WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall disclosed yesterday the western allies' joint strategy in the Berlin crisis is being worked out in consultation with Republican leaders in congress.

Marshall, back from a 10-day hospital check-up, said the state department has been in close touch with Britain and France on measures to cope with the Soviet blockade — and with Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) and Representative Eaton (R-N.J.) as well.

What action is decided on will come to light in due course, he told a news conference. A strong three-power approach to Moscow is under consideration, Britain's Foreign Secretary Bevin has said. Eaton, chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, confirmed that he and Senator Vandenberg, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, have been consulted at every step of the development of U.S. policy in Berlin.

"I am in absolute accord with Secretary Marshall's position," Eaton said. "We propose to stay in Berlin, period."

In another development of American relations with Russia, Marshall announced that the United States has asked Moscow for the "immediate return" of 28 naval vessels and three ice breakers which were turned over to the Russians in wartime. The request was made in January and Russia still has the ships.

Return of these vessels is one aspect of the long drawn out negotiations for settlement of a Soviet $11.2-billion lend-lease account with this country. Although Soviet Ambassador Alexander S. Panushkin has submitted a proposed new formula, Moscow and Washington are reported still far apart on terms.

Recent consultation with Republican leaders did not include John Foster Dulles, Governor Dewey's foreign policy adviser. But Marshall said the reason was his own absence at Walter Reed hospital and that Dulles has been busy.

One Tulsa Woman Killed, 3 Clubbed; 'Sadist' Suspected

TULSA (AP) — A 42-year-old divorcee was found viciously bludgeoned to death in her apartment yesterday. A few hours earlier, another woman and two teen-age girls were severely injured by a clubbing in another residence less than five blocks away.

Police theorized both attacks were committed by the same person, possibly a sadistic window-peeper.

The slain woman was Mrs. Ruth Norton, elevator operator in a downtown bank building. She had been struck repeatedly by a heavy instrument that tore great gashes in her head. Her body, nude from the waist down, was found on the blood-soaked bed of her apartment where she lived alone. It was discovered by a woman distributing telephone directories. Meanwhile, officers had been investigating an attack on Mrs. J. B. Cole, 38; her daughter, Doris, 13, and the latter's chum, Levon Gabbard, 14. A police pathologist first said Mrs. Norton had not been criminally assaulted but later reported she had been. Officers said there was no indication the other victims had been similarly attacked.

Dixie Demos Booming 'Ike'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Virginia, last state to name delegates to the Democratic national convention, last night instructed its 26-vote delegation to work for the nomination of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for president.

Georgia, earlier in the day, had similarly thrown its 28 to Eisenhower.

This brought the number of votes instructed for the general to 54, out of a total of 1,234 in the convention. Another 59 and one-half votes have been publicly announced as anti-Truman.

In addition 20 votes are pledged to Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and 11 and one-half pledged to Gov. Fielding L. Wright of Mississippi.

With 618 needed for a nomination, Mr. Truman has 286 pledged or instructed and 390 claimed for him. But many of the latter are disputed and in recent days even some of the pledged are reported as feeling they are not legally bound to the president.

Here's how the 1,234 votes are divided:

President Truman has 286 votes pledged to him; he claims 390 others. Fifty-four votes are instructed for Eisenhower; 20 are pledged to Thurmond (South Carolina); 11 and one-half are pledged to Wright (Mississippi); 58 and one-half are pledged anti-Truman, and 414 are uncommitted. President Truman claims Iowa's 20 votes.

Pool Fund Canvass Soars to $5,348; $7,151 Short of Goal

The swimming pool fund soared to $5,348.50 yesterday with the addition of $557 from the residential area drive and $63 more in the business district canvass, William Grandrath, publicity chairman of the drive, announced.

This leaves $7,151.50 yet to be collected in the $12,500 Community Dads drive to help cover the plumbing and heating contracts for the pool.

Yesterday was the first day any money had been reported from the residential area. This drive is sponsored by the PTA, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ivan Hedges. The figure reported represents only partial collections from two sections of the city.

A breakdown of the figures in the grand total shows that the business district drive has netted $1,591.50, the lodges $3,200 and the residential drive $557.

Hospital Blast Kills Woman

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — A 33-year-old woman, undergoing an operation, was fatally injured yesterday when an anesthetic exploded in an operating room of Utica Memorial hospital.

Mrs. Jennie Infusino died shortly after the blast occurred. Her surgeon and three nurses were injured.

Oneida County Coroner Gerald Jones said the cause of the blast was undetermined.

Dr. Jones said injuries suffered in the explosion caused the woman's death. He planned to conduct a post mortem examination.

Hospital Superintendent Carl P. Wright Jr., said he had no statement.

Dr. B.A. Di Iorio, the victim's surgeon, and Miss Gloria Romano, a nurse, both suffered temporary loss of hearing.

Council Delays Beer Law for Two Weeks

The city council late yesterday afternoon informally voted to delay publication of the recently amended beer ordinance for two weeks.

By postponing publication, the amendments does not take effect for two more weeks.

The decision came after an unofficial meeting of the mayor and city council with the ministerial association and other organizations.

The meeting was held at the request of the ministerial association. The ministers objected to the council's completing the three readings of the amendment to the beer ordinance at one meeting. The amendment authorized the sale of beer on Memorial Day, July 4 and election day.

In reply, Mayor Preston Koser pointed out that it is common practice for the council to pass an ordinance with three readings the same night.

In addressing the group present, Dr. L. L. Dunnington said, "The amendment was a shocking thing to myself—and to hundreds of people who have made their views known to me."

He said the action was decidedly against the interests of the people.

Dr. Dunnington said that City Attorney William Bartley was "taking advantage of a technicality" in the law which states that beer is not to be sold on July 4, but does not mention whether beer may be sold if the holiday is celebrated on July 5.

He noted that the taverns had decided to close July 5 and that public pressure probably forced them to do so.

Ralph Erbe, representing the tavern owners, said the decision against the opening on July 5 was made over a month ago, and that it was not published until this week because one or two of the owners had not agreed.

He said the intent of the tavern owners in wanting the amendment was to compete with surrounding towns. Under the state law they can sell beer on those days, he observed.

In reply to Dr. Dunnington, Bartley stated that Dr. Dunnington was legislating something into the law that was not there and his opinion was "sheer guess."

Alderman Max Hawkins said the council wants to do what the majority of the people want.

Dr. Dunnington said he represented the United Council of Church Women, the PTA, the Iowa City Women's club, the Baptist Women's association, the Johnson County Republican Women's club, the Wesleyan Service guild, the WCTU, the DAR and the King's Daughters.

Nationwide 'Cold Strike' By CIO Telephone Men Won't Stop Iowa Calls

DES MOINES (AP) — Telephone service in Iowa will not be interrupted by a nationwide "cold strike" of telephone equipment men belonging to the CIO association of communication equipment workers, an Iowa union head said yesterday.

Ernest Weaver, national union president, said at New York Wednesday night that the union would begin what he called a "cold strike" Thursday. Union members, he said, will carry placards listing their grievances in front of "every prominent telephone exchange in the country where our members are employed."

B. Massman, Des Moines, chief steward of the Iowa unit of the union, said 200 Iowa members have joined in the "cold strike" but that they will not participate in the move to carry banners in front of telephone exchanges.

'Captive' Coal Mines Face Strike Threat

Steel Firms Refuse To Sign a Contract Including Union Shop

By FRANCIS J. KELEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new coal strike threat arose yesterday. It involves 30,000 to 40,000 workers in the so-called "captive" mines owned by steel companies. They are members of John L. Lewis' united mine workers, whose 400,000 members struck earlier this year.

The trouble came to a head yesterday when 18 steel and coal companies refused to sign the new contract agreed to by a majority of the coal industry. The non-signing companies asked the national labor relations board to find the union guilty of unfair labor practices.

All the miners now are taking their annual vacation. They are due back at work next Tuesday, but Lewis' union newspaper has hinted broadly that the employees of the captive mines won't work unless the contract has been signed by then.

(A captive mine produces coal used exclusively by the industry which owns it.)

The new contract which Lewis negotiated with the majority of the industry became effective Thursday. Among its major provisions are a $1 a day increase for the miners, and a doubling of the miners welfare and pension fund royalty to 20 cents a ton of coal mined.

What the 18 steel and coal companies officially balked at was a provision for a union shop. That is an arrangement under which all the miners must join the union within a specified time.

The steel company lawyers point out that the Taft-Hartley labor law permits a union shop only if a majority of the workers vote for it in an election supervised by the national labor relations board. No such election has been held by the UMW.

U. S. Treasury Reports Eight Billion Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government took in $8,419,469,843 more than it spent in the fiscal year ending June 30.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder announced the surplus yesterday. It is almost a billion dollars higher than President Truman predicted, and is the biggest in history.

Even allowing for the $3-billion "set-aside" by congress to meet future needs of the European recovery program, the budget dwarfs the record $1,155,000,000 laid away 21 years ago.

Charge 'False Accusations'; Seek End to Albanian 'Acts'

BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA (AP)—Yugoslav Communists went on the offensive yesterday and urged Premier Stalin of Russia to rebuke the Cominform for its political attack on Marshall Tito.

(The Belgrade radio broadcast the text of a Yugoslav note to Albania demanding that the Albanian government halt "gross and offensive acts" against Yugoslavia. Unless offenders are taken to task, investigated and the Yugoslav government informed of the results, and such acts prevented, the note threatened, "the Yugoslav government do not consider themselves responsible for the consequences which might result.")

(The note repeated charges previously made in Belgrade broadcasts that Marshal Tito's pictures had been removed from public places in Albania, sales of Yugoslav newspapers prevented, and a Yugoslav bookshop closed.)

(Two other sharp protest notes which Tanjug, the Yugoslav news agency, said had been handed to the Albanian embassy in Belgrade, accused Albania of canceling all exports to Yugoslavia and stopping construction and survey work on railway lines to the Yugoslav border.)

Fifteen thousand party members in a Belgrade mass meeting by resolution sent a telegram to Stalin in which they appealed directly to the Soviet leader to erase the "false accusations" made by the Cominform.

The Cominform, a nine-nation Communist information bureau of which Yugoslavia is a member, has accused Marshall Tito and the Yugoslav Communist central committee of being too nationalistic, entertaining grandiose ambitions, betraying the precepts of Marxism and being anti-Russian.

The Yugoslav committee slapped back, declaring the Cominform charges were lies and slander.

(In effect, the Yugoslav mass meeting asked Stalin to rebuke one of the three or four most influential men in the Soviet Union, A.A. Zhdanov, chief Russian instigator of Cominform policies.)

In seeking to build a back-fire against the Cominform, the Yugoslav mass meeting urged Stalin to "do everything in your power" to bring out the "truth" of the Yugoslav-Cominform controversy. "At the same time it declared "our love towards you and the whole Soviet Union and everything you did for humanity is unlimited."

Slate Publication of Bernadotte's Peace Offers Tomorrow

LAKE SUCCESS (AP) — The United Nations said last night Count Folke Bernadotte's Palestine peace proposals would be made public tomorrow afternoon.

A UN spokesman said the 1,500-word text, submitted to the Arabs and Jews June 28 and June 29, would be given out simultaneously at Lake Success, Cairo, Tel Aviv and Rhodes, where the UN mediator has his headquarters.

Publication was decided upon, informed quarters said, as a result of publication in a Cairo newspaper of a plan purporting to be that offered by Bernadotte. A high UN source said the published plan was "not entirely correct."

It was understood here that top aides of Secretary-General Trygve Lie hoped publication of the mediator's peace suggestions might open the way for a move to extend the four-week Palestine truce which ends July 9.

Bernadotte reported to the UN yesterday he still had received no definite replies from either Jews or Arabs, despite statements from Arab leaders in the middle east that they had rejected the proposals.

A dispatch from Tel Aviv said the Israeli cabinet would meet Sunday to draft Israel's reply to the proposals. It had been reported that the Jews would reject the proposals.

Claims Communists 'Cover' NY Industry

WASHINGTON (AP)—A house committee heard an ex-FBI agent testify yesterday that Communists "blanket the key sections" of industry in New York City.

"For a long time, the Communists concentrated on heavy industries," said Theodore C. Kirkpatrick, now a New York private investigator. "But now they are organizing the light industries, particularly the so-called distributive trades which include department store workers."

As yesterday's hearing recessed pending their reopening in New York, Wednesday, Chairman Hartley (R-N.J.) of the house labor committee, recalled that witnesses already have testified on Communist infiltration of department store union locals and said:

"I have just received word that pamphlets have been distributed around New York department stores yesterday, particularly at Gimbel's, viciously attacking those who appeared to testify at these hearings.

"I want to make it perfectly clear that all witnesses appeared under subpoena and if they had failed to appear I would have cited them to congress for contempt. "Some of those who testified have been courageous, but some have been too reluctant to tell the full story."

Dewey Backs Loan To United Nations

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Governor Thomas E. Dewey yesterday extended full support to the proposed $65-million United States loan to the United Nations for construction of a UN headquarters in New York City.

The Republican presidential nominee, in a statement, said he hoped and believed the loan would be "carried out." He noted that the United States "has committed itself to advance" the necessary funds.

The loan authorization was approved by the senate in the last session but was tacked to an omnibus bill in the house and died.

Herb McKenley Better World Record

Runs :45.9 400-Meters In AAU Meet

By TED SMITS
MILWAUKEE (AP)—Herb McKenley of Jamaica, with a burst of blinding speed that carried him 15 yards ahead of the field, bettered the world record for 400 meters yesterday with a time of :45.9. The accepted record is :46.0 held by Rudolf Harbig of Germany and Grover Klemmer of the United States.

McKenley, running in the National Amateur Athletic union championships, made his sensational mark in the first heat of the senior 400 meter trials.

The race was run in staggered lanes around the Marquette university track. There was a brisk quartering wind, and there was every indication that conditions were standard, which would have paved the way to official acceptance of the almost incredible time.

Earlier this year McKenley ran 440 yards in :46.0 at Berkeley, Calif., bettering his own record of :46.3. As the 440 yards is almost three yards longer than the 400 meters, McKenley's time yesterday is consistent with his earlier mark.

"I figured that if I could do the quarter in 46 flat, I can cut one or two tenths under it in the 400 meters," said McKenley.

There was a full complement of official timers, and a photo timer on hand for the races yesterday.

McKenley won by a full 15 yards over Joe Nebolon of Washington State college, with Orval Johnson of the University of Michigan a close third.

"I had a slight headache from the heat," McKenley said, "and it isn't the best track I have seen, but I guess it was one of my lucky days."

Harrison Dillard, the smooth striding Negro hurdler from Baldwin-Wallace college who has bettered the world record for the 120 yard high hurdles, moved into the Olympic 100 meter dash picture yesterday.

Dillard won his sprint heat in the championships in the brilliant time of :10.5, defeating Don Anderson of the University of California by two yards.

Dillard also won his first heat of the 110 meter hurdles, with the good time of :14.1.

Lloyd La Beach, the Panama speedster, running in a 200 meter trial heat around a curve, floated home in :20.9, to tie the American record for this race.

Pieretti Hurls 6-Hitter; Chisox Nip Tigers, 5-2

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox thrived on Dizzy Trout with a three-run fifth to defeat Detroit, 5-2, before 15,833 persons here last night. ### Cubs Defeat Pirates; Buc Errors Costly

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Chicago Cubs were handed a 5-1 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates last night, the Cubs committing four errors—three of them by Third Baseman Frankie Gustine. Bob Chesnes, rookie pitcher, allowed only four hits to lose his second game against three victories.

Giants Dump Bums, 6-4; Brooklyn Falls to Cellar

Stymie Tries for Record

STANTON, DEL. (AP)—Stymie, the one-time $1,500 plater with designs on being the first "millionaire" thoroughbred, can pass the $900,000 mark today at Delaware Park.

The seven-year-old chestnut from Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' barns has been named, along with seven others, for the $25,000 added Sussex handicap.

If Stymie finishes the end of the mile and one-quarter on the front end and all of the overnight entries start, he'll pick up $21,500. That tacked on to his current earnings of $863,385 would run his bank roll to $904,885.

Tebbetts Talkative — In Dugout Chatter

—'Bobo' Frustrated
By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—A hot day at the stadium: The Yankees and Boston Red Sox were getting ready to play the second game of their series, and the fans were arriving in a steady stream. They mopped their brows with damp handkerchiefs and their coats hung limply and carelessly over their arms as they picked their way to their seats to blend with the growing field of white shirts.

Down in the Red Sox dugout, shielded from the trace of a breeze it was stifling and even the water cooler produced beads of sweat. Most of the Sox were out on the field, but Birdie Tebbetts was taking it easy in the shade as he faced a tough afternoon behind the plate.

"I talk to the batters a lot," Birdie was saying. "A hitter has to concentrate up there, and some of them can be disconcerted by conversation."

"I remember when I first came up and Joe DiMaggio came to bat the first time. I said 'hello, Joe,' but he ignored me. The next time I said 'hello, Joe,' again. Again he said nothing, so I stepped out to the side and pretended I was answering myself. 'Why, hello Birdie,' I said, 'how to you feel today?'"

"Then I stepped back behind the bat and answered myself, saying, 'I feel fine, Joe, thanks.' Joe finally turned and said, 'all right, hello Birdie. Now you so and so, will you shut up?'"

Ted Williams hurried over to the bench in that peculiar, loose-jointed, jiggling way of his and picked up a bat.

"This is yours, Birdie," he said. "Guess I better not use it."

"Go ahead," Birdie urged. "I've gone one for 16 with it, so it's no good anyway."

Williams hustled out behind the batting cage where he watched every pitch and swung his bat with it in a sort of synthetic batting practice. Pretty soon the reporters eased up around him and he laughed and kidded with them until it was his turn to hit.

As he went into the cage, a ripple of excitement and applause went through the stands, and the players and reporters near the cage crowded closer to watch him in something resembling awe.

Joe McCarthy entered the Sox dugout late, and after sitting down for a spell to survey the field, called Tebbetts aside and the two were in earnest conversation for several minutes.

Over in the Yankee dugout, shielded from the two o'clock sun, it was somewhat cooler, and Bucky Harris sat comfortably, calm and affable as always. A bulky, perspiring figure down the bench caught your eye and you had to look twice as you knew Bobo Newsom wasn't with the Yankees now.

It was Bobo, all right, togged in a Yankee uniform and melting drop by drop after finishing a workout.

"No, I'm not signed by anybody," the garrulous guy said. "I've got several prospects, but I'm not in any hurry. Say isn't it hot? I lost 15 3-4 pounds pitching on a day like this. Got it back overnight, though."

The heat lay in shimmering folds over the field and the Yankees finally struggled in from their workout, their heavy shirts clinging clammy as they bent over the water cooler. Bobo Newsom hoisted his vast bulk from the bench and disappeared into the dugout tunnel, and you felt a little sorry for the guy, as you knew that, despite his bold words, he was eating his heart out to be with some club.

Henry Cotton Wins Third British Open; U. S. Entries Flop

MUIRFIELD, SCOTLAND (AP)—Henry Cotton coasted to his third British Open golf championship by a comfortable five-stroke margin yesterday, 14 years after he first rocketed to international fame in 1934 by ending American domination of the event.

Now 41, the most celebrated of British pros hung up a 284 score, just one stroke off the record for the 72-hole medal play championship, first set by American Gene Sarazen in 1932.

An American challenge that originally included 13 golfers flopped like a wet sock on a locker room floor.

Best of the lot was Johnny "hard luck" Bull, Phoenix, Ariz., pro and airline operator. Tall, dark and handsome Johnny scratched out a 291. It gave him a tie for seventh place among the 36 who were permitted to play the final rounds.

Fred Daly, a red faced Ulsterman who edged Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, by one stroke to win the title last year, finished second with a 289.

Stranahan, the American youth who holds the British Amateur championship, finished in a four-way tie for 23rd place with a score of 297—the poorest of the three amateurs who qualified for the finals.

The other two amateurs, Capt. Ed Kingsley, former Utah champ who now is stationed in Germany, and Mario Gonzalez, tall Brazilian, tied with 293's.

The rest included: Ed Kingsley, Utah, —293; Mario Gonzalez, Brazil, —293; Frank Stranahan, Toledo, O., —297; Claude Harmon, Mamaroneck, N. Y., —298.

Arthur Clark, Huntington, W. Va., —301; Lawson Little, Cleveland —302; Bobby Cruickshank, Virginia, —302.

The new champion, who also won in 1934 at Sandwich, England, and in 1937 at Carnoustie, Scotland, said he ate well in the United States where the food "built me up."

"Over in America," he said, "they're putting more emphasis on really hitting the ball instead of just on the swing. I tried it and I'm hitting the ball harder than I ever did."

Cotton's victory was worth 150 pounds ($600) in prize money.

Bob Rossie KO's Don Cady in 2nd

By Alan Maver

Bob Rossie, jr., Iowa City's state AAU welterweight champion spotted Don Cady of Des Moines 13 pounds and then went on to knock out his opponent in 1:16 of the second round.

The bout between Rossie and the state light-heavyweight champion was the feature fight on a Des Moines card.

Rossie landed a smashing right at the close of the first round and obviously hurt Cady. The Iowa City youth went out for the kill in the second round and soon pounded his foe into submission. A hard right was the finishing punch.

Reds Whip Cards, 7-3; Redbirds Err 6 Times

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds clubbed three homers last night as they defeated the erring St. Louis Cardinals, 7-3, tumbling the Red Birds to their fourth straight loss. The Cardinals committed six errors. Danny Litwhiler, Johnny Wyrostek and Grady Hatton homered for the Reds. Stan Musial connected for a circuit blow for St. Louis.

Gordon's Homers Give Cleveland 8-6 Triumph

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Two home runs by Joe Gordon, each with manager Lou Boudreau on base, enabled the Cleveland Indians to take an 8 to 6 slugfest from the St. Louis Browns last night and retain their slender hold on first place.

The big audience, partial to Bromwich, sat in almost stunned amazement as the tall American from Hollywood, Calif., suddenly bringing his game to its peak, reeled off the last two games without loss of a point. He wound it up with two blazing service aces which Bromwich didn't even try to reach.

The new champion, a willful youngster, turned the crowd against him by tossing away the second set in too obvious a manner. He didn't even make the motions of trying and it looked pretty silly.

He explained later that he felt he needed the rest.

Except for the second set, it was a great match in every sense of the word, filled with spectacular rallies and dramatic moments. Falkenburg had to stave off two set points before winning the opener, and it didn't seem possible he could pull the same miracle in the last set after Bromwich had him on the run for a stretch of 17 games.

The tense ninth game proved the turning point. There, with defeat looking him in the eye, Bob grimly whaled into Bromwich's service and, after beating off three match points, finally broke through the Aussies' delivery for the first time in two sets.

After that, there was no stopping the kid. He whanged over his own serve with the loss of two points to pull abreast at 5-5, and then played superbly to race through the next eight points and tie down the championship won last year by Jack Kramer, now a pro.

With one title in the bag, America is certain to get another when Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Doris Hart of Miami, Fla., meet today in the women's final.

An all-American final also was assured in the women's doubles when both Wightman cup pairs came through in yesterday's semifinals.

Miss Hart and Mrs. Patricia Canning Todd, the defending champs, beat out Britain's Mrs. Jean Nicoll Bostock and Mrs. Mollie Blair, 6-4, 8-6. Miss Brough and Mrs. DuPont ousted another American team, Barbara Scofield of San Francisco and Mrs. Helen Petersen Ribbany of Boston, 7-5, 6-0.

Gardner Mulloy of Miami and Tom Brown of San Francisco battled their way into the men's doubles final with a hard fought victory over Lennart Bergelin of Sweden and Jack Harper of Australia, 1-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, 8-6.

They met Bromwich and his young Australian partner, Frank Sedgeman, in the final today and it should be a stand-off.

FALKENBURG'S FINESSE

Bears Upset Huskies In Olympic Rowing

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—California's Golden Bears provided the biggest surprise of the constantly surprising Olympic rowing tryout series yesterday by handing Washington's favored crew, its first defeat of the season in the semi-final heat.

The victory, which started virtually everyone except the California oarsmen and coach Ky Ebright, sent the Golden Bears into today's final heat along with Princeton, another surprise winner, and Harvard.

Rallies To Nip Aussie Star

By GAYLE TALBOT

LONDON (AP)—Bob Falkenburg, as game a young tennis battler as ever came out of California, got off the floor yesterday to outslug Jack Bromwich of Australia in a stirring five-set final of the Wimbledon men's singles championship.

Trailing at 3-5 in the deciding set, the 22-year-old American was three times within a point of defeat before he won out over the veteran Aussie by scores of 7-5, 0-6, 6-2, 3-6, 7-5, before a packed crowd of 15,000.

The big audience, partial to Bromwich, sat in almost stunned amazement as the tall American from Hollywood, Calif., suddenly bringing his game to its peak, reeled off the last two games without loss of a point. He wound it up with two blazing service aces which Bromwich didn't even try to reach.

He explained later that he felt he needed the rest.

Except for the second set, it was a great match in every sense of the word, filled with spectacular rallies and dramatic moments. Falkenburg had to stave off two set points before winning the opener, and it didn't seem possible he could pull the same miracle in the last set after Bromwich had him on the run for a stretch of 17 games.

The tense ninth game proved the turning point. There, with defeat looking him in the eye, Bob grimly whaled into Bromwich's service and, after beating off three match points, finally broke through the Aussies' delivery for the first time in two sets.

After that, there was no stopping the kid. He whanged over his own serve with the loss of two points to pull abreast at 5-5, and then played superbly to race through the next eight points and tie down the championship won last year by Jack Kramer, now a pro.

With one title in the bag, America is certain to get another when Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Doris Hart of Miami, Fla., meet today in the women's final.

An all-American final also was assured in the women's doubles when both Wightman cup pairs came through in yesterday's semifinals.

Miss Hart and Mrs. Patricia Canning Todd, the defending champs, beat out Britain's Mrs. Jean Nicoll Bostock and Mrs. Mollie Blair, 6-4, 8-6. Miss Brough and Mrs. DuPont ousted another American team, Barbara Scofield of San Francisco and Mrs. Helen Petersen Ribbany of Boston, 7-5, 6-0.

Gardner Mulloy of Miami and Tom Brown of San Francisco battled their way into the men's doubles final with a hard fought victory over Lennart Bergelin of Sweden and Jack Harper of Australia, 1-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, 8-6.

They met Bromwich and his young Australian partner, Frank Sedgeman, in the final today and it should be a stand-off.

Lou Brissie Clips Boston on 6-Hitter

BOSTON (AP)—Lefty Lou Brissie hurled an artistic six hitter to give the Philadelphia Athletics a 4-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox last night before a packed 33,989 crowd. It was the Mackmen's ninth triumph in their last 10 starts and their fourth in a row at Fenway park this season.

Dick Price Drops Bud Ward From Western Amateur Meet

WICHITA, KAN. (AP)—Unhealed Richard (Dick) Price of Wichita sneaked in a 15-foot putt on the 17th hole for a three and one victory over defending Champion Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash., in third-round play of the Western amateur golf tournament yesterday.

The 32-year-old Price, 1940 Kansas amateur champion, played his home course in even par. National amateur Champion Robert (Skee) Riegel of Glendale, Calif., outlasted young E. J. Rogers, Jr., of Oklahoma City, one up in 20 holes in the morning round, then breezed past Tom Stephenson of Kansas City 5 and 4.

Lawrence Glosser, Oklahoma City, blazed into the quarterfinals with easy victories over two veteran linksmen.

Glosser, a 22-year-old war veteran and former Oklahoma A. and M. player, knocked off Robert (Bob) Willis, of Kansas City, 6 and 5, in the afternoon round after having scored a 5 and 4 win over veteran John Kraft, Denver, Colo., earlier.

A dozen players cracked par in the first round Thursday, but 15 went over Meadowbrook Country club's soaked fairways and heavy greens under par figures of 35-36-71 yesterday.

Four of golf's brightest stars reached the 36-hole mark in 138, four shots under par and just one stroke off Harrison's pace.

They were serious Jim Turnesa, who matched Dutch's 67 for one of the tournaments two finest rounds thus far: South Africa's Bobby Locke, who added a 68 to his first round 70; home pro Melvin Chick Harbert with two 69's and Western Open Champ Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C. with 68-70.

National Open and PGA champion Ben Hogan dropped six strokes behind with a 34-39-73 for a 143 total.

A pair of southerners shared the 139 bracket as Stewart "Skip" Alexander of Lexington, N. C., put a 68 on top of his first round 71 and Elmer Reed, Atlanta airline pilot, combined a 70 and 69.

24-year-old Gene Dahlbender, southern amateur champ, also from Atlanta, paced the amateurs with 68-72-140 where he was tied with the veteran Jay Laffoon of St. Andrews, Ill.

Two more of Thursday's leaders went over par.

Marly Furgol took 73 for 141 and oldtime Joe Kirkwood, 51-year-old Philadelphia trick shot star, skied to 77 in the rain for 145.

Gene Sarazen, the 46-year-old gentleman farmer from Germantown, N. Y., who had 69 the first day, followed it up with 73 for a 142 total.

Braves Rip Phils, 7-3; Elliot Slams Home Run

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Boston Braves mixed 12 hits with four expensive errors and defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 7-3, in the first game of the series last night. Bob Elliot hit his seventh home run of the season in the first inning with one on.

County GOP Lauds Morrison, Condemns Holiday Beer Sale

BY CAROL THURNAU

Seconding the verbal pat on the back of Congressman Thomas E. Martin, Johnson county Republicans yesterday unanimously passed a resolution congratulating Atty. William Morrison for his "independence and leadership" at the GOP national convention.

Congressman Martin praised Morrison, saying he had done a "magnificent job" as delegate-at-large at the Philadelphia sessions.

Morrison, keynote speaker at the GOP county convention yesterday, directed a blast at Harrison Spangler, Cedar Rapids national committeeman from Iowa, and declaring that the "time has come for a change as far as the national committee in the state of Iowa is concerned."

Suggesting that a national committeeman should be a staunch backer of the party ticket in this election year, Morrison implied that Spangler is not in sympathy with the Dewey cause.

Morrison said Spangler went to extremes to prevent Dewey's nomination at the convention.

The county convention yesterday was loaded with "political dynamite" as Chairman H. J. Dane put it.

Another resolution condemned the action of the Iowa City council Monday night in amending the municipal code in order to permit the sale of beer on holidays and election days.

The resolution requested that "the city council reverse its decision in the matter at the first possible moment."

The resolution also protested the manner in which the council rushed the decision through at Monday night's meeting, overstepping established council procedures.

Dr. L. L. Dunnington expressed the belief that the council decision should be revoked immediately.

Dr. Dunnington said citizens had kept the phones of Iowa City ministers ringing urging that the new ordinance allowing beer sale on special days be revoked.

Democratic county supervisors also were hit in another of the resolutions passed yesterday.

Republicans criticized the poor condition of the roads which existed around Iowa City and insisted that "farmers are entitled to better roads."

They pledged that roads will be put in proper condition if Republican candidates for supervisors are elected.

Other resolutions were passed approving the Dewey-Warren ticket "with enthusiasm," commending the voters for electing Sen. George A. Wilson and Rep. Thomas E. Martin and predicting their re-election in November and endorsing the complete county Republican ticket.

In a meeting after the convention, the entire list of county central committee officers was re-elected, with Dane as chairman and Mrs. Mamie Hunter as co-chairman.

Attorneys A. C. Cahill and H. J. Ries were elected district judges.

Speech Department To Add Two Men For Fall Semester

Two new faculty members will join the SUI speech department September 1, Pres. Virgil M. Hancher announced yesterday.

They are Prof. Duane Caryl Spriestersbach and Prof. Hugh F. Seabury.

Spriestersbach received his M. A. degree at SUI in 1940, and his Ph. D. here this year. He received a B. Ed. degree from Winona State Teachers college at Winona, Minn., in 1939.

From 1942 to 1946 he served in the United States army as personnel consultant. Following his army service he was assistant director of personnel relations for the Pacific Portland Cement company, before returning to SUI in 1947.

Spriestersbach served as a speech instructor from 1940 to 1941. Since last year he has served as a supervisory clinician and a research assistant in the speech clinic.

He is a member of Sigma Xi and the American Speech and Hearing association. He is married and has one child.

Seabury has been teaching on high school and college level for 20 years. He received his B. A. degree from Iowa State Teachers college in 1928, and taught speech and English in the high schools of Maquoketa, Fort Dodge and Council Bluffs.

Since 1937, Seabury has been associated with State Teachers college, San Marcos, Texas, as head of the department of speech.

He is married and a member of Delta Sigma Rho, national honorary in forensics; Theta Alpha Phi, national education fraternity for men and women, and Pi Kappa Delta, national honorary in forensics.

Files for Divorce, Asks for Furniture

Lillian Bannon filed suit for divorce in Johnson county district court yesterday against Patrick P. Bannon, 219 1/2 S. Linn street.

Mrs. Bannon charged cruel and inhuman treatment. She asked for the household furniture, and that the defendant be ordered to pay the mortgage indebtedness on it.

The plaintiff further asked for permission to resume her former name of Gerard and for such alimony and relief as the court may find just.

Critics En Masse Constructive Comment Asked on Play

Prof. E.C. Mabie wants audiences to "constructively" criticize "Threshold of Pain," first in this summer's series of experimental plays, he said.

The play, written by graduate student George L. Williams, opens Monday at 8 p.m. in Macbride hall, Mabie said yesterday.

A limited number of people will be admitted to each performance. Students and others interested may call at 8A Schaeffer hall for admission slips.

The admission slips carry the request that within a week following the presentation, playgoers write a statement of constructive suggestions for the playwright. Suggestions should deal with the play, its plot, characters, ideas and moods, said Mabie.

Opstad Still Waiting For Board's Reply On Finkbine Tuition

City School Superintendent Iver A. Opstad said yesterday he is still awaiting a reply to his letter of last month to the state board of education, in which he asked tuition for Finkbine children who attended city schools.

Opstad said he was waiting for an official reply from the state board before filing claims for tuition.

However, if a reply is not forthcoming, he said he would press claims.

Opstad declined to comment on how long he would wait before taking the initiative, or with whom he would file under such circumstances.

He also declined to comment on whether he would act to obtain tuition for providing schooling for children of veterans living on state property within city limits.

Opstad said he hopes to take the whole matter up July 14 at the next meeting of the city board.

Last Rites Today For Samuel Elbert

Funeral services for Samuel Joseph Elbert, 18, 421 Bowers street, will be held at 9 a. m. today at St. Patrick's church.

Elbert drowned in the university swimming pool at the field house Thursday night.

A former university student, he was employed at the Burkett-Rhinehart Motor company.

Elbert is survived by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Elbert, 421 Bowers street; a sister, Mrs. Joe H. Byrd, 217 Stadium park, and two brothers, Russel F., Chicago, and Donald G., Osage.

Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

No inquest will be held, Acting County Coroner George D. Callahan said yesterday.

To Hold Sunday Party For Catholic Sisters

Priests of the Catholic Student center will have an open house party for the sisters of the city and those attending summer school, Sunday from 2 to 4 p. m., the Rev. Leonard Brugman announced yesterday.

Among the sisters enrolled at the university this summer are representatives of the sisters of Mercy, Cedar Rapids; sister of Charity, Dubuque; Visitation sisters, Dubuque; Franciscan sisters, Clinton; Humility of Mary sisters, Ottumwa and sisters of St. Joseph, Erie, Pa.

Methodist Student Group To Attend Youth Camp

The Rev. Mr. Robert B. Crocker, Methodist student director, and nine members of his high school group will attend the youth camp at Clearlake, July 4-10.

The Rev. Mr. Crocker will be a camp counselor. Among the Methodist students planning to attend are Jean Ewers, Joan Ewers, Sylvia Bliss, Patricia Price, Sydney Opstad, Sue Sutherland, Sandra Meardon, Charles Walker, and Jim Africa.

Marshall Greets Venezuela's President

MEETING AT THE PAN AMERICAN UNION, Secretary of State George C. Marshall (left) greets President Romulo Gallegos of Venezuela at a luncheon. Before going to the luncheon, Marshall told newsmen that the Western Allies' joint strategy in the Berlin crisis is being worked out in consultation with Republican leaders in congress. Marshall has undergone a check-up in hospital for the past 10 days.

Asks Foreclosure Against Unpaid Bill

A $1,000 suit was filed yesterday by Robert E. Carvutto, owner of Carvutto Furnace and Supply company, against Edward G. and Margaret Bushman, 729 E. Jefferson street.

Carvutto asked the Johnson county district court for a foreclosure of a mechanic's lien which the plaintiff filed last January 2.

Carvutto said his company installed a furnace and an automatic hot water heater in the Bushman home last fall. He said $1,000 was yet unpaid on the $1,127.10 bill.

Final Rites Monday For Robert Davis, Heart Attack Victim

Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. Monday at St. Mary's church for Robert Waldo Davis, 26, 626 Fourth avenue.

Davis died suddenly of a heart attack Thursday between 11 and 12 p. m. He was in his car on Rochester road.

A World War II veteran who served four years, Davis was a member of Phi Theta Pi, national commercial fraternity, and the Knights of Columbus.

He was a student at the Iowa City commercial college.

Davis is survived by his parents, Mr and Mrs. E.J. Soens, Iowa City.

Also surviving are two sisters and one brother, Mrs. Jack Rohner, Mrs. James Knowles, and Lawrence Soens, all of Iowa City.

The rosary will be said tomorrow at 7 p. m. at the Hohenschuh mortuary.

Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

To Hold Pie Social

The Blue Ribbon Winners 4-H club is sponsoring a pie social in the West Branch town hall, July 7, at 8 p. m. Proceeds will be donated to the Iowa City swimming pool fund.

Satisfied With Convention

Youndahl Says Republicans Nominated 'According to Democratic Processes'

It was an interesting convention, said Minnesota's Governor Luther Youngdahl yesterday. He said the Republican nominations last week had been conducted "according to democratic processes," so he was satisfied with the results.

Youngdahl flew to Iowa City yesterday afternoon to speak about "Morality in Government," the fourth lecture in SUI's summer series. As he stepped from a gleaming national guard Navion he asked "How hot is it down here? It was almost 90 in Minneapolis and it doesn't seem any cooler here."

Youngdahl was impressed with the air view of Iowa's football field and tried a little cautious scouting of the team's prospects for next fall.

Minnesota's state executive has been doing a lot of traveling lately. First there was the governor's conference a couple of weeks ago, then last week the Republican national convention.

Youngdahl thought that Minnesota's former Governor Stassen would now go into business or education in his home state of Minnesota.

Asked if he thought the Mundt bill was constitutional and if it would outlaw Communism, the stocky governor didn't answer directly. (Stassen in a recent radio debate held that the law would outlaw Communism.)

"The answer to Communism is to give the people something better," said Youngdahl. He thought legislation should be unnecessary "except in areas of national security." The atomic plant at Oak Ridge would be an example of a security area, he said.

The governor commented on Minnesota's labor legislation begun while Stassen was state executive. He said the laws gave Minnesota a "period of calm industrial relations." "They were less stringent than the Taft-Hartley laws," he said, "but the Taft-Hartley laws gain by having a uniform administration for the whole country."

Towner Announces Opening of Local Restaurant Today

"The Uptowner" new Iowa City restaurant at 24 S. Clinton street, will open at 5 p. m. today, A. L. Towner, owner, announced yesterday.

John Bolton, formerly of New Orleans, will manage the restaurant, whose personnel will include 30 persons.

The dining room will accommodate 85 persons at tables, booths or counters. A private dining room with seating capacity of 65 is being built on second floor and will be completed in about 60 days, Towner said.

Forming a background for the green, ivory, and black color scheme are photo murals of campus scenes of each of the Big Nine universities. Along the south side of the restaurant runs a 38 ft. counter of formica plastic. The back bar is of stainless steel against a wall of large green leaves on an ivory background.

White said he would "appreciate any suggestions from people of Johnson county. We should do our best to see that the interests of Johnson county are well represented at the national convention."

After the convention the county central committee named E.W. Lucas, attorney, to be the new county chairman. Jackson declined the nomination. Democrats observed that "the county Demo-

Outdoor Advertising To Boost Iowa City

Iowa City is going to be more easily recognized if a project undertaken by the Chamber of Commerce works as expected.

According to the chamber's news bulletin, this year's Chamber budget includes $700 to develop "a long range program to better identify our community."

This will be accomplished "through well placed outdoor advertising signs."

Irving Weber was named chairman of the Community Advertising committee which will handle the project. Other members of the committee have not yet been named.

Fireworks Cancelled

University hospitals will have no fireworks display July 4, the superintendent's office announced yesterday.

In previous years the display attracted many Iowa Citizens, but the celebration was cancelled this year because of the City park display.

Johnson County Democrats United In Truman Defense

By GEORGE WATSON

None of the dissension of their national organization was evident at the Democrats' county convention yesterday in the Johnson county district court room.

In precise, rapid-fire order, the party adopted resolutions, named committees, and delegates to three conventions.

The whole convention took less than one hour, beginning at 10:15 a. m.

The Democrats expressed in no uncertain terms that they were not apologizing for Harry Truman. Jack C. White, county attorney and delegate to the national convention in Philadelphia, July 12, said, "For once the Democrats didn't fight."

The earlier county convention didn't go quite so smoothly. A block of delegates expressed vehement opposition to Truman.

W.J. Jackson, attorney, for 10 years the county chairman, opened the meeting with a speech declaring "we must constantly be on the alert against those who would undermine our government."

E.L. O'Connor, "keynoter" of the convention, accused the Republicans of "the same old thing, a reshuffle of 1944."

"When will the Republicans learn that it takes more than ardent criticism to win a campaign?" he asked in regard to the GOP national convention in Philadelphia last week.

He praised the bi-partisan policy of the two parties on foreign affairs, and then sneered at Dewey's statements last week that Dewey first thought of some of the ideas in the foreign policy plank.

Later, when O'Connor was not speaking as a "keynoter" but as one providing some "campaign fuel," he said, "Even if Harry Truman isn't a second Franklin Roosevelt, he has been smart enough to guide the ship of state clear of the rocks of depression."

He said post-war periods were most likely to be periods of economic slump, but said the U.S. is escaping one now under the Democrats whereas it didn't under the GOP administrations of the thirties.

White said he would "appreciate any suggestions from people of Johnson county. We should do our best to see that the interests of Johnson county are well represented at the national convention."

After the convention the county central committee named E.W. Lucas, attorney, to be the new county chairman. Jackson declined the nomination. Democrats observed that "the county Demo-

Registration Totals 5,003

A total of 5,003 students are enrolled for SUI's 1948 summer session, according to figures released by President Virgil M. Hancher yesterday.

The number is 90 short of the final total for the 1947 summer session, Hancher said.

Of the students registered, 3,781 are men and 1,222 are women. Veteran students registered totaled 3,014, including 78 women veterans.

Figures for the 1947 summer session were 3,799 men, 1,294 women, 3,220 veterans, including 104 women veterans.

Figures for the 1948 session in different colleges are: commerce, 482 men, 31 women; dentistry, 2 men; engineering, 260 men, 1 woman; graduate, 1516 men, 502 women; law, 306 men, 3 women; liberal arts, 1165 men, 478 women; nursing, 202 women; pharmacy, 50 men, 5 women.

Miss Servheen Resigns As Student Counselor

Lorraine Servheen has resigned as counselor of the Lutheran student association, it was announced yesterday. Her resignation becomes effective August 15.

Fern Bohlen of Nebraska will succeed Miss Servheen. After attending the August convention of Lutheran student leaders, Miss Bohlen will begin her duties in Iowa City.

Miss Servheen plans to enroll in the Corcoran school of art in Washington, D.C. this fall. She has been counselor here for four years.

Vets May Apply For Cars Until June 1949

The deadline for application by disabled World War II veterans for free automobiles has been extended to June 30, 1949, William J. Doherty, officer in charge of the local veterans administration office, said yesterday.

World War II veterans who, as a result of their service, lost the use of one or both legs at or above the ankle are eligible for the vehicles, Doherty said.

Have a Good Time, But —

This is a story of an incurable ailment. Death. It can be prevented—but no insurance policy, no weeping wife or child, no funeral eulogy can cure it.

And death is close. It's as near as the accelerator under your foot. It can be just below you off the diving board, or just beyond the end of your fishing pole. Death isn't something remote.

Many of us start a holiday vacation today. Many of us won't finish it. For others, it will not be a vacation to remember happily, but a time to try to forget—and forgetting will be hard. For many of us, or our friends or relatives, will be stricken with this incurable ailment.

We might be able to prevent it, of course. Safety is the best preventative. After the accident, when the ambulance has driven away from a bloodstained wreck, there's not much use in wishing you'd been going slower when that car swerved in front of you. When the doctor looks at you and shakes his head it's no help to wish you'd watched your son closer while he was swimming.

Or maybe you will have no regrets. Maybe your wife and son will have them—maybe you'll be dead.

We hope you enjoy your holiday. We hope you'll be able to look back on it yourself and remember what a good time you had. You have a better chance of doing this if you PLAY SAFE!

Streets, Streets, Everywhere —

Some Iowa City streets can run all four directions at the same time—then wind across themselves—all in a matter of nine blocks.

This is a pretty baffling situation. The streets themselves probably aren't as wayward as this sounds; it's just that their markers are misleading.

Take a sample of the city's streets: six streets running east from the campus. Using Iowa avenue as home base, take two streets to the south, Washington and College, and two streets to the north, Jefferson and Market. Throw in Bowery street for good measure.

This will give you 53 corners. Out of these, only 27 are correctly marked. That means a stranger has nearly a 50-50 chance of going wrong.

College street is the worst offender, as this box score shows.

Street	O.K.	Missing	Incorrect
College Street	2	5	2
Washington Street	7	2	—
Iowa Avenue	3	4	2
Jefferson Street	6	3	—
Market Street	5	1	3
Bowery Street	4	2	2
	27	17	9

This is a study over only a part of Iowa City. But it suggests how confusing the street markings can be to anyone attempting to locate many addresses.

Imagine yourself getting to Gilbert and Market streets, only to find them identical. Johnson street runs right up Gilbert in another spot; while Gilbert runs across itself at the same time.

Johnson and Lucas both run on the same path with Bowery—and the marker at College and Summit—well, you figure it out. If you can't, just go one block west to Governor street where there won't be any confusing markers—no marker at all.

There's probably no way to keep vandals from literally re-shuffling the Iowa City streets. But an occasional check on the condition of street signs might help eliminate the confusion. As it is, the misleading street markers have been that way for several months.

Besides providing an accurate means of locating addresses (a boon to the out-of-towner) the street markers are indicative of the city's general condition. A jumbled maze of streets is nothing to be proud of.

But Don't Go Near the Water

McBride's Hall — About Trikes and Tykes

By BILL McBRIDE

There is a stretch of no-man's-land between East hall and my house that is going to be my undoing one of these days.

The area is two blocks of perfectly normal sidewalk, or at least it would appear to be normal. It is a veritable tricycle speedway, however, and I shudder to think of navigating it, especially at lunch time.

If it were a simple matter of dodging everyday tricycle traffic, I think I could handle it, but it goes farther than that.

There are five little boys who conspire to ambush unsuspecting pedestrians. If you've never been ambushed by a boy on a tricycle, you've never really known terror.

They lurk behind bushes at the side of the walk with their engines idling, and wait until I get beyond them about 10 yards. Then out they come with a roar of make-believe exhausts and clashing gears. They skim down the walk headed right for me in a V formation so that I can't dodge to either side.

Their mission isn't to hit me, but rather to see how close they can come. Although I know their intentions, I always worry about their depth perception. Guess I'll have to look for another way to walk home, but I hate to admit that a squadron of tricycle pilots forced me to it.

Kids often get in our hair, and we feel like klobbering them once in awhile, but they're really not so bad. When you begin to feel that maybe they aren't so important and lose patience with them (even if they do belong to your neighbors) take a walk over to the children's hospital, and you'll never have a harsh word for a child again.

Some of the cases over there are so pathetic that you would give your right arm if it would help. You see the little tykes with only one leg, or with both legs in braces when they should be out playing cops and robbers or climbing apple trees. You see them wide-eyed and half afraid. They don't quite understand what it's all about, but their parents have told them they must be brave, and they give it all they've got, but sometimes that isn't enough and the tears flow.

There's one little fellow over there who isn't crippled, and has taken it upon himself to act as a sort of combination chaplain and good humor man.

A friend of mine told me that he is a very business-like child, about 8-years-old with bright eyes and an elfish nose. He wears a Wee Willie Winkie gown, as most of the patients do, and to top off his outfit, a long stocking cap drops down his back making him look like something from a fairy tale.

He carries a small brief case and goes from child to child trying to buck them up, telling them that there really isn't anything to be afraid of. After all, the doctors are there to help them, aren't they?

When he comes to a particularly sad little boy or girl huddled up in the corner of a big lonely bench beside a consulting room, he opens his brief case and rummages around until he finds a comic book. This he gives to his patient to read. If the patient is too young to read, the little elf tells the story himself and points out the pictures.

Someplace there should be a medal and a gallon of ice cream for that little Samaritan.

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

On Finding Any Answer

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

I am forced to confess I do not have the slightest idea of how to solve the problem at Berlin. This is undoubtedly a sign of weakness. It is almost an article of faith with some of contemporaries that there is always a solution. They are full of suggestions. They call for diplomatic protest against the Russian blockade, for appeals to the United Nations, for mounting military guards on food trains, for outright measure of force, etc. I admire the optimism underlying these proposals, but that does not shake my conviction that none of them can do any lasting good. For I find I do not at all believe that every problem is capable of solution. It seems to me perfectly feasible to get into a mess from which there can be no extrication. Sometimes you have to face it, and say frankly: "Brother, this is one to which there is no answer."

If you're going to deal in answers, you have to start way back, when answers are still possible, or you have to start to look way ahead, to a time when answers may again be possible. Right now, in Berlin, it seems to me there is no answer, no good or lasting one anyway. In fact, one of the things that gets us into messes in foreign affairs is the seductive feeling that there will always be an answer, that no matter what course we take, no matter what adventures we light-heartedly embark upon, we shall always be able to come up with a clever solution when fate, in one of her stickier moods, challenges us.

I don't believe it. I think that if you try hard enough, if you load your pockets with lead, and dive out on the crest of Niagara Falls, you may very well find yourself in a spot from which no columnist, or editorial writer, either, can rescue you.

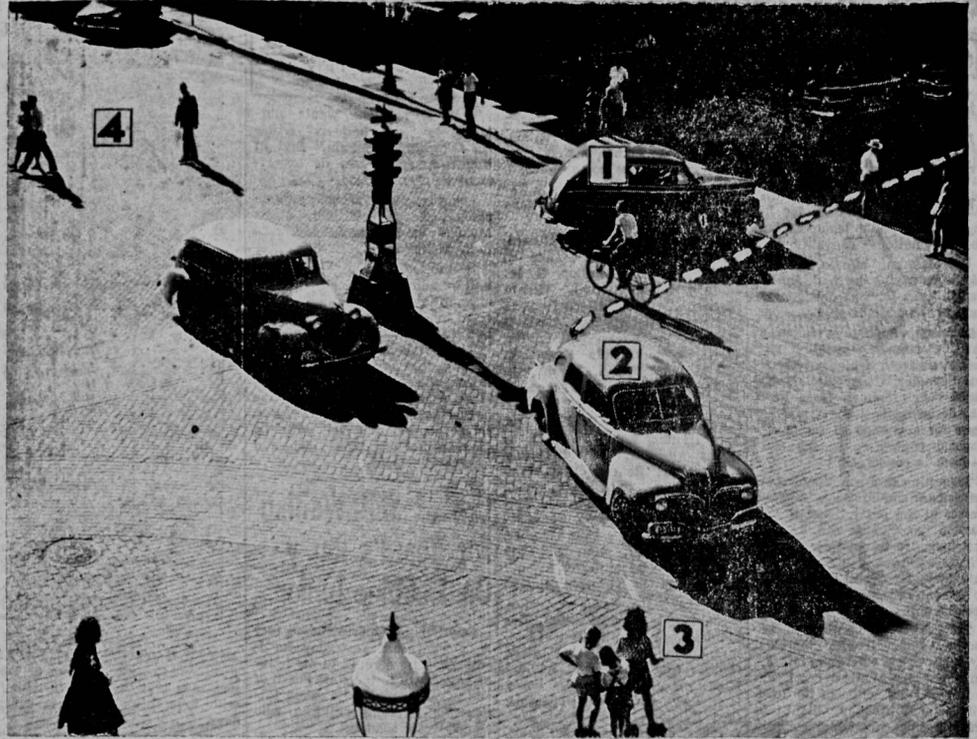

Our indecent haste in framing up a new Western German state (which ranks about 214th on the list of things the world badly needs right away) has been met by the Russian blockade. The Russians move takes a cruder, more vengeful form than our own, but the impulses behind it are not dissimilar.

All of this is now bearing fruit in Berlin, in a situation in which the Russians are, at least for the moment, trying to win the capital city by starving it, and in which we are leaping the blockade with our transports, shouting gaily: "Never touched us."

We might try, of course, to make peace by discussion. If we did try that, and failed, the worst that would happen is that we'd be back where we are now, playing games with C-54's while the Russians played games with railroad trains.

But the thing is that we must try, for if we don't, there may be a war, and at the end of it we'll still have to try to make a peace. If we can't focus on this, then we are in an invisible mess deeper than the one which is so obvious at Berlin, and capable of even fewer answers.

Problem in Safety—What Violations Do You Recognize?

THIS PICTURE WAS NOT POSED. The four violations that the cameraman caught occurred Thursday at Washington and Dubuque streets — the heart of the Iowa City business district. The violations are: (1) the driver failed to use hand signals while making a left turn; (2) this driver drove through a red traffic light, endangering several cars and pedestrians; (3) these children should not be this far away from the curbing; (4) the three persons are walking against the light.

Iowa City Has Good Record In Spite of Traffic Violators

By DON DEEDRICK

How long will the light above the traffic light on Washington and Dubuque streets keep burning?

That light will keep burning until someone in Iowa City is killed by a motor vehicle. It's up to you to snuff out this light and someone's life with it.

No one has been killed in Iowa City this year — last year three were killed in the city. Several persons have been killed near here, though.

It is not the question of how many are or are not killed within the city limits, but that people are killed anywhere — in our city or state or nation.

Iowa City is a comparatively safe city on the fatality records, but several persons are killed here nearly every year. This is a crime — not a legal crime, but a crime against your fellowmen.

Last year in Iowa City, there were 401 accidents with the three persons killed and a total of 64 persons injured. That isn't all — these accidents caused approximately $125,000 in damages.

A good question to ask now is why we have these accidents. The answer can be found in the accompanying tabulation.

This survey gives an idea of the many violations that occur in this city every day — not necessarily due to the fault of the law enforcement, because the police are doing their best to curb these violations. The fault can be placed on a carelessness and thoughtlessness of drivers.

In 15 minutes yesterday noon at the corner of Washington and Clinton streets, there were 247 violations of the traffic laws. By far, the majority of these was failure to use hand signals while turning left or right at the corner. In all, 133 drivers broke the law for not signaling turns.

Pedestrians were the second greatest law breakers, since 51 persons walked against the light in the 15 minutes. But the most dangerous violations were made by the 12 drivers who went through red lights without stopping.

One driver just missed a mother and her baby because he was in such a hurry that he couldn't wait 17 seconds for the red traffic light to change.

In the business district especially, both drivers and pedestrians are careless.

They pick up a newspaper and read that a man was hospitalized after he was hit by a car while crossing the street at the Burlington and Capitol street intersection. The driver saw the man but couldn't stop his car in time.

They say, "Isn't that too bad," and then forget about the man who is lying in a hospital bed. Some day they will remember — the day it happens to them or one of their family.

The traffic problem in Iowa City is tremendous. The problem is accentuated by the great numbers of transit and university students' cars. There are too many cars in the city for its size and parking areas.

Because of this factor, drivers and pedestrians should think more the next time they drive or walk. A little thoughtfulness can go a left turn; (2) this driver drove through a red traffic light, endangering several cars and pedestrians; (3) these children should not be this far away from the curbing; (4) the three persons are walking against the light.

VIOLATIONS	NUMBER
No signal for turn	133
Turning from wrong lane	4
Turning in front of another car	6
Going through red light	12
Starting before light changed	9
Double parking	7
Not giving pedestrians right-of-way	9
Pedestrians walking against light	51
Jaywalking	16

Old Capitol

To Go Up In Smoke Monday Night

Old Capitol will go up in smoke Monday night—at the fireworks display in City Park.

"Shoot the works" is the attitude of the Junior Chamber of Commerce which is sponsoring the show. They are carrying out the attitude with a $1,600 fireworks display at 9 p.m., July 5.

Old Capitol isn't the only thing that will blaze in brief fiery splendor. The ground pieces in the fireworks show will include the Liberty Bell, the eagle and the shield, the statue of liberty, and the American flag.

And the Jaycees aren't stopping there. The whole state of Iowa will be thrown in. A replica of the map of Iowa will be shown, with a red spot designating Iowa City. Part of the set piece spells the greeting "Welcome to Iowa City."

And for the kids there's a tom cat fight and the goose that laid the golden egg.

The Jaycee-sponsored Fourth of July celebration program will begin at 2:30 p.m. Monday. A horse show will take place from 2:30 p.m. until 4:30 p.m. with a band concert following. The fireworks display will follow the concert.

Today is the last day of advance sales in downtown retail stores, Williamson said. He added that gate sales will begin at 9 a.m. Monday.

Appoint Library Head

Miss Ruth Blake, Clinton, will take charge of the journalism library on August 15, Leslie G. Moeller, head of the school of journalism announced yesterday.

At present, the library is managed by several part-time graduate-assistants. Miss Blake's appointment is on a full time basis, Moeller said.

queline Raetz, Oskaloosa and Marie Schanche, Ames.

In Baltimore, Md. June 28 for the marriage of Doris Elizabeth Wahle to Dr. H. Newell Taylor were Mr. and Mrs. L.R. Taylor and son, Bruce, 1118 E. College street.

... Iowa City's Newest, Smartest Restaurant ...

The Uptowner OPEN TODAY

YOU'LL LIKE OUR FOOD ...

THE UPTOWNER truly hopes to become an Iowa City Institution. Here will be the home of deliciously prepared food, many items of which will be cooked in the Louisiana manner. UPTOWNER steak dinners will satisfy the most discriminating connoisseur. They are beautifully prepared with the flavoring juices sealed in by a special method of cooking thus imparting a flavor unequalled. Along with these superb steaks of rich robust flavor, side dishes will be served that have had careful and thoughtful preparation. A special salad bowl with zestful tangy dressing, and a cup of freshly brewed coffee will round out a meal unsurpassed in any restaurant. These things, we hope, will make THE UPTOWNER your selected restaurant for GOOD EATING. Indeed it is just fine food, pleasingly served in an atmosphere of refinement.
