BELGRADE (AP)—Ambassador Cavendish Cannon told Russia and the Soviet satellites yesterday the United States intends to reject any Communist monopoly over Danube river shipping. Europe's most important inland waterway will remain cut in two, the American diplomat said, unless the Communist bloc goes part way toward meeting the demands of the western powers.

May Resume Moscow Talks

MOSCOW (AP)—Envoys of the three western powers expect a call from Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov today or tomorrow to resume negotiations to solve the east-west deadlock in Germany and perhaps all Europe.

After two lengthy meetings with the Russians—one Monday night with Prime Minister Stalin and another Friday night with Molotov—all or most of the issues between the four powers have been brought into the open and laid on the conference table.

Chapman, Cooper Lead in Ky. Races

LOUISVILLE, KY. (AP)—Rep. Virgil Chapman of Paris took a commanding lead over his nearest opponent for the Democratic senatorial nomination last night as returns came in from the rural areas of Kentucky.

John Young Brown of Lexington, who led earlier with large pluralities piled up in organized labor strongholds, trailed by more than 11,000 votes with more than half the state's 4,057 precincts reported.

The unofficial count in 2,081 precincts was: Chapman 60,162; Brown 49,057, and Milton T. Whitworth, Elizabethtown, 7,406.

Senator John S. Cooper of Somerset was assured the Republican senatorial nomination. Unofficial returns from 2,064 precincts gave Cooper 30,568 to 2,738 for his only opponent, Silas A. Sullivan of Jamestown.

'Buy-No-Meat' Drive Of Housewives Growing

CHICAGO (AP)—Budget-harried housewives increased their buy-no-meat campaign over telephone wires yesterday in the face of a government prediction that meat prices will go higher.

The boycott plan, originating in Dallas, spread to such cities as Louisville, Boise, Kansas City, San Francisco, Indianapolis, 16 cities in Texas and half a dozen in Wisconsin.

The housewives' crusade was aimed directly at one of two causes given by the department: record consumer buying power and a decline in the output of meats and other livestock products.

Lie Asks Accord On German Crisis

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—Secretary-General Trygve Lie called on the big powers yesterday to settle the German problem either inside or outside the United Nations.

Lie said in his annual report to the general assembly he didn't care how the four interested nations tackled the problem so long as they reached a solution.

St. Laurent Will Succeed King as PM

OTTAWA (AP)—Louis Stephen St. Laurent, French-Canadian minister for external affairs, was named yesterday successor to Canada's Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King.

He was elected leader of the National Liberal party on its first ballot yesterday.

And as leader of this dominant Canadian party, he automatically will become prime minister when King retires, probably about the end of this year.

He defeated two candidates, James Garfield Gardiner, minister for agriculture, and C. C. Power, former air minister.

St. Laurent, former corporation lawyer from Quebec, is 66 years old. He will be the first French Canadian prime minister Canada had since Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1919.

The Liberal party convention gave St. Laurent 848 votes, Gardiner 323, and Power 56. A simple majority was all that was needed.

U.S. Awards Grant To SUL's Dept. of Clinical Psychology

SUL's clinical psychology department was one of the 86 medical and educational institutions awarded federal grants yesterday, the Associated Press reported.

The grants are for mental health research and training of mental health personnel. Oscar Ewing, federal security administrator, made the announcement in Washington yesterday. No specific amounts were disclosed.

Under the mental health program, authorized by congress in 1946, $2-million was provided for training and research grants and fellowships. This is one part of a three-fold $9,025,000 program authorized for the year ending June 30, 1949.

Grants announced yesterday go to universities, hospitals and clinics to support their training programs. They also provide training stipends in the fields of psychiatry, clinical psychology, psychiatric social work and psychiatric nursing, and to support mental health research.

The grants were recommended by the National Advisory Mental Health Council and approved by the surgeon general of the U. S. public health service.

Police Arrest Four In Stove Theft Case

Four men were arrested Friday night near Anamosa in connection with a recent wave of stove thefts from rural schools in Cedar, Johnson and surrounding counties.

One of the men, Albert Meaker, 35, Tipton was arraigned yesterday in Justice of the Peace Kadlec's court in Iowa City on a charge of breaking and entering. He pleaded not guilty and waived to the grand jury. Bond was set at $2,500.

The other three men are being held in the Jones county jail in Anamosa.

The four men were arrested as they were stripping iron from a rock crusher, according to Sheriff Charles R. Willey of Cedar county.

The series of stove thefts began late in June when two rural school districts reported that stoves had been taken from their schools. By the middle of July, 12 schools in Johnson county had reported that stoves and parts of furnaces were stolen.

Communists Fail To Stop French Financial Reform

PARIS (AP)—The government's financial reform scheme hurdled its first obstacle yesterday when the finance committee of the French national assembly rejected a Communist motion to refuse to study the plan.

The Communists have launched a violent campaign against the plan, which would give the cabinet emergency powers to reorganize the national economy by decree.

Ferguson Speech Hits Truman's Refusal To Yield 'Loyalty' Files to Investigators

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress wrote its own ticket last night on anti-inflation and housing legislation, heard a call to impeach President Truman, then slammed the door on the extra session.

The house adjourned at 6:31 p.m. (Iowa time); the senate at 7:30 p.m. They had met July 26 and had been in session 11 working days.

The adjournment was until December 31, with a provision that the session may be resumed earlier on call of the Republican leaders.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) raised the cry of "impeachment" last night in a bitter attack on President Truman for refusal to let the lawmakers have "loyalty" files on government workers for use in Communist inquiries.

"Congress is rapidly being pushed into the intolerable position of having either to legislate through a blind spot or compel the President to answer for his conduct in impeachment proceedings," Ferguson said in a senate speech.

That was only one of several references the Michigan senator made to impeachment in the long address. And he set forth a long list of other accusations of censorship and secrecy in addition to the "loyalty" filecount.

The White House had nothing to say in reply, Ferguson accused "New Dealers" of sharply speeding up a long-existing trend toward keeping secrets from the congress and the people. He said their aim was "to accomplish a peaceful revolution and they didn't want to answer any more questions than they had to."

"How far must this trend go before the congress and the people must use drastic means to put a stop to it?" Ferguson demanded.

Ferguson's speech precipitated a near-riot. Acting Republican leader Wherry (Neb.) and acting Democratic leader Tydings (Md.) were the principals.

Tydings tried—unsuccessfully—to reply to Ferguson. But the GOP rushed through an adjournment vote with the Democrats calling the whole thing "high handed and a disgrace."

With a few minor exceptions, the lawmakers rewrote, blocked, or just plain ignored the far-ranging program Mr. Truman presented with an "urgent" label.

The President's eight-point anti-inflation program emerged cut down to two: revived curbs on installment buying and higher reserve requirements for banks belonging to the federal reserve system. The senate beat back by a 53 to 33 vote a Democratic attempt to revive rationing, price and wage control powers. The Truman plan to bring back the excess profits tax wasn't even considered.

Republicans said their housing bill would encourage the construction of low cost homes and rental housing. But it omitted the federal subsidies for public housing and slum clearance that were features of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill endorsed by the President.

In its last day, Congress cleared first the housing bill, then the anti-inflation measure.

Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), President Truman's running mate in the fall campaign, pleaded for adoption of the White House anti-inflation program. He said a do-nothing policy would endanger America's economy and national security and impair the nation's foreign policy. Inaction on high prices, he declared, will cost the American people $10-billion in the next year.

But Senator Taft of Ohio, the Republican policy chief, asserted bluntly:

"Price controls won't work in America in peacetime."

The senate passed the bill by a Barkley amendment. The house approved the bill as amended by the senate, 337 to 111.

Taft Halts Tobin Confirmation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman nominated former governor Maurice J. Tobin of Massachusetts to be secretary of labor last night but Senator Taft (R-Ohio) blocked senate confirmation.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, asked for senate confirmation last night on the ground that, barring "extraordinary circumstances, the President has the unquestioned right to choose members of his own cabinet."

Tobin, former Democratic mayor of Boston as well as governor of the bay state, would succeed the late Secretary Lewis B. Schwelbach.

However, legislators said Mr. Truman can give Tobin a recess appointment while congress is in adjournment. They said Tobin then can serve and draw his pay pending action at the next session of congress.

Diplomatic Efforts Relax Tensions; Congress Winds Up Work

MISSION TO MOSCOW

Outcome of Diplomatic Moves Still a Secret

The dark cloak of diplomacy descended upon a globe shivering from a cold war. The "Mission to Moscow" of envoys from the three western powers—U.S., Britain and France—has served to relax the tension. But it has also left the outside world in the dark.

From Moscow, American Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith could only say "no comment". In Washington, Secretary of State George Marshall could only say "no comment."

The following is a chronology of events gathered from information sneaked over the back fence:

Monday — Ambassador Smith, French Ambassador Yves Chataigneu and Frank Roberts, special British representative spent more than two hours talking with Prime Minister Stalin. The three envoys emerged smiling, affable and tight-lipped.

Tuesday — Moscow was silent but a wave of optimism radiated from Berlin to Washington and back. Predictions of an end to the Berlin blockade and a four power meeting flew everywhere, while in Berlin, Russian-backed police were ordered to arrest on sight any western-backed police they could find.

Wednesday — The western envoys conferred for three hours on their next step in negotiations with Russia. Rumor had it that the envoys had received or were receiving advice from their governments to take the next step.

Thursday — The western envoys gathered in Ambassador Smith's office and stayed until after midnight. It was conceded that they had fully informed their governments and had received further orders. A new meeting with the Soviets was shaping up.

Friday — While the Soviets hen U. S. international prestige, congress authorized the $65-million loan to the UN to build a permanent headquarters in New York City.

The senate, tiring of the Dixiecrat filibuster to kill the anti-poll tax bill, dropped the issue and forgot about civil rights.

The house readied an anti-inflation bill especially concocted as a counter to Mr. Truman's proposals. It called for restrictions on installment buying and bank credits. A housing bill minus slum clearance and low-rent housing subsidies which the administration requested was also being shaped up. On Saturday afternoon, congress planned to push the two bills through and go home.

Alleged Communist spies with their indictments and counter denials took the limelight as congressional committees heard Louis Bunden, former Communist editor; Whittaker Chambers, former member of the Communist underground in Washington; Nathan Silvermaster, accused of being a spy; Alger Hiss, another oft-named suspect, and a "mystery witness" who is supposed to crack the whole business wide open.

Demands went up to haul Henry Wallace in for questioning; Rep. McDowell (R-Pa.) said the U. S. shipped uranium to Russia during the war, and Federal Security Administrator Oscar R. Ewing came under attack for "suppressing" the work of Commissioner of Education John W. Studebaker and for allegedly using a government-paid cook for his own needs.

Bigger things were up behind it all. It became apparent that President Truman would base his campaign on attacks against the Republican congress. The special session strengthened his hand.

The Dewey-Warren team, which has remained aloof of congress, will have to end up defending it. It is possible for the Republicans to win the presidency and lose control of the senate. The only official try Dewey made to guide congressional action was his request to liberalize the displaced persons bill. A senate subcommittee said no.

While congress is shaping up as a weak spot in the coming campaign, the Democrats received a double-barrelled slam. Political observers have been saying right along that Democratic organizations on local levels, and particularly in areas controlled by "bosses", have been failing apart.

In primaries this week in Missouri and Tennessee, Pendergast and Crump machines had monkey wrenches thrown into them when their candidates were beaten. The Democrats may have trouble winning votes in November in districts formerly "tied up" by the bosses.

At its national convention, the Communist Party of America endorsed Henry Wallace and agreed not to place candidates in the running at any level where they would compete with Progressive candidates. The party also re-elected its top 12 leaders who are under federal indictment for allegedly plotting the overthrow of the government.

Israel Asks for Peace; Far East Brews Trouble

Israel — The government made an offer to negotiate a peace with the Arabs through the U.N. Earlier, the government announced it will demand territories beyond the borders set for it by the UN partition plan because of military successes against the Arabs. The government also set up labor conscription for all immigrants who arrived after the beginning of the UN truce, July 18.

Greece — The remnants of Markos Vafiades' Communist guerrillas was reported fleeing in confusion toward Albania with Greek troops hammering at them all the way. Temporarily aid and military advice seem to have swept the guerrilla menace from Greece.

Malaya — After months of open agitation, Malayan Communist insurgents met British forces in open battle. The British employed rocket-firing Spitfires and heavily armed forces in an effort to crack the resistance. While the world insists on keeping its eye glued on Europe, Communist aggression and ideological warfare is making big gains in the far east.

Japan — Japanese Communists plastered Tokyo with posters shouted defiance of the govern-

Raschi Blanks Indians, 5-0, For New York

CLEVELAND (AP) — The New York Yankees climbed within two percentage points of the American league's front-running Cleveland Indians yesterday as Vic Raschi pitched the Yanks to 5-0 fourth hit triumph over the Indians before a crowd of 43,439 paid customers.

Only Larry Doby and Dale Mitchell, who collected two singles apiece, were able to solve the star righthander's pitching. Raschi fanned seven, including Catcher Jim Hegan three times, in posting his 14th victory of the year and his fifth shut out.

Jolting Joe Di Maggio drove home three runs on a pair of doubles and also stole home on the front end of a double steal to climax a three-run third inning rally.

Bob Lemon, seeking his 15th victory of the year, started for Cleveland and was tagged with his 10th loss.

Mills Ailing, Asks For Postponement Of Lesnevich Title Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—The Tournament of Champions' tentative doubleheader championship fight card was cut in half yesterday when Light Heavyweight King Freddie Mills asked for a postponement of his title fight because of illness.

Mills had agreed to meet ex-Champion Gus Lesnevich of Cliffside, N.J., in a return 15-rounder on the same program matching Middleweight Champ Tony Zale and Marcel Cerdan of France.

The twin title bill was to be staged at Brooklyn's Ebbets field, Sept. 23, 24 or 25.

But yesterday Mills, who lifted Lesnevich's crown in London July 26, begged out of the return. Ted Broadribb, manager of the champion, said Mills has been suffering from severe headaches since that fight and has been unable to train.

The news came as a stunning blow to the young promotional group. Promoter Andy Niederreiter and his backers had hoped to make a sizable dent in Mike Jacobs' fistie empire with this spectacular, although costly, prestige show.

Meanwhile Niederreiter continued plans to go ahead with the Zale-Cerdan title battle.

Gettel's 4-Hitter Raps Bosox, 5-1

CHICAGO (AP) — Allen Gettel pitched a four hitter over the Boston Red Sox in sparking the Chicago White Sox to a 5-1 victory over the fourth placers here yesterday. It was Chicago's second straight win over the contending Red Sox.

Boston scored its only run in the sixth. Stan Spence singled and counted on Moses' double.

Gustine's 11th Inning Clout Nips Giants, 5-4

NEW YORK (AP) — Frankie Gustine slammed an 11th inning homer yesterday to enable the Pittsburgh Pirates to shade the New York Giants, 5-4.

Gustine's poke, his eighth of the season, was yielded by Ray Poat, sixth Giant pitcher.

The loss prevented the Giants from moving into a three-way tie with the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers for second place in the pennant derby.

BOSTON (AP) — In his third attempt, Big Johnny Sain last night pitched his 14th victory for the National league leading Braves who snapped out of the doldrums they have been in for a week and defeated the tail end Chicago Cubs 6-3 before 20,028 fans. Starter Johnny Schmitz, who last won a game in Boston June 25, 1942, was the loser.

Walks Beat Errors; Leahy Sees Star Loss

DETROIT (AP) — Five Detroit errors — three of them by Shortstop Johnny Lipon — counted heavier than the 13 walks issued by two Washington pitchers yesterday as the Senators wrung out a 3 to 2 victory over the Tigers in 10 innings.

Lipon's third error, combined with singles by Gil Coan and Ed Stewart, gave the Nats an unearned 10th inning run that gave Dizzy Trout his 12th defeat.

The Tigers got seven hits off Sid Hudson and Lefty Forrest Thompson and left 17 runners stranded on the bases.

EVANSTON, ILL. (AP) — Frank Leahy, coach of the college all-stars, predicted a 40-point beating from the Chicago Cardinals August 20 "unless we get in shape in a hurry."

The Notre Dame coach sounded this doleful note yesterday after the first all-star scrimmage. He said the team looked "fair." Offensive single wing and "T" formation backfields operated alternately throughout the workout. Outstanding for the single wing group were Herman Wedemeyer of St. Mary's and Wisconsin's Jug Girard, who consistently passed to Bump Elliot of Michigan for long gains. Elliot took many of the passes in lateral plays and made the yardage himself.

Howard Yerges of Michigan and Bill Luongo of Pennsylvania also ran for good yardage from the single wing formation.

In the "T" it was all Johnny Lujack. The ex-Notre Dame all-American hit former teammate Billy Gompers and Columbia's Bill Swiacki for touchdowns in the informal scrimmage.

On defense, ends Ike Owens of Illinois and "Zeke" O'Connor of Notre Dame, and Mario Giannelli, Boston College guard, were outstanding.

Brissie Keeps Athletics In Pennant Fight

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The pennant-minded Philadelphia Athletics lashed back at the St. Louis Browns for a 7 to 1 victory last night, capitalizing on the steady southpaw twirling of Big Lou Brissie and some solid stickwork by Ferris Fain, Pete Suder and Herman Franks.

The victory moved the A's a half a game ahead of the Cleveland Indians and the New York Yankees on the basis of games, but they still trailed the Indians by two points and were tied by two points in the percentage column.

The never-say-die men of Connie Mack, who were handed a 2 to 1 setback by the lowly Browns Friday night, roared back last night and slammed the offerings of four Browns pitchers for sixteen hits, including four by Franks, three by Suder and a homer by Fain. Franks' four blows included a brace of doubles.

IC Cardinals Take Doubleheader From Chicago, 2-1, 2-0

With both Paul Reberry and Don Danner hurling effective ball, the Iowa City Cardinals whipped the Chicago Matches, 2-1 and 2-0, last night at Kelley field.

The Cards evened the score with the Matches by taking both games of the National Softball league doubleheader. The series now stands at three games apiece.

In the first game, the Iowa City team was outlit five to four, but bunched three of their safeties in the fourth inning to score its two runs. Chicago collected its lone run in the first on a single and an error.

In the other tilt, Reberry held the Matches to two hits and fanned nine. His mates jumped on Art Piotter for five singles, four of them in the third frame, to win the game.

The double win gave the Cards a .500 record in the league with 16 wins and 16 losses.

Sammy Snead Browns 66 To Lead Tourney

CHICAGO (AP) — Samuel Jackson Snead caught the scent of the Tam O'Shanter money trial yesterday and raced to a six under par 66 for a three-stroke lead among a dozen pros gunning for a winner-take-all pot of $10,000.

The veteran campaigner from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., winner of the Tam International tourney in 1946, fashioned two birdies and seven pars for a 34 on the first nine and blasted a 32 on the second.

On the back side he birdied last two holes, needing only a three foot putt for a 3 on the 18th to touch off thunderous applause from an estimated 10,000 spectators.

Lefty Johnny Vander Meer had the Dodgers beaten, 6-1 on four hits going into the ninth when he blew up, yielding four straight hits before Gumbert took over and nailed the next two batters to end the game.

Men Tankers in Clean Sweep

LONDON (AP)—America's Olympic valiants wrapped up unofficial team championships in two major sections of the games yesterday — track and swimming — but their victory celebration was dulled by an unhappy incident in the 400 meter relay.

The stout American dash team, anchored by Mel Patton of Southern California, won the race with some ten yards to spare only to have the triumph nullified by disqualification.

The judges ruled the Americans committed a foul when Barney Ewell of Lancaster, Pa., sought to hand the baton to Detroit's Lorenzo Wright. Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace ran the third section of the race.

Cromwell protests
So the gold medals in the race went to the British, who finished in :41.3 to beat out Italy and Hungary in that order.

Dean Cromwell, veteran U. S. track coach immediately announced "I have protested."

"I do not think I went over the line," said Ewell, who went over later to explain the case to Avery Brundage, president of the U. S. Olympic committee and a member of the board of appeal.

The Americans amassed a staggay team, composed of Art Harnden, Cliff Bourland, Roy Cochran and Mal Whitfield, captured that event to give the United States a total of ten championships for the eight days of arduous competition.

The Americans omitted a stagay team in the 1,500 meter relay. The two relays and the marathon run were the championships decided on this eighth day of competition, staged in comfortable weather before 84,000.

The marathon—a grind of 26 miles, 385 yards—was won by Delfo Carbroda, a tireless Argentine, in two hours, 35 minutes, 7.6 seconds. Tom Richards of Britain rallied to overtake E. Gaily of Belgium for second place.

The United States domination of track and field was duplicated at the nearby Wembley pool where the American water magicians clicked off three more championships and left two Olympic records straggling.

These conquests—by Philadelphia's Joe Verdure in the 200 meter breast stroke, Ann Curtis of San Francisco in the 400 meter free style and Jimmy McLane of Akron, Ohio, in the 1,500 meter free style—gave American splashers a sweep of the men's six swimming and two diving titles and the women enough points to take the team crown. The girls won two diving and two swimming events.

Verdeur, who has been cracking the Olympic record on almost every outing, won the 200 meter breast stroke in 2:39.3 to beat the record of 2:40 he had hung up in a preliminary heat.

Pretty, Blond Miss Curtis, who has found a new "kick," also broke the Olympic record in out-distancing Denmark's favored Karen Margrethe Harup in the women's 400 meter free style. Her time of 5:17.6 cut deeply into the mark of 5:25.7 Miss Harup had registered Friday.

McLane Completes "Slam"
To McLane, 17-year-old Andover academy student, went the honor of scoring the last American victory and clinching the U.S. swimming "slam." His time for the 1,500 meter free style was 19 minutes, 18 1/2 seconds.

Over at Henley on the Thames, the University of California's eight oar crew swept into the Olympic rowing finals within one shot of the championship America has held since 1920.

This success — plus the advance of the two four-oar shells, University of Washington's quartet with coxswain and Yale university's four-oar without — afforded some consolation for the surprising defeat of Sculler Jack Kelly, Jr., of Philadelphia.

The 21-year-old Kelly, figured a cinch to win the title he achieved in the 1920 Olympics, was defeated in a semifinal heat by G.E. Risso of Uruguay. Troubled by a cold, Kelly collapsed at the finish.

Verdeur, who has been cracking the Olympic record on almost every outing, won the 200 meter breast stroke in 2:39.3 to beat the record of 2:40 he

Conflict Between Iowa and Iowa State

Our neighbors not too far distant at Iowa State college are raising their voices in vile oaths intended to be heard by the inhabitants of this fair college town. We're just awful, they say. To be more specific, we're downright crooks.

Ho hum. Nothing like a friendly controversy over something as old as the two schools. Everybody wants to get into the act about the star high school athletes and the particular college of their choice.

Here's a short paragraph from the Iowa State Daily Student concerning said subject:

"Iowa U. (the name is University of Iowa, thank you) is busily proving that Iowa State can't compete with it in the open market for high school athletes. One young fellow all signed up for Iowa State wrote a friend here the other day explaining that he wasn't going to show up in the fall. 'After all,' he apologized, 'I couldn't turn down the presidency of the University of Iowa.'"

We're sure President Huncher will be glad to find out that his job is in jeopardy. At least the Iowa State paper claims it is, anyway.

Other than that, if a battle for a particular prep athlete should develop to a monetary plane, we don't see why Iowa State should come in second. After all the school is agricultural, Iowa is an agricultural state. Many of the farmers are graduates of Iowa State. And who has most of the money in the state? Why, the farmers, naturally.

The Tri-City Blackhawk professional basketball team is more than a little interested in getting Jack Spencer's name on a contract. We hear the offer is most inciting. But Jack has turned it down several times and hasn't been able to make up his mind.

That would be quite a ball club with Spencer feeding Murray Wier in the fashion that carried Iowa to second place in the Big Nine last winter.

Probably one reason why the United States' basketball team is not winning its games in the Olympics by about 150 points per contest is due to the rules in use. We haven't seen much written about it, but have been told the eagers are using the old center jump after each basket.

That rule went out in this country somewhere back in the far distant 1930's. It does slow down the brand of ball plus the fact that the Americans would have to change their type of play accordingly. Even so, they'd get every tip with the seven-foot Bob Kurland of Phillips' Oilers in the lineup!

Isn't it funny the way certain types of publicity to athletes will backfire in no uncertain manner?

Take the case of Mel Patton, Southern California's ace track sprinter. Just prior to the 100-meter run in the Olympics, one national magazine published his picture on its cover and on the inside called Patton the "world's fastest human." He finished fifth in the race behind his two U. S. teammates, Harrison Dillard and Barney Ewell.

We also got a chuckle out of another magazine which published a story authored by golfer Bobby Locke. The title of the story was "Play Golf with Me — And Be Calm." After reading how Bobby blew the Tam O'Shanter tourney Friday, we'd say he'd better glance back over his masterpiece and take some of his own advice.

Roberts Tops Cards for Phils

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Robin Roberts, the Philadelphia Phillies $25,000 bonus brawler, pitched and batted the Phils to a 6-2 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday before a Saturday crowd of 9,871.

The Cardinals rot only found their five-game winning streak evaporated but lost the services, at least temporarily, of Third Baseman Whitey Kurowski who was hit by a thrown ball just before the game.

Roberts won his third straight game and his sixth of the season with a neat five-hitter. He walloped his first major league home run in the seventh and connected for two hits in three times up.

Kurowski was struck on the left temple by a ball thrown by Bobby Fletcher, a rookie catcher trying out with the Phils. He received emergency treatment in the dressing room and was able to watch the game.

Fenton Wins, 6-1

MASON CITY, IA. (AP) — Fenton defeated Council Bluffs, 6-1, in a rain-abbreviated game in the State American Legion Junior baseball tournament last night.

The second game, scheduled between Mason City and Cedar Rapids, was rained out.

Johana, Rosalyn Rashid Wed In All-White Double Ceremony

'Old Syria' Theme Used In Festivities

Colorful Event Draws Many Guests, Spectators

In an all-white double ceremony yesterday at 2:30 p. m. the marriage of Rosalyn and Johana Rashid, the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Rashid, 1011 Woodlawn drive, was performed, the Rev. Carl Meinberg officiating.

Johana became the bride of Robert N. Parker, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Parker, Burlington. Rosalyn was married to Paul W. Wilkerson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Wilkerson, also of Burlington.

Both matrons of honor were elder sisters of the brides. Serving Johana was Mrs. James Rashid, Toulon, Ill., while Mrs. R. F. Rashid, Fort Madison, attended Rosalyn.

Dale G. Parker, Burlington, attended his brother as best man and Idol Rashid, the brides' brother was Mr. Wilkerson's attendant.

Eight bridesmaids, five of whom were nieces of the brides, preceded the wedding party down the aisle. They were Mrs. Farris Rashid, Florence Rashid, Annabelle Rashid, Inez Rashid, and Ernestine Rashid, all of Fort Madison; Sadie Rashid, Cedar Rapids; Betty Lindquist and Evelyn Parker, both of Burlington.

Ushers were Neal C. Mosen, Jack Moss, Robert L. Rydberg, Donald Bergman, Willard G. Ingraham, all of Burlington; Roy Wilkerson, New London; Edwin Magee, Trenton, Mo.; Caesar Rashid, Fort Madison.

Flower girls were Carol Sue and Constance Rashid, both of Fort Madison, and Anita Wilkerson, Burlington. Terry Lee Rashid and Gail Rashid, Fort Madison, were ring bearers.

An honor guard of forty of Johana's Alpha Iota sorority sisters flanked the steps of the church as the wedding party entered.

Following the ceremony, the bridal couples left the church in an old-fashioned surrey drawn by two white horses for the reception which was held on the lawn of the Rashid home. A six-tiered wedding cake centered the refreshment table along with the bowls of ice cream punch. A string ensemble furnished a background of music as the newly-married couples received their congratulations and Mrs. Frank Whinery, harpist, played several selections.

From the reception, the wedding party moved on to the Hotel Jefferson, where at 6:30 p. m. a wedding banquet was held, followed by an hour of Syrian folk dancing.

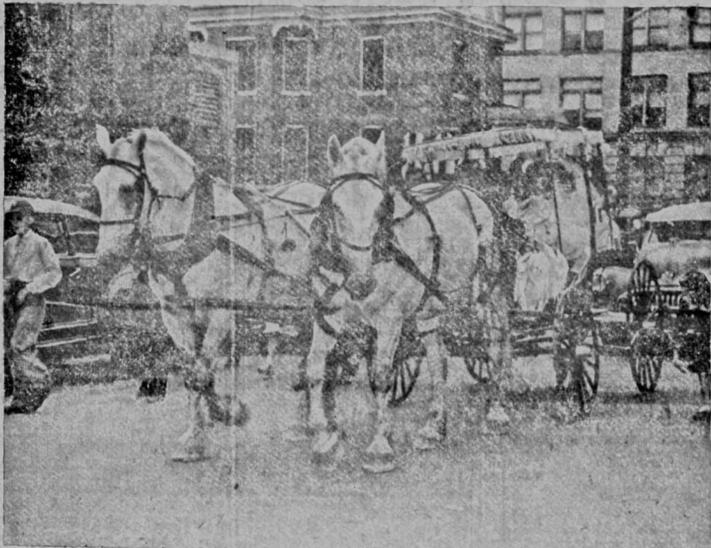

The wedding festivities closed with ballroom dancing.

Both graduates of Fort Madison high school, the brides attended the University of Iowa for two years. Johana attended Iowa City Commercial college where she was a member of Alpha Iota, honorary business sorority.

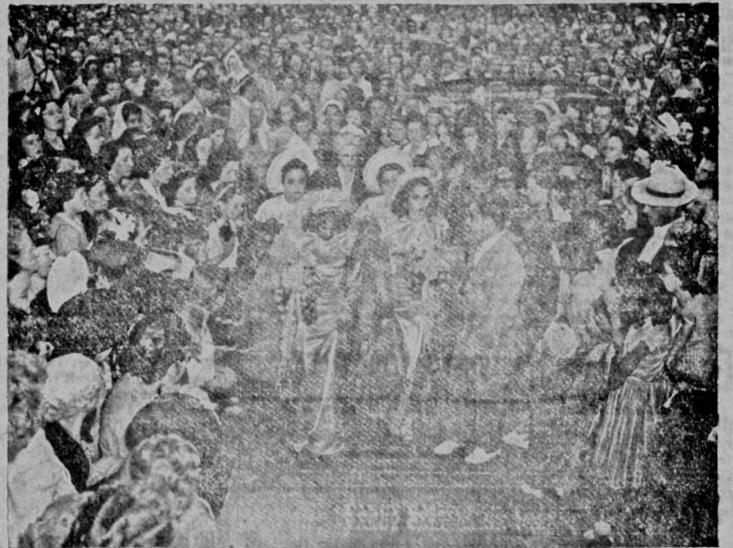

The bridegrooms, graduates of Burlington junior college, are now juniors in the university college of commerce.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker will be at home at 225 Iowa avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Wilkerson will reside temporarily at the Rashid residence.

Seeberger, Long Married in 9 a.m. Nuptial Mass

Dorothy Seeberger became the bride of William Long Jr. in a double-ring ceremony at 9 a.m. yesterday at St. Mary's church, the Rev. Carl H. Meinberg officiating.

Mrs. Long is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Seeberger Sr., Maquoketa, and Mr. Long is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Long Sr., Solon.

Mrs. Asher Schroeder attended Mrs. Long as matron of honor.

Junior bridesmaid was Lynn Schildgen, Davenport. Senior bridesmaids were Patty Seeberger, Maquoketa; Rita Long, Solon; Evelyn Ward and Jackie Gainger, both of Iowa City.

William Shay, Iowa City, was Mr. Long's best man. Ushers were Otto and Edward Seeberger, Maquoketa, and Bob Long and Paul Kennedy, both of Iowa City.

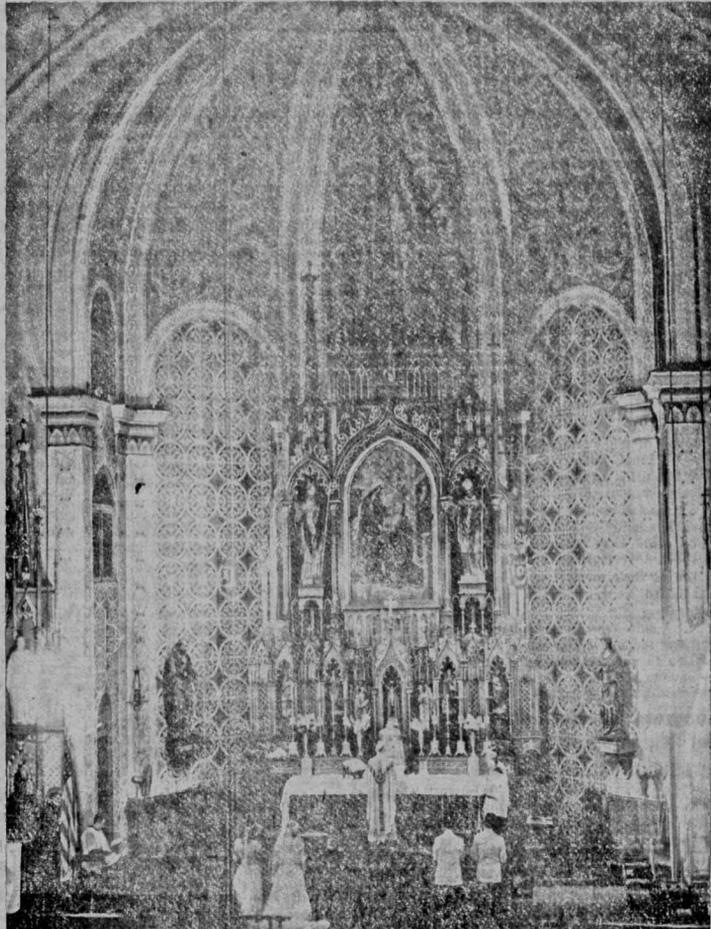

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was held at the Jefferson Hotel for the wedding party, followed by a reception at 1:30 p.m.

Mrs. Long, a graduate of Maquoketa high school, attended the University of Iowa and has recently been employed at the Iowa Illinois Gas and Electric company.

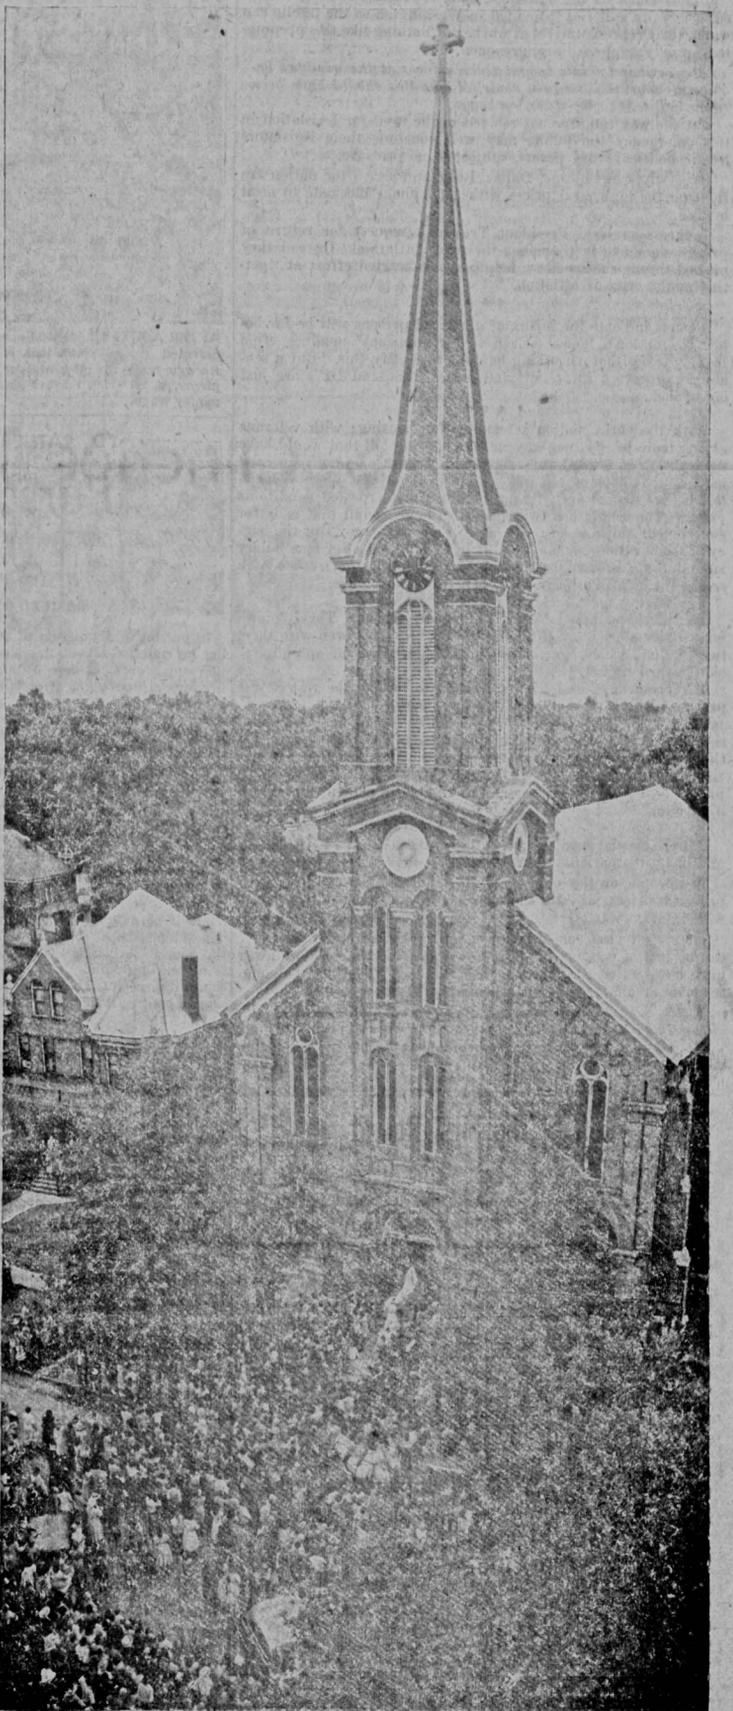

Mr. Long was graduated from St. Mary's high school and is now a junior in the university college of engineering.

The couple will live in Iowa City.

Out-of-town guests present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. William Fowler, Mrs. Carol Schroeder and daughter, Carolee, Edward Seeberger, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Seeberger Jr., and Mrs. Ivq Lane, all of Maquoketa; Mrs. Bertha Scheldgen, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Scheldgen, Mrs. Fred Slack and Mr. and Mrs. Worrel Dow, all of Davenport; Mrs. Delbert Waters, Mr. and Mrs. James Seeberger, Mrs. C. F. Quinlan and son, William G. Long, Sr., Solon. Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast and reception was held at the Hotel Jefferson for members of the wedding party and friends of the couple.

Herbert Hoover: Boy Wonder, President, Elder Statesman

AT STANFORD University, Calif., the future president served as treasurer of the football team before graduating in 1895. He worked his way through college by delivering newspapers, clerking, running a laundry and managing lectures. Hoover is shown at upper right.

'BOY WONDER' of the engineering world at 34, Hoover had offices in New York, London, San Francisco; headed many mining companies.

Iowa Town Honors Famous Native Son

Tuesday will be a big day in West Branch, Iowa. That day a native son will be 74 years old and that small town will go all out to make it the biggest birthday of all those years. Those were good years for Herbert Clark Hoover. He managed football teams and lectures at Stanford; he headed successful mining expansions. "Hooverize" was a popular expression as Americans tightened their belts during the first World War. Hoover became the darling of thousands of Europeans. His food administration placed a statue in the Hoover park in West Branch where this week Iowans will see this token of Belgian appreciation. A summary of the years Hoover spent in the public eye is shown here in pictures.

HAVING SAVED hundreds of thousands in Europe from starvation in the early days of World War I, Hoover was made food administrator by President Wilson when U.S. entered war in 1917. He supervised shipment of 20-million tons of food and clothing to war-torn Europe.

Face at the Congressman's Window

When the good senators and representatives decide to adjourn they should go home to rest. As they sit, in an evening, in their respective parlors — shoes kicked off and a congressman's portly frame relaxing in the position that congressman has assumed on the floors of congress, a position of complete ease — as they sit thus, complacent and comfortable, a face should appear at the screen window.

Haunted eyes should stare at the recumbent incumbent. A large hand should press against the screen beside the face. No sound. Just a staring face against the window screen.

Congressmen, as public figures, know the feeling of being watched. There are galleries provided in Washington so the public can watch their representatives at work. But nothing like this peeping-tom usually happens to congressmen.

Maybe it is too late to put staring faces at the windows before a congressman's easy chair. Maybe this should have been done before the special session began.

But the way congress has reacted to the need for legislation in this emergency the public may well conclude their legislators live in political ivory towers, subject to no pressure.

Housewives in Chicago, Dallas, Boise and across the nation are fighting the high meat prices with a telephone blockade to meat buying.

Congress snubbed President Truman's request for return of price controls to help combat the price inflation. Instead they pushed through a harmless, helpless, half-hearted effort at "getting at the crux of inflation."

Reports indicate the influx of displaced persons will be far below the nation's hopes. Even the Republicans' nominee, Tom Dewey, asked that something be done to rectify this. But a senate group gave a flat "no" and several thousand DP's are just out of luck.

With the entire nation screaming for housing; with veterans crying more loudly than anyone, the housing bill that would have done the most toward securing homes now when they're needed most — that housing bill was junked in favor of a piece of legislation that denied such things as slums and crowded conditions exist. The senate has twice passed a housing bill that calls for government aid to secure housing in this emergency. But the bogey of socialization, rearing its ugly head amid its newer reactionary surrounding, is enough to scare off by implication rather than reason the helpful aspects of a substantial housing bill.

The president asked for civil rights legislation. The Republican platform cried out for equality of races. But even with these two factions coalescing, nothing was achieved in the special session toward civil rights.

The problem of civil rights appears to be like the rest of the problems before the nation. There are emergencies as long as you talk about them — but action apparently can be deferred. Civil rights, as such has been a national emergency since before the Civil war and it is still a matter of national shame that our nation discriminates as it does — while it is a matter of southern pride that legislation and the bill of rights can be denied a minority group.

But the special session has weathered its political emergency — and likely the national emergencies as well.

The people, on the other hand, have not fared well. They still pay high prices, still are short on houses and it looks like things will stay that way.

That's why the congressman should go home and relax. He can be just as comfortable in his own parlor. He can doze away until he sees that face at the screen window. Then let the congressman scream for help until the neighbors come running.

Let's hope none of the neighbors come running — after all it's only a congressman's emergency and it doesn't mean a thing.

Besides that, the face at the window is probably one of the neighbors anyway — come to haunt the legislator for the things he did not do.

AFTER A BITTER political campaign, Republican candidate Hoover defeated Al Smith and took office as president on March 4, 1929. Here he made his inaugural speech in the era of good times and plenty, when stock market players rode on the crest of a fabulous money wave.

A CAMPAIGN for the "forgotten man" in a depression-ridden nation swept Democratic Franklin D. Roosevelt into the presidency in 1932. The retiring and new chiefs rode to inaugural ceremonies together. Hoover at 58 was pictured for political figures a "broken man."

WORLD WAR II over and hundreds of war victims abroad facing starvation, relief expert Herbert Hoover was called upon by President Truman in March, 1946 to serve as chairman of the Famine Emergency committee. At the White House, the two discussed Europe's needs.

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT Pursuit of A Decision

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

In pursuit of a program of doing my thinking about this election campaign right here in public, instead of making a decision in private and then coming out waving a banner, like a ward boss, I would like to set down some observations:

Another thought: He probably wouldn't have done all this if it hadn't been for Wallace.

Third thought: It's kind of fun working on an election problem in this way without being so tied up emotionally with any one candidate that you can't budge.

For you don't really have to approach this situation from the viewpoint of what any particular candidate will get out of it, of whether it's good for Dewey or better for Truman. You can approach it with the idea of what the country is going to get out of it, which is rather more important than how the parties do.

It is very rare that a Republican Congress, or any Congress, can be made to stand and deliver on platform-pledges just before election day. Only the accident that the President belongs to another party has made this possible, which means we may be making good use of what had seemed to be a national hindrance, something like using an illness to write a poem.

It is possible that something good is coming out, which nobody could have planned, that events under freedom do have a life of their own, in spite of cardboard conceptions to the contrary.

Let's hold conclusions back, wait and see, and try to shape the election to national use. What do we have to lose?

Congress Was Rushed — But Remembered Fare
WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress members didn't overlook themselves in the rush to adjourn the special session of congress last night.

They shouted through resolutions to pay themselves mileage for coming and returning from the session.

The house mileage bill is $171,000, based on 20 cents a mile for each member and delegate. It is the same amount the year members received earlier this year for coming to the first 1948 session. The senate bill is $151,000.

McBride's Hall For the Impatient—Success

By BILL MCBRIDE

For a group of persons who were eager to go out and set the world ablaze with great stores of knowledge the streamlined but dignified, commencement exercises Wednesday evening were ideal.

Not to detract from the speechmaking, but I was far more impressed with the speed and efficiency in the mechanics of completing the event. Usually I listen quite closely to the speeches, and from what I read in the paper the next day, I'm certain they were worth listening to. (Never end a sentence with a preposition)

In this instance, however, my mind was occupied with the task of dodging the foot of the small boy seated behind me. I'm sure the persistent little rascal wore hobnailed boots with spurs.

A new Agent (note the capital A... he's an upper-echelon man) sent in a complete report on timing at commencement.

This is the type of agent I like to have working for me. I'm going to list his report.

If some of you agents who started out like a house afire and then petered out, bringing in little, if any, intelligence don't start hitting the ball, you are going to find yourselves at the bottom of the list when promotions come out.

To be quite frank, I've had to do practically all the work on this enterprise for nearly three weeks now. I'm taking four hours of literature during the four week session, and the price of a B in that course is going to be high.

I can't be reading all those books and at the same time chase around IC to glean intelligence for the Hall while the rest of you loaf on the job. One of us is going to have to go to work. . . . Now, Go Get 'em! (At least that's what my high school football coach used to say)

Before I got carried away, I mentioned listing the figures on timing at commencement. It was like this:

Organization of candidates	19 minutes
Seating of candidates	14 minutes
Anthem and invocation	4 minutes
Introduction and address	25 minutes
Conferring degrees	16 minutes
Conferring Masters degrees	11 minutes
Conferring Ph. D. degrees	11 minutes
Charge to candidates	6 minutes
Benediction	1 minute

Total elapsed time — one hr. 47 minutes

Certificates and BA degrees were handed out at the rate of 22 per minute, Masters degrees at the rate of 27 per minute and doctorate degrees at the comparatively slow rate of five per minute.

According to my figures, the 360 persons who received Bachelors degrees and certificates spent a total of 12,960 months building up to a moment of academic glory which lasted less than three seconds for each candidate.

That should settle those grippers who hunk about the length of graduation ceremonies.

What's all this talk about a Big wedding yesterday? I must have missed out on something. Someone said they had white horses and everything.

When Jeanne and I were married, we had a 1935 Ford with a leaky top and a hammering rod that had begun to connect or a connecting rod that had begun to hammer. (How is it that saying goes?)

End of the First Round

The liberal voter who is opposed to Truman, largely on the peace issue, has a problem. He can, if he wants to, support Truman while hating him, during the special session, lifting up the Presidential hand as against the Republicans for a few weeks, but with the mental reservation that he intends to drop it like a stale fish once the session is over.

I think that is a pretty hard shot to play. There will be passion among progressives before this session is over, and the fire thus lit will be a little harder to blow out than now appears.

For the appeal Truman now makes, however briefly, is programmatic, and it is not easy to like the program and dislike the man. By calling a special session Truman has, to a certain degree, taken the question of personalities out of the campaign; he has submerging himself in program, and I think his new informal oratorical style, his giving up of all effort to make fancy speeches like a real Presidential type character, might be symbolic of this.

He now sounds like a busy popa, changing a tire on the road on a hot day, barking: "Give me that jack!" "Lift it up here!" "What do you think you're doing?" and all this is somewhat hard to hate

Names In The News

Edith Kermit Roosevelt — The widow of President Theodore Roosevelt quietly observed her 87th birthday present in Palo Alto, Neck, N. Y.

Herbert Hoover — The former president was given a $70,000 birthday present in Palo Alto, Calif., in the form of donations to be used as a nucleus for a continuing fund by which the work of the Hoover library and institute can be expanded. The gift was made in advance of his 74th birthday, which he will celebrate at his West Branch, Ia., birthplace Aug. 10.

Princess Margaret — The youngest member of the British royal family who will be 18 Aug. 21 and officially of age has been linked with the handsome Marquess of Blandford, 22-year-old cousin of Winston Churchill by rumors floated in London society.

Governor Dewey — His campaign plans are nearing completion. He may begin with a swing through the midwest and perhaps to the Pacific coast shortly after Labor day.

William Ritchie — The Nebraska Democratic chairman who joined the "stop-Truman" drive at the convention, resigned at the state convention.

Ugo Carusi — The newly-named displaced persons commissioner said a lack of funds appropriated by congress will limit to about 40,000 the number of DP's to enter the U. S. in the next 11 months. This is less than half of the total called for by congress.

President Truman — Back in Independence, Mo., to vote in the state primaries, he strolled through the streets to greet friends and neighbors who addressed him familiarly as "Harry."

Edward E. Potts — The 21-year-old son of a noted surgeon was found by his parents in the army airforce. He had disappeared

LABOR

Univis Strike Settled; Green Raps Congress

The violent Univis Lens company strike in Dayton, O., continued to make news last week. The national guard was called on the scene to restore order. The union's membership agreed to allow its leaders to settle with the company under the sponsorship of Ohio Governor Thomas J. Herbert. Congress is now investigating the violence at the strike.

Following last week's call by CIO President Philip Murray for congress to do something about inflation, AFL President William Green accused congress of deliberately stalling and said its action will "boomerang against its perpetrators."

This continued the overall labor trend of swinging reluctantly to Truman. Labor feels it has no real champion and will probably adhere to current predictions by concentrating on congressional races in industrial areas to oust supporters of the Taft-Hartley law.

Angry Oskaloosans Rally To Save Shade Trees

A battery of angry Oskaloosa housewives used umbrellas to protect their shade trees from a high-way crew assigned to remove 137 of them in order to carry out a street-widening project.

The housewives obtained a temporary injunction which the state immediately contested. With the case coming up in court tomorrow, over 400 Oskaloosans pledged their "moral support" to save the trees.

Greek Army Drive Hammers Guerrillas Nearer to Albania

ATHENS (AP)—Greek army troops hammered both flanks of a 30-mile semicircular front in the Grammos mountains yesterday pushing the Communist guerrillas closer to the Albanian border, a communique said.

Front dispatches said Greek units are finding many villages deserted. The rebels were reported carrying off the population to work for them.

A general staff spokesman confirmed an earlier report that rebel chieftain Markos Vafiades had moved his headquarters and most of his "provisional government" to Nikolitza in Albania.

Observers in Athens said the successes of the American-directed Greek army were dissipating Vafiades' hopes for a winter stalemate which would force a compromise on the government of Premier Themistokles Sophoulis.

In making a series of peace overtures recently, Vafiades apparently was operating on the assumption his guerrillas would be able to hold the Grammos region until winter snows blocked the passes and the army's offensive.

Greek troops faced the prospect of considerable fighting before they can claim a complete victory in the area. The general staff spokesman estimated Vafiades still had between 8,000 to 10,000 men in the mountains. It will take at least another six weeks to drive the rebels from all the ravines and lofty peaks, he said.

Nor will an army triumph in the Grammos end the civil war which has gripped Greece for more than two years. Thousands of rebels are scattered throughout the country.

Issue Four Building Permits for $16,650

Four building permits were issued by the city engineer recently for a total of $16,650.

Included in the permits issued was one for an $8,000 residence and garage to be built by John Kasper at 1016 Fairchild. Truman Shrader will be the contractor for the project.

W. P. Russell was granted a permit to remodel his residence at 207-209 Fairchild at an estimated cost of $7,500. The Burger construction company will be in charge of the remodeling.

The other permits included one to the Kelly Oil company to place a quonset hut on their lot for a warehouse. The estimated cost is $850.

Donal Seavy, 534 S. Clark, was issued a permit to make a $500 addition to his residence. Both the Kelly firm and Seavy listed themselves as contractor for their work.

Council To Discuss Sale of Pool Bonds; May Talk Franchise

The city council will take up consideration of two members for the city recreation commission at their regular meeting tomorrow night at 7:30 in the council chambers of the city hall.

An ordinance for the issuance of $50,000 in swimming pool bonds will also be taken up at the meeting. These bonds were sold to the White-Phillips company of Davenport at the July 26 meeting.

Some council members indicated yesterday that a discussion of the Iowa Water Service company's franchise may take place. The franchise expired yesterday after 25 years.

The voters of Iowa City previously have rejected an extension of the water company's franchise. Water company officials announced last week that service will be continued without the franchise.

Funeral Tuesday for Albert A. Myers, 63

Albert A. Myers, 63, died yesterday at his home at 942 Webster street after a long illness.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Oathout funeral chapel. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Mr. Myers had lived in Iowa City for the past 40 years. Surviving him are his son, Robert, of Iowa City; a brother, Frank of Iowa City; a sister, Mrs. Frank Nass, and several nieces and nephews. Five brothers and two sisters preceded him in death.

Judge Trott Dismisses Hit, Run Driving Charge

Police Judge Emil G. Trott dismissed a charge of hit-and-run driving against Rita Ruth of Riverside yesterday with the provision that she file an accident report at the Iowa City police station.

In the report she filed she said her car struck a pedestrian, Mrs. Edith Crow, on S. Riverside drive, July 6.

West Branch Spruces Up, Waits

THE QUIET VILLAGE OF WEST BRANCH, population 800, will be turned into a virtual metropolis Tuesday for the homecoming birthday celebration in honor of the town's favorite son, Herbert Clark Hoover. More than 15,000 visitors are expected to picnic on the birthplace grounds and hear an address by the former chief executive who was born in West Branch Aug. 10, 1874, the son of the village blacksmith.

Hoover Celebration Means Work, Play For Old Neighbors

By ROBERT P. SCHMIDT
WEST BRANCH—The woman mayor here, Mrs. Anna E. Edwards, has proclaimed Tuesday, as a special holiday for welcoming home former President Herbert C. Hoover on his 74th birthday.

This little city of trees, nestled away in Springdale township 9 miles northeast of Iowa City, has had a complete house-cleaning for the event.

About three blocks from the center of town the shining white three-room cottage where the former chief executive was born silently waits the return of America's 31st president.

Planned Restoration
"Mr. Hoover and his wife used to come here and discuss plans for the restoration of the birthplace," Albin said. "We would all sit on the porch and talk over the plans. That's why I say he's so common," Albin concluded.

The town's historian, similarly, has a special interest in the great man's return. Mrs. Maud Stratton, newspaperwoman and writer for 49 years, will introduce her new book, "Herbert Hoover's Hometown — The Story of West this field will be the picnickers' haven.

Visit Special To Some
Some persons, like Fred Albin, Mrs. Maud Stratton, Frank Corbin, F. W. Woods and W. B. Anderson, have a special interest in Hoover's return.

For Auctioneer Fred Albin, Hoover's visit will be an opportunity to renew a boyhood and lifelong companionship.

"Hoover is just as common as can be," says Albin.

"He came into town quietly one time and stopped at the house. He asked me to go along to the cemetery with him.

"When we got to the graveyard where his mother and father are buried, Mr. Hoover offered a beautiful prayer," Albin added.

Former president of the Hoover Birthplace society, Albin purchased the original birthplace 12 years ago when it was "nothing but a swamp and a building."

He operates from his mortuary office in the old bank building with the help of Barbara Baird, 20, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. A. Craig Baird of the State University of Iowa.

Barbara, whose main task has been stenographic work, will serve as registration and information clerk Tuesday outside the humble Hoover birthplace.

Anderson's job is to smooth out the snarls of arranging for the avalanche of 15,000 visitors that will descend on West Branch Branch, Iowa," in connection with the birthday celebration.

Like his late father before him, Frank Corbin, editor of the West Branch Times, will play host to the nation's leading news and radio men who will be here to cover the event.

"My dad was host to about 50 journalists from all over the country when Hoover inaugurated his campaign for the presidency here in 1928," Corbin remarked. "I'd like to do the same for the birthday celebration."

Appointed head of the press committee by Anderson, Corbin announced that special press headquarters will be established near the speakers' stand and will be available to the working press.

Lonely Democrat
Probably the only person in West Branch who didn't vote for Hoover in the 1928 elections was 77-year-old John Woods, now retired and living in the Hoover hotel. Said Woods, "I've voted Democratic all my life, and didn't break the chain for Mr. Hoover. Understand though he's a good man."

Next door to the hotel, a cafe sells "Hooverburgers," glorified hamburgers for 20 cents.

Chief engineer of the celebration plans is Anderson, the "busiest man in town."

He operates from his mortuary office in the old bank building with the help of Barbara Baird, 20, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. A. Craig Baird of the State University of Iowa.

Judge Evans Rules Commission Erred In Industry Case

Judge Harold D. Evans yesterday at the Johnson county court house overruled the findings of a Des Moines industrial commissioner in the case of Wood Taylor vs. John Horning, 1524 Muscatine avenue.

Evans ordered a $382.93 judgment against Horning and placed the cost of arbitration and appeal of the case, $69.86, on the defendant also.

In setting aside the commissioner's findings, Evans said sufficient evidence was not recorded in the case to warrant the decision rendered by the industrial commissioner. He also ruled that Taylor had been an employee of Horning.

In the case, which was appealed from the industrial commission, Taylor maintained that he had to undergo surgery and hospitalization as a result of injuries suffered while working for Horning.

Horning maintained that Taylor was not an employee but an independent contractor. The industrial commission findings had ruled that Taylor was an independent contractor and not "an employee of the defendant (Horning) within the meaning of the compensation statute."

Prof. Smith To Attend Clothing, Textile Meeting

Lula E. Smith, assistant professor of home economics at SUU, will be among more than 50 American and Canadian college teachers attending the four-week clothing and textile seminar opening Aug. 16 at Syracuse university, N.Y.

More than 50 designers and manufacturers are scheduled to appear on the speaking panel during the session which closes Sept. 11.

Dial Phones At Hospital

The new dial telephone system for University hospitals will go into operation at approximately 12:01 a.m. today the Iowa City Bell Telephone company office said yesterday.

The new system will link the university telephone exchange with the hospital telephones through a new dial switching equipment, eliminating the manual system now being used, company officials said.

Users of Iowa City telephones will continue to follow the present procedure of dialing 3111, then asking for the hospital extension number.

Persons at university telephones will dial 7 and then dial the desired hospital extension number. A similar procedure will be used in calling from a hospital phone to a university extension phone.

Users of university and hospital extension phones will dial 9 to reach city phones before dialing the number wanted.

Pool Fund Drive Shows $61 Jump

The swimming pool drive continued to hammer toward its goal of $12,500 yesterday with a $61 addition reported by the Community Dads, sponsors of the drive.

The $61 yesterday brings the total thus far to $10,370.91, according to William Grandrath, publicly chairman for the drive. Included in the addition was a $10 donation from the VFW ladies auxiliary and $51 from the employees of the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company.

This makes the lodges and organizations total $3,457 with all other totals remaining the same.

Breezes Bring Sneezes in Hay-Fever Time

Pollen Count High In Iowa City Area

By STAFF WRITER
Although friends may laughingly say "Gesundheit," the coming five weeks will be no joke to Iowa City hayfever sufferers.

Pollen, carried by the wind, causes what we call "hayfever." Inhaled into the membranes of the nose, throat and eyes, pollen causes symptoms similar to the common cold in persons sensitive to it.

The same good Iowa weather which is producing a large corn crop is producing a large crop of weeds which bear the offensive pollen.

Iowa City has always been an area of relatively high pollen concentration and numerous large stands of weeds which produce the offensive pollens can be seen here.

The most prolific producer of hayfever pollens is the large ragweed. The small ragweed also contributes but in a lesser degree.

Large stands of these weeds tracks. The Iowa river has an abundant crop, although some patches were cut earlier this year. A small park at the corner of Myrtle street and Melrose court produced a sizeable crop of large ragweed this year.

Ragweed Lines Roads
Adding more bad news to hayfever sufferers are the plants located on the edge of roads and cultivated fields surrounding Iowa City.

Some ragweed plants have already begun to shed their pollen in the wind, but the main part of the season falls between the middle of August and September. Past records of Iowa City indicate that the high point will be reached about the last of this month, with the pollen concentration in the air falling off sharply.

High winds may increase the amount of pollen carried in the air and strong rains will limit the quantity.

During the main pollen season, the college of medicine's department of hygiene and preventive medicine, under the direction of Dr. Milford E. Barnes, operates a pollen testing device.

This device consists of three small circular discs with vaseline-treated glass slides below them.

Pollen settles on the slides. The slides are then examined under a microscope and the pollen count computed.

Count Shows "Basic Dose"
This count, Dr. Barnes said, tells authorities the "basic pollen dose" for Iowa City. Other locations may receive a larger dose, he added, because they are nearer the pollen source.

The testing device is located atop the college of medicine building and receives only pollen carried from a distance by the wind.

This year, he said, the pollen count will be given in number of grains per cubic yard of air.

Hayfever sufferers won't notice much irritation when the pollen count is about 25, he said. According to Barnes, a hayfever sufferer himself, a count of 100 will cause running noses and sneezing. Iowa City, he added, has had a pollen count of 1,200.

The count will be taken Aug. 9 until Sept. 15.

Preventing the growth of ragweed and other pollen producing weeds is one method of meeting the pollen threat. The weeds can be cut before bearing pollen or killed by chemicals. The latter method would be expensive on the large scale and must be used with care as the chemicals also kill useful plants.

Need Midwestern Control
Such a system would be impractical unless carried on throughout the complete midwest, the main center of ragweed distribution.

A number of preventive measures can be taken, however.

1. Desensitization. Pollen extracts are injected into the hayfever sufferer. In a number of weeks an immunity can usually be built up to pollen.

2. Anti-histamine drugs. These drugs have been helpful.

3. Curity pollen masks. These masks can be washed and used effectively throughout the season to filter pollen from the air.

4. Run away from the midwest. A number of states in the west are almost free of the offensive pollens.

From three to five percent of Iowa Citizens will need some help in combating the pollen in the next five weeks. These persons will have running noses and sneeze frequently.

And some joking individuals will say, "Gesundheit."
