

Announce Kinnick Scholastic Awards

Seven Iowans were honored here yesterday when SUI President Virgil M. Hancher announced the five winners and two alternates for the Nile C. Kinnick Memorial Scholarships.

Those named to receive the scholarships were Wayne Richard Jeffrey, 17, Marion; John H. Towner, 17, Des Moines; Duane Brandt, 18, Waverly; Maurice Dean Schnell, 18, Carroll, and Dean Deuel, 18, Cherokee.

The two alternates named were first alternate, and Robert Clifton, 17, Boone, second alternate.

Winners announced by President Hancher were selected upon recommendation of the university scholarship committee and the education committee of the junior chamber of commerce of Iowa.

A new system for selection was inaugurated this year. Twelve candidates were chosen from about 25 applicants and invited to the university campus. They were interviewed by President Hancher and the scholastic committee, and given a series of scholarship tests. From these 12, the final five winners were chosen.

According to F.L. Hamborg, university treasurer, who is a member of the scholarship committee, the selections were made on the basis of scholarship, athletic ability, leadership and character.

Wayne Richard Jeffrey ranked third scholastically in his graduating class at Marion high school, and was a member of the National Honor Society, Hi-Y, captained the football team, and was named on the "All WaMac" conference team. He plans to study engineering.

John H. Towner was in the upper third of his class of 276 at Roosevelt high school in Des Moines, president of the student congress, president of the boys' club, and all-state in football in 1947. He plans to study law.

Duane Brandt ranked fourth scholastically in a class of 77 at Waverly, graduating with an "A" average. He was a member of the student council, and named all-state in football and basketball. He plans to take physical education and go into coaching.

Maurice Dean Schnell was an "A" honor student at Carroll high school where he co-captained both the football and basketball teams. He was named on the all-state football team. He plans to study chemistry.

Dean Deuel was an honor student at Cherokee high school and was named on the all-state football team for two years. He holds the second fastest time in the nation for the high school 200 yard low hurdles by covering the distance in 22.7 in 1946. He also holds the SUI fieldhouse record for this event. He plans to study either pharmacy or medicine.

Richard C. Gibson, first alternate, studied music at Roosevelt high school in Des Moines. He was named on the all-city football team there, and received honorable mention on the all-state football team.

Robert Clifton, second alternate, was in the upper third of his class at Boone high school where he played football and basketball.

Created in 1944 as a memorial to the late all-American Nile C. Kinnick and to other former Hawkeye students who died in the service, the scholarships are renewable if the scholar maintains standards which emulate the ideals of Kinnick.

A Phi Beta Kappa and a star football player, Kinnick was an ensign in the naval air corps. He died in June, 1943, when his plane engine failed over the Caribbean sea. He could not land on his carrier because other planes were spotted on deck for take-offs.

'New Money' Borders Guarded by Russians

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet tanks, armored cars and trenches last night guarded the "new money" borders between Soviet and western Germany and the road to Berlin.

The Russians said they were protecting their zone against a flood of German Reichsmarks which soon will be worthless in the western zones when the new Deutsche mark becomes fully effective.

The Russians placed a total stoppage on Allied and German land travel into Berlin, and rigid inspection on all incoming freight and freight train personnel.

Sigler Tosses Vandenberg's Hat Into Ring

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Governor Kim Sigler of Michigan skinned Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg's hat into the ring of Republican presidential candidates last night—but held onto it with a string.

As chairman of the Michigan delegation to the GOP convention, Sigler said he knows Vandenberg is "available as a candidate" if the people demand it. And he said he expects this convention to "demonstrate that demand."

"Does that mean," a reporter asked, "that you are putting the senator's hat into the ring?" Sigler thought a minute and replied carefully: "To the extent that there is a demand for his nomination, I'd say, yes."

Sigler wouldn't say whether his statement to a news conference on Vandenberg's availability followed a consultation of any kind with the Michigan senator. But he repeated over and over: "I know what I'm talking about."

And his words were expected to be all that Vandenberg backers need to start beating the drums for the senator. They underscored, too, the significance of a convention-eve caucus of Pennsylvania's 73-vote delegation tonight.

Iowa's Republicans In Bargaining Mood

23 Undeclared Votes Commands Strategic Place at Convention

By R. BRUCE HUGHES Special to The Daily Iowan PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Iowa's delegates to the GOP national convention were in a bargaining mood as they arrived here for tonight's caucus before the big show begins tomorrow.

Left uninstructed by the state convention, Iowa hopes to play as big a part in the scramble for delegates as their 23 votes will allow.

In Iowa headquarters on the fourth floor of the Ben Franklin hotel, tonight's caucus will be only the beginning of the serious business of deciding where those votes will go.

Harold E. Stassen is reported to hold the most strength in the delegation with Robert Taft and Thomas Dewey trailing with a half dozen votes each.

Stassen strength in the Hawkeye contingent is regarded as significant in case a rumored Taft-Stassen deal takes place.

Then the caucus aftermath will be the decision holding the gravest test of strength. Should Stassen pull out on the supposedly rival third ballot, Iowa would be one state which would indicate to whom his midwest strength would be thrown.

Farm Price Measure Fails; May Adjourn This Morning

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate and house representatives failed once more early today to agree on new farm price support legislation.

Both Senator Aiken (R-VT) and Rep. Hope (R-Kan) said they saw no possible chance of agreement.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress cleared the last big hurdle in the way of adjournment early today with passage of a $6,030,710,228 foreign aid spending bill allowing all the money to be used in 12 months.

Senate passage came just before 12:30 a. m. eastern Standard time on a voice vote. The house had approved the compromise a few minutes earlier on a roll call, 319 to 62.

The foreign aid appropriation was shoved through fast after passage of the nation's second peacetime draft measure. That bill, reviving conscription for two years and providing 21-months service for men aged 19 through 25, had snarled the senate in an overnight filibuster of more than 17 hours Friday night.

The senate, breaking a talkathon of Senators Taylor (D-Ida) and Langer (R-ND), put the draft through Saturday morning on a voice vote. Nearly 12 hours later the house approved it 259 to 136 on a roll call.

With the two big quarrels out of the way, the lawmakers were all but ready to put into effect a plan worked out by the Republican leadership to adjourn subject to recall by the GOP chiefs.

Five Injured in Auto Accident Near Here

Five persons were injured in an accident five miles east of Iowa City at 6:10 last night when the left rear tire of their 1941 Oldsmobile sedan blew out causing the car to turn over.

The injured were Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Hastings, Arlington Heights, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. John B. Whiting and their daughter, Lois Ann, Chicago, Ill.

COLD WAR

Allies Give Plans for Trizonia a 'Go-Ahead'; Russ Seal Off Zone

The west went on the offensive this week and Russia countered, mostly in Germany, to force the cold war thermometer up a few degrees.

Russia accepted an American proposal for a 10-nation parley on July 30 to lift barriers to international shipping on the Danube river. It was agreed to let the Austrians send a non-voting delegation.

The Soviets have nothing much to gain from the conference except a rostrum to be used for propaganda purposes. Any concessions they make will mean loosening their grip on their satellite states. So although it was a western triumph to arrange such a conference, there is little prospect that anything more than name-calling will be accomplished.

Meanwhile, the west went ahead with plans to form the three western occupation zones of Germany into a federated "Trizonia."

France, still fearing for her security, reluctantly went along with the agreement. The Communist-dominated General Confederation of Labor (CGT) called general strikes throughout France in protest to the move. Violence was sharpest at Clermont-Ferrand where 600 were injured in police-striker rioting.

But the western states went right ahead with plans to float a west German state. They abandoned the old Reichsmark and made a new Deutsche mark the official currency of Trizonia.

The Russians, on the defensive, jumped into action. First they closed the Elbe river bridge on the western lifeline to Berlin, thus making a 300-mile detour for the westerners. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor, said "I cannot demand the United States' going to war just because somebody has to drive 300 more miles."

Next, the Russians stormed out of the Kommandatura, last functioning four-power governing body in Berlin. Finally, the Russ sealed off the border to their zone, charging the west had "completed the splitting of Germany." Berlin—which the Allies have been considering giving up now that a western state is being formed—is isolated.

PALESTINE

Palestine Front Quiet; Deadlock Remains as Talks Are Arranged

It was all quiet on the Palestine front last week as Jews and Arabs girded for the battle of the conference table. UN truce observers, aided by American planes and Marine-driven jeeps, kept a tense vigil over the tiny country while Mediator Count Bernadotte scurried about preparing for negotiations on the Greek isle of Rhodes.

The British were evacuating the remainder of her troops in Palestine at top speed. Later it was announced that 50 UN guards—rigged in blue-gray UN uniforms with special UN insignia and armed with .38 calibre police revolvers—will serve on emergency duty in Palestine.

The first time any such UN police force has ever been used, it sets an interesting precedent. The

LABOR

Truman Steps In on Deadlocked Coal Scene, Calls Inquiry Board

Contract negotiations between John L. Lewis and operators broke down last week. If the contract is not renewed, miners will refuse to dig coal after July 6.

Using emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley law, President Truman called the threatening strike a menace to the national health and safety. Mr. Truman appointed a board of inquiry which will report by next Wednesday. This report could form a basis for government legal action to obtain a court order forestalling any work stoppage for 80 days.

Three railroad union leaders told a senate labor sub-committee that President Truman blocked agreement in the rail dispute by insisting that any settlement must come within the recommendations of the emergency board he appointed.

Philip Murray postponed for one week a strike of 18,330 United Steelworkers of America employees of the Aluminum company of America. Acting on the request of Cyrus S. Ching, federal mediator, Murray said negotiations for a new contract will continue. The union is asking for a 13-cent increase plus improved insurance and pension plans and correction of "wage inequities." Alcoa is offering a flat eight percent boost which it claims will amount to increases ranging from 10 1/2 to 15 cents an hour.

The Oak Ridge dispute was settled with a wage increase of 15 1/2 cents an hour plus vacation and other benefits. Six days after signing a new wage agreement with Packard, the United Auto Workers called a one-day walk-out of 10,000 employees in a seniority dispute involving "less than 200 people."

TRUMAN

'Satisfied With Trip,' Truman Says Upon Completion of Tour

President Truman rolled back into Washington last week leaving a trail of retorts, indictments and accusations from Los Angeles to Independence, Mo., to the Potomac.

CONGRESSIONAL BOXSCORE

House

Working feverishly through a giddy week, the house cleared the draft and housing bills.

Attacking the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill (passed by the senate) for being too socialistic, the rules committee hacked off provisions for public housing and slum clearance. By a 318 to 90 vote, the house bill passed later in the week. President Truman called it "the real estate lobby's bill"; backers said it would spur homebuilding without promoting socialism, and Senator Taft indi-

WARRIORS in the congressional battle over the draft bill could not agree on increasing the size of the U.S. army or letting it stand as is. Marcanonio and Glen Taylor were out to kill the bills which were drawn in house and senate armed services committees by W.G. Andrews and Chan Gurney respectively. Intelligence reports claim that a combined force of U.S., British and French armies cannot equal the numerical strength of Soviet forces.

housing, federal aid to education, a water and flood control program and other measures. "And if they haven't time, they ought to take it," he continued.

He told New Mexicans his trip had "sharply drawn" the issues before the country and confided "I've been pouring it on them (congress) and they've got the jitters and they've gone to work."

In his native state, he told crowds he made the trip to lay before the people facts that are distorted or hidden by "certain people in the newspaper business and certain people in the radio business who have a distorted view of what the people ought to know and think."

Mr. Truman's secretary, Charles G. Ross had to calm infuriated chambers of commerce in Florida by telling them that the President did not call California's sun the "real thing," and "this makes Florida look like 30 cents."

Senate

The senate, driving for a doubtful Saturday adjournment, put in a hectic week climaxed by an anti-draft filibuster lasting 17 hours.

It passed a long-range farm bill which went to the house; voted $6,915,576,052 in funds for the army, airforce and related defense agencies and sent it to the house which had granted an appropriation $405,737,052 smaller, and completed congressional action on a $3,749,059,250 navy appropriation bill and sent it to the White House.

An anti-lynching bill cleared the judiciary committee over southern vows to fight it "until hell freezes over." Chances of it passing were slim.

The senate received the house-passed draft bill; but before it could do anything, it faced a 17-hour filibuster.

Surprising Gophers Win Collegiate Track Crown

Mel Patton, Clyde Scott Set Records

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Underdog Minnesota captured the National Collegiate track and field championship for the first time in the 7 year history of the meet yesterday as this country's undergraduate spikesters selected 108 of their best performers for the coming Olympic tryouts.

The surprising Gophers, rank outsiders in the pre-meet speculation over the team title, won two of the 18 events and placed in seven others to amass a total of 46 points in the scoring on a 10-8-6-4-2-1 basis.

Southern California's favored Trojans finished in second place with 41½ points, barely missing their bid to regain the national title they relinquished in 1944 after nine straight years of victory. Even a double sprint triumph by the great Mel Patton, one of them achieved in world record time, couldn't lift the Trojans to the team championship they have won a dozen times in the past.

Not until the last event had been completed before a throng of 15,563 in the sun drenched stadium of the victorious Gophers was the close battle for team honors determined. Then Lloyd Lamois, who until that time had scored only one point on a sixth in the broad jump, came through with a victory in the lightly regarded hop step and jump which enabled Minnesota to sweep past the Trojans into first place.

But it was Fortune Gordien who carried the major load for the Gophers on his broad shoulders. The big Minnesota weight man won the discus, an event he is expected to dominate in the Olympics, and placed second in the shot put.

Between them, Gordien and Lamois tallied 29 points, well over half the Minnesota total. Behind Minnesota and Southern California came the University of Texas with 40 points, while the University of Illinois, defending champion and winner of three of the last four team titles, finished fourth with 34½ points.

It looked as if Southern California was too far out in front to be overtaken when Patton sped to victory in both the 100 and 200 meter dashes to become the only double winner of the meet.

In the 200, run around a curve, the Trojan whirlwind flew home with three yards to spare in 20.7 seconds.

It equalled the world record for the distance around a turn, set by Jesse Owens of Ohio State in the 1936 Olympics but a tail wind of more than six miles on the home straight away probably cost him an official share of the world mark.

The same wind favored Clyde Scott of Arkansas as he skimmed over the 110 meter high hurdles in 13.7 seconds, equalling the world record held jointly by Spec Towns of Georgia and Fred Wolcott of Rice.

Cubs Dump Bums 2nd Straight Time

BROOKLYN (AP)—Andy Pafko and Bill Nicholson, Chicago's two big guns, drove in five runs between them yesterday to lead the Cubs to their second straight victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5-2.

Pafko enjoyed a perfect day at the plate, collecting five hits in five times at bat. He hammered in three runs. Nicholson cracked his sixth home run with one mate aboard in the eighth inning, and doubled in the ninth.

Backed by 13 hits, Bob Rush, 22-year-old righthander, pitched his first complete game of the season to register his second triumph. He has lost four.

Bosox Beat Tigers For Fourth in Row

DETROIT (AP)—The booming Boston Red Sox got away to a 9-1 lead over Detroit yesterday, and needed it all, as they ran their winning streak to four games with a narrow 9 to 7 decision over the Tigers.

Detroit, held to five hits by big Jack Kramer in eight innings, came to life in the ninth after waiting out a 33-minute delay because of rain. The Tigers scored four runs after two were out in their last turn at bat and had men on first and third with the tying runs when Bob Ferriss, working in relief, got George Kell on a pop fly to end the game.

Bucs Win 6th Straight, Outlast Phillies, 7-6

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates hopped into a temporary tie for the National league lead yesterday as they scored three times in the ninth inning on only one hit to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies, 7 to 6.

It was the sixth straight victory for the Bucs and the third successive triumph for rookie Bob Cheshnes, who has yet to be defeated.

The winning counter came across the plate on Max West's pinch-hit fly to right.

Iowa City Moose Meet Muscatine Nine Here

The Iowa City Moose baseball team will face the Moose-Legion team from Muscatine this afternoon at 2:30 p.m. on the City Park diamond.

The Muscatine team is a combination of the Moose lodge and American Legion club there. They reportedly have a strong team, having won a 16-team tournament in Illinois last year.

Dan Kelsey will hurl for the locals, and Leland Schindler will do the catching.

Dean Enters Open

Sonny Dean, new Iowa Junior golf champion, will enter in the Southeast Iowa Open at Washington today. The 27 hole affair will be played on the Washington Country club with linksmen from 21 Iowa communities entered.

Muncrief Hit By Line Drive

CLEVELAND (AP)—The league-leading Cleveland Indians, who haven't been getting much pitching lately, got plenty of it yesterday when Bob Muncrief and Russ Christopher combined for a brilliant three-hit shutout as the Indians downed the Philadelphia Athletics 4 to 0.

Muncrief throttled the A's with three singles for the first seven innings, but was forced to retire after that stanza when a line drive from Hank Majeski's bat struck him on the elbow of his pitching arm. He was taken to a hospital for x-ray examination. Christopher took over for the final two innings and kept Philadelphia in check to complete the shutout.

Bill McCahan allowed the Indians only six hits but the Tribesmen utilized four of them in scoring. The win snapped a five-game losing streak for the Indians and boosted their first place margin over the pesky A's to two games.

Willcox, Fontanini Pace Hawkeye Holiday Open

DES MOINES (AP)—Pat Willcox and Sargio Fontanini, both of Des Moines, shot two-under-par 70's yesterday to lead the opening round of the 54-hole Hawkeye Holidays Open golf tournament.

A field of 216, including 10 professionals, started in the second staging of the event. A new champion will be crowned, since Bill McCahan of Cedar Rapids will not defend his crown.

Sain Wins for Braves

BOSTON (AP)—Right-Hander Johnny Sain protected the Boston Braves' half-game first place lead by shutting out the Cincinnati Reds, 5-0, with a six hit performance last night before a 24,425 crowd. The Tribesmen gained all eight of their hits at the expense of Tom Hughes during the first five frames.

'Carbon Copy' Louis in 25th Defense of Title Wednesday

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—The 1948 Joe Louis, only a carbon copy of the original Brown Bomber, makes his 25th and possibly last world heavyweight title defense Wednesday night at the Yankee stadium against Jersey Joe Walcott, who lost a disputed decision to the champ last December.

This carbon of the original still may have enough to flatten Walcott, an ageless pappy guy from Camden, N. J. At least the odds on the champ to win linger close to 5 to 1. It may approach 1 to 2 or less by ring time.

Past performance favors the Bomber who never failed to knock out a troublesome opponent in a return bout.

Because of the tremendous controversy following their first meeting in Madison Square Garden, this fight figures to draw close to a million dollars.

Louis, who gets 40 percent of the net as compared to 20 for Walcott, is "the big if" of this scrap. However, he insists "I'll win quick."

Sparring partners have hit him repeatedly with right hand shots, the kind that Walcott used to dump the Bomber twice in December. The Louis punching power, one of the most destructive in the annals of sport, remains a mystery and will remain so until the first song.

Louis always has been puzzled by a boxer who moved around the ring. Bob Pastor went 10 in their first battle by getting on a bike and running away. Arturo Godoy went into a crouching shell to befuddle the Bomber.

There can be no question that Walcott will move. The basis of his style is a confusing three-step—one back, and two to the side—that upsets a counter-puncher like Louis. Up to now the champ has been able to solve those unorthodox moves the second time around.

Both camps, the champ's at Pompton Lakes, N. J., and the challenger's at Grenloch, N. J., hint that a lefthanded battle may result. Louis has been snapping his left jab with something akin to its old authority. It may be that he figures he can pile up points by "sticking" and then finish off his man by drowning him into a corner or against the ropes. Although Walcott's right is now celebrated, camp intimates say "watch his left hook."

It all adds up to the most interesting sort of pre-fight arguments. This may well be the best part of the bout. For if Louis follows through, as he says he will, by making Walcott come to him, we may not have any fight. Walcott likes to wait for his man, too.

No More Activities But Pitching—Feller

CLEVELAND (AP)—Bob Feller says he'll stick strictly to pitching from now on.

The erstwhile ace of the Cleveland Indians' mound corps announced that he is curtailing all his activities, including between-game physical exercises, in an effort to recover his mastery.

Feller repeated that he never has considered his various connections outside of baseball a handicap in his work for the Indians. "But other people think they are," he added, "and I'm certainly willing to make the test."

Iowa Amateur Meet Begins on Tuesday

ARNOLDS PARK, IA. (AP)—The best shot-makers of Iowa amateur golfdom will match strokes here beginning Tuesday in the annual quest for the Iowa amateur championship.

The 45th annual meet will be held over the Brooks Country club course at Okoboji and a number of the players already are on deck to familiarize themselves with the lakeside layout.

The week-long tourney will be preceded by a day of special two-man events tomorrow when prizes will be awarded for the low two-man amateur team, and the low two-man pro and amateur team. There also will be a $100 prize for the lowest score turned in by a pro.

Qualifying rounds for the amateur meet will be held on Tuesday. Match play for the 32 low qualifiers will open on Tuesday. The 36-hole championship finals are scheduled for Saturday.

Defending Champion Fred Gordon of Belmont will be on hand to defend his title. Johnny Jacobs, the former state champion from Cedar Rapids, will try to regain his laurels.

Among those already on hand are Phil and Jack Donohue, golfing brothers from Sioux City.

Yanks Clip Browns, 10-5; Johnson Drives In 7

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Led by Billy Johnson, who drove in seven runs, the New York Yankees yesterday defeated the St. Louis Browns 10-5 to even the series at one victory apiece.

The Yankee third sacker slammed two home runs, one with the bases loaded.

Babe Ruth was presented with a Sporting News trophy in recognition for service to the youth of America before the game.

Giants Collect Four Homers, Swamp Cards

NEW YORK (AP)—Using their most potent weapon to end a five-game losing streak, the New York Giants yesterday lofted four home runs into the stands to overcome the St. Louis Cardinals 10-1. The quartet of round trippers gave the pounding Polo Grounders 11 home runs in three days and 63 for the season.

Behind the heavy barrage, Clint Hartung had an easy time coasting to his fifth victory. The tall righthander spaced eight hits and held the mighty Stan Musial hitless.

In the second inning, big John Mize walloped his 12th home run into the upper rightfield stands.

Sid Gordon's 10th home run came in the fourth. Willard Marshall joined the home run brigade with his seventh round tripper in the seventh with two aboard. Gordon smacked his 11th of the season and his second of the day in the eighth.

Locke Posts 54-Hole 200; Ahead of Field by 13 Strokes

CHICAGO (AP)—Bobby Locke shot his third straight subpar round at Midlothian yesterday, banging a 36-84—70 for a 54-hole total of 200 and a 13 stroke lead in the $15,000 Chicago Victory golf championship.

The 30-year-old pro from Johannesburg added the 70, one under par for the 6,587-yard course, to pull up at the three-quarter mark 13 strokes under regulation figures.

Locke, who fired a pair of 65's for 130 in his first two rounds, gained four strokes on the field despite his comparatively calm 70 yesterday. Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., required a 75 for a 214 tally to give up his second place spot. He was nine taps behind Locke yesterday.

John Bulla of Phoenix, with three 71's; Skip Alexander of Lexington, N. C., and Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago were tied for second with 213 aggregates. Alexander fashioned a 72 yesterday while Mangrum posted a 35-33-68 for the lowest third round. He collected an extra $200 for this job.

Heafner was tied at 214 with George Fazio of Chicago and Dick Metz of Arkansas City, Kas. Johnny Revolta of Evanson, Ill., and Henry Ransom of Chicago, were locked in the 215 bracket.

Locke and his partner Johnny Dawson of Chicago, who authored a 75 yesterday, led the pre-amateur competition with a combined 54-hole total of 423. Johnny Revolta and Chicago's John Barrum, the defending champion, were second with 437. An added $4,200 goes to the winning pro in the team play and $2,000 to the tourney winner.

hour filibuster by Senators Taylor, third-party vice-presidential candidate from Idaho, and Langer (R-ND). After the two men had talked themselves to a halt, the senate passed a compromise bill which must be approved by the house. It would draft men 19 to 25 for 21-months service, starting 90 days after enactment.

Joint Action —

The house and senate joined last week for a spree of over-riding Truman vetoes and deadlocking on the foreign aid appropriation.

Among bills becoming laws over the President's veto: a bill barring many thousands of semi-independent workers from old age insurance; the Bulwinkle bill allowing railroads to make rate agreements without fear of anti-trust laws if approved by the ICC; an appropriation bill carrying a rider which transfers the U.S. employment service to the federal security agency.

Both houses sent the disputed one year extension to the trade agreements act. It requires the President to wait up to four months, while the federal tariff commission investigates, before making tariff agreements with foreign countries.

A joint committee was in complete deadlock over trying to compromise two versions of the appropriation bill for foreign aid. The senate's bill is more than $1-million higher than the house's. While ECA chief Paul Hoffman and Secretary of State Marshall were suffering over the deadlock, Senator Taft quietly told reporters, "These things always happen, but they generally get together again."

PHILADELPHIA STORY

Town Hit by Storm of Politicians; Contenders Set Up Headquarters

Staid Philadelphia welcomed the first burst of noise from convention-bound Republicans last week. Six delegate disputes—two of them involving Negro recognition—were smoothed out while campaign headquarters for various contenders roared full blast.

Harold Stassen, first contender to arrive on the scene of battle, rolled into town behind a horn-blowing motorcade and reiterated to the press his prediction that he would be third on the first ballot but would win by the ninth.

Subcommittees of the committee charged with drawing up the GOP platform began humming. The civil rights group reported it was planning off planks which would support laws or constitutional amendments outlawing poll taxes, lynching, segregation in the armed forces and unfair employment practices.

Despite dampened spirits as a result of President Truman's tour of the west, GOP regulars were confident that the Republican candidate who emerged from this week's convention would enter the White House in January, 1949.

Arthur Vandenberg remained the big question mark on the weekend. Michigan's governor Kim Sigler said Vandenberg "would be available" for the nomination. The veteran legislator has announced he will personally make a statement on the matter today. Probably feeling that with the convention opening within 24 hours, it is a smart idea to throw your hat into the ring before it is too late.

43 Die When Airliner Crashes in Pa.; Most Farmers Favor UMT

All 43 passengers and crew aboard a United Airlines DC-6 vanished in a fiery inferno when the plane hit a Mt. Carmel, Pa., power line in an attempted forced landing. The plane was forced down when one of its motors caught fire. Among the dead: Earl Carroll, famous theatrical producer; Mrs. Jack Oakie, divorced wife of the film comedian and actress Beryl Wallace.

According to Successful Farming magazine, 69 percent of America's farmers favor UMT. A house committee demanded that four former Capone gangsters, free on parole, be returned to prison. The committee claimed big money was spent in getting the men out.

The state agricultural commissioners of Texas and Georgia were indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of violating the federal lobby act. The grand jury charged that the commissioners failed to register and file statements under the law regulating lobbying. They were charged with being part of a lobby which was fighting for higher commodity prices.

Iowa Wallace Parley Lists State Candidates; SUI's Pitcher Named

Concluding their state convention in Waterloo last Sunday, the Iowa Wallace for President groups emerged with the name Progressive Party of Iowa and a slate of candidates for state offices.

The Progressive ticket is as follows: Governor, Clarence Biederman, Mitchell farmer and co-op

U.S. should cease making atomic bombs and destroy its stockpiles, the Marshall plan should be turned over to the UN, U.S. should aid Palestine through UN by withholding aid to Britain so long as she assists the Arabs, Taft-Hartley labor law should be repealed, house un-American activities committee and Truman loyalty order should be abolished, Mundt-Nixon anti-Communist bill should be defeated.

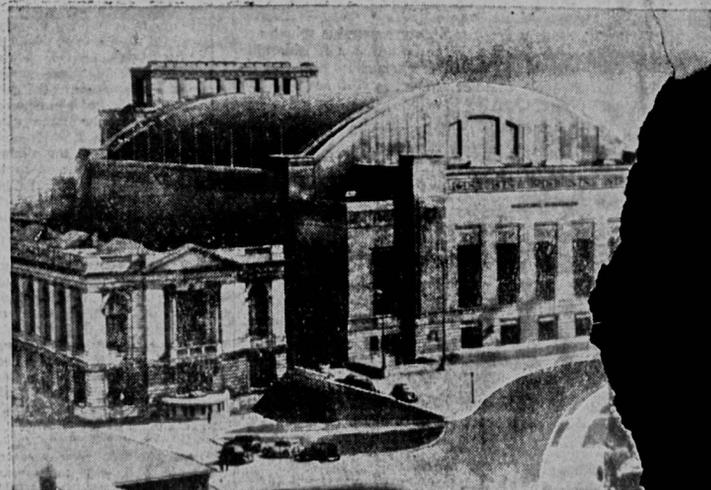

Elsewhere around the state, George Prichard Jr., recent SUI graduate who won GOP nomination for Monona county state representative in last week's primaries, announced in Des Moines, "I am a candidate for secretary of state."

Bids on remodeling the Iowa governor's home will be opened July 1. Staff Sgt. George Bever Jr., 64, who enlisted in the Iowa national guard in 1901 has retired.

Quittin' Time —

Stand back everybody . . . the yearly congressional stampede is on! Last man to leave Washington is a sad-sack! To blazes with unfinished business . . .

With all the dignity of a free-for-all, our venerable solons are hustling to end the 80th congress. The fact that a considerable amount of vital legislation lies tabled in committees seems to be of no consequence. What could be of more importance than the presidential conventions?

Nothing housing, health, and education have little or no message. An identical fate is reserved for attempts to social security, civil rights, and minimum wage legislation. Senator Taft can't get his pet bills pushed through, majority leader.

Time left? Not according to President Truman. He's grand time razing the congress to consider needed average John Q. Citizen across the nation problem way.

Something done about run-away inflationary mockery of his efforts to live within his means to grow a little irritated at the sight of bill-riding in appropriations when all efforts to bring a passing bill to a vote have failed.

Really didn't want anything done about these dull days. It'll be a lot more fun for the boys when they get home.

A Dead Past —

There was a man who led an ill-fated Austria through some of the darkest times—years of insecurity; months of fear, and days of degradation.

Today Kurt von Schuschnigg calls himself a lover of liberty—introduced as comparable to the Freedom train.

He admitted past errors in his appearance here. He spoke of the charges that he had been a dictator . . . charges made often in our national press between 1934 and 1938 when he was chancellor of Austria.

Many people have severely criticized von Schuschnigg's Austrian rule; but praise his sincerity at that time in doing what he thought best for his country.

Among the many, many words he uses in his speech it's hard to determine what his present feelings are. You can't look into a man's mind. Sometimes it's even hard to look through a man's words.

At what point in his talks could you say he was not the clerical-fascist which some authors have called him—or either say that he was?

His time in Austria was an emergency time; needed an emergency rule. It was a period of struggle to hold together a doomed nation.

So the Americans who a decade ago considered him a dictator, responded warmly to von Schuschnigg and his lecture.

It's an old American characteristic—something about by-gones.

Go in' Our Way, Bub?

Records In Review

BY JOHN L. HARVEY

SAN FRANCISCO—No classical records today, but a few rumors of interest to record buyers are persistently floating around. Victor apparently plans to release a Rubinstein recording of the complete Chopin Preludes—which should be a welcome relief from the ancient version by Cortot and the mediocre one by Petri . . .

Two small companies, Disc and Mercury, have purchased repressing rights from Ultraphone, a European company with a remarkable catalogue. Despite all sorts of difficulties, the deal is being carried on. Prize item of the Ultraphone list is an almost complete set of Beethoven symphonies by Mengelberg and the Amsterdam Concertgebouw Orchestra. . . . Now that Bela Bartok is safely dead, the record companies are going to start issuing more of his music. The royalties would probably have postponed his tragic death.

The Decca Company, which is always up to something unusual, has decided to cash in on nostalgia with its "Songs of Our Time" series. This rather mis-named group of albums presents the popular songs of past years in new recordings. Most of the albums contain four 10" records. I have heard selections from the albums representing the years between 1927 and 1934; in general they are reasonably well recorded, with quieter surfaces than one usually expects from Decca.

Best sellers here in San Francisco are the 1928 and 1930 albums, the former done by Basil Fomeen's orchestra, the latter by Ted Straeter's. As to the musical value of this enterprise I have little to say, but it certainly does succeed in summoning up the past—which, I suppose, is the main object. The series will eventually extend from 1917 to 1943.

Those who wonder why record collectors will pay more than double price in order to get their records from England might enjoy comparing two recent albums.

M. G. M. album 11 features "Pagan Love Song," "Blue Moon," "Temptation," etc., done by Georgie Stoll and the M. G. M. Studio Orchestra. (4 10" records.) An English Company, "London," has issued a comparable album, called "Music from the Films," with Manotvani conducting his orchestra in the Warsaw Concerto, Cornish Rhapsody, and Lullaby of the Bells. (London LA 7, 3 10" records.)

The former is done with lurid string effects, the recording is shrill, pinched, and overamplified. The latter is done as cleanly as the music will permit, and has the benefit of full frequency recording—magnificently clear and realistic.

I hold no brief with movie-music, but if one must record it the recording should at least be acceptable to the ear, and in this respect the American engineers come off rather badly.

Republicans In The Race —

Vandenberg's Appeal Lies In Internationalist Point of View

(This is the eighth and last in a series of sketches on leading contenders for the Republican presidential nomination.)

Michigan's Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg has been running for the Republican nomination by standing still.

The 64-year-old statesman, although an unannounced candidate, will have the 41-vote backing of his state at tomorrow's convention. His attitude toward the nomination is, "Of course I would yield to a spontaneous draft."

Vandenberg will become a serious consideration for the convention only when and if the big three — Taft, Dewey and Stassen — deadlock and turn to dark horse candidates most suitable to themselves.

Vandenberg's prewar isolationism has been immortalized in such statements as "Nationalism — not internationalism — is the indispensable bulwark of American independence," and his 1939 remark, "This war is nothing but about twenty-five people and propaganda."

Yet today he is the leader of the new-born internationalist wing of the GOP. A champion of the United Nations, the Marshall plan and the bi-partisan foreign policy (which he helped shape), Vandenberg rapped his party on the knuckles for cutting the foreign aid bill appropriation last week.

Vandenberg was born in 1884 in Grand Rapids, Mich., the son of a harness maker. His father's business collapsed in the crash of 1893 and he helped support his family at the age of nine.

After graduating high school, Vandenberg worked his way through one year of the University of Michigan law school, then quit. He became a cub reporter on the Grand Rapids Herald. By the time he was 22, Vandenberg was editor and publisher of the newspaper.

Marrying in 1907, he had three children before his wife died in 1916. He married a second time in 1918. His son Arthur Jr., is his personal secretary.

Refusing to run for minor offices, Vandenberg won a seat in the senate in 1928 and has remained there since. He declined to run for the GOP presidential nomination in 1936, lost it to Willkie in 1940 and declined to run in 1944 by coming out for General MacArthur.

In 1934 he was the only Republican senator in the country to win reelection in the face of the FDR landslide. He was elected president pro tempore of the senate in 1946.

His record as an isolationist is long. Following the first World war he opposed the League of Nations and helped write Warren Harding's foreign-policy speeches.

Almost immediately upon entering the senate in 1929, Vandenberg joined a group of 25 "Young Turk" senators who tried to block all motions for adjournment until the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill was passed. His cause failed, but his reputation was made.

His New Deal opposition was

spotty and indirect. Realizing that modern government had to assume new social responsibilities, Vandenberg sponsored the federal deposit insurance corporation law.

During the Roosevelt era, he opposed the national industrial recovery act, the TVA, the Wagner act and the AAA. He favored social security, the securities and exchange act, the New Deal housing program and the St. Lawrence waterway.

Following the outbreak of World War II, he fought against the repeal of the neutrality act, the draft, ship seizure, Lend-Lease and extension of the trade agreements act. He regarded his 1940 reelection as a mandate to do his part in keeping the U.S. out of the war.

After Pearl Harbor, he gradually swung to internationalism. In 1944 he was instrumental in writing into the GOP platform a plank favoring employment of "moral, economic, diplomatic or military" force to maintain the peace.

His about-face was completed when in January, 1945, he made an historic speech before the senate proposing that the U.S. "re-light the torch" of the Atlantic charter by stating that it had not altered its original commitments to the principles of that warborn code. He called for the major Allies to sign a treaty for the "perpetuity of force" to keep the Axis powers demilitarized.

He was a delegate to the 1945 San Francisco conference and steered the UN through the senate by an overwhelming majority — two Republicans voted against it.

He travelled with Secretary of State Byrnes to numerous foreign ministers' conferences and the Paris peace conference in 1946. Vandenberg was instrumental in shaping the bi-partisan foreign policy of blocking Russia in the cold war and stated he realized "there are those in the world who respect nothing else but force. We shall adequately prepare ourselves for any such argument."

He did so much to engineer the European recovery program through congress that it could be almost called the Marshall-Vandenberg plan. Hitting U.S. foreign policy for such weak spots as China, he still urges a long-range, all-inclusive policy.

Vandenberg, the man who did so much to put President Truman's foreign program through congress, would be a difficult, if not impossible, man for the Democrats to campaign against.

He has said that he could not picture himself blasting Mr. Truman — a close friend — or Mr. Truman blasting him. If he were nominated, his campaign would consist of a few major speeches. His number two man would have to do the handshaking and soap-boxing.

Vandenberg has indicated he would run for only one term if drafted. That makes him an attractive compromise for the leading contenders should they become deadlocked. They would be assured of another crack at the nomination in only four years.

Also, one of them (for instance Stassen or Dewey) could spend four years as vice-president and be the heir apparent by 1952.

Vandenberg is standing on the sidelines now, but he may be closer to emerging in the center of the stage than most people realize.

Philadelphia--Center of The Voting Universe

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

I suppose I shall be going to the Republican convention next week, because that is where things will be happening, and one likes to see things happening. But sometimes I don't know; it's hard to know what the real centers of action are in our world today.

Maybe Philadelphia is only a center of motion, not action, and maybe the really meaningful fights and decisions of our age will be going on elsewhere next week.

I know a family which doesn't have much money to spend, maybe forty-eight dollars a week. One day next week they're going to be trying to decide whether to have meat for Sunday dinner, or buy new underwear for one of the kids. I think meat will have the lead on the first ballot, because meat is the first popular and has a following, but the way I forecast it is that after some horse trading, and a couple of conferences out back of the house, underwear will build up strength rapidly, and should come in on the fourth roll call.

Talk about struggle, and a tense atmosphere! The making of this decision is going to leave those delegates in Philadelphia looking as if they're at a lawn party. Those kids are going to do without meat or without underwear next week, while the worst that can come up at Philadelphia is a dark horse.

It's great to be near the center of action, but you have to know where the center of action is at any given moment. There's a friend of mine, a veteran, who went into the war with some rather lofty ideals about a unified world, and all like that. He's been badly shaken by what's happened since, especially by the fact that all the end of the war has meant is another draft, and sometimes he gets hopeless.

I'm afraid he may take a kind of final vote with himself some day, and nobody'll cover it. Everybody'll be at Philadelphia, looking to see whether it's Dewey. My friend, under the unit rule, will cast his vote while walking down a side street somewhere, and nobody will notice it's been done.

I keep thinking of the meeting in Philadelphia eight years ago, when there was a Willkie. If there were one now I think my friend might hitch-hike to get to the convention, and make his way by some means into the galleries, and yell, and then the two votes, the private one inside the man, and the big public one in the great hall, would be the same. But now they're separate and so you can't really tell where the center of action is next week.

That's the trouble, the way everything's been broken up into what goes on so separately in the small houses and the back ways and in the great halls, all unrelated simultaneous voting. It makes one remember the days, not so long ago, when there were men around who could wrap it all up into one, so that what went on in the convention hall was what was truly going on inside everybody, everywhere, and you knew where the center of action was.

McBride's Hall — On VIP's And Such —

By BILL MCBRIDE

Every former GI knows that VIP's (very important persons) don't usually stand in line at public events. In at least one instance at the Freedom train yesterday there was an exception to that rule.

President Malcolm Price, of Iowa State Teacher's college, along with his wife and son, stood in the two block-long line to see the documents just as you and I did.

Maybe it's an Equality as well as a Freedom train.

How many of you forgot what day this is? It's not too late to place a call home and wish Dad a Happy Father's day.

Evidence of a "get McBride on every magazine circulation list" movement arrived in the form of another promotion letter last week. This one came all the way from London.

The letter opens with a "Dear Sir or Madam", and that is definitely a case of starting off on the wrong foot. It shows that the publisher is more than a little hazy on the matter of the sex of his prospective subscribers. A little research on the part of the sender would clear up a deplorable situation like that.

The Tucker corp. is supposed to have a foolproof anti-black market system figured out for the sale of their automobiles when the new company reaches consumer volume production.

The system involves buying a radio or a set of fitted luggage when you place an order for a car. This transaction places the customer on a purchase sequence list held by the dealer. The factory has a copy of the list so that dealers can be checked upon periodically.

Also in buying the car, customers sign an agreement not to resell the vehicle before a specified date.

Friday, when placing a five cent piece in the slot of a pop dispenser, I discovered I had been swindled.

The pop machine threw the nickel back at me like a thing possessed . . . and with good reason, too. As the coin fell to the floor, it broke in half.

Immediately that struck me as being odd, because I know that the U.S. mint ordinarily manufactures a high grade nickel. I have dashed off a letter to the Treasury people in Washington telling them of the inferior merchandise, and I'm certain there will be some sort of official action on it before long. There had better be, our budget won't stand much of that!

For the past 48 years, a man living in a small Iowa town has celebrated his birthday on June 14 with a "mess" of new potatoes from his garden.

It's a fine gesture on the part of his garden to be so vigilant about a little thing like a birthday, and no doubt the celebrator is grateful.

As for me, I'd grow weary of year in and year out knowing that Garden will always come through with a "mess" of new potatoes . . . no element of surprise there. In order to keep from hurting Garden's feeling, the gentleman in the small Iowa town probably has to utter an "Oh, garden! You shouldn't have done it."

Council To Advertise For Paving Bids Soon

A special meeting of the city council will be called in a few days to advertise for bids for the paving construction of sections of five Iowa City streets, city officials said yesterday.

The streets included in the paving project are Lusk, Keokuk, Court, F and Bayard. The city engineer estimated the costs to be $75,000.

The council overruled the one objection to the paving plans on these streets at their June 14 meeting. Iowa avenue and Yewell street were included in the original plans, but action on these two streets was postponed because of the great number of objectors. A vote of three-fourths of the council is needed to override these objections.

First Lady in '49?

Hazel Vandenberg a 'Natural' for First Lady

(Sixth in a Series)

A "natural" for the job of First Lady of the land is Hazel Whitaker Vandenberg, a former schoolteacher, newspaper reporter and social worker.

She knows Washington and Washington knows her and likes her breezy friendliness. If her Arthur breaks the talked-about deadlock, she'll move out of their modest five-room apartment and into the White House with the greatest ease of any of the "Ladies-in-Waiting."

What a time she and "Rock of Gibraltar" Maggie, her Dutch housekeeper, would have in that $50,000 kitchen, making tiny potato doughnuts (a specialty for which she's given the recipe to hundreds!)

Her father was a railway agent, and she an only child. She has no children of her own. However, she mothered the three children of Arthur H. Vandenberg, Barbara and Elizabeth (both now married) and Arthur Jr., who is campaign manager and administrative assistant for his father.

If Hazel Whitaker had not left her native Indiana (she was born in New Haven) to enter the University of Michigan, she might never have met Arthur Vandenberg.

He was a "blind date" at a college dance, and at the time was engaged to Elizabeth Watson whom he later married. Hazel did not see him again for 15 years until the death of his wife.

Meanwhile, she had taught school in Saginaw, managed to corral a job reporting in Chicago, and topped it off with an advertising stint for a Detroit department store. She interrupted that job to marry the rising editor of the Grand Rapids Herald and set up housekeeping in Vandenberg's old home on Morris avenue.

Her activities varied between the Delta Gamma sorority, YWCA, National Camp Fire board, University of Michigan alumnae association and raising funds for the million-dollar Women's league building.

For years, Hazel Vandenberg has written a column for her home-town club magazine. Today she is head of the Senate ladies. (Her husband is president of the Senate).

Mrs. ARTHUR H. VANDENBERG

Recovering from a couple of major operations, she's lost the ambitious urge to be First Lady, just as the senator has to be president. But, if her husband becomes president, she'll be the most popular hostess the White House has seen in many a year! (See Story on Arthur Vandenberg on Page 4)

Vote Federal Pay Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate last night voted pay increases for postal and civil service workers, but rejected raises for "upper bracket" government employees including cabinet officers.

Prior to passing the measure by a voice vote, the senate tabled a motion by Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.) to add an amendment repealing the tax on oleomargarine.

The pay bill now goes back to the house for action on the senate amendments.

The senate substitute carries a $450 yearly increase for postal employees and $360 increases for other classified government employees. There also is a provision for reclassification, representing an additional $88 boost for government workers. It also had the effect of knocking out the house provision for postal rate increases, but this is subject to conference action.

Wanda Spaan, former University of Iowa student, arrived home from the University of Michigan last night to spend a month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Spaan, 618 Brown street. She is a student in the school of nursing at the University of Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Campion, route 2, are the parents of a nine-pound, eight ounce daughter, born Wednesday at Mercy hospital.

Bob Meyer, Davenport, will visit friends in Iowa City this weekend.

Dorothy Edmondson, Columbus Junction, is the weekend guest of Lenore Brew, Davenport, this weekend.

Spending this weekend at home with her parents is Marian Funda, G. Rock Island, Ill.

Currier hall women spending the weekend at home are Isobel Glick, A4, Chicago; Margaret Griebel, C4, Lone Tree; Margaret Nolte, A2, Wilton Junction and Patricia Sloan, A3, Des Moines.

Officers of St. Mary's alumni are attending the National Federation of B. V. M. alumni convention June 17 through 20 in Davenport.

The Rev. E. V. Steed, pastor of the Evangelical Free church, and Lee Berghold will attend the national conference of the Evangelical Free church, June 23 through 27 in Rockford, Ill.

Physical Education Conference To Feature Swedish Gymnasts

A three-day conference on the teaching of health and physical education will be conducted here Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, according to Dr. C.H. McCloy, professor of physical education.

The 17th annual conference is being sponsored by the extension division and the division of physical education.

Swedish girl gymnasts under the direction of Mrs. Maja Carlquist, Swedish woman educator, will be one of the highlights of the conference. They will present a program of Swedish folk dances and gymnastics Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the fieldhouse.

Ruth Evans of Springfield, Mass., president of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, will discuss "Education for Citizenship" at the opening session Wednesday in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Also featured in the conference will be Patric Ruth O'Keefe, director of health and physical education in the Kansas City, Mo., public schools; Leon G. Krantz, director of the physical education departments at Northwestern university, and Karl E. Leib of the SUI commerce faculty, president of the National Collegiate Athletic association.

The conference will end Friday with a clinic.

Joins Husband in Japan

Mrs. E. A. McDonald, Iowa City, recently joined her husband, Major Everett A. McDonald, in Nagoya, Japan. McDonald is assistant operations officer at Fifth Air Force headquarters in Nagoya.

Anna May Riecke Weds Ames Man

In a single ring ceremony performed at 8:30 p.m. Friday at the First English Lutheran church, Anna Mae Riecke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Riecke, 308 S. Johnson street, became the bride of Earl Wahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wahl, Monticello.

Joyce Riecke, Iowa City, sister of the bride was maid of honor and James Cleggett, Ames, served as best man. The Rev. R. C. Krueger officiated.

A reception in the private dining room of Iowa Memorial Union followed the ceremony.

Mrs. Wahl, a graduate of Iowa City high school, attended the University of Iowa for two years and was graduated from the American Institute of Business, Des Moines. She has been employed as secretary to the director of the Memorial Union at Iowa State college, Ames.

Mr. Wahl was graduated from Monticello high school and is now a student in the school of veterinary medicine at Iowa State college.

After a wedding trip to Minnesota, the couple will live in Ames.

Truman Acts To Prevent Coal Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman set up a Taft-Hartley board of inquiry yesterday in an effort to wipe out the threat of another nationwide soft coal strike next month.

The President asked the three-man board to report by Wednesday. The coal contract expires June 30. The miners begin a 10-day vacation June 26.

Appointed to the board were David E. Cole, Patterson, N. J., lawyer and labor arbitrator, chairman; E. Wight Bakke, professor of economics at Yale university; and Waldo Amanuel Fisher, professor of industrial relations at the University of Pennsylvania.

The President must have a report from the board before instructing Attorney General Clark to ask for another court injunction to halt a strike.

The court would have to rule that the contract dispute was an entirely new fight—otherwise the miners could not be restrained after the current injunction runs out in early July.

Justice T. Alan Goldsborough heard arguments yesterday on a petition of operator Ezra Van Horn for an injunction to block payment of pensions.

Lewis was represented by two Washington attorneys, Walter M. Bastian, and Arthur Shipe. They argued—and Goldsborough agreed—that after appointment as a trustee, Van Horn was bound to represent the miner-beneficiaries instead of the coal operators in matters coming before the board. Goldsborough said he would announce his decision Tuesday at 8 a. m.

Clear Grounds for City Park Pool

BLASTS OF DYNAMITE were the first step toward removing stumps to make room for the municipal swimming pool at City park yesterday. Shown placing explosives are dynamiters (left to right) Lloyd Chabal, Kolona; Charles Ward, 904 N. Dodge street and Linus Schnoeber, 830 E. Davenport street. The men started dynamiting yesterday and say the job will take at least three days to complete.

Six Churches Join In Vacation School For Bible Studies

The Rev. Mr. P. Hewison Pollock, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, yesterday announced the program of the inter-church vacation school.

Six churches, including the Baptist, Congregational, Methodist, First Christian, Episcopal, and Presbyterian, will participate in the school.

Classes will begin Monday and will continue for two weeks, meeting daily from Monday to Friday at 9-11:30 a.m. Vacation school children will be divided into departments according to age groups. At the close of each morning session all groups will convene in the Congregational church from 11-11:30 where pastors from the inter-church council will conduct an assembly of devotions.

Students enrolled in the school will do general work in Bible study. A staff of leaders will assist the superintendents in correlating each lesson with model art and handcraft.

Four and five-year-old children will enroll in the kindergarten department in the Congregational church. Mrs. Ernest Bright will supervise.

Mrs. E.L. Marietta will supervise the primary department which will consist of children who have finished the first three grades of school. This group will meet in the Methodist church.

Children who have finished intermediate grades will comprise the junior department. They will meet in the Presbyterian church with Mrs. John Craig, superintendent.

The Rev. Mr. Robert Crocker, new director of Methodist graduate students, will supervise the junior high department in the First Christian church.

Ad Man To Teach Journalism

William F. Reynolds, 30, Chevy Chase, Md., will join the school of journalism faculty. Prof. Philip W. Burton announced yesterday.

Reynolds will teach "Principles of Advertising" and will be advisor and consultant to the advertising staff of The Daily Iowan.

He will begin his duties in the fall, Burton said.

Reynolds graduated from Miami university in Oxford, Ohio, in 1941. He worked for a year and a half on advertising production and local display in the advertising department of the Washington Post. He also worked a year for the Irwin W. Mitchell advertising agency in Washington, D. C. and for the Dictaphone corporation in the sales promotion department.

Reynolds served with the U. S. marine corps as a second lieutenant during World War II.

Austrian ex-Chancellor Says —

Russia Seeking 'Cheap Victories'

By CLETE WILEY

The Russians will stop their expansion if they have no chance for cheap successes, Kurt von Schuschnigg told a round table discussion group in old capitol yesterday morning. It is also possible that the Russian government may change if given enough time, he said.

But, von Schuschnigg, former Austrian chancellor, said, the real danger is that the U. S. government might change first; it might stop resisting. Then Russia could win cheap victories in Austria and eastern Germany.

"Remember this," said von Schuschnigg, "The westernmost Russians are only 200 miles from the French border."

He told an audience of his visit with Hitler in February, 1938. "I'm not defending my course," he said, "I'll leave that for you to decide."

He then set up his problem in terms of Iowa as the Austrian state, with a dictator in neighboring Chicago. After four years of economic and political warfare the dictator offered to discuss opening the border.

"I couldn't deny my people even this small chance of survival," he said. So he visited Hitler with the understanding that the integrity of Austria would be respected and no political claims would be made.

Von Schuschnigg said he met Hitler's demands and ultimatum with a defiant "we are not alone."

only to have Hitler demonstrate that Britain, France and Italy could not help defend Austria.

Protesting then that he could not commit his government, von Schuschnigg saw General Keitel called in for a conference. Then followed "a very dramatic moment" while von Schuschnigg wondered whether he'd be permitted to leave at all.

Finally an agreement was signed providing "five years of peace." Hitler said, "The others won't obey me . . . I'm afraid I can't spare the world a new war . . . after five years."

Three weeks after the Austrian agreement came the German invasion. "Now you decide whether I acted right or not," von Schuschnigg appealed. "Myself, I don't think it could have been changed. Small countries have no choice without help and assistance from abroad."

Von Schuschnigg said a united states of Europe was "the only way out" in maintaining peace. Even the Germans themselves would favor such a union, he said—this in spite of the fact that they would lose a sizeable chunk of eastern Germany to the Russian sphere.

He expressed admiration for the U. S. constitution with its guarantees of freedom and said Austria's 1934 constitution had been patterned after Salazar's of Portugal. "It's not fascist . . . provides free

Behind the Dial

A mixed-up chorus of two announcers gave the KSUI-FM station break last Thursday evening. It was six o'clock and time for the "Dinner Hour" music. It was also time to mention the station call letters.

The two announcers, Ed LeClaire and Tom Habib, went to work in unison . . . "KSUI, in . . ." Both men stopped. Tom pulled out a coin and flipped it. Ed won and went on with the announcement to say "Iowa City."

Nine students on WSUI's news staff run a close race with time every day to complete an hour and one-half of news programmed from 8:15 a. m. to 9:45 p. m.

Bill Minshall starts in at 8:30 each morning. He takes all the news that has ticked off the Associated Press teletypes from the previous evening and boils it down to 2,000 words for the 8:15 a. m. newscast.

Arthur M. Barnes takes over at 9:50 a. m. He's WSUI's faculty news director and compiles ten minutes of news for the ladies at that time every morning.

Other newscasts from WSUI: news editor Norm Schrader reports Johnson County Headlines at 11 a. m.—Jack Dooley follows "Rhythm Rumbles" at 12:30 with a noon-time summary. Bob Carpenter brings local news again at 2 o'clock, Phil Kaufman reports at 3:30, Hal Jahnke at 5:30, Vern Harvey at 7:55, and Worth Johnson and Tom Habib alternating at 9:45.

When one newscaster finishes his race with the clock another moves into the newsroom and starts all over again.

With the help of one or two other members of the WSUI staff, those nine announcers revise news from all over the world, watch the clock and get the news on the air before time runs out.

That means two or three typewriters are going full blast all day long. One writer may stop to think a minute, another thumbs through the dictionary, and then both of them check the clock and go back to work.

Somehow, about two or three minutes before the deadline, the news from Timbucto to Iowa City finds itself neatly stacked in front of the microphone ready to be broadcast.

Two-time writer of the yearly university "Panacea" show, Herb Kanzell, has added a radio show to his list of accomplishments.

The series started last week and will be broadcast over WSUI each Tuesday at 7 p. m. It's called "A World of Stories."

Herb has written the new series from folk legends and tales from around the world. Last week it was a French story, "Reynard the Fox."

The radio version of the French fable was for the enjoyment of grown-ups as well as kids.

This week's script is called "The Golden Feather of Choyo San," a Japanese legend of long ago.

3-Year Conscience Hurts—But Not Much

Want ads get results, but sometimes it takes a long, long time. Mrs. Ward McDowell, 121 Central park, lost an alligator purse in Minneapolis over three years ago. Frantic about the $50.00, keys (to a jewelry store), pictures of her baby, and letters, all of which were in the purse, she put a want ad in a Minneapolis newspaper.

At the time, she was convinced a purse-snatcher had robbed her. Apparently his conscience caught up with him just this week. Or maybe he was just catching up on his reading. Anyway, Mrs. McDowell received the purse in the mail. The sender was not identified.

Returned: keys, pictures, letters, safety pin, and 8 cents. The $50? Well, how clean does a conscience need to be?
