

Money Gets 'Housewarming'

MILLSTADT, ILL. (AP)—Farmer Joseph Hobelman's smokehouse went up in smoke and $5,000 in currency went with it.

After the fire, the ashes of the money were found in a tin box in the smokehouse.

Firemen wrote in their report: Loss, building $500; contents $5,000.

SUI Young Republican Group Ostracized by State League

By RAY EASTMAN

The university Young Republican league has been officially excommunicated by its parent organization, the Young Republican league of Iowa, according to Robert S. Lorch.

The action came in a letter effective at noon yesterday from Lorch, SUI student from Ames who is director of the college activities committee of the YRL of Iowa.

Lorch personally handed the letter of disassociation to Chairman Goodwin of the university group yesterday morning in the presence of Prof. Jack Johnson, faculty advisor to the group.

Lorch is a former chairman of the SUI young GOP. He gained office March 13 in an unscheduled election later declared illegal by the Student council which ordered him out of office. He subsequently was elected May 1 in the regular election. Goodwin supplanted him in about a month, and Lorch moved to his present capacity.

(However, Henry Grant, chairman of the Young Republican league's state central committee, told The Associated Press in Des Moines yesterday afternoon that to his knowledge the SUI Young Republican league had not been disaffiliated from the state group.)

Lorch said Grant's statement was made prior "to the moment the disaffiliation took place. . . . To my knowledge, there is no question either of the appropriateness or the legality of the move."

Letter to Goetsch

Later yesterday morning, Lorch handed a copy of the letter to Dean Walter Goetsch of the office of student affairs.

The status of the league as a university organization is uncertain, pending a discussion of the matter by Goetsch and Goodwin. However, Goetsch said yesterday morning that as he saw it, "University recognition of the Young Republican league is dependent upon the affiliation of the league with the state organization."

Such affiliation, according to Lorch, has been severed by his letters to Goodwin and to the office of student affairs.

"Didn't Follow Policy"

Lorch said he based his action on the refusal of the local league to recognize and follow the policy of the state senior and junior parties prohibiting endorsement of Republican presidential candidates before the selection of one candidate at the Republican national convention in June.

The league last month set up a "Stassen for President" committee within the organization. According to Goodwin, the committee was established following the league's vote to support the Republican presidential aspirant most favored in a poll taken of league members. Goodwin said Stassen won the poll "by an overwhelming majority."

Later a "Vandenberg for President" group organized by Louis Scott, a league member, sought recognition by the league. According to Scott and Lorch, the officers of the league refused to recognize the group, either by executive action or by calling a meeting of the league to consider recognition.

Lists Alternatives

"In my opinion," Lorch said yesterday, "the league should either disband the Stassen committee or grant other 'for-President' groups equal recognition and facilities."

Advisor Johnson yesterday recommended a meeting of the league, with all factions present, to discuss the matter of whether the SUI league is required to conform to policy as outlined by the Young Republican league state central committee.

Scott said yesterday he would not press his charges against the league at tonight's Student council meeting. Last week he challenged the legitimacy of the league as a campus organization on the grounds that (1) it was violating party policy by supporting one presidential candidate to the exclusion of others, and (2) the constitution under which it functions as a campus organization was illegally enacted.

Abandons Plans

Last week Scott had secured the permission of Student council President Mel Heckt to present the charges to the council.

However, Scott abandoned his plans yesterday following Lorch's action.

"In my opinion," he said, "there is no longer such an organization as the Young Republican league on this campus."

Last night Goetsch said he had hoped the whole matter could have been cleared up by the student council tonight.

"Iron Out Trouble"

"However," he said, "I understand Scott is not going to appear before the Student council. I hope that the difficulties can be ironed out Thursday night at the league's regular meeting." His implication was that he would reserve action on the league's status as a university organization until after that time.

Russia Knows Atom Secret, Forrester Tells House Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia knows now how to make the atom bomb but there is no telling when she will be able to actually do it, Defense Secretary Forrester said yesterday.

At the same time he said that pushbutton warfare is still a dream for the future, and that total warfare still depends on manpower—"not in the mass, but diffused through thousands of specialists."

Forrester testified before the house armed forces committee. It is considering a hotly argued bill to draft men 19 through 25 years of age. One argument of its critics is that atomic and other scientific strides have made the old concept of land armies out of date.

One sentence of the secretary's prepared statement read: "The United States possesses the knowledge and the capacity to make the atomic bomb, and as yet the Soviets do not."

It is his understanding, Forrester elaborated, that Russia knows how to make the bomb but won't have the capacity to make it for some time yet. He endorsed a statement by Dr. Edmund Walsh of Georgetown university that it would take several years.

But he agreed with Rep. Hebert (D-La.), who suggested that we have no way of knowing when Russia will acquire that capacity.

"I say they do not have it. I did not say they do not have the secret," Forrester testified.

Forrester argued for the peacetime draft and for universal military training as steps for peace, not war. He told the committee: "The whole aim and effort of the United States is to attain the objective of peace, to prevent differences between nations from developing into armed conflict, until the United Nations has gained the maturity and both the moral and physical force with which to deal with any international act of aggression."

He said he believes that if the United States makes clear it will and can prevent the civilization of western Europe from being destroyed "we shall have peace."

Labor —

Lewis Calls Halt to Coal Strike, Faces Trial for Contempt

WASHINGTON (AP)—John L. Lewis called off the nationwide coal strike yesterday just ahead of court action but a federal judge ordered him to trial tomorrow on contempt charges just the same.

The United Mine Workers leader issued his back-to-work call after agreeing to a compromise plan calling for $100-a-month pension for miners over 62. His attorneys contended the last-hour move cleared him of any contempt and left nothing to enjoin.

But the court disagreed on both counts, ordering the contempt trial and at the same time extending into next week the temporary restraining order against the 29-day-old walkout.

Those rulings formed the background for a spotty reaction in the field to Lewis' order for resumption of digging.

Some miners made ready to grab their tools again immediately but others thought they might wait to "see what they're going to do to Uncle John (Lewis)."

The main question tomorrow in the contempt trial will be whether Lewis moved fast enough. Federal Judge Matthew McGuire had ordered him on April 3 to call off the walkout immediately.

Yesterday Lewis' case was before Judge T. Alan Goldsborough—the same judge who slapped heavy fines on Lewis and the UMW for the 1946 coal walkout—and Lewis will be back before Goldsborough in person tomorrow.

Senate Confirms McCabe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate confirmed yesterday the nomination of Thomas B. McCabe, Philadelphia industrialist, to be a member of the federal reserve board of governors.

Confirmation was by standing vote. There were several dissents.

Marshall Accuses World Communism

Communists Call General Strike in Italy

ROME (AP)—A one-hour nationwide general strike and fresh violence in the south hit Italy yesterday—just six days before the general elections.

The strike was called by the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor (CGIL) in protest against the violent death of 35 Sicilian workers and labor leaders during the past two years.

Reports reaching Rome indicated the strike went off in a quiet and orderly fashion over the entire nation. There was no general paralysis of activity, as predicted by the men who issued the strike call.

In the internal city itself many stores remained open. Factories were idle. Buses and street cars halted, but telephone service was not disrupted.

The pre-election violence flared at Lizzanello, in the southern province of Lecce. A bomb tossed into the midst of a Communist-led Popular Front meeting killed Cesare Trove, 56, and Cesare Longo, 16, and wounded 20 other persons.

In an apparent move to forestall any leftist demonstrations over the incident, the government dispatched an inspector of public safety to the scene to direct an investigation.

Communist newspapers charged fascists with the bombing, and protested the lack of protection given the Popular Front meeting.

In the southern port of Taranto, Giuseppe di Vittorio, Communist boss of the CGIL, declared there was no danger of religious schism in Italy. This was in apparent answer to opposition to the Communists by the Roman Catholic clergy.

Italy To Get Gold From Nazi Hoards

WASHINGTON (AP)—Italy's anti-Communist parties got more campaign ammunition yesterday: The western powers decided to return $31-million in gold looted by the Nazis.

The state department said the British-French-American gold commission in Brussels has approved an Italian government claim and will return this gold soon.

The announcement obviously was another of the long-planned moves by the western powers to strengthen Italian government forces in the closing days of the hectic political fight for control of Italy.

The nationwide election next Sunday will decide whether Italy stays in the western bloc or the Communists take over.

Offer 'ABC' Plan To Strengthen UN

Senators Want UN Bolstered With or Without Russ Help

WASHINGTON (AP)—An "ABC plan" to make the United Nations a veto-proof, fighting organization for peace was pushed forward yesterday by 16 Republican and Democratic senators from 14 states.

They said it would "guarantee the peace" if Russia accepted it. And if the Soviets refused, they said, the time would be ripe to start a new world organization, without Russia, for mutual defense of the U.S. and "like-minded" nations.

Introduced as a resolution by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), who called it "the new answer to Soviet Russia," the plan was referred to the foreign relations committee, with indications that it would not get warm reception.

Chairman Vandenberg, Ferguson's fellow Republican from Michigan, was said on good authority to feel that any such proposal should come from the administration, which has not suggested reorganizing UN along the lines proposed by the senators.

The senators' plan calls for these changes in the UN charter, in ABC fashion:

A — Outlawing the big power veto in questions of aggression, armament for aggression, and admitting new countries to the UN.

B — Banning atomic weapons, through the U.S. plan for an atomic development authority, and limiting other heavy armaments under a quota system to be set up by the security council.

C — Formation of an international, peace-keeping police force, made up of volunteers from small nations. There also would be five "reserve" forces supplied by the U.S., Britain, Russia, China and France.

Ferguson told the senate: "The time is at hand for this nation and other nations which believe in peace to take as aggressive a stand for peace as they have done in the past in preparing for war."

But until there is a world organization powerful enough to keep the peace, Ferguson said, this country must keep "militarily strong and economically sound" enough to assume world leadership through the present UN.

Russ Increase Zone Forces

BERLIN (AP)—Allied intelligence reports said yesterday the Russians were increasing their occupation forces in Germany which entirely surround the city of Berlin.

The increases were said to be mostly MVD (secret police) units concerned with executing new Russian border and traffic controls. German press reports spoke also of new infantry units moved into the Soviet zone.

Several months ago informed estimates placed Soviet troop strength in Germany at more than 300,000, about three times the American total. Present Soviet strength is unknown. American troops in Berlin number about 5,500.

Meanwhile, the western powers were seeking means of relaxing or getting around the Soviet squeeze against them in Berlin, as evidenced in restrictions on traffic and communications between the city and western Germany.

Rail movements out of Berlin remained suspended because of a Soviet demand that all passengers and cargo pass Soviet inspection. The Americans started an air freight service to move out household goods of families returning to the United States or being transferred to the American occupation zone.

It's Cruel to Minks, Senate Thinks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate agreed yesterday that military planes shouldn't buzz mother mink when she's caring for her young.

A. J. Sprouffs of Roy, Wash., claimed that planes flying low over his mink farm caused the animals to destroy their young. He said he lost 231 little mink.

The senate passed and sent to the White House a bill for payment of $2,079 to Sprouffs for his loss.

Lays Bogota Revolution to Communists

By JOSEPH F. McEVROY

BOGOTA (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall blamed international Communism yesterday for the unsuccessful Bogota revolution.

Marshall first made his statement to other delegates attending the inter-America conference and later repeated it for publication. "This situation," Marshall said, "must not be judged on a local basis, however tragic the immediate results to the Colombian people. The occurrence goes far beyond Colombia."

"Same Pattern"

"It is the same definite pattern as occurrences which provoked strikes in France and Italy and that is endeavoring to prejudice the situation in Italy where elections will be held on April 18. In actions we take here regarding the present situation, we must keep clearly in mind the fact that this is a world affair—not merely Colombian or Latin America."

Marshall thus became the first delegate outside the Colombian government to publicly attribute the revolution to world Communism and indirectly to Moscow.

A determination of delegates to remain here despite the revolt which broke out last Friday is expected to be ratified formally today.

Reports on Violence

Rep. Jackson (R-Calif.), a member of the U. S. delegation will leave for Washington today to report on the revolution. He will return to Bogota later.

Marshall's statement to newspapermen was made at the residence of Assistant Secretary of State Norman Armour in the aristocratic Chaparrero area which was untouched by Friday's bloody events.

The correspondents were taken to the residence three miles from the heart of Bogota in a laundry truck manned by four Colombian soldiers.

To Continue Parley

Earlier sources close to Secretary Marshall had said that the United States had taken the consistent position that the inter-American conference must continue in Bogota.

It was learned the turning point of the delegates' predicted decision to remain in Bogota was based, among other things, on two considerations.

First, assurances by the Colombian government that the delegates would be supplied with food and transportation. Second, the knowledge that in case of an emergency, the United States would cooperate with Colombia in evacuating up to 250 persons daily to Panama.

Costa Rican Port Captured by Rebels

PANAMA, PANAMA (AP)—Revolutionary Leader Jose Figueres Sunday captured Port Limon, Costa Rica, in a surprise air and sea operation in Costa Rica's civil war, it was reported here last night.

Port Limon is the Atlantic terminal of the northern railway. The rebels captured large stores of supplies.

Figueres' troops moved into Port Limon in two C-47 planes and in landing barges which approached the port from the east and west. After landing 80 rebel troops, the planes bombed military objectives in the town. In a short time, the town was in control of Figueres' men.

A government plane was shot down or crashed Saturday afternoon while on a bombing mission and all 10 persons aboard were killed.

Education — Grade-Point Pays Off

Phi Beta Kappa Selects 33 SUI Students

Thirty-three SUI students were elected yesterday to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholarship society. New officers were also elected at a meeting of the Alpha chapter of Iowa yesterday in Old Capitol, President Gerald F. Else, head of the classics department, announced.

New officers elected were Lloyd A. Knowler, professor of mathematics, president, and Mrs. George Glockler, vice-president. M. L. Huit, counselor to men, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Persons elected to membership who are candidates for B. A. degrees in June are S. J. Brownlee, Emmetsburg; Kathleen H. Burke, Marshalltown; Claude Wesley Burrill, Akron; Rosemary Joan Current, Peoria, Ill.; Dorothea Ann Davidson, Kirkwood, Mo.; Georgia Jean Dentel, Ackley; Frances Elizabeth Falck, Decorah; Gordon Arthur Flynn, Iowa City; Mabel Mathilda Fredericks, Ogdon; Yale Adolph Gerol, New Rochelle, N. Y.

Christian Christiansen Hansen, age of 3.2 is a basic requirement for election.

Seniors must have completed at least 48 semester hours in the college of liberal arts at SUI and be registered for a schedule of courses sufficient to complete 64 hours in that college by the time of graduation. Seniors completing this requirement by enrollment in a professional college under the combined curriculum are not eligible until the B. A. degree has been conferred.

It is possible that some eligible candidates may have been inadvertently overlooked, according to M. L. Huit, secretary-treasurer of the chapter. Such persons are urged to contact Prof. G. Addison Hickman, chairman of the committee on eligibility, or see Huit as early as possible.

The initiation of new members will be held in Old Capitol on May 17, followed by a banquet in their honor at Iowa Union. Guest speaker at the banquet will be President Byron Hollinshead of Coe college.

Jack D. Russell, Perry, graduate at the January, 1948, commencement, also was elected.

Picks Red Sox to Cop Pennant

Says Yankees, Tigers, Indians To Trail Sox

By JACK HAND
EDENTON, N. C. (AP)—Joe McCarthy's Boston Red Sox to overpower the New York Yankees in a two-team race is the American league pennant pick from this corner.

Although Ted Williams' attack of what-is-it confuses doctors and the press, here's the way it looks a week before opening day:

- 1—Boston; 2—New York; 3—Detroit; 4—Cleveland; 5—Philadelphia; 6—Chicago; 7—Washington; 8—St. Louis.

Pitching is McCarthy's big problem as he opens a new regime at Fenway park—pitching and Ted Williams, that is. Joe Dobson, Mickey Harris and Jack Kramer have flashed good form but Tex Hughson and Dave Ferriss are doubtful. Hughson's arm operation has retarded his comeback and Ferriss has been slow to hit his stride.

However, the Sox pack the toughest batting order in the league with hitters like Vern Stephens and Stan Spence to take some of the pressure off Williams. With that lineup, Ted may not be walked so often. All this, of course, is based on the theory that Williams' appendix cooperates.

Any batting order that puts a dangerous man like Bobby Doerr in the No. 7 spot must be tough. There is potential danger all down the line.

The Yankees, defending champions, have a tighter defensive club, with Phil Rizzuto and George Stirnweiss around second base and Joe DiMaggio, fit and ready for a full season, in center. Neither Boston nor New York has top flight catching.

Bucky Harris' pitching may not be as strong as generally expected. Frank Shea, reporting overweight after a brilliant rookie season, has not impressed. Bill Bevens is of questionable value because of arm trouble. The bulk of the work may fall on Allie Reynolds, Red Embree and Ed Lopat, the left-hander acquired from Chicago.

Charley Keller remains the Yankees' big "if." Although he has been hitting the ball hard since he started to play, considerable doubt remains about his ability to run hard under pressure.

Detroit has the pitching. There is no question about that. Even with Dizzy Trout and Virgil Trucks flopping in 1947, the Tigers finished second. Trucks and Trout have looked good this spring.

Behind their five starters—Trout, Trucks, Hal Newhouser, Freddy Hutchinson and Art Houtteman—the Tigers have little. For them to become a flag factor, it would be necessary for outfielder Dick Wakefield to snap back to his 1944 form. There have been no indications that he will.

Cleveland, training in Arizona and California, has impressed from afar. Owner Bill Veck was around St. Petersburg the other day with glowing reports of the Tribe. He since has added Russ Christopher, formerly of the A's, to his pitching staff. Outside of Bobby Feller and Bob Lemon, the Indians do not appear to have too much mound strength.

The Joe Gordon-Lou Boudreau combination around second is tops, and the outfield should be improved with the addition of Wally Judnich, Allie Clark and Thurman Tucker.

Connie Mack has to bank heavily on pitching to overcome his Athletics' defensive shortcomings. The outfield is adequate but much depends on Phil Marchildon, Joe Coleman, Bill McCahan and Dick Fowler. All except Marchildon have been slow getting started.

Despite the blast of young Charles Comiskey at his Chicago White Sox "loafers," they should have enough to outscramble Washington and St. Louis.

The Sox have a smattering of strength in all departments. While Washington should get steady pitching from Early Wynn, Walt Masterson, Mickey Haefner and Sid Hudson, it lacks outfield strength and the infield is mediocre.

The Browns, riddled by winter sales that netted some $350,000 and several young players, have little but youth and hustle. They could go as high as sixth, but an eighth-place finish appears more likely.

ROTC Rifle Team Wins
The freshman ROTC rifle team defeated the Iowa City and Davenport high school teams Saturday in a match at Davenport. Scores were ROTC 898, Davenport 861, and Iowa City high 837. High SUI scorers were K. A. Black, 183; K. Nicodemus, 182; K. Fellows, 180; G. W. Leo, 177; and P. Huscher, 176.

Dillard Named for 1948 Track Award

NEW YORK (AP)—Harrison Dillard, national hurdles champion from Baldwin-Wallace college, was named the outstanding performer of the past indoor track and field season yesterday by the New York Track Writers association.

Dillard, winner of 54 straight races in less than a year, will be given a trophy similar to that presented to five other athletes since the award was inaugurated in 1941.

Only track man to appear without defeat in all the major eastern meets, the Baldwin-Wallace star was the unanimous choice of the group. There were no other nominations.

Gil Dodds, the Boston Athletic association's premier miler who has not been defeated in five years, was not considered for the award he won in both 1947 and 1944. He has been sidelined by mumps since lowering his own world indoor mile record to 4:05.3 early in the season.

Banks Sidelined by Shoulder Separation

Earl Banks, Iowa's all-conference guard, suffered a shoulder injury Friday in an indoor scrimmage session.

Trainer Doyle Allsup, who examined Banks, said the rugged Chicago athlete received a shoulder separation and probably would be laid up for several weeks.

Banks was injured as Dr. Eddie Anderson's Hawkeye gridders held spring workouts in the Iowa field-house.

Durocher Amazed Baltimore Monday

Panned Pitching, Team May Be Rough Be Hardest to Beat

BALTIMORE (AP)—Leo Durocher amazed the folk in Baltimore yesterday by some uncomplimentary remarks about his team's pitching, but all the same he forecast the Brooklyn Dodgers would be just as hard to catch as last year.

The Lip and his Dodgers are in town to wind up an exhibition series with the Orioles of the International League.

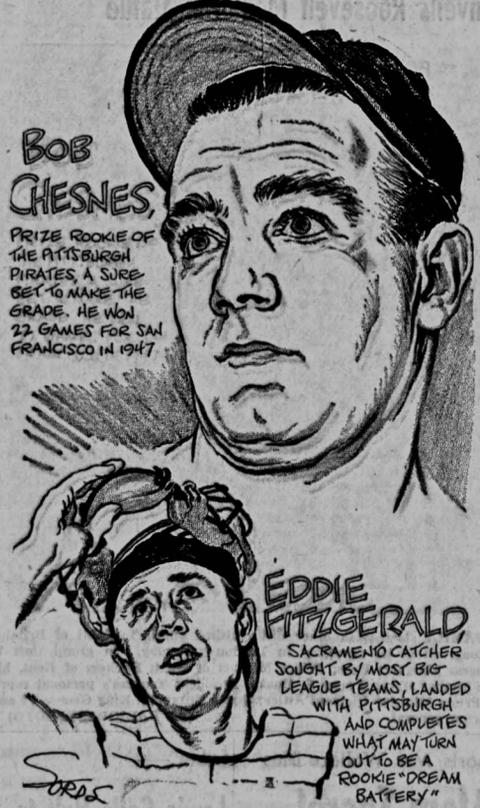

He told interviewers that the Bums have "the worst pitching staff of the loop"—all this in spite of the fact they have won all but one of their 29 exhibition games.

Durocher didn't go into details about the shortcomings of his mound staff, but it caused his hearers (and probably the rest of the National League teams, too) to wonder just what would satisfy him.

Although the Dodgers have not met a major league team on their spring schedule, they make up the only big league squad which has been so fortunate in games won to date.

To do it, they have had the services of Ralph Branca, Joe Hatten, Preacher Roe, Harry Taylor and Big Hugh Casey, plus such promising young men as Jack Banta, Phil Haugstad, Rex Barney, Ervin Palica and others.

All-Stars Win Over Trotters

By BUCK TURNBULL (Special to The Daily Iowan)
DES MOINES—Murray Wier's All-Stars pinned their fourth consecutive defeat on the world-famous Harlem Globe Trotters here last night, 55-42.

It was only the sixteenth defeat of the season for the Trotters, as contrasted with 147 wins against collegiate and semi-pro competition across the country.

Murray Wier personally contributed 19 points to his team's cause, while Charles Van Ooteghen hit three field goals and nine free-throws for 15 markers.

The All-Stars led throughout the entire game. They jumped off to a commanding, 11-4, first quarter lead, and increased it to, 27-13, at intermission.

In the third period the Trotters began to move, behind the inspired work of guard Cleo Johnson. They worked the count up to, 34-30, before Wier's team began to hit.

The Trotters were pitifully cold from the free-throw lane, connecting on only two charity tosses. This contributed heavily to their defeat.

At half-time Wier was presented with a 21 jewel Bulova wrist watch by promoter Bobby Grund and the Trotters as the "outstanding sportsman" they had played against this year.

The Box Score:

GLOBE TROTTERS: WIER'S STARS

Two Three-Run Homers Ease Cards by Cubs, 6-5

HOUSTON, TEX. (AP)—Three-run homers by Whitey Kurovski and Nippy Jones gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 6-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs here yesterday in the first of a three-game series.

Cliff Chambers, former Texas leaguer, was the victim of the Cardinal barrage.

Chicago took a three run lead in the first half of the opening inning on an error, two walks and singles by Ed Waitkus and Phil Cavaratta. Kurovski tied it up in the bottom half by homering after Ralph LaPointe had walked and Country Slaughter singled.

Singles by Chambers, Henry Schenz and Waitkus gave the Cubs a 5-3 lead in the third.

Jones' homer was preceded by a walk to Kurovski and a double by Terry Moore.

Red Munger, working eight innings before his hometown fans, was the winning pitcher.

Cleveland 6, Giants 5

TULSA, OKLA. (AP)—Hal Peck laid down a successful squeeze bunt with the bases loaded in the ninth inning yesterday to give the Cleveland Indians a 6-5 victory over the New York Giants in an exhibition game.

Tigers Score Enough In First, Down Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, ARK. (AP)—Scoring enough runs to win before a man was retired in the first inning, the Detroit Tigers belted Little Rock of the Southern Association 7-2 in an exhibition baseball game here yesterday before 1,350 fans.

Detroit teed off against starter Bob Snyder for six runs in the opening frame and coasted in behind young Art Houtteman, who scattered nine hits. Luke Hamilton pitched the last 2 2/3 innings for the travelers and yielded only five hits, half of Detroit's total.

Singles by Eddie Lake, Hoot Evers, Dick Wakefield, George Kell and Catcher Harvey Riebe, plus two-baggers by Eddie Mayo and First-Baseman Paul Campbell marked the big opening inning in which 11 men came to bat for the Tigers.

Reds Trim Sox, 9-7

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Outfielder Hank Sauer hit a grand slam homer during an eight-run fifth inning yesterday as the Cincinnati Reds trimmed the Boston Red Sox, 9-7.

Men, Does Your Waistline Bother?— You Too, Can Lose Excess Weight

By HANK ALLAN

Men! Is your waistline, like communism, spreading out on all sides? Are you flabby and overweight? Do your friends laugh at you and call you Fatty?

If they do, hurry and send for "Doctor" Rossie's famous four-day cure. The fabulous method that's guaranteed to make you as slim as a G.I.'s subsistence check.

"Doctor" Rossie, a famous trainer for boxers, recently had to shave his two fighters, Lyle Seydel and Bob Rossie Jr., down eight and ten pounds respectively—in four days.

Undaunted "Doc" put his time-tested method into action. As he explained to his portly pugilists, "It's simple—just a little diet plus a little exercise."

The two boxers followed "Doc" Rossie's system faithfully and in four days even their best friends could hardly recognize them. Both of these streamlined punchers easily won state titles in their divisions.

What is the good doctor's famous yet easy method to melt away pounds? It's simple, just listen.

First—Cut out sweets. Forget about pie, cake, cookies, and ice cream. Makes for stout students you know.

Second—Cut out starches. Don't take that second slice of white bread. In fact, don't take the first. Leave the spuds alone too. The waistline, remember?

Third—Cut out liquids—all liquids. No milk (horrors), coffee, tea, soda pop or much water. If you're thirsty have a lemon.

Fourth—Exercise. Loosen-up for about five or six minutes. You know, push-ups, etc. Then shadow box for three, three-minute rounds and follow that up with six, three-minute rounds of sparring with nearest pugilist handy.

Perspiring some? Good deal! Skip rope now for three minutes and you can call it a workout. Feel Now men, this system really works. It does wonders. Believe me, I've tried it. Oopps—almost out of ink. Excuse me a moment. "Oh nurse, nurse, could you bring me some more ink? Thanks so much." Now as I was saying, this method . . .

Smith Leads Iowa's Hitters

Bob Smith, the little boy with the big bat, is still the leading hitter on the Iowa nine this spring. Smith has connected for 18 hits in 44 trips to the plate for an average of .409.

DiMarco has hurled 27 innings, giving up seven runs and 22 hits. He has walked nine while striking out 17.

Pitcher Al DiMarco is the only other batter with an average over the .400 mark for the 10 non-conference games to date. The Hawks have won seven of their 10 contests for a percentage of .700.

DiMarco and Jack Bruner are the leading twirlers, each with a record of three wins and one defeat. In 29 innings Bruner has given up but six runs while allowing 16 hits. He has struck out 35 opposing batsmen and walked 21.

The team has a batting average of .287 to date. Other leading hitters are Captain Lyle Ebner, .375; John Tedore, .275; Pete Everett, .269; Dale Erickson, .266; Don McCarty, .243, and Jack Dittmer, .232.

Michigan will open the Big Nine season here this weekend with games on Friday and Saturday. In their early games the Wolverines have lost only one game.

Bolstering Michigan's team are seven regulars from last season's nine, which took third place in the conference.

League Elects Mrs. Porter President

The local League of Women Voters yesterday elected Mrs. William Porter president for the coming year.

The election was held at the league's monthly luncheon meeting in the First English Lutheran church.

Also elected were Mrs. R. W. Iverson and Mrs. Carlyle Jacobsen, vice-presidents; Mrs. Coleman Jacobson, secretary, and Mrs. Vincent Nowlis, treasurer.

The league named six women to its board of directors. They are Mrs. Forrest Allen, Mrs. Howard Beye, Mrs. John Bradbury, Mrs. Elmer DeGowin, Elizabeth Halsey and Mrs. Kenneth MacDonald.

Also approved were delegates to state and national league conventions.

Mrs. Iverson and Mrs. Porter will attend the national convention in Grand Rapids, Mich., April 26-30.

Representing the local league at the state convention in Des Moines May 13-14 will be Mrs. Allen, Mrs. H. P. Bechtoldt, Ruth Gallagher, Mrs. Halsey, Mrs. I. L. Hedges, Mrs. Carlyle Jacobsen, Mrs. Coleman Jacobson, Mrs. Allen Lemme, Mrs. Henry Mattill, Mrs. C. H. Millikan, Mrs. Nowlis, Mrs. R. B. Ohme, Mrs. Arthur Roberts, Mrs. O. E. Sikora and Mrs. C. S. Williams.

Alternate state delegates are Mrs. A. C. Kern, Mrs. Marvin Miller, Mrs. Porter and Jane Condon.

The league yesterday also heard reports of its program and finance committees on the program, projects and budget proposed for the coming year. The measures will be voted on at the league's luncheon meeting in May.

Security Loan Drive Sets County Quota Of Over $1-million

Johnson county's quota for the Security Loan drive, which opens in Iowa April 15 and runs through June 30, has been set at $1,442,536.

The state quota is $100-million. Only nine other Iowa counties are expected to fulfill quotas larger than Johnson.

Roger F. Warin, state director of the saving bonds division, Des Moines, said the drive quotas were set by a committee of Iowa business men, bank and farm organization representatives, and newspaper, radio and advertising executives.

Warin said, "The immediate objective of the drive is to take surplus dollars out of circulation, invest them in savings bonds and reduce their inflationary fever, but other results will project benefits into future generations."

Committees have been organized to make personal calls on farmers, and house-to-house solicitations will be made in many Iowa cities and towns.

Hillel Honors Four Outstanding Students

Hillel foundation awarded four students for outstanding service at the fourth annual Parents' Day banquet Sunday evening.

Winners of key awards are Herbert L. Kadden, C4, Des Moines; Ruth Mason, A4, Iowa City; Rosalie Lasker and Estelle Simon, both A3 of New York City.

Presentations were made by Robert Lappen, state commissioner of Hillel foundation in Des Moines.

Honorable mentions were given to Herb Holland, Evelyn Whitebrook, Ralph Katz, Anita Schiller and Deborah Cohen.

Personal Notes

Betty Balsover, student at Graceland college, Lamoni, visited John R. Bergman, A4, Lamoni, last weekend.

The following Ottumwa students spent last weekend at home: John Olaf Glentzer, James L. Wishard, Robert Bruno Kaufman, Chuck Stiles, and Stan Louderbach.

Visiting last weekend at home were John Douglas Dittmer, Elskader; Art Platt, Chicago; Roger J. Fallon, Fort Dodge, and Robert V. Oakes, Davenport.

Della Super, a student at Clarke college, Dubuque, was the weekend guest of Mary Ann Croker, A4, Aekley.

Dr. George Gallup, Princeton, N. J., director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, was the guest of Prof. and Mrs. Norman Meier, 402 Brookland place, Sunday afternoon and evening. After a trip to Chicago, Dr. Gallup returned to Iowa City last night. Today he will address the great issues class. Dr. Gallup graduated from the University of Iowa in 1923 and also received his M.A. and Ph.D. from the university.

Prof. Virginia Dix Sterling of the women's physical education department entertained members of the Women's Recreation board at a Sunday night dinner at her home, 15 W. Davenport street.

Guests included Thelma Wendel, Kathryn Olinger, Mary Lou Keener, Opal Bane, Mary Ann Wyant, Jean Swenson, Helen Falk, Anne Irwin, Joann Kirk, Patricia Sibbert, Frances Falck, Ellen Lyga, Colleen Adams, Dorothy Jahns, Doris Rizer and LaVonne Stock.

Newman Club Plans Dance for April 23

Newman Nocturne, the annual Newman club dance, will be held Friday, April 23, in the Union lounge from 9 to 12 p. m.

The Newman Nocturne queen and her attendants will be presented at the dance. Candidates' pictures will be displayed in Bremer's window this week.

Larry Barrett and his orchestra will furnish the evening's music. Members of the dance committee are Neil Casey, Mimi Hart, Joyce Bahr, Mike Giltner, Ned Billick, Jeanne Shearer, Frank Kauffman, Sally Lachner and Joan O'Shaughnessy.

Stories by Two SUI Students Are Published

Two graduate students in the English department have recently made the grade with short stories for publication.

"Houlihan's Surrender," by James R. McConkey, Lakewood, Ohio, has been accepted by Atlantic Monthly for publication in their July or August issue.

"The Train," a short story by Mary F. O'Connor, Milledgeville, Ga., has been published in the spring quarter of The Sewanee Review.

Delores Pechman Marries

DELORES M. PECHMAN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Pechman, 542 Clark street, was married Saturday to Martin V. O'Neill, son of William F. O'Neill, Davenport. The double ring ceremony was performed at St. Jerome's church, Columbus, Wis. Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Anderson, Columbus, were attendants. The bride is a graduate of Iowa City high school and the University of Iowa where she was affiliated with Alpha Chi Omega and Phi Gamma Nu. She has been employed in the business office of the university children's hospital. Mr. O'Neill attended St. Ambrose Academy, Davenport, and was graduated from Davenport high school. He has been employed with the Bettendorf co., Bettendorf, Iowa. After a brief trip, the couple will live in New York City.

University Symphony To Play Wagner Music

Feature selection in the university symphony orchestra's fifth concert of the season tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the Iowa Union main lounge will be the "Bacchanale" from Wagner's opera, "Tannhauser."

The orchestra will be assisted in the work by a women's choir selected and trained by Prof. Herald Stark, university chorus director.

In the opera, this music accompanies a ballet which Wagner inserted many years after he first composed the opera.

The plot of the opera deals with the struggle between the forces of good and evil to possess the soul of the knight Tannhauser.

The riotous "Bacchanale" takes place in the magic mountain of Venus. Nymphs, fauns, satyrs and other mythological creatures carry their frenzied dance to a stupefying climax when they are suddenly hushed by the appearance of the Three Graces. Voices of Sirens are heard in the distance, and the mad revel ceases.

Other numbers on the program will be Liszt's symphonic poem "Prometheus," Franck's "Symphonic Variations" with Norma Cross as piano soloist, and Tchaikovsky's "Italian Caprice."

Free tickets to the concert are available at the Union desk.

Students Elected To Catholic Board

Two SUI students have been elected to the executive board of the Central States Province of Newman clubs.

They are Fred Bissell, new provincial president, and Catherine Arganbright, corresponding secretary.

The Rev. Joseph Ryan Beiser, professor at the university's school of religion and assistant pastor of St. Thomas More chapel, was elected provincial chaplain for the coming year.

They were selected at the Central States convention in Lincoln, Neb., Sunday. The convention was attended by 123 delegates from 18 colleges and universities in the mid-west.

The SUI Newman club will be hosts to the convention next year. Local delegates attending this year's convention were Agnes Pierick, Elizabeth Gillen, John Martin, Stanley Cebuhar, Elmer Hentges and William Cahill.

"KEEP SAVING USED FATS!"

... It's a Habit That Pays

"My conscience wouldn't let me throw out even a drop of used fats when I know they're still needed so badly. Why, today's shortage of fats and oils is still very serious, our government says."

"I really get a kick out of seeing how much extra fat I can save... by melting down trimmings, skimming gravies, and scraping pans. I re-use it, certainly. But there's always something left to make saving worth while!"

"Have you ever stopped to think that used fats are the only kitchen waste that can be turned into cash? That's a good point to remember in these days of higher food costs."

Babes, Babies and Basketballers Perform at All-Campus Carnival

By RUSSELL ZELENIAK

"... for one tenth of a dollah see Fatima, the snake-hipped woman. She wiggles and giggles—she's an enticing dish, herry, herry..."

With this and many other varied shouts by leather-lunged barkers to the tune of blaring can-can music, the All-Campus Carnival got underway Saturday evening at the fieldhouse.

Attending this event sponsored by Omicron Delta Kappa and Mortar Board were about 6,000 persons. They saw the wiggling Fatima, perhaps threw eggs at a slick chick, or went into the house of horrors where the female "ghosts" were scared out of their wits. Many persons entered or observed 27 other booths one usually sees at a carnival.

The patrons of this "biggest little show on earth" also saw a baby beauty contest and crawling race, and a basketball game between the Haneher's Hawks and Deans, with the latter winning by a breath, 15 to 12.

WINNERS OF A RECOGNITION AWARD FOR OUTSTANDING SCHOLARSHIP AND service to the university are students Virginia Rosenberg and Charles Guggenheim. They received the award from Omicron Delta Kappa and Mortar Board, sponsors of the All-Campus Carnival.

THE RHYTHMIC SWAYING OF FOUR HULA GIRLS attracted many veteran students who spent shoreleave or furlough in Hawaii. The girls are (left to right) Jan Mevis, Joyce Meyers, Norma Gerard and Virginia McCoy. They were part of a five-act show put on by Sigma Chi. At one time, tickets were being sold for two shows in advance. Members of the cast seemed to be getting about as much kick out of the show as did their audience.

FATIMA, THE GAL WITH THE WICKED WIGGLE, was impersonated by Pat Wells. The homo sapiens who watched Miss Wells' performances agreed that the real Fatima couldn't have done better. She was in one of the acts sponsored by Sigma Chi.

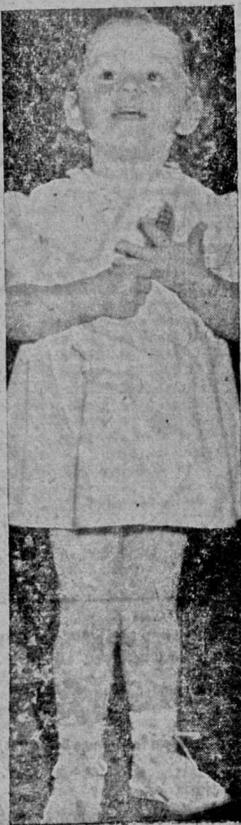

"MY BUSTED BACK!" cried Mr. Stork after delivering the "baby" in the carriage which was wheeled on the floor during half-time of the game between Haneher's Hawks and Deans. This was the start of a history-story on Tailfeathers.

THE WALKING MAN, PROF. H. W. SAUNDERS OF Haneher's Hawks. Saunders and many of his teammates, as well as Deans team, began the game with a zip and ended with a puff. Deans out-breathed Hawks and went on to win the game 15 to 12.

AND WHEN IT CAME TO WINNING BLUE RIBBONS, Amber Lee Mills showed the other kids how. She gave a cute smile and crawled off with first place in the girl's baby beauty contest. Amber Lee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mills, 1116 Finkbine park.

THE THOUGHTFUL LITTLE FELLOW WITH A FRANK SINATRA BOW TIE is Robin York Jr., winner of the boys beauty contest. Robin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robin York of 1026 Finkbine park.

City Plans To Enforce Garbage Laws

A statement calling for proper garbage disposal in Iowa City and a warning that violators of the state and city laws concerning disposal of garbage would be summoned into court was issued yesterday by the city health department.

The statement was made after the city board of health, at a meeting last week, heard reports of improper disposal of garbage, particularly by tenants of downtown apartments.

City Health Physician Dr. D. F. Fitzpatrick and Charles Schindler, restaurant inspector, told the board that some people were depositing garbage and trash in alleys, driveways and vacant lots and others were dumping it out of windows.

The statement pointed out that such practices are violations of sanitary laws of the state as well as of city ordinances.

The health department called for public cooperation with sanitary inspectors and the police department and asked people making complaints to report the names of persons violating the ordinances.

Violators of the law who are apprehended, the statement warned, will be summoned into court and may be fined up to $100 and costs of the suit for each violation.

Morrison To Speak At Press Meeting

William James Morrison of the school of journalism will speak at the Saturday morning session of the Iowa Press association convention in Des Moines, it was announced yesterday.

Morrison will speak on the work of the newspaper production laboratory which he heads.

Other faculty members of the school of journalism who will attend the convention Friday and Saturday are Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, Prof. F.W. Burton, Prof. E.F. Mason, Prof. Arthur Barnes, Charles E. Swanson, Carroll Coleman, Arthur Wimer, Paul Lyness and Henry Africa.

Alpha Phi Omega Offers Citizenship Award for Club To Hold Tryouts

Alpha Phi Omega, national service society, will make its annual citizenship award April 30, according to President Bob Martin, Hamburg.

The award is given to the local person who, in the opinion of the society, has been of outstanding service to the community during the past year. Last year Mrs. E. L. DeGowan, president of the Iowa City League of Women Voters, gained the award.

Martin said yesterday that the society welcomes suggestions as to persons or groups to be considered.

Presentation of the citation will be made at a recognition banquet. Persons wishing to contact Martin may reach him at 716 N. Duquette street.

New Act Tightens Rent Control

The use of injunctions against unlawful evictions, as well as against all other violations of the new Housing and Rent act of 1948, is authorized by the act, Area Rent Director T. J. Wilkinson announced yesterday.

"This broadened enforcement power will be useful to the rent office in effecting a fair administration of the law," Wilkinson explained.

Under the 1947 law, the rent office could ask the courts for injunctions only in cases of rent overcharges.

Wilkinson emphasized that "local courts" and not the rent office administer the eviction provisions of the rent law. He added, however, that "if the rent office finds what appears to be illegal eviction, it is now empowered to ask a court to issue an injunction to halt the violation."

The new rent law specifies that a tenant may be evicted for the following reasons:

1. If a landlord or a member of his immediate family wishes to occupy the quarters.
2. If the landlord has contracted to sell the place to a purchaser for his immediate personal occupancy.

3. If the landlord wishes to demolish the structure or to alter it substantially under specified conditions.
4. If the landlord seeks to withdraw the place from the rental market (such accommodations cannot thereafter be rented).

It is important that under the 1948 law, no tenant need surrender a housing accommodation until at least 60 days after he has received a written eviction notice from his landlord. The 60-day rule is void, however, if the tenant has not paid his rent, or is violating the obligations of his tenancy, or is creating a nuisance. In those cases, the time limit before evictions is governed by local law, Wilkinson said.

Motorcycle Victim In 'Good Condition'

Mrs. Emma Goldie Nandell, 50, 311 1/2 S. Madison street, was reported in good condition yesterday by Mercy hospital attendants. She was seriously injured when she was struck by a motorcycle Saturday.

Thomas Akers, West Branch, driver of the motorcycle that struck Mrs. Nandell, underwent an emergency operation on his right knee Saturday afternoon. University hospital officials reported his condition as good yesterday.

The accident occurred when Mrs. Nandell was crossing the street at the Clinton and Burlington street intersection.

Charles Mathes, reportedly from Iowa City, a passenger on the motorcycle, escaped injury.

Charges of failing to yield the right-of-way to a pedestrian have been filed against Akers by police.

Prof. Kirk H. Porter, head of the political science department, announced yesterday that a film on the Nuremberg war crimes trials will be shown tonight in room 221A Schaeffer hall at 8 o'clock.

The one-hour showing is jointly sponsored by the department of visual education, the history department and the political science department.

According to Prof. William Aydelotte, head of the history department, the scenes are of the actual courtroom procedure with flashbacks showing the rise of the Nazis and their war atrocities.

Produced by the Russian government, the film was released in this country by Brandon Film company of New York.

Commentary has been translated into English from the Russian.

The movie emphasizes the Russian point of view, Prof. Aydelotte said, but it is not propaganda. It portrays the suffering and destruction of Russian cities by the German armies.

Surviving are two sons, Albert J. and Ralph R., both of Iowa City; one sister, Mrs. Della Ruge, Dysart, and three grandchildren.

Explosive Gasses Counteract Recoil of New Gun

FAR CRY FROM GRANDAD'S SQUIRREL RIFLE is this recoilless rifle being aimed by Cadet Capt. Corey Wright Jr., advanced ROTC student. The weapon fires a shell more than two and-a-half inches in diameter with the accuracy of an M-1 rifle at ranges up to two-and-a-half miles. Explosive gasses escaping from openings in rear of gun counteract recoil. Blast of the gas is capable of ripping to shreds a wooden ammunition case set behind weapon. Alpha Xi Delta Sorority To Entertain Chapter Representatives in 3-day Meet

Sigma chapter of Alpha Xi Delta will be hostess to the seventh biennial convention of Province VII of the sorority Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

In Iowa City for the convention will be approximately 250 representatives of chapters from the Universities of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Drake, Iowa Wesleyan, Coe college and alumnae chapters of Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn.; Madison and Milwaukee, Wis. and Davenport, Des Moines, Mount Pleasant and Cedar Rapids.

Beth Jensen, A3, Council Bluffs, is general chairman. She will be assisted by Norma Jean Bedell, A3, Cedar Rapids. Both are active members of Sigma chapter. Housing will be in charge of Adelaide Cambridge, Iowa City alumni and Dorothy Edmondson, A4, Columbus Junction, active member of Sigma chapter.

Officers attending will be Mrs. C. A. McKinley, Minneapolis, Minn., national first vice-president; Mrs. Harold Skinner, province vice-president; Mrs. James Dwyer, province president and Mrs. Alma Runge, national pledge advisor.

Registration will open the convention at the Iowa chapter house at 4 p. m. Friday, followed by a buffet supper at 6:30 p. m.

Mrs. Dwyer will preside at the first business session at 9:30 a. m. Saturday. Mrs. McKinley will speak on "The Things We Do Earnestly Desire." "The Greeks Have a Name for It" is the subject of a talk to be given by Mrs. N.A. Winter, Des Moines.

Genevieve Johnson, Des Moines, will present changes in the constitution drawn by her committee for consideration and adoption.

A luncheon will be held at 12:30 p. m. at the chapter house, followed by panel discussions. The active group will be under the leadership of Joyce Miller, University of Wisconsin. Mrs. Gene D. Carson, Cedar Rapids, is chairman of the advisors' section and Mrs. E. Harold Skinner, Cedar Rapids, will lead the discussion on the alumnae section.

At 4:30 p. m., Shirley Long, A3, Cedar Rapids, assisted by her committee, will be hostess to alumnae representatives, presidents and housemothers of all panhellenic groups on campus.

The traditional formal rose banquet celebrating the 55th anniversary of founders' day will be held at 7 p. m. at the Methodist church. Miss Bedell will be toastmistress at this affair.

Concluding the three-day convention will be a model initiation on Sunday morning under the direction of Miss Bedell, president of the hostess chapter.

IC Firemen Answer 18 Alarms in March

Firemen answered 18 alarms and extinguished blazes causing $37,203 damage in March, Fire Chief J. J. Clark reported yesterday.

All but $1,700 of this amount was covered by insurance, he said.

Of the total loss, buildings sustained $13,671 damage while building contents were scorched to the extent of $23,532.

Rolling stock suffered no fire damage in March, Clark said.

Here's A Case Where — A Buck Goes Far

— From City Park, Anyway

A buck doesn't go very far these days. At least, not usually. But George Turecek, city park superintendent, is complaining about one that went too far Sunday.

The buck in question is a deer. He was one of the five kept in a fenced-in enclosure in city park.

Sunday evening three dogs got into the enclosure and frightened the deer enough so that one of them jumped out.

"He must have been pretty scared," Turecek said yesterday. "He jumped an eight-foot fence to get out. One of the others smashed her nose by ramming it against the fence, trying to get out."

The city won't suffer any financial loss if the buck fails to return. Turecek said the buck appeared in the park about a year ago and jumped into the enclosure of his own volition.

The same buck got out several times during the flood last summer. Debris forced against the fence forced it up about three feet, Turecek described, leaving a ready exit.

"We chased him up near the fence then," the park overseer related, "and he jumped back in."

Turecek was quite angry about dogs in the park. He pointed out that a city ordinance prohibits unleashed dogs in the park. Violation carries a $1 to $100 fine.

Two of the dogs responsible for the deer's escape were caught Sunday night. Turecek said one of them had killed a bantam in the park the week before, and the other had caught a white duck the following day. The duck was rescued before the dog could kill it.

The deer was in the park yesterday morning, but evaded attempts to corner it and later disappeared.

Rounding up a deer is a tough job, according to Turecek. He rejected the idea that someone handy with a lasso might rope the buck.

"You're lucky if you get within 100 or 150 feet of them," he said.

The park staff is waiting now for calls from citizens or police concerning the whereabouts of the distracted deer.

Two university students were injured in an automobile accident in Davenport early Sunday morning, according to The Associated Press.

Lewis Emery, 19, Newton, suffered a broken arm and back injuries. Richard Beck, 18, Iowa City, received back injuries and head cuts.

Emery was a passenger in the car driven by Beck.

Mrs. Walter Sanford, 28, Davenport, is in "fair" condition at Davenport's Mercy hospital as a result of injuries suffered in the accident. Her husband, driver of the other car in the wreck, suffered minor head injuries.

According to Davenport police at the accident, the Sanford car was going east on Locust street and collided with the Beck auto traveling north on Jersey Ridge road. Both vehicles were heavily damaged.

Hope for Peace Rests on Our Humility, Wisdom

'Atomic Age' Foreign Policy Requires A Modernized Structure of Government

By PRES. VIRGIL M. HANCHER

Twice in less than 30 years the United States has participated in a World War only to find at war's end a world less malleable to the principles of freedom and order than it was at the beginning.

Now we are engaged in a diplomatic struggle with a dynamic, expansive power whose leaders appear to believe and to act upon the belief that their system and ours cannot survive together.

PRESIDENT HANCHER

For generations we have been giving gratuitously and often bad advice to the French, British, Dutch, Chinese and others with respect to Germany, Ireland, Palestine, India, the Far East and Indonesia, only to find at last that the problems about which we were so glibly and irritatingly complex and unyielding.

For 25 years we have retreated into isolationism, and, while Russia was still weak and torn with internal difficulties, we neglected to prepare for this hour.

We are learning to our sorrow that the snap judgment of an American is not necessarily the ultimate in human wisdom. When we have taken an honest inventory of our shortcomings, when we are prepared to admit that we are neither as wise, nor as tenacious, nor as skillful as we need to be and when we are prepared to do something about it, we shall have gained half the battle.

What does America mean to you? What does it mean to me? It means a land and a people which have inherited much, perhaps most, of what is good in the western European tradition — conceptions of the dignity of man, of freedom and order under law, and of responsible government, that are a precious heritage.

America also means a land which has made its own unique contributions to civilization in 1. The application of the federal principle of government over a vast domain and a great population,

2. The development of the judicial review of executive and legislative action in order to preserve the federal principle in government and to be a restraint upon excessive or arbitrary official action,

3. The development of mass production in industry and agriculture, thereby providing the economic base upon which a great civilization may be built,

4. The development of mass education, without which a great democracy cannot govern itself, and

5. The concept of a free society, established without the restraint of the monarchial and the hereditary principle and seeking as its goals the creation of opportunities whereby men may develop according to their abilities and determination without regard to race, color, religion, or economic or social status.

This inheritance and these contributions seem to me to constitute America and the American way of life. If there is a better definition, let us have it. How can we believe in America unless we know what it is? Let us rediscover the foundation of our faith. Here is a clear foundation upon which our foreign policy can be built.

And the ideas behind these contributions are exportable goods. Have we a program that will send them abroad? Or are we so unimaginative that we can send only guns and planes and ships and men?

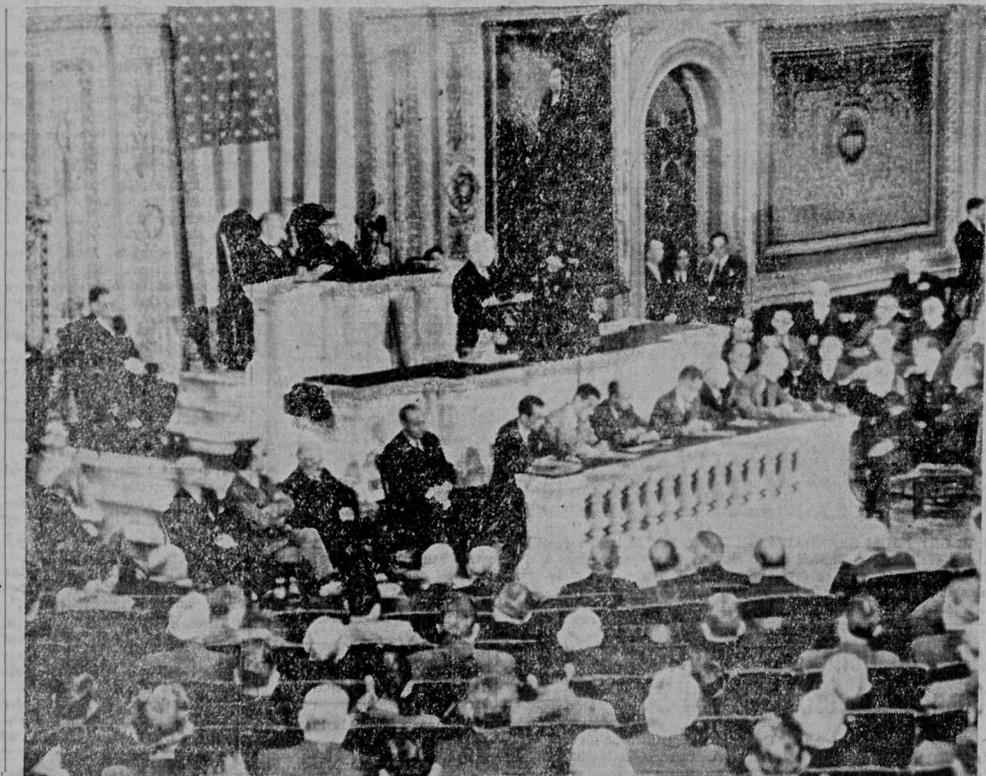

With these exportable ideas, we seek no accessions of power or territory. Our goal would be to help others to help themselves, so that we and they might live together in peace and security. Such a program might not penetrate the Iron Curtain, but it would be worth the gamble.

Finally, as a foundation for a sound, courageous and far-seeing foreign policy, we must possess a mature, responsible, courageous and wise people. Have we been mature in our attitudes toward other people? Have we not been dismayed when they questioned our motives, astonished when they showed no desire to imitate or resemble us, and puzzled and hurt when they did not share our enthusiasm for ourselves? Have we been mature in our lack of foresight and planning for the great role we are called upon to play? Have we acted responsibly in our speech and conduct both at home and abroad?

The 12,000 GIs who, at war's end, stood up in Manila and shouted "We want to go home!" acted understandably. Everyone understood their desire to return home, but their voices were heard far beyond Manila.

The event was reported around the world. Can there be any doubt that the Kremlin interpreted their act to mean that Russia might take the initiative in international affairs; because the United States would be powerless to keep her troops abroad long enough to consolidate the gains of victory?

Our fighting men have performed numberless feats of courage and daring. But have

President Truman Addresses Joint Session of Congress

An Example of the Federal Principle of Government at Work—An Export for Peace

we that other courage — the courage to stand alone against a powerful foe, as Russia stood at Stalingrad and as Britain stood after Dunkirk and the fall of France?

Had we been in Britain's place, would we have had the courage to stand fast and to stand alone when our only weapon was courage? Are nerves nourished on a formula of aspirin, coffee and cigarettes capable of standing up to a "cold war," where nerves of steel are needed? Perhaps so, but we cannot be sure. Neither can Russia, nor the world. If you were Finland or Sweden or Norway, what would you say?

If we are to have a wise foreign policy, we must be a wise people. Speed and inaccuracy are twin vices of our time. Activity and activities for their own sake, activity without thought, activity at the expense of thoughtful and considered judgment cannot be the foundation of a great society or a wise foreign policy.

Too often we have news that flourishes upon, if it does not create, conflict; editorializing that skins over the surface of events; comment that is full of sound and fury, signifying nothing; and an anarchical individualism that rebels against every restraint required for an ordered and orderly freedom.

Where are the responsibility, the judgment, the integrity necessary for survival? They are as rare as Christian martyrs, and as precious. How shall we keep our civilization unless we understand and know how to operate the instrumentalities by which it has been created and maintained?

There is little evidence that we have better brains than the prophets of Israel or the sages of Greece and Rome. Why then have we been able to achieve things which they were unable to achieve in their day?

Only because we have been able to develop and use great instrumentalities which they did not possess — representative government, the federal system, industrial corporations and charitable foundations, great universities, complex, efficient and swift media of communication and transportation.

As civilization grows more complex and the instrumentalities by which it functions increase in number and in size, the authority which must be delegated in the course of their operation likewise increases. Unless we have sufficient wisdom and self-discipline to recognize and abide by this fundamental fact, unless we can hold in restraint that anarchical individualism which is increasingly hostile to all self-discipline and to law and order and authority, we shall destroy the very instrumentalities by which our civilization was created.

And certainly we shall not be able to stand against the dynamic action and unity of effort characteristic of the authoritarian state.

The times call for a reinvigoration of all the qualities which have helped to make us a great nation, but they also call for qualities which we do not possess or fail to possess in adequate measure.

Unless we can achieve them, and achieve them quickly, there can be no peace. Perhaps there can be no survival.

Other nations have risen and fallen. There is no guarantee that we shall endure. Democracy on as vast a scale as we are attempting to practice it in this country is a new thing in the history of mankind. Our representative federal system is less than 160 years old. In its present extremely democratic form, it is less than 40 years old.

Extreme submissiveness can lead to totalitarianism. Extreme individualism can lead to anarchy. Only moderation, tolerance, and a wise understanding of the complex relations between those who are governed and those who are elected or appointed to govern them can give the nation an assured position in the world.

And, unless we are wise and strong, we cannot resist, or help others to resist, those governments and ideologies which despise the values of our civilization and which exalt power for its own sake.

The United States owes it to the world not to crack-up!

INTERPRETING THE NEWS—

Communist Victory in Chinese Civil War

By J.M. ROBERTS JR., AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

For the first time in the Chinese civil war, the Communists are making the claim that they are overcoming the mainstay of government defense strategy.

If true, this claim could be more important than the Communist decision to go over to a general offensive, announced Jan. 1.

The claim was advanced recently when the Communist radio told of the capture of 100 miles of railway in Shantung. It added an innocent-looking sentence about how the Communist armies had "begun to shatter Chiang Kai-shek's point and line defense system."

The point-and-line system is a method of defending railways, along which key battles take place in China. The government armies took this system over from the Japanese, more or less intact.

The Japanese, after three years of trying other ways, perfected it shortly before Pearl Harbor. It did not always work, but it was more effective than anything else they tried, and for a time it contained the Communists in certain areas rather well.

The Japanese would fight their way along a railway, establishing garrisons in the walled towns, which were the "points" in the system, and organizing the Chinese villagers along the "line" in between the "points."

Gangs of villagers along the line were forced to parallel the railway with a deep moat, throwing up the earth in a high bank alongside.

This was formidable enough to make it extremely tough for a gang of guerrillas to cross it—particularly with any considerable supplies—in a single night.

Villagers themselves were made to patrol the railway after dark to make sure nothing harmed it. If something did, the patrolman's village was held responsible and could be wiped out. Every villager was held responsible for everyone else in his village, and the intricate system of terror thus built up probably was far more effective than the earthworks in keeping the guerrillas at a distance.

Then, as now, considerable trade and travel went on across the supposedly air-tight lines of the net, and were winked at. However when things got rough the network was tightened up and very little moved.

Chinese government commanders have continued using this system for the obvious reason that it was the nearest thing to a workable way of keeping the railways open.

Now the Communists say they have begun to "shatter" it. They do not say how, but since the key to it is control of the villagers, it is likely that the Communists have figured out some way to influence whole strings of villages in concert with their military operations.

The Shantung peninsula, where a 100-mile stretch of railway was seized in a brief campaign, is an anchor point in the civil war. It outflanks the entire Manchurian front and most of the front in north China. The army that conquers it is ready to descend into the heart of China, the Yangtze valley.

"You don't want to be married, but you're the man of the house," said the girl.

"You know," she went on, "I was talking to your father. He said he got you a chance for a job at the Eagle place, and you didn't take it."

"I thought about it," said the boy.

"Yeh. In here, I bet," said the girl.

"Hey, none of that," said the boy. "I went down there and looked the thing over. It wasn't the job for me."

"What was wrong with it?" asked the girl.

"It's the kind of a job it would take two, three years to learn before you made good money," said the boy.

"So?" said the girl.

"You think I'm crazy?" said the boy. "Start on a job that takes two, three years to learn, with a war coming on so I'd have to give it up in the middle?"

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

For Better or for Worse

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

The young couple had been arguing steadily in a corner of the bar for some time. Their talk had now become cyclical, veering off in small starts and fits, then returning to the point.

"You been talking about it for a year and a half," said the girl.

"So I been talking about it," answered the boy. "But if I don't have any money, we can't get married. It's a plain fact."

He put on an impartial expression, to show he knew truth was on his side.

"Young people can take chances," said the girl. "Later on you don't want to take chances, but young people can take chances."

"I just thought of something," said the boy. "Maybe there's going to be a war. They'll want me, and we'll have some money, you'll get the allotments, and we can get married."

"Oh, great," said the girl. "It's going to take a war to get us married. It's going to take the army and the navy to get us married."

"Well, they say there's going to be a war," said the young man. "I was talking to your father."

"He gave me an awful how bad business was."

"He got stuck a little with some goods," said the boy. "If there's a war, he'll do better."

"Always the war," said the girl. "You make it sound like a month in the country."

"If there's a war," said the boy, "it won't be a joke. It'll be a toughie."

"Yeh," said the girl. "I could get killed," said the boy. "You know, it might be smart if we waited till it was over. You're too young to be a widow, and get stuck maybe with a baby."

"I get it," said the girl. "We can't get married until there's a war, and if there's a war we shouldn't get married."

"You don't want to be married, but you're the man of the house," said the girl.

"You know," she went on, "I was talking to your father. He said he got you a chance for a job at the Eagle place, and you didn't take it."

"I thought about it," said the boy.

"Yeh. In here, I bet," said the girl.

"Hey, none of that," said the boy. "I went down there and looked the thing over. It wasn't the job for me."

"What was wrong with it?" asked the girl.

"It's the kind of a job it would take two, three years to learn before you made good money," said the boy.

"So?" said the girl.

Men in a hurry undoubtedly are sure that they can save the world by bread and steel. But what when the bread and steel are used up? UNRRA poured money into countries and there is not a thing to show for all the effort.

The question presents itself: What is being done anywhere for the minds and skills of men? What is being done to train for leadership in the future? Are schools and colleges being rehabilitated: are apprentices being trained for work at skilled trades?

UNESCO exists to do something about all this, but UNESCO seems to be another of those UN debating societies which works out expensive budgets and holds costly and prolonged meetings out of which come a plethora of words.

Something more direct and more practical than UNESCO is needed. Its 1948 program, as worked out at a conference in Mexico City in November, 1947, leaves one with the feeling that very little of a permanent nature can be done by this body.

For instance, this is what they set forth with regard to training for leadership and skills:

"Approach the appropriate organs of the United Nations and the specialized agencies in order to ensure that in the development of reconstruction plans, proper attention shall be paid to the needs of reconstruction in the educational, scientific, and cultural fields."

One almost says to that: "So what?" What is needed immediately, say for a country like Germany, is the re-establishment of their formerly magnificent system of trade schools.

This is essential not only because a generation is growing up without skills and therefore without the ability to live an independent and productive life, but also as a resistant to communism, for youth that is hopeless, without prospect and without opportunity, naturally gravitates to a revolutionary movement.

UNESCO, even as late as its 1948 program, urged upon its director-general to "combine under a single administrative head the activities of the organization in fundamental education and other forms of education, for the purposes of mutual strengthening of these related activities and of closer coordination of educational activities with all aspects of UNESCO's programme."

Like to many UN organs, they fuss over organization, procedures, forms, investigations, the wording of resolutions, but they fail to get quickly to the heart of the problem and the job itself. The heart of the problem is how to restore schooling for leadership in Europe and how to create the skills in a youth that has been dissipated by war. The job is to rehabilitate schools.

Why should not the administrator of ERP, Paul Hoffman, include in his contracts a quota for the rehabilitation of trade and technical schools? No provision in the act passed by congress forbids that. Certainly as the intent of the act is to strengthen the so-called democracies, nothing could more effectively and permanently strengthen them.

In Germany, which is carried not by ERP but by the war department, this is a matter of immediate moment because Hitler exhausted both the leadership and the skills of Germany: in the war years, the best of the population was killed off, and since the war, youth has been so torn by the frightful social and economic conditions that it does not know which way to turn. It opens turns to revolution and communism.

To avoid wasting our bounty as the UNRRA funds were wasted, such questions need to be settled now, in advance, and not next year when the funds shall perhaps have been dissipated.

These days — ERP and Education in Europe

WHAT WAS HE LOOKING FOR?

Jason, the hero of mythology, set forth from Greece in the good ship Argo to find the Golden Fleece and bring it back. The fleece was the golden wool of a sacred ram, guarded by fierce bulls and a sleepless dragon. Medea, a sorceress, put the dragon to sleep, while Jason and his men harnessed the bulls and escaped with the Golden Fleece.

Council OK's Revised Swim Pool Plans

By JAY HORNING

The city council last night approved the revised plans and specifications for the proposed municipal swimming pool, set April 26 as the date for a public hearing of objections to them, and directed the city clerk to advertise for bids on the project.

Engineer Ned L. Ashton explained to the council that the revised plans do not change the pool itself, but make revisions to allow cheaper bathhouse construction, use of pressure rather than sand filters, and different plumbing and wiring facilities.

The work is now being offered under seven contract headings, Ashton said, and contractors will be permitted to bid on any or all of them.

This change was made with the hope that more bidders will be attracted and that local men will bid on the separate contract headings for the plumbing and electrical work.

The council also directed the city clerk to advertise for bids for the construction of sewers in several sections of the city. Citing the sewer improvement program as necessary and advisable for proper sanitary regulations and preservation of health, the group overruled objections to the program.

Including construction of sewers on 1st, 3rd, 4th and 5th avenues, Court street, Bloomington street, Reno street and Gilbert street, the project requires a bond issue of $13,216.38.

Two bids for garbage disposal contracts were received by the council. Ira W. and Ira J. Montgomery submitted a bid of $19,000 with the provision that they be given a two-year contract. A bid of $24,000 was received from Ira Keefer with a similar provision.

The city's present contract for garbage disposal expires April 30. The council discussed the possibilities of instituting city collection on the termination of the present contract, but took no action.

The matter was postponed until the council's next meeting April 19.

A Good Guy To Know

LE MARS (AP)—A 75-year-old wealthy bachelor announced yesterday he will give away $1,000,000 worth of property.

Most of it will go to his nephews and nieces, he said, adding that he will turn over what is left to friends.

He is Herman Schultz, who began building up his estate as a farm hand. He has always lived in northwest Iowa.

His property consists of 37 farms in this area and five in South Dakota. Schultz already has given away 12 farms ranging from 80 to 320 acres, to nephews and nieces whom he declined to identify.

Chimney Fire Reported

Firemen were called to Mrs. Eleanor Brown's residence, 804 E. Davenport street, at 5:05 p. m. yesterday, when a stuffed chimney caused the furnace to smoke.

No damage resulted from the blaze, Fire Chief J. J. Clark reported.

Enough Gas for Tourists

CHICAGO (AP)—American motorists can expect "sufficient gasoline to handle as much vacation travel as last year, maybe a little more," Dr. Robert E. Wilson, chairman of the board of Standard Oil of Indiana, said yesterday.

However, in a statement, Dr. Wilson urged the public to take steps to save gasoline. Standard oil specialists suggested that vacationists plan trips to avoid unnecessary mileage and to see that engines are in top condition.

AVC Protests Political Ban

The Johnson county chapter of the American Veterans committee Sunday night protested the recent "denial of university facilities to those actively engaged in political life."

Copies of the protesting resolution will go to Gov. Robert D. Blue, President Virgil M. Hancher and the state board of education.

The group also approved a resolution "affirming the opposition of AVC to universal military training and selective service at this time." The resolution will be sent to Rep. Thomas E. Martin and Senators George A. Wilson and Bourke B. Hickenlooper.

A proposed amendment to strike out the resolution opposing selective service was defeated.

Earlier, Prof. Vincent Nowlis of the child welfare department spoke to the group on the Kinsey report. Nowlis worked as an interviewer for Kinsey during compilation of the data.

Mrs. Schweet, chairman of the Ames AVC chapter's housing committee, reported on the AVC-sponsored housing rally held in Washington, D.C., Feb. 29-Mar. 1. She represented Iowa AVC groups there.

A special election to fill four vacancies on the chapter's executive council was postponed until the next regular meeting April 12.

SUI Young GOP's Ostracized

publican league of Iowa charged with administration of these matters.

Questioned concerning "outside" control of university organizations Goetsch said university policy is "very clear with respect to financial matters and where outside control is detrimental.

"Delicate Line" "But," he said, "there is a delicate line to be drawn between control and affiliation. In certain instances, affiliation with the parent organization is necessary for the existence of the university organization."

Goetsch said there is some question as to Lorch's authority to disband the Young Republican league" and that he would probably need confirmation of the move by the state Young Republican central committee before taking any action.

Last night Goodwin also said he questioned "whether authority has been conferred on Lorch to declare the Young Republican league of SUI is no longer a part of the Young Republican league of Iowa."

To Consider Group He also said he had assured Scott some time ago the question of recognition of the Vandenberg group would be considered at the regular business meeting of the league this Thursday.

"While awaiting clarification on the league's status from those in authoritative positions," Goodwin added, "the league will meet Thursday night as planned."

"At that time," he concluded, "any formal requests for recognition by 'for-President' groups will be presented to the league membership for consideration."

The text of the letters delivered by Lorch to Goodwin and the office of student affairs is as follows:

"This is to notify you that the Young Republican League of SUI is no longer recognized by the Young Republican League of the State of Iowa, and is instructed to cease using any name implying such recognition and to disband and cease functioning as a Young Republican League.

"Constituted Official" "I state this fact as a duly constituted official of the Young Re-fore the violation developed into a damaging siege of public bickering.

"3. The chairman of the league failed to fully advise the membership of this policy, thus consciously and purposely guiding the organization into its present disgraceful situation.

"4. The chairman of the league has consistently refused to inform the membership of his league of other policies as they have been known to him by the Young Republican Central Committee of Iowa.

"Withheld Information" "5. The chairman of the league has consistently refused to inform the central committee upon request of matters pertaining to membership, finances, policy and program.

"6. The chairman of the league was given four days to end the current disgrace (relative to the said failure to comply with the said basic policy of the Young Republican League of the State of Iowa) but made no attempt to do so, and refused to consult the membership of the league before the deadline.

Plan Audio-Visual Workshop

An audio-visual workshop will be sponsored jointly July 26-30 by the extension division and the college of education, Dean Bruce E. Mahan, extension division director, announced yesterday.

The workshop will provide school administrators, teachers and audio-visual directors with concepts in the audio-visual field. The following subjects will receive special emphasis and study during the workshop:

1. Audio-visual equipment, its use, operation and care.
2. The sources of audio-visual materials.
3. Selection of aids and evaluation procedure.
4. Methods of utilization of audio-visual aids.
5. Administration of an audio-visual program, including budget.
6. Architectural considerations for an audio-visual program.

The course will be listed as education 7:126, audio-visual workshop. One semester hour of college credit (graduate or undergraduate) will be allowed by the college of education for satisfactory completion of work in this workshop. The tuition charge for the one-week workshop will be $6.25.

Registration will be limited to 75 persons. Preliminary advance registration will be accepted by the extension division and final registration will be held between 8 and 10 a.m., Monday, July 26.

Students desiring credit for this course who plan to enroll in the University for the first time, or who, having been enrolled in the University, plan to enroll in another of its colleges, must apply for an official statement of admission from the office of the registrar before final registration.

In addition to university staff members, W.H. Durr, supervisor, bureau of teaching materials, Virginia State department of education, and J. Stanley McIntosh, assistant director, educational services, Motion Picture Association of America, will participate in the workshop.
