The Weather Today

Partly cloudy and cooler today. Tomorrow partly cloudy with moderate temperatures. High today 80. Low today 60. High yesterday 91. Low yesterday 54.

Goldsborough Orders Lewis To Negotiate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Judge T. Alan Goldsborough draped another injunction around John L. Lewis yesterday, and as a result negotiations for a new national soft-coal contract will start up again Monday.

Goldsborough ordered Lewis and his United Mine Workers to sit down and dicker with the Southern Coal Producers association.

This time Lewis lost no time in obeying—or rather, he announced through his lawyer that the union would comply. He didn't say he would be there in person. This is a question mark remains. It is an important question mark, for Lewis alone has authority to speak for the miners.

A meeting with coal operators from all regions was quickly arranged for Monday morning. The talks had flown apart two weeks ago because Lewis refused to include the southern association.

The federal judge, Lewis's old nemesis of the courtroom, made some disapproving thrusts at Lewis's power and methods.

But at the same time Goldsborough said the southern association "may need (destroying, so far as I know)," and he suggested that all the nation's coal companies get together and hire one glib man to deal with Lewis year after year.

This suggestion fell into the troubled coal labor situation with unusual force. The idea of unifying the coal operators of all regions has long been favored by some government officials and some coal-mining executives.

Goldsborough, with some reluctance, granted a temporary injunction against Lewis and the miners. It requires them to bargain with the southern association headed by Joseph E. Moody.

That makes two Goldsborough injunctions hanging around Lewis's neck. The other prohibits striking over miners' pensions. Moody, at a news conference, said his association will do anything it can to see that a new national soft-coal contract is agreed upon. The present contract expires June 30.

Lewis had the option of obeying the injunction or facing another conviction for contempt of court.

New Contract Ends Phone Strike Threat

NEW YORK (AP)—The threat of a nationwide strike of long distance telephone workers was eliminated yesterday.

Negotiators for the American Telephone and Telegraph company, and the CIO American union of telephone workers removed the threat by signing a 21-month contract. The agreement, reached with the help of federal mediators, broke a protracted deadlock.

The union, which originally sought a 30-cent hourly wage boost, did not win any general increase.

However, a company spokesman said concessions were granted on a number of fringe issues. These included increases in maximum wage rates affecting employees at some places, improved night differential rates for some workers and increased overtime pay for holiday work.

The firm also accepted the union demand for a maintenance of dues clause if the employees vote for it under the Taft-Hartley act.

The new contract provides for one wage reopening during its life. If no agreement on pay scales is reached after such a reopening, either party may cancel the contract after June 2 next year upon 60 days notice.

U. S. Accuses Russ In Berlin Incident

BERLIN (AP)—Maj. Gen. George P. Hays, American deputy military governor, in an exchange of letters released yesterday, charged that a Russian transport attempted to ram an American fighter on April 28.

The Russians alleged that American fighters had taken the transport into "protective escort" and dangerously molested it. The transport was bound from Zurich, Switzerland, to Berlin in the Soviet zone.

Gen. Hays, in reply, said one fighter went up to investigate when the Russian transport was discovered 30 miles off its course over the American zone, flying toward Bremen instead of Berlin.

Law '93 Remembers Golf, Sips Lemonade

THE WEATHER WAS HOT YESTERDAY and Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Berry of Sioux City paused at the Iowa Union for lemonade as they revisited the campus during alumni reunions. Berry, a member of the law class of 1893, is still proud of the fact that he once won a golf match and a loving cup here on which his name was inscribed. He said he still shoots "a good game."

SUI May Receive 931 Housing Units If Senate Approves

The University of Iowa will receive 931 units of temporary housing now on the campus if the senate passes legislation now under consideration, University Business Manager Fred W. Ambrose said yesterday.

The bill, passed June 3 by the house, would give colleges and universities 129,300 dwelling units which have been moved to them to house veteran students. Most of the units are former army and navy housing.

The senate banking committee yesterday recommended passage of the bill.

Rents here would not be affected by the transfer of ownership if the law is passed, Ambrose said.

Under the present system, the housing law specifies that the buildings must be torn down in 1949 if their use as temporary veterans housing has ended. The new law under consideration would allow the universities to use the buildings for storage purposes or remove them after the housing need had ended.

Of the 931 housing units on the Iowa campus that would be affected by the bill, 632 are barracks apartments, 249 trailers and 50 quonset apartments, Ambrose said.

All of the housing came to the university from the federal housing administration (FHA) on a bailment basis.

"We now have them in trust for the purpose of housing veterans," Ambrose said, and universities which have such housing are, "in effect, the agents of the FHA."

The university has been responsible for all costs in connection with the housing except for the buildings themselves. FHA now wants to get rid of the dwelling units because the law rental charges provide only "trickling" profits which are inadequate to cover FHA's high cost of supervision and auditing, Ambrose explained.

However, the housing would still be under government supervision even if the bill was passed, according to Ambrose. The government would also require that the dwelling units be used to house veterans as long as they are needed for that purpose.

Ambrose testified at the house of representatives' hearings on the bill last March 29, 30 and 31. He represented President Virgil M. Hancher at the hearings, testifying for the American Association of State Universities. Hancher is president of the association.

Seeing a Ball Game Is A Matter of 'Degrees'

Herbert Nickelsen of Clinton wanted to drive with his wife to Chicago today to see a baseball game.

His wife was already in Clinton waiting for him to join her for a vacation before summer school began. They were going to relax before he continued to study for his B. A. degree in August.

Today, however, the ball game is off and Nickelsen's wife will return here. Nickelsen was notified yesterday that he will receive his degree this morning.

Hancher To Confer Degrees To Record 1,400 Graduates

Nearly 1,400 candidates for degrees will march into the Iowa fieldhouse at 9:45 this morning in the largest commencement exercises in the university's history.

President Virgil M. Hancher will confer the degrees and deliver the charge to the candidates. An old custom will be revived with Hancher's delivery of the charge, according to Director of Convocations P.G. Higbee.

Recent years have seen off-campus speakers delivering the address at commencement exercises. The previous custom will be resumed this year, Higbee said.

The university concert band under the direction of C.B. Righter will present a prologue concert before and during the procession. The candidates and faculty members will march through the armory to the platform in the gold and black draped fieldhouse.

Hancher will deliver the charge to the candidates following the invocation by Prof. M. Willard Lampe of the school of religion.

Four students will represent those receiving prizes, honors and awards. These will be announced following the charge. The four men also will receive special citation for their outstanding records.

The exercises will close with the singing of the university hymn and the benediction by Lampe.

Additional candidates for degrees announced yesterday included Kathryn Eileen Clemons, B.S. N., and Herbert Carroll Cassill, Paul Edward Lydolph, David Wiltonson, William Daniel Trevor, Kitty Kleiner and James Clifford Donance, all B.A.

Prof. Jordan Kills Poisonous Moccasin

A two and one-half foot poisonous water moccasin snake was killed Thursday night by Prof. James Jordan, head of the university information service, in the back yard of his home, 1000 River street.

The snake was discovered on the back porch of the house by Mrs. Jordan about 11:30 and was identified as a water moccasin by Richard Igenfritz, who graduates today in zoology.

"I was letting the dog into the house when I happened to notice the snake under a deck chair near the door," Mrs. Jordan said.

She then went to get a flashlight and told her husband who killed the snake with a baseball bat.

"I don't know why I happened to notice the snake. I thought at first it was a piece of rope," Mrs. Jordan explained.

She described the snake as being copper-colored with small square or diamond shaped markings on the back.

Igenfritz was puzzled as to why the snake would be found so far from water during a dry spell.

Mihai, Anne Meet
GENEVA (AP)—Former King Mihai of Rumania and Princess Anne of Bourbon Parma met here yesterday for the first time in three months.

Mihai said their marriage plans were "still indefinite." Aides had indicated the pair may fly to Greece next week for the ceremony.

Find Vanport Bodies As Columbia Rises

PORTLAND, ORE. (AP)—The drowned city of Vanport gave up its first bodies last night while the Columbia river, working up to a new and higher crest, added to the death toll upstream.

Salvage workers recovered two bodies at Vanport. That city of 18,700 persons was smashed to kindling last Sunday in the greatest single disaster of the Pacific northwest's floods.

Upstream the Columbia's tributaries again were rising fast, threatening the devastated lower river areas with a crest at least a half-foot higher than this week's flood.

Five bridges were washed out in Idaho. A truck driver was swept to his death.

This, plus the Vanport bodies, increased the toll in floods throughout the Pacific northwest and Canada to 26.

The first body recovered at Vanport was that of a boy believed about 5 years old. The second was that of a boy believed about 1 1/2.

Officials feared there would be more. The Red Cross said an incomplete list shows 13 persons not located.

The river's new crest is expected to reach the Portland-Vancouver, Wash., area next Tuesday.

Elmer Fisher, river forecaster, said the 30.5 feet at Portland and 30.8 at Vancouver, Wash., may not be the crest. He said he lacked information to go beyond Tuesday in his forecast.

Reports Immigration Stalls Truce

Palestine Mediator Asks New Orders

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. (AP)—Count Folke Bernadotte reported last night that the question of Jewish immigrants alone was holding up a cease fire in Palestine and urgently asked the UN security council for instructions.

Paris El Khouri, president of the council, immediately called a special meeting for 9 a. m. Iowa time today, and then within a matter of minutes cancelled the session. As a result Bernadotte's appeal will be held at a regular meeting Monday at 12:30 p. m. Iowa time.

The UN officially announced later that Bernadotte had withdrawn his request after receiving additional information from the council president.

El Khouri gave no explicit explanation for his change of mind.

House Passes Slashed Foreign Aid Measure

Sustains Taber's Trimming; Vandenberg 'Fighting Mad'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house last night passed a foreign aid bill slashed 26.7 percent under the amount President Truman asked. It calls for $5,980,710,228 for 15 months. The administration said $6,533,710,228 for 12 months should be the minimum.

There was no record vote. The bill was passed on a chorus of "ayes." A Republican-Democratic coalition led by Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill.) failed, likewise by a voice vote, to get the bill sent back to committee with instructions to add about $1-billion.

Previously the Dirksen amendment was defeated, 148 to 113, by a teller vote—a procedure by which the members file past tellers and are counted.

Secretary of State Marshall fought hard against the cut. He told newsmen it would mean putting Europe on a relief dole, rather than helping it to its feet.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), who engineered the enabling act under which congress authorized a much larger recovery program than the one actually voted last night, was reported fighting mad.

But ax-swinging Rep. John Taber (R-NY) had his way. It was his appropriations committee that recommended the cut. He argued that the funds it proposed were all that could be spent prudently. Backers of the bigger appropriation pinned their hopes on the senate. The bill now goes there, and they plan a determined fight. If they win, the final bill will probably be whipped into shape in a senate-house conference committee.

As it passed the house, the bill carried these amounts:

Economic cooperation administration, for economic aid to Europe and Asia—$4-billion instead of the $4,245,000,000 the president had requested. The sum approved includes $200,000,000 for aid to Trieste for which the President had requested a separate allotment.

Assistance to Greece and Turkey—$200-million instead of the $275-million the President had requested.

Aid to China—$400-million instead of the $465-million the President had asked.

Government and relief in occupied areas under army supervision—$1,250,000,000 instead of $1,400-billion.

International refugee organization—$70,710,228 as asked.

International children's emergency fund—$60-million as asked.

While the total approved by the house is $553-million in cash less than the President asked, the actual reduction was made far greater by spreading the period of spending over 15 months instead of 12.

Says Princess Elizabeth Is Expecting a Baby

LONDON (AP)—Buckingham palace announced last night that Princess Elizabeth is expecting a baby.

It wasn't stated as simply as that, but in language as close to a birth announcement as the royal household ever gets:

"Her royal highness, the Princess Elizabeth, Duchess of Edinburgh, will undertake no public engagements after the end of June."

Social Security Aid Hiked by Congress; Bill Sent to Truman

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress approved and sent to President Truman last night legislation increasing by $184-million annually the social security payments to 3,500,000 needy aged persons, blind persons and dependent children.

House approval was by voice vote, after the senate earlier passed the measure 74 to 6.

Under the present program the maximum for the aged and the blind, under federal-state matching, is $45 a month; for the dependent children, $24.

Here is how the boosted benefits would work:

The needy aged and the blind—the federal government would contribute three-fourths of the first $20 paid to a recipient. The state would pay one-fourth. Then the federal government and the state would match 50-50 up to a maximum of $50 for each recipient. Thus, where a recipient received $50, the federal government would contribute $30 and the state $20.

Dependent children—the federal government would contribute three-fourths of the first $12 for the first needy child in a family, and go 50-50 with the state up to a maximum of $27 for the first child. Each additional child in the needy family would get a maximum of $18 under the matching system.

The increased benefits were tacked on to a bill dealing with an entirely different social security matter. The bill is designed to block a move by the administration to extend coverage under the old age and survivors insurance section of the social security law to an estimated 500,000 to 750,000 persons.

Langer Asks Civil Rights Amendment in Draft Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Langer (R-ND) sought yesterday to attach the "civil rights program" to the draft bill, but senate leaders predicted he would not succeed.

Senator Gurney (R-SD), chairman of the senate armed forces committee, said he would let Langer explain his proposals and then moved to shelve them, to avoid long debate.

The senate recessed yesterday until Monday, when a vote may come.

Honored at Emeritus Club Dinner

THE ONLY LIVING MEMBERS OF THE MEDICAL class of 1888 are husband and wife, Dr. Donna M. Barker and Dr. James W. Barker of Peoria, Ill. They are pictured as they attended the Emeritus club dinner at Currier hall last night. The Emeritus club dinner is an annual event to honor alumni who graduated before 1898.

Truman Says 'Abundance' for People Can Stop Communism

CHICAGO (AP)—President Truman said last night that congress can throttle communism in America by providing a greater "abundance" for the people.

All it has to do, he said, is pass laws to assure that Americans have homes, schooling, security, good jobs, fair wages and "a brake on inflation."

It was the President's first, tailored-in-advance speech on a stump-tour into the west. It was made to a crowd that packed Chicago stadium, where Mr. Truman walked off with the Democratic vice-presidential nomination four years ago.

Yesterday, along the route of his special train from Washington, Mr. Truman cultivated support for four more years in the White House. He spoke as if he takes it for granted that the party will nominate him next month.

All along the way, he jabbed at congress. He repeated that he wants a draft law and universal military training. He laid responsibility for high living costs on congress. He accused it of serving the "men who have all the money" instead of the common people.

That was at Gary, Ind., where Mr. Truman made the last of a series of off-the-cuff talks to way-side audiences.

He told the folks at industrial Gary that America must have a "sound and solid" economy.

"If you support me," he said, "we will probably get it."

Furthermore, Mr. Truman predicted election of a Democratic congress in November.

Here in Chicago, the occasion for last night's speech was the 100th anniversary of the migration of Swedish settlers across the midwestern prairies.

And here, too, Mr. Truman parceled out advice to congress.

He said proposals to outlaw the Communist party or check some kinds of political activity "miss the point." He suggested that congress get busy instead on some bills he has been asking for all along.

A nation which reaches the "goals of abundance," he said, never will "succumb to the evils of communism."

In addition, he said, congress ought to pass a law without "crippling amendments" that will let some of Europe's displaced refugees come to America.

These people, he said, are "heroes of democracy" who are unable to return to their homelands because they are against communism. The President objected to "limits and quotas on countries and occupations" in some of the bills before congress.

Mr. Truman did not fail to offer a hand of friendship to Sweden. He called that country one of the most prosperous and progressive democracies.

Bloody Palestine Land, Sea Fights Reported

CAIRO (AP)—The Arabs said last night they had killed 580 Jews and wounded 1,000 others in a fierce land battle while a Jewish communique reported four Egyptian ships were repulsed in a sharp, three-hour naval engagement off Tel Aviv.

A Baghdad communique of the Iraqi defense ministry said the Jewish casualties were inflicted when Israeli forces used 5,000 troops in an attack in the Jenin area of northern Palestine. A large number of Jewish prisoners and great quantities of arms were captured, the communique said.

UN as its mediator in the Holy Land fighting and has been flying back and forth from the Jewish provisional capital at Tel Aviv to the capitals of the Arab states.

He was given the job by the security council of interpreting terms of the truce and fixing the exact day and hour of the cease fire as a prelude to a four weeks armistice.

In a cable to the council last night he said:

"The question of Jewish immigration into Palestine during the duration of the truce alone is obstructing an agreement between the two parties on the effective date of the truce."

"The difficulty arises concerning the precise interpretation to be given to the phrases 'fighting personnel' and 'men of military age.'"

"Does the UN resolution envisage that men of military age may be brought into the Jewish area of Palestine during the period of the truce provided that they are not mobilized or submitted to training? Is the resolution permissive in this regard or does the resolution seek the exclusion of all men of military age? ...

Buddy Kerr's Pinch Single in Eighth Dumps Cincinnati, 5-4

Hank Sauer Bangs Out 2 Home Runs

CINCINNATI (AP)—Buddy Kerr's two-run pinch hit single in the eighth inning enabled the league-leading New York Giants to edge the Cincinnati Reds, 5-4, yesterday.

Kerr, who suffered a bruise on his right forefinger on a pick-off play in last night's game, came up with the score tied at 3-3, the bases loaded and two out. He banged the ball to left to break up the game and send starting pitcher Kent Peterson to the showers.

Hank Sauer was the big gun for the Reds. Sauer clouted two homers, one in the first inning and the second in the eighth. The homers were his 15th and 16th of the season, top production in either league.

Andy Hansen started for the Giants and gave up three runs before bowing out in favor of Dave Koslo in the third inning.

Koslo held the Reds hitless for five innings. He was lifted in the eighth for pinch-hitter Kerr and gained credit for the victory when Kerr came through with his pay-off sock to left. Sheldon Jones finished.

Indians Beat Nats in 15, 5-0

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cleveland poured five runs across the plate in the 15th inning to defeat Washington, 5-0, and retain its American league lead here last night before a crowd of 29,555. The Indians scored their runs off Relief Pitchers Tom Ferrick and Dick Welteroth after Mickey Haefner had hurled 12 scoreless innings against Bob Feller, who was replaced by Bob Muncief after 11 innings.

Feller and Muncief collaborated in limiting the Senators to four hits, none in the last seven innings. Haefner scattered five hits before yielding to Pinch-hitter Tom McBride in the 12th.

Cleveland clustered five of its 10 hits into the 15th inning after Ferrick had placed himself in trouble by walking Muncief and Eddie Robinson. Hal Peck attempted to sacrifice but forced Muncief at third before Dale Mitchell singled off Shortstop Johnny Sullivan's glove to score Robinson.

Lou Boudreau's single scored Peck before Mitchell went out trying to steal. Joe Gordon tripled, Ken Keltner singled and Walt Judnich tripled off Welteroth to boost the score to its final proportions.

A's Edge Chisox; Brissie Gets Win

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mike Guerra's double sent Ferris Fain across the plate with the winning counter in a three-run seventh inning uprising that gave the Philadelphia Athletics a 4-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox last night.

The Chicagoans carved out a 3-1 lead but the A's suddenly came to life in the seventh and shelled Bill Wright from the box, tying the score at 3-3. Wright then gave up his seventh and eighth walks to Fain and Sam Chapman, and Guerra lined his two-bagger to deep left to give the Athletics the victory.

Braves Beat Pirates

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Boston Braves scored seven runs in the seventh inning to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10-7, in a drawn-out contest last night before a crowd of 37,355. Jim Russell's home run with two aboard was the big blow of the inning. Clyde Klutz and Ralph Kiner homered for Pittsburgh. Kiner's clout being his 13th round tripper of the year.

Red Sox Win Doubleheader From St. Louis, 10-4, 7-2

BOSTON (AP)—Boston's Red Sox yesterday won their first double header since last Labor day as they whipped the ever trying St. Louis Browns twice, 10-4 and 7-2, before an appreciative Ladies day crowd of 17,362, of whom 14,901 paid their way into Fenway park.

Yanks Clip Tigers Before 64,261 Fans

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Lindell homered in the seventh inning to break a 4-4 tie and the New York Yankees added two more runs in the eighth and went on to defeat the Detroit Tigers, 7-4, last night before 64,261 fans. Dick Wakefield betted a three-run pinch-hit homer for the Tigers in the seventh.

Frank Hiller made his start of the season for the Yanks. Hiller was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the bottom of the eighth and Joe Page finished up to preserve the decision for Hiller.

Phillies Roll Over Schmitz, Cubs, 7-2

CHICAGO (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies unleashed a 13-hit bombardment for a total of 25 bases yesterday to rout Johnny Schmitz and trounce the Chicago Cubs, 7 to 2.

Dick Sisler walloped his sixth homer and Del Ennis his seventh. Richie Ashburn extended his batting streak to 21 straight games with two singles in the high points of the assault. Both homers came off Jess Dobner, third Cub hurler, after Schmitz had been kayeod in the seventh for his sixth loss.

Walt Dubiel scattered eight hits, including Andy Patko's eighth homer, for his third victory of the season.

Joe Dobson, the most dependable of Sox hurlers this season, pitched his seventh complete game in the opener when he won his sixth against four losses. He gave up nine hits, one of them Whitey Platt's fourth homer and another, Les Moss' fifth.

Denny Galehouse limited the Browns to seven hits in the nightcap and shut them out except in the second inning when they bunched three hits for both their runs.

The Sox had their biggest inning of the season when they scored six times in the eighth frame of the opener. Ten men batted.

They had four run innings in both games, the third of the lid-lifter, when nine men went to the plate, and the initial session of the closer when they also batted around.

Shortstop Vern Stephens treated his former St. Louis teammates roughly as he clubbed out four hits in seven times at bat in both games and drove in four Boston runs.

To Hold Meeting to Adopt Big Nine Code

CHICAGO (AP)—Another in a series of hush-hush Big Nine meetings to keep conference members within bounds on aid to athletes is scheduled here today and tomorrow.

Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, Big Nine commissioner, would neither confirm nor deny that a so-called "secret" meeting was slated.

A recruiting code is expected to be submitted by a conference committee which will be more stringent than the N. C. A. A. Sanity Code which members of that group will begin observing this fall.

Demaret Paces Field In Albuquerque Open

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Jimmy Demaret trimmed par three strokes for a 69 yesterday to cling to a one-stroke lead half-way through the $10,000 Albuquerque open golf tournament.

Combined with his 65 for the first round, yesterday's score gave the Ojai, Calif., swinger a 134 total—10 better than standard figures—for 36 holes on the 6,813-yard University of New Mexico course.

Moving up relentlessly, bulky Clayton Heafner added a 68 to Thursday's 67 for 135 and second place.

Except for Marty Fargol of Utica, N.Y., who put a 68 with a 69 for 137 and third in the medal scores, Texas Jimmy and the Big Charlotte, N.C., pro were the only top contenders who didn't suffer from a combination of troubles either Thursday or yesterday.

George Schneider slipped to an even par 72 but his previous fine 66 permitted the Ogden, Utah, golfer to hold onto fourth with a 138.

Long-driving George Schoux, from Mamaroneck, N.Y., posted 70-69 and E.J. (Dutch) Harrison, from Little Rock, Ark., 68-71, to rank next with 139s.

To Air KXIC Broadcasts Tomorrow

Radio station KXIC will go on the air for the first time at 2 p.m. tomorrow, Gene Clausen, KXIC news director, said yesterday.

Iowa City's first commercial station has been ready to broadcast since May 16, but it was not until yesterday at 3 p.m. that final approval arrived from the federal communications commission, Clausen said.

The delay was due to technical difficulties in checking KXIC's signal strength, he said. Three former WSUI staffers, Robert Snyder, Gene Clausen and Herb Olson started the station. They were joined by Elliot Full, an FCC licensed engineer, who last summer helped construct KSUI, the FM station at the university.

The four men filed their application with the FCC just one hour before the final deadline set by the FCC for new station permits on February 7, 1947. The quartet received FCC's permission to construct KXIC on December 15, 1947.

The permit grants KXIC the right to operate a 1000 watt station from sunup to sundown at 800 kilocycles. Its primary area will extend to Grinnell in the west, Galeburg, Ill. in the east, southern Wisconsin in the north and Keokuk in the south.

Nine Nurses Attend Chicago Convention
Nine women from the school of nursing attended the Biennial Nurses' convention in Chicago from May 31 to June 4.

Those who attended the convention were Lola Lindsey, director of nursing education; Margaret Fagen, nursing supervisor in the department of surgery; Flora Weber, nursing supervisor in the children's hospital; Grace Yackey, nursing supervisor in the operating room; Mrs. Maxine Swan, assistant nursing supervisor in the department of neurology; Emily Hanson, assistant nursing supervisor in the department of medicine; Martha Stark, assistant nursing supervisor in the operating room, and Dorothy Wamsley and Ruth Opfell, student nurses.

Groups sponsoring the assembly were the American Nurses' association, National League of Nursing Education, and National Organization for Public Health Nursing.

Students Wed in Evening Ceremony

TWO UNIVERSITY STUDENTS, Anne Mudge, A2, and Charles A. Lindberg, E2, were married Thursday evening at the First Presbyterian church. The Rev. Hewison Pollock officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mary Mudge, Sioux City, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Lois Johnson, Sioux City, and Marilyn Harris, A3, Muscatine. Fred Nordstrom, A2, Shenandoah, was best man. Ushers were Richard Fishbaugh, A4, Shenandoah, Daniel Rater, A2, Casey, and George Walmsy, A2, Freepport, Ill. A reception was held at the Chi Omega house following the ceremony. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alva L. Mudge, Sioux City, is a member of Chi Omega social sorority. The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lindberg, Shenandoah, is a member of Phi Kappa Sigma social fraternity. The couple is planning to enter the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, next fall. They will live in Chicago this summer.

Patricia Holland, Herbert Shoener Married Yesterday
In a double ring ceremony yesterday afternoon, Patricia Holland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Holland, Preston, Minn., became the bride of Herbert Shoener, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shoener, Pittsburgh, Pa. Dr. L. L. Dunnington performed the marriage at the First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Robert Johnson, Inwood, was matron of honor and Barbara Swenson, Inwood, and Norma Lou Haegg, A4, Cedar Rapids, were bridesmaids. Harold Shoener, A4, Pittsburgh, was best man and Art O'Niell, and William Tucker, both of Iowa City, were ushers. A reception was held at the Hotel Jefferson following the ceremony.

To Honor Graduates
Riverside park, married students housing area, will honor graduating seniors at a party at 8:00 p.m. tonight in the housing area. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haynes are co-chairmen of the party.

Good Light

YESTERDAY and TODAY...

Remember the unfrosted bulb, the old-fashioned "pull chain", and the hard-to-clean diffusing bowl? Each was an improvement in its day and delivered successively better light in the kitchen. But plenty of glare accompanied the "glow". Today there's the newly-designed SUNLITE unit that lights every corner of the kitchen. It's easy to clean and economical to operate ... delivers approximately twice as much light as an old-fashioned kitchen lighting fixture. Because of the quality of light it produces, the SUNLITE compliments your kitchen appliances and decoration ... adds ease and convenience to your kitchen work. May be installed in any existing ceiling outlet. Just call us today for a demonstration of the new kitchen SUNLITE in your home! $1.95 PLUS TAX

A Student's World

This is a multiple handshake. About 1400 degrees will be conferred today with handshakes all the way around. Students from most of the United States—from many countries around the world will cross the stage before the eyes of thousands of visitors.

The size of the audience; the distance they have come to see the university graduation testify to the scope of the university.

But the graduates themselves and the distance they have come tells a story of internationalism that is both good and necessary. By this we mean not only the students from India, Czechoslovakia, Norway and Colombia who work here for degrees—but a larger group. These men and some women came through college by way of Salerno, Normandy, Guadalcanal, and Tokyo.

Traditional mid-west isolationism, fortunately, is less of a tradition than before—a world out-look has been replacing it.

With a graduating class of students from many countries and students of this country familiar with the world and its nations, the university can be proud of its position. It has been charged with preparing students for a world full of nations—not for a nation full of states or a state full of towns.

So we figuratively shake the hand of the graduates and the university... saying "well done."

Information Paying Off

The accusation that a $10-million foreign exchange fund was written into the Marshall plan as a "payoff" to certain magazines and newspapers for supporting the ERP was made and contested in congress Thursday.

Chairman Leo Allen (R-Ill.) of the house rules committee claimed the fund amounted to "subsidies" for publications which "have fought for the Marshall plan. It is $10-million for propaganda and subsidies; it's a payoff."

The fund would make dollars available, if desired, to publishers, news organizations, producers or distributors of American books, movies or periodicals in exchange for foreign currencies which these organizations earn but are not able to use to purchase necessary supplies.

Cited as specific periodicals and press services doing business in Europe who could use the fund were Time, Life, Newsweek, Readers Digest, New York Herald Tribune, New York Times, The Associated Press, United Press and International News Service.

Chairman Taber (R-N.Y.) of the house appropriations committee and Paul G. Hoffman, ERP administrator, expressed doubt that such accusations were valid. Hoffman pointed out that any "medium of information" operating in Europe could apply for aid from the fund.

Typical of the almost immediate denials by the publications and press associations named was the statement from the International News Service: "INS has never accepted a government subsidy in its entire history and does not intend to do so now."

Such an indictment should be sharply rejected. There is no reason to believe that the state department and some of the country's leading publications and press associations would let themselves in for a $10-million scandal.

It is currently part of our foreign policy to have U.S. publications penetrate the Iron Curtain and circulate in the so-called Marshall plan area. An exchange fund which would make it financially possible to circulate such publications abroad without losing money is common business sense.

The United Nations, at a recent Freedom of Information convention in Geneva, came out for an unrestricted flow of information throughout the globe.

It would be a crime if congress would cut the exchange fund from foreign aid appropriations. Just as the Voice of America broadcasts (if properly conducted) could be an invaluable weapon for the U.S. on the European battleground of ideas; American news and ideas transmitted by American periodicals, films and press associations could become super weapons.

There is firm ground for doubting the existence of anything sinister in a foreign exchange fund; it is obvious, on the other hand, that such a fund would speed the flow of information to the front lines.

Reported Missing in Action

What's on the congressional active list? Senate GOP leaders are aiming at a June 19 adjournment. On the immediate docket are such things as limited revival of the draft, and extension of the reciprocal trade act.

Equally interesting is the list of temporarily dead or missing:

- The bill for long range housing
- Civil rights legislation
- Oleo tax repeal
- Extension of farm price supports
- Wage rules, such as government workers' pay boosts and raising of minimum wages

However, as Senator Taft pointed out, this list is tentative and incomplete—and he adds "ruled nothing out."

SUI Organizations

Commerce Places Graduates

(This is the 19th of a series of articles dealing with university organizations. Others will appear on this page from time to time—The Editor.)

Making it easier for commerce majors to find a job after graduation—that's the work of SUI's two professional commerce fraternities.

In order to accomplish this, Delta Sigma Pi, men's professional commerce fraternity, undertook to establish a Business Placement service this year.

Under the direction of Ralph Brown and Ted Foster, the chapter's 80 actives on campus compiled a list of about 300 U.S. business firms.

From this list, all seniors and graduate students in economics and commerce indicated the firms they wanted data sheets sent to. These data sheets listed the applicants interests; the kind of job he wants, courses taken in college and his general background.

Each of the firms in return, works through the placement service in employing graduating students. Already this spring many firms have sent congratulatory letters to the fraternity on its work, according to fraternity officers Guy Ames, headmaster, Frank Barrett, senior warden and Edwin Allen, junior warden.

The women commerce majors do their part in increasing the graduating student's chances of finding a job also. Phi Gamma Nu, women's professional commerce fraternity, sponsors a two day job technique clinic annually at which outstanding businessmen are invited to speak on how to secure a job.

Other activities of the fraternity include the awarding of a scholarship key to the senior woman in commerce who has highest grade average and monthly meetings at which guest speakers talk on job techniques.

Officers during the past year were Dorothy Walter, president; Marian Politz, vice president; Betty Dickinson, secretary and Jane Brisben, treasurer.

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

Congress in the Clouds

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

The price of lumber for home building has again jumped sharply up; fuel is up, metal prices are up; but almost nobody in congress is making a noise about these matters. Some business circles begin to talk of an approaching "hyper-inflation" as a result of the arms program; but, again, you couldn't tell it from listening to most of the speeches in either House.

The talk in congress these days is kind of cosmic; it is based on the broad subjects of national security, defense, suppression of subversive activities, etc. It is big talk—and it is being talked, to some degree, at the cost of losing track of what is going on in the daily lives of the people.

Some of these big, up-in-the-stratosphere topics must be like a month in the country to public figures who otherwise might find that they had to do something about homelier problems, bearing on the cost of living.

National defense has to be considered, of course, but it is the completeness of the substitution of what might be called the debater type of topic in place of the old bread-and-meat issues that tells its own story of the extent of the shift toward the right in our government.

There has been a definite divorce from day-to-day concerns. Almost any congressman you come across is prepared to give you a small epigram about national security, but there are few who seem anxious to say anything meaty and precise about the fact that milk has just gone up another cent a quart in the New York City area.

We note, too, the speed with which congress has rushed to enlarge the airforce, and what reluctance it shows to adopt any economic controls of a kind which might keep such an enlargement of our arms output from foisting more inflation on us. The present congress seems to have got itself into a kind of Wagnerian mood; it is interested mainly in the epic stroke, the making and unmaking of worlds; and a discussion of what current economic developments may mean to the cost of living and happiness of the average consumer seems as out of place in its deliberations as a discussion of the price of Valkyrie suits would be in one of the Ring operas.

It is not that the big subjects do not have to be discussed; they do; but it is a very sharp question as to whether the almost total substitution of one kind of interest for another is valid.

In spite of all possible justifications that might be cited, the net effect is a return to the kind of government we had before Roosevelt, to the cool, remote, faraway Congress, detached and disengaged from the day-to-day struggles of the hot pavements and the side streets.

And this type of detachment is of itself a rightward development; for not to discuss a public need, to be too abstracted to be concerned with it, is the flattest kind of "No!"; it is a "No!" that is dramatized as well as spoken.

Under Observation

Chile: Battling World Communism

PRESIDENT Gabriel Gonzalez Videla, a liberal, was elected last fall with the help of 50,000 Communist votes. Videla tried consistently to work with the Communists.

(By Daily Iowan Research Staff) Whether Americans have realized it or not, we have a highly vocal teammate in the international struggle of ideologies—Chile.

The Latin American country recently went through a complete cycle, first contending with communism at home and then battling it on the international scale in the United Nations.

At this moment, three senate commissions are considering government proposals to outlaw the communist party in Chile.

Last fall President Gabriel Gonzalez Videla, a liberal, was voted into office with the aid of 50,000 Communist votes.

Videla's gravest problem was the country's economic plight. A spiraling inflation and a wave of strikes in vital mining industries were crippling the country.

Large reserves of dollars accumulated during the war were draining off fast as the country scrambled for postwar American machinery and goods. Chilean exports were lagging.

At first, the Communists were on the winning team, holding down prominent posts in the Videla government. The president made a consistent effort to keep the Communists working for the nation's interests.

But the country's 50,000 Communists were especially well organized in essential industries and saw fit to engineer paralyzing strikes.

Suddenly, Videla's patience snapped.

Armed with emergency powers bestowed upon him by congress, he ousted Communists from appointive jobs in the government. He attacked Communist strike tactics with a new fury.

During this period of transition from working with the Communists and combatting them, Videla's popularity with his people soared.

Later in the fall of 1947, Chile and Argentina uncovered alleged Communist plots to further undermine the Chilean economy. Videla expelled the Yugoslav diplomats from the country on the grounds that they called a coal strike in defiance of presidential orders, threatening to prostrate the country.

COMMUNIST-led strikes continued to paralyze Chile's economy. Armed with emergency powers, Videla right-about-faced on the Communists and fought the strikes.

Close on the heels of this action, Chile broke off diplomatic relations with Russia. The Latin American nation charged Russia with engineering the coup and requested UN intervention.

The charge was sidetracked in the security council on the grounds that the complaint was voiced by an individual and not by a nation (Papanek had refused to represent the new Czech government in the UN).

That night, Chile's representative on the security council, Santa Cruz, received a long distance phone call from President Videla.

The next morning, Chile presented Papanek's charge before the council.

When Russia was hauled on the security council carpet, Chile became embroiled in the bitter debates. Russia accused her of being the pawn for the big western nations.

Actually, Chile was on the offensive against Communism for her own particular reasons and on her own accord. She was trying to keep her vital mining industries humming in an effort to lure in badly-needed American currency.

At the same time, Chile was waging war on her mounting inflation. Her outspoken and active opposition to world communism did not come from outside pressures, but from bitter experience at home.

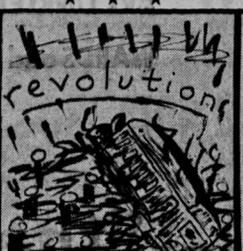

Chile turned to challenging Russia internationally in the UN only after the domestic rupture had occurred.

It is highly significant that the move to outlaw the Communist party is almost a law in Chile. She is setting an example of protecting national integrity and security.

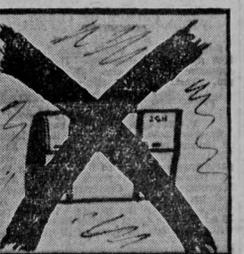

All of Latin America has a home-grown champion to look to now.

CHARGING conspiracy against Chile, Videla expelled Yugoslav diplomats from the country and broke off diplomatic relations with Russia. Brazil severed relations at the same time.

BOGOTA revolutions, believed to be Communist-inspired, sent chill up Chile's spine. Videla tightened vigilance of Communist activities, proposed outlawing party.

PORTFOLIOS were taken away from all Communist members in the Videla government who held appointive jobs. With the aid of Argentina, Chile next exposed a new Communist "plot."

not to outlaw the party. Meanwhile, Chile turned to battling the Russian giant on an international scale.

When the Czechoslovakian government was overthrown last March, the Czech representative in the UN, Jan Papanek, charged Russia with engineering the coup and requested UN intervention.

The charge was sidetracked in the security council on the grounds that the complaint was voiced by an individual and not by a nation (Papanek had refused to represent the new Czech government in the UN).

South Africa's New Prime Minister Is Stolid, Unromantic

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM AP Staff Writer

LONDON (AP)—By comparison with dynamic Jan Smuts, the man he succeeds as prime minister of South Africa, Dr. Daniel Francois Malan is a provincial figure. stolid if not stodgy, rather dull and something of a man of mystery.

Few legends have collected around him, and even the men who are most devoted to him concede their leader is poor material for any sort of romantic buildup.

Never popular in any quarter in the hail-fellow-well-met manner, he is said by his Nationalist party supporters to be well-liked on longer acquaintance. For all but a relative few, however, anything like intimacy is out of the question. The 74-year-old doctor (the title is ministerial) is wary of all but trusted friends, cautious about making public statements and inclined to keep to himself. Scarcely anything is known of his home life. In all the years of his public life he rarely has granted a newspaper interview.

A bulky, balding man, shortish, with a big round face, hanging cheeks and horn-rimmed glasses, Malan gives an impression of sluggishness in thought and action.

As might be expected of a clergyman—although he gave up active religious work 33 years ago—he is a good speaker, but far from an emotional one. His oratorical style is voluminous, with hardly a glint of humor.

Dr. Malan always raises a wide smile however, when he recalls that "Silm Jannie" Smuts, his long-time political foe who is only four years his senior, was his Sunday school teacher in their boyhood in the Capetown.

Malan has a stock comment for that: "It didn't seem to do me much harm."

The early friendship of these two dissimilar personalities never developed into a deep relationship, but through the years they have usually called each other by their first names.

Born at Tieveek West in the Cape province—where Smuts, too, has roots—Malan was educated for the clerical life at Stellenbosch and the University of Utrecht in Holland. He preached until 1915 when the Nationalist party asked him to become the editor of Die Burger, the senior organ of the party. For a time he served as minister of internal affairs and held other cabinet positions under coalition governments. He has been leader of the Nationalists since 1933 when they broke away from the United party.

Dr. Malan, his associates say, favors a Socialist control in the hands of the state, a sort of overall corporatism to direct or guide the country's economic affairs. Actually, several of South Africa's industries and public utilities already are operating under much that kind of system.

One of his goals is to wean English-speaking people of South Africa from what he calls double loyalty—to Britain and to the Union. He thinks this can be done "only by political and spiritual separation, as the Americans broke away from the mother country and the Finns from Sweden."

The Nationalists are keen on developing South Africa's trade with the United States but would like to see "a more reciprocal arrangement with America."

Malan has been skeptical of the United Nations. It will fail, in his opinion, if "it meddles in the internal affairs of its members."

Edit Notes

Exports to Europe may be lower this year than last year. Biggest drops will occur in cotton textiles and grains. German, British and Italian mills will account for most of the difference in textiles. French and German grain harvests are expected to be the best since 1938.

Here is the joke of the week from Czechoslovakia: On a bright sunny day in Prague, Communist Premier Klement-Gottwald took a stroll under a hoon umbrella. Passersby stared. Soon up rushed equally-Communist Zdenek Fierlinger, Minister of Industry.

"But, Klement," he panted, "it isn't raining."

To which Gottwald replied: "Zdenek, did you read the Moscow weather report this morning?"

A white-collar worker, pressed for payment of a bill, explained that his delay in paying was due to business tax, amusement tax, head tax, school tax, carpet tax, income tax, food tax and excise tax. He said this condition was due to federal laws, state laws, county laws, corporation laws, laws and outlaws.

McBride's Hall — Beauties, Barrows and Birds

By Bill McBride

Word comes from John MacVicar, chairman of the Des Moines C. of C. sponsored Hawkeye Holidays, that Mayor Koser has been sent entry blanks for a contest to determine who will be queen of the celebration in the state capital city June 23 through 26.

The preliminary judgment will be passed by a group of representative central Iowa mayors using pies as the basis of their decision. Any girl may enter, with or without organized sponsorship.

Iowa City boasts enough beauty to place at least one local girl on the winner's rostrum.

Sam Thompson, professor of economics at Iowa State college, is telling farmers that most consumers prefer pork cuts from "good and choice barrows and gilts weighing 200-220 pounds." This is Thompson's answer to the question of why "heavyweight barrows and gilts were discounted heavily on the market late last winter."

I wouldn't want to quibble with a professor of economics (unless it concerned a grade), but I doubt if most housewives can look at a pork chop and tell if it came from a 220 pound gilt.

Upon querying Jeanne on the subject, I discovered that she couldn't tell a barrow from a gilt if she had a book on animal husbandry open in front of her.

As a matter of fact, she thought a barrow was something in which dirt is wheeled.

Now that the fleet-footed Iowa summer is here to stay for at least three months, the bird stories have started to come in. The first tale of the season concerns Prof. Philip Ward Burton of the advertising department.

There is a tree near his home in University Heights where a family of robins built a home (nest to you ornithologists). One sunny afternoon Junior Robin decided to try his pin feathered wings. He climbed up to the edge of the nest, performed a short pre-flight warm-up and dived off into the wild blue yonder.

The little feller couldn't work up enough r.p.m.s to maintain flying speed and spun in. That was where Prof. Burton went into his rescue act. He borrowed a ladder and proceeded to place Junior back into the nest.

After braving a series of skip bombing attacks by the parent birds (who were laboring under the delusion that the professor was going to abscond with their youngster on account of high poultry prices) the faculty member succeeded in replacing the bird. But all that labor was to no avail. That stupid little robin stood up and bailed out of the nest again.

Art Wimer, a Who's Whoer on the journalism faculty, has a whippoorwill near his house that starts his song every night at dusk and continues until dawn. There's nothing unusual about that, but Wimer says this bird yodels all night without taking a breath.

Either the whippoorwill should be given a medal for being the longest-winded bird on record or Wimer should be given the honors for being the only man in the world who would stay up all night to listen for a singing whippoorwill to take a breath.

SUI Alumni Gather For Graduation Week Reunions

REGISTRATION FOR ALUMNI activities for this weekend is Leslie E. Francis, Des Moines. A graduate of the law class of 1893, Atty. Francis was a member of the Iowa Senate for several years. University high school students Peggy Miller and Betty Barnes help him register. Registration for the alumni began yesterday at the Iowa Union, and will continue through tonight. A traveling attendance cup will be awarded to the class with the largest percentage of members registered by noon today.

Registration Continues Today For Classes of 1883 to 1947

By RUTH NESHEIM

Classmates of former days assembled yesterday and today for the annual five year reunions of SUI graduates. Registration at the Iowa Union which began yesterday noon and will continue through today included members of classes from 1883 to 1947. Over 75 had registered last night.

The class of 1898 which is celebrating its golden jubilee this year had 15 members registered. A traveling attendance cup will be awarded to the class with the largest percentage of its living members officially registered by noon today.

A graduate 65 years ago, Mrs. Eva Miller Nourse, Des Moines, is back to represent the class of 1883. She is a graduate of the college of liberal arts.

Two members of the law class of 1898 were back on the campus for the first time in 50 years. Edward Sharp, New Madrid, Mo., and J. C. Hall, Davenport, were busy viewing SUI's growth to the west side of the river, and the "new" buildings.

The only living members of the medical class of 1888, Dr. James W. Parker, and his wife Dr. Donna M. Parker of Peoria, Ill., have returned to attend the alumni activities.

Justice T. G. Garfield, Ames, the new president of the Alumni association. Presidents and organizers of the reunions of each of the colleges of the 25th year class will be recognized as well as Dr. J. K. Von Lackum, Cedar Rapids, the retiring president of the Alumni association.

THE ALL-ALUMNI coffee hour will be held this afternoon at 3 p. m. in the main lounge of the Union. This event is for all alumni who have returned to the campus and for all university faculty. Hosts for this informal gathering will be President and Mrs. Hancher and the academic deans and their wives.

The coffee hour was introduced at the reunion program last year to replace the all-alumni luncheon. The group is now too large to be accommodated at a single luncheon.

The guests will be greeted officially by Hancher and by Garfield. At this time the traveling attendance cup will be awarded to the winning reunion class.

The golden jubilee dinner for the class of 1898 will be held tonight at 6:30 in the River room at the Union. This dinner was also introduced for the first time last year. It is the university's special function for all members of the 50 year classes. Hancher will speak, and will award gold medals to all alumni present.

In addition to the official functions sponsored by the university, classes of law, medicine, liberal arts, dentistry, pharmacy, engineering, commerce, and nursing have planned get-togethers to honor graduates from 1898 to 1943.

THE COLLEGE of law honored graduates of 1898 at a dinner last night at Law Commons. Eighteen members of the class were present.

The liberal arts class of 1918 of which Hancher is a member, will hold a reunion luncheon at Currier Hall this noon.

Included in the alumni activities for the weekend is the annual meeting of the board of directors of the alumni association at 9:30 a. m. today.

The items of business to be discussed by the board are the review of the association magazine membership program, establishment of special magazine rates for life members of the association who joined before July 1, 1947, discussion of the revision of the association constitution, and the installation of the new officers of the board.

THE PLAY, "Years Ago", by Ruth Gordon, is scheduled for a special performance tonight to accommodate alumni guests. Tickets for the play are available at the registration desk at the union until 5 p. m.

Plan SUI Summer Council To Work Through Executive Groups

For the first time, student government at SUI will be carried on by an official organization during the summer session. The organization, the Student Council, will operate on a limited basis, according to Helen Reich of the office of student affairs.

The executive committee of the council and various council or council-sponsored sub-committees will operate under the same powers as the entire council.

This summer, the executive council will be composed of Evan L. Hultman, council president; E. M. Flood Jr., vice-president, and Keith McNurlan, treasurer. Five other council members who will be on campus will act in an advisory capacity.

Acting as a coordinating agency, the executive committee will supervise the operations of the orientation, senior ring, election and homecoming committees and the council-sponsored Campus chest committee.

The sub-committees will follow through the projects started during the 1947-48 school year. The object during the summer will be to develop plans in the formative stage, Hultman said. "We don't want to be starting from scratch next fall," he explained.

The executive committee will hold informal meetings twice a month in Old Capitol, according to present plans. An abbreviated business procedure will be followed with committee reports as the main subject, Hultman said.

The sub-committees functioning this summer and their plans follow:

1. Orientation. The committee is planning a new booklet, to be edited by Daily Iowan Editor Gail E. Myers, to replace the Handbook for Students. The new booklet will be sent to all men applying for admission to the university. It will be similar to the University

Women's Association's Code for Coeds giving "get-acquainted" facts about SUI.

A letter from Dean Earl J. McGrath of the college of liberal arts explaining the core course and other university programs and a letter of welcome from Hultman will be sent to all students applying for admission to the university.

Plans being drawn up now call for a mass meeting of all new students Friday, Sept. 17, 1948, at 8:30 p. m. in Macbride auditorium. Speeches by faculty members and upper classmen and a short skit will highlight the "introduce the new student to SUI" meeting.

Also at the meeting, 85 volunteer orientation leaders will be assigned to small groups of incoming students. The small group meetings will be held Saturday, Sept. 18 at 1 p. m., according to current committee plans.

The meetings in effect will be question and answer periods. New students will be given information on core courses, semester hours, advisors, scholarships, library procedures, social activities, intramural sports and student elections.

2. Senior ring. According to latest tabulations of questionnaires distributed in university classrooms, 847 of 1269 students (67 percent) favor the adoption of SUI graduation rings. Committee action this summer will center on completing the tabulation of the 4,000 questionnaires, planning designs and arranging a method of securing the rings.

3. Election. Formative plans call for the election of class officers at the all-campus elections next spring. Officers elected then would serve the following year. Newly elected officers, therefore, would be able to serve the entire year. The new plan would replace the current fall class elections.

4. Homecoming. Feature of the 1948 homecoming will be a parade of floats sponsored by the housing units, according to present plans.

The floats will return to the dormitories, fraternities and sororities after the parade and serve as homecoming decorations. The chief committee concern during the summer will be to formulate rules of entry for the floats in the parade. The committee termed "favorable" student reaction to the plan.

5. Campus chest. This is a Student council-sponsored project inaugurated in 1946. Next year's Campus chest drive will be managed by Ruby Scott, an ex-officio council member, and Harlan Hockenberg, Des Moines. The drive committee of about 50 persons, yet to be selected, will be organized into five branches: (1) publicity, (2) entertainment, (3) speakers, (4) solicitations, and (5) a general secretary. The dates for the drive have not been set definitely. It will be some time between the middle of October and the first week in November, Co-chairmen Scott and Hockenberg reported.

16 ROTC Students Given Commissions

Sixteen advanced ROTC students were commissioned reserve officers in the airforce and army by Col. W.W. Jenna, head of the military department, at the army ceremony yesterday morning.

Nine men received airforce reserve commissions. They were Benjamin B. Davis, William M. Day, Douglas C. Dowell, Franklin J. Eicher, Laird F. Fryer, Robert S. Lorch, LaVerne W. Poland, Morris J. Ward and Jackson C. Wenner.

Four men sworn into the infantry reserves were Sidney C. Guthrie, Percy Niemann, Richard H. Timmins and Robert A. Wright.

Three men sworn in as engineer reserve officers were Harlan L. Bjork, Phillip E. Morehead and John W. Wickenkamp.

MR. AND MRS. E. R. Ketchum, Freeport, Texas, have a double purpose in attending this year's SUI graduation.

Twenty-five years ago both Mr. and Mrs. Ketchum graduated from SUI. This year their daughter, Rosalie, will graduate.

The Ketchums are back to attend their silver jubilee given this year in honor of all graduates of the class of 1923.

A graduate in mechanical engineering, Ketchum has not returned to the campus for 12 years. His wife has not been back since the family moved to Nebraska in 1925.

Mrs. Ketchum graduated from the college of liberal arts, as well as Rosalie. The Ketchums have three other daughters, two of whom attend the University of Texas.

IN ADDITION to the official class get-togethers planned by individual class representatives with the assistance of the alumni office, several special events were planned by the university in honor of returning graduates.

The university honored the graduates of 1893, 1898, and 1899 at the Emeritus club dinner last night in the north dining room of Currier Hall.

Loren Hickerson, alumni secretary, president, and President and Mrs. Virgil M. Hancher represented the group and presented Emeritus club membership certificates to the graduates present.

The Emeritus club was created at Centennial commencement time last year as the university's special honor for graduates who return to the campus more than 50 years after their graduation.

TODAY THE CLASS of 1923 will be honored at the silver jubilee luncheon at 12:30 at the River room of Iowa Union. This luncheon is being given in honor of all graduates who return to the campus for their 25th reunions.

Members of the board of directors of the Alumni Association will be special guests.

Speakers at the luncheon will be Hancher, Dean Mason Ladd, who graduated in the law class of 1923, and Iowa Supreme Court

LOOKING OVER THE ACTIVITIES planned for alumni are (l to r) George A. Green, Hollywood, Calif., Iowa Supreme Court Justice W.A. Smith, Du buque, and J.C. Hall, Davenport. Former classmates, the three graduated in the law class of 1898, and are back this year for their golden jubilee. Although less than 60 miles from Iowa City, this is the first time Atty. Hall has returned to the campus since his graduation 50 years ago.

Iowa Drivers To Use Birthdate In License Renewal

When will I renew my Iowa drivers' license?

A new birthdate law goes into effect this year spreading the renewal of about a million drivers' licenses over a 24-month period rather than the usual six-month period.

The expiration date in the lower left-hand corner of the present license is to be disregarded, according to Captain Bay Ham of the Iowa City police force.

Under the new system, if the number of your license is over 500,000, renewal must be made within a 30-day period before your first birthday, after July 5, 1948.

Example: If your number is 550,417 and your birthday is Aug. 23, renewal must be made no earlier than July 23 nor later than Aug. 23, 1948.

License numbers under 500,000 should be renewed in the 30-day period before your first birthday after July 5, 1949.

Example: If your number is 251,677 and your birthday is Dec. 25, renewal must be made no earlier than Nov. 25 nor later than Dec. 25, 1949.

In case the license is not renewed, you must pass a complete drivers' license examination before renewal can be granted. When renewing your license, you must appear in person before the driver's examiner. No licenses will be renewed by the mail.

Everyone renewing his license will be required to pass a vision test.

Years ending in "3" and "8", from 1883 to 1943 were eligible for official five-year reunions this year.

In charge of the preparations were Loren Hickerson, alumni secretary, Robert Noble, executive assistant, and Mrs. Blanche Holmes of the alumni office.

Jury Brings Back Sealed Verdict In Topinka-Worrell Suit

The jury of seven women and five men returned a sealed verdict at 9 o'clock last night in Marvin Topinka's $25,000 damage suit against Mrs. Margaret Worrell.

Arguments were heard yesterday morning in Johnson county district court. After the noon recess Judge Harold D. Evans gave the jury its instructions and it retired at 2:30 to reach its decision. The verdict will be opened this morning.

Topinka, farmer in northeastern Johnson county, said his reputation was damaged when Mrs. Worrell, his neighbor, signed an information charging him with the rape of her daughter. He said she later dismissed the charge.

The trial began Tuesday. Witnesses were heard Tuesday afternoon, Wednesday and Thursday.

Attorneys in the case are Will J. Hayek for the plaintiff, and Will J. Jackson and Edward Rate for the defendant.

Present Gift From Seniors

The Old Capitol bell which has rung in and dismissed classes for many years will soon be mechanized.

The senior class of 1948 Friday night announced a gift to the university of a grand master clock and equipment which will automatically ring the Old Capitol bell. Announcement of the gift was made at the intermission of the senior party at the Iowa Union by John Yavorsky, Belle Plaine, chairman of the memorial committee.

The grand master clock will include auxiliary equipment for the installation in Old Capitol of a self-regulating clock and signal system which will be extended later to other buildings and classrooms throughout the campus.

The engraving on the plaque which will mark the gift reads: "This Clock, the Memorial of the Class of 1948, is the control for a campus-wide classroom time system, of which the ringing of Old Capitol bell will be forever the master."

Nolan Heads Train Welcoming

D. C. Nolan, Iowa City attorney, will be the head of the welcoming committee for the appearance of the Freedom Train here, Friday, June 18, it was announced yesterday.

The announcement was made by William J. Petersen, general chairman for the rededication week of Freedom Train celebrations.

Assisting Nolan on plans for the day is Robert Gage, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Nolan will formally welcome the train here and acknowledgment will be made by officials of the American Heritage foundation, the group sponsoring the train.

According to present plans the train will be open to visitors from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. and the welcoming program will take place shortly before the opening of the train for exhibition.

Mulford Files $81 Suit Against Robert Harkins

Newton Mulford, owner of Mulford Electric Service, filed suit for $81.73 against Robert Harkins in Johnson county district court yesterday.

Mulford asked judgment for the unpaid part of a bill for electrical services and supplies which he said he furnished Harkins when he was part owner of the O. K. Body shop in January and February of 1947.

Kenneth M. Dunlop represents Mulford.

Return—See Daughter Graduated . . .

HELPING HER DAUGHTER, Rosalie, adjust her cap when she tried on her graduation attire yesterday is Mrs. E.R. Ketchum of Freeport, Texas. Mr. Ketchum looks on. Mr. and Mrs. Ketchum are both SUI graduates and are attending the silver jubilee of the class of 1923 this weekend as well as their daughter's graduation.

THREE EMERITUS CLUB MEMBERS last night met at Currier Hall before the annual dinner which honored SUI graduates who received their degrees before 1898. They are Mrs. Craig Wright of Newton, Class of 1893; Mrs. C.L. Nourse of Des Moines, Class of 1893, and Mrs. Francis Rogers of Omaha, Class of 1893.
