Noted Surgeon, Former SUI Professor, Dies in California

Dr. Charles J. Rowan Succumbs After 5-Week 'Chronic Illness'

Dr. Charles J. Rowan, 73, former professor and head of surgery at University hospitals, died about noon yesterday (CST) at St. Vincent hospital in Los Angeles, according to the Associated Press.

Dr. Clarence J. Berne, attending physician and a former student of Dr. Rowan, said death was due to a "recurrence of a chronic illness." He did not reveal the nature of this illness, but said Dr. Rowan had been ill about five weeks.

Born Nov. 28, 1874, in Chicago, Dr. Rowan was the son of Peter J. and Mary C. Rowan. His father was a physician.

He was married on April 29, 1907, to Maud B. Miller, now deceased. He remarried on Oct. 6, 1941, to Sophia Polgieter.

Dr. Rowan attended St. Patrick's commercial academy in Chicago. He received his A.B. degree from St. Ignatius college in Chicago in 1895. In 1898 he received his M.D. from the Rush Medical college in Chicago.

He was a fellow in Materia Medica at Rush in 1899. He went to Europe in 1902, and took post-graduate work at the University of Vienna.

Dr. Rowan was instructor in surgery at Rush from 1904-06, and assistant professor in surgery there from 1906-14. He came to University hospitals in 1915 as professor and head of surgery. He was professor of clinical surgery during 1929-30.

In 1931, Dr. Rowan went to the University of Southern California, as professor of surgery. He remained in that position until 1939, when he was appointed professor emeritus of surgery.

He retired about two years ago and has been living in Laguna Beach, Calif.

Dr. Rowan has held several positions in the professional world. He was attending surgeon at Cook County hospital in Chicago, from 1904 to 1914. From 1907 to 1914, he was associate attending surgeon at Presbyterian hospital in Chicago.

He was with the U.S. army as acting assistant surgeon during 1900-01. He served in the Philippine Islands and in China in this capacity. He has been senior attending surgeon at Los Angeles County General hospital since 1931.

Dr. Rowan was a member of the Chicago Medical society, American Medical association, Chicago Surgical society, American Surgical association, Western Surgical society and the American College of Surgeons.

Dr. Arthur Steindler, professor and head of orthopedic surgery, was a close friend of Dr. Rowan while he was head of surgery here. He considers Dr. Rowan's death as a "deep personal loss."

"Dr. Rowan would never tolerate either his subordinates or himself to allow private practice to take precedent over clinic and service. He was an implacable enemy of selfishness, never allowing his position to be used for the furtherance of personal gain," was the tribute paid by Dr. Steindler to his former associate.

Dr. Steindler recalled hearing the late John B. Murphy, brilliant surgical teacher, say that he "considered Dr. Rowan the best surgical teacher in the country."

Dr. John T. McClintock, professor of physiology at University hospitals, said Dr. Rowan was the first head of surgery to reside in Iowa City.

"His teaching ability, his surgical knowledge and skill, and his high ideals and intense interest in the welfare of the college of medicine had much to do in securing the prestige the college has enjoyed in the past," Dr. McClintock stated.

Dr. Milford E. Barnes, professor and head of hygiene and preventive medicine, remembered his student days under Dr. Rowan at Rush college.

"All who studied under him considered it a rare privilege. He was a man of delightful personality, a talented surgeon and an able and inspiring teacher. His contributions to medical service and medical education were lasting and will stand forever as his memorial," he declared.

W. B. Boyd, chairman of the state board of education finance committee, paid tribute to Dr. Rowan with these words:

"Dr. Rowan was a great surgeon, a marvelous teacher and a noble soul. He was one of the men who made the college of medicine known and honored throughout this country and abroad. The university will be his everlasting debtor."

World Government — Proposals by Churchill

Churchill Sees United Europe As Step To World Government

THE HAGUE, NETHERLANDS (AP)—Winston Churchill yesterday urged immediate formation of a United European assembly and asked European nations to sacrifice some measure of national sovereignty to permit eventual establishment of a federation. He envisaged this federation as part of a larger world government based on the main grouping of mankind.

Britain's wartime prime minister addressed 600 members of a 22-national "Congress of Europe" in a city decorated with a new flag for the proposed European federation. The flag, a large red E on a white background, was designed by Duncan Sandys, son-in-law of Churchill.

National hatreds of the past must be forgotten so the continent can live in peace, Churchill said. He described the movement for European unity as "one of peoples and not of political parties."

Churchill did not elaborate on his call for the establishment of a European assembly. However, the delegates from 22 nations attending the forum have before them a resolution urging the establishment of such a body. Until elections could be held, each parliament of Europe would appoint representatives to the assembly.

The assembly would advise an emergency council. The latter body would have almost super-governmental powers. It would be charged with directing joint action for economic recovery and military defense. The council also would plan the federation of Europe. Also before the forum is a resolution for creation of a supreme tribunal to protect fundamental democratic rights.

Denying that such a council would conflict with the United Nations, Churchill reiterated his belief that a body of that type "was a subordinate but necessary part of the world organization."

He foresaw a world organization with these three august but subordinate regional councils:

- 1—The Soviet Union.
- 2—The Council of Europe, including Great Britain joined with her empire and Commonwealth.
- 3—The western hemisphere.

Delegates from all the 16 European nations participating in the Marshall plan were present, in addition to exiled leaders from Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Finland, and delegates from the Saar Valley, the French occupation zone of Germany and from Spain.

Churchill originally proposed a United Europe two years ago at Zurich, Switzerland. Since that time, he said, "events have carried our affairs beyond our expectations."

"The mighty republic of the United States has espoused the Marshall plan," he said. "Sixteen European states are now associated for economic purposes. Five have entered into close economic and military relationships. We hope that this nucleus will soon be joined by the peoples of Scandinavia, of the Iberian peninsula, as well as by Italy, who should now resume her full place in the comity of nations."

Capitol Hill — Senate Fight Develops Over Lilienthal

WASHINGTON (AP)—A senate fight developed rapidly yesterday over President Truman's nomination of Director David E. Lilienthal and other atomic energy commission members for a full term.

The argument came on a proposed bill which would let Mr. Truman extend the present terms of the commissioners only until June 30, 1950.

Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) called a news conference and accused backers of the measure, mostly Republicans, of dragging the atomic energy program into politics—a charge they quickly denied.

McMahon said their purpose is to deny President Truman the right of making appointments as provided in existing law. This provides for terms ranging from one to four years for the four commissioners and five years for Lilienthal as director.

Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), co-author of the proposed bill, disclaimed any political motives.

"This bill," he said, "merely extends the commission's present terms for one year and 11 months, after which, if it is found satisfactory, the staggered terms (one to five years) will go into effect. All who understand the bill know it is not political."

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who opposed the original nominations of Lilienthal, says he will go along with the one year and 11 months plan if it is favored by the senate-house atomic energy committee.

South Says Export Repeal Bill is 'Spite'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new skirmish in the bitter north-south fight over repeal of oleomargarine taxes broke out in the house yesterday.

Southern tempers shot skyward as Rep. August H. Andresen (R-Minn.) called a hearing today on a bill to repeal a ban on exports of tobacco seed and plants.

Andresen said southern tobacco growers induced congress to embargo tobacco-seed exports in 1940 "so they could stop foreign countries from growing tobacco."

Andresen led a bloc of legislators from northern dairy states in their unsuccessful fight to prevent the repeal of margarine taxes. The repeal bill swept through the house last month. It is now before the senate finance committee.

Andresen's announcement drew immediate cries of "spite tactics" from Dixie legislators who sparked the oleo tax repeal battle in the house.

Meanwhile, Senator Thyne (R-Minn.), from an important butter producing state, conceded yesterday that the senate will follow the house lead on repeal of oleo taxes.

White House Conferences Fail To Head Off Railroad Strike

Efforts To Settle Packing Strike Fail

CHICAGO (AP)—Government efforts to settle the eight-week-old meat packing strike apparently ran into another dead end yesterday.

A panel of federal mediators in Washington scheduled new peace talks for Chicago today. However, representatives of two of the "big four" packers—Swift and company and Armour company—said yesterday they would not attend.

The other two big packers—Cudahy Packing company and Wilson and company—said they have not been invited.

The CIO United Packinghouse Workers union, whose 100,000 members are on strike, said it would stand by for any call the mediators might make for an appearance of union representatives.

Cancellation meetings were broken off in Washington several days ago without any progress toward settlement.

The strike started March 16 after the union rejected an offer of a nine cents hourly wage boost. The union asked 29 cents.

President Truman already has invoked the Taft-Hartley act to cope with the meat strike, but has made no steps to obtain an injunction to halt the work stoppage. After a fact-finding board reported in the case, he said he believed the disputants could find a basis for settlement in that report.

However, no progress has been reported in several conciliation conferences since then.

Rail Strike At A Glance

By The Associated Press

Here are the main facts in the threatened nationwide railroad strike:

Involved—All the major railroads and three rail brotherhoods—engineers, firemen and engineers and switchmen. Deadline—The walkout is set for 6 a. m. local time Tuesday. Issues—A 30 percent pay raise demanded by the unions; they rejected a 15½ cents hourly hike proposed by a presidential fact finding board and accepted by the carriers; 19 other unions accepted the 15½ cents raise and are watching the current dispute from the side lines; numerous rules changes are sought by both the carriers and the three brotherhoods.

Mines To Shut Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—A shutdown of the nation's railroads would bring an almost immediate closing of most of the country's coal mines, John D. Battle, executive secretary of the National Coal association, said last night.

Mines are dependent upon a day to day flow of cars, Battle explained. If no empties are moved in after Monday, he said, "the mines will go down almost immediately."

Matthess Brothers Buried With Military Honors Yesterday

BURIED WITH FULL military honors, two Iowa City brothers, killed in Germany during World War II, were laid to rest yesterday at 3 p. m. in Memory Gardens. They were Robert D. Matthess, T/4, and Second Lt. William B. Matthess, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Burrell Matthess, 1721 Muscatine avenue. Above, the National Guard flank the walks at the Orlout Funeral home as the two flag-draped caskets are carried from the funeral home. The two bodies arrived in Iowa City yesterday morning with a military escort. The brothers were temporarily buried in Henri-Chappelle cemetery in Belgium.

Politics — Invite Truman To Iowa City

The Iowa City Chamber of Commerce and Mayor Preston C. Koser sent a telegram yesterday to President Harry S. Truman welcoming him to Iowa City. The invitation was extended following an announcement that he had been invited to visit Oxford and Johnson county.

Robert L. Gage, chamber secretary, said Irvin F. Duddleson and Elmer Henderson, publishers of the Johnson County Democrat in Oxford, had invited Truman to stop at Oxford for a Democratic rally during his planned trip to the west coast.

The President is scheduled to cross Iowa June 5 on his way from Chicago to Omaha.

The publishers have received a letter from the White House saying the President's itinerary still is indefinite but that "every consideration" is being given to the invitation.

Stassen Claims 12 Oregon Delegates

By The Associated Press

Harold E. Stassen laid tentative claim to Oregon's Republican delegates yesterday. He spoke out even as Gov. Thomas E. Dewey campaigned hard for the state's 12 votes in the presidential nominating convention.

Stassen, in Washington, D. C., overnight, told reporters: "The indications are that the people of Oregon will support us in the way the people of Wisconsin and Nebraska did."

Dewey meanwhile carried his Oregon campaign into the southern part of the state. In a speech at Medford, he praised the U. S. senate for voting a 70-group air-force and overruling "men of little vision in our national administration."

Asks 'Bring Mac Home'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, the Bataan hero, told congress yesterday: Bring Gen. Douglas MacArthur home, because the "enemies of the United States" seek civil war and revolution in this country.

Wainwright said in a letter to Republican leaders of congress that "no man in this country suffered more because of lack of preparedness, except possibly myself, than Douglas MacArthur."

United Nations — Act To Halt Atomic Control; Urge Jerusalem Action

Asks UN To Abandon World Atomic Control

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—Six countries urged the United Nations yesterday to stop work looking toward world atomic control until Russia decides to cooperate.

The United States, France and Britain formally recommended that the U.N. Atomic Energy commission suspend deliberations on atomic control and toss the whole problem back to the full U.N. assembly.

If the commission agrees, it will be the first U.N. body to acknowledge failure.

Canada, Belgium, and Colombia endorsed their recommendation.

Soviet Russia and the Soviet Ukraine flatly opposed the move and charged once more that the United States does not want atomic control. They said the possibilities for agreement were not exhausted.

The three-power statement said the majority of the commission had been unable to get the agreement of the Soviet Union even to technical points considered necessary for effective control.

Emergency UN Rule For Palestine Asked

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—Britain called last night for an emergency United Nations organization to carry on ordinary life in Palestine after May 15.

Arthur Creech-Jones, British colonial secretary, agreed with a growing feeling among UN delegates that the UN assembly on Palestine must create an emergency regime to take over Palestine when the British mandate ends on that date.

But he told a special 12-nation sub-committee of the assembly that he was strongly against any organization with wide powers. He said this organization must have the agreement of both Arabs and Jews, and that it must stop work as soon as a solution is reached in Palestine.

Mayor for Jerusalem

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—It was reported here last night that a dark-horse candidate had been advanced for mayor of Jerusalem with good prospects of acceptance by the Jews and Arabs.

UN officials refused to discuss the name.

This development came after Charles P. Taft, Cincinnati attorney, and two Australians were dropped from consideration.

To Give Advice on UN

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—The United Nations has asked public information experts from 14 countries to give advice on publicizing the UN.

Joseph Barnes, new editor of the newspaper PM, has been invited from the United States. The group will meet here May 25 for one week.

Iowa Nine Tips Gophers in Last of Tenth

Bruner Pitches Hawks To Third Conference Win, 5-4

By BUCK TURNBULL
Sports Editor

Two infield singles plus two Minnesota errors in the tenth inning gave the University of Iowa baseball team its third win in Big Nine competition on the local diamond yesterday afternoon, 5-4.

Lefty Jack Bruner pitched and baited the Hawks to the victory, scoring two of Iowa's five runs. He struck out five Gopher batters while issuing only three free passes. Earl Daniels, right-handed pitcher, went the route for the Gophers, allowing eight hits.

Dale Erjerson opened the Hawkeyes' scoring in the last half of the first inning. He rocketed one of Daniels' fast balls into deep centerfield for three bases and scored on a long fly ball by Catcher Lyle Ebner.

Minnesota went ahead in the top of the third frame, 2-1, bunting a walk, two singles and an error by Iowa First Baseman Pete Everett for two tallies. The Hawks came back to tie the game at 2-all in the same inning. Bruner opened with a ground single to right. Then with two out, Johnny Tedore poked one of the longest hits ever seen on the Iowa field, a 430-foot triple which bounced off the fence in left field. Bruner came home easily.

Iowa scored two more runs in the fifth on two singles by Bob Smith and Ebner along with an error and two walks. Minnesota came back to tie the count at 4-all with two more runs in the sixth inning.

The ball game went scoreless for the next four innings into the last half of the tenth. Two men were out when Jack Dittmer tapped an infield bingle in front of home plate. Pitcher Daniels fielded the ball and in attempting to throw Dittmer out, hit the Hawk second baseman on the left elbow. The ball was deflected into short right field and Dittmer continued on to second base.

Don McCarty ended the ball game with a sharp bouncer to shortstop which Jim Holker let go through his legs. McCarty was credited with a hit and Dittmer scored from third on Holker's error to give Iowa its 11th win of the season against six defeats. In conference play, the Hawks have three victories and two losses. The two teams play the second game of the weekend series this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Blackwell Easy Victim of Braves

Reds' Ace Fails Again, Loses, 4-3

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ewell Blackwell, star Cincinnati pitcher, failed to finish for the fourth consecutive time this season and went down to defeat before the Boston Braves yesterday, 4 to 3.

Home runs by Bob Elliott, most valuable player in the National league last year, and Jeff Heath, along with six walks and three other safeties in 5 1/2 innings, were enough for Blackie. He left the game holding his pitching arm and with the bags filled.

Cincinnati officials said after the game that Blackwell apparently had injured his shoulder in walking Pitcher Bill Voiselle, the last man he faced. An x-ray examination will be made today to determine the extent of the injury. Eddie Stanky, first to face replacement Hary Gumbert, singled home two runners and that was the ball game. The runs were charged against Blackwell. He now has ### won two and lost three.

Bill Voiselle allowed eight hits and was in trouble several times, but finished for his third win against no defeats.

Boston led the game in what proved to be a sad sixth for Cincinnati, scoring three times.

Lemon Blanks Nats; Indians Grab Second

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bob Lemon's four-hit pitching moved Cleveland into second place in the American league as the Indians defeated Washington, 8-0, here last night to snap a 4-game losing streak. Allie Clark and Joe Gordon slammed fifth inning home runs off Mickey Haefner.

Lemon, who won his third game of the season, inserted three of the Indians' 13 hits off Haefner, Marino Pieretti and Forrest Thompson, but Gordon paced Cleveland's hitting with a home run, double and single.

Cleveland clipped Haefner for two runs in the third inning and sprayed three runs across in the fifth inning as Clark homered with one on and Gordon homered after Lou Boudreau had walked. The Indians added three runs off Thompson in the ninth on singles by Boudreau and Eddie Robinson, Gordon's double and Pat Seery's single.

Dodgers Rap Chicago, 9-5

CHICAGO (AP)—Brooklyn benefited by 14 walks to down the last-place Chicago Cubs yesterday, 9-5, in a game that dragged through three hours and 36 minutes.

A triple by Preston Ward, the Dodgers' rookie first baseman, after Relfefer Ralph Hamner loaded the bases with walks in the sixth, was the key blow of the eight Brooklyn bingles. The drive into the right field corner broke a 5-5 tie.

Neither Joe Hatten nor Hank Borowy, the starters, lasted three innings. Hugh Casey, who pitched the last five scoreless frames, received credit for the victory.

Although Hatten usually beats the Cubs by tossing his glove on the hill, he had his troubles yesterday. Last year he turned back Chicago seven times and lost only once. Singles by Hank Schenz, Ed Waitkus, Hal Jeffcoat and Harry Lowrey and a walk to Bill Nicholson had him out of there before the two-run first inning was over.

The Cubs picked up another pair off Willard Ramsdell in the second on a walk to Schenz, a triple by Waitkus and a fly. The final Chicago score came in the third on singles by Lowrey, Nicholson, Clyde McCullough and Bob Chipman.

Using only eight hits, the Dodgers came from behind by taking advantage of the wildness of five Chicago pitchers, plus three errors.

Eight-Man Iowa Tennis Team Meets Loras Today

The eight-man tennis squad which will face Loras at Dubuque today was announced yesterday by Coach Donald Klotz.

The squad will include Sidney Newnam, Ralph Brown, Bill Metz, Paul Hasbrouck, Bill Crain, Earl Cathcart, Marion Neely and Al Bickel. The first six men named will play in the regular matches with the other two taking on opponents in practice sessions.

Tigers Will Not Trade Wakefield

Steve O'Neill Ends Rumors, 'Has Faith'

NEW YORK (AP)—As far as Steve O'Neill is concerned "Dick Wakefield will be on the Detroit roster for years to come."

That was the Detroit manager's reply to reports yesterday that the Tiger front office was asking waivers on the lanky outfielder, who was benched recently after going hitless in 25 times at bat.

"I haven't given up faith in Dick. He's proven to be a big league ball player and a great hitter. I don't know anyone in the minor leagues where you could buy one like him. If I did, I'd go out and get him quick."

Wakefield, stopping near the elevators to talk with George Vico, rookie first sacker who traded punches with Catcher Birdie Tebbetts in Boston Thursday, also expressed surprise.

"I would be the first to hear about it," Wakefield said. "But, if a fellow isn't going good, it's rough on you. You never know what they might do."

Herman Barron Paces Goodall Golf Tourney

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. (AP)—Herman Barron of White Plains N. Y., limped over the rain-swept Wykagyl country club course in 69 shots yesterday to gain a one-point lead over defending Champion Bobby Locke of South Africa after 36 holes of the Goodall round robin tournament.

Barron's wrenched ankle was so swollen it was necessary to give him a shot of pain-killer before he could play. Jug McSpaden, who has retired from tournament golf, had gotten his clubs out of the locker and was preparing to substitute in Barron's foursome when the chunky professional decided to do or die.

Cards Rip Philadelphia, 7-4

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals offset some shaky fielding with a long range hitting attack to subdue the Philadelphia Phillies last night, 7 to 4. It was Howie Pollet's first win in three starts. A three-run homer by Nippy Jones and a two-run single by Del Rice were the big blows in the Cards' 10-hit attack on three Philly pitchers.

Dutch Leonard started on the mound for the Philadelphians, but had to retire in the third when he was struck on the right instep by a line drive off Schoendienst's bat which bounded into left field for two bases. The veteran knuckleballer had held the Cards hitless to that point. Walt Dubiel and Oscar Judd, who followed him on the mound, proved easy marks for the cards.

Vico, Tebbetts Fined

CHICAGO (AP)—President Will Harridge of the American league yesterday fined George Vico, Detroit first baseman, and Birdie Tebbetts, Boston catcher, $100 each for fighting during the Tiger-Boston game at Boston Thursday.

SUI Agrees To Fence Off Finkbine Area

The university approved a plan yesterday for fencing off the north end of Finkbine fronting on Newton road, J. Robert Cotter, manager of married student housing, announced.

"The stretch of Newton road fringing the north edge of Finkbine has been a hot spot for some time," Cotter said. "Although police patrol the road, motorists racing onto Newton from highway 6 often fail to slow up."

Children from Finkbine are in danger of wandering onto the highway and being struck by passing cars, he said. At present, nothing but the watchful eyes of mothers keep children off the road.

Cotter estimated the fence would cost $200, half of which would be paid by Finkbine residents. The project is part of the university's playground plan in which student donations for playground fences are matched dollar for dollar by the university.

Cotter said he discussed the plan with a Finkbine committee represented by Fred Darley and Fred Barton, both of Finkbine.

Mrs. David Owens, chairman of the UMISO playground committee, said a telephone vote of playground committee members earlier this week had unanimously approved the university's action in the matter.

Highlanders To March In 'Thrifty Days' Parade

The university's Scottish Highlanders will march through Iowa City's business district May 14 in connection with "Thrifty Days", Robert L. Gage, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said yesterday.

Iowa City merchants have set aside May 13, 14 and 15 as days when "specials" will be offered store patrons.

Gage said the Highlanders will probably march through part of the business district and then put on a short exhibition on the university campus.

Combat the Disease of 'Creeping Fascism'

Senator Taft closed his campaign in Ohio Monday night by telling his University of Cincinnati listeners he would be "willing to line up with any opponents in a common fight against communism."

"Yes," he said in answer to a question, "that would include lining up with Argentina or Spain, and that is because fascism now is no threat to our freedom."

"Communism now is the greatest threat to the freedom of the world," he maintained.

The American people, long upholders of freedom, have become so obsessed with fear of communism they are sliding into authoritarian habits and ways of thinking foreign to American traditions.

We have been waiting hopefully for someone to take Taft to task for his near-sighted view of the new "eternal triangle"—communism, fascism and democracy—but no one has come forth to refute his statement.

Newspaper editorials and columnists have continued to deal with Palestine and the UN, with capital and labor, with death and taxes, and even with love and the weather, but not one word have we seen on Taft and fascism.

What is this strange obsession—this fear of communism—that leads us to align ourselves with corrupt and oppressive governments?

We support un-democratic governments in Greece, Turkey and China. We toyed with the idea of including Spain in the European relief program. We sidle up to Peron and Argentina, if not with affection, at least, with a curious lack of distaste.

On the home front, meetings of dissenting organizations are being broken up by unruly mobs, a dangerous use of force to suppress views just because they are different. Already we hear persons branded as "Communist" merely because they disagree with the brander's opinions, politics, or definition of "Americanism."

In the south there has been an upsurge of Ku Klux Klan activity, and an increase in terroristic demonstrations.

Throughout the country, there is a rising anti-semitic and anti-minority campaign, although it is not as open or as thorough as the anti-Negro attack in the south.

There is a growing intolerance in America toward the person who would be different—against any one who acts for himself instead of meekly submitting to "authority."

Communism may be the "greatest threat to the freedom of the world." It may threaten our way of life. But what good will it do us to destroy that menace if we lose our freedom in the process.

Granted we should keep a watchful eye on the "red menace" (we wish someone would satisfactorily explain that term to us), but we should not cease to combat the disease of creeping fascism.

There's Good News From Wall Street

(From The Wall Street Journal)

There used to be an old saying that a college sheepskin and a nickel would get you a cup of coffee. In these times, of course, it takes the sheepskin and a dime.

The other day this newspaper reported on the job prospects of the current crop of graduating collegians. By the standards of our own youth the present salaries seem minuscule to the point of riches.

Yet for all the brightness of these promised pay envelopes, we note that the hopeful young intellectuals still come cheaper than men who can do something with their hands.

In the same issue of this paper a report from Philadelphia gave the pay scales for building trades workers.

A plain old A.B. degree graduate, in some cases, can get $50 to $60 a week although the average is much lower. The man who has mastered a technical engineering school curriculum commands perhaps $75 a week, and those who have ploughed through post-graduate work to the eminence of a Ph.D. may get $100 a week.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

The Strange Quiet From Moscow

By J.M. ROBERTS JR., AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

There is considerable speculation going around whether Russia might be ready for some sort of truce in the cold war.

Since the world flare-up over the rape of Czechoslovakia she has not seemed quite so aggressive. She didn't pin Finland quite so tightly to the wall as had been expected. She didn't put up much of a battle for the Communists in Italy's election. Her march toward a clearcut showdown in Berlin was halted, at least temporarily, with one foot in the air. Greece's guerrillas have been left almost alone to face the government's spring offensive.

Anti-American propaganda which reached a crest during congressional consideration of the Marshall plan has diminished at least to normal. Russia has displayed, for her, a relatively detached attitude toward the Palestine problem.

Some think this may mean a period of Russian stockpiling, in the realization that their tactics are only stiffening anti-Communist sentiment.

Well, that realization in Moscow is the objective of everything the anti-Communist bloc has been doing. Our foreign policy has been to keep the door open, even while organizing our defenses. That may be one reason Marshall is urging congress not to start an autopsy on the UN just yet. If there is even the most bedraggled sort of dove en route from east to west, nobody wants to put up a cloud in which it might get lost.

Any possibility of a Russian softening must be viewed with caution. The politburo might make a big profit from a period of sweetness and light. A lot of sentries along the anti-Communist defense line might doze off to the strains of a lullaby which stressed the contrast of western rearmament while Moscow seeks only peace. The Communists still know how to take their enemy by the hand for the moment in order that they may take him by the throat later.

Moscow will have to do more than keep quiet. Some positive about-facing will be necessary before the world can quit listening for another shoe to fall.

We've Bought Some 'Apples of Discord'

SUI Organizations — The Humanities Society

(This is the sixth of a series of articles on university organizations will appear on this page from time to time.—The Editor.)
By ARDATH YOUNG

Prof. Franklin R. Potter of the classics department, founding father of the Humanities society, saw it pass its half-century mark last year. In 1897 Potter stirred up a handful of faculty members in the language departments to organize a society for reading technical papers and discussing them. "We called ourselves the Whitney society," said Potter, now a slender white-haired, but hale professor of Latin and Greek, "after Prof. W. D. Whitney of Yale, who had done more to advance the scientific study of languages than any other man at that time."

"The society originally was limited to staff members in the departments of English, French, German and classical languages," he explained. "But the dozen members gave every meeting 100 per cent attendance."

"Prof. Charles Bundy Wilson of the German department was a very active member," Potter reminisced. "Prof. George Cram Cook of the English department and Carl Schlenker, professor of German, were staunch members. Prof. Amos N. Currier, then dean of the collegiate faculty of liberal arts college, was one of our first presidents."

In 1907, Prof. Charles H. Weller of classics, whose wife had apparently been agitating a little, suggested a change. Accordingly the society opened its arms to spouses of members. This brought a general change to less technical discussions and papers. They took to meeting in members' homes rather than offices of the departments.

"Things went on like that for a long time," Potter recalled, "but expansion caused a housing problem eventually. The last few years I attended, there was a problem of finding homes large enough to accommodate the meetings."

Potter has neglected the society these past several years since his wife became an invalid. Prof. George Mosse of the history department, secretary-treasurer of the society this year reported what was done about housing.

"In 1946 the name was changed again," said Mosse, "to the Humanities society. Its scope broadened to take in members from all the non-scientific departments, including history, dramatic and fine arts, journalism, etc."

To house their meetings a room like the Senate chamber of Old Capitol or an auditorium, was needed. And that is precisely where they now hold their meetings, which have been opened to the public.

Mosse said the Humanities society boasts something more than a hundred members to date. Since the dues are 25 cents a year, their treasury does not look like Fort Knox. Then how do they procure off-the-campus lecturers like J. E. Morpurgo, English author who spoke last year, and Louis Wirth, University of Chicago sociologist who addressed a February meeting?

"We made tentative plans at the beginning of the year," explained Prof. John C. Gerber of the English department, 1947-48 president of the society, "indicating speakers we would like to have. We then went to the deans of the various colleges and to the president. They were very helpful."

The graduate college backed the society in Morpurgo's and Wirth's lectures.

The president's office collaborated on a couple more, in the Humanities series of twelve, and liberal arts is sponsoring two, including Prof. Albert L. Guerard of Stanford university, who lectured March 15.

Humanities meetings cover a tremendous area now, as their 1947-48 program on "The Humanities in the Contemporary World" shows. American, British and "general" education, literature, poetry, religion, science, social science and art have been touched upon in the nine meetings so far.

Though the discussions are non-technical, they still fulfill the original aim of "meetings for the intellectual stimulation" of the members, and also of the public which attends.

Three years ago today — We Celebrated V-E Day — And Welcomed 'Peace'

*** RUSSELL ZELENIAK ***

Early in 1944, Ernie Pyle wrote a passage that went something like this: "Yesterday is tomorrow, Troina is Randazzo and I'm so tired. God, when will this ever stop?"

Three years ago today his question was answered. The German high command surrendered unconditionally, and throughout Europe and the western hemisphere, the cry "Victory in Europe" resounded.

Grimy, tired American GI's somewhere in Germany happily embraced each other. Some commandeered liquor and got drunk. Others went off by themselves to thank God for helping them through. Still others thought about the guys left in ditches and fields pock-marked with artillery and bomb craters—guys with sightless eyes pressed into the mud and bodies lying in grotesque positions.

It was a long way from Casablanca to Berlin. Some Americans traveled all the way; others, half of the way. Many felt before they got started. Fate added an ironic twist when death came to veterans of the North African campaign a few weeks before May 8, 1945.

The prelude to the finale in Europe began with a twin billing in North Africa on Nov. 7, 1942. GI's from Maine to Washington stormed the beaches outside of Casablanca, French Morocco, and Oran, Algeria. They found little resistance.

From there, they raced across Algeria in tanks, half-tracks and trucks until they met heavy German-Italian resistance in eastern Algeria not far from the city of Constantine. Blood was spilled, men died and fresh graves with thin white crosses dotted the fields behind the front lines.

Then came the American setback at Kasserine pass and the Americans' real baptism of fire. German artillery and mortar shells poured into their positions; Messerschmidt 109's and 210's strafed the area, while FW 190's dropped screaming bombs that rattled a man's brain as they crunched the ground with a mad-

Doing Something About Prejudice

(The following article was written by Dr. Julius Schreiber, a practicing psychiatrist in New York who has done much research on the subject of prejudice, and appeared in the February, 1948, issue of Survey Graphic. This is the second article in a series.—The Editor.)

Although we know more about prejudice today than we did know ten years ago, we are still in the simple arithmetic state. But of this much we are sure: no babe is born with a set of prejudices engraved upon his cortex. He has merely the capacity to develop them—or not to develop them.

Later, he will become aware of some psychological insecurity. And his feeling of anxiety, frustration, hostility, guilt, and other expressions of intra-psychic conflict will be eased, at least temporarily, by a battery of irrational attitudes projected upon others.

In the absence of some radical changes in the way man relates himself to his fellow men, that is what happens to people in our culture.

Very early in his life, a child becomes aware of "we" and "us" as opposed to "they" and "them." What "we" ("our family," "our group") say, do, and approve, is all right, what "they" do is open to challenge.

"They," the "others," are not like us. They are strangers, outsiders, foreigners. And being different, they are, therefore, in some way inferior.

By the time we get into grammar school, the foundations have been laid for our general attitudes toward life and toward particular individuals and groups among our fellow men.

The feelings and conduct of our parents and of our relatives, friends, teachers, clergymen and neighbors influence our own feelings and conduct. All these people contribute to our stereotypes and generalizations about our fellow human beings. As we go through life, our stereotypes are reinforced by writers of fiction, by the movies, radio, theater, comic strips, and so on.

And we use these stereotypes and generalizations to our own great disservice. We walk about with false images of what a Jew or a Catholic or a Negro "really is." Why bother to look upon each person as an individual when it is so much easier to lump all members of a group together and say, "They are all alike?"

We note discrepancies between what we hear in church, what we learn in school, what we read in our civics textbooks, and what actually goes on all about us.

We listen to socially sanctioned double-talk. We see brazen hypocrisy condoned by a way of life which is shot through with ethical ambivalence.

We grow up prating highly patriotic and ethical phrases—"All men are created equal," "Love thy neighbor." Should someone take us too seriously, however, we are quick to add the handy phrase "... but we have to be practical!"

Our need to conform to the dominant mores of our particular group or society insures our uncritical acceptance of local prejudices.

But having been told that racial superiority is a myth and that an individual's intrinsic worth has no relation to the color of skin, to religion, sex, place of birth, or ancestry—having been given the facts, why do so many of us re-

Wants More Such 'Rewarding' Evenings

TO THE DAILY IOWAN:

To what good fortune do we owe our recent opportunity of seeing "King Lear"?

We few—"we happy few"—who saw the production on Wednesday or Thursday night (or on both nights) wish to express our astonished delight at an evening of good theater. It has been a rare occurrence in the 1947-48 season.

Dr. Kernodle's direction was brilliant. Tom Gregory as Lear, and William Countryman as Edmund turned in the best performances of the year. A charmed audience gave them both enthusiastic "hands."

Many scenes came to life and glowed with fine emotional intensity, in spite of obvious lack of rehearsal time and eccentric lighting.

What reasoning limits "unknowns" like Sophocles and Shakespeare to the experimental series and condemns the general community to fare of only one Broadway "hit" after another?

A balanced menu, including plays other than those written for consumption in Manhattan, circa 1940, would restore the reputation of the University of Iowa theater.

It would attract the best crop of new talent. It might prevent the migration of students to universities which offer little in the way of equipment but a great deal in the way of theater.

Renegades turned up for Lear who have not bothered to go for months. Chekhov and Ibsen might mean box-office!

Lear was a rewarding evening. Many of us hope we won't have to wait months before another.

Visual Aid Bureau Gets Motion Picture Processing Facilities

Facilities for complete processing of motion picture film have been installed in the bureau of visual instruction, according to Dean Bruce E. Mahan, extension division director.

Prior to the installation of new equipment, the bureau was able to take only pictures and record sound track for the film. With the added equipment, the printing and developing processing can be done in the bureau's laboratories.

The bureau has been producing sound films for almost 10 years. Many productions have been instructional films.

Production of films on a large scale requires a variety of specialized equipment. The bureau has standardized on the use of 16 millimeter equipment and uses a double-system camera and sound recorder for most of its sound film production.

Several silent cameras of various makes are on hand for production of films not requiring lip-synchronized sound. A stand of special design permits filming titles, animated diagrams and similar matter.

Special sound effects and background music are recorded first on either a film sound track or on a standard transcription-type disc. In either case the sound is played and combined electrically with the sound of a narrator's voice. Sounds from several sources can then be re-recorded together on a film negative.

After necessary editing with a sound film editing machine, the sound and picture negatives are printed on positive film. This places both the picture and sound track in their proper relationship.

Police Course Starts June 21

The 12th annual Iowa peace officers short course will be held at the University of Iowa between June 21 and 25, it was announced yesterday.

About 300 peace officers will attend the courses in three fields: general police, investigation, and traffic.

A new feature of this year's course is that each day's instruction constitutes a separate unit. This will allow officers from certain communities, who can be in Iowa City for only one or two days, to get complete instruction in the subjects they are most interested in.

Officers will enroll for one course only and will spend about 30 hours in attending lectures and demonstrations.

Sponsors of the course are the Iowa attorney general, the Iowa department of public safety, the Iowa State Sheriff's association, the Iowa association of Chiefs of Police, and the Iowa State Police-men's association.

The course is under the direction of the university's bureau of public affairs and the college of law.

Instructors in the course will include Judge Harry Porter and Lt. Frank Andrews, both from Evanston, Ill.; Percy Lainsow, warden of the Iowa state penitentiary at Fort Madison; Chief Henry Johnson of Kansas City; and Mrs. Helen Talbot, superintendent of the women's reformatory at Rockwell City.

City High Carnival Scheduled May 14-15

Featured each evening will be three performances of the Kriel Fun show, staged in the Junior high auditorium by Lowell Kriel and family, 837 Maggard street. The show will include gymnastics, clown routines and various other acts.

Carnival committee chairmen are Kenneth Dunlop, 922 S. Summit street, publicity; Ray Culp, Coralville Heights, ticket sales; Mrs. A. O. Kelley and Mrs. G. W. Buxton, food, and Milo Novy, 519 N. Johnson street, finance.

Rock Island Orders Embargo

By GEORGE PORTER
The Rock Island railroad put an embargo on live stock, live poultry and perishables effective at 12:01 a.m. this morning, J. J. Deninger, Iowa City agent, said yesterday.

Exception may be made to any of the above goods if they can be delivered from Iowa City to their destination before 12:01 a.m. Tuesday, according to Deninger. The strike is scheduled to begin at 6 a.m., local time, Tuesday.

Dead freight, that is not subject to spoilage or special care, may be accepted for shipment subject to delay, Deninger said.

Notice was also received yesterday that all positions "would be abolished" at 12:01 a.m. Tuesday, if the strike becomes effective. Deninger said this meant no attempt would be made to operate the railroad during the strike.

Deninger said 25 employees would be affected by the shutdown. It is not known whether an additional 20 maintenance men in Iowa City will be affected.

The university is in good shape to withstand a rail shutdown, according to R. J. Phillips, superintendent of grounds and buildings. He said 30 or 40 days supply of coal was on hand, depending on the weather.

Coal is the only critical material depending on rail transportation, he said. It is received on the Rock Island and the strike could cut off future supplies.

Phillips said the university had been making plans for a possible strike and had been piling up on coal.

Operating personnel of the Grand Lines belong to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who settled their contract with the operators in March, according to a local official.

The official predicted that the line would continue operating until coal for generating electricity ran out.

Seventeen Elected To Membership in Honorary Society

Fifteen upperclassmen and two faculty members last week were elected to membership in SUI's chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership honorary society for upperclassmen, President William J. Bauer announced yesterday.

Eight seniors elected were Bryce M. Fisher, Cedar Rapids; Merritt C. Ludwig, Iowa City; Richard E. Rust, Cedar Rapids; Charles E. Guggenheim, Cincinnati; Kenneth E. Ebbe, Iowa City; Randall Meyer, Mt. Union; Porter B. Burrells, Mason City, and Ralph S. Brown, Dubuque.

Juniors elected were Evan L. Hultman, Waterloo; William A. Kay, Walnut; Richard W. Peterson, Council Bluffs; Mark F. Meier, Iowa City; G. Duane Vieth, Davenport; Maurice E. Stark, Woodstock, and Coleman G. Jacobsen, Iowa City.

The two faculty members elected were Dr. Walter I. Goetsch, director of student affairs, and Loren L. Hickerson, director of alumni service.

ODK members are elected on the basis of outstanding participation in one or more of five fields of activity; scholarship; speech, music and dramatic arts; publications; social and religious, and athletics.

Nominated by ODK members and campus housing units, candidates must be in the upper third of their class to be eligible for election.

Formal initiation ceremony will be held Tuesday, 5:30 p. m., in the senate chamber of Old Capitol, Bauer said. Following initiation, the group will attend a dinner in Memorial Union in honor of new members.

Grand Jury Returns 10 Indictment Counts

The grand jury for the May term of the Johnson county district court returned 10 indictments yesterday.

Two of the indictments were against E. M. Walters, 41, Iowa City. He was charged with forgery in both indictments.
