International — The Palestine Situation

Arab Legions Claim Aerial, Ground Success in Palestine

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt, Syria and Iraq claimed aerial successes over Palestine last night as Arab ground forces continued to strike at the Holy Land from the south and northeast.

Arab dispatches claimed their armies had penetrated into the northeastern sector in an operation which could determine control of that fertile area. The region now is claimed by the new Jewish state of Israel.

Coupled with this action was the Egyptian army's advance into Palestine from the south which the Arabs say has taken the soldiers of King Farouk to within 30 miles of Tel Aviv.

U. S., Russia Join in Asking UN To Stop Strife in Holy Land

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—The United States and Russia joined yesterday in a demand that the United Nations order the war stopped in Palestine.

U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin, with last-minute instructions from Washington, told the security council the situation was a threat to world peace.

The UN should invoke its most potent article to stop fighting in Palestine, he said.

Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko then made this statement to the council:

"There is a war in Palestine and the security council must react. The security council must take a decision to stop the war."

The council wrangled for more than an hour over submitting a list of questions to the Arabs and Jews and adjourned until 8:30 (CST) this morning without voting.

Gromyko made no direct comment on the terms of the American plan.

There was feeling here among some delegations that the United States had again beaten Russia to the punch by getting a stop-war resolution on the table first.

Austin demanded that the council vote an order to "all governments and authorities" to cease fighting and issue cease-fire and stand-still orders to their forces within 36 hours after passage of the resolution.

The United States moved under chapter seven of the charter which contains the UN's only big stick—the use of international force. If, under the American plan, peaceful efforts at settlement failed, the council could move ahead to invoke economic and diplomatic sanctions and throw air, sea and land forces of UN members into action.

UN A-Energy Group Quits

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—The United Nations atomic energy commission suspended yesterday all attempts to agree on world atomic control.

It was the first major UN organ to acknowledge failure because of the Russian-western power impasse.

The vote to stop work now was 9 to 2.

The United States, France, China, Britain, Argentina, Belgium, Syria, Canada, and Colombia voted for the suspension. They want fresh orders from the 58-nation assembly this fall.

Russia and the Soviet Ukraine opposed suspension. They want the commission to continue negotiations.

The vote yesterday meant the commission will cease all work on atomic control until the assembly or the commission's six permanent members find the overall political situation is favorable to an atomic pact.

The permanent members are the five great powers plus Canada. Canada is included because of her role in developing the atomic bomb in the recent war.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, blasted again at the United States just before the vote. He said the U.S. government does not want atomic control.

Russia Recognizes Israel Government

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government announced last night its official recognition of the new Jewish state of Israel.

Recognition of the new state set up in Palestine Saturday was accorded by the Russian government at the request of Moshe Shertok, foreign minister of Israel.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov replied in a note to Shertok that "the government of the U. S. S. R. has decided to recognize officially the state of Israel and its provisional government."

President Truman proclaimed last Friday the United States' recognition of Israel as a de facto government.

(Political circles in London said the Russian recognition appeared to be broader in scope than the United States.)

Politics — Debate on Communism

Dewey and Stassen Clash In Radio Debate on Communism

PORTLAND, ORE. (AP)—Republican Presidential Aspirants Thomas E. Dewey and Harold E. Stassen met over the radio last night to debate their clashing views on outlawing of the Communist party in the United States.

Before a studio audience limited to reporters and cameramen, Dewey hammered on his theme that Communism should be kept in the open and that to drive it underground only enabled it to grow in power.

"You cannot shoot an idea with a law," he asserted.

On the affirmative, Stassen called for a stop to "coddling" Communists, and enactment of laws to deny them the "blessing of legality" under which they are permitted to gain power.

Both grimly serious, they sought to drive home their arguments in a campaign highlight to Oregon's Republican presidential primary.

They clashed sharply over the Mundt bill, now before congress. Stassen held that it would outlaw the Communist party, Dewey that it would not.

"If Mr. Dewey," Stassen concluded, "will agree to support the Mundt bill unequivocally, then I will agree we are in complete union on this issue."

But Governor Dewey, in his rebuttal, answered:

"I rather from Mr. Stassen that he has completely surrendered. The Mundt bill does not outlaw the Communist party. If Mr. Stassen says that is all he wants, then he doesn't mean it when he asks that the Communist party be outlawed—because the author of the Mundt bill and the congressional committee both say it does not outlaw the party."

In concluding his original 20-minute presentation, Stassen argued:

"To make my position very clear I say very definitely that it does not add up to me to say that loyal, patriotic young Americans must of necessity be drafted, that their liberties must be taken away in order to make America strong in the face of the menace to peace caused by Communist organizations of the Soviet Union, but that Dewey said.

He then quoted from the report of the house un-American activities committee in purported refutation of Stassen's claim.

He said the house committee has been doing "a fine, solid American job. It has been doing a fine job of exposing the Communists."

The report of the committee, Dewey continued, rejected the idea of outlawing the Communist party.

He said the report gave these reasons:

1. It would drive the Communists further underground. We need to expose them.

2. Outlawing has not been effective in other countries.

3. We could not criticize other totalitarian nations for their actions if we adopt similar measures.

"We must keep the Communists in the open, so that we can defeat them and what they stand for," Dewey said.

Labor —

Packing Workers Turn Down Swift Settlement Offers

CHICAGO (AP)—Swift & company last night offered three conditions as a basis for settling the nationwide meat strike but the CIO united packinghouse workers turned them down.

The rejection dimmed hopes for a quick settlement.

The union said it could not accept any proposal to permit company discharge of any striking employee. It did not comment on two other conditions—one involving acceptance of a nine cent wage increase offer.

A night conference with federal conciliators then broke up without announcement of when talks would be resumed.

The company, following a meeting with the conciliators and Gov. Luther Youngdahl of Minnesota, outlined these points:

1. Acceptance by the union of the nine cents an hour wage increase put into effect May 3.

2. The union to order striking employees to return to work as directed by the local plant superintendents.

3. Employees who were discharged for unlawful acts to have the right to process their grievances in accordance with provisions of the existing contract.

Gov. Youngdahl, whose state has been the scene of disorder which necessitated his calling out the national guard to patrol three areas, came to Chicago yesterday to seek an end to the nation-wide strike.

Violence Flares as CIO Threatens GM

DETROIT (AP)—A flurry of picket line violence punctuated the six-day Chrysler strike yesterday as the CIO united auto workers threatened General Motors with a second post-war strike.

Gov. Kim Sigler ordered state police reinforcements into suburban Highland park to help quell an outbreak of fist fighting, rock throwing and other incidents at a Chrysler plant. The flare-up was short lived.

The governor acted as the CIO united auto workers sought to tighten their grip on 16 strike-bound Chrysler plants and talked of plans to call out 225,000 General Motors employees within a fortnight.

A walkout in 90 General Motors plants across the nation is a "very good possibility" unless a contract dispute is settled by May 28, said T. A. Johnstone, acting head of the UAW's GM department.

Hold Two Auto Workers In Shooting of Reuther

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two Detroit automobile workers were arrested here yesterday for questioning in connection with last month's shooting of Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers union, Captain of Detectives Henry J. Kriss announced.

He said eastern district police took the two men in custody on a "tip."

Both men gave Baltimore addresses. They were docketed at eastern police station as being "held for investigation; suspected of assault and shooting."

NORTH ADAMS, MASS. (AP)—After firemen thought the last of eight families was safely out of a burning block last night they heard cries of "firemen, save me."

Following the sound of the voice, he came to a caged parrot and carried him out safely.

National — Atomic Weapons; Oleomargarine

New Atom Weapons Pass Eniwetok Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government yesterday announced completely successful tests of three improved atomic weapons, in what was described as a "milestone in atomic development."

Secrecy cloaked all details of what may well be tremendous development beyond the A-bomb which wrote new history in the horrors of war by wrecking Hiroshima Aug. 6, 1945.

Yesterday's report came from the White House after Chairman David E. Lilienthal and four other members of the atomic energy commission gave Mr. Truman an oral report on the recent tests. They were held in Eniwetok island, far Pacific atoll which is the proving ground for America's No. 1 weapon.

The report came as the commission became more deeply tangled in political and labor troubles.

On Capitol Hill, the Republican-dominated joint committee on atomic energy approved 11 to 5 a bill to extend the terms of the five commissioners a flat 23 months. President Truman has renominated Lilienthal to a five-year term and the others to staggered terms of one to four years.

Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) charged the Republican leadership with an indirect attempt "to make sure that in two years they get a chance to throw Mr. Lilienthal out."

"Conceivably we might have atomic industrial power within two years," said McMahon, who has led the fight for repeal. Fulbright said the "fraud" angle could be met by requiring public eating places which serve oleo to post signs saying so.

He said those favoring repeal are not against such a step. However, he said, there already are adequate safeguards to prevent oleo from being passed off as butter. He pointed to the pure food and drug act.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said that posting signs is "a very poor method." He said signs get covered up. He recommended that the notice be carried on the bill of fare or on the oleo serving plate.

Both the CIO and the AFL urged repeal. Their cases were stated by Donald Montgomery for the CIO and Lewis G. Hines for the AFL.

Dr. Anton J. Carlson, University of Chicago scientist, said oleo was as nutritious as butter.

Tyco Taylor, general counsel of the National Association of Retail Grocers, and Harold O. Smith Jr., executive vice president of the United States Wholesale Grocers' association, also testified, urging repeal.

Crime — Iowa's Biggest Safe Theft

Millionaire Bachelor Robbed of $124,341

LE MARS (AP)—A millionaire elderly bachelor was robbed of $124,341 cash—mostly in $1,000 bills—authorities said last night as they searched his cluttered home for clues to the biggest safe theft in Iowa history.

Herman Schultz, the 75-year-old victim, said he found small consolation in the fact the thieves overlooked a second safe which contained an additional $86,000 in cash.

Although Schultz did not discover the theft until Sunday morning, he expressed belief it occurred while he played cribbage at his favorite downtown spot Saturday night.

"I think they may have used my own flashlight when they robbed me," Schultz said. "It wouldn't work when I returned home."

Although Schultz' modest one-and-a-half story home is wired, he rarely uses the lights because he considers a flashlight more economical.

He has used the hours of daylight to read the thousands of letters—most of them marriage proposals—which he has received since he announced last month he was giving his fortune to nephews and nieces "because you can't take it with you."

FBI and state agents last night joined Sheriff Frank Scholer in the investigation of the theft.

"They didn't leave a mark," Scholer said. "Our investigation is at a standstill, but I am convinced the safe was stolen as reported."

Scholer said it would have taken "great skill" to remove the safe through the narrow passage-way between tiers of stored second hand furniture which jammed

Statement is Answer to 'Open Letter'

MOSCOW (AP)—Prime Minister Stalin said last night Russia is prepared, if the United States is willing, to use Henry A. Wallace's recent "open letter" to him as the basis for a two-power agreement aimed at ending strained relations between the two nations.

Stalin's statement was dated yesterday and issued by the Soviet press department. It replied to Wallace's proposals, made at a political rally in New York's Madison Square Garden May 11 and addressed to the Russian leader.

Stalin said his government considers that "despite the difference in the economic system and the ideologies, the co-existence of these systems and a peaceful settlement of differences between the U.S.S.R. and the United States are not only possible, but also necessary in the interests of a general peace."

"I do not know," Stalin said, "whether the United States government approves of Mr. Wallace's program as a basis for agreement between the U.S.S.R. and the United States."

"As far as the government of the U.S.S.R. is concerned, it considers that Mr. Wallace's program could serve as a good and fruitful basis for such an agreement and for the development of international cooperation."

Stalin gave a concise and factual summary of the points Wallace addressed to him and the U.S. government at the New York rally. He said these proposals "are

Wallace 'Surprised' By Stalin's Answer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Henry A. Wallace, third-party presidential candidate, was shown stories of Russian Premier Stalin's reply to Wallace's open letter and commented that:

"If I have done anything that moves the world further forward toward peace, I feel that my campaign will have been a success."

Declaring that he was "very much surprised" that Stalin had replied, he also remarked that perhaps world diplomats should examine his letter to Stalin.

"This is a statement by the premier of Russia to the people of the United States, offering peace," Wallace later commented in a radio interview. "It's a real and definite offer by Russia to sit down and discuss our differences to find ways and means of ending the cold war."

He declared his chief desire is to "find a way to preserve the peace" and added: "I'm very humble in the hope that I was an instrument in bringing about an opportunity for our two countries to sit down and discuss our differences."

Hawks Face Bucks on Road Trip

Play Western Michigan Twice; Then Meet Buckeyes in Series

Iowa's baseball nine will go on a four-game road trip this week, the final jaunt of the season. The Hawks are scheduled to meet Western Michigan in Kalamazoo on Wednesday and Thursday. From there they will go to Columbus to tangle with Ohio State in an attempt to better their fourth place Big Nine standing. The Hawks dropped to a fourth place tie with Wisconsin last Friday when they lost a single game to the Badgers. The Buckeyes from Ohio State are currently riding in third place in the conference, so the outcome of the two game series will have considerable bearing on the final standings of each.

The three losses suffered by the Iowans in league contests have virtually erased any title hopes that the Hawks might have. Illinois is riding high with a 7-1 record, while Michigan is in second place with 8-2. Johnny Tedore and Bob Primrose are leading the Iowa hitting attack, each with a .333 mark. Bob Smith boasts a .329 average, the only other regular above .300. As a team the Hawks have fallen off recently to .254 for the 19 games played. Iowa's season mark now stands at 12 wins and seven losses.

Jack Bruner continues as the leading pitcher. The ace lefty possesses a record of six wins and three losses. He has now hurled 77 innings, allowing 27 hits and 23 runs for a 2.65 earned run mark. He has walked 49 enemy batsmen while striking out 65, almost one per inning.

Netmen in Semifinals

Four semi-finals tennis doubles matches and an intramural league softball championship game highlight today's intramural schedule.

In the Hillcrest league tennis playoff, Bob Michael and Merle Bean, Hillcrest C, are slated to play Lyle Earney and Frank Hartle, also of Hillcrest C, in one semi-final contest. In the lower bracket, Jack Linderman and Reginald Stanley, Hillcrest E, meet Ralph Hobt and William Ostby, Hillcrest F.

Bean and Michael advanced to the semis by beating Robert Bockenstedt and A. Nelson, Hillcrest I, 6-2, 6-2. Earney and Hartle teamed to knock off John Blendenman and K. Elbe, Hillcrest A, 6-4, 6-3. Linderman and Stanley took a forfeit win from Bob Benson and Bob Sorenson, Hillcrest G, while Hobt and Ostby edged Richard and Robert Geiger, Hillcrest J, 6-3, 6-4.

Hawket Baseballers Open on Thursday

City high's baseball nine will open on the Hawket diamond Thursday against St. Ambrose of Davenport. Coach Frank Bates boasts a squad of 30 men who are now in their fourth week of spring drills. He said that although the Little Hawks would probably start out the season with weak hitting, they should come along fine.

With a pitching staff of five, the Hawketlets are expecting little worry along those lines. The mound staff is headed by Dick Doran, one of last year's regulars. Bob Diehl, who pitched a two hitter for the junior legion team Sunday, will also see plenty of action with the Hawketlets. Gene Witticker, and two left-handers, Dick Kennedy and Maurice Christensen, round out Bates' staff.

Phils Sell Judd
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Oscar Judd, 38-year-old left-handed pitcher, was sold yesterday by the Philadelphia Phillies to their Toronto club in the International League.

HITTING IS SAUER BUT SWEET - By Alan Maver

SAUER'S SLUGGING COMES AS NO SURPRISE TO SYRACUSE FANS - HE HIT 55 HOMERS FOR THEIR TEAM LAST YEAR, INCLUDING 5 IN PLAYOFF GAMES.

Holmes Tops National Batters

NEW YORK (AP)—Tommy Holmes of the Boston Braves still leads the National League hitters at .419 but he has a new challenger in the Phillies' Johnny Blatnik who is batting .409.

Blatnik, drafted from the Cleveland Indians farm system last fall, got a chance to play when Harry Walker, the 1947 batting king, slumped badly. Frank Gustine of Pittsburgh slipped 38 points to .393, good enough for third place by a safe margin over Brooklyn's Carl Furillo who is hitting .375 according to averages including Sunday's games. Billy Rigney of the New York Giants at .372 and Bert Haas of the Phillies, out with a skull fracture, follow next in order. Haas has a .370 average.

Richie Ashburn, the Phillies other rookie flash, is seventh at .351, one point ahead of Stan Musial of St. Louis, .350. Bill Salkeld of Boston, .342, and Bruce Edwards of Brooklyn, .340, round out the top ten.

Hank Sauer, Cincinnati's slugging freshman, is the big extra base man. He has eight homers and 21 runs batted in. Ashburn has most runs, 20, and Gustine most hits, 35. Bobby Adams of Cincinnati leads with 8 doubles and Ed Waitkus of Chicago has the most triples, 5. Stolen base action has been slow with Danny Murtaugh of Pittsburgh and Haas tied at four each.

Bill Voiselle of Boston and Harry Breechen of St. Louis top the pitchers with perfect 4-0 record.

Larry Jansen of New York and Johnny Schmitz of Chicago are tied for the strikeout lead with 28 victims.

Get 18 Hits Off 5 Hurlers

BROOKLYN (AP)—The Boston Braves scored their fourth straight victory without a defeat over the Brooklyn Dodgers last night, hammering five Dodger pitchers for 18 hits and a 12-3 triumph. Johnny Sain went the route for the Braves, yielding nine hits.

Sain and Bob Elliott led the Braves' attack with three hits apiece as each member of the team chipped in with at least one hit.

The Braves jumped on Rookie Erv Palica for four runs in the second inning and then sewed up the tilt by blasting Hugh Casey for seven more in the eighth frame.

Phillies Take Fourth; Down New York, 7-1

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Blix Donnelly hurled four-hit ball last night as the Philadelphia Phillies clubbed out a 7-1, victory over the New York Giants and moved into fourth place in the National League standings before a crowd of 16,165.

The Phillies socked the New York hurlers, including Bobo Newsom, for 10 safeties and also received help via three Giant homers.

Johnny Blatnik paced the Phil attack, cracking out three safeties to run his hitting streak to nine successive games.

Bruins Dropped, 5-1

DES MOINES (AP)—Sioux City salvaged the final game of its four-game series with Des Moines here last night, 5-1.

The Soos hopped on Bob Kuhlman of the Bruins for two runs in the third and another pair in the fourth off Newcomer Jack Kinsey.

Charley Wagner held the Bruins to six hits and scoreless until the ninth.

Boilermakers Blank Iowa Netsters, 7-0

Purdue's hustling Boilermakers threw a damper on Iowa's final home tennis meet yesterday, whitewashing the Hawknets, 7-0. The Hawks ran true to form despite some occasional sparks in three of the five singles matches and in both of the doubles contests. The visitors were consistent enough to drop only four scattered sets in the afternoon's play as they handed the Iowans their seventh defeat in 12 matches.

In an otherwise gloomy afternoon's showing, little Paul Hasbrouck and bespectacled Ralph Brown came forth with some consistent and flashy tennis, both of which the Iowa squad has lacked all season.

For an hour and a half Hasbrouck battled Purdue's fourth-seeded Alex Jung. The Iowan grabbed the first set, 6-4, but tapered off in the second, going down, 6-2. In the rubber set and trailing 3-0, Hasbrouck broke Jung's serve and won on his own to pull up, 3-2. Then in some long and inspired volleys, the Purdue man captured three of the next four games to take the match.

Brown's top play came in the doubles competition where he showed why he is rated Iowa's top doubles hope in the forthcoming Big Nine playoffs. Teaming with Bill Metz, Brown made few errors in extending Rudy Witsman and Hal Morgan to the full three sets.

The number two Iowa doubles team took a set off the Boilermakers in a contest which Coach Donald Klotz's men should have won easily. Earl Cathcart and Bill Crain looked shabby in losing their first and third sets, 6-0, 6-2, while winning the second, 6-4.

Summaries:
Witsman (Purdue) defeated Newman, 6-3, 6-1.
Stanko (Purdue) defeated Brown, 2-6, 6-2, 6-2.
Morgan (Purdue) defeated Metz, 6-4, 9-7.
Jung (Purdue) defeated Hasbrouck, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.
Wells (Purdue) defeated Cathcart, 6-2, 6-2.
Doubles:
Witsman and Morgan (Purdue) defeated Brown and Metz, 7-5, 2-6, 6-0.
Stanko and Wells (Purdue) defeated Cathcart and Crain, 6-0, 4-6, 6-2.

Ris Named Captain Of Swimming Team

Wally Ris, Iowa's great sprint swimmer, has been named captain of the swimming team for the second consecutive year. This is the first time in the history of the sport at Iowa that one man has held that position in two successive years.

The Hawkeye Olympic prospect was described by Coach Dave Armbruster as follows: "Ris is one of the greatest leaders in the history of swimming at Iowa. He is a hard worker and an inspiration to other members of the squad."

WSUI Challenges The Iowan in Softball

It's WSUI versus The Daily Iowan once again! But this time the rivalry will be in baseball.

The boys over at the local radio station have challenged the boys of the newspaper racket to a softball game Sunday afternoon. That is all well and good. We accept the challenge.

But the funny part of the whole deal is the pitcher these static voices have recruited. Yep, they're going to pull old sore-arm Bob (I'm as good as Feller ever was) Brooks out of retirement to take over the mound chores for the afternoon. But with the ball club we've recruited, Brooks' afternoon will consist of one-half of the first inning.

Your old granddaddy Taking Time Out is going to rival Brooks on the mound. Now that, dear readers, should be something to see. However, in view of the status of one right arm, we've booked a capable crew of outfielders to represent The Iowan.

Besides that, we've got the best coach (he says) in this section of the country, Instructor William Porter of the school of journalism. Porter is technical advisor for Anderson, Harrison, Vogel & Co. in his spare time. Also, Porter and Connie Mack have combined pretty well to put the Philadelphia Athletics on top of the American League this year, which proves his ability at coaching baseball.

The site of this farce (oops!) ball game has not been set but it will probably be on one of the diamonds in back of the fieldhouse. The time is 3 o'clock. Come one, come all. Take a break before that cram for finals.

We would like to say that you will get a full nine innings of good baseball but that would only be misleading you about the physical ability of those radio men. However, if they can struggle past the seventh-inning stretch, it should go nine innings.

Oh, yes. One more thing to lure you out to the ball game. We're sorry to say that Umpire George Magerkurth will be unable to call the balls (in Brooks' case) and strikes Sunday. But we did get Harold Yeglin, staff correspondent for the Des Moines Register, to umpire for a slight bribe. We figure he's efficient since he's a writer.

Sideline Sidelights
Lew Dochterman, Cedar Rapids promoter, informs us that the Olympic sub-regional boxing trials will be held in Cedar Rapids June 3 and 4. Dochterman says he is interested in having as many college students as possible in the tournament. There will be eight weight classifications with Olympic rules governing. Entries must be in by 5 p.m., June 3.

Next fall should be a banner season for Big Nine football. Approximately 1,000 players, including a bumper crop of 390 freshmen, were out for spring drills at the different schools. At least 71 regulars and 265 lettermen from 1947 will be back in the fall.

Construction has begun on the new folding bleachers at the east end of the Iowa fieldhouse. Six conference records are expected to fall at the Big Nine track meet at Madison May 28-29. Dike Eddleman, Illinois high jumper, has already done 6 feet, 6 inches in that event and has a good chance to hit 6 feet, 7 1/4 inches, the present conference mark set in 1938 by Dave Albritton of Ohio State. Iowa has more than 20 thinclads entered in the championships.

Notre Dame finally lost a football game. Isn't that too bad? The Irish varsity griders dropped a 20-14 decision to a group of "Old Timers" and alumni led by last year's all-American, Johnny Lujack. So now Coach Frank Leahy has resorted to his famous old crying towel.

"I am naturally disappointed," Leahy said. "Now I realize what really great players those fellows are who played for the 'Old Timers' (Lujack, George Connor, Ziggy Czarobski, George Strohmeier, Bob Livingston, etc.). If we don't play better next fall, we can very easily lose five games."

It seems to me, I've heard that song before—to quote an old tune.

Editor of 'Parade' Tells What Students May Expect on Job

Jess Gorkin, editor of Parade magazine and former editor of the Daily Iowan, yesterday told SUI photography students what to expect when working on a pictorial magazine.

Stressing the importance of good and experienced photographers on the staff of a pictorial magazine, Gorkin said, "A feature story photographer must be an artist, technician and psychologist all in one."

"He must be an accomplished furniture mover who can disarrange a room in record time, and have the strength of a wrestler in order to carry his equipment."

Picturesories fall in six categories according to Gorkin. These include documentary pictures, single picture stories, news picture stories and picture series. In addition, there are stories where the pictures are secondary and used for illustration, and photographs which are used for the pictorial value alone.

Editor of The Daily Iowan from 1936 to 1937, Gorkin served as assistant editor of Look magazine for five years and was with the office of war information during the war.

Voters Urged To Register

Iowa Citizens have just 10 more days in which to register in order to vote in the June 7 primary election, according to City Clerk George Dohrer. The registration deadline is May 27.

University students cannot register here unless they are Iowa City residents, the city clerk said. Residence requirements are six months in the state, 60 days in the county and 10 days in the precinct.

Students whose permanent residence is somewhere in Iowa other than Iowa City can obtain absentee ballots by writing to their county auditor. In making a request for a ballot, the applicant must indicate his party and home address. Absentee ballots must be marked and returned in time to reach the auditor's office the day before the election.

Students whose homes are in cities of more than 10,000 population must be registered in that city 10 days before the election in order to obtain an absentee ballot. Registration can be accomplished by requesting an application for absent voters registration from the commissioner of registration in the city of residence.

When the application is returned, two registration cards are sent

Dohrer emphasized that these regulations apply only to Iowa residents. Out-of-state voters should consult authorities in their home states.

A booth providing voting information for students is now set up in front of Old Capitol. Registration for any state is available. The booth will be open until noon Saturday.

Council To Discuss Forming 'Student Opinion' Committee

To Choose Campus Chest Co-chairmen At Last Formal Meeting of Semester

By KELLY RUCKER

Meeting tonight in Old Capitol, the Student council will consider setting up a "committee on student opinion," President Evan "Curly" Hultman said yesterday.

The new committee, he said, would be equipped with the "ways and means" for polling student opinion on campus issues accurately and efficiently.

Tonight's meeting, the council's last for the semester, will convene at 7 o'clock in the house chamber, earlier than usual so that complete reports of committees can be heard tonight, Hultman said.

The council will also name co-chairmen for next fall's Campus Chest drive. Voting for one man and one woman, the council will choose from three women students, Ruby Scott, Waterloo; Mary D. Vande Steeg, Orange City, and Joy A. Bowers, Lawrence, Kan., and one man, Harlan Hoekenberg, Des Moines.

According to Hultman, the co-chairmen will head a committee of at least 50 persons.

Slated to report tonight are the following committees: orientation, civil rights, homecoming, senior ring, library, elections and spouse ticket.

While tonight's meeting is the last formal session of the semester, the council will continue to function through the summer on a committee basis, Hultman pointed out.

The orientation committee, established at the council's meeting May 4, will be one of the more active committees this summer. Plans of that committee include mass meetings, literature and personal contacts for incoming freshmen. An SUI booklet containing general information about organizations, departments and core courses will be mailed to each freshman with a letter of welcome from Student council, Hultman said.

Gas Tank Empty; Jail Cell Now Full

Two Davenport men were arrested Sunday near Walcott when the stolen car they were driving ran out of gas in front of two highway patrolmen, a sheriff and his deputy.

The police officers had been investigating an accident and were preparing to leave the scene when the car stopped, according to Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy.

The two men, Norman Griffith, 18, and Raymond Jacobs, 32, were being held in jail yesterday on charges of auto theft. The car had been stolen in Solon. The officers investigating the accident knew about the stolen car. When it ran out of gas they arrested the driver.

Four Poems Published

Four poems by Ruthven Todd, lecturer in the English department's poetry workshop, were printed in the May issue of "Poetry" magazine. "Poem for Picasso's New Baby," "Rivers on Living in Brooklyn," "Upon This Rock," and "Croton-on-Hudson" are a part of a book with a picture of Todd.

Todd flew to England recently to obtain a revised visa and has not returned as yet.

One Way To Bid Houseflies Goodbye

IT'S "GOODBYE FLY" AT 103 N. CLINTON STREET. "ABNER HOUSEFLY" isn't welcomed here, and after Mrs. F.J. Becker finishes painting her screens with a DDT emulsion, "Abner" better not come around or he'll be a dead fly. Iowa City Begins Fly Control Drive

Iowa City's "war on flies" is now underway. Housewives, armed with DDT, began painting screens, garbage cans and entryways yesterday as their part in the citywide "fight the fly" campaign.

The concentrated effort to eradicate flies is scheduled to continue throughout the week and will reach its climax Saturday night. A Cedar Rapids spraying firm will then begin treating food handling establishments and downtown alleys with a five percent DDT emulsion.

Tonight, Dr. Kenneth MacDonald, professor of hygiene and preventive medicine, will answer questions pertinent to the anti-fly campaign on a program over WSUI. The 15-minute broadcast is scheduled for 7:15 p. m.

The Iowa City "fly fight" is part of a statewide fly control campaign. Last year, half the cities in Iowa carried on fly eradication programs.

According to state department of health questionnaires answered by physicians and health officers, the campaign paid dividends in better health. Fly control, the health department says, means better sanitation, and better sanitation means better health.

DDT applied to screens, garbage cans and doorways will mean "goodbye fly" for any one of the disease-carrying insects.

Former Boy Scout Head, J. West, Dies

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP)—Dr. James E. West, former chief scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America, died Friday. He would have been 72 today.

Dr. West died at New Rochelle hospital which he entered Friday. Hospital authorities said he had been ill for a number of years with an intestinal ailment and took a turn for the worse yesterday.

Dr. West, a native of Washington, D.C., had been chief scout executive for 32 years when he retired in 1943. He later was elected chief scout. During his tenure as chief scout executive, an estimated 10-million boys and men had joined the organization.

A crippled orphan in his childhood, Dr. West took part in many programs to aid children. For this reason he was chosen as chief executive when the national boy scout movement was organized in 1910.

Grezzel Case Settled in 45 Minutes

Settlement was reached yesterday morning 45 minutes after the case of Grezzel vs. Caskey was scheduled to be tried.

Twenty-eight jurors ordered to report at 10 a. m. were dismissed until Monday at 10 a. m. after the damage suit was settled.

A judgment of $300, and court costs was entered in the record for Fred Grezzel against Norman L. Caskey as a result of the settlement. The case against Dr. Philip Cahn and the cross petition filed by the defendants against each other were dismissed.

The 28 jurors received $3 apiece and their mileage for the 45 minutes they waited for the case to be settled.

Grezzel had asked for a judgment of $7,500 from the two defendants for injuries he claimed he sustained when a car driven by Cahn struck him after being hit by a truck driven by Caskey.

Judge Harold D. Evans yesterday ordered 40 more jurors called for the May term of court. He set two cases listed as Files vs. Dautremont for trial beginning Monday.

The additional jurors were called because all but 28 of 115 previously drawn for the May term have been excused, Evans said.

Student, Teacher Renew Friendship

Miss Eleanor Rivette, Sidney, Australia, stopped in Iowa City to visit Miss Ramaseshan while en route from New York City to San Francisco, where she will leave for Australia.

Miss Rivette retired as the principal of Women's Christian college, Madras, India, after spending 41 years there. She is visiting many of her former students attending colleges in the United States.

Before joining the Madras staff, Miss Rivette was connected with Bengal schools for 30 years. She is interested in educating Indian women and helped start home economics and art programs in the schools, Miss Ramaseshan said. The Women's Christian college is supported by missionaries in India. Miss Ramaseshan thinks her former teacher will raise funds in Australia for the Indian school.

HERE'S HOW ADS MAKE MONEY FOR YOU

USUALLY when you read or listen to advertising, you think only of the fact that it's trying to sell you something. And advertising's job certainly is to sell you something. That's what it's for.

But let's look at advertising in a broader sense. All the jobs and all the pay checks in America ultimately depend on people buying and selling. Yes, jobs depend on somebody selling something to somebody else.

So good, hard-working advertising is really the sparkplug of American business. And by stimulating business it makes jobs—more and better jobs for all.

In the last analysis, advertising does more than sell you something. It plays a big part in creating the job by which you get the money to buy.

So be glad there's plenty of advertising. Be glad Americans love to hear and read it. It plays a big part in American prosperity—a big part in making your job more secure.

Labor Board Denies 'Free Speech' Ruling

Says Employers May Require Attendance at Anti-Union Speeches

WASHINGTON (AP)—The national labor relations board ruled yesterday that an employer may require his workers to attend a meeting on company time and property and listen to anti-union speeches.

The board based its decision on the Taft-Hartley labor act. It reversed the doctrine of a 1946 case which held exactly the opposite under the Wagner labor act.

In the earlier "free speech" ruling, called the Clark Brothers company case, the NLRB had held that delivery of an anti-union speech at a compulsory meeting of workers violated their constitutional freedom of speech.

The theory was that free speech requires an exchange of ideas and the right of a listener not to listen.

However, the Taft-Hartley law now says that expression of an employer's views is not evidence of an unfair labor practice if the expression contains "no threat of reprisal or force or promise of benefits."

Yesterday's decision, reversing the Clark case, was by a three-member NLRB panel composed of members John M. Houston, Abe Murock and J. Copeland Gray. It involved the Babcock and Wilcox company, Augusta, Ga., and the United Stone and Allied Products Workers union (CIO).

The company's superintendent made speeches against the union on four different occasions at meetings in the plant during working hours. The talks all came a few days prior to an NLRB election to determine whether the workers wanted to be represented by the union. Later on, the workers voted against the union.

Why Be Ashamed of It?

Messiahs have a common retreat when events don't work out. This retreat is a comfortable one. They can withdraw to the mountains and ignore the lesser complications of life.

This appears to us to be the case illustrated by a recent exchange of Letters to the Editor. They concerned a news story that local Wallaceites will distribute food to packinghouse strikers in Ottumwa. An integral part of the story, which we felt it our responsibility to report, was that the food will go only to Ottumwa because of the sympathies there to the Wallace movement.

The significance of "aid with strings" apparently was not noticed by the Wallace spokesman until attention had been called to it in a Letter to the Editor.

Whereupon the spokesman delivered the lecture from on high—denying specifically what she had told our reporter.

To the best of our knowledge, it is perfectly true that support for Wallace among the Ottumwa strikers is a major consideration in the decision to distribute aid there—along with Wallace literature.

We see no reason why the Wallace people should feel any shame about this—except that they have insisted so loudly that American aid to Europe should not have any "strings" attached.

Apparently this glaring inconsistency between word and action was not immediately caught, because no objection was made to the reporter the day after the story was printed—although she saw him and had plenty of opportunity to register objection if she had any.

We have insisted in the past that the giver of any aid has the right to attach "strings" if he so desires or to parcel out his aid where he sees fit. We don't see why aid should be extended to Franco Spain. We think reforms in Greece and Turkey should be effected as the result of receiving American aid. We think racial discrimination ought to be banned as the price of federal educational aid.

As for the packinghouse strike, there is good reason to believe the packers' resistance is an attempt to break the union and that the strikers need support.

We can't see in this case where the political affiliation of the strikers is important. But apparently the Wallace people do and since they have themselves raised that consideration they must expect that withholding of support to their drive can also be justified on political grounds.

But the Wallace people certainly have the right to distribute aid where it will do their cause the best good. Every political party does that. It spends money and sends in political aid in those areas where they think it will do the most good. It picks and chooses—which the Wallace people are entitled to do, also.

Only we don't see why they just don't say this and let it go at that. Why not be honest about it? Of course that might detract from the Messiah approach—and apparently that is the Wallace complex which must be preserved at all cost.

Comment on Our Foreign 'Affairs'

(News Item)
WASHINGTON—The state department Sunday announced that a 21-year-old sergeant had deserted the U.S. army in Moscow and served notice that he is remaining in the Soviet Union.

State department officials said it was a case of seduction and exploitation by an experienced female Soviet agent of a young, inexperienced American in a strategic spot.

as we could possibly get. And it raises a very interesting question.

When is the United States going to stop sending inexperienced Americans to strategic spots where they can be seduced and exploited by experienced Soviet agents, female or otherwise?

On its more basic level we doubt that the sergeant was seduced or exploited. If so, he's not like any of the sergeants we knew. Or is that the way they train them in the new army?

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

The Note Exchange in Retrospect

By J.M. ROBERTS JR., AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The United States has served Russia with a list of the requirements for friendship between the two countries and Molotov has rejected them.

That fact completely overshadows the little diplomatic pleasantries of the latest exchange of views which, at first glance, seemed to offer some hope of a negotiated peace in the cold war.

The state department and President Truman have made it clear that Ambassador Smith gave the Russians no encouragement on immediate negotiations, and that the American statement was a warning, not an invitation.

Russia was told that the coups staged by her fifth columns in neighboring countries were bars to friendship. Molotov called it consolidation of relations in the area and said he intended to keep it up with "neighboring and other countries."

As for his opposition to the Marshall plan, Molotov fell back on his time-worn device of crying "you're another," citing recent U. S. restrictions on trade with the Soviet.

There is no suggestion, either in the message to Moscow or the clarifying state department and White House comments, that the United States has any intention of compromising any of the principles upon which her foreign policy has been based for more than a year.

If Russia wants to discuss what she can do to appease the world-wide sentiment which is being built up against her the United States will be glad to talk it over. The message conveyed by Ambassador Smith made that clear. But it must be Russia coming as a repentant convert, not as an imperialist power seeking to bargain over the lands and liberties of small nations.

President Truman put the U. S. message in proper perspective when he ignored the reference to possible negotiations in citing its two salient points.

The object, he says, was to tell Russia again what American policy is, and that we intend to pursue it vigorously, but that we would be glad if Russia would stop the practices which called the policy into being.

That would mean specific Russian proposals for a truce at the various points of contact in the cold war, and the end of Russian-controlled Communist activities abroad, which the oriental-minded Russians like to pretend are independent and home-grown.

Russian papers were quick to grab at the possibility of negotiations now. There's a reason. Russia's totalitarians can always make agreements with the idea of living up to them only so long as their purpose is served. They are also shy at making proposals for such things as disarmament, which look good on the face but which they refuse to implement with sufficient safeguards to make them workable. Then the Kremlin can scream to the "people" about how it desires peace but cannot get the capitalists to cooperate.

Anyone who tries to negotiate with the Communist imperialists will find the conference table neatly booby-trapped.

Demands We Give Readers Both Sides Of Wallace Story

TO THE DAILY IOWAN:
Re your brilliant comment on Cliff Richards' letter of May 5...

Richards asked you not to butcher his letter to suit the Iowan's purposes as, he claims, was done in the past, and that he is quite convinced that he can write better letters expounding the Wallace viewpoint than you can. You reply to this was, "Well—I, at least longer."

Richards has openly challenged you to print editorials concerning Wallace's program that are better than his letters. This is your chance to let your readers know what Wallace stands for, if anything. Don't crawl back to your hole. Take up his challenge. It should prove quite interesting.

So far Cliff Richards has expressed both nationally and on camplained Wallace's policies far better than you have. Richards is the first congressional chairman of the Iowa Wallace-for-President organization, and is, therefore, in a more qualified position to talk about Wallace's views than you are. Your coverage on Wallace has been very one-sided, and you do not attempt to gather the facts when they are placed in front of your nose...

Say Bundy Owes Apology to O'Brien

TO THE DAILY IOWAN:
We feel that Mr. Bundy owes an apology to Mr. O'Brien.

In Mr. Bundy's letter which was printed Sunday, he accused your dramatic critic of being blindly prejudiced against American movies and in favor of any foreign movies. Mr. Bundy has condemned without knowing the facts.

The defendant in this case did see "The Bishop's Wife" and he did perceive its "humor and charm." However, only one Iowa City theater manager... permits Mr. O'Brien to review all of his movies.

It's true that he did review "The Treasure of Sierra Madre." He did so because it was so unusually good...

Since only the best foreign films are shown here, they will obviously receive good reviews. We're sure Mr. O'Brien is just as enthusiastic over the "best" of the American crop.

The guild is one of those organizations which has no constitution, no by-laws and apparently no formal procedures of any sort.

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

As Dead as Yesterday

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

Harry ran into George on lower Fifth. It was the first time he had seen him since France. They pounded each other.

"Drink?" said George, and they went into a side street bar.

"Beer," said Harry, and he saw that George looked shocked.

"Don't you remember?" asked George. "That first drink we were going to have together back in the States? Double Scotch, no soda? This is it."

"Oh," said Harry, and he remembered. A hot, dry day in a jeep, and a promise made definitely, importantly.

They did the one about what are you doing, where are you living.

Harry looked at George with interest. He had known him really well for only about three weeks. But those had been three bad weeks in the winter of '44-'45. They had been thrown very close together, living out each moment of each day for twenty days in an immense and terrible intimacy. They had passed through an elongated series of final minutes on earth together, at a time when having a friend with you was like having a friend with you on the side of the moon.

They had shared those minutes, like water and cigarettes. They had known each other by name, the minute near the tree, the minute on the road.

Guess that's about as close as two people can be, thought Harry.

Their talk died down, and he tried to give it a shove.

"What do you think of this Russian peace note and the way we kicked it around?" he asked.

"The Russian note. About wanting a peace talk."

"Do they?" he asked. "When did that happen? I've been out of town."

It was incredible, but George didn't know about it. He hadn't read the stories. Harry had a flash memory of a wall falling, and of George and himself, leaping. In those days George had known what was going on around him.

"What do you think about Wallace?" asked Harry.

"I don't think he'll get the nomination, importantly."

They did the one about what are you doing, where are you living.

They had been thrown very close together, living out each moment of each day for twenty days in an immense and terrible intimacy. They had passed through an elongated series of final minutes on earth together, at a time when having a friend with you was like having a friend with you on the side of the moon.

They had shared those minutes, like water and cigarettes. They had known each other by name, the minute near the tree, the minute on the road.

Guess that's about as close as two people can be, thought Harry.

Their talk died down, and he tried to give it a shove.

"What do you think of this Russian peace note and the way we kicked it around?" he asked.

UN Loses Big Attraction

Gromyko's Leaving Signal for Sorrow to Matrons, Children

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The United Nations is losing its biggest drawing card this summer with the departure of Andrei Andreyevich Gromyko, the "oldest young man in the world."

Lake Success won't be quite the same without the black-browed Russian delegate, a boy wonder of the diplomatic world. Perhaps no man his age in history ever said "no" on more major issues in so short a time.

He put his "noes" into the record so often that even the news chroniclers are mixed up in the box score. One morning newspaper here put the total at 23. Another credited him with 29 putouts and an assist from Andrei A. Vishinsky, who set the Soviet pattern with the first veto, delivered in London.

Gromyko—whose nickname "Grom" means "thunder" in his own language—merely announced he was going home to Moscow for his first vacation in three years. Other diplomats here believe, however, his departure may signal his elevation to an even higher policy-making status in the Soviet structure.

At 38, Gromyko already has behind him a brilliant career in world diplomacy, most of it spent in the United States. He came here first in 1939 as counselor to the Russian embassy in Washington. In 1943 he became ambassador himself, perhaps the youngest man—only 34—ever to represent a major power here.

He replaced the veteran and friendly Maxim Litvinoff, and some observers at the time saw in his appointment a cooling off of the Soviet Union's relations toward the western powers. Little has happened since to dispel that belief.

Diligent and aloof, "The Grom" became a standout attraction of the United Nations sessions after he took his famous walk during the security council's deliberation of the Iranian problem.

The first question nine out of ten visitors to Lake Success asked was:

"Can we see Gromyko?" And they also came to ask: "Will he give a veto today?"

It was always an occasion when he said no. Sometimes he did it with a clipped "nyet." Sometimes he did it with a 40-minute address, delivered either in English or Russian, in a deep, bear-bass voice rumbling with a tone of ancient wrong.

Society matrons and bobby-soxers laylaid him in the corridors to get his autograph. These attentions at first annoyed, then began to amuse him—and at the same time vexed a number of delegates from other countries.

Suspicious and often critical of the American press, Gromyko now and then has joked with newsmen assigned to the United Nations. Once, after he had declined comment on several questions, a reporter said lightly:

"Well, Mr. Gromyko, maybe you can answer this. Where can I get some vodka?"

Gromyko, who drinks Scotch and soda himself, smiled and said: "In Brooklyn there is very good vodka."

The Soviet deputy foreign minister has lived well here. He has living quarters in a swank apartment house in Manhattan's upper east side, and also a 40-acre mansion in Long Island taken over by the Russian delegation.

FIRST SUI DEGREE
The first degree from SUI was awarded in August, 1888, to Dexter Edson Smith.

Veterinarians Needed
Veterinarians and poultrymen are needed in the bureau of animal industry, Arthur Hutz, local civil service secretary, announced yesterday. Salaries are $4,902 and $5,905 respectively. The positions are located in Beltsville, Md., and throughout the United States.

Former Student Tells Of Life in Berlin

In Berlin, Russians are using "annoying" tactics to deal with the Americans, but Americans are determined to take a firm stand and keep on working.

This is part of a recent six-page letter written from Berlin by Mrs. Howard Johnston, a SUI graduate, Cedar Rapids, to Miss Anne Nugent, faculty member of child welfare department.

Mrs. Johnston, the former Jeanne Sheetz, had worked in the library of child welfare department after she received her B.A. degree. She went last year to Germany where her husband is doing educational work in the American military government.

Commenting on the American-Russian relations in Berlin, Mrs. Johnston wrote, "it is the people here and in the States, too, that fall heir to the jitters about another war. Conflict just for the sake of military victory will destroy everything. I hope that people at home will not be pained into a foolish course."

The former SUI graduate wrote the project of training youth leadership in Germany is very successful "in spite of a lot of headaches it has caused." She and her husband are both working on the educational project.

Observers Predict Crackup in China Due to Inflation

By FRED HAMPSON
SHANGHAI (AP)—Many believe the lid finally is about to blow off in China as the currency crashes and civil war defeats multiply.

In this land, where temporizing with disaster seems a national habit, one hesitates to agree with this prediction. Yet it is hard to see how the crackup can be postponed much longer even with U.S. aid.

The Chinese currency, which was 2,500 to $1 U.S. two years ago, has been falling by fits and starts.

It passed the historic 1,000,000 to $1 point this month.

Next day former Mayor Roger D. Lapham of San Francisco was appointed administrator of a $338,000,000 non-military U.S. loan to China.

Not even this spectacle of Uncle Sam riding to the rescue could level off or slow the plunge as might have been expected.

The skid is continuing unchecked, with 1,150,000 to $1 the latest quotation.

Everything seems to be happening at once to push down the currency: the political split at Nanking, military reverses in the north, a vast shift of trade from legal to smuggling channels in the south, the flight of men from the farms and villages to escape conscription.

The defeat of the Kuomintang (government party) leaders in the national assembly at Nanking was probably the biggest factor.

Gen. Li Tsung-jen's election as vice-president of China despite the opposition of President Chiang Kai-shek and the old guard of the Kuomintang is the biggest split yet in the government. It came as a stunning surprise.

On the surface it would seem that Li's election should have bolstered the currency. Overnight he became a national hero.

The nation seems suddenly to have shifted its hopes to this relatively little-known general. This is partly because he advocated reforms, but mainly because in China's first free election he licked the Kuomintang satraps who have ruled China for 20 years.

Observers feel that if Li plays his cards right he'll grow stronger still. If reforms don't come, the nation right now is in more of a mood to blame Chiang for obstructing than Li for failing.

This revolt by the brand new constitutional government against the party that was supposed to have hand-picked it has stirred great hopes among those in China who take the long view.

But economic and financial marketeers don't look at it that way. They see Li's election only as a serious rift in the government at a time when the Communists are hammering at the gates. So the money keeps falling.

"For two weeks' period," she wrote, "40 to 50 young Germans from various organizations including the Free Dutch Jugend (the Communist-dominated group) meet together to learn how to attack the common problems in an objective, intelligent fashion."

"To many of them," the letter

Wallace Group Asks Dennis To Lead Striker's Food Drive

Chairman Calls for New 'Overall' Volunteer Citizen's Organization for Statewide Aid

Hayden Scott, chairman of the Wallace for President organization's food committee, last night proposed a new "overall" committee of volunteer citizens to send food to striking packinghouse workers in Iowa.

But he added that food being collected by his committee is "earmarked" for distribution only in Ottumwa because commitments have been made for distribution there.

Scott said he had written a letter to Lawrence E. Dennis, instructor in political science, suggesting that Dennis head the proposed new committee.

Scott's proposal followed a letter from Dennis to The Daily Iowan that suggested political strings were attached to the Wallace group's move to send food to Ottumwa strikers only.

Scott emphasized that he would oppose any attempt to use the food donations "to buy votes."

Sondra Hellman, on the Wallace group's committee, said Wednesday food would be distributed to the Ottumwa strikers only because "we feel that the food will be better received by the Ottumwa union which is sympathetic to the Wallace movement."

In suggesting the "overall" committee, Scott said, "Out of this project might grow a more widespread project that could include other striking unions than the Ottumwa local."

Reporting on the food drive to aid the striking Ottumwa packinghouse workers, Scott said "the situation here is probably worse than in any other place in Iowa."

He urged the members at the meeting to make pledges of food or money to contribute to the drive.

The food contributions will be taken to Ottumwa Sunday, May 23, Scott said. Victor Reuther, brother of labor leader Walter Reuther, will speak at a mass meeting of the strikers to highlight the affair.

Dennis said last night that he had not received Scott's letter. He had no comment to make on the contents of the letter or on accepting leadership of an "overall" committee "until I receive the letter."

Commenting on such a committee, Dennis said, "Such a movement should be predicated on a guarantee from all organizations involved that there would be no political strings attached to food shipments and donations. This would mean that food and donations would have to be distributed equitably to strikers at all Iowa striking packing plants regardless of political complexion of the unions on strike. Conceivably, such a movement should emanate from all campus organizations dedicated to the advancement of the rights of organized labor. That means Young Republicans and Young Democrats as well as Wallace for President groups."

The Iowa City Wallace for President group last night threw its full weight against the Mundt-Nixon bill.

Urged by Sol Maloff, G. New York City, to "act now" to prevent "a stamped toward war," 20 members of the group signed telegrams sent to Senators Bourke B. Hickenlooper and George A. Wilson and Representative Thomas E. Martin.

Letters and postcards also were sent to Washington by the 40 members present at the meeting in the Community building last night.

Speaking on the bill, Maloff claimed that it will "legislate fascism into the statutes" if it is passed by congress. "It attempts to legislate democracy out of existence," he declared.

According to Maloff, the targets of the bill are (1) the Communist party, (2) the trade unions, (3) the Wallace movement and (4) "every organization dedicated to any principle of democracy."

The Mundt bill, according to its author, Rep. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) is a bill "to control subversive activities in the United States."

Norwegian Students Celebrate Annual National Day

Norway's Freedom Observed May 17

Yesterday was Norwegian National day—it corresponds with our Fourth of July—and six of the seven Norwegian students on the campus observed the day at a buffet dinner at the Harry N. Wagoner home, 1185 Hotz avenue.

Those participating were Mr. and Mrs. Erik Raestad, John Sirevaag, Hans Lensehow, Odny Graf and Peter Bernsen. The seventh student, Gunnar Sausjord, was unable to attend.

May 17 has been celebrated as Independence day in Norway since 1814. It is in honor of the adoption of the constitution which has, in all its essentials, been able to stand until now.

During the Napoleonic war, Denmark and Norway united and joined Napoleon; Sweden joined England, Russia and Austria. At Kiel (1814), Norway was given to Sweden as a reward for her services; Norway protested and drew up a constitution.

Sweden would not acknowledge the constitution and the Norwegian demand for self-government, so started war. It lasted for a short time only. The two countries reached agreement and united under one king, but Norway maintained its free constitution and self-government. In 1905, Norway separated completely from Sweden.

For the children of Norway, May 17 means new clothes, marching in parades and eating plenty of ice cream. Flowers are put on the graves of many prominent Norwegians, such as Bjornson, Ibsen, and Nergeland.

The great event of the day occurs at 11 a.m. when all school children parade to the royal castle to greet the king. They wear their best clothes, often red, white and blue.

The May 17 celebration was strictly forbidden during the Nazi occupation in the last war.

WRA Head Names Champion Bowlers

Winners in the WRA bowling intramurals were announced yesterday by Chairman Frances Falk, Decorah.

Gertrude Clark, Davenport, representing Currier, averaged 152 to win the advanced title. Patricia Sibbert, Grosse Point, Mich., won in the intermediate classification with a 137 average. She represented Gamma Phi Beta.

Ann Koons, Bloomfield, Zeta Tau Alpha entry, and Josephine Stooker, Kansas City, Mo., Chi Omega entry, both averaged 117 to share the beginners title.

A total of 127 women were entered in the tournament, which lasted four weeks.

Ashenbrenner Elected To Head Teachers Club

Ralph Ashenbrenner, City high teacher, was elected president of the Iowa City Teacher's club in a meeting last night at the Junior High school.

Other newly elected officers were Esther Garwick, Junior high teacher, vice-president and Ellen Boat, principal of Roosevelt Grade school, secretary-treasurer.

To Play Seldom Heard —

Mahler Third Symphony

— At Orchestra Concert

By JOHN L. HARVEY

In a statement prepared for The Daily Iowan, Prof. Philip Greely Clapp writes as follows:

"Each year sees a larger number of performances of Mahler symphonies than the preceding year, and the name, Gustav Mahler, is assuming more and more a place of distinction beside his eminent contemporaries, Richard Strauss, Claude Debussy and Jan Sibelius, all three of whom received acclaim quite early in their respective careers as composers.

"Mahler's recognition has come more slowly, but now at the distance of 37 years after Mahler's death, he may almost be considered a popular composer, despite the fact that, because of length and elaborate instrumentation, the works of Mahler are more difficult to program than those of the other three composers mentioned.

"With the performance of the Third symphony, the university orchestra will have performed the first four symphonies of Mahler within the past few years. In 1942, they performed a symphonic song-cycle by Mahler ("Song of a Wayfarer") with Prof. Herald Stark as soloist."

Received Favorable Comment

The latter, he goes on to say, was broadcast over NBC and received many letters of favorable comment.

The increasing popularity of Mahler's works which Dr. Clapp mentions has been to a considerable extent due to certain Mahler-enthusiasts among conductors—Mengeberg, Walter, Mitropoulos, Reiner, Koussevitzky, and Dr. Clapp himself (he is, by the way, a holder of the Mahler medal).

In spite of Mahler's increased popularity, he is still a controversial figure, as he was in his lifetime. Attitudes toward his music range all the way from Bruno Walter's exuberant enthusiasm to Paul Lang's supercilious contempt. There is a journal ("Chord and Discord") devoted wholly to propagandizing for Mahler and Bruckner.

The Third symphony, which will be heard tomorrow night, is one of Mahler's larger works—large in all senses of the word. It runs about an hour and a half, and is scored for an immense musical apparatus. The original orchestration makes use of four flutes, four oboes, five clarinets, four bassoons, eight horns, four trombones, a bass tuba and the usual strings. In addition, it employs a female chorus, a chorus of children and a contralto.

It is in the key of D minor. The headings to the movements and sections which were provided in the original score show plainly that Mahler intended the work to be a sort of nature-poem.

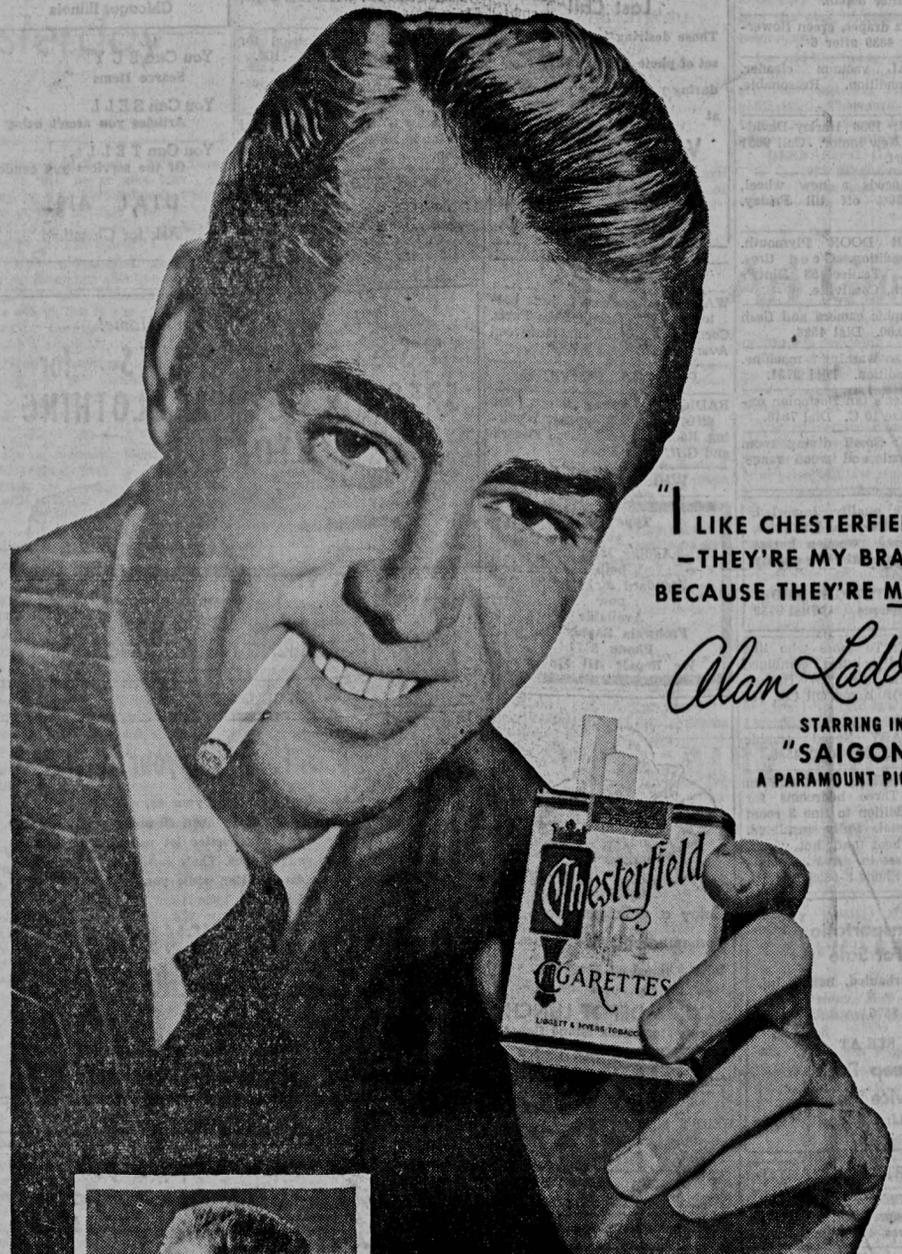

The first movement bears the inscription "Pan Awakens" and "Summer Marches In." It is march-like and quite straightforward, although very substantially developed and written in an unusual harmonic idiom. It occupies about 45 minutes.

The second movement is a lyrical minuet with the inscription "What the Wild Flowers Told Me." The third movement is supposed to depict a gathering of wild animals in a forest; it is a scherzo in a loose variations-form.

A symphonic nocturne provides the fourth movement (it is titled "What the Night Told Me"). It makes use of a contralto, singing lines from a Nietzsche's "Also Sprach Zarathustra."

The fifth movement, which employs the choir and some odd percussion effects, is a song of rejoicing. But the slow sixth movement ends the work on a note of tranquility.

The whole symphony is in a highly affirmative mood, lacking the bitterness which sometimes crept into Mahler's scores.

WHY... I smoke Chesterfield

(FROM A SERIES OF STATEMENTS BY PROMINENT TOBACCO FARMERS)

"I think Chesterfield is a good-smoking cigarette and I like them. They have a good, ripe-tobacco taste and they're mild."

"Nobody pays a higher price to get good-smoking tobacco than Chesterfield. They buy sweet, ripe tobacco. Looks like a gold dollar in the barn."
