BANGKOK, SIAM (AP)—A Siamese policeman waved a passing auto to a halt. "Take me to town for a good time or I'll arrest you," he told the driver. The driver took him to town, stopped at the Bangkok jail and ordered the warden to put the policeman in a cell. The "passing motorist" was a police colonel in civilian clothes.

Truman Issues Call, Challenge To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—With a pointed challenge for action in "the public interest" President Truman yesterday formally called congress back for a special summer session.

Back in the White House where he hopes to stay four more years, the President told the lawmakers to assemble July 26—a week from next Monday.

Republicans slammed at the special session call as "cheap politics," "sheer desperation" and a "trick." Some—but by no means all—of the Democratic legislators hailed Mr. Truman's decision as a construction move. Others shook their heads and predicted little will be accomplished.

The president has a dray-load of legislative requests ready to dump at the capitol door. He reeled off a dozen of them in his speech accepting the Democratic presidential nomination at Philadelphia early yesterday.

Practically all are crammed with controversy and double-dipped in dissension: civil rights, price controls, housing, federal aid to schools, broadened social security, a boost in the statutory minimum wage, an "adequate and decent" revision of the law permitting the entry of displaced persons from Europe.

Whether any, all or none of the President's recommendations will be written into law could not be forecast. But one thing was very clear: the extraordinary session is certain to mold the shape of this year's presidential campaign.

Truman told the sweating convention delegates who nominated him that the test will be "what that worst 80th congress does in this special session." The people, he said, will make their decision not by words, but by the party platform, but "on the record as it has been written."

From a political viewpoint, the special session could be regarded as a windfall for the financially hard-pressed Democratic national committee. Messages from the President to congress attract nationwide interest and can focus the issues perhaps more sharply than a series of cross-country speeches.

And—important to the national committee—it doesn't cost anything to send messages from the White House.

There are two sides to the special session drum, of course. The President's political foes can thump it just as loudly from their side as the President can from his. And there is always the chance that congress will pass a law the President doesn't want, and make it stick over his veto.

Senator Alben Barkley, the President's running mate, praised the decision to call congress back as "a courageous and proper thing to do."

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), the senate's presiding officer, declared on the other hand yesterday that "this sounds like a last hysterical gasp of an expiring administration," stemming solely from political motives.

Senator Wherry (R-Neb), Republican whip and assistant floor leader, said the call demonstrates a "desperate determination by Mr. Truman to try to put congress in a bad light."

NBC To Air SUI Concert

The university symphony orchestra will play a half-hour concert over a coast-to-coast NBC network Saturday, July 24, according to Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the music department.

NBC had not set a definite time for the concert, but it will be either 2 p.m. or 2:30 p.m., Clapp said.

The broadcast will originate in the north hall of the music building. Clapp will conduct the orchestra.

The program will feature the first public performance of the finale of "Symphony in E Minor" by Richard Hervig. Hervig is an instructor in the SUI music department.

Clapp described the Hervig symphony as modern in harmony and orchestration with vigorous musical ideas.

The orchestra will also play the overture to "Libusa" by Smetana and the prelude to Act one of "Lohengrin" by Wagner.

CIO Workers Vote For Strike Against Ford Auto Company

DETROIT (AP)—Representatives of 116,000 Ford Motor company workers yesterday unanimously authorized the CIO-union auto workers to call a strike against the big automotive firm.

Rejecting Ford's "final" offer of a 13-cent hourly pay raise, the National Ford council demanded that Ken Bannan, national Ford director, set a date for the walk-out.

Bannan was expected to delay any action until after Monday, when the union's executive board meets. A strike would have to be approved by the international union before a walkout could actually begin.

Ford made what it called its "final offer" Wednesday night. Its terms included a flat 13-cent raise and several other benefits.

The bargaining sessions, which have lasted a month, were then immediately halted. No further sessions were scheduled at yesterday's union meeting for the next few days.

The union charged Ford with "breaking off" the talks, but the company has insisted it is ready to resume them at any time.

Over 300 To Attend Four-Week Session

Over 300 students are expected to attend the SUI four-week summer session beginning Aug. 5, according to Clay Harshbarger, liberal arts advisor.

Courses offered are "Problems in Marketing and Advertising," "Government Regulation and Business Policy," "Special Projects in Editorial Journalism," "Contemporary Political Issues," and two literature courses, "English and American Masterpieces" and "Modern Literature."

Courses to be offered during the special session are determined by the students, Harshbarger said. At least ten students, planning on attending the four week session must file a request for a course before it is offered.

Harshbarger said it is not likely that other courses will be offered this summer. However, if student interest is shown in other courses, they will be given consideration.

Woman Files Two $12,000 Suits

She Couldn't Tell the Apes From the People

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mrs. Anna Wagenlander, 79, Newport, Ky., yesterday filed two suits for $12,000 each in common pleas court, charging she had been bitten and mauled in the swank Cincinnati Club by a chimpanzee belonging to the Zoological Society of Cincinnati.

One of the suits names the zoological society and the other is against William H. and Carolyn E. Dressman, trainers at the zoo. Mrs. Wagenlander charged that

Cleminshaw Tax Contract Is Accepted

Johnson county's three taxing bodies last night voted unanimously to accept the contract of the J. M. Cleminshaw company of Cleveland, Ohio, for appraising personal property in Iowa City.

The revaluation will cost $5,900, which will be shared by the three groups. The mayor, the president of the school board, and the chairman of the board of supervisors were authorized to sign the contract.

The three groups also asked the mayor to contact the two members of the board of assessment and review who have resigned to see if they will reconsider their action.

The resignations followed a meeting on July 7 at which the taxing groups voted against the hiring of the Cleminshaw company. The board had recommended the hiring of the company.

At the June 14 meeting, the groups had voted for the revaluation, but this was rescinded at the later meeting.

The contract was accepted following discussion of the local revaluation problem by the school board, board of supervisors and the city council with two representatives of the state tax commission.

John W. Barnes, director of the property tax division of the state tax commission, and Henry W. Wormley, special assistant attorney-general assigned to the commission, were present at the meeting on the invitation of the taxing groups.

The representatives of the commission said an extension of time would be granted in order for the assessor to complete his work. The tax rolls originally had to be approved by Sept. 1.

They explained the reason for the new city assessor law was to equalize valuations on property throughout the state.

The appraisal companies only assist in the valuation, the assessor makes the assessment and the board of assessment and review approves it, they said.

Wormley explained that low valuations under the old law were accepted because costs were low. Now that costs are high, valuations must be equalized throughout the state, he added.

Democratic Meeting Ends States' Rights Issue, Says Porter

One of SUI's foremost students of political science yesterday said he believed the Democratic convention brought states' rights to an end Wednesday night as an issue in American political campaigns.

"For the Democratic party to slap down a states' rights plank after 150 years is something for the book—that's news!" said Prof. Kirk H. Porter, head of the political science department.

Porter said states' rights took a terrific beating during the New Deal days. The Republicans never have paid much attention to it, he added.

The force of the south's stand on states' rights becomes evident, Porter believes, when "the cover is taken away" and you see it doesn't protect southern views on TVA and public power, but guards racial bigotry and discrimination.

The south has used states' rights to conceal the very things Jefferson's disciples have fought since the conception of the Democratic party, Porter said.

Other Porter comments on Wednesday night's drama in Philadelphia concerned (1) Truman's calling a special session of congress and (2) the rump convention of the "Dixiecrats" (those who walked out at Philadelphia).

Porter said the special session "might very well backfire" on Mr. Truman if the Republicans grab the ball he has thrown and run with it.

Cominform Renews Attack Against Tito

LONDON (AP)—The Russian dominated Cominform denounced Marshal Tito yesterday as a "betrayor of the working class" who rules Yugoslav communists with a "regime of terror."

The Cominform renewed its battle with Tito, making its second attempt to discredit the Yugoslav premier. It sounded an apparent call for Yugoslav Communists to break with Tito.

The article accused Tito and his top ministers of packing the fifth congress of the Yugoslav Communist party, due to open next Wednesday, with handpicked delegates.

UN Council Demands End Of Palestine War

Egyptians Say Israeli Bombs Fall on Cairo

CAIRO (AP)—An Israeli plane bombed Cairo last night. It was the first Jewish air attack of the Palestine war on the big Egyptian capital.

The Egyptian defense ministry issued a communique saying "at 7:55 this evening an enemy plane raided Cairo and dropped some bombs." The communique did not specify where in Cairo the bombs fell, whether there were any casualties or the extent of the damage.

King Farouk's capital of one and one-half million had escaped Arab attack from the Jews, although its suburbs suffered a few minor bombings during World War II. Cairo is about 350 miles from Tel Aviv, the Israeli capital, which the Egyptians said they bombed yesterday.

The same communique said Egyptian planes raided Tel Aviv, adding that "our heavy bombers dropped high explosives and incendiaries on objectives, causing considerable damage and many fires."

The Iraqi government issued a communique in Baghdad saying its planes raided Haifa harbor, scoring a direct hit on one large vessel and left it burning.

Cairo was the third Arab capital bombed by the Jews in the Arab-Jewish war. Israeli planes raided Damascus, Syria, and Amman, Trans-Jordan, before the United Nations four-week truce early in June. The Egyptians have consistently bombed Tel Aviv since the war began.

Italian Strike Called to End

ROME (AP)—Italy's Communist labor leaders yielded to the government early this morning and ordered the nation-wide general strike to end at noon (4 a.m., Iowa time).

The decision came after the government apparently decided to get tough and break the strike that resulted from the shooting of Communist Leader Palmiro Togliatti.

The prefect of Genoa province had proclaimed a state of emergency yesterday. Interior Minister Mario Scelba sent troops in armored cars to help him maintain order.

Workers who seized factories in Turin were said to have broken out red flags over the buildings.

Sources close to the office of Premier Alcide De Gasperi said the government felt the "political strike" had lasted long enough for Togliatti's followers to blow off steam. If it continued, it was said, the government would use all means to break it—including using troops to operate trains.

Seven persons have been killed so far in riots throughout Italy. The seventh was a baby shot through the stomach Wednesday night when a mob fired on a landowners' home near Bologna.

Tickets July 27 For Graduation

Guest tickets for the Aug. 4 commencement exercises in the Iowa Union will be available Tuesday, July 27, for students who will receive degrees. Director of Conventions, F. G. Higbee announced yesterday.

Due to limited seating space, only one ticket will be available for each graduation, Higbee said. Tickets can be picked up between 8 o'clock, July 27 and noon, Saturday, July 31, at the alumni office, room 9 in Old Capitol.

Higbee said seats will be reserved for ticket holders until 7:45 the night of commencement. After that time, if seats are still available, people without tickets will be admitted. Graduation exercises will begin at 8 p.m.

EXPECT RAF JETS

A Hare-Raising Story

ADELAIDE, AUSTRALIA (AP)—Drought conditions in southern Australia are so bad that rabbits are climbing trees to get the moisture in the bark and leaves. They climb to a height of eight or nine feet and strip bark from the upper branches. Meanwhile, other rabbits wait under the trees for the leaves to drop.

State Agriculture Minister Sir George Jenkins said he wouldn't believe rabbits could climb trees until he had seen them doing so in a sheep grazing area where no rain has fallen in seven months.

U.S. Repeats Policy: 'We'll Stay in Berlin'

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States restated its "we'll stay in Berlin" policy yesterday.

Press officer Lincoln White told a news conference at the state department that there has been no change in the U.S. attitude since Secretary of State Marshall said on June 30 that "we intend to stay" despite the Russian blockade of the German capital.

The reaffirmation of policy followed Russia's rejection Wednesday of the western power's demand of July 6 that the blockade be lifted.

Also left unchanged was Marshall's statement that maximum American resources, in cooperation with Britain and France, will be used to supply the civilian population of Berlin by air.

In this connection, the Russians threatened through their official Berlin newspaper yesterday to interfere with U.S. and British planes flying over the blockade.

A British air force spokesman in Berlin commented that the Russians can't interfere with this air traffic without resorting to military action.

An atmosphere of crisis prevailed around a cabinet meeting in London. The cabinet was studying the Russian refusal to lift the Berlin blockade.

The whole German situation brought some in Washington to this conclusion: Newly revealed weaknesses in Moscow's system of control over eastern Europe may be influencing the Kremlin to follow a much tougher policy in dealing with the western powers on the Berlin crisis.

Some top policy-making officials here believe that the more insecure Russian leaders feel about their hold over their satellites the more difficult they may be for the western nations to handle.

Specifically, these authorities believe that Kremlin concern over the failure of the Communists' effort to purge Marshal Tito in Yugoslavia may have been one of the reasons why the Soviets Wednesday slammed the diplomatic door so firmly shut in the face of western power move to approach a Berlin settlement.

Pershing was born Sept. 13, 1880, near Laclede, Mo. He was graduated from West Point in 1896, a second lieutenant of cavalry.

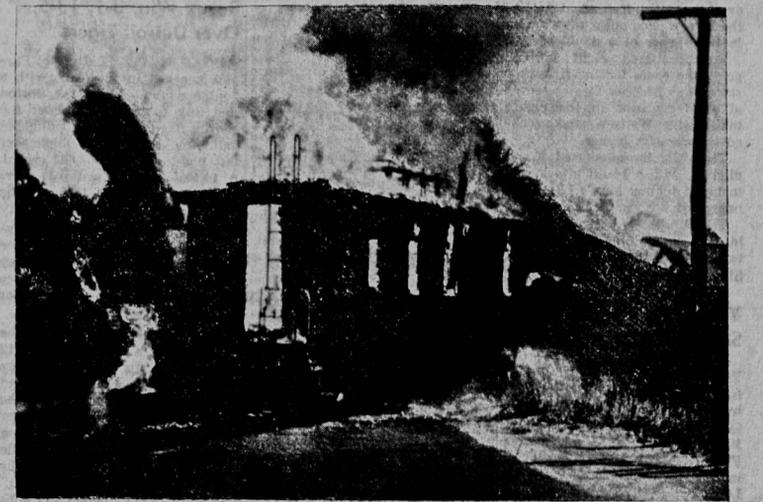

When the end came yesterday morning, Pershing's sister, Miss May, and his son, Warren, were at his bedside. There, too, was the doctor who cared for him in the final years he lived out in the hospital, Maj. Gen. Shelley Marietta.

The general's wife and their three daughters were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their residence at the Presidio in San Francisco in 1915. He was on duty in Mexico at the time.

Count Folke Bernadotte was instructed to supervise the cease-fire, which is of unlimited duration, and continue his efforts at Jewish-Arab mediation. Russia refused to support the sections concerning Bernadotte in the paragraph voting, contending he is trying to wreck the partition plan.

After some wrangling, Syria agreed not to press at this time for a vote on the proposal to ask the international court of justice for an opinion on the status of Palestine.

Oil Truck, Train Crash; One Dead

ONE MAN WAS KILLED AND FOUR WERE INJURED yesterday when an oil transport crashed into a moving locomotive and caboose at a grade crossing in New Hampshire. The dead man, badly burned, was pulled from the truck (burning beyond the caboose). The injured were trainmen.

Jews, Arabs Have 3 Days To Stop Fight

LAKE SUCCESS (AP) The security council last night ordered the Jews and Arabs to halt the war in Palestine. The decision was backed up with provisions for United Nations force if necessary.

The final vote was 7 to 1 with Syria alone in opposition. Russia, the Soviet Ukraine and Argentina abstained.

The decision, taken on an American resolution, gave the Jews and Arabs three days to cease fire. It went far beyond previous UN actions which merely asked the two sides to stop fighting and allowed them to reject the pleas without consequences.

Russia supported the order to the Jews and Arabs to lay down their arms. The Soviet Union, however, refused to endorse parts of the American plan calling for further mediation efforts by Count Folke Bernadotte and the abstention on the final ballot apparently was in protest against inclusion of these sections. Russia could have killed the whole plan with a veto.

Argentina abstained because of opposition to the use of force.

Arab delegates have told the council that they could see no possibility of the Arabs accepting the order. Israel was expected to comply.

The resolution also ordered an unconditional cease-fire in Jerusalem to take effect within 24 hours.

Weary delegates took the final vote after three full days of debate. Paragraph by paragraph voting took nearly four hours and the results became official only when a ballot was taken on the entire American resolution.

The resolution said there is now a threat to world peace in Palestine. If either the Jews or the Arabs ignore this order, the situation is automatically ruled a breach of world peace. The council then must consider immediately which steps to take to enforce the order. The UN charter lists diplomatic sanctions, economic sanctions and as a last resort the utilization of international land, sea and air forces.

Count Folke Bernadotte was instructed to supervise the cease-fire, which is of unlimited duration, and continue his efforts at Jewish-Arab mediation. Russia refused to support the sections concerning Bernadotte in the paragraph voting, contending he is trying to wreck the partition plan.

After some wrangling, Syria agreed not to press at this time for a vote on the proposal to ask the international court of justice for an opinion on the status of Palestine.

Johnny Estes Suffers Critical Injuries

Zale To Meet Cerdan for Middle Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Popular Tony Zale, a 34-year-old fighting champion from the steel mills of Gary, Ind., signed yesterday to defend his world middleweight title in September against Marcel Cerdan, the pride of France.

Ebbets field, Brooklyn, and Thursday, Sept. 23 are the best guesses for the site and date of this international contest that shapes up as the most interesting tidbit on the late summer program.

Andy Niederreiter, promoter of the Tournament of Champions, Inc., closed final details for this contest when Sam Pian and Art Winch, Zale's co-managers, agreed to terms. They settled on 40 per cent for their "tiger," who became one of the hottest draws in the game when he flattened Rocky Graziano at Newark in June.

Cerdan, signed after he reversed an earlier loss and regained his European crown from Cyrille Delannoit at Brussels Saturday, gets only 17 1/2 per cent as the challenger's share. This could be a good pay day if the fight catches the public's fancy.

If it is not Brooklyn, Niederreiter is considering Roosevelt stadium, Jersey City or Comiskey park, Chicago. He says Irving Kovin of Chicago has offered to underwrite the expenses, acting as co-promoter if the fight is staged in that city.

The boxing mob expects Andy and his "seven millionaires" to settle on handy Ebbets field, despite their successful Zale-Graziano promotion at Newark. They had to go out of town with that one for Graziano's New York license was revoked long ago because he allegedly refused to report a bribe offer.

Zale's three round knockout of Graziano June 10 was an extremely popular victory. An underdog in the betting, Tony outslugged the Rock in a furious bout to recapture the title he had lost in the steaming heat of the Chicago stadium in 1947.

For Cerdan, known as the Casablanca clouter, this is the realization of a life-long ambition. Despite a series of American victories, his quest for a championship shot appeared doomed as long as Graziano was the boss man. Zale's thumping triumph gave the Frenchman his chance.

Although many think he is considerably older than his announced age of 32, Cerdan made a hit in his New York bouts against George Abrams, Harold Green and Lavern Roach. He had a rough night in Chicago when Anton Raadik had him on the deck in the last round but he got up to win.

As is customary in such cases, the Zale camp insisted Cerdan agree to a return bout if he should lift the crown. That's part of the deal.

"Cerdan will be tougher than Graziano," says Winch, the fellow who plots Zale's ring strategy. "He throws more gloves, punches almost as hard as Rocky and doesn't give you a chance to get set."

Zale will train at Chicago and Cerdan will come to New York five weeks before the fight.

Poat Clips Pirates; Buc's Win 1st Game

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Ray Poat turned in his ninth victory of the year yesterday, pitching the New York Giants to a 10-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates after the Pirates eked out a 4-3 triumph in the opener of a doubleheader.

Poat scattered eight hits in going the route for the first time since June 25. The Pirates scored all of their runs in the eighth inning when Wally Westlake socked a three-run homer.

The Giants supported Poat's pitching with a 14-hit attack that included Johnny Mize's 19th four-bagger of the year.

The Pirates won the first game in the ninth inning when Stan Rojek singled.

Yanks Dip Browns, 4-2; Sanford Loses Ninth

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees pounded Fred Sanford for 11 hits including triples by Cliff Mapes and George McQuinn as they beat the St. Louis Browns last night, 4 to 2. Whitey Platt homered with one aboard in the fifth inning for the St. Louis runs.

Leonard Dips Birds; Phils Snap Streak

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Del Ennis' thirteenth home run with Ralph Caballero on base provided Dutch Leonard the margin he needed to beat the St. Louis Cardinals last night, 3 to 1. It was the Redbirds' sixth defeat in seven games and snapped a 7-game losing streak for the Philadelphia Phils.

The veteran knuckleballer turned in one of his best performances of the season.

A 'Dark' Day in Chicago

ALVIN DARK, rookie shortstop of the Boston Braves, jesses home plate in the second inning of yesterday's Boston-Chicago twin bill. Dark scored on Outfielder Jeff Heath's outfield fly as the Braves won, 2-0. The throw to Catcher Bob Scheffing of the Cubs was too late to catch the speedy Dark. Jim Russel awaits his turn at bat as Umpire Beans Rear don calls the play.

SUI Grid Ace Trips, Injures Spinal Cord in Cage Game

DES MOINES (AP) — John Estes Jr., University of Iowa football player, injured in an outdoor basketball game had "a very poor day" and was in "very critical condition" last night, hospital attendants reported.

Estes suffered a dislocation of his sixth cervical vertebra. Dr. Veri Ruth performed an operation and reported that the Negro athlete's spinal cord was virtually severed. Estes is paralyzed from the waist down.

Estes has been employed at the park as a lifeguard. The Des Moines youth lettered on last year's Iowa football team as a quarterback. At his own request, Estes was moved to half-back position in spring training, the position which he played in high school.

Estes played a major part in Iowa gridiron successes last fall. He is especially noted for his passing ability and ranked as the Hawkeye's number two passer behind Al DiMarco. In addition, he proved to be a speedy and deceptive runner and was notably dangerous in an open field.

A sophomore last year, Estes still has two years of collegiate eligibility remaining.

When informed of the accident, Dr. Eddie Anderson, Iowa coach said, "it shocks me so much that I can hardly express myself. He's a swell boy, and I feel awfully sorry for Johnny. I hope he makes a speedy recovery."

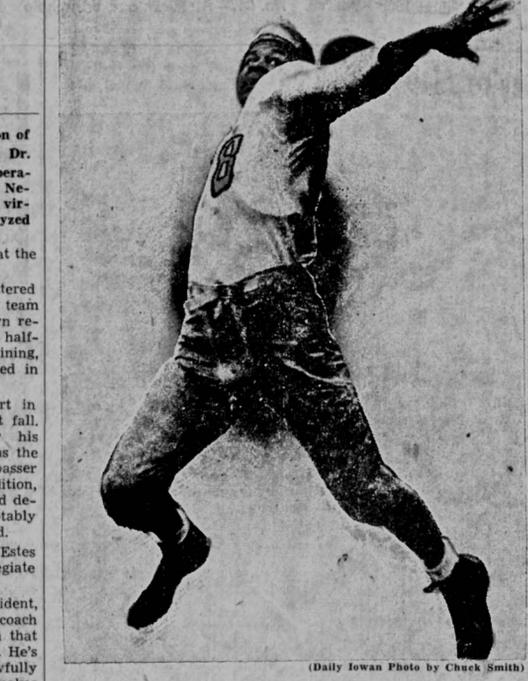

Two I. C. Netsters Get 2nd Round Wins in C. R. Tourney

Two Iowa City tennis players advanced to third round play in the Iowa State tennis open at Cedar Rapids yesterday.

Ken Cline and Ken Donelson received first-round byes in mens singles competition and went to three sets in their first matches. Cline downed Barker Bondurant, Des Moines, 6-6, 6-4, and 6-0, while Donelson dumped Russell Knapp, Cedar Rapids, 3-6, 6-4, and 6-2.

Four University of Iowa netsters survived first round play in the mens singles and will hit second round competition this morning.

Bill Crain whipped Bill Ritter, Stewart, Fla., 6-4, 6-2, while Roger Kroth rolled over John Palmer, Cedar Rapids, 6-1, 6-1.

Cleveland Beats A's Twice; 'Satchel' Wins in Relief Role

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ageless LeRoy (Satchel) Paige scored his first major league victory last night as the league leading Cleveland Indians swept a double header from the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 1 and 8 to 5. Ken Keltner's 21st home run in the eighth inning broke a 5-5 tie in the second game and enabled Cleveland to increase its first place margin to 2 1/2 games.

Hawklets Take Title, 1-0, In 8 Innings; Doran Hurls Win

Iowa City's Hawklets won the sectional high school baseball championship at Calamus last night with an eight-inning, 1-0, win over Muscatine.

Hurler Dick Doran struck out 17 and allowed only two hits to pace the winners. Iowa City bunched a sacrifice and two of its five hits to push across the game's lone tally in the eighth.

The Hawklets advanced to the finals by clipping St. Ambrose of Davenport, 10-9, and Calamus, 8-1. Muscatine reached the final round with a 4-1 victory over Olin.

Scarborough Drops Cellar Dwellers, 4-1

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ray Scarborough scattered seven hits to give the Washington Senators a 4-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox here last night. It was Scarborough's first win in five weeks and his sixth of the year against five defeats.

Tony Lupien's third inning home run staked the White Sox to a 1-0 lead but Scarborough's triple and Earl Wooten's single tied the score in Washington's third.

The Senators grabbed a 2-1 advantage in the fourth and got two runs in the fifth on a walk to Eddie Yost and singles by Wooten and Carden Gillenwater.

Dodgers Clip Reds, 5-3

CINCINNATI (AP) — Rex Barney, Brooklyn right-hander, pitched a five-hitter last night as the Dodgers defeated Cincinnati, 5-3, for their fifth win without loss this season on the Reds' diamond.

A crowd of 31,045, the largest gathering of the season, saw the Brooks club four Cincinnati pitchers for 10 hits.

Braves Extend Streak, 2-1

CHICAGO (AP) — The Boston Braves extended their winning streak to five straight by defeating the Chicago Cubs, 2 to 1, in the opener of a twin bill here yesterday. The nightcap was halted by darkness with the score tied, 1 to 1, in 13 innings.

Johnny Sain scattered seven hits for his 12th win in the opener. Bob Rush went the route for the Cubs in the nightcap while Bill Voiselle and Nelson Potter divided the Boston hurling.

The lone run off Cala came in the seventh inning when Andy Pafko, who collected three hits, singled and tallied on Phil Cavarretta's triple.

The Braves scored both of their runs off Ralph Hamner in the first inning.

In the nightcap, Rush, rookie Cub righthander, allowed 11 hits.

California's Rowing Shell 'Seriously' Damaged

ABOARD THE S.S. AMERICA (AP) — Extensive damage to the University of California's eight-oared shell was described as "very serious" yesterday by Coach Ky Ebright of the Olympic rowing squad.

It is feared that the Golden Bear oarsmen will be forced to miss several days of practice for their first race, Aug. 5.

George Pocock, famous shell builder, discovered four chewed holes on both sides of the No. 2 and No. 7 positions, apparently caused by jostling while the shell was enroute from the Princeton, N.J., trials to the S.S. America.

On their first day at sea, the members of the United States Olympic squad received uniforms and began light workouts on the sports deck despite a strong wind.

Boxer Win, 3-1, 13-5, Over Detroit Tigers

BOSTON (AP) — Lefty Mel Parnell knocked in two runs with a double while pitching the Boston Red Sox to a 3-1 win over the Detroit Tigers in the floodlighted half of a day-night doubleheader last night before a 33,892 crowd.

A 14,403 throng saw the Soxers trounce the Tigers, 13-5, in the sunlight.

Righthander Dizzy Trout, striving for his 10th win, limited the Soxers to four hits but they bunched three of them, all two baggers, in the third inning for all of their scoring.

Before the earlier crowd, the Soxers bunched most of their 12 hits against four Tiger hurlers for a pair of three run rallies and a seven run explosion in the seventh inning. Jack Kramer gave the Tigers 13 hits, including Wakefield's fifth homer, while chalking up his 10th win and his eighth in a row.

Bobby Doerr belted his 16th homer, his seventh this month, against afternoon starter Fred Hutchinson with Dom DiMaggio and Junior Stephens on base.

a fight over three pence (five cents) dropped on the floor of a bus.

Expect Enrollment To Reach 10,000

Nearly 10,000 students are expected to be enrolled at SUI for the fall semester, Registrar Ted McCarrel said yesterday. Last fall's enrollment was about 10,200.

"The 10,000 figure is just an estimate," McCarrel said. "We never know until the day classes begin how many will be here."

University housing for married students is full, McCarrel said, and housing for single men and women is nearing the capacity mark. The number to be enrolled is limited by the housing available, he said.

McCarrel said he could not estimate how many new students would be on campus next fall, as more than 60 percent of the applications are received after August 1st.

The 10-day conference began July 12 with principal attention directed at training hospital supervision.

Funeral Today For Reginald H. Richey

Funeral services for Reginald H. Richey, 82, Iowa City resident for 15 years, will be held at 2:30 this afternoon at Beckman's funeral home. Father D. A. Loferski of the Episcopal church in Cedar Rapids will officiate.

Mr. Richey died at 10:43 p.m. Wednesday, at his home, 108 Linn street.

Born August 30, 1865, at Sherbrook, Nova Scotia, Mr. Richey came to this country at the age of 17.

Before his retirement 15 years ago, he worked as a railroad telegrapher at Rock Island, Ill. After his retirement he came to Iowa City to live.

Mr. Richey is survived by his widow and five children; H. E. Richey, Honolulu; J. G. Richey, Rock Island; D. H. Richey, Davenport; Mrs. Marion Eckoff and Mrs. W. W. Tuttle, both of Iowa City.

Burial will be in Memory gardens.

McBride's Hall Some Municipal Musings

By BILL McBRIDE
I see where every male citizen in Springfield, Michigan, is lending a hand with the construction of a community activity center and gymnasium. The men of the village (population 500) turn out whenever they have a spare moment and help with the erection of the building that was estimated at $100,000 by a contractor.

The men are doing it for $35,000, and the amateur builders' wives bring meals to the construction site. I suppose IC is too large to show that kind of esprit de corps on the municipal swimming pool.

One of these hot days when you're downtown notice the policeman directing traffic. Standing out in the middle of a super-heated slab of concrete, wearing the conventional "blues" topped by heavy garrison style hats, policemen can become pretty hot. I wouldn't blame them if they were downright irritable.

If every motorist would contribute a nickel during the congested football season when the IC force works itself to a nub, summer uniforms could be purchased with a minimum of strain on any purse.

I'd suggest tan tropic worsteds with natty pith helmets to make our policemen the best dressed in the state.

I don't wish to detract from Des Moines' new art museum, but I'd wager any one of my four necktie racks (left over from Christmas) that the SUI art building holds at least twice as many praiseworthy art works as the D.M. museum which Harlan Miller has been boosting so end.

The nicest thing about our art building is that many times you can view a masterpiece and then go talk with the artist himself about his work.

One of these days you will be visiting New York, Des Moines or Chicago and some one will say, "You simply must see our art museum." You'll probably go because it will have been a woman who made the remark, and you don't get out of those situations easily.

She'll go into esthetic paroxysms over her community art center, but you'll settle her with, "Oh, I suppose these are all right, but I liked the work of Lechay or Albrizio or Joe Cox or Lasansky at SUI better."

Have to be careful about that, though. Some of our artists' works are being exhibited all over the country, and your statement might prove embarrassing if you didn't recognize Lasansky's "Pieta" hanging right in front of you.

For some abstract reason, automobile drivers in this community forget the elements of common courtesy as soon as they slide under the wheel. (Steering wheel, that is. Might not be a bad idea, though, to shove some of them under the right, rear wheel of their own vehicles.)

I would guess that most of the really discourteous driving is done by university students. Maybe a course in how to be friendly to your fellow man and still drive an automobile would help.

One of my agents reported a disgusting incident he witnessed on Washington street early in the week.

It seems there was an elderly man crossing the street with the green light. As he hobbled across rather shakily, a motorist, taking advantage of the same light, turned left but was forced to stop until the old gentleman could get out of his way. Instead of waiting a few seconds, the driver nastily leaned on his horn as if to say, "Move, you old fool! Can't you see a new generation wants through?"

In that case, I would excuse the old man if he had walked over and punched his cane right through the offender's windshield.

Russ Try New Tactic in Berlin Contest

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Russia's refusal of Allied demands for removal of the Berlin blockade was about as expected and the next move, presumably an appeal to the United Nations, should not take long.

As usual, though, the Russians have managed to introduce at least one new gimmick by offering to feed all of Berlin themselves.

The question, of course, will be "on what terms?" If they demand to supervise distribution they would only be doing what we would do in similar circumstances. But with the Russians there is no such thing as an objective observer confined to his assigned job.

Every Russian is an agent for the Bolshevik expansion program. Establishment of such a system in western Berlin would mean a dangerous infiltration.

So, if time brings acute need, the Russians can place us in the position of being a bunch of heels if we refuse food shipments, or suckers if we accept.

The remainder of the Russian reply takes the familiar tack of crying "you're another."

Going to the United Nations isn't going to do any practical good. Just more talk under the shadow of the ever-present veto.

Meanwhile, the Berlin situation becomes more dangerous. The Russians now threaten to interfere with the Allied air lift.

Market Basket Jumps 28 Cents

See New Increase; Meat Responsible

Meat prices screeched toward high "C" on the price scale yesterday as the The Daily Iowan market basket jumped 28 cents over last week's index.

Yesterday's index of $17.65 is the highest registered since The Daily Iowan began the market basket survey in September, 1947. Last week's index was $17.37.

"Meat prices are in for another big increase next week," one meat department manager said.

Beef prices to climb
Last week's rise in the wholesale price of pork reached the retail market this week, but rise in beef prices probably will not effect retail prices until Monday, he said.

Pork chops put the most telling dent in the food budget this week. Yesterday's survey registered a 10 cent rise over last week's 69 cents a pound.

All butchers in the stores checked in yesterday's survey agreed that relief in pork prices is unlikely.

"If anything, pork prices will go up," one butcher said. Others voiced about the same opinion.

While the 6 cents a pound increase in the wholesale price of choice beef has not reached the consumer yet, ground beef and choice round steak showed a slight rise yesterday.

Round Steak 95 Cents
One pound of ground beef is retailing for 61 cents, a 2 cent rise over last week's average. Round steak is also up 2 cents, selling for 95 cents a pound.

All other items in the market basket held to last week's average. The index increase is due entirely to rising meat prices.

On-the-hoof meat prices are the highest on record in the mid-western markets, according to the Wall Street Journal. Hogs are as high as $30.50 a hundred pounds in the Chicago market, and beef is up to $40.

Local butchers see no relief for consumers until fall, and some admit that such a prediction is optimistic. They say relief after Christmas is more like it.

The Daily Iowan market basket index is based on prices of 24 items in seven representative Iowa City grocery stores.

Prices listed are an average of all stores combined.

Yesterday's index of $17.65 is an estimate of what a student family of three persons will spend for groceries this week.

The cost of each food item is weighed in accordance with the amount of that item a student family of three uses in a week.

Pastor, Director Return From State Convention

The Rev. John C. Craig, Congregational pastor, and Grace Hadley, student director, have returned from the state Congregational fellowship conference and convention at Grinnell.

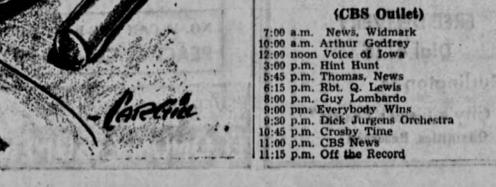

The convention decided to raise the goal of missionary funds from $10,000 to $15,000.

Mountaineers To Hold Moonlight Hike Tonight

The Iowa Mountaineers will go on a moon-light hike tonight, Mickey Thomas, chairman of the promotion committee, said yesterday.

Hikers will start from the engineering building at 5:45 this evening. Members are invited to bring their friends or any prospective member along, Thomas said. Anyone interested may participate, he added.

Among the Ruins

WSUI, KSUI To Broadcast School Work

When schools reopen this fall, WSUI and KSUI, working with the superintendent of Johnson county schools, will broadcast two programs daily especially for the classrooms of 97 Johnson county schools.

These programs, announced yesterday by Carl Menzer, director of SUI's broadcasting stations, will affect a possible total of 1,700 Johnson county school children, if all teachers take advantage of the programs.

Schools Have Radios
Frank Snider, superintendent of Johnson county schools, said that at the present time over 40 percent of Johnson county's rural schools have radios. However, he expects many more schools to benefit from the programs.

John Highlander, WSUI program director, said the broadcasts will supplement the formal teaching program. Later, the broadcasts may extend into other areas. "We may broadcast formal classroom subject material as a full and complete course," he said.

"These programs," Highlander said, "will naturally have a much wider audience than Johnson county schools. Eventually, we expect our program to enter most of the rural classrooms within a fifty mile radius."

Although the initial program will be designed for rural schools, Highlander said it may be possible later to add new programs for city schools.

Each teacher taking advantage of the broadcasts will be sent materials offering suggestions as to what might be done in the classroom to make the broadcasts more interesting and the lessons more easily learned, Highlander said.

Teachers May Broadcast
"Teachers gifted in one or more fields might be able to originate broadcasts from our studios, thus giving the benefit of their special knowledge and ability not only to their own classrooms but to all the classrooms at the same time," he said.

The programs will be broadcast initially in two half-hour periods, morning and afternoon, daily, both WSUI and KSUI. Later, Highlander hopes to switch the programs to KSUI alone.

Highlander plans to maintain very close contact with the teachers in rural schools. "We will send out questionnaires to the teachers regularly asking for suggestions which might improve our programs," Highlander said.

Above 20 Percent Of Iowa's Drivers Lack Licenses—Day

"Over 20 percent of the drivers operating automobiles on Iowa highways do not have drivers licenses," Lt. Clarence B. Day of the Iowa highway patrol told members of the Rotary club yesterday noon.

Day spoke of the lack of drivers licenses in emphasizing the need for a driver training program to educate the "man behind the wheel" in highway safety.

Travel on Iowa highways will increase 20 percent this summer, according to Day, and 35 to 65 percent of the traffic will be out-of-state cars.

The patrolman listed three factors that contribute to the accident rate: the car, the highway and the driver.

Mechanical defects of the car, said Day, account for less than 25 percent of the accidents. It is the driver that must be trained.

"You and I must do something about this problem," Day told the Rotarians. "The driver training program must be expanded," he said, "and your assistance is needed in creating the proper attitude toward driving in the minds of your children."

George Washington Didn't Sleep Here

Boy To Sleep in Hoover's Childhood Bed
Jack Baker, 6 years old, will soon have a bed that a president slept in.

His parents, Prof. and Mrs. Joseph E. Baker, 30 S. Governor street are having an antique youth bed that once belonged to Herbert Hoover refinished. Hoover, only living ex-president, had the bed when he was a child in West Branch.

The Bakers bought the bed three years ago from Mrs. Nyle Jones, 923 Iowa Ave. Mrs. Jones bought the bed several years previously from the Hoover family at West Branch.

The authenticity of the bed was confirmed three years ago when Mrs. Jones wrote a letter to ex-president Hoover inquiring whether he wanted to purchase the bed.

Mrs. Jones received an answering letter from Mrs. Hoover's private secretary reporting that the ex-president remembered the bed from his childhood. However, the letter said, Mrs. Hoover felt that there was no room at her Palo Alto, Calif. home for the bed, though the family would have liked to accept it. The Bakers now have the letter in their possession.

Alone at a Summer Pageant

One of the finest pageants the university has to offer its students, their parents, and all interested people is a commencement program. Commencement is a show-time. Visitors catch the spirit of the campus—absorb campus atmosphere.

But the climax to commencement time is the ceremony when parents, friends, or wives focus their interest on a certain person in a cap and gown.

This pageantry is carried out in the stadium at the University of Minnesota—described as "very pleasant" by a participant in evening exercises there.

Nearer home, Iowa State College (where the weather is no more certain than at SUI) holds evening stadium commencement ceremonies. Why not here?

Only a 'B' Picture . . .

Somewhat we have the feeling that there was something missing at the Democratic convention (and we weren't thinking of the Mississippi delegation). The amount of news copy from the convention was the same as that from the GOP meeting. And there were about the same sort of wirephoto shots—and just as many.

The only thing that carried unusual interest was the fight over civil rights, and that carried a few too many overtones of anger to be enjoyed.

In contrast, there was plenty of suspense in the Republican meeting. There was plenty of intrigue behind the scenes.

But the Democrats left us feeling let down. The only reason we can give is that GOP showmanship this year was far better than the Democrats'. The Republicans always seemed to have a new act in the ring and you never knew what was coming next. With the Democrats, it was like seeing a movie for a second time.

Back to the Salt Mines

President Truman has called for a special session of congress. The basic question would seem to be: Who's putting whom on the spot?

What the President is actually telling congress amounts to this: "You made a lot of plain promises to the American people in your party platform. Now come on back to Washington and get to work on keeping those promises. Put up or shut up."

And what will happen if the Republican congress does just that? Senator George, in a statement on the special session action, said the President had done more harm than good to his reelection chances. He pointed out that if congress takes up the challenge and passes housing and anti-inflation legislation, the Democrats will have no campaign talking point. They won't be able then to pin on the Republicans the charge of failure to pass needed legislation.

On the other hand, if congress dutifully sits in session, but does nothing about rising prices and the lack of housing, Truman can gain great political advantage. The theme of his campaign would then go something like this:

"I gave the Republican congress a chance to show its good faith to the American people, and it did nothing. Reelect me, and return a Democratic congress to office, and you'll get the things Republicans promise but never deliver."

Fortunately, there is one extremely comforting thought to be found in all this chess-game of political moves and counter-moves. It is simply that the American public, for once, gets the break. If legislation is passed, the public gets the benefit of it.

On the other hand, if nothing is done the public still is in a good spot. This is one of the best times to watch your favorite party or congressman in action. Now, just a few months before the election, you as a voter will be treated to a revealing picture of the November ballot.

Political opportunism suddenly takes a turn for public good.

Doing Anything Important?

Are you 35 and a U.S. citizen? Doing anything important in the next few months? Would you like to be a presidential candidate?

You see, it's this way. There's a branch of the Democratic party that hails from Mississippi and Alabama and other points south that isn't content with a field of only three presidential candidates.

According to them, the men running for the job all seem to think that the bill of rights is still a part of the constitution. And they say the Democrats' Mr. Truman is the worst one of all.

He wants to pass a civil rights program instead of letting southerners wipe out lynchings and the poll tax by themselves in the due course of time—50 or 60 years, say.

And what's worst, our southern friends moan, Mr. Truman has called for a special session of congress and has challenged the GOP to enact parts of their platform. And the Republican platform is in favor of measures against lynching, economic discrimination and segregation in the armed forces.

Naturally, all true friends of the south can't let such laws pass. Southerners must put up their own champion. Now Sen. Russell of Georgia—although he received 263 votes at Philadelphia—has refused to come to Birmingham for the rebel convention. And other southerners like Gov. Earl Long of Louisiana have kind of a bad odor surrounding them . . . and . . . Bilbo isn't around anymore.

So, if you haven't anything to do tomorrow, brush up on the workings of a feudal system and drop on down to Birmingham. You too can be a presidential candidate.

Time was when a graduation was a pretty big event in the life of a graduate and his family. But we're beginning to wonder if the university will let us make a big event of it. Wednesday morning a few of us stumbled on to the fact that August graduates are entitled to one whole ticket piece for the commencement exercises. It stands to reason that these plans must have been made some time ago, but why weren't the students notified sooner? After all, most families look forward to this event from the time their son or daughter enters the university.

Whatever the case may be, less than three weeks before graduation is a mighty poor time to have to tell your family that they should forget about coming to your graduation because you have but one ticket. Our parents are really going to appreciate that! And that single ticket—who gets it? What are we to do? Toss a coin?

Unless something can be done to remedy this situation, and quickly, these circumstances will leave very little respect for the State University of Iowa on the part of the graduating students and their families.

Mrs. Robert R. Meardon
Wife of an August Graduate

Work Progresses on New Firehouse

WORKING ON LIVING QUARTERS in the new temporary fire station on South Gilbert street are (left to right), Bob Parrott, Assistant Chief Ray Morgan and Harold Rogers. The building, only one large enough to house the new aerial ladder, will be used as the street maintenance department garage when the new firehouse is built.

Firemen Completing Temporary Station

Firemen hope to use the new temporary firehouse on South Gilbert street soon, according to Fire Chief J. J. Clark.

The building, between Court and Burlington streets, next to the city scale, is the only city building large enough to house the new aerial ladder truck. The old pumper is also housed there.

Firemen have been busy the past week erecting partitions to make a sleeping room and a kitchen to provide facilities for two men.

Two men from each 24 hour shift will be on duty at the station. Telephone connections were installed this past week.

The building will be used until a new firehouse can be constructed. It will be used later by the street maintenance department.

UMW Publication Slaps Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP) — John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers Journal asserted yesterday that organized labor itself should work for repeal of the Taft-Hartley act rather than depend on the Democratic party platform.

The Journal said that President Truman, "by his championship of anti-labor injunctions repudiated the labor guarantees of the Democratic platform of 1944."

Clear Condon After Double Loyalty Check

WASHINGTON, (AP)—After a double check, the atomic energy commission yesterday gave Dr. Edward U. Condon a renewed clearance to have access to restricted atomic data necessary to his work as director of the national bureau of standards.

The commission issued a memorandum declaring it has "no question whatever" concerning Condon's loyalty and that his continued clearance is in the "best interests of the atomic energy program."

Months ago, Condon came under fire from a subcommittee of the house committee on un-American activities. It called him one of the weakest links in the nation's atomic security and charged that he had associated with a suspected Russian spy. Condon vigorously denied the committee's accusations and demanded a hearing. None has been set by the house group.

Meanwhile, during the period when the atomic energy commission was reinvestigating his security clearance, Condon voluntarily agreed to restrict his activities and contacts so he would acquire no new atomic information.

Among the material examined by the commission before reaching the decision announced yesterday were reports on two investigations carried out by the federal bureau of investigation. The FBI interviewed more than 300 persons in the course of its inquiries, the commission reported.

Women of the First Baptist church will sponsor a pie social at the church, South Clinton and Burlington streets, 8 p.m. today.

The Rev. Elmer Dierks, pastor, announced that the proceeds will be used to buy chairs for the married student center, the Judson fellowship house which has been furnished from donations of parishioners.

Thirty, Scottish Highlanders To Drill for New York Lions

Thirty lassies of SUI's Scottish Highlanders will leave July 25 for New York City to perform for the International convention of Lions, Director William Adamson said yesterday.

Under the sponsorship of the Lions Clubs of Iowa, the Highlanders will parade down New York's famed Fifth avenue and will perform at Madison Square Garden before the 17,000 delegates, wives and friends. Delegates to the convention will represent 19 countries and 48 states.

Republicans Praise District Judges at Marengo Convention

Republicans at the eighth judicial district convention in Marengo yesterday commended District Judges Harold D. Evans and James P. Gaffney for their work on the benches of the Iowa and Johnson county courts.

Pointing up Gaffney's "commendable" record, the Republicans decided not to put up a candidate to oppose him in the November elections.

Gaffney is up for reelection for judge on the Democratic ticket. Referring to both Evans and Gaffney, the Republicans said in a resolution, "These jurists have established an enviable record . . . as eminent jurists, fair and impartial, without fear or favor, and they are commended for their accomplishments as judges of the eighth judicial district."

Wilber J. Teeters, former Iowa City mayor; Herbert J. Ries, and John Taylor, local attorneys, and R.E. Hatter, Marengo attorney, signed the resolution. Gaffney has been judge since 1933, Evans, since 1928.

To Hold GOP County Caucus Monday Night

Delegates and alternates to the state Republican convention to be held in Des Moines July 23 will hold a caucus in the courtroom of the Johnson county courthouse next Monday at 8 p.m., according to an announcement yesterday by Hal J. Dane, GOP county chairman.

The delegates and alternates were elected at the Johnson county Republican convention held July 2.

Polk County Court Asks Outside Judge To Try Cases Against County Officials

DES MOINES (AP)—The Polk county district court judges yesterday filed a written request with the state supreme court for appointment of an outside judge County Supervisor Ben B. Dewey, former Sheriff Vane B. Overturf and three of his deputies.

First Assistant County Attorney Ed S. Thayer, chief prosecutor of the Polk county fraud cases, conferred yesterday morning at the state house with Chief Justice W. A. Smith on the application. Thayer said the appointment of a special judge would probably be announced in a few days.

All five were indicted July 2. Dewey was indicted for conspiracy to defraud the county. Overturf, sheriff for eight years beginning in 1939, was jointly indicted with his chief deputy, W. M. (Mac) Byers, for conspiracy, and named alone in another indictment for obtaining county funds by false pretenses. Roy Holbrook and Ed Roach, also deputies under Overturf, were both indicted for perjury.

Two Damage Suits Totalling $9,090 Filed In District Court

Two damage suits totalling $9,090 were filed in Johnson county district court yesterday.

Parties in an $8,500 suit include, Harold Gatton, Oakdale; H. J. Sorenson, 715 E. Davenport street; Lawrence J. Sorenson, 301 1/2 Kirkwood avenue and Hugh J. Hoy.

A $590 suit was filed by Donald O. Wiese, Lone Tree farmer and insurance man, against John H. Milder, route 2, farmer.

Gatton filed the larger suit. The Sorensons were named defendants.

The suit involves an automobile accident that happened near Oakdale sanatorium, Jan., 1947. Gatton said Sorenson's car struck Hoy's car as it was approaching the entrance to Oakdale. Gatton said Hoy has assigned his cause of action and claims for damages to Gatton.

The suit was written in two counts. The first asked $5,000 damages for personal injuries suffered by Hoy; the second, $3,500 damages for personal injuries sustained by Imelda Hoy, his wife.

Messer, Hamilton, Cashill and Bartley are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Wiese asked judgment for damages resulting from an accident involving Wiese's and Milder's cars at Jefferson and Gilbert streets last January.

Wiese said he was driving north on Gilbert, was crossing the Jefferson street intersection when the defendant's car entered the intersection and hit the plaintiff's car.

Wiese said the right side of his car was badly caved in, the steering wheel loosened and the transmission knocked out.

The automobile was worth $500 less after the accident than it was immediately before, Wiese said.

The other $90 was asked to compensate for the 18-day loss of use of the car, Wiese said.

The plaintiff's attorney is Emil Trott.

BAVARIAN BREW IN U.S.
MUNICH (AP)—The beer which once made Bavaria famous is being sold again in the United States. More than 480,000 bottles of Bavarian brew are being exported monthly, according to the Bavarian foreign trade office.

More B-29s To Germany

WASHINGTON (AP)—Almost 100 U.S. superfortresses may be operating in the troubled area within the next week, it was learned last night.

Two groups of B-29s probably will arrive there within the next few days, usually well-informed sources said.

While the exact destination of the groups was not known, it is probable they will base on the big U.S. air field at Furstenfeldbruck, near Munich, Germany.

Already in Germany is another whole group of the long range bombers. The arrival in the European theater of the other two groups would bring the total of B-29s to at least 90.

The group now there is on what the air force describes as another rotational training mission to give air crews experience in trans-oceanic navigation and operation in overseas zones. However, the length of the visit of such training missions has been increased from the normal three or four weeks for individual squadrons making such trips to about three months.

Dutcher To Attend Navy Justice School

Attorney Dan C. Dutcher, 620 S. Summit street, will leave for California tomorrow to attend the School of Naval Justice at Port Huene, California.

The school is Dutcher's two-week annual "cruise" as a naval reserve officer.

Dutcher said he may attend classes of mock court martials. He said he did not expect to study the new court martial system pending for the navy.

The army's new court martial bill has been passed by congress, Dutcher said, but the navy's has not.

The new system referred to has enlisted men sitting on the court martial board.

pipe band in the world, the Highlanders present pipe numbers of Scottish songs, choral arrangements and perform popular Scottish dances.

The group will assemble and begin rehearsing in Iowa City July 22. Practice will be held each day until the date of departure.

group will leave on the Rock Island Rocket and arrive in New York City the following morning. The parade is scheduled for July 26 at 5 p.m., and the performance at the Garden on the following day.

Other performances are scheduled at West Point, N. Y., and Cleveland, Ohio.

Selected because of talent, cooperation and musical proficiency, the following students are scheduled to make the trip:

Virginia Anderson, Mallard; Margaret M. Barnes, Dysart; Jean Breckenridge, Boston, Mass.; Connie Carlson, Des Moines; Marthelle Cooley, Knoxville; Geraldine Fountain, Mount Union; Martha Fry, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Mary Gillen, Chicago, Ill.

Composing Hard Work--Hervig

Wife Aids in Task; Copies Symphonies

Composing a symphony is "the hardest work I know of," Richard Hervig, university music instructor, said yesterday.

Hervig, who does his composing at home, said he wrote his "Symphony in E Minor" in a house trailer in Hawkeye village.

The university symphony orchestra will play the finale of Hervig's symphony over the NBC network July 24.

"You feel crowded once in a while trying to write music in a trailer," Hervig said. "The barracks-apartment where we live now is much roomier."

"But there's really not much difference where you compose a symphony providing you have a place where you can be undisturbed for a couple of hours each day."

For Doctor's Degree
Hervig said he wrote his "Symphony in E Minor" as a thesis for his doctor's degree.

He began writing the symphony in the fall of 1946 and finished it in the summer of 1947, he said.

"My wife, Verna, copied all the parts," he added.

Mrs. Hervig said she spent all her spare time for three months copying parts for the various orchestra instruments.

"It would cost a 'small fortune' to hire a symphony copier, she explained.

Hervig is now working on a second symphony, but Mrs. Hervig doesn't know if she'll copy the parts for it or not.

She said their two daughters, Kristi, 4, and Jonna, 2 months, keep her pretty busy.

"It's Mine"
Asked how his "Symphony in E Minor" differs from other symphonies, Hervig answered, "It's mine. That's the only thing that's special about it."

Besides composing music, Hervig is personnel manager and librarian for the university orchestra. He also teaches theory of music at SUI.

Hervig said he began his musical career when he was a freshman in high school. He started playing the trombone.

Hervig received his master's degree here in 1941 and his doctor's degree in 1947.

"I feel that whatever I learned about composing, I learned here at Iowa," Hervig said.

TALKS TO 106,000 VETS
DES MOINES (AP)—The veterans information center, which yesterday celebrated its fourth birthday, has handled more than 106,000 calls from Iowa veterans.

Hosafeld, who held the world professional typing championship for ten years, will give demonstrations and lecture on typing methods and techniques Tuesday at 9 and 10 a.m. in room 309C, University hall, Masson said.

$239 Addition Brings Pool Fund to $7,869

The Community Dads reported a $239 addition to the swimming pool fund yesterday. This amount pushes the total collected in the drive to $7,869, William Grandrath, publicity chairman of the drive, announced.

The money collected yesterday was donated in the residential drive, according to Grandrath. This brings the total collected in the residential canvass to $1,906.27.

Totals from the other phases of the drive included $3,160 from the lodges, $2,772.73 from the business district and $35 from Coralville.

Grandrath announced the Coralville PTA, under the direction of Mrs. Virgil Bowers, will begin soliciting in Coralville next week for the swimming pool fund.

He said that if any group in other towns in the vicinity of Iowa City wishes to start a similar campaign, the committee in charge of the Dads drive will appreciate the additional help.

PUTTING FINISHING TOUCHES on a page of his second symphony, Richard Hervig gets "help" from his daughter, Kristi. The finale of Hervig's "Symphony in E Minor" will be broadcast on NBC July 24. The Hervigs live at 166 Riverside park.

Champion Typist, Managing Editor To Lecture Here

Alan Lloyd, managing editor of the Business Education World, and George Hosafeld, professional champion typist, will lecture next week in the college of commerce, Prof. William Masson, of the college of commerce announced yesterday.

Lloyd will talk Monday morning on "Pupil Activity Approach in Teaching of Junior Business Training." Masson said the lecture is open to the public and will be held in room 305 University hall at 11 a.m.

Monday at 2 p.m., Lloyd will speak on "How to Write a Professional Magazine Article." This lecture, also open to the public, will be held in room 307, University hall.

Lloyd will also speak at a luncheon for all business teachers Tuesday noon at the Iowa Union. Masson said reservations can be made in room 218 University hall or by calling ex. 2320.

Hosafeld, who held the world professional typing championship for ten years, will give demonstrations and lecture on typing methods and techniques Tuesday at 9 and 10 a.m. in room 309C, University hall, Masson said.

9 Killed When B-29 Crashes While Landing

SALINA, KANS. (AP)—Nine men were killed yesterday in the crash of an army B-29 bomber returning from a simulated bombing mission over four mid-western cities.

Col. Leslie G. Mulzer, commanding the 301st very heavy bombardment squadron at the Smoky Hill air base near here, said one other member of the crew was seriously injured and three others escaped by bailing out at an altitude of 1,200 feet.

The crash occurred about a half mile east of the village of Smolan, Kan., about 2:25 p.m. (Iowa time).

The plane crashed as it was coming in for a landing on its return from a mission with a group of other bombers. It was one of a group which had made simulated bombing runs over St. Louis, the two Kansas cities and Omaha, Neb.

Identification of the dead and the one injured man was withheld.

Colonel Mulzer said a fire apparently broke out in the bomber after it struck the ground and bounced in a muddy field.

The planes left the Smoky Hill base at 9:30 a.m. for the training flight. They had passed one Kansas City about 40 minutes before the crash occurred.

The air base listed three survivors of the crash as 1st Lt. Donald Zellman, 2nd Lt. Lyle B. Beaudau and Staff Sergeant Earl W. Rueter.

Emergency vehicles on the way to the scene encountered trouble with the mud. One ambulance became mired in the mud and an army fire truck overturned about half a mile from the scene.

Sculptor Illustrates

Social Changes Modelled In Stone

In Unique Thesis Work

Unique in modern sculpture is the current work of SUI's graduate artist Stanley Kears. His triptych is a three-figure family group, each figure capable of meaning by itself. Combined, the group gives a picture of modern art and the influences that have shaped it.

The mother is constructed along the lines of early Greek primitive art and symbolizes a fertility goddess of the early robust period. The male abstractly resembles the Greek "Dying Gaul" ("the decadence of Greek art"). The child, product of the two, is intended to represent the art of today, product of both influences.

From Connecticut
Kears comes from Waterbury, Connecticut. With his sisters

Heloise, Roberta and Lucille, his family is directly descended from Virginian Thomas Jefferson.

Both of his parents were writers, but since the age of three Kears' means of communication have been the graphic arts. At that age he began tackling the problem of perspective versus symbol representation with a crayon. Then followed painting and water colors.

He continued his painting at Yale where he won numerous painting prizes and became president of Pi Alpha Beta fraternity while working on his masters degree.

After leaving Yale he taught in a prep school in 1942 before joining the combat engineers of the army.

Kears came to SUI in 1946 after visiting several university art schools. He found SUI "in the vanguard of progressive art education in this country," he said. He praised the helpful work of Humbert Albriizo, head of the sculpture school here.

Shifts to Sculpture
Here Kears changed his medium of expression. His sculpture, first taken as secondary studio work, became more important. "My background in painting didn't equip me to express the feeling of the times I was trying to achieve in my work," he said.

In painting "the backlog of old habits clogged up attempts at new expression," said Kears. He found new freedom in the three-dimensional sculpture.

Kears' work has been an attempt to express "the dislocations in current society brought about by new scientific developments and wars." The artist responds, like a photoelectric cell to the vibrations and emotional overtones of his time, said Kears, "and he converts them to aesthetic expressions."

What he means by this can be seen in some of his figures. There is "Dachau," a gaunt, tormented human figure with the patina of aged bronze to accent its message.

There is the tortured "Hiroshima," almost divorced from human life, which "expresses the implications of the atomic bomb for the past, the present and the future," a truly universal figure.

One breast of "Electra," his female figure made from Vermont blue marble has atrophied away. "This symbolizes the new woman and her change from biological meaning to the career girl of today," he said. It expresses the implications of the Electra symbol for universal time in the Freudian sense as well, said Kears.

Working on Thesis
"Hiroshima" and "Electra" were thesis works. Kears hasn't decided yet whether his triptych will be submitted as a thesis work.

Commenting on the universal, time-binding theme running through his work, Kears says, "It's necessary for the artist to get back from abstractions to content." The return to social meaning is "inevitable" he said, in order to contact the people and make them aware of their relations to each other.

"ONE MAN'S FAMILY" GROUP under construction demonstrates influences on modern art and the work of graduate sculptor Stanley Kears. Kears' three-figure group ("each figure has meaning by itself") is unique in modern sculpture. "Momma", sitting, demonstrates early robust Greek primitive influences. "Poppa", sitting, demonstrates decadence of late Greek art and "Sonny", product of both of them, represents modern art.
