates eligible.

Davenport Drops Iowa City From Tourney

Triumph, 60-44, Behind The 25-Point Splurge of Stange

McKinley Overcomes Big Roosevelt Lead To Advance Into Opposite Sub-State Slot

By AL SCHMAHL
Assistant Sports Editor
Jim Stange, "Skip" Greene and company took a big step toward retaining their state championship last night when they nipped Iowa City's bid 60-44.

The game had been billed as a wide-open affair, and for 21 minutes it was just that. Then the Blue Devils showed too much finesse and won going away.

The lanky Stange monopolized the Davenport scoring effort as he poured in 25 points. Team balance and smooth passing did the rest.

The Hawklet's candidate for all-state honors, Gene Hettrick, found himself hemmed in by two or three of the Imps every time he got the ball, but he still managed to collect 17 counters. The real surprise of the game was the play of Sophomore Bill Fenton, who scored 10 points and played a very commendable floor game. Bob Beals annexed nine points and played his usual stellar defensive game.

The Hawklets took an early lead in the game, but by the end of the first quarter the Imps held a 12-8 advantage. The Blue Devils started the second period with a scoring orgy and soon held a 19-12 edge. Then the Hawklets caught fire and cut the margin to 25-24, only to see Bill Stenger hit a short push shot shortly before the half ended.

Iowa City took the play away from the defending champions for the first five minutes of the second half and tied up the game at 32-32. But the Blue Devils, seeing their crown slipping away, cut loose with a tremendous offensive display and finished the period with a 44-32 advantage.

In the last quarter the Hawklets were forced to pull their defense out to pick up the Blue Devils and Davenport immediately took advantage of the spread in the Iowa City defense to score several easy lay ups. By the final gun both coaches had substituted freely, with the Coach Paul Moon's crew winning with surprising ease.

In the first game of the evening, McKinley of Cedar Rapids came from behind to beat its crosstown rival, Roosevelt, 39-34.

The game was poorly played with both teams displaying loose passing. Roosevelt held an 18-16 halftime advantage and by the end of the third quarter the Rough Riders raised the margin to 30-23. But the last period was all McKinley's.

The two winners will meet in the fieldhouse Wednesday night, with that winner advancing to the state tourney here next week.

'Potsy' Takes Over

LINCOLN, NEB. (AP)—George "Potsy" Clark took over as new head football coach at the University of Nebraska yesterday and promptly walked into additional duties as acting director of athletics.

SHOWING GRIM DETERMINATION, Bob Diehl (6) of Iowa City tries to get loose for a shot as Davenport's Guard Don Gruenwald (12) sprawls on all fours. Bill Reichardt (17) watches the play from the rear. The Blue Devils triumphed, 60-44, last night in the fieldhouse to advance to the finals of the sub-state tournament.

Wier 'Most Valuable'

Murray Wier, Iowa's star forward, has received another award. It was announced Sunday by the Chicago Tribune that he had been selected Iowa's "most valuable" player for the 1948 basketball season.

This selection also makes Wier eligible for the Tribune's award as the "most valuable" player in the Western conference. Wier received 16 of the 17 votes cast by his teammates in the squad election. It is the second time he has received the honor from his teammates during his four years of competition for Iowa.

Taking Time Out

With Buck Turnbull
Can Davenport Repeat Again?

Will it be Davenport again? Can the Imps repeat their feat of last year and come through with the state high school basketball title?

Last night the Blue Devils from the banks of the Mississippi river looked like they have every intention of making history repeat—not twice in history, however, but two years in a row.

In defeating Iowa City, 60-44, on the fieldhouse floor, the Davenport quintet showed all the marks of a championship team. The Devils had poise in the clutch, excellent ball-handling and scoring plus a tight zone defense.

Last night the Imps defied the loss of their star forward, Tommy Stenger, who was in bed with a very bad sore throat, and roared over the Hawklets with a blistering attack in the last half.

And to boot, Davenport never looked like they had a player of Stenger's caliber out of the lineup. The slack was taken up by two capable reserves, Hadaway and Gruenwald, who appeared to be experienced starters.

Probably the chief attribute to Davenport's fine play was its fast-moving shifting zone defense, which kept high-scoring Gene Hettrick of the Hawklets bottled up.

It's hard to feature a team favored to win the state title two years in a row and then having the club do it. But this Davenport outfit will be hard to beat with the City high victory in its wake.

Olympic Tank Hopefuls Here

The first major test for aspirants to American Olympic swimming berths will be the Big Nine championships to be held in Iowa's fieldhouse pool Thursday through Saturday.

Perhaps 30 of the foremost bidders for international recognition, following final tryouts in Detroit in July, will be in action in the Iowa chlorine.

Ohio State, defending titlist, may well number nine or more hopefuls, including four divers, while Michigan, chief threat to wrest the league crown from the Buckeyes, could sport an equal number of contenders for the elite squad.

From Iowa Wally Ris, Erv Straub, Duane Draves, Dick Maine and Kenny Marsh have all got ankles in the Olympic door sill. Minnesota will send Sprinter

Tank Tickets on Sale

Many people have been wondering about purchasing tickets for the Big Nine swimming meet here in the Iowa pool. The meet begins Thursday night and continues through Saturday night.

Tickets are now being sold in the fieldhouse for four of the sessions—Friday afternoon, Friday night, Saturday afternoon and Saturday night. The afternoon events will cost 60 cents per ticket, while the evening session duets will sell for $1.50.

Five final events will be held on Friday night and five more will be held the next evening. Friday will see winners crowned in the 50-yard free style, 150-yard back stroke, 220-yard free style, low board (1 meter) diving and the 300-yard medley relay.

Saturday evening the meet will be completed with the 100-yard free style, 200-yard breast stroke, 440-yard free style, high board (3 meters) diving and the 400-yard free style relay.

One other event, the 1,500-meter free style, is scheduled for Thursday night. This is the only competition for the opening evening.

The basketball season may be over for quite a few schools, but Murray Wier, Iowa spark-plug and record-breaker, has planned quite an extensive schedule for himself for the rest of March and early April.

Wier and Jack Spencer, Iowa's basketball captain for 1948, will compete in the state American Legion tournament in Muscatine, beginning March 16. The duo will play with the Ina Mae's of Muscatine team, the defending state champs.

Four members of the Iowa State Teachers college cage team, Walt Koehn, who was here at Iowa as a freshman last year, Norm Jespersen, Charley Rieke and Fred Havermann, will also per-

Michigan Meets Holy Cross in NCAA

W. Kentucky Seeded First in NIT Tourney

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (AP)—Western Kentucky State's veteran five yesterday was top-seeded for the National Invitation basketball tourney as pairings were announced for the Madison Square garden meet and the eastern NCAA championships.

The Hilltoppers, with a stunning 26-1 record, were surprise choices for the first ranking position. New York U. (20-1) was seeded second with North Carolina State (29-2) third and St. Louis (21-3) fourth.

The other four teams in the N. I. T. are LaSalle of Philadelphia (19-3), Bowling Green of Ohio (27-5), Texas (19-4) and DePaul (21-6).

In the eastern NCAA eliminations, Columbia's defending Ivy league champions (19-1) will face Kentucky's southeastern kings (31-2) in the March 18 lid-fitter. Michigan's Big Nine titlists (15-5) will clash with Holy Cross (22-3), the defending NCAA champions, in the second tilt.

The eastern finals of this meet, also held in the garden, will be played March 20. The survivor then will tangle with the western NCAA champion in the garden March 23.

Asa Bushnell, chairman of the N. I. T.'s selection committee, told metropolitan basketball writers the teams were seeded on the basis of their records and other factors, including the caliber of their opposition.

Western Kentucky will open the tourney against LaSalle this Thursday in the 8 p. m. (EST) curtain-raiser. The second game that night (about 9:45 p. m.) will match St. Louis and Bowling Green.

In the second set of quarter-finals Saturday, NYU will face Texas at 8 p. m. and N. C. State will oppose DePaul in the wind-up.

The semi-finals of the tourney will be held March 15 and the finals March 17.

For the tourney itself, an early betting line had NYU 3-1, Western Kentucky and St. Louis 4-1 each, DePaul 5-1, N. C. State 8-1, Bowling Green and Texas 10-1 each, and LaSalle 20-1.

Meanwhile, the western NCAA teams still were undetermined. After one of the longest campaigns on record, playoffs still are necessary to fill the four berths.

Cubs Rap Sox Again

PASADENA, CALIF. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs beat the White Sox, 9-6, for the third successive time yesterday in exhibition baseball.

The Cubs pelted 14 hits off four Sox hurlers. Clarence Maddern, Al Walker and Henry Schenz led the way with homers.

Class B Sub-State Meet Opens Tonight

West Chester makes a bid for its second state tournament berth in two years tonight. It meets at Springville at 8:45 p. m. in the City high gym in the second game of a sub-state double header. The first game begins at 7:30.

Conesville plays Mechanicsville in the opener of the twin bill. Conesville won its district playoff against favored Wayland, while Mechanicsville captured its slot by downing Miles.

West Chester moved into the sub-state the hard way, overcoming a six-point Wellman lead to triumph in the district semi-finals. Then it sid by North English in the finals, 29-25.

Springville defeated Alburnett to reach the Class B sub-state tournament.

Hawkeye Rifle Team Faces Badgers Saturday

The University rifle team lost to the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis Saturday 1866 to 1844 in the fourth Western Conference postal league match of the season.

With a record of three won and two lost, the team faces Wisconsin at the local fieldhouse range this Saturday.

Scores made at Minneapolis were William W. Voelckers, 375; W. H. Olson, 372; Charles Rogler, 369; Hazen E. Moore, 366 and J. R. Taylor, 362.

Two Browns Holdout

SAN BERNARDINO, CALIF. (AP)—Only two players remained on the St. Louis Browns' holdout list yesterday following the signing of Jerry Priddy, Eddie Pellagrini and George Metkovich last night.

Baltimore Dean To Address Medical, Dental Graduates

Commencement exercises for 57 medical and 27 dental candidates will be held Saturday at 10 o'clock, in the main lounge of the Iowa Union.

Dean J. Ben Robinson, Baltimore college of dental surgery, Baltimore, will be the principal speaker. University Pres. Virgil M. Hancher will read the president's charge to the candidates.

During the exercises, a $50 prize will be awarded by Nu Sigma Nu, medical fraternity, to the senior medical student with the most outstanding record during his four-year course. The annual scholarship prize is awarded as a memorial to the late Ewen M. MacEwen, dean of SU's college of medicine from 1935 until his death in 1947.

Following the ceremonies, a reception for both medical and dental candidates will be held in the Union lounge.

This will be the last commencement to be held as a result of the accelerated wartime program. Medical and dental degrees in the future will be presented at regular commencement exercises.

Candidates for Iowa for the doctor of medicine degree are Glen E. Neilsen, Algona; Robert D. Dempewolf, Bellevue; Richard A. Eckberg, and Kenneth E. Gaddler, both of Boone, Richard T. Day, Brighton.

Texan Hunts Dirt, Gets Iowa Sample

Iowa is known for its soil the world over and now a Texan wants a sample of it.

Robert L. Gage, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, recently received a request for a sample of Iowa "dirt" from Joan Haggett, a high school student in Pampa, Texas.

A general science student, she is completing her semester project "by getting some dirt from every state in the union."

"I sure would appreciate it if you would send me a sample," she wrote.

Reluctant to dig up any frozen dirt but eager to please Miss Haggett, Gage borrowed three or four pounds of "common Iowa dirt" from Aldous's flower shop and sent it to the Texan.

Schedule Intramural Women's Swimming Meet For March 18

An intramural swimming meet for university women will be held March 18 at 7:15 p.m. in the women's gymnasium pool.

Housing units must have at least five girls entering to qualify in the meet. Entry blanks, which have been distributed, should be filled out by the intramural chairman of each house and placed in the intramurals box in the office at the gymnasium before 5 o'clock, March 15.

Each participant must be rated for classification to be eligible. The classifications are beginners, intermediate and advanced.

The remaining classification periods are tonight at 7:30 and March 13 at 10:30 a.m. The swimming officiating class is classifying the swimmers and organizing the meet.

"All events will be conducted according to rules and regulations listed in the Official Aquatics Guide for Women," said Frances Falck, A4, Decorah, chairman of the intramural program.

Only TWO Coats--Not Three--When You Paint With

COOK'S PAINTS

First Use SUPERWHITE PRIMER

Finish with COOK'S HOUSE PAINT

COOK'S Amazing Discovery

This new primer adheres to new wood and properly prepared old wood just like the paint sticks to the metal of your car. It seals—doesn't soak in and provides a better, longer-wearing foundation for the finish coat. It gives you the paint value of a primer and undercoat—in just one coat!

The Coat for the Weather

Cook's House Paint gives you a longer lasting finish coat. It is made of the finest modern pigments and specially refined linseed oil. It weathers at a controlled rate. It stays bright longer. You'll be amazed at how much you save with Cook's Famous 2-Coat House Painting System.

Controlled Penetration Makes This Difference

Equal amounts of ordinary paint (reduced for priming) and Cook's Superwhite Primer were dropped on a test panel. Look at the results!

Ordinary Paint

Note the large amount of oil that is absorbed by the surface. Where this happens, there is not enough oil left in the film to bind the pigment particles of the paint together.

Cook's Superwhite Primer

Here the oil remains in the paint film to bind the pigment particles tightly together. You get paint value of 2 coats—a primer and undercoat—in one coat of Superwhite Primer.

Women Voters Ask Delay of Tax Reduction

The local League of Women Voters yesterday recommended "no tax reduction" until "inflationary pressure" has passed.

The action came as members of the league at their regular monthly luncheon meeting in the First English Lutheran church reviewed and proposed changes to the national league's suggested agenda for 1948-50.

Changes in the agenda recommended by the league will be presented by the group's two delegates to the national league convention in Grand Rapids, Mich., April 26-30.

On other domestic financial issues, the local league voted to "revamp" a proposal that "government expenditures be cut to essentials and the federal debt reduced."

"Essentials" as outlined in the proposal excluded housing and conservative programs. Members of the league felt such programs are essential and are compatible with reduction of the federal debt, if taxes are maintained at present levels.

League members favored allocation and price control of critical basic commodities, but were not sure whether the controls should be at the source or at the consumer level. They voted to consolidate the proposal with others on rent control and restoration of consumer credit controls.

On international issues, the group disagreed with the national league's statement that "political exigencies" required U.S. foreign-aid actions outside the United Nations.

Members voted to suggest rewording of the statement so that extra-UN actions such as aid to Greece and the European Recovery Program "will not be set up as a principle to which the league subscribes."

Members also voted to recommend that a proposal on civil liberties passed by the group in October be included in the national agenda.

The resolution urges "strong, active participation in preserving civil liberties to all persons with continuous alertness to prevent both major and minor infringements."

Music Students To Hold Recital Today

Music students will appear in the 23rd recital of the 1947-48 series this afternoon at 4:10 in the north music hall, Prof. Philip G. Clapp announced yesterday.

Vocal and instrumental soloists, a brass sextet and a string quintet will present a program of eight selections.

The program will include:

- Bois epais Lully
 - John Tilgner, bass
 - Romance, op. 41 Brun
 - Katherine Fulkerson, flute
 - A May-day carol Deems Taylor
 - James Amo, tenor
 - Ritorna vincitor (Aida) Verdi
 - Shirley Remer, soprano
 - Concerto in F minor, op. 73 Von Weber
 - Charles Keislar, clarinet
 - In festive mood Carl Busch
 - John Beer, John Driggs, trumpets; Imogene Newcomer, horn; Tom Richards, trombone; Richard Allen, baritone; Ralph Drollinger, tuba.
 - Sonata in D major Haydn
 - Leanne Irwin, piano
 - Quintet in C major, op. 29 Beethoven
 - Quintet Anderson, Mary Franz, violins; Ann Mottelson, Kenneth Klaus, violas; Howard Lynch, cello.
- The recital will be open to the public.

Husband, Wife Open Iowa City Law Office

Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Borchart, recent graduates of the University of Iowa college of law, yesterday announced the opening of law offices in Iowa City.

Believed to be the only couple ever to be graduated at the same time from the college of law, they will be associated with Atty. Arthur O. Leff. They have offices in the Iowa State Bank and Trust Co. building.

Kuhn Reports on SUI Housing Conditions

A report on faculty housing conditions at the university was presented to a meeting of the American Association of University Professors last night by Prof. Manfred Kuhn of the department of sociology.

The survey, conducted by a committee headed by Kuhn, will not be published until it is reviewed by Pres. Virgil M. Haneher.

A draft of a new constitution for the group was also considered.

UWA To Sponsor Job Clinic March 15, 16

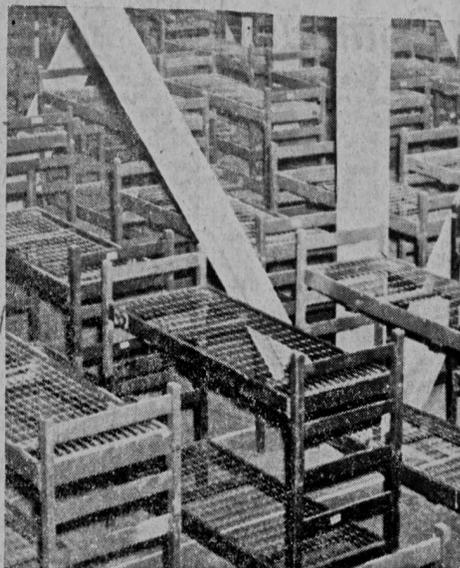

The UWA job clinic will be held March 15 and 16 at 4:30 p.m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol, Lavonne Huisenga, chairman, announced yesterday.

E.L. Marietta of the college of commerce will discuss the writing of effective application letters on Monday's program. Tuesday, Prof. Walter L. Daykin, of the college of commerce, will talk on "The Personal Interview."

Students will be able to ask questions in a discussion period after each talk.

Purpose of the clinic is to acquaint students in all fields of study with techniques of job seeking, Miss Huisenga said.

Visitors To Sleep in Fieldhouse

THESE PERFECT ROWS of double-deck army cots in the fieldhouse will probably lose their symmetry next week after an "attack" by about 600 high school basketball players. The cots will accommodate members of non-participating high school basketball teams who will visit SUI to watch the 1948 state high school basketball finals to be held at the fieldhouse Mar. 17-20. Age of Progress, Dolls Burp Now

NEW YORK (AP) — The great-granddaughter of the old rag doll was presented yesterday to childhood society.

She burps.

That, says her inventor, the Eugenia Doll company, is her chief qualification as a child's companion.

Sound engineers probed her interior and endowed her with a genuine-sounding burp when she is laid across the shoulder and her back pressed.

It's the latest achievement in the effort to meet children's insatiable desire for completely lifelike dolls, a company spokesman said.

The burping doll's mother was a drinking-wetting doll and her grandmother a crying doll. Her great-grandmother, bless her memory, was the old rag doll who was dearly loved, too.

Thompson Takes Trip

Prof. C. Woody Thompson, director of SUI's business research bureau, left yesterday to visit business research bureaus at the University of Texas, Austin, and the University of Kansas, Lawrence.

Two SUI Students Win St. Louis Trip For Top Ad Work

Two university students will spend a week in St. Louis, March 15-19, as guests of the Advertising club of St. Louis. The students, Loy M. Booton, Des Moines, and Leora Zahorik, Cedar Rapids, were selected as the outstanding man and woman advertising students at SUI.

They will be accompanied by Prof. Philip Burton of the advertising journalism and commerce department.

Students from five other colleges will take part in the week's program. These include two students each from Washington university, St. Louis university, the University of Missouri, the University of Illinois and the University of Kansas.

Purpose of the trip is to acquaint the students with the advertising facilities of St. Louis and to reward them for their work in the field of student advertising.

Booton received the L. R. Fairall advertising award for 1948 last month. The $375 award was created by L. R. Fairall, president of Fairall and Co., a Des Moines advertising firm. It is given each year to the university student in the state showing the most promise in the advertising field. Booton is president of Alpha

Cedar Rapids' Man Fined $102.50 for Stealing Student's Coat

Virgil Wayne Darling, Cedar Rapids, charged with petty larceny, was fined $102.50, with $50 suspended, by Police Judge Emil G. Trott in police court yesterday.

Darling was returned from Cedar Rapids Saturday by Deputy Sheriff Marold Gaspey to face charges.

The complaint was filed against Darling by Penfield Mower, 42, Rockford, Ill. He reported to police that a sport coat, advertised for sale, had been taken from his room in the Quadrangle by a man giving his name as Bill Thomson, 815-11 Burch, Cedar Rapids, who said he would send him the money later.

When Mower did not receive payment for the coat he reported it to the police.

Cedar Rapids authorities investigated and were unable to find either Thomson or the address.

Further investigation revealed that Thomson was actually Virgil Wayne Darling, who was already serving a 30-day sentence in the Linn county jail for stealing a purse.

Delta Sigma, men's advertising fraternity, and is employed in the display department of the Press-Citizen.

Miss Zahorik is president of Gamma Alpha Chi, women's advertising fraternity.

SUI Grad Describes

Life in German Town

"Maybe we are sticking our necks in the sand (or meat grinder if you prefer)," wrote John Charlson, former graduate student from Dows, Iowa, now teaching in an American high school in Heidelberg, "but there seems to be a great deal more talk about the threat of Russia in the states than over here."

Charlson left here last summer to take the job in Germany. In his recent letter to Arthur Youmans, research assistant in the physics department, he continued: "Of course, if Russia really wanted to take over all of Germany, it shouldn't require more than 72 hours. We haven't the full-strength division over here."

"The idea I get now is the Germans don't like either Americans or Russians, but prefer the Americans. Several people have asked me why we didn't chase the Russians out of Germany while we were at it and take over by ourselves."

Prayer Being Ruled

"I actually think the Germans would have preferred that to the present situation. They seem, as my friend, Herr Doctor Professor Karl Friedrich Bosch (and kindly don't leave anything out) said, to prefer being ruled to ruling themselves. He is writing a book about the German mentality, with copious references to Nietzsche, Kant, Spinoza and a few other philosophers."

Five months in Germany has made the German people more of an enigma to Charlson, he commented. "It's darn hard to find a former Nazi to talk to," he wrote. "The Nazis all seem to have disappeared with the end of the war. Ranging from university professors down through students to cleaning maids, the Germans sing the same story. They didn't know what Hitler represented until it was too late."

"One young fellow about 24 years old and a student at the University of Heidelberg admits he was a Nazi in thought at the start of the war. He was in the Luftwaffe and figured everything was O.K. until they went into Russia.

Questioned War's Progress

"Then he began to wonder if that wasn't stretching 'Lebensraum' a little far—and perhaps the ability of the German army and air force as well. But he didn't figure the war lost until the U.S. managed to get its men over to England and start bombing."

Heidelberg is practically the only major city not devastated, Charlson observed. "The people haven't enough strength or ambition to even clear up the rubble," his letter continued. "Luckily for them this has not been too severe a winter. There hasn't been as much freezing to death as there was last winter, which was the worst in years."

"Food, naturally, is the most critical item, and if it weren't for the black market there would be many persons starving to death. Food is rationed, but its unavailability keep most of the people on a starvation diet, but they supplement it by going out into the country and bartering with the farmers."

"Cigarettes are still king here. One carton will bring, I believe, about 750 marks, which are legally worth $75. The average monthly wage of a working person is around 150 marks, I think, so you can see what inflation means."

"In other words, two tickets for eight symphony concerts here in Heidelberg set me back the equivalent of a little over one pack of Luckies. That's if one black market, and most people do."

On the difficulties of teaching science to American youngsters in Germany, Charlson wrote, "The worst of it is that lab equipment is practically nil, amazing as that may seem for this scientific country. It's a matter of allocation.

SUI Plans 'Team Hotel'

The married student housing office is opening a 600-bed hotel on the third floor of the university fieldhouse—rate: $1 per night.

Unless you belong to a high school basketball team, however, don't bother trying to get a reservation.

The "hotel" will accommodate only members of non-participating basketball teams who will be here from March 16-21 to watch the 1948 state high school basketball finals.

J. Robert Cotter, manager of student housing, said the visitors will be served by a 24-hour-a-day information, bedding and locker service.

Cotter said he was also working on plans to entertain the high school basketballers with guided tours, free movies and use of fieldhouse athletic facilities.

Winners Announced In Law Arguments

Winners in last week's freshman law arguments were announced yesterday by Dean Mason Ladd of the college of law.

The arguments will continue through Friday of this week at 7:30 p.m. in the courtroom and room 209 of the law building.

First place winners last week were J.R. Byers, L. Hinkle, C.A. Kintzinger, J.C. Merriman, W.J. Wolf, Dean Wallace, A.C. Smith and G.R. Caldwell.

Pool Bid Rejected By Council; Vote To Accept Bridge Offers

By RAY HENRY

The city council last night voted to accept bids on the Benton Street bridge and rejected W. H. Wildman's bid on the municipal swimming pool.

At a meeting in the council chambers, the group set 2 p. m. April 10 for opening the bridge bids. A public hearing on the bids will be held at 7:30 p. m. the same evening in the council chambers.

Before setting the date for accepting bids and for the public hearing, the council received and placed on file a resolution from the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce asking postponement of the bridge construction.

The resolution said the board of directors of the chamber was in full accord with the council that there is a need for a bridge over Iowa river.

But, they said, it would be to the best interest of Iowa City that the contracts for the bridge not be let until results of a traffic survey taken last spring by the Iowa Highway commission is made public.

Report Available
We "further believe that such report will be available within 90 days time and that it will show the need for the logical location of the proposed bridge."

Attached to the chamber's resolution was a letter from the highway commission addressed to Chamber of Commerce Secretary Robert Gage.

The letter outlined what the survey would show. In particular reference to the bridge it said: "In determination of routings for the major traffic movements, we will obtain the number and locations of river crossings required to serve efficiently the traffic into, through and within the city area."

The letter was dated Feb. 6, and estimated preliminary results of the survey would be made available about March 27.

Alderman Max Hawkins said the council would give full consideration to the report when the results were known.

The council approved plans, specifications and cost estimates on the $210,000 structure Feb. 24.

Reject Pool Bid
The council also voted to reject the only bid submitted March 1 by W. H. Wildman, Iowa City contractor, on the municipal swimming pool. The bid was for $139,188 or $30,688 more than the engineer's cost estimate.

This action will necessitate advertising for new bids, holding a public hearing on any plan changes and a public hearing on the bids.

The council directed Ned L. Ashton to draw new plans and change specifications to scale construction costs downward to within the $112,500 voted by Iowa Citizens in a bond issue election.

Hawkins and Alderman James Callahan said they planned to contact interested persons for solicitation of additional funds to supplement the bond issue.

Rejection of the bid came after City Solicitor Ed Lucas advised the council that the city doesn't have the power to enter into contract by private negotiations after changing the plans and specifications.

Hoped To Cut Costs

This action was postponed at the bid public hearing March 1, so that the legality of changing specifications to shave costs to within the engineer's estimate could be checked. State law doesn't allow the council to accept bids more than 10% above the engineer's figure.

In checking the legality, the council hoped they would find certain specifications changeable. This would mean they could scale down the costs, accept Wildman's low construction costs and thereby speed up construction of the pool.

Previous to the rejection the council, Pool Engineer Ned L. Ashton and Wildman discussed cost cuts.

Wildman stated that building the bathhouse of a cheaper material than planned, elimination of two outside toilets, exclusion of the spectator walk and changing the filter system would cut costs to $117,329. This would still be well over Ashton's $107,800 estimated cost.

Ashton said the pool could still be built for some use this summer if construction could be started immediately after new bids are let.

He did not estimate how long it would take him to change the plans. Therefore, it is not known when new bids will be asked.

1660 Sign Petition, Protest New Rates

A petition bearing 1660 signatures in opposition to the recently announced dormitory rate increases will be accompanied by a letter explaining student protests when it is sent to the state board of education tomorrow.

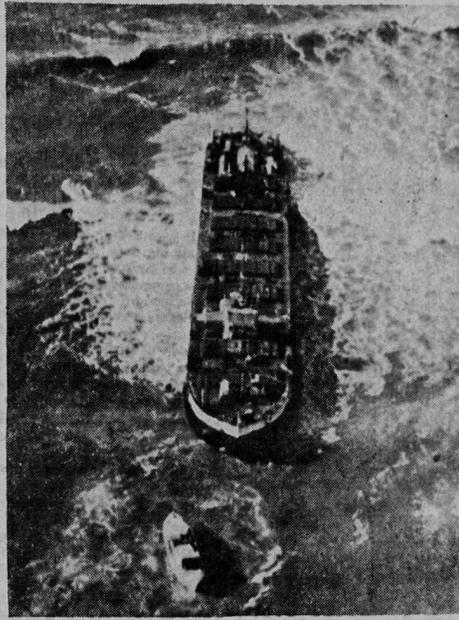

The petition was originated by the Hillcrest council to ask for a cost accountant to examine dormitory system books for determination of possible inefficiency. At a meeting of the council last night it was agreed to invite representatives from other dormitories to help frame the letter outlining student protests.

The council appointed a committee to meet with other units tonight at 7 o'clock to draw up the letter of explanation. Members of the committee are Paul Scheinost, Creighton, Neb., chairman, Don James, Columbus Junction, and Jack Elgin, Centerville.

The petition has been generally circulated throughout the dormitory system.

The council appointed Calvin Shrader, Louisville, Ky., as housing committee chairman to succeed Mort Katz, West Bend, who resigned.

Wanda Willtrout Asks Separate Maintenance

Wanda E. Willtrout, Lone Tree, filed a petition for a decree of separate maintenance from Lester P. Willtrout in the Johnson county district court yesterday.

Judge James P. Gaffney granted an injunction restraining Willtrout from coming on the premises in Lone Tree, as Mrs. Willtrout asked in her petition.

Mrs. Willtrout asked custody of their child and $100 support. She charged cruel and inhuman treatment.

The couple was married in Bethany, Mo., Dec. 9, 1943.

Edward F. Rate is representing Mrs. Willtrout.

Ellis, Sasina Freed On $1,000 Bonds, City Drops Charge

Robert E. Ellis, 917 Maiden lane, and Otto Sasina, route 1, both charged with assault, waived their cases to the grand jury in police court yesterday, and were freed on $1,000 bonds.

Claude Stanfield, also of route 1, charged with interfering with an officer in performance of duty, was fined by Police Judge Emil G. Trott. Of the $27.50 fine, $20 was suspended.

The three men were involved in a fight which occurred last Friday night in Ye Cozy Tavern, 119 S. Clinton street, in which Police Officer Mike Moore received minor injuries.

Prior to the state assault charges filed against Ellis and Sasina, Ellis was charged by the city with interfering with an officer while making an arrest, and Sasina was charged with disturbing the peace. These charges have been dropped.

Deadline Nears For Board Applications

Students who wish to apply for positions on the Board of Student Publications, Inc., must submit applications to the secretary of the school of journalism by noon tomorrow.

Keith Glasco, Iowa City, had submitted the only application up to last night, according to William Miller, member of the board of trustees of Student Publications, Inc.

Applications must include a certificate signed by the registrar showing that the applicant has completed at least 26 semester hours with a satisfactory grade point average.

To become a candidate, an applicant must be nominated by at least 25 students enrolled in the same college in which he is registered.

The board consists of four faculty members appointed by Pres. Virgil M. Hancher and five students to be elected at the all-campus elections March 23. Duties will include governing the Daily Iowan, Hawkeye and Frivol.

The students who are elected to the board will take office June 1.

Judge Grants Divorce To Donald Merrifield

Donald F. Merrifield, 611 First avenue, was granted a divorce by default from Grace G. Merrifield in the Johnson county district court yesterday.

Judge James P. Gaffney granted the divorce after Mrs. Merrifield failed to appear in court.

Merrifield charged cruel and inhuman treatment. He was represented by Will J. Hayek.

Mrs. Albert Husa Appointed Chairman Of Cancer Drive

Mrs. Albert Husa, 326 E. Fairchild street, has been appointed chairman of the 1948 fund-raising campaign for the Johnson county chapter of the American cancer society, H. B. Hook, state campaign chairman, announced yesterday.

Mrs. Husa was named with other directors, who will direct the fund-raising campaign in 98 other counties during the month of April.

During the past year, Mrs. Husa was chairman of the education program. Her duties included informing the public about cancer and the methods used to fight it.

Mrs. Charles Bye, Iowa City, will be in charge of a special project in the fund-raising drive, Mrs. Husa said yesterday. The professional sorority, Beta Sigma Phi, has also volunteered its services in the drive. The sorority will also take part in a special fund-raising campaign.

A county advisory board will be formed in the near future, Mrs. Husa said, which will include representatives from the various townships to head the campaign.

The national goal of the society this year is $16,042,000. This is about one-third more than the $12,000,000 goal set last year. Iowa's quota is $272,320.

Digest Reports on Business Increase

Warm or cold, both fuel and ice dealers in Iowa had a good business in December, 1947, topping their retail sales for the same month in 1946 by 58 percent.

The weather, in fact, seems to have had a favorable effect on all Iowa businesses, according to the February issue of the Iowa Business digest.

The digest is published monthly by the university bureau of business and economic research.

Liquor sales (packaged goods) gained 45 percent, indicating more people might have celebrated during 1947 than 1946.

Other businesses showing gains in retail sales for December, 1947, over December, 1946, were motor-vehicle dealers, 11 percent; department stores, nine percent; drug stores and eating places, eight percent; grocery and meat stores, two percent; and restaurants, one percent.

The average person's income in Iowa increased 25 percent during 1947 compared with 1946, according to the digest. Consumers' prices rose 14 percent and retail sales topped the preceding year's business by one-fifth.

County GOPs To Convene On Thursday

Johnson county Republicans will convene at 10 o'clock Thursday morning to select delegates to the Republican state convention, Chairman H. J. Dane of the county central committee announced last night.

The meeting will be in the Community building and will be open to the public.

"Only the delegates selected at the precinct caucuses last Thursday will be eligible to vote for delegates to the state convention," Dane said.

Delegates selected Thursday will proceed to the state convention in Des Moines, April 2, where they and other county delegates will in turn select delegates to the national convention in Philadelphia next June.

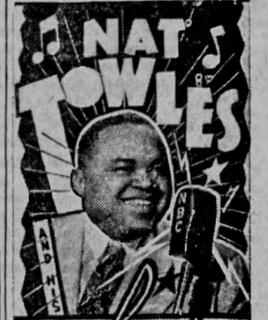

Iowa's national convention delegates will number 23—two from each of the eight congressional districts, four delegates-at-large, and a "bonus" of three delegates because the state went Republican in the last presidential election.

At the local precinct caucuses last Thursday night, several students were selected as delegates to the county convention. Last Friday night one Republican committeewoman expressed doubt that they would be able to attend the county convention "because it will probably be held in the morning and they'll have classes then."

Dane will preside at the convention Thursday morning. Rev. E. E. Dierks of the First Baptist church will open the meeting with an invocation, and Prof. Herald Stark of the music department faculty will lead group singing.

D. C. Nolan, local attorney and Republican candidate for nomination for state senator, will address the gathering.

Honest, I Didn't Know
USED FATS WERE STILL BADLY NEEDED!

Lady, where have you been? Used fats are needed now more than ever, because the shortage of fats and oils today is the greatest in the world's history. Our government warns us that the supply cannot meet today's industrial needs. You can help prevent this supply from getting too low by continuing to turn in used fats.

You say you re-use them for cooking? Fine! But even the drops left after that are worth salvaging. How about melting down fat trimmings, skimming gravies? Those tricks yield plenty!

And come to think of it, what other kitchen waste can you convert into good hard cash? It's a point to remember, these days of high food costs! Butchers pay for used fats. So please... don't throw your fats away. Turn 'em in!

Popular Election of the President

It's amazing how a desirable policy proposed at one time under a certain set of circumstances can be considered years later under entirely different circumstances.

Proposals for popular election of the president of the United States were made a long time ago. Progressive political scientists have urged it to bring our political party machinery up to date. There were differences in the plans, of course, as to details.

The Constitutional provision for an electoral college envisioned each state electing a group of responsible citizens. They would then hold a national meeting and among them choose a president.

There were to be no national campaigns. Probably no platforms or "tickets." It was to be done in a quiet, orderly fashion. It would keep the selection out of the realm of "pressure politics." Above all, it ignored party machinery which was unknown at that time.

Then, as party machinery grew, political scientists saw the grave danger. A party nominee could be elected with only a minority of the people in the country actually wanting him. (This actually happened.) It placed undue emphasis on "key" states. A party nominee captured all the state's electoral votes, even though he might have won by only a few popular votes.

Now the proposal has been brought up again by southerners fighting the civil rights program. A house judiciary subcommittee has unanimously adopted it. The proposal is in the form of a constitutional amendment.

It would divide a state's electoral vote among the various candidates according to the popular vote each candidate received.

It admittedly is aimed at the American Labor party in New York, which often holds the balance of power. The charge is that this small minority often is appealed in order to swing the state's entire electoral vote.

It's strange that such a revolutionary change in presidential election should come from the group that is normally so conservative. That is no reason the proposal shouldn't be seriously and vigorously considered for adoption. That it could be adopted in time for next fall's elections, however, is highly doubtful, even if passed by the congress.

Taylor's Yelp for the Generals' Scalps

Senator Taylor's suggestion that Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Gen. A. C. Wedemeyer be fired is interesting beyond the usual political "in-fighting." It illustrates the general problem of how much freedom of expression is possible within a political administration that must of necessity have a general policy laid down by the "chief."

It is obvious that Taylor's demand arose out of the firing of Henry Wallace when he split publicly over policy toward Russia. And Taylor certainly can present a good case of fit for fat. The generals have made it pretty clear they don't care for the administration's policy toward China. It puts the President on a ticklish political spot.

If he refuses to fire the generals, he looks inconsistent after firing Wallace. And, too, he might endanger the administration's China policy. If he does fire them, he is open to the charge of actually silencing all those who oppose the top-level policy. The reaction to a possible MacArthur firing is problematical. His supporters' anger might increase congressional opposition to the China program. On the other hand, they might secretly regard it as a fortunate break which would induce him to seek the presidency in the garb of a martyr.

At any rate, it's an interesting problem of how to conduct a political administration.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS—

Big Three Has Big Plans for Ruhr

By J.M. ROBERTS JR., AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Big Three have produced a scheme to secure intensified industrial production from the Ruhr for prosecution of the cold war without further partitioning or danger of German rearmament.

The program, which remains to be worked out in detail, would bring France into full partnership with the United States and Britain in the operation of western Germany, and the whole great Ruhr-Rhineland-Saar industrial concentration will be geared into the Marshall plan.

Coupled with the progress at Brussels toward military and economic unification of Britain, France and the Benelux countries, the past week of negotiations probably represents the most profitable period since Germany surrendered.

The rough plan for the Ruhr provides that its revival shall be under control of the Big Three with Germans participating, probably through an expansion of the semi-autonomous government which already has been set up under allied supervision. Provision is also being made for the Benelux countries—Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg, to have their say.

For the purposes of the cold war, Germany apparently is to be treated as more or less a partner with the 16 Marshall plan nations and with the developing western European union. There is no indication, however, that there will be any major change in the policy which holds German living standards to the minimum attained by the countries she fought.

If this policy is continued it will mean that any German production surplus, over the minimum living standard, will be thrown into the European recovery pot.

This brings up a point on which the London conferees made no announcement. That is whether dismantlement of German plants is to be continued under the old reparations and disarmament program. Although this has been slowed down, there has never been any agreement on the part of the countries which were to receive reparations in this form.

Under changed conditions it would seem that these plants might be used where they are. Dismantlement involves delay, damage, loss of possible production, etc. It is not an economic process.

The United States has been inclined to stick to the old Potsdam agreement, insofar as it applies to our western allies, for fear that withholding of the plants would create trouble with them.

But the western European countries were to receive less than 50 per cent of these plants anyway. Since the agreement was made their economies have been bolstered by a great many times that much in American aid with more to come.

The size of Europe's total production in the next four years, including everything which can be exchanged abroad for food and raw materials, will determine the success or failure of the Marshall plan.

The logical course to follow would seem to be to make the maximum use of every existing plant now, leaving reparations and even industrial disarmament to the time when we are about to return Germany's sovereignty.

THESE DAYS— 'The Master Plot'

By George E. Sokolsky (King Feature Syndicate)

A special federal grand jury has been in continuous session in New York to investigate a situation that has been known for many years and therefore is not a grand jury secret.

What is both inexplicable and astonishing is that any government would knowingly permit the agents of a foreign nation—whether friendly or enemy—to organize to obtain important, even crucial posts in its administration with the object of subordinating the interests of their country to the policy of another.

What is even more surprising is that after all the names and facts become known and were corroborated from at least three sources, the FBI, the Dies committee and the Canadian government, these men continued in high office in the administration, that at least one of them was an under-secretary, that one was in the President's office, that one holds an outstanding position in public affairs, apparently, anybody can take over the American government who tries.

As a result of the Canadian investigation, Prime Minister Mackenzie King is reported to have regarded the American participation in the universal plot as so important that he personally came to Washington to deliver the documents to President Truman.

Sometime in 1934, Harold Ware organized a Communist cell in Washington with the object of placing Communist-men and women in critical positions in the federal government.

The names of the original members of the central cell are well known and their careers can be followed in detail from the beginning. Some of them moved very far upward in the administration. They pushed each other upward.

Each member of the central cell was required to organize a cell of his own and this process was followed until a large number of cells were organized.

It was thus possible for a G.P.U. agent, operating from the central cell, to obtain confidential files, to note the plans of government, and to smear their opponents, even by congressional investigations and income tax procedures.

Certain agencies of government were particularly designated as worthy of control. Among the foremost were the AAA, the department of labor, the immigration bureau, then in the department of labor, the income tax division of the department of justice, the treasury and the La Follette committee.

Many of them, of course, were in other branches of government. It so worked out that if one of them was fired from one branch, he was quickly given another job. After the breach of the Stalin-Hitler alliance, many of these men and women came into the open, because this country was allied to Soviet Russia.

They became important in the OWI, the OSS, the state department and the treasury. They developed tremendous power and actually played an important role in the orientation courses in the army. Subsequent to the war, they were most influential in the occupation in Germany and in the state department.

Hal Boyle Says— USSR Out of Steppe

With Karl Marx

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Some leading comrades in Soviet Russia, which wants to make the world safe for communism steppe by steppe, appear to be getting out of step themselves with Karl Marx, their apostle.

And capitalistic fliespecks keep showing up in the Red parade of promised plenty.

Here are a few signs of the collisions between human nature and dialectical materialism which recently have annoyed the toiling proletarians of the Kremlin:

1. Moscow's Bolshoi opera ballet theater went over its budget by 150,000 rubles.

2. One motion picture studio gave Hollywood an example in efficiency by spending three years making a film that is still unfinished.

3. Finance Minister Arseny G. Zverev complained some Soviet ministers were doing a lousy job of building new factories, were lying about their accomplishments and also hoarding materials.

4. The minister of trade, A. V. Lyubimov, has been booted from his job for falling down on it.

5. The education ministry bawled out Soviet scientists for studying the birth rate of spiders instead of vital agricultural problems. They also were told to quit looking in their test tubes for extraneous facts and spend more time proving Karl Marx's theories of the class struggle.

6. The American military government in Berlin charged that while Soviet bigwigs were sneering at "dollar diplomacy" they were active in the German black market trying to edge all the dollars they could in order to buy more needed goods from other countries.

7. The Soviet youth newspaper sadly asserted that Russian young people are now dancing the Khazachek in a "decadent manner."

8. Critics lambasted leading Soviet composers for sticking to a classical style and reneged their campaign to make American jazz music less popular with the Russian masses.

9. The Soviet army newspaper griped that too many of its marching songs were "lyrically peaceful, passive and sometimes vulgarly Philistine." It suggested that the composers get out and spend more time with the troops.

10. Eugene Varga, top-ranking Soviet economist, was tossed out of his post for daring to express the non-Marxist belief that the capitalist countries weren't collapsing.

11. In Soviet Estonia the Rahva Haal newspaper regretfully noted that "many pupils go to church." It blamed this on teachers who failed "to combat such superstition with appropriate enlightenment" in the Marxist-Leninist spirit.

An odd thing about most of these cases of Communist backsliding is that the guilty wretches come from the most favored classes in the "classless society"—the well-paid intellectuals and managers of the Soviet system.

These scholars, scientists, teachers, composers, writers and trade officials certainly by virtue of education are best qualified to understand the party's program and ideals. Yet it is they who keep getting out of step.

Perhaps the Kremlin ought to buy ouija boards and get Karl Marx's ghost to explain his theories all over again. Some of the faithful are certainly mixed up now.

Y'D RATHER BE RIGHT It's a Peculiar World

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

"Ten dollars for truing up two front wheels seemed a little high. Ed stared at the garage bill unhappily. He hated to be cheated, with a special kind of hate.

It wasn't the money. It most made him feel ill to be cheated, it was a kind of revulsion. There was something so slick about it, a violation of a relationship. Ed would have disliked being robbed directly, by a burglar, but it wouldn't have given him the same feeling.

"I'm not going to pay," he said to his wife. "I'll stop in at the garage and ask George about it tonight."

That evening he drove around to the garage after he left the station, instead of going directly home.

The front didn't seem too steady at that; the wheel quivered in his hands. Well, maybe that was a stone.

But the job should have cost four, or five. He had a picture of George, whom he had known for twenty years, sitting down at the stained desk in the garage office to write the bill. George had probably wondered whether to charge twelve, and then had decided that would be too obvious, and had made it ten. Enough of a bite, but not enough to bring a protest. Well, he'd protest.

Everybody's been like that since the war, thought Ed; out for themselves. It was like a permanent change in the moral weather.

There was a light in the little garage office, and Ed went in. George was sitting at the desk, holding a framed photo in his hands. A boy in uniform.

"I'm trying to pick a spot to hang it," said George. Ed remembered. George's older son.

"He got it three years ago today," said George, "and they haven't found him yet." He put the picture down gently on the desk. "You ought to see his last letter, Ed. All about how he was doing it to bring peace to the world forever. I used to read that letter over and over after I got the telegram. It made me feel maybe it was all right."

George laughed unpleasantly. "Peace to the world. They haven't even found him yet, and they're talking about starting over. I think they ought to at least find him first, don't you?" He flipped a hand toward the glass partition. "Got one left," he said.

Through the wavy glass, Ed could see a boy sidling in under a car.

"Know what I'm doing?" asked

George. "I'm squeezing every dollar I can out of this business, so I can send him to college. I wouldn't tell him this, but if I can make him a specialist of some kind, maybe he'll have a desk job in the next one. He thinks I just plain want him to be a scientist or something. I wouldn't tell him."

George stood up and joined Ed beside the glass door.

"Remember when you used to be hot for world government, or something, Ed?" asked George.

"I guess you had to drop it. Peace is getting to be kind of a dirty word. The world's been cheating my boy ever since he died, Ed."

They watched the young boy at work under the car.

"What'd you stop for, Ed?" asked George.

"Want to look at some tires, George," said Ed. "I'm afraid the back ones are about gone."

College Scholarships for Country Doctors

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Young men who will be country doctors can get college scholarships now—just like boys who can play football.

Qualified medical students are receiving financial aid in an increasing number of states.

The primary purpose of the program is to channel physicians into the areas where they are needed most—the rural regions.

A survey by the American Medical association's committee on rural medical service last year put a finger on many sore spots. In dozens of counties there was one physician for every 1,500 or 2,000 or more persons. Sixty-eight counties had no doctors at all; 1,173 towns were seeking general practitioners.

The Illinois state medical society studied the situation and came to this conclusion: "Doctors in recent years have tended both to originate in or settle down to practice in cities. Thus the supply of country doctors has become proportionately smaller and smaller. The facts dictate the solution of the problem; more country boys must study medicine with the intention of returning to rural areas to practice."

Caldwell, Bartley, Coulter Elected to Board

Results Close As 571 Voters Cast Ballots

Bartley Beats Devine By 3 Votes; Coulter, Bartley New Members

By JANE LORD

Clark Caldwell, Chan Coulter and William H. Bartley were elected to the Iowa City district school board yesterday.

Glenn D. Devine was fourth, receiving 298 votes to Bartley's 301. Devine was running for reelection to the board and had served for one term.

Of 571 voters in the independent school district election 396 voted for Caldwell. Coulter was next highest with 344 votes. Bartley and Devine ranked third and fourth respectively. Attorney Kenneth Dunlop polled 217 votes.

Caldwell, 512 River street, an insurance agent, presided over the school board last year. This is his second term.

Coulter, 440 Grand avenue, is also an insurance agent.

Bartley, an Iowa City attorney, is also an instructor of engineering law at the university. Both are taking school board positions for the first time. Bartley resides at 1124 N. Dodge street.

Caldwell and Coulter were formally endorsed by a bi-partisan committee of local citizens before they filed nomination papers. Bartley filed independently.

Five Ballots Discarded

Five ballots were not counted because the ballots were marked incorrectly, W.J. Weeber, election judge, said.

Voting was lighter than last year when 764, or 193 more, votes were cast. A school election voting record was set in 1946 when 1,054 citizens voted. Earl Y. Sangster and Mrs. Charles Mott were elected to the board that year. A $300,000 bond issue proposed by the school board was rejected at the same time.

The lobby of the Community building was used for the voting place between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. The biggest rush came between 4 and 6:30 p.m., Weeber said.

Board members serve for three years and may be reelected. Caldwell and the two new members are SUI graduates and have children in the local schools.

Other members of the board are Mrs. Howard L. Beye and John P. Kelley, whose terms expire next year; Mrs. Mott and Sangster, whose terms expire in 1950; Charles S. Galliher, board secretary, and Glenn B. Griffith, board treasurer.

County Elections Held

County school board elections were also held yesterday. Results will be announced March 29 and the new board organized April 5, Frank Snider, county superintendent of schools, said.

Joe Paulus of Scott township led candidates Roy Nielson and Jim Bell in Iowa City votes for area four representatives to the county board. Paulus had 297 votes, Nielson, 151, and Bell 47.

Johnson county is divided into four areas, each of which are entitled to a member on the county school board. Districts with no high schools voted for a member-at-large also.

Rental Housing Project Discussed By Jaycees

The possibility of undertaking a 100-unit rental housing project in Iowa City was discussed yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce housing committee at its meeting in the Iowa-Illinois Gas & Electric conference room.

John A. Nash, chairman of the group, explained that the primary purpose of the project would be to provide rental housing.

Sub-committees were appointed by Nash to look into possible sites, financing and experiences of housing groups in other towns.

J. W. Chopek Dies, Funeral Tomorrow

Funeral services for John W. Chopek, 77, will be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. at the Hohenschuh mortuary, with burial in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Mr. Chopek died yesterday morning in a local hospital following a long illness.

His wife Delia Eppel Chopek, preceded him in death in 1916.

Surviving are one son, Lee, Iowa City; two daughters, Mrs. H.C. Osburn, Chicago, Mrs. Milo Rushek, Solon; three sisters, Mrs. Etta Hanlon and Mrs. Frank Urath, both of Iowa City, and Mrs. Anna Harrier, Weslaco, Texas.

Junior High To Give Mystery, 'Hands Up'

Junior high students will present a two-act mystery play, "Hands Up," tomorrow and Thursday. Mrs. R. John Peery, English teacher, is directing the players.

The play will be staged in the Junior high auditorium. Performances begin at four o'clock tomorrow afternoon and eight o'clock Thursday night.

Display Map of County Deaths and Accidents In Downtown Window

A map of motor vehicle deaths and accidents in Johnson county is on display in the window of Williams Surgical Supply Co.

A part of the Iowa department of public safety's campaign for safe driving, the map is a running account of accidents and deaths on the highway. Each county map is kept up by the state highway patrol in cooperation with local police.

The map will be in the window of the surgical supply company for 30 days and then will be moved to the window of another concern, it was announced.

Modern Dance Club To See Hawkins Troupe

Twelve members of Orchestra, modern dance club, will attend "Erick Hawkins in Theater Dance Pieces" in Armstrong hall at Cornell college at 8:00 p.m. tonight.

The modern dance concert will feature "El Penitente" and "Salem Shore" from the Martha Graham repertoire, in addition to Hawkins' recent works "Stephen Acrobat" and "John Brown."

Tree Cutting Report Given to Zoning and Planning Commission

Results of the League of Women Voters' questionnaire on the recent tree cutting by the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company were submitted to the city zoning and planning commission, but withheld from the public yesterday afternoon at a meeting in the city hall.

The report was read to the commission by Mrs. Owen T. Edwards, chairman of the league's government in action committee. Mrs. Edwards declined to release the report.

She explained that some of the information was obtained in personal interviews with the understanding that it would be kept confidential.

The league began the survey late last month after several property owners in the north-city area had complained to city officials about tree cutting by the gas and electric company.

The report submitted yesterday was a summary of the league's findings, L. C. Crawford, acting chairman of the zoning and planning commission, said last night.

Ph.D's for Sale SUI Grads Assist in Peddler's Arrest

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jeans, SUI graduates, were suspicious when a "consulting psychologist" entered their personal guidance office in San Diego, Calif., and offered to sell them psychiatric degrees for $150 each.

Recently, one, Benjamin Bearl Smith, who claimed he had a Ph.D. degree from an Indiana university, came to them offering degrees in psychiatry for sale from a San Francisco university.

Mr. Jeans encouraged Smith to come back and went to the district attorney's office. Investigation revealed: (1) Smith had used a number of aliases, (2) he did not have a Ph.D. from the Indiana university, (3) the school he allegedly represented did not exist.

Later, Smith called on Jeans again. The latter gave Smith $300 in marked currency from the district attorney's office. He collected Smith's receipt for two diplomas and then signaled detectives who were waiting outside the room. They entered and arrested Smith.

Smith didn't know that Jeans took a police course in Iowa City two years ago, and heard an address on confidence tricks by Prof. Richard L. Holcomb of the bureau of public affairs here.

Smith was held in the county jail on suspicion of grand theft, according to a report from a San Diego newspaper.

Gamma Phi Beta Teams Win Volleyball Contest

Two Gamma Phi Beta teams won the mixed volleyball tournament last week at the women's gymnasium by winning eight games apiece.

Three women and three men played on each team entered in the four week tournament.

The double league tournament was based on the percentage system according to the number of wins and losses.

Slifer To Present Paper in England

Dr. Eleanor H. Slifer, assistant professor of zoology, will leave today for Southampton university in England where she will present a paper before the Faraday society, British scientific organization, at meetings to be held March 31 to April 2.

She will be the only American to appear before the society, which invited leading specialists from various countries.

The title of Dr. Slifer's paper is "Water in Relation to Grasshopper Eggs," and it will be presented to the society; zoology section.

Miss Slifer has been a member of the zoology department staff since 1931. During the previous year, she was a National Research council fellow at SUI. She is known for her work on the physiology of insect development. She gained international recognition in the field of zoology for her discovery of the hydropile of the grasshopper egg.

'47 Xmas Seal Hits $8,316.01

Donations from Johnson county residents in the 1947 Christmas seal sale amounted to $8,316.01, James H. Schmidt, sale chairman, announced yesterday.

"Johnson county can be proud of the whole-hearted cooperation it gave to the 1947 Christmas seal campaign," Schmidt declared.

He said the Johnson county tuberculosis association wished to thank the local newspapers and radio station for helping to inform the public of the need for purchasing Christmas seals.

"We wish to extend thanks also to the theaters for exhibiting the movie trailers and to the members of Alpha Phi Omega and the boy scouts for distributing posters," he stated. "Also we want to thank the girl scouts who did the mailing for the campaign, the merchants who donated space and exhibits, and to the university athletic department for including our cuts in the game programs."

Schmidt also expressed acknowledgment of the fine contribution made by the teachers, superintendents and the county nurse during the campaign.

"Finally," Schmidt continued, "we want to thank the people who purchased Christmas seals and who made possible a wide-spread program of tuberculosis control in our county, state and nation."

"Come on, Johnny, mother promised us Dentyne Chewing Gum if we only sat through it once!"

"Not even Frankie Swoonatra could make me miss Dentyne Chewing Gum! That nifty flavor really sends me - I mean it really does. And the way Dentyne helps keep my teeth white, I want to turn on the old smile all the time."
