14 U.S. Jet Planes Land At Labrador

BANGOR, MAINE (AP)—Fourteen U. S. airforce jet fighters bound for Germany arrived safely at Goose Bay, Labrador, last night, Dow airforce base reported.

Lt. John E. Maloney, public information officer, said the fully-armed F-80 "Shooting Stars" were reported down at Goose Bay at 5:18 p. m. Iowa time. They began their 714 mile flight, second lap in the history-making overseas flight at 3:10 p. m. (Iowa time).

Two of an original flight of 16 planes from Selfridge field, Mich., stayed behind here for engine adjustments.

The 56th fighter group's mission was the first west-to-east trans-Atlantic flight ever undertaken by jet-propelled aircraft.

Simultaneously, six British "Vampire" jets pointed for New York and Montreal. They reached Reykjavik, Iceland, two hours after taking off on an 800-mile jump from Stornoway, Scotland.

The Americans' 700-mile Labrador leg over New Brunswick, the Gulf of St. Lawrence and eastern Quebec. The distance was about the same as Lt. Col. David Schilling and his flying-mates streaked from Selfridge Field, Mich., their starting point, to Dow base this morning in less than two hours.

From Goose Bay the flights Atlantic "stepping stone" route leads today to Marsarsuak, Greenland; Keflavik, Iceland; Stornoway, Scotland and Idliham, England. Thursday they're due at Furstenfeldbruck in troubled Germany.

Airforce officers called the 56th fighter group's dash a training and study flight to determine feasibility of ferrying such planes overseas.

A B-29 preceded the jets, checking and reporting weather navigational tips.

Strike Threat Faces Ford

DETROIT (AP) — President Walter P. Reuther of the CIO united auto workers left his sick room yesterday to aim a strike threat at the Ford Motor company.

Unless a contract agreement is reached by Thursday, Reuther told the Ford company, the UAW-CIO would "feel free to call out 110,000 production workers."

The union is demanding benefits totalling 28 cents an hour, including wage boosts. Ford has offered an 11 to 14 cents an hour wage increase. The average wage now is estimated at slightly better than $1.52 an hour.

Reuther's arm was in a sling as he made his first appearance at a bargaining table since an unknown assailant tried to kill him last April. A shotgun blast nearly ripped one arm from his body.

It also marked the first time that the red-haired union leader ever had appeared at a Ford Motor company bargaining table.

Before he became president of the UAW-CIO, Reuther headed its General Motors department and most of his bargaining was done with that corporation.

Vice-President John S. Bugas, for the company, told newsmen: "We will go to any reasonable lengths to avoid a strike."

Predicts GOP Win Over 3 Demo Vets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Taft (R-Ohio) predicted yesterday that the Dewey-Warren Republican banner will "sweep" three veteran Democratic senators out of their seats in the November elections.

The senate Republican policy chief conceded to a news conference that a half dozen states are considered "doubtful" from a senate standpoint. But he insisted that he had no doubt as to the ability of New York's Governor Thomas E. Dewey and California's Governor Earl Warren to lead them into the GOP fold.

Taft ticked off as "doubtful" the states of Kentucky, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Montana, Rhode Island and Colorado.

Mediator Pleads for UN Palestine Action

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—Count Folke Bernadotte was reported last night to have appealed personally to the United States and Britain to press for immediate security council action in the Palestine crisis.

The two powers were understood to have reacted favorably and to be prepared to join together in the fighting. It was said that the exact details of the American-British move remained to be worked out.

The UN mediator conferred at length with delegates Phillip C. Jessup and Sir Alexander Cadogan shortly before he handed the security council a report on the Palestine situation.

In his summary to the council Bernadotte said he believed the Arabs had rejected an extension of the Palestine truce because the armistice worked to the military advantage of the Jews. He said the four-week cease-fire stopped the momentum of the Arab attack and gave the Jews time to consolidate defensive positions.

The report was distributed to council delegates last night only a few hours after Bernadotte arrived from his middle east headquarters. It will be considered by the council at an emergency session today when the mediator plans to elaborate on his views.

In his conclusions, Bernadotte said immediate cessation of hostilities in the Holy Land is only a first step.

"The question must be answered at some stage whether the international community is willing to tolerate resort to armed force as the means for settlement of the Palestine issue," the Swedish count said. "Willingness to do this could well involve many risks for the peace of the entire near east, if not for the larger world."

"A distinction may properly be drawn between forbidding the use of force in Palestine and making it unprofitable to use force, on the one hand, and enforcing a political settlement, on the other. Ending the use of force in Palestine will, in fact, make possible an eventual peace settlement."

Bernadotte said the situation in Palestine today is this: "If armed force is forbidden in the settlement of the problem and it is made prohibitively unprofitable for the Arab states to employ it, there will be in Palestine a Jewish community with a separate cultural and political existence, a Jewish state, whose strength and prosperity and capacity for economic and social development, by the admission of

Lydda Surrenders To Jewish Forces

TEL AVIV (AP) — The Arab stronghold towns of Lydda and Er Ramle surrendered yesterday to the Jews, but armored columns of the Trans-Jordan Arab legion roared back in counterattack.

Lydda, site of Jerusalem's air threshold, and her sister town, fell easily to the Jews. After two days of half-hearted fighting the Arabs gave up.

The Jews were cautious about the surrender. Israel's chief of operations said it was not a decisive victory in the fight to ram a wedge to Jerusalem via Latrun.

He said the surrender has set the stage for a decisive battle, which might develop within the next two or three days.

Arab legion artillery men swarmed around the rocky forefront of the Jewish lines within sight of Lydda and Er Ramle.

British Delay Finances To Force Arab Truce

LONDON (AP) — The British were reported yesterday to be putting a financial squeeze on King Abdullah in order to compel the Trans-Jordan monarch to accept extension of the UN truce in Palestine.

A foreign office spokesman said Britain had temporarily delayed a $2-million installment to Trans-Jordan for financing Abdullah's British-trained Arab legion.

'Mourners' Demos Toll Jokes in 'Funeral' Setting

By ED CREEGH
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Great kidders, these Democrats.

They're telling a lot of funny stories as they get around to nominate President Truman — stories kidding everybody including the President.

And if there's a funeral atmosphere about this convention, as some people say, a lot of the "mourners" are getting unseemly fun out of it.

There's even a story about that: A group of Democrats sitting around a hotel room with long faces decide to cheer themselves up. One of them phones room service, orders a jug of bourbon.

"Sorry," the clerk says, "all out of bourbon."

"Okay, make it scotch."

"Fresh out of scotch, too, sir."

"Well, then, send up a bottle of embalming fluid. If we're going to hold a wake, we might as well do it right."

Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky came up with one in a different vein when somebody asked what he thought about the presidential boomlet for his colleague, Senator Claude Pepper of Florida.

"Down my way," Barkley said, "there was a preacher once who was praying that his hungry congregation might get some food."

"Lord," he said, "we'd like for you to send a few barrels of flour, 100 pounds of side meat, a barrel of salt, a barrel of pepper —"

"Oh, shucks, no Lord — that's too much pepper."

Republicans? Some of the delegates are sporting buttons that say: "We did it to Dewey in '44 — and we can do it again."

"This makes," added one Democrat, "the third time that Tom has tried to be president. Three times and out!"

As for Mr. Truman: the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin reports that one delegate who asked: "You for Truman?"

"He's my second choice."

"Who's your first choice?"

"Anybody else."

Items like that shouldn't fret the Democrats. They made plenty of jokes among themselves about Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1940 and 1944 — but FDR had the biggest laugh of all when the votes were counted.

Barkley Boom Grows After Keynote Speech

Convention Cheers Kentuckian 28 Minutes After GOP Blast

CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Senator, Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky talked himself very near to the Democratic vice-presidential nomination last night with a keynote speech that brought the national convention to its feet in a frenzy of cheering.

It won't be official until word comes from the White House, probably today, but the roar of acclamation for the Kentucky veteran convinced hundreds of delegates that Barkley is the man to run with President Truman.

And two Democratic leaders close to Mr. Truman said it looked to them as though Barkley is the man. They were Robert E. Hannegan, former Democratic national chairman, and another Truman lieutenant who declined to permit use of his name.

Barkley Cheered
Barkley's speech, lambasting the Republicans and defending 100 percent the 16-year administration of the Democrats, lasted an hour and eight minutes and produced a 28-minute, shrieking ovation.

If Barkley gets the nomination, his address undoubtedly will be compared with the famed "Cross of Gold" speech that first brought the Democratic presidential nomination to William Jennings Bryan.

The talk was largely of Barkley, who had been mentioned most prominently for the post since Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, said earlier yesterday that he wouldn't take it.

Preventing War
And Barkley's speech last night, mentioning the possibility of war and questioning whether the Republicans are capable of preventing it, turned the talk into something like a shout.

The second session of the convention adjourned at 10:07 p.m. (Iowa time) until 10 a.m. today.

Other party orators joined in lambasting the opposition and in the customary "pointing with pride" to the Democratic record. Delegates yipped approval, booped names of GOP leaders, and went into a froth over jobs at the high cost of living and the Republicans held responsible for it.

Truman Mum
But the White House kept them in the dark on the main question still to be decided: Who will run with President Truman against Thomas E. Dewey and Earl Warren?

Barkley's name definitely had been entered, along with those of Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming and Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts.

Plenty of other people were being talked about. But even some of these pressed up to Barkley to congratulate him on his speech while the Kentucky delegation paraded past with a "Barkley for vice-president" banner high above delegates' heads.

Senator Tom Connally of Texas called Barkley "the choice of the convention." Former Senator Sam Packson, Indiana's favorite son for vice-president, also came out for Barkley.

First Demonstration
The rip-snorting demonstration for Barkley was the first real blow-off of the convention.

The Democrats had been wanting something to cheer about, for the presidential battle was over before it began. Mr. Truman was a cinch for the nomination before the delegates even got to town.

But the routed opposition still was showing fight. The Texas de-

Western Diplomats Discuss New Berlin Moves

Neue Zeitung, the official German language newspaper of the American military government, said the Russians will pay the costs of the air bridge in that the military will be deducted from Soviet reparations claims against Germany.

"But accounts won't be settled with that," the newspaper added. "The air bridge will also cost the Soviet Union the Communist party in Germany and the last remnants of friendship in the world."

Dr. Ferdinand Friedensburg, one of Berlin's three deputy mayors, told a news conference: "It is a good thing the present crisis is being carried out under the eyes of the whole world. Perhaps it will show the world this situation cannot continue indefinitely without raising the fearful thought of a new war."

The previous American record was 1,130 tons set last Friday. Since joint operations began, American planes have flown 11,096 tons of food to Berlin in 2,721 flights. The British are keeping SUFFERING UNDER IOWA-LIKE WEATHER, Democratic national convention delegates in Philadelphia yesterday found the city hot and humid. No exception was Sen. Alben W. Barkley delivered the keynote address last night and is widely mentioned as a prospect for the vice-presidential nomination.

City Council Votes To Keep Beer Ordinance Amendment

Upholding their action of June 28, the city council last night by a five to two vote directed the city clerk to publish the amendment to the beer ordinance.

On publication, the amendment, which legalizes the sale of beer on Memorial day, July 4 and election day, will become law.

Alderman James Callahan made the motion for publication and Aldermen Max Hawkins, William Grandrath, Charles Smith and Frank Fryauf voted with him for the motion. Aldermen C. F. Mighell and James W. Jones voted against the publication.

Previous to Callahan's motion, Mighell had proposed that the council rescind the action of two weeks ago. The motion failed by a vote of two to five. The aldermen voted the same way on both motions.

In other action the council also:

1. Authorized a contract with the Larew company for the swimming pool bathhouse plumbing, not including the hot water heaters, at a cost of $8,753.

2. Accepted $6,300 from the Community Dads swimming pool fund for use on contracts for the pool.

3. Set Monday, July 26, at 7:30 p.m. as the date for sale of $50,000 in swimming pool bonds which were authorized in a special election last fall.

4. Approved the expenditure of $6,256.80 for the purchase of activated stop signs from the H. B. Allen company.

5. Passed a resolution authorizing payment of $900 to Ned L. Ashton and B. J. Lambert as first payment on engineering fees for the swimming pool.

Amid cheers and applause, speakers on each side of the beer controversy presented their views.

Speaking for the tavern owners, Attorney William R. Hart presented a statement which said that they would not ask for the opening of the tavern on Memorial day. The statements mentioned that in surrounding towns, taverns with similar beer permits were allowed to operate.

He added "The Iowa City taverns are well conducted," and that they are trying to cooperate with the city, regardless of politics.

"You have forced the people to use the highways," Hart said in speaking about persons who go to other cities or towns to get beer.

Rev. John Craig, representing the Iowa City ministerial association, in referring to the amendment said, "This council must not contribute to the tragic toll of deaths on the highway."

Carl Brookhart, an SUI student from Wisconsin, said that he understood that the WCTU and other women's groups had pressured the ministers who in turn pressured the council.

Dr. L. L. Dunnington disagreed with Brookhart on the pressure groups.

"I myself, brought the problem to the attention of the ministers two weeks ago. The other groups had nothing to do with exerting pressure," Dunnington said.

After the ministers action of a week ago, when they met informally with the council protesting the amendment, people called to show their support of the ministers' action, he said.

Dr. Dunnington said that the "more substantial people of the community" wanted to keep election day and July 4th in the same class as Christmas and New Years as a day in which people can't buy beer in Iowa City.

Hart drew laughter from the large audience when he admitted that Memorial day was a day of sorrow, but he thought July 4th was a day of celebration.

Hart then suggested that the council vote calmly and according to the conscience of its members.

In his concluding speech, Dr. Dunnington said, "If you don't vote as the substantial citizens want, then the next election will allow all the people a chance to be heard from."

City Attorney William Bartley said that if more people would attend the meetings, there would be more democracy.

Bartley commented that it was "too bad we had to have an issue like this, to get the people to come to the council meeting."

The council then recessed and held a secret caucus. Following the caucus, Mighell introduced his motion to rescind the action. This was followed by Callahan's motion for publication.

Following the action of the council, the Rev. Mr. Craig said "it is still a problem of real moral concern to the public, more so than its value to the tavern owners."

"Their (the tavern owners) gain for the moment, is likely Iowa City's loss," he commented.

The Rev. Mr. Craig said that the ministerial association will continue to fight the beer amendment.

Annual All-Star Contest Slated For Today

3 Sluggers, Newhouser Out of Action

By JACK HAND

ST. LOUIS (AP) — American league All-Star hopes suffered a staggering blow yesterday when Ted Williams, Hal Newhouser, Joe DiMaggio and George Kell were scratched from the starting lineup for today's 15th test against the National league's best.

Toughest to take for the expected 34,000 fans was the news that Williams, Boston's string bean slugger, would not play. Teddy suffered a torn cartilage in his left side in Friday night's game at Philadelphia and missed all the week-end contests. He was on the scene but definitely out of the show.

A Williams-Stan Musial slugging duel was one of the tidbits that had excited the enthusiasts who cast well over 4,000,000 votes in nation wide balloting.

Newhouser was to have been the American starting pitcher against Ralph Branca (10-6) of Brooklyn. But the Detroit left-hander, who won his 13th game Sunday reported he was suffering from bursitis and could not work. Hal said he requested Manager Steve O'Neill of the Tigers to take him out of Sunday's game in the eighth inning because his arm was bothering him. He had won 11 of his last 13 games.

This was all news to Manager Bucky Harris, who arrived on a late afternoon train and learned that his starting pitcher was not able to throw. He immediately switched to his own staff, nominating either Vic Raschi (10-3) or Lefty Joe Page (3-4) of the Yankees to do honors. With a strong lefthanded batting order for the National, it was quite possible that Page, who has not started a game all year and is strictly a relief pitcher, might open.

Walt Masterson of Washington (6-8) and Joe Coleman of Philadelphia (8-6) or Bob Lemon of Cleveland (13-7) may follow.

DiMaggio has been troubled by a tender heel for several days and has a badly swollen left knee. He was unable to play in the weekend series against Washington, except as a pinch-hitter if needed.

Kell has a badly swollen ankle that forced him to miss recent Detroit games. He will be here but won't start.

Harris went into a huddle with his coaching staff and substituted Tommie Henrich of New York for Williams in left. Hoot Evers of Detroit for DiMaggio in Center field and the veteran Ken Keltner of Cleveland for Kell at third base.

"We are veering away from the fan's choices," said Harris. "But there's nothing we can do about it. Despite our injuries, we will give the National league the best fight we can." The rest of the team will be made up of players picked by the fans. George McQuinn of New York will be on first, Joe Gordon of Cleveland on second, and Lou Boudreau, Cleveland's hustling manager, at short. Pat Mullin of Detroit will be in right field and Buddy Rosar of Philadelphia behind the plate.

These latest changes, coming on top of Bobby Feller's withdrawal and the substitution of Buddy Kerr of New York for St. Louis' Marty Marion as a second shortstop on the National team, were a keen disappointment to all baseball people. Marion, who played nine innings Sunday, asked to be relieved because of an aching back.

Although there was no doubt that most of the players who will not appear have been injured, there was a tendency on many sides to think the players had started to "duck" the game. Feller's action drew the most criticism although the Cleveland club shouldered the blame and said it had approved his action.

The major leagues discussed the problem of their meetings in line with the suggestion made Sunday by Arren Giles, Cincinnati club president, who said, "If the players don't show more interest in the game, I suggest we give it back to the Indians."

Bill Veeck, Cleveland owner, took the responsibility for Feller's withdrawal. He said, in his opinion, only one pitcher should be named from each club and that since Feller and Lemon both were picked, Lemon should get the chance.

"Veeck said he asked Feller, 'Would it be a tremendous disappointment to you to miss the All-Star game?' Feller was said to have replied, 'It is not a matter of life and death with me.'"

"The other club owners took issue with me," he added, "but I defended my actions as well as I could. I think it is in the best interests of the Cleveland club and its fight for the pennant, that Feller should devote all of his duties to helping us win the flag."

Leo Durocher of Brooklyn, who of Harris' problems. In sharp contrast to the American league situation, only one of the National pitchers worked Saturday or Sunday. All eight of the American saw duty over the weekend.

The Dodger skipper settled on Branca, his own 10-game winner, because he had been held out of action since Thursday. Ewell Blackwell (6-5), Cincinnati's sidearm ace who is just hitting his stride after a wobbly start, probably will be his second hurler, followed by either Johnny Sain of Boston (11-6) or Harry Brecheen of St. Louis (9-3). All are limited to three-inning stints.

There will be only one change in the National lineup as selected by the fans. That will be at second base where Eddie Stanky of Boston, who broke an ankle, will be replaced by St. Louis' Red Schoendienst. If Schoendienst's sore shoulder bothers him too much, Leo will shift to New York's Billy Ripken.

Last year's game at Chicago's Wrigley field was won by Joe Cronin's Americans over Eddie Dyer's National, 2-1.

After the latest crop of injuries had been tabulated, the betting commission came up with a new betting line. The Americans still are favored but the price has narrowed a bit from 11 to 20 to 13 to 20.

Ike Williams TKO's Jack In 6th Round

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Ike Williams retained his lightweight boxing crown last night, pounding Challenger Beau Jack into submission in the sixth round of a scheduled 15-round bout at Shibe park. Each fighter weighed 134 pounds.

Swarming all over his opponent as the bell started the sixth round, Williams was awarded the verdict via a technical knockout when Referee Charley Daggert stepped in and stopped the bout after 33 seconds.

Jack, his face a bloody mass, stood in a neutral corner helpless against the rights and lefts that the sharp punching champion threw at him from every angle.

Once Williams looked at Daggert as if he wanted the official to stop the bout. But the referee looked at Jack and nodded for Williams to go ahead. Ike swung three or more rapid fire punches before Daggert stepped in and halted the carnage.

It was the second time Jack had been stopped in 82 fights since coming out of Georgia eight years ago. Tony Janiro was awarded a technical knockout verdict over him in New York's Madison Square Garden, Feb. 21, 1947.

For Williams it was the second successful defense of his title in seven weeks and his 16th straight victory.

Williams entered the ring the 12 to 5 favorite. He fought like a champion—cool against the rushing tactics of the one-time shoeshine boy, until he found an opening.

The first real opening came in the closing minutes of the fifth round. The champion from Trenton, N. J. swarmed all over the challenger with a series of rights and lefts but Jack, true to his style of fighting, kept right on walking in.

As the bell opened, the sixth session, Williams leaped to the attack. A left hook to the ear had Beau in trouble. Ike backed Jack in the corner and pounded him with every blow in his repertoire but the Beau refused to go down.

Blood was spurting from Jack's mouth and nose when Daggert decided the challenger had enough.

In his dressing room, Williams said he caught Jack with his left hook and then gave him "Everything I had."

Jack concurred that Williams' left hook was the pay-off blow.

"He got me pinned up in a corner and I couldn't get away," said Jack. "He's a great fighter."

The officials' score cards showed that the fight was even-Stephen until Ike ended it so abruptly. Daggert had given each fighter two rounds and called one even. Judge Frank Knarsborough scored three for the champion and two for Jack of the first five rounds while Judge Harry Lasky saw the first five three for Beau and two for Ike.

The crowd was a disappointing 12,952 which contributed to a gross gate of $83,787. Williams received a guarantee of $30,000 or 37 1/2 percent. To the challenger went 22 1/2 percent.

To Act on All-Star Absenteeism

ST. LOUIS (AP)—After some "straight talk" from Commissioner A. B. Chandler, the major league players yesterday moved to take into their own hands the problem of major leaguers refusing to appear in the All-Star game.

"I am very much concerned over the failure of clubowners and players to take seriously the All-Star game," Chandler said after a meeting of the executive council.

"We have had some straight talk," he added, "I assume that, in the future, every player who is voted in the All-Star team will show up. We have no plan to punish anybody, but we will take whatever steps are necessary."

Chandler's statement followed publication of a letter from the Cincinnati players to their National league player representative, Dixie Walker, urging penalties against the unwilling athletes.

Walker, who appeared with Freddie Hutchinson, the American league player representative, at the joint meeting of both leagues and the executive council session, suggested a definite penalty of a fine of three days pay for the unwilling stars.

Wally Ris, Scarpello Sail for Olympics

Two of the University of Iowa's star athletes, Wally Ris and Joe Scarpello, will sail tomorrow from New York aboard the U. S. S. America for the Olympic games in London.

Ris, 100-meter swimmer, and Scarpello, 174-pound wrestler, will be the eleventh and twelfth Hawkeye men who have ever participated in Olympic games.

Ris is the first Iowa swimmer to make the U. S. team while Scarpello, who qualified for the group in the final trials May 1, is the second Hawk grappler.

Winner of more than 25 races

'I Want To Retire' — Cochran

NEW YORK (AP) — Roy Cochran, generally favored to win the 400-meter Olympic hurdles for the United States, said yesterday he would retire after the London games, win or lose.

"It's a question of educating yourself in running to coordinate your efforts," he said.

"That's why I'm running at 29 better than ever before. I know now how to relax and coordinate."

Cochran, a former Big Nine 440 champion and the National A.A.U. 400 meter hurdle king, is five 10 inches and weighs 150. He won the 400-meter final Olympic tryout in 51.7. The Olympic record is 52.4.

Cochran's is an amazing story of belated development. He was graduated from Indiana in 1942, studied in the V-7 navy course at Notre Dame, served as a navy officer in the Pacific, and thought his athletic career was finished.

When the war ended he went to Southern California to take his masters' degree.

"I was rather surprised when I started working out for fun at U.S.C. to find I was making faster times than ever."

Agents Raid 7 Taverns In County

Seven Johnson county taverns were raided simultaneously Saturday by special agents of the Iowa bureau of criminal investigation.

Liquor, punchboards, and slot machines were found and confiscated in two of them, Charlie's tavern in Tiffin and the Happy Hour club in Schuerville.

Acting County Attorney Glenn Bowen said last night he will file charges after he gets the official report of Chief R. W. Nebergall of criminal investigation bureau.

Bowen said the parties involved would probably have a preliminary hearing in police court instead of being charged by county attorney's informants.

Seized at Charlie's tavern were 41 fifths of liquor (some partly filled) and one punchboard.

At the same time (6:15 p.m.) two slot machines, 11 punchboards and 52 envelopes of La-To-Do money tickets were taken at the Happy Hour club.

Other clubs raided included The Ranch and The Little Ranch, both at Cou Falls; Club 88, Tiffin; The Lighthouse, North Liberty; and Town tavern, Oxford.

Police Judge Emil Trott issued the search warrants. The confiscated material is now in the hands of Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy.

SUI Must Request Housing Transfer By Oct. 26, 1948

The university has 120 days to submit a request for transfer of the federal veterans housing units, according to Elyin T. Jolliffe, university controller.

Under Public Law 796, signed by President Truman June 28, the deadline for filing the request is Oct. 26, 1948.

The new law amends the Latham Act which made veterans housing available to the university by extending the date of removal of such housing from July 25, 1949, to Jan. 1, 1950.

Under the new law, the university is required to furnish an opinion by the attorney general that the university has a legal right to make the request, accept the transfer, and perform its obligations under Public Law 796.

The law further provides that veterans have preference for vacancies. Rents will remain subject to federal controls.

Affected by the new law are 632 barracks apartments, 249 trailers and 50 quonset apartments.

Injunction Asked by Willtrout in Dispute With Irvin Fountain

The Johnson county district court was asked yesterday to intervene again in disagreements arising out of oral farm contracts between Lester Willtrout and Irvin Fountain, both of Johnson county.

Willtrout yesterday asked for a court injunction to keep Fountain from coming upon the property of a 10-acre farm Willtrout said he leased from the defendants. Other defendants are Mary Fountain and Chester Frantz, who Willtrout said was related to Fountain.

Willtrout said Fountain damaged his corn crop with a plow and carried off his grain.

On June 17 Fountain asked the court to appoint a receiver to sell the assets of a 60-acre farm he said he and Willtrout rented from James and John Walker. Fountain said Willtrout was not doing his share of the work or paying his share of the bills.

Judge Harold D. Evans set Saturday morning at 9 a.m. as time for a hearing on Willtrout's plea for an injunction.

Edward L. O'Connor is the attorney representing Willtrout. Emil Trott is the attorney for the defendants.

Dads Raise $648 For Pool Collection In Weekend Drive

The Iowa City swimming pool fund has reached $7,028.77, the Community Dads announced yesterday. This is an increase of $648 over the figure announced last Friday.

The $648 includes $318 from the residential district and $330 from the business area.

The Dads are sponsoring the drive to raise $12,500 to complete the contracts for the pool which is now under construction. The $12,500 figure represents the difference between the $112,500 the city has authorized by two bond issues and the $125,000 estimated cost of the pool.

The Dads started the fund with a $50 donation June 8. The drive in the business district started June 22 and on the first day the Dads collected $286. The canvass of the lodges and the residential district started about a week later.

With the $7,028.77 the Dads have only about $5,472 to collect to complete the fund. They announced earlier that the drive will continue until the entire amount is collected.
