BALTIMORE (AP)—It was a repeat performance yesterday for Mrs. Charles H. Cox, 19, when she gave birth to an 8-pound daughter in the back seat of a police cruiser.

Another of her three babies was born in the back seat of her husband's car as he was rushing her to a hospital.

The husband and the two policemen delivered the girl.

Cox, 29-year-old bus driver, took a week's vacation.

'Cliff' Kelly Alive, in Serious Condition; Suspect Is Held

By MALCOLM RODMAN

Clifford Kelly, 220 S. Linn street, was alive but in serious condition following an operation at University hospitals early this morning. He was shot in the chest in the Strand Cafe at 6:40 last night.

Oscar Anderson, 58, Burkely Hotel, is being held by police on an open charge pending the outcome of Kelly's condition.

In an official statement to the press last night, County Attorney Jack C. White said Anderson revealed no deeper motive for the shooting than an argument in the Strand Cafe the night before. Anderson had not been drinking, according to police.

Anderson, the man suspected of shooting Kelly, was taken to the city jail under heavy police guard.

Later, at 7:20 p.m., police pushed their way out of the back door—shielding Anderson from photographers—and rushed him to the office of Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy in the county courthouse.

At the courthouse, Anderson's statements were recorded on a wire recorder.

He stated he remembered pulling the gun—a .38 calibre Iver Johnson—and replacing it in his pocket, but he did not remember firing the shot.

Two elements of mystery have been injected into the case. First, Anderson stated he had quarreled previously with Kelly. It may be possible that Anderson had encountered Clifford Kelly's "identical" twin brother, Clarence.

Clifford Kelly works for another brother, Ed Kelly who owns the Kelly Farm Equipment company, 310 E. Prentiss street. Clifford is a bachelor and has lived in Iowa City all his life.

Second, waitresses at the Strand cafe spoke of a "triangle love affair" between the two men and a woman. They declined to elaborate on this statement.

According to witnesses at the cafe, Anderson and Kelly had an argument in the restaurant the night before.

This is the story of what happened last night, as told by eye-witnesses:

"Cliff" Kelly entered the cafe and ordered. Anderson entered. Refusing to order, he began to argue with Kelly.

Kelly tried to ignore him. He started to leave, saying, "I'll be back." As he rose from his stool at the fountain, Anderson pulled a gun and fired into Kelly's chest.

Andrew Karas, proprietor of the Strand, was cleaning dishes from the counter next to Kelly's stool when the shooting occurred.

Karas turned and caught Kelly's slumped figure in his arms.

Mrs. J. J. Colbert, a cook at the cafe, overheard part of the argument between the two men.

"You want to pick a fight?" she heard Anderson say.

"I don't want to fight with nobody... I don't even know you," Kelly was reported saying. This injects the possibility of Anderson's mistaking Kelly for his twin brother, Clarence.

According to the official statement released last night by County Attorney Jack C. White, Anderson was positive the man he argued with Wednesday night is the man he supposedly shot last night.

A waitress at the Strand said Anderson was a regular customer at the restaurant. She described him as being "quite sickly, often mentioning suicide."

"He was moody, sullen and sometimes refused to talk to people," she said.

An ex-steeplejack, Anderson was injured severely in 1910. He has been living at the Burkely Hotel for the past two years.

Acquaintances said Anderson talked occasionally of a family, but appeared to have little interest in relatives.

They said he talk brokenly and thought he came to this country from Sweden when he was young.

Unable to write, he depended on others to compose his infrequent letters, they said.

Reports Scientists Shun Government's Atomic Research

CHICAGO (AP)—Because of the Condon case, many of America's top atomic scientists want no part of government work, a survey showed yesterday.

A house un-American activities subcommittee asserted last month that Dr. Edward U. Condon, head of the government's bureau of standards, was "one of the weakest links in our atomic security."

The house group also charged that Condon "knowingly or unknowingly entertained and associated" with alleged Russian spies. The charges were contained in a formal report made public.

The Atomic Scientists of Chicago, an educational organization limited to scientists who worked on the Manhattan district atom bomb project, asked its membership on their attitudes toward security and government employment.

Replies were received from 103 of the group's 144 members—half of whom currently are in government work.

The ASC said the question and replies were put as follows:

"How did the manner in which the charges were made against Condon affect your willingness to accept responsible government positions?"

12 percent—Made me decide to decline any such offer.

63 percent—Made me reluctant to accept.

23 percent—Had no important effect.

0 percent—Made me more willing to consider such an offer.

2 percent—No direct answer.

Capitol Hill — President Asserts Himself; Senate Passes Housing Bill

Truman Lashes Out at Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman, in defiant mood, challenged congress yesterday to hold up his appointments or to try to get secret data from the commerce department.

Talking back to the Republican controlled legislature at a news conference he asserted the power of the executive branch of the government in four different connections:

1. His anger sparked fire while discussing the house action yesterday in voting 300 to 29 to call on the Commerce department to release an FBI letter reporting on the loyalty of Dr. Edward U. Condon. Dr. Condon is head of the national bureau of standards in the Commerce department.

Mr. Truman commented by (mistakenly) quoting Thomas Jefferson on a supreme court decision Jefferson disliked: "The chief justice has made his decision; now let him enforce it." (Later the White House said Mr. Truman had in mind Andrew Jackson's reference to the supreme court in an 1832 Indian lands case. Jackson was quoted as saying: "John Marshall has made his decision; now let him enforce it.")

2. Presidential ire was apparent again when a reporter said that senate Republicans intend to hold up confirmation of presidential appointments pending election of a Republican president.

That's their business, Mr. Truman said sharply, if they want to cripple the operations of the government.

3. The question of presidential power to send troops abroad—in connection with the Palestine situation—came up when a reporter said some members of congress felt the President lacks such authority.

Mr. Truman said ironically that he wonders what authority the commander in chief does have over troops. He suggested reporters read up on presidential actions in sending forces to Vera Cruz, Mexico, Nicaragua and Haiti.

4. On the matter of John L. Lewis, Mr. Truman said he was enforcing the law in prosecuting the mine union chief. He declined comment on peacekeeping efforts made by house speaker Joseph W. Martin (R-Mass) in the strike. Martin is not in the executive branch of the government, Mr. Truman added a bit tartly.

He also said he is still willing to meet Premier Stalin of Russia—but in this country only. He said he doesn't expect to leave the country for such a conference.

Senate Passes Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate yesterday passed and sent to the house the multi-billion Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill. It is designed to encourage the building of 15-million new homes by 1958.

Senate passage of the hotly disputed measure by voice vote came quietly in sharp contrast to the wrangling over the bill during a week of debate.

Only about a dozen senators were on the floor for the final ballot.

But the earlier scrap is certain to be revived in the house. The house banking committee stuffed into a pigeonhole a similar bill passed by the senate in 1946. And there is plenty of opposition in the committee to some parts of the new bill.

Just before the senate voted it adopted two amendments.

One sponsored by Senators Young (R-ND) and Russell (D-Ga), added a $268,500,000 farm housing program to the bill. This replaced a provision for only a study of the rural housing situation.

The other amendment, offered by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis), authorizes the government to pay half of the cost of homes for severely paralyzed veterans confined to wheel chairs. However, the federal grant could not exceed $10,000.

The bill also provides, among other things, for:

1. Extending the federal housing administration's home loan insurance program 11 months, through March 31, 1948.

2. Home loan terms generally would be liberalized.

3. To spur construction of rental housing, there is a program of 90 percent loans over 40 years at four percent interest.

4. Big scale investors in rental housing would be guaranteed an annual profit of 3 and one half percent on their outstanding investment.

5. A 500,000-unit public housing program—the most warmly disputed provision of the bill.

6. Clearance of city slums.

Auto Worker Questioned

DETROIT (AP)—A 52-year-old auto plant worker was ordered held in "temporary detention" late yesterday in the investigation of the shooting and wounding of Walter P. Reuther.

Prosecutor James N. McNally said that Nelson Davis, Negro foundry worker at the Ford motor company and minor official in the CIO united auto workers was being detained for further questioning.

Senate Favors 19-25 Draft

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate committee studying a draft bill has virtually agreed to inducting men 19 through 25—the same age limit proposed in a bill now before the house.

Senator Gurney (R-S.D.) also said yesterday the sentiment on his senate armed services committee is in favor of the administration's new compromise 66-group airforce.

However, the committee took no formal action. It is still working on a temporary selective service-universal military training bill requested by President Truman as a part of his preparedness program.

The house armed forces committee also is working on a similar bill: its chairman, Rep. Andrews (R-N.Y.) offered his own draft bill to the house Tuesday.

Andrews' bill and the senate committee's tentative proposal agree on the age limits of men who will be called on to serve in the armed forces—19 through 25.

But Andrews suggests an age limit of 18 through 30 for registration, compared with the senate's 18 through 25. Earlier, the senate group was talking about an 18-through-44 registration age.

President Truman said yesterday the 66-group airforce plan actually does not represent a change in strategy. He said the new plan was agreed on by top defense officials and received his approval.

Although lard remained the same this week, a manager predicted one-pound lard will rise 2 cents next week. "The lard we're selling now was bought some time ago at a low price," he said. "The lard we bought this week to sell next week is about 2 cents higher," he added.

Two-pound Velveeta cheese climbed to $1.12, a 2 cent rise, while one-pound, four ounce oatmeal was up 1 cent.

Number two cans of peas returned to 20 cents this week, a 1 cent gain. Sliced peaches in no. 2½ cans were up 1 cent also, selling for 33 cents once again. Careful shoppers could find peaches selling for as low as 30 cents in some stores.

For the first time in months, not a single price decrease was found, making this week's survey still more unusual.

The Daily Iowan market basket survey is based on prices of 24 food items in seven representative Iowa City grocery stores.

Prices listed are an average of all stores combined.

Yesterday's index of $17.52 is an estimate of what a student family of three will spend for groceries this week.

The cost of each food item is weighed in accordance with the amount of that item a student family of three uses in a week.

The Daily Iowan market basket INDEX is not an added total of the prices listed above. Most is the INDEX figure takes into consideration both the costs of the items listed above and the amount of each item a student family of three uses in one week. The amount of each item the family of three uses in one week was arrived at in a survey conducted in cooperation with the university bureau of business and economic research.

Labor — Attempt Settlement of Meat Strike; Cut Steel Price

Packers Offered Arbitration Plan

CHICAGO (AP)—The CIO packing house workers union last night accepted a proposal by an Iowa farm leader to arbitrate its strike against the nation's major meat packers. Spokesmen for the packers indicated they probably would decline it.

Ralph Helstein, president of the union which has been on strike since March 16, accepted a proposal made by E. Howard Hill, president of the Iowa Farm bureau.

Hill suggested in a letter to each of the four companies involved, and to the union, that each side choose a representative, and that these two select a third member. The union struck in enforcement of its demand for a 29 cent hourly wage increase. The packers offered nine cents.

Most company sources declined to comment on the proposal. But a spokesman for Wilson and company said:

"What authority does Mr. Hill have to make this proposal? It is difficult to comment because we do not know what direct bearing Mr. Hill has. It is not as if the proposal came from the conciliation service.

"Generally it is the company's position that it cannot delegate to third parties the right to make decisions directly affecting the company's costs."

A's Topple Bosox Again, 5-3

Mackmen Win Third Straight

BOSTON (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics hit one ball into right field yesterday to sweep a three-game series with the winless Boston Red Sox by a 5-3 margin.

The only drive the A's lashed in that direction was a routine fly driven by Barney McCosky in the ninth inning with two on base. Sam Mele lost it in the sun and it went for a two-bagger that drove in relief pitcher Bob Savage and Eddie Joost to break a 3-3 tie.

Dave (Boo) Ferriss opened for the Red Sox and appeared to have the best of a pitching duel with Joe Coleman until the seventh, when the Athletics tallied twice to take a 3-2 lead.

Southpaw Mel Parnell then took over for Ferriss and his teammates tied up matters in the last of the seventh.

Tigers Sweep Series With Chicago, Win, 3-2

CHICAGO (AP)—The Detroit Tigers won their third straight victory from the Chicago White Sox yesterday 3 to 2, to keep pace with the Philadelphia Athletics atop the American league standings.

Held hitless for five innings by Rookie Howie Judson, the Tigers shattered the 22-year old right hander's dreams of winning his first major league start by scoring all their runs in the sixth.

Augustana Netsters Blast Hawks, 8-1

Augustana college of Rock Island took a liking to the sawdust courts of the Iowa fieldhouse yesterday, smashing a decisive 8-1 tennis victory over the Iowa Hawkeyes.

The win gave the Augies their fourth straight victory of the season. It was the first loss for the Hawks whose short-lived undefeated season included non-conference wins over Coe college and St. Ambrose of Davenport.

The visitors grabbed all six singles matches with sparkling and consistent play all the way down the line. Robert Brown was sharp for the Iowans, extending second-seeded Robert A. Nelson to three sets before bowing 6-8, 6-3, and 4-6.

The only bright spot for the Hawks was their improved doubles play. Bill Metz and Ralph Brown showed top form against the consistent Nelson boys in three rough and long sets. Cathcart and Crain turned in Iowa's only win in a 6-4, 6-1 triumph over Augustana's Hall and Russler.

Iowa's Demro May Pitch 1st Game of Notre Dame Series

The Notre Dame baseball team visits Iowa City this weekend for a two-game series with Coach Otto Vogel's Iowa nine. The first game today will start at 3:30 p.m.

The Hawkeyes will have a definite advantage in their meeting with the Irish of South Bend, having played 12 games to Notre Dame's three.

The Irish opened their season last Saturday by losing a doubleheader to Cincinnati university. They lost to Bradley yesterday, 2-1. Iowa's record this spring is seven wins and five losses, including two defeats in the Big Nine.

It is likely that Coach Vogel will start Pitcher Wes Demro this afternoon and save his No. 1 hurler, Jack Bruner, for duty tomorrow. The Irish will probably use their top chucker, Walt Mahannah, in the opener today.

Riddle's 2-Hitter Blanks Cubs

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Proving his arm is better, Elmer Riddle, the Cincinnati cast-off, pitched a snappy two-hitter yesterday to help the Pittsburgh Pirates blank the Chicago Cubs 3-0 before 7,700 fans.

The Pirates backed up Riddle with 10 hits and two fast double plays. However, he was in trouble only in the fourth, when he walked three men. Bob Rush, 22-year-old South Bend, Ind., boy, was the losing pitcher.

Big Nine Baseball

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Nine baseball race swings into full stride this weekend as defending Champion Illinois, Minnesota and Northwestern make conference debuts.

The Illini play host to Minnesota's Gophers, and Northwestern is at Ohio State (2-0) today and tomorrow. Other two-game sets find Purdue (0-2) at Wisconsin (2-0) and Michigan (2-0) at Indiana (0-2).

Crown Eight Mat Champs

Six versatile intramural wrestlers captured all-university championships yesterday while two others took top honors on forfeit wins.

Dan Roper, Phi Delta Theta, took the 121-pound crown with a forfeit victory over Bill Davis, Hillcrest H. Forrest, Witer, Law Commons C, took the 136-pound crown over Dick Rosenquist in the 155-pound class.

In 128-pound competition, Demar Cope, Hillcrest K, took an easy 4-0 decision over George McCool, Theta Xi. Leonard Lybber, Upper C, shared the 136-pound crown with Warren Hudson, Emerald, when they fought to a draw.

Robert Stevenson, Hillcrest H, defeated William Sidler, Theta Xi, for 145-pound honor. In the 165-pound final John Lanes had little trouble with Richard Taylor, Sigma Phi Epsilon, David Shugart, Phi Gamma Delta, downed Mahlon Miller, Beta, for the 175-pound championship. In the heavyweight tilt, Dick Hoerner, Sigma Phi Epsilon, threw Robert Liddy, Pickard.

Men To Hold Practice for Annual Sing

Practices for the 11 men's groups participating in the UWA-sponsored University Sing will be held tomorrow afternoon in Macbride auditorium, Chairman Mary Frances Dahl announced yesterday.

Practice times as follows: Alpha Tau Omega, 1:20 p. m.; Sigma Phi Epsilon, 1:40; Town Men, 2:00; Delta Chi, 2:20; Pi Kappa Alpha, 2:40; Theta Xi, 3:20; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 3:40; Quadrangle chorus, 4:00; Sigma Chi, 4:20; Hillcrest chorus, 4:40; and Delta Upsilon, 5:00.

The groups are listed as they will appear on the semi-finals program to be held Monday at 7:30 p. m. in Macbride auditorium.

Charles Guggenheim, Cincinnati, and Robert Haakenson, Luverne, Minn., will act as masters-of-ceremony of the semi-finals contest. Participating groups will be seated on the main floor and the balcony will be open to the public, Miss Dahl said.

Four winners will be selected to compete for final singing honors on the banks of the Iowa river Mother's Day, May 9.

Semi-final judges will be Charles W. Davis and Katherine La Sheck, instructors in the university music department, and DeLores Saunders, City high school instructor. They will base their decisions on intonation, diction, interpretation, stage presence and deportment, variety of song arrangements, and quality and blend of voices.

Groups selected as winners in the women's semi-finals held last Monday were Delta Delta Delta, Currier chorus II, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Pi Beta Phi.

Hold Services for Air Crash Victim

Funeral services were held in Victor yesterday for Bernadine Marie Feller who was killed in the crash of a Pan-American World airways plane at Shannon, Eire, last Thursday.

According to the Associated Press, Miss Feller was a stewardess aboard the Pan-American World airways luxury liner "Empress of the Skies."

Miss Feller graduated from the university in 1946. She was a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority.

Her brother, Robert F. Feller, arrived in Iowa City from the Far East Wednesday on his way to Victor for the service. A pilot for Trans-Asiatic Airways in Bangkok, Siam, he graduated from the SUI college of engineering in 1947.

Although last rites were held for Miss Feller in Ireland, a memorial service was held at St. Bridget's church in Victor.

Plans will be made for the national field day in June. Purpose of the day is to check emergency radio communications for use in cases of disaster by the Red Cross or other agencies.

The local club has participated in the annual event three times and taken one of the first 10 places each time.

Tonight's meeting will be open to all amateur radio operators and interested persons.

Fine 3 in Police Court

Two persons were fined $12.50 each in police court yesterday for loitering charges. One person was fined $7.50 on an intoxication charge.

Presbyterians To Begin Drive

The initial canvass for the new Presbyterian church center will be made Sunday, May 2. This drive will be conducted to procure gifts and pledges from church members for a $100,000 building.

The local church will need to raise $50,000 of the total amount, with the state synod matching the local fund.

According to the Rev. P. Hewison Pollock of the First Presbyterian church, this building will provide not only facilities for the students, but also for the Sunday school and church organizations in general.

Of the $50,000 needed for the project, the local church already has the lot west of the church to build on, the Willis memorial and a remainder in an old building fund for $16,162.

Sixty canvassers will be used to contact members of the church during the drive. The committee on the canvass is Chairman Robert G. Stevenson, H. G. Plum, Ralph Cozine, Stephen Darling, E. Donald Williams, O. Clyde Sutherland and Robert H. Lind.

Petersen Heads Freedom Train Group

To Organize Show Of U. S. Documents

William J. Petersen, superintendent of the state historical society, has been named by Mayor Preston Koser as general chairman of the Iowa City "Freedom Train" committee. The train will appear here June 18.

Koser announced the appointment at a meeting yesterday afternoon with Nelson G. Wetting, area director of the American Heritage foundation, which is conducting the train's tour, and representatives of civic organizations in city hall.

Wetting described the "Freedom Train" tour of 315 American cities as "the biggest peace-time patriotic movement in history."

Its purpose, he explained, is to help raise the level of active individual citizenship in the United States.

"Too many of us are inclined to take democracy for granted," the area director said.

Some people never think about their freedom of worship and speech, or their access to the courts and rights to elect their governing officials, he said. Wetting cited the state of Texas, where only 16 percent of the eligible voters are registered, as an example of citizens not taking advantage of their rights.

"If some of these freedoms and benefits were taken away from us, you'd hear shouting to the rooftops," he said.

Wetting explained that the American Heritage foundation is a non-profit, non-partisan organization representing business, labor, community and national groups, with a positive program to raise the level of citizenship.

The U.S. attorney general is sponsoring the train, the foundation is conducting the tour, and it is financed by public contributions. Iowa City's financial share of the tour has been set at $1,200. The contributions, Wetting said, are used to pay expenses of foundation headquarters in New York City, salaries and travel expenses for the nine area directors, first-class passage for the train's 40 personnel, the $175,000 cost of the train itself, and the distribution of literature.

The area director outlined the three phases of the foundation's program:

1. A national year of rededication, designed to acquaint the general public with the program,

2. The week of rededication (June 12 to 18 for Iowa City) during which citizens are urged to rededicate themselves to their heritage, and

3. The appearance of the "Freedom Train."

The train, when it appears here, will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., Wetting said.

Koser said that he would consult Petersen before appointing committee chairman. Petersen was out of town yesterday. Wetting will return to Iowa City on May 5 to meet with Petersen and the various committees.

Petition Asks Franchise To Erect Feeder Line In Southern IC District

A petition for a franchise to erect a one and three-fourth-mile, 13,800-volt feeder line has been filed with the Iowa state commerce commission.

The feeder-line will provide a more adequate supply of electric power to the growing industrial district just south of Iowa City.

The main businesses that will be affected in the area are the Iowa Valley Milling company, Protein Blenders, Incorporated, and Kelley Field.

The franchise petition will come up for hearing at 10 a.m. May 11 at the offices of the commerce commission in Des Moines. The new line will connect to another 13,800-volt line linking the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company generating station at Corville with its sub-station on Sheridan avenue.

Starting at the intersection of S. Linn street and the city limits near Iowa City Sales company, the new line will proceed southward one mile on or near the sand road.

It will continue three-quarters of a mile westward across private property and Iowa river until it reaches the Protein Blenders, Incorporated, installation.

The new line will follow an existing line but will provide an increased voltage for the new industrial area's bigger demand.

Elaine Roberts Elected

Elaine Roberts, A3, Moline, Ill., was elected president of Gamma Alpha Chi, national professional advertising fraternity for women, Tuesday night, at Iowa Union. Other new officers are Marilyn Harris, A3, Muscatine, vice-president; Mary Lou Miller, A3, Burlington, secretary; Margaret McCaslin, A3, Fort Madison, treasurer, and Audrey De Coy, A4, Woodbine, reporter.

Installation of these officers will be at 7 p. m. Wednesday in the YWCA rooms, Iowa Union.

Johnson, Brown Plan Speech Clinic Talks

Prof. Wendell Johnson and Prof. Spencer F. Brown of the speech clinic will attend a three-day meeting of the International Council for Exceptional Children beginning Monday in Des Moines.

Johnson, director of the speech clinic, will address the convention Wednesday. His topic will be "Who is Handicapped by Whom?"

Brown will speak to a section correlating the efforts in speech correction. His topic for discussion will be "Combined Medical and Non-Medical Approach to Speech Problems in the University Clinic."

Carey To Discuss Copy

John Carey, graduate assistant in the university's bureau of newspaper service, will speak on "Writing Readable Advertising Copy" at a luncheon meeting of the Muscatine Advertising club in Muscatine today.

'Symposium for Peace' Guest Editorial — Peace Is Health, War a Disease

We Must Preserve the Former So That We May Adequately Combat the Latter

By DR. WILBUR R. MILLER,

Head of Psychopathic Hospital

Peace is a state of health. Health means "wholeness," "soundness." Peace is therefore a condition of soundness affecting groups.

In the individual, if the wholeness is disturbed by injury or infection, discomfords result. This is called dis-ease. The body attempts to be rid of the dis-ease, sometimes by violent methods, as high fever.

Perhaps we can carry the analogy to groups, since groups are made up of individual humans, and tend to react as do the individuals. Wars may be the violent reactions of groups to restore soundness. But as in humans, the reaction may be worse than the disease.

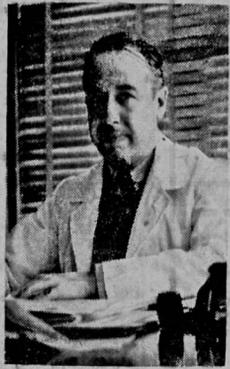

New drugs such as penicillin, or treatments such as psychotherapy may save the individual from violent reactions which cause more damage than improvement. So with groups, the "natural" way—war—may be superseded by more rational ways—economic unions—which continue peace at less cost to the group.

Is there any evidence to the psychiatrist that war and peace have effects on the functioning of the human mind? There are indications that there are such effects.

The most striking are the development of mental upsets in soldiers, both related to induction into armies and battle conditions. But there were also improvements for others.

For many it was the first opportunity for achievement and action, and they rose to the challenge. Returning to peacetime conditions was filled with frustration and disappointment. For the civilian, war may be a vicarious way of indulging unconscious hostility. We do know that suicide rates reach their lowest points during wars, despite the sorrows and hardships endured by many families.

The human is a strange animal, and the psychiatrist finds him full of contradictions. He maintains his civilized status only with considerable effort and constant watchfulness.

The newer parts of his brain not developed to the point where this is easy. His more primitive inheritance has great strength. Does this mean that wars are inevitable and unavoidable? For the individual, does it mean that mental disease is unavoidable? Both indicate a break through of more primitive drives and urges.

In the case of mental disease, man has learned in the past hundred years that in order to protect the mentally ill person and society, that it is necessary to place such a person under care. He is isolated, and if methods are known, his illness is treated. We do not fight with or eliminate them.

Wars are the mental disease of groups, often precipitated by greed, hate and lust for power, back of which are the same un-

"Mentally Ill Persons Are Isolated, Not Eliminated"
Can We Practice the Same Method on an International Scale?

civilized urges that are the basis for mental disease in the individual.

As long as mental disease was considered as possession by evil spirits, rational approaches were impossible. If we continue to think of war as an inevitable consequence of "power politics" and "economic struggles," destruction and conquest will be the methods of solution.

Why is it that the large number of insane in our hospitals do not unite and free themselves from the few who care for them? It is due to their being driven by as many different motives and ideas as there are individuals. There is no common ground for cooperation.

Peaceful nations and peoples have common grounds for cooperation and union on rational basis. Warring nations are motivated by irrational drives. Must we wait for the madmen to be loose and destroying us before we see the necessity for rational cooperation?

Peace, like health, is taken for granted until disaster strikes us. But we no longer take health for granted. We inspect our food, sterilize our water and enforce sanitation. We punish those who do not conform, because they endanger us all. Now, however, the plague of war is threatening.

It is too late for laws and preventive measures. It must be contained by concerted effort, no matter the price. The health of peace may be preserved now, so that later the same concerted efforts may be used to isolate and treat the sources of war.

It is not a happy picture, because the psychiatrist, more than many, realizes that man, although he considers himself a rational animal, is more often driven by irrational impulses.

Man is facing this challenge now.

SUI Theater Holds — Pre-Broadway Hearing

—Of Riggs' Play

By JACK O'BRIEN

By way of clarifying its uncertain intentions toward "experimentation," the University theatre is opening tonight with "A World Elsewhere," a script of Lynn Riggs presented in advance of its "Broadway hearing."

The author, whose "Green Grow the Lilacs" blossomed into the perennial musical, "Oklahoma," has come to the campus to witness the production. In honor of the playwright, the drama department is exerting all its efforts in a sort of one-man play festival.

In addition to "A World Elsewhere" which will be available to all corners, there will be closet productions and readings of three "new" Riggs scripts: "Year of Pillar," a tragedy set in Yucatan; "Dark Encounter," a semi-realistic war play, and "Laughter from a Cloud," a sophisticated comedy.

Originally, "Year of Pillar" was to be given a complete performance as a part of the "new ventures in experimentation" the department says it is planning. But the plan was discarded. Possibly because the play flirts with all sorts of taboos; illegitimacy, prostitution, a hint of homosexuality and suggestions of both the lethargizing effect of religion and the stimulating effect of cocaine. Possibly, because the moody psyche of the Yucatan presents a colossal casting problem.

At any rate, it's not because it's an inferior play. "Pillar" is more interesting in plot, more provocative in characterization and more cohesive in construction than "A World Elsewhere."

About "Laughter from a Cloud," this writer knows nothing. A dispatch from d. a. headquarters identifies it as a "re-written version of a sophisticated comedy set in Santa Fe," which might mean something to some of you.

"Dark Encounter," written in 1944, is a rather interesting attempt to fight the war on an intimate, individualized basis. It's particularly novel in that a crippled American veteran, a breed usually portrayed as a sort of big brother to little Eva, turns out to be one of the villains of the affair.

"A World Elsewhere" is described as a "glittering high comedy." In it, Riggs "has written with hilarious comedy and excitement" about a topic that is not, itself, particularly amusing. He depicts the futile desire of certain upper-crust Americans to flee their political responsibility and seek a haven of security in some isolated Shangri-La (Mexico in this case). Both their inclination to sit by while the rest of the world destroys itself and the way in which they bargain and compromise with fascism, represented by a Mexican general, are too uncomfortably close to reality to be laughable.

There are several interesting characters in the play, however. One of which, the general, gives Charles Gaupp the opportunity to portray a full-blooded fascist with a glamorous military flair—a role he has already done to perfection in Werfel's "Jacobowsky and the Colonel" a few semesters back.

SUI Men To Speak at Cornell Meeting

Five SUI professors will take part in the fifth annual classical conference at Cornell college, Mt. Vernon, today and tomorrow.

Prof. George Karo of the departments of art, history and classics will address an evening meeting tonight on the topic "Some Forgers and Forgeries in Ancient Art."

A discussion on "Content of High School Latin Courses" tomorrow afternoon will be led by Prof. Gerald F. Else, head of the classics department.

Professors Arthur H. Moehlman and Everett Lindquist of the college of education will contribute to meeting tomorrow. Moehlman will give a paper on "The Humanities Course from the Viewpoint of the History of Culture" at a morning panel discussion.

Lindquist will lead an afternoon symposium on "Measuring Attainment in Foreign Languages" in which Prof. Dorrance S. White of the Classics department will participate.

County Tax Payments Total $1.5-Million

Johnson county was one of 29 counties which contributed 57 percent of all the tax revenue received by the state of Iowa in the last fiscal year, according to a state tax commission survey.

Ten of Iowa's 99 counties contributed 35 percent of the tax revenue, according to The Associated Press. Of the total state income of $110,780,578, the 10 counties contributed $39,273,617. The 29 counties supplied a total of $63,863,913.

The state received $1,519,660 from Johnson county during the last year. Polk county had the highest total with $10,078,113.

Out of the total revenue 70 percent was returned to counties, cities, towns and school districts in the form of state aid, a summary accompanying the survey said.

The biggest sources of state revenue were the sales and use taxes.

Announce Drop In GI Students

Less than two-thirds of the 1,863,000 veterans who entered colleges and universities under the GI bill and Public Law 16 are still in training, the Veterans administration said yesterday.

Of the 1,128,000 continuing their studies, 1,145,000 are enrolled under the GI bill with 83,000 under Public Law 16, for disabled veterans.

From the beginning of both programs until March 1, when this survey was taken, more than 735,000 veterans temporarily interrupted or permanently discontinued collegiate training.

This group includes 83,000 veterans who have completed a course of study. Colleges enrolled slightly more than one-third of over five million veterans who have entered all types of training under both laws.

More than $4-billion dollars has been spent on veterans' education and training programs under the GI bill and Public Law 16 since the start of both programs, and more than half of this sum was spent during 1947.

14 Awarded in Student Salon

Fourteen quality awards in the student salon of art were announced this week. (The salon is currently showing in Iowa Union and the art building.)

A popularity poll in the oil painting division last Sunday indicated that Herman Zykofsky, 214 1/2 S. Clinton street, met strong public approval with his "Just Judges."

Emerson Woelffer of the Chicago Institute of Design, Marvin Cone, head of the Coe college art department, in Cedar Rapids, and Mauricio Lasansky, professor of prints in the university art department, acted as judges for the exhibit.

Instead of attempting to establish a system of first and second place awards, the judges chose to designate the four outstanding examples in each of the mediums of oil, prints and sculpture. However, because of the comparatively few entries in watercolor, gouache and drawing, only two examples were chosen from the first group and one from the latter. Of 38 entries in the oil section, "Rocks and Sun" by Dean Bowman, "Landscape" by LeRoy Burkett, "Still Life" by Arthur Lewis and "Just Judges" by Herman Zykofsky received the honorable mention awards in that area.

The judges chose Paul Brady, "Pastoral," "Night Walk" by Lee Chesney, "Self-Analysis" by James Steg and James Walker, "The Enigma" as the top four of the 22 prints entered.

Wayne Nowack won honorable mention in the drawing division with "The Little Moon Garden." Only five other students competed in that division.

Eight students entered the watercolor and gouache division, and the honors went to Helen Carter for "Blue Space."

"Jacob and the Angel" by Marie Huper, "Electra" by Stanley Keat, "Kneeling Figure" by Walter Meigs and R. H. Stout's "Fish" were chosen by the judges from 22 pieces in the sculpture division.

The Cameron suit for an injunction against Johnson county was continued yesterday until Thursday by Judge James P. Gaffney of the Johnson county district court.

Hattie, Cornelia and William T. Cameron are seeking to prevent the county from using one acre of their land to straighten the I. V. W. road west of Iowa City.

Attorneys for the parties involved said yesterday the case is near a settlement.

The Sickie Meets A Tigger Tree

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT Our 'Cold War' for Peace

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

The results of the Italian elections come like a reprieve, a release from care, a lucky spin of a coin. There is a collective western sigh.

And now that the elections are over, it seems to me that there was something about the whole affair that was not good for the dignity of the United States; something about the way we waited for the returns, clung to the wires to learn the fate of our generation by telegraph, listened, as if for a sound through the night.

There was something humiliating in the way we crossed our fingers, and shook our heads; something humiliating even in the feeling of relief at the end. We were hoping for a break. We got it.

But we should not need breaks. Our futures ought not to be subject to anything so chancy as the last-minute flurries and cross-currents of improvised campaigning in a country far away.

If we are going to set up any new sights for our foreign policy following the Italian elections, one of them ought to be a determination to prevent the recurrence of a period of dismay, such as this one was. We ought not to have to go through anything like it again.

And the way to do that, it seems to me, is to conduct ourselves and our policies that there can not again be any reasonable doubt as to how any nation whose civilization is at all similar to ours will vote.

We could make a beginning, I think, by giving up some of our cheerful blabbing about the "cold war." The Italian election was like a battle, and we waited for the news of its outcome as one waits for news from a battlefield. But since the cold war continues, there must soon be other battles, in Italy and elsewhere.

An unending perspective of cold war is an unending perspective of such battles. It means persistent fear for the future on the part of all people, our friends as well as those who oppose us; it means endless alarms and excursions, mobilizations, and counter-mobilizations.

It means that for the entire foreseeable future, every street fight in Europe must have a lurid significance for us; it will be important for its possible effect on the cold war, and it will be the cold war which makes it important, and perhaps rouses both sides to greater efforts.

If we were to change over from prosecution of the cold war to a deliberate search for peace, it seems to me that we might get more done, and get it done more quickly.

We have already, as shown by the Marshall plan, made a discovery of the importance of one of the great essentials, bread. We are now trying to establish the thought that where we are, there is bread.

But peace is also one of the essentials. If we could establish the idea that where we are there is both peace and bread, then we would really be in a position to make vast gains, and there would then be no doubt as to how elections would run.

To demand peace of the Soviet Union, to offer and to request major conferences, to present draft peace plans, tirelessly, and tirelessly to request peace meetings, promising always to be the last to leave, would be to lift our "cold war" to a significantly higher level, to make it one with the war which the ordinary people of the world have always and everywhere had to wage for a portion of security and surcease.

There are those who would call such a change of line appeasement. Such men are ignorant of the powerful side-effects, to consider no other, of the cry for peace. They do not understand that if we are thoughtless, and let our opponent make the demand for peace his own, he will wield it like a sword.

Dr. Dodge To Talk At Vesper Service

Council Appoints Bartley City Solicitor

Attorney Replaces Edward W. Lucas

By RAY HENRY

WILLIAM H. BARTLEY

Attorney William H. Bartley was appointed city solicitor yesterday by the city council following the acceptance of Edward W. Lucas's resignation.

Lucas, who held the city solicitor job for over a year, handed his resignation to Mayor Preston Koser Monday night. He gave "press of business" as his reason for resigning.

At that time, Lucas said that a disagreement among council members over city garbage disposal arrangements was not the reason for his resignation.

Bartley, who is a former city editor for The Daily Iowan, will take over his job immediately. Alderman Max S. Hawkins said last night following the appointment that one of Bartley's first jobs should be to negotiate a contract for garbage disposal.

Disagreement over garbage disposal came when several members of the council wanted to set up a city-operated collection and disposal and the mayor and Hawkins wanted to continue a private contract with Ira Montgomery. Montgomery's present contract expires April 30.

On the suggestion of Alderman James Callahan, the city council commended Lucas for the quality of his work and devotion to the duties of his office.

No other nominations for the job were made by the council. They did say that other Iowa City lawyers were considered, however.

Bartley, a lecturer in engineering law at the university, is an associate member of the law firm of Messer, Hamilton, and Cahill. The city solicitor's job has a $2,400 salary.

The 31-year-old new appointee was recently elected to the Iowa City school board which is a job without monetary compensation.

He is married and has three children.

University High Students Launch Clothing Drive For European Countries

The University high school student council launched a clothing drive at the school this week. All clothing collected in the drive will be sent to European countries.

Each University high class is competing for a cup which will be awarded by the student council to the winning class at the end of the drive. Bob Ojemann and Bob Ballantyne are co-chairmen.

The Hawkettes, a club at University high, will sponsor a dance in the school gym Saturday night to support the drive.

Each student is requested to bring one article of clothing as admission to the dance.

Girls working on dance arrangements include Veda Buterbaugh, Janet Richardson, Susan Winter, Carolyn Squier, Ruthann Reid, refreshments; Letitia Dawson, Bobby Jenks, Leann Irwin, Carolyn Hornung, Peggy Miller, Evie Smith, decorations.

Johnson county chapter of American Veterans committee last night voted to be represented at the Iowa board of education meeting at Vinton May 10-11.

The AVC delegation will join with local Young Republican, Young Democrat and Wallace groups in advocating the board rescind its policy banning the use of university facilities by political figures.

AVC Joins Groups Protesting Speech Ban

The local AVC group also voted to urge Rep. Thomas E. Martin by telegram to support house passage of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill approved yesterday by the senate.

Members of the veterans' group meeting in the Methodist church basement approved a no-opposition slate of four officers to fill vacancies on the local AVC executive council.

Officers elected were Joe Murphy, vice-chairman; Bob Mohr, treasurer; Miles Manchester, university affairs committee chairman, and Harry Kalish, veterans' affairs committee chairman.

AVC members also rejected the proposed rental of a former third-floor bowling alley in a Washington street building for use as club-rooms by the organization.
