CLEVELAND (AP) — Even though Salvatore C. Senate Votes Anti-Poll Tax Provision for Draft Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate voted last night to outlaw the poll tax as a condition to voting in federal elections by members of the armed forces.

Southern Democrats, after several hours of talking against the proposal, abandoned the fight and permitted the amendment to the selective service bill to come to a vote.

It was adopted, 37 to 35.

Senator Langer (R-ND) sponsored the amendment along with six others based on President Truman's civil rights program. All the others were shelved or voted down without the senators' passing on the civil rights issue itself.

But the anti-poll tax amendment produced a bitter fight threatening at times to become a filibuster that could have blocked passage of draft and other legislation before Congress ends its present session on June 19.

Just before the vote, acting Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois accused the Republican leadership in effect of violating a "general agreement" that the whole series of civil rights amendments to the bill would be shelved.

Lucas said a number of Democrats "submerged their true convictions" to try to get the 19-through-25 draft bill through Congress without a filibuster.

Senate leaders agreed shortly before 8 p.m., Iowa time, to postpone further debate until today.

Yesterday's talks lasted for two hours and got nowhere. They were recessed until noon today after Lewis called for the assuming of nearly $20-million in "moral obligations" to distressed miners. He named that "as a condition precedent to a new contract."

The commitments to pay the $20-million were in welfare provisions made by the trustees of the 1946 welfare and retirement fund, which is now nearly exhausted. That fund was established when the government was operating the coal pits.

The mines were turned back to the owners July 1, 1947, and a new welfare fund was set up with different trustees. The fund amounts to about $50-million but nothing has been spent because of the fight between Lewis and Ezra Van Horn, operator trustee, over pensions for miners.

Charles A. O'Neill, speaking for the operators, told reporters that Lewis' demand "stopped any progress in the conference."

"The fact that the 1946 fund soon will be out of money has nothing to do with the contract," O'Neill said. "We refuse to make this a precedent to a new contract."

Egyptians Trying To Smash Jewish Trap

CAIRO (AP) — Egyptian commanders landed seaborne reinforcements in an attempt to break the noose Israeli troops have thrown around Egyptian infantry and armor at Isdud, a Tel Aviv suburb said last night.

Perhaps 1,000 of King Farouk's troops—a fifth of the Egyptian force which threatened Tel Aviv from the south—are caught in the trap.

The account quoted persons returning from the front as saying at least one and possibly several Egyptian ships took part in the amphibious operation. Isdud is 21 miles down the coast from Tel Aviv, the capital of Israel.

One informant in Tel Aviv said the Arabs had established still a third position threatening the capital. At one point those Arab units were only eight miles east of the city.

Israeli units are exerting enough pressure to the Arabs along a 12-mile front reaching from Er Ramle to Ras Al Ein, the informant said. The closest Arab units

Benes Quits As President

PRAGUE, CZECHOSLOVAKIA (AP) — Eduard Benes, Czechoslovakia's last strong link with the west, resigned as president yesterday rather than approve a new constitution drawn up by the Communists. Communist Premier Klement Gottwald was regarded as the leading choice to succeed him.

Benes, 64, had held the post for 11 years in two terms.

His resignation was accepted at a special meeting of the cabinet and was announced by Gottwald. In a short letter made public by the government Benes said he decided May 4 to resign and had so informed Gottwald. The letter said:

"At this time we discussed my decision and all the problems of the whole political situation and I told you also that my doctors had advised me to heed my present condition of health."

Benes expressed the wish that the people and their government "shall live together and work together in tolerance, love and forgiveness, and that they should vouchsafe for everyone's liberty and use that liberty conscientiously."

The phrasing gave the Communist-dominated government the excuse, spread abroad during the last two weeks, that the president was resigning because of his health which has been bad during the last year.

But the wording, mild as it was, also carried the implication that Benes disapproved of the constitution and of the recent Communist-dominated single ticket election.

An unopposed hand-picked slate for parliament was elected May 30 by voters in a flat yes-or-no election. Every difficulty was set up for those who voted no.

Benes was the second president in Czechoslovakia's history. In 1946 he was elected to serve for life.

Hot Weather Brings New Columbia Crest

PORLTAND, ORE. (AP) — Hot weather sent the snow-choked Columbia river surging up toward a third flood crest yesterday.

The weather bureau warned the lower river valley that it was not yet halfway though a flood that already has claimed 26 lives, left 60,000 homeless and caused an estimated $140-million damage.

Forecasters could not yet say whether the new crest would climb past the first surge that reached 30.3 feet—15.3 over flood level — shortly after destroying Vanport eight days ago.

The Red Cross yesterday listed 715 persons still unlocated since the city of 18,700 was shattered.

Dodd Takes FAO Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undersecretary of Agriculture Norris E. Dodd resigned yesterday and became director general of the United Nations Food and Agriculture organization.

The White House made public a letter from Mr. Turman expressing appreciation for Dodd's "fine work" in the agriculture department.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wage-hour administration yesterday adopted regulations reducing from four to three years the maximum period for which records must be kept for employees covered under the wage-hour and public contracts laws.

Western Powers Agree on Federal State for 'Trizonia'

LONDON (AP) — The United States, Britain, France and the Benelux countries recommended officially yesterday a separate federal government for "Trizonia", the western German zones, and agreed to keep their occupation troops there until Europe's peace is secured.

Opposition from Russia was considered certain.

Britain's cabinet approved the recommendation as its part in meeting conditions that all three major western powers must ratify the project as a whole before it can begin.

Approval from the U.S. was taken for granted. Formal congressional action is not required. U.S. state department officials said in Washington that Secretary of State George C. Marshall would soon approve it.

In France, always security-minded, a storm arose over some of the provisions of the agreement—chiefly concessions made in plans to rebuild the industrial might of the Ruhr.

Government officials, however, expressed confidence these protests will be weathered by French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, and that the program will be endorsed by the French national assembly later this week.

The proposals were made during a six-week conference in London of representatives of the three major western powers and the Benelux nations—Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Russia Makes Bid To Send Observers To Palestine Front

LAKE SUCCESS (AP) — Russia made her first open bid yesterday to send military observers into Palestine.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, told the United Nations security council he had heard that governments on the council's truce commission had been asked to supply observers. They are the United States, Belgium and France.

He said that Russia is ready to send her observers also.

Gromyko thus brought into the open for the first time a question which has troubled several powers in the United Nations ever since the Palestine question arose. It is this: can the United Nations stop the fighting in Palestine by force without having to include Red army troops?

Surprised security council delegates promptly put off talk about observers until Thursday afternoon at least. Then they cabled home governments for instructions.

Boxcar Hurls 60 Feet In Illinois Train Wreck

ROCKFORD, ILL. (AP) — A boxcar flew 60 feet through the air when an Illinois Central freight train and a switch engine collided yesterday. Two crew members were injured.

Fireman W. B. Reed, 19, of Freeport, Ill., told of the flying boxcar.

He said that as he jumped from his cab, boxcars, rails and debris were flying through the air. He was hit in the back by the freight's water tender and knocked out of the way.

Just then, he said, the flying box car landed where he had been standing.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The house armed services committee yesterday approved a bill to permit the army, navy and air force to buy oleomargarine for table use.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., of Massachusetts was named yesterday to head the resolutions committee that will draft the 1948 Republican platform.

SUPPORTS EGG PRICES

WASHINGTON (AP) — The agriculture department announced yesterday that it will continue to support producer prices of shell eggs in the midwest during July at the present support level of 35 cents a dozen.

Truman Hits GOP Congress, Opposition

SUN VALLEY, IDAHO (AP) — President Truman taunted the Republican congress yesterday on its power and reclamation record as he carried his stump tour of cities and whistle stops into the far west.

He summed up the purpose of the trip this way:

"I came out this way so you could look at me and hear what I have to say and then make up your mind as to whether you believe some of the things that have been said about your president.

"I have been in politics a long time, and it makes no difference what they say about you, if it isn't so. If they can prove it on you, they are in a bad fix indeed. You have never been able to prove it on me."

Two Students Believe —

Travel Can Be Cheap

If You Work Your Way

You don't need money to travel—that's the opinion of two SUI graduate students who are taking an 8000-mile pay-as-you-go tour of the far west this summer.

All you need are sharp wits, good friends and, most of all, strong backs, according to Ed Krause of Crystal Lake, Ill., and Roger Menges of Albany, N.Y.

Krause and Menges started out by car Sunday on a two-month trip that will take them through 13 states. They have about $50 in cash. When that runs out they plan to "live off the land."

"If we hit something big along the way," said Krause, "we will sleep between sheets every night and eat in restaurants. If we don't—the back of the car is full of blankets and we're not above slinging hash to keep our bellies full."

For the past two months, Krause and Menges have been trying to get "backers" for the trip. They dickered with two automobile companies for the use of a car, with gas and oil to run it, in exchange for "a whirlwind of publicity."

In turning down their proposal, one company explained it had "over 4000 similar offers" before receiving theirs.

They offered to check restaurants and hotels for Duncan Hines, every major city," explained Krause.

Some of the people are friends, some are friends' friends, and some are "sixth cousins of Aunt Dot's brother-in-law's uncle."

"We're boning up on the family trees," said Krause, "and we never knew so many relatives existed."

Jimmy "Schnozzle" Durante is on the list for a visit in Hollywood. He is an "old friend" of one of Menges' uncles.

Inspiration for the trip came one night when Krause and Menges were hard at the books in preparation for an exam the next day. "We started talking about how nice it would be to be basking on the beach in California," said Krause.

At first it was just talk. But as time went on, they found themselves so obsessed with the idea that they decided to go ahead with it.

Lacking funds to make the trip, they decided to make it pay for itself and sent out a barrage of letters to prospective backers.

"We may work our fool heads off," said Krause, "but we're going to see the country and have a good time of it. And after a year of giving our brains exercise, I guess it won't hurt us to bend our backs a bit."

Anne, Mihai To Wed in Athens Today

ATHENS (AP)—A palace announcement said yesterday former King Mihai of Romania and Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma will be married here today.

The announcement was made shortly after the young couple arrived here by plane from Geneva. They were met at the airport by the Greek royal family. A Greek air force band played the Romanian national anthem.

They will be married at a noon ceremony performed by Archbishop Damaskinos. The wedding will be attended only by members of the royal families and Greek Premier Themistokles Sounapis and Foreign Minister Constantin Tsaldaris. They will be married in the Greek Orthodox Church. Mihai is a nephew of King Paul.

A palace spokesman said Mihai and Anne will spend the first four or five days of their honeymoon at the Greek summer palace at Tolol, 17 miles from Athens. They will then leave Greece, the spokesman said.

A member of Michael's entourage said last night that any children of the union would be brought up as members of the Greek Orthodox Church.

Michael is of that faith and Anne is a Roman Catholic.

Socialist Congress Calls for Overthrow Of Franco Regime

VIENNA (AP)—The international Socialist congress adopted yesterday a resolution calling for the overthrow of the Franco government in Spain, an informed source said.

Another resolution expressed dissatisfaction with the present Greek government, this source said.

The congress ended yesterday, but details of the resolutions will not be officially announced until today.

Earlier, the congress called for nationalization of all German Ruhr Valley industries, saying: "under no circumstances should these industries come into the possession of private capitalists of any nation."

14 C of C Bulletins To Receive Awards

The shipping industry appealed to congress for remedial legislation. A spokesman for the industry contended the decision may mean "hundreds of millions of dollars of windfall" back pay to workers' average pay to determine overtime rates.

The split decision was won by a group of shipping longshoremen. It immediately stirred a welter of conflicting estimates on its effect on other industries.

Lawn Mowers

High School Boys Clip Campus

Yesterday was a big day for mowing of the grass on the SUI campus. A team of about a dozen high school boys were patrolling the campus giving a "butch" to the lawn.

Over the Old Capitol campus on the terraces and flat land they moved in echelon formation clearing the area in less time than it takes to say "Those——dandelions!"

The foreman explained that the boys are used instead of the power mower because the mechanized version has trouble on the hills and the wheels spin, tearing up the turf.

Among the hard working youths was a veteran of three years service—lawnmowing, that is, by the name of John Fenton, 1126 E. College street, a student at City high school.

Off the Old Capitol campus the mowers were just trimming the grass around the trees and other obstacles in preparation for the coming of the power mower.

With enough grass on SUI's campus to keep them busy for some time just making one round, the mowers are looking forward to a summer full of sweating and pushing.

Mildred Kintz Granted Divorce From Ed Kintz

Mildred Kintz of Johnson county was granted a divorce yesterday in Johnson county district court from Ed F. Kintz of Cedar County.

She was given sole custody of a minor child, and the defendant was ordered to pay $10 a week support for the child. No alimony was awarded. The parties were to keep their individual property. The plaintiff was given the household furniture.

The couple was married in Montezuma, Feb. 2, 1923. Mrs. Kintz said they lived together until June 5, 1947. She charged cruel and inhuman treatment and habitual drunkenness.

Iowa had the largest display booth at the convention.

Also represented from Iowa were Des Moines, Cedar Rapids, Fairfield, Ft. Dodge, Marshalltown, Mason City; Newton, Ottumwa and Waterloo.

The Iron Curtain Falls —

Czechoslovakia's last symbol of a fallen democracy, President Eduard Benes, is now out of the picture. Since the Communist coup he has been a misplaced figure, a thin veneer of good—covering naked dictatorship.

He remaining in office after the coup has been one of the questions marks behind the iron curtain. The martyr-like death of Jan Masaryk pointed up even more the question of why Benes chose to remain in office.

Did Benes, chosen by his people as president for life, believe he could continue Czechoslovakia's ties with the west in the face of eastern domination? Perhaps.

Popular speculation has had it that the sick and aging president chose to stay in office by acquiescing to the new one-party regime because he was too weak to do anything else.

In recent weeks, news has seeped out of Prague that Benes was seriously ill and not expected to recover. Since then, it has been confirmed and denied with equal vigor.

Though his reasons for resigning may never be fully uncovered, one thing is immediately certain—like Masaryk, he chose a dramatic moment to desert the regime.

Rather than approve the new Communist-drawn constitution, he resigned in protest. Rather than tolerate the one-party slate election of May 30, he decided to follow the example of 770,701 of his countrymen and protested.

Now a broken man, Benes is symbolic of a broken country. A leader in the long struggle for liberation from the Hapsburgs of the Austrian empire, Benes was an exponent of democracy and was one of the founders of the Czech republic as the late Thomas G. Masaryk's most trusted lieutenant.

Like the spirit of his countrymen, he survived the conquest of the Nazis and lived to return. Now he has surrendered completely. Czechoslovakia, the democracy, has surrendered.

The Swimming Pool Needs You

Iowa City's long-awaited swimming pool is just $12,500 away. It is now plainly up to the individual citizen to bridge the gap.

After weathering storms over location, financing, high bids, lowering construction costs, altering specifications and getting the city to act as its own contractor, the swimming pool is as near a reality today as it ever will be.

The total of the city's bids is $124,978. Two bond issues have raised $112,500 for the pool. The city council is now planning to launch a public subscription drive to make up the $12,500 difference.

The role of the individual citizens in supporting this public subscription is easy to see. So far this year, there hasn't been a drowning in the Iowa river—a drowning because swimmers had no other convenient place to swim.

But the summer is just getting underway, the hot weather hasn't arrived yet.

Local residents should notice the crowd of kids making their way to West Liberty and Lake MacBride in order to swim safely. They should notice and then resolve to support the subscription drive when the councilmen bring it out.

It would be a crime if Iowa citizens had to have another drowning in the Iowa river before they would snap into the line supporting the building of a local swimming pool.

The city council's subscription drive will soon be here. Let's think it over now and be ready to put it across when it appears.

McBride's Hall —

Overlooked at Graduation—

At commencement exercises in the field house Saturday I spotted army recruiting sergeant Oather A. McClung furtively watching the grads come off the platform clutching their scrolls. The sergeant held a program, and I suspect he was mentally checking off another batch of likely prospects. Still, there may have been two or three grads who didn't feel they could whip the world without the help of the U.S. army.

Before the last candidate marched up to the flower-decked platform, many of the spectators in the stands had their shoes off. Practically every unshod foot belonged to a woman. Women's feet must be more sensitive at graduation exercises than men's.

Incidentally, the last candidate was Harold S. Williams. The ovation given him as he walked up to receive his Ph.D. was the strongest of any during the complete ceremony. I mentioned this to a friend who said the reason was apparent; Dr. Williams was the last man of 1,400 candidates to climb the steps to the rostrum.

Having attended his class in principles of economics this year, I prefer to believe his popularity earned the big hand rather than his position in line for a degree.

Dr. Williams' homespun method of simplifying economics will be exercised at the central College of Education in Ellensburg, Wash., this fall, where he will take over as professor of economics and chairman of the division of social science.

Still no word of a local girl being sponsored for queen of Hawkeye Holidays in Des Moines June 23.

Wonder who has the fountain pen filling station concession in the reserve library? It costs one cent to fill your pen... must be a regular little gold mine.

Concessions in the reserve library reminds of a thought which darted through my mind between naps while supposedly studying down there the other day.

Why hasn't some one put a snack bar in that building? The first thing that happens to me when I walk into the R.L. is the pangs of hunger gnawing at my vitals. The next sensation is one of extreme drowsiness, and I suddenly feel the urge to lie down somewhere. I'll bet the psychologists could really make a thriller out of that one.

Sometimes the public relations boys amaze me. Who would ever think the Palestine situation would change a person's mind about the brand of cigarettes he smokes?

An advertising and public relations trade journal came out with the announcement last month that a nationally advertised cigarette would change the wording on the pack from "English Blend" to "Special Blend." Sure enough, it has been changed.

The reason given by the manufacturer is that sales have dropped off in predominantly Jewish areas.

My 98-year-old grandmother is all Irish and as anti-British as a colonel in the I.R.A., but she still likes and eats a cheese going by the name of "Old English." I may be wrong, but I think the public relations boys have pulled a swift to draw attention to their product.

France Wary Of Integration

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The delegates of the six western powers have agreed on political and economic integration of western Germany into the European recovery program and the "stop communism" campaign, but there is some doubt whether the French chamber of deputies will approve.

France apparently does not feel as sure as do Britain and the United States that Russia will not start a war retaliation for any move which tends to freeze her completely out of western Germany.

This feeling of French insecurity in the face of growing Russian power in eastern Europe has grown up to complicate the traditional fear of a revived Germany. France not only doubts Allied ability to prevent German rearmament if heavy industry and central government is restored. She fears revival of the economic hegemony over much of Europe which made Germany's wars possible.

Britain and the United States went far toward allaying these fears when they agreed to international control of the Ruhr and to its indefinite military occupation. Paris also knows that occupation of all western Germany will continue as long as there are Russian troops in Europe.

The United States takes the position that the mere presence of American troops in Germany is sufficient guarantee against aggression, on the theory that Russia doesn't want war.

France, on the other hand, worries over the possibility that mobilization of Germany for the cold war may goad the Russians into some desperate retaliation. They figure the Russians might count on getting away with something during the U. S. political campaign.

But the British and Americans don't share the view that this is more than a mere possibility. They don't think the Russians are so poorly informed about the determination of American foreign policy.

The British urged the French to compromise regarding western Germany on the grounds that, after all, the recovery program, linked as it is to the effectiveness of the recently-formed western European alliance, represents the first line of defense.

"Short and sweet," said the first. "Keep them in line."

"We have it, let's use it," said the other. "No talking."

Montana Democratic Leader Adds to Anti-Truman Feeling

OMAHA (AP) — A Montana Democratic party leader yesterday joined in the anti-Truman flareup touched off here in the wake of the president's all-day visit in Omaha last Saturday.

Nebraska Democratic State Chairman William Ritchie said the head of the Montana Democratic state central committee, wired him party officials in that state also are unhappy over the treatment they are receiving in connection with President Truman's tour.

Ritchie said similar expressions of dissatisfaction came in telephone calls from Democratic leaders in several other states but he asserted he did not feel at liberty to name the states involved.

The state chairman, an Omaha attorney and veteran of state democratic politics, said he received the following telegram from Lester H. Lohle of Helena, chairman of the Montana Democratic State Central committee:

"The treatment accorded your committee and Iowa and Nebraska Democrats on occasion of President Truman's visit, is same as we are receiving. We are given no part in arrangements; have been advised that none of us will be permitted on president's train. The late President Roosevelt and other presidents always wanted us to ride through the state on the

Britisher Comes Ready With Bow and Arrows

NEW YORK (AP) — A 55-year-old Britisher who wants to see Texas arrived in New York yesterday wearing a 10-gallon hat and armed with a bow and arrow.

Tom D. Abbott, a former blacksmith who arrived on the Queen Mary, said he wants to see cowboys and Indians. His wife, Lucy, gaped at Manhattan's skyline and gasped, "Billingsgate was never like this."

The couple said they will meet their daughter Yvonne, married to army captain Jean Goppert and living at Osborn, Pa., and then go to Goppert's native Texas.

1 p. m. — Student Begins Registration

FIRST IN LINE AT REGISTRATION yesterday afternoon was H. A. Riemenschneider, G. Minneapolis. The second man is R.C. Gaard, G. Waverly, and behind him is Walter Frederick Jr., G. Stanley. They lined up at 1 p.m. yesterday and are shown waiting to have their registration materials checked at the gymnasium door by Jack Sedlak, E3. How Riemenschneider got the first position in line when those whose names started with F to G were scheduled to register first was not explained.

Completes Internship Training

Bettye Neal, 1947 SUI Graduate, Finishes 9-Month Course in Government Affairs

Bettye Ann Neal, 1947 graduate of SUI, was among thirty top-ranking college graduates who recently completed a nine-months federal internship training program in Washington, D.C.

Miss Neal was assigned to the office of representative Karl E. Mundt, author of the much discussed Mundt bill, who hails from South Dakota. Following her internship, she will go to Oxford University, England, to continue her education.

The federal internship program, sponsored by the National Institute of Public Affairs, offers practical training in government administration and public affairs in the nation's capitol.

The National Institute of Public Affairs operates as a liaison unit between the colleges and universities of the country and the federal departments in Washington.

Internship trainees were competitively selected from universities and colleges in all parts of the United States on the basis of high scholastic standing and demonstrated qualities of outstanding character and leadership.

Judge Yankwich, in his decision, made provision for an appeal expected ultimately to be taken to the U.S. supreme court.

Standard Oil company officials said attorneys have "not yet fully studied and analyzed the long and complex decision. Until we have studied it completely, we cannot say whether or not an appeal will be made."

Judge Yankwich, in his decision, made provision for an appeal expected ultimately to be taken to the U.S. supreme court.

Standard, which does an estimated $60,000,000 a year business in the west, has contracts with the independents which provides that they can sell only Standard's petroleum products, tires and the like. It has a similar provision with hundreds of outlets operated by Standard Stations, Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary. The latter are not affected by yesterday's decision.

The judge held that the agreement "locked out" dealers from merchandising competitive products and denied manufacturers and suppliers access to valuable retailing channels.

Larson Denies Talking With Independence Man

DES MOINES (AP) — Attorney General Robert Larson said Saturday that to his knowledge Henry G. Becker of Independence, Ia., was not one of the persons who about three months ago discussed with him the matter of an ouster proceeding against certain Buchanan county officials.

Larson said he did not know Becker but that he was "quite certain" that Becker had never conferred with him.

Four Buchanan county officials last Wednesday night issued a statement in which they said Robert Melrose and Henry G. Becker of Independence and an unidentified Buchanan county tavern keeper came to Larson's office about three months ago to discuss possible ouster proceeding against the four officials.

1:36 — Registration Completed

JUST 36 MINUTES LATER, Riemenschneider is shown completing his registration. He stopped and talked to friends and he hadn't pre-registered with the veterans service or he might have completed his registration more quickly. At the checkers' table are Mona Dereu, A2, and Harriet Leeney, A4. Registration at the field house will continue today.

Mrs. W. D. Houser Files Fraud Suit

Mrs. William D. Houser, 1027 Sheridan avenue, has filed suit in Johnson county district court against Mrs. Stella Brooks, 447 Second avenue, and Mrs. Nancy Swisher, 1024 Newton road.

Mrs. Houser said she was the guardian of Mrs. Lillian Alberhasky, who is deaf and nearly blind.

Mrs. Houser said that while Mrs. Brooks was Mrs. Alberhasky's guardian from December, 1946 to February, 1948, the defendant obtained a deed to some of her ward's property without the authority of the court.

The signature and deed were secured by fraud and misrepresentation, Mrs. Houser said. The deed was not properly notarized and was not a voluntary act of Mrs. Alberhasky, she said. Mrs. Houser asked that the deed be set aside.

Mrs. Houser further charged that funds in Mrs. Brooks possession were never turned over to Mrs. Alberhasky. The plaintiff asked that the defendant be asked to account for these funds.

Mrs. Houser asked judgment of $671.75 from Mrs. Swisher, who, the plaintiff said, furnished a surety bond for Mrs. Brooks who got that amount from Mrs. Alberhasky.
