

Colony Meet Ends In Disagreement

PARIS (AP)—Representatives of the big four powers failed today to reach an agreement on the future of Italy's prewar African colonies. They decided to send the issue to the United Nations general assembly.

American, British, French and Russian delegates recessed their meeting at 3 a. m. (8 p. m. CST Tuesday) after arguing during the night about procedural matters.

Envoys Meet With Molotov; No Comments

MOSCOW (UP)—Western envoys here went to the Kremlin last night for their ninth meeting with Soviet leaders. The session was the shortest and possibly the last of the six-week series of conferences on the Berlin crisis.

U. S. Ambassador W. Bedell Smith, French Ambassador Yves Chataigneau and special British envoy Frank Roberts were closeted for only 90 minutes with Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

(Authoritative British sources said Monday that the western envoys would ask to see Soviet Premier Josef Stalin for a final "showdown" on the Berlin blockade. If they did so, their request was evidently refused.)

After the meeting, the western spokesmen went to the British embassy and conferred for an hour before going home to dinner and to bed. Earlier conferences had invariably been followed by night-long conferences among the westerners on reports to their respective governments.

Smith refused flatly to comment when asked whether further meetings would be held. In the past, he has always given an indefinite answer to such questions.

It was the western envoys first meeting in 15 days—the longest period between talks since the initial four-power conference Aug. 2. In the interim, the four military governors of Germany had failed to agree on currency proposals aimed at ending the cold war in Berlin.

There was no indication the envoys had made any more progress than the military governors.

Allies Alerted For 'Raids'

BERLIN (UP)—British-sector police were alerted for trouble last night when German sources reported that large-scale Russian raids along sector boundaries would start at midnight (4 p. m. CST).

American military police officers said they had received similar reports, but no unusual precautions were being ordered in the U. S. sector "for the present."

There was no precise indication of the reason for the raids. Presumably, as in the past, they would be ostensibly roundups of "black marketers."

British public safety officers summoned 150 MP's for special duty, and alerted all night-duty German police in their sector.

The raid reports followed a declaration by Gen. Lucius D. Clay that American troops would remain here until the last spark of Nazism had been stamped out, despite Russia's "get out of Germany" stand.

The U. S. military governor told a press conference that he had enough men to do the occupation job. He said he saw no reason to believe U. S. forces in Germany might have to fight a war any time soon.

Clay said he didn't think that the Germans themselves would favor immediate withdrawal of all occupation troops, as proposed by the Russians.

Clay's statement came as the severe punishment meted out by a Russian military court to five German anti-Communist rioters fanned anti-Soviet feeling. The five Germans were sentenced to 25 years at hard labor.

Break Ground for 'Capitol of World'

NEW YORK (AP)—On the rubble of packing houses and down-at-heel tenements a handful of officials broke ground yesterday for the "Capitol of the World."

Benjamin Cohen of Chile, acting secretary general of the United Nations, performed the historic task by pushing a shovel into a pile of crushed brick and mortar.

Later a power shovel started excavating the 13 acres of rubble that used to be one of the east side's most run-down sections.

State Board Won't Alter Political Ban

AMES, IA. (AP)—The state board of education took no action yesterday on proposals that it revise its policy governing the use of state institutional facilities for political meetings.

The board has a long time policy of refusing to permit school quarters under its control for such meetings. After several protests were received it named a three-man subcommittee to consider whether there should be any change.

The subcommittee filed a majority report and a minority report at a board meeting here yesterday. Both reports were rejected.

The net result, secretary Dave Dancer said, was to leave the situation unchanged.

"It seems likely that nothing further will be done at least until the next board meeting," he said. This will be held October 15-16 at Iowa City.

Dancer declined to disclose the contents of the two reports filed by the subcommittee except to say that one proposed rigid restrictions while the other was "quite liberal."

TEAR GAS BOMBS were exploded in the street in front of the Standard Oil company refinery in Richmond, Calif., yesterday, by police as a two-hour battle with strikers raged. Refinery workers are on strike and AFL maintenance workers passed through picket lines, setting off the melee.

Police, CIO Pickets Clash at Oil Refinery

RICHMOND, CALIF. (UP)—Police and CIO oil workers battled with tear gas, rocks, clubs and fists yesterday at a strike-bound Standard Oil company plant. Nine persons were seriously injured and scores of others hurt.

The violence broke out on the 10th day of the strike when an AFL group, which had been supporting the walkout, decided to return to work. The CIO pickets erected extensive street barricades to oppose them.

Tear gas used by police broke the CIO union defenses and opened a path into the plant for the back-to-work movement.

Three policemen, four workers and two newspapermen, were injured seriously enough to require hospitalization.

"Scores of others" reportedly received bashed noses and facial cuts and bruises in the hour-long barrage of swinging clubs and stones laid down by CIO pickets to beat back steel-helmeted police flying squads trying to escort AFL maintenance workers through the gates.

City Manager Wayne E. Thompson was promptly recalled from a Chicago city managers' conference and Mayor Robert Miller said the city "will tolerate no further disturbance."

The wild melee was touched off this morning when an estimated 200 AFL boilermakers and independent machinists, who voted over the weekend to drop their support of the wage strike, began running the picket lines in speeding furniture vans and rented pickup trucks loaded with workers.

Nearly 3,000 angry members of the Richmond oil workers' local made good Monday night's vow and were "ready for 'em" with a massed line behind hastily thrown-up barricades of rock and timber along the main entry to the refinery.

Richmond is across the bay from San Francisco where fruitless joint negotiations seeking to compromise the wage dispute have been underway for the past week.

Several other refineries in the bay area have secured temporary court restraining orders banning mass picketing.

The 100-man Richmond police force, augmented by 25 Contra Costa county deputies and an undetermined number of California highway patrolmen, had been tipped that trouble was brewing and also were ready at the gates.

Police said the first tear gas shell was fired to stop individual fist-fighting that broke out and "with a view to preventing injury to non-strikers."

A BARRICADE HASTILY erected by striking oil refinery workers at Richmond, Calif., was dismantled by police after a two-hour fight yesterday in which the police dispersed the strikers, using tear gas. The strikers retaliated with rocks. Note rocks on street.

Professor Thompson Dies; Taught English At SUI for 39 Years

Prof. E. N. S. Thompson, 70, faculty member of the university English department for 39 years, died Monday afternoon at an Iowa City hospital. Death was attributed to a heart and asthmatic condition.

Professor Thompson suffered a relapse in the last few months after a lingering illness.

The body is at the Hohenschuh mortuary. It will be cremated today. There will be no funeral services.

Professor Thompson received a full professorship in English literature at SUI in 1921. The course for which he was best known on the campus was eighteenth and nineteenth century English literature.

President Virgil Hancher issued the following statement praising Professor Thompson's service on the university faculty: "In the passing of Professor E. N. S. Thompson, the university has lost a distinguished and faithful faculty member. Over a period of nearly 40 years of service in the English department, thousands of students have benefited from his teaching. I join this large group in paying tribute to his memory as a great and inspiring teacher."

"The university community, students and faculty, mourn his loss."

Professor Thompson was born in West Orange, N. J., on December 15, 1877. He received his B.A. and Ph.D. degrees in 1900 and 1903 from Yale university. He taught English literature at Lehigh for three years, returned to Yale for three years, and then came to the University in 1909.

Professor Thompson has an international reputation as a Milton scholar. Besides being a frequent contributor to literary journals, he has written five books on English literature. They are: "The Controversy Between Puritans and the Stage," "English Moral Plays," "Essays on Milton," "Literary By-ways of the Renaissance" and "The English Essay of the 17th Century." He compiled "A Typical Bibliography of Milton."

The philological Quarterly, an Iowa literary periodical, will commemorate him in its January, 1949, issue with contributions by 30 leading Milton scholars.

Professor Thompson was to do part-time teaching this fall, having retired from full-time work this summer. He was unmarried and lived at the Hotel Jefferson.

He is survived by two brothers, Charles Seymour Thompson, Rutledge, Pa., retired university librarian, and another brother who is a professor in Nova Scotia.

Blames 'Smears' for Scientist Turnover

OAK RIDGE, TENN. (UP)—About 40 percent of the top research men at the atomic laboratory here have resigned recently and the "totalitarian climate" cited by President Truman is one of the chief reasons, a scientists' spokesman charged yesterday.

"Vital atomic research has fallen off proportionately, he added.

Ray Stoughton, chairman of the executive committee of the Association of Oak Ridge Scientists and Engineers, made the charge.

The executive director of the Oak Ridge national laboratory, C. N. Rucker, said there had been a "big turnover" in the last year but said the research center was now only 18 short of its normal 500 "technical personnel."

Commenting on Mr. Truman's thinly veiled charge to a science meeting Monday night that the house un-American activities committee is obstructing atomic research by "smearing" scientists and creating a "totalitarian climate for their work," Stoughton said:

"The truth of the President's remarks is already being realized by the situation at this laboratory. During the last few months, about 40 percent of the senior physicists and chemists have resigned.

"One of the chief reasons is the feeling that any time atomic scientists may be attacked on films or unsubstantiated grounds," Stoughton's statement added.

He emphasized that the scientists here always have been anxious to cooperate "with intelligent and effective security measures."

Thomas Unit Votes Contempt Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional spy investigators quizzed Communist Steve Nelson yesterday and then voted to bring contempt action against him.

Nelson called the investigators "political pronomians" and refused to answer many of their questions.

He told reporters they "were anxious to connect me up with this atom business."

Nelson said he had nothing to do with that. Committee Chairman J. Parnell Thomas said the Nelson case is "probably the most fragrant example of contempt" ever witnessed since the three members present have been on the un-American activities committee.

Illinois Ballot Denial Is Treason: Wallace

CHICAGO (UP)—Henry A. Wallace last night branded as "treason" the barring of his Progressive party from the Illinois ballot and declared that the action left voters only a choice of "fascism."

He linked President Truman and Thomas E. Dewey together as the backers of "big businessmen and militarists" and said he himself was the champion of the ideals of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Wallace, the Progressive candidate for president, addressed a paid-admission political rally at Wrigley baseball field attended by 19,000 persons. Gate tenders estimated that 16,858 paid from 60 cents to $2.50 for seats.

A roar went up from the crowd when Wallace rolled into the stadium in an open black limousine and climbed the stairs to the speakers platform in the infield.

There were no incidents as more than 350 policemen patrolled the gates and grounds. The audience leaped to its feet singing "everyone wants Wallace."

In a speech broadcast nationally (ABC) he told the crowd that he wanted repeal of the Taft-Hartley law, and charged that high prices were the fault of the meat packers and other "interests."

CHARGES CONSPIRACY WASHINGTON (UP)—Henry J. Kaiser yesterday charged that an "undercover conspiracy" is afoot to rob the Kaiser-Frazer auto firm of its government lease on a Cleveland, O., blast furnace.

Campaign Briefs

ALBANY, N.Y. (UP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey last night proposed an American defense system so strong that no foreign power "will ever be misled into attacking us on the assumption that our democracy is too weak or too gullible to protect itself."

The Republican presidential nominee interrupted work on his campaign speeches long enough to issue a sharply worded statement proclaiming Sept. 18 as air force day in New York state and warning that the nation is "again on guard."

DES MOINES (AP)—Gov. Robert D. Blue sent telegrams to six midwestern governors inviting them to be in Des Moines for the appearance Monday of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Republican presidential nominee.

The telegrams went to governors of North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

"Iowa has been honored that Governor Dewey has chosen this state to make the first major address of his campaign," Blue said. "This occasion will provide citizens of Iowa and adjoining states with an opportunity to see and hear Mr. Dewey."

LOUISVILLE, KY. (UP)—State Democratic headquarters yesterday announced that President Truman will make an intensive two-day campaign swing through the pivotal state of Kentucky Sept. 30 and Oct. 1.

The President will make at least 10 short rear-platform appearances and one major address in the state, where he faces opposition from Republicans, States' Rights Democrats, and the new Progressive party.

SACRAMENTO, CAL. (UP)—Gov. Earl Warren leaves here today on a 31-day, 31-state campaign tour for the vice presidency.

His plans will include 25 major addresses and nearly 60 platform appearances. His first major speech, and the first of the campaign for him or presidential candidate Thomas E. Dewey will be delivered tomorrow night in Salt Lake City.

Truman's Arrival Shifted to 7:21 a.m.

The Iowa City drum and bugle corps will welcome President Truman to Iowa City when he stops here at 7:21 a.m. Saturday.

Truman had been slated to stop here at 7:30 p.m., but Democratic state headquarters in Des Moines yesterday announced a revision in arrival times for the President's stops in Iowa, according to The Associated Press.

The new schedule for the chief executive's tour has him arriving in Davenport at 6:09 a.m., Iowa City 7:21 a.m., Oxford at 7:45 a.m., Grinnell at 8:54 a.m., Des Moines at 10:15 a.m., Melcher at 4:52 p.m. and Charleston at 5:10 p.m.

Truman will make a rear platform speech here before going to Dexter, Iowa, where he will stop from 11:15 a.m. until 2:30 p.m.

State Senator LeRoy S. Mercer will introduce President Truman in Iowa City. Mercer and William S. Hart, first district committeeman, will board the presidential train when it arrives in Davenport and ride the train here.

Mercer will continue on the train to Oxford and Hart will stop in Iowa City.

Daugherty, Minnesota Starter, Quits Squad

MINNEAPOLIS (UP) — Minnesota's Gophers, looking for a backfield to match the veteran line, received a new blow yesterday when Bruce Daugherty, a starter at halfback last season, quit the squad.

No explanation was given when Daugherty turned in his equipment, but friends said he had decided to concentrate on studies.

Coach Bernie Bierman said he expected to continue double drills each day following a heavy scrimmage this afternoon. Emphasis was placed on fast starts for the heavy linemen. Vern Gagne and Gordon Soltau threatened to replace veteran Don Bailey as extra point kickers.

School officials announced that all tickets here and on the west coast have been sold out for the season opener with the University of Washington at Seattle Sept. 25.

Purdue

LAFAYETTE, IND. (UP) — Veteran Purdue Halfbacks Harry Szuborski and Norb Adams last night sparked the "Whites" to a 21-0 victory over the "Golds" in a 30-minute scrimmage.

Iowa State

AMES, IA. (AP) — Coach Abe Stuber alternated five teams on offensive and defensive drills in yesterday's two sessions of football practice for the Iowa State football squad.

Today will be the last of the two-a-day sessions, Stuber said. The workouts will be tapered off for Saturday's opening game here with Iowa State Teachers college.

Marquette Continues To Develop Separate Teams

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Marquette university football squad worked on pass defense yesterday in its first heavy workout since Saturday.

Coach Frank Murray continued to develop a separate defensive unit for the Hilltoppers this fall, hoping to add more height to his backfield when on defense. Sophomore Fullback Frank Volm of Green Bay, Wis., caught Murray's eye by his passing and is being considered for the pitching role.

Wisconsin

MADISON (UP) — Wisconsin football Coach Harry Stuhldreher sent his charges through a short offensive scrimmage yesterday.

The Badger staff appeared to find an answer to the left end problem when Tilden Meyers, sophomore from Geneva, Ill., came up with a fine exhibition of all-around play including two dazzling pass catches.

Clarence Self, veteran right half, displayed flashes of his 1948 running ability.

Michigan

ANN ARBOR, MICH. (UP) — Defense again came in for attention yesterday when the University of Michigan varsity football squad drilled at stopping the second and reserve teams.

Practically the same line that served as the defensive wall last year was used by line coach Jack Blott. Lenny Ford, since graduated, was the only man missing. Ed McNeill and Ozzie Clark were at the ends; Alvin Wistert and Ralph Kohl at the tackles, Quentin Sickle and Lloyd Henveld at the guards and Dan Dworsky at center.

Coach Bernie Oosterbaan merely shifted his offensive backfield to defense, with Gene Dericotte at safety. Walt Teninga and Pete Elliott were at the defensive halves and Dick Kempthorn backing up the line.

Yanks Cement Second Place With 6-5 Win

CLEVELAND (AP) — Charley Keller's pinch home run with one aboard sparked the New York Yankees' four-run, game-winning rally in the seventh inning yesterday as the Yanks strengthened their hold on second place in the American league with a 6-5 triumph over the Cleveland Indians.

Lefty Joe Page throttled a desperate rally by the Indians in the ninth after one Cleveland run had tallied as the defending world champions pulled within 1½ game of the league-leading Boston Red Sox.

The loss jumbled the Tribe into third place, two games behind the Yankees, and dealt a damaging blow to the Indians' pennant hopes by increasing their deficit to 3½ games behind Boston.

Bob Lemon, the American League's first 20-game winner, was the victim of the Yankees' winning explosion before 34,064 disappointed fans. Ed Lopat, lifted as a batter in favor of Keller, was credited with his 16th triumph.

Gus Niarhos started New York's outburst with a line triple to left field. Keller then delivered his sixth circuit clout of the season to tie the score and the Yankees rolled to two more runs before Russ Christopher halted the rally.

Bosox Skunk Chicago, 4-1

CHICAGO (AP) — Ellis Kinder's five-hit pitching and Ted Williams' clouting which drove across three runs last night gave American league-leading Boston a 4-1 triumph over last-place Chicago's White Sox before 15,622 at Comiskey park.

The win kept the Red Sox two full games ahead of the pressing New York Yankees.

Williams batted in three of Boston's four runs with two doubles and a single in four trips to the plate.

DiMaggio Injured; Return Is Indefinite

NEW YORK (UP) — In beating Cleveland, the Yankees lost the services of their most solid slugger — Jolting Joe DiMaggio.

DiMaggio, who collected two of his team's 12 hits, left the game in the seventh after being hit on the hand by one of Ed Klemm's pitches. Preliminary examinations revealed contusions and abrasions and it was not announced when the Yankee outfielder would return to the line-up.

Cards Cling to Fourth, Blanking Phillies, 8-0

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals held grimly to their fast fading pennant hopes last night as Harry (the Cat) Brecheen pitched the Redbirds to an 8-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. The win enabled St. Louis to edge into fourth place, a half-game ahead of the New York Giants and 5½ games behind the pace setting Boston Braves.

Brecheen won his 17th of the season and seventh shutout as against seven defeats with a three-hit mound chore. The victory marked the most number of games ever won by the little southpaw since he entered the big time. He received sensational support from the peerless Marty Marion at shortstop.

Sain's 20th Victory Beats Cubs

Bums Breathing on Cubs' Neck; Win 2

BROOKLYN (AP) — Practically eliminated from contention themselves over the weekend, the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday dealt Pittsburgh's pennant chances a near-knockout blow when they swept both ends of a doubleheader from the spent Pirates, 8-5 and 7-3.

As a result of the day's five and a half hours of activity, the bewildered Bums found themselves still in second place, but five games behind the league leading Boston Braves. Even their grip on the runner-up spot was held by a proverbial hair, with the Brooks breathing on their necks, one percentage point behind.

The Dodgers pounded out 27 hits in the twin bill, with every regular except Gene Hermanski collecting at least one safety. Marv Rackley, Peeewe Reese, and Jackie Robinson led the double bombardment against six pirate pitchers.

Don Black Still in Critical Condition

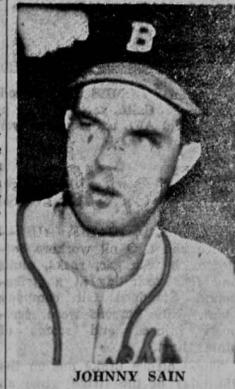

CLEVELAND (UP) — Don Black, Cleveland Indians' pitcher battling for his life, slipped in and out of unconsciousness yesterday and was given an even break to recover from a brain hemorrhage.

Dr. Spencer Braden, brain specialist, frankly told the United Press that Black's chances are "only fair" as of now. He said, however, that the 31-year-old hurler was "coming out of coma," and that since he was stricken Monday, "he has shown improvement."

Black suffered a cerebral hemorrhage while swinging hard at a bad pitch in Monday's game against St. Louis. Technically, a subarachnoid hemorrhage developed, bathing his brain and spinal cord in blood.

Team Physician Dr. Edward Castle Jr., said Black "will recover if he does not bleed any more," but added that "there is very little change in his condition and he is still critical."

IC Cards Drop From Playoff

(Special To The Daily Iowan)

ROCK ISLAND - Iowa City's representative in the National Softball league tourney lost a doubleheader to the Rock Island Hawks last night by identical scores of, 1-0, dropping them out of the Shaughnessy play-offs.

Both teams got two hits in the opener, but a home run by the Hawk's third sacker Nel Montz gave the game to Pitcher Horace Long. Manager Ralph Tucker hurled for the Cardinals.

The second tilt went 11 innings with Ray Baker breaking up the game with a circuit clout. Long also pitched the nightcap, allowing the Cards only one hit. Stable's bunt in the last frame.

Stable scored on a series of wild throws, but the umpire called him out for interfering with the ball in the first base line. Don Dannen twirled four hit-ball for Iowa City.

Braves Win, 10-3; Hold 5-Game Lead

BOSTON (AP) — Johnny Sain, righthanded ace of the top-pedigree Boston Braves, entered the National league's inner pitching circle by becoming a 20-game winner, for the third straight season, yesterday with a 10-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

It is the first time the senior circuit has had such a consistent winning flinger since Mort Cooper qualified back in 1944 for the St. Louis Cardinals.

In addition to keeping 10 clubs hits well scattered, Sain started the Tribesmen on their two figure scoring romp by tripling in the first two runs against Starter Hank Borowy with two away in the second inning.

Then the rest of the Braves teed off against Borowy for six more tallies before Relief Pitcher Ralph Hamner retired the side.

Hamner lasted through the fourth inning and over that stretch the Braves belted him for seven more hits and two more runs, to pile up a 10-0 lead.

The last Chicago hit was a ninth inning homer by Danny Lynch Jr., the bonus player recently declared a free agent after Pittsburgh signed him as a player and engaged his father as a Pirates scout.

The other Chicago counters were made in the sixth inning on a pass to Peanut Lowrey, singles by Bill Nicholson and Al Walker and Chambers' fly to center.

Athletics Put Axe To Browns, 12-2

ST. LOUIS, (AP) — Eddie Joost hit safely five straight times and Ferris Fain batted in four runners as the Philadelphia Athletics slammed their way to a 12-2 victory over the St. Louis Browns yesterday. The A's picked up 10 of their tallies in the first three innings—five of them in the third.

Hawks Stress Pass Defense

Iowa's football squad eased up in its drills yesterday afternoon with the coaching staff accentuating pass defense for most of the session.

The Hawks' opening game with Marquette here one week from Saturday could result in a passing duel and Dr. Eddie Anderson and his team do not plan to be caught off guard. While working on defensive tactics against such an aerial attack, they have also stressed their own passing game.

Yesterday Quarterbacks Al DiMarco and Art O'Neill did almost all of the throwing, using plays designed to shake the ends or the man-in-motion free.

With a little less than two weeks of hard practice gone by, Anderson now has a pretty good line on the players who will see the most action.

Undoubtedly his best offensive backfield will be made up of DiMarco at quarterback, Jerry Faske and Bob Longley at the halfbacks and either Johnny Tedore or Ron Headington at fullback.

When Iowa goes on the defense, Headington will back up the line while Tedore will be used at a defensive halfback and DiMarco will leave the game. Either Faske or Longley will be in the safety position.

The ends have now passed the halfbacks as the big question mark of the Hawkeyes' eleven. Any pair of six flankmen could start the Marquette contest, all lacking in defensive ability.

Bill Kay, Jim Shoaf and Don Winslow rank as the top tackles in that order. Jim Cozad, a tackle last year, has been shifted back and forth between tackle and defensive guard and probably will play both positions during the coming season.

Anderson has found Joe Grothus equally adept on both offense and defense at left guard. Bill Kersten is his alternate. Earl Banks and Ray Carlson are splitting the activity at right guard.

Dick Woodard's line-backing ability will keep him as the No. 1 center. Bob Snyder has been the best offensive center with Dick Easter third in line.

Anderson will continue the morning and afternoon practice drills until next Tuesday when the Hawks will slow down the tempo in preparation for Marquette with only light afternoon workouts.

DETROIT (AP) — The Washington Senators touched bottom yesterday, sinking to their 14th straight defeat by dropping a doubleheader to the Detroit tigers. Hal Newhouser hurled a 6-hit game, winning the opener 2 to 1 in 11 innings and Virgil Trucks tamed the Nats with three hits, taking the nightcap 12 to 1.

Plans for the enlistment of women in the regular army and regular airforce were announced yesterday by M/Sgt. O. A. McClung of the Iowa City army and airforce recruiting station.

Applications for enlistment in the WAC or WAF may be made on or after Sept. 15, but actual enlistment will not begin until Sept. 27.

Prior Service Not Needed
Women with or without prior military service may enlist, but non-veterans must have a certificate of graduation from high school or hold a state-recognized equivalent.

Enlistment is open to all qualified women who are at least 18 years old but have not reached their 35th birthday. An exception to the top age limit will be made

Survey Pictures Ideal Homemaker

She's a College Grad With a Medium Income

Meet America's ideal homemaker. She's between 40 and 49 years of age, a college graduate, a person with a medium or comfortable income and one who was a teacher, nurse or librarian before her marriage.

According to a recent survey conducted by Michigan state college, a woman fitting that description rated highest in the field of family management.

She Cans Herself
The ideal homemaker manages her own time and energy, works with her family in managing money efficiently, cans and preserves food, mends clothes, prevents waste, has certain definite goals and, most important, keeps a sharp eye out for her family's spiritual and social development.

The product of 10 years' research, the survey asked 38 pointed questions and ranked the management abilities of each woman by total score. Maximum was 300 points. When trained interviewers applied the test to 382 Michigan homemakers, the highest score was 219 and 148 was average.

Education Most Important
In general, scores reflected the education, occupation before marriage, age and income of each woman, with education the most important influence.

Younger women outranked older ones in management of money, but failed to conserve their time and energy as well. Older women, especially those near 60 years, showed themselves past masters at getting work done quickly and efficiently so that there would be time for rest and recreation.

Found Little Difference
Home economists had expected greater differences between the abilities of farm and village women than the survey showed. Far more food conservation took place on the farm and financial planning included the exchange of produce for manufactured foods. Other than these two points, the abilities of the two groups of women were found to be nearly equal.

More Colored Shoes Predicted for Women

NEW YORK (AP)—Women will be offered more colored shoes next spring and summer than at any time since the early 1920s.

The forecast of colorful footwear is seen in exhibits of 85 tanners at the spring and summer leather show which opened yesterday in the Waldorf Astoria hotel.

The widest range of colored leathers ever to be presented to the trade includes such categories as "sun and sea colors," "exotic lemon," "gay cyclamen" and "sailing red." Besides that there are shimmering gold and silver leathers and bronze, gunmetal and other metallic tones.

and varsity bands. Freshman and sophomore men may substitute band for required military training. All others may earn credit for band through the department of music, or band may be taken without credit.

Uniforms and a number of the less common instruments are supplied without cost to qualified players.

Not Only a Temporary Thing

The arbitrary accusations that have marked the investigations of government employe's loyalties have evidently soured many competent and undoubtedly loyal American scientists.

The head of Brookhaven national laboratory resigned this week—partly because of the atmosphere of suspicion toward atomic scientists. He is back teaching at MIT.

That move lost the nation a top-flight researcher. It was a gain for Massachusetts Institute of Technology. And from his post there the scientist, Dr. Phillip M. Morse, can train the future scientists. But disgust and apprehension of government work is certain to be infectious; the physics students today can see the result of haphazard smearing by possibly well-intentioned but obviously misguided congressional groups.

Then whatever sins the probing committees have committed will not be visited upon this generation of scientists alone. If this has created a stigma on government scientific research it will not end with the passing of the Morses and Condons.

There's still another example of a former government research man who went back to teaching—this comes from the St. Louis Star-Times, and the story goes like this:

The citizens of the St. Louis area now have a chance to see firsthand the outrageous way the house committee on un-American activities works. It hurls unproved accusations at a person with all the tremendous force of radio, newsreels and newspapers, and then dares that person to clear his name—if he can. This time it involves a scientist at Washington university, Dr. Martin Kamen.

In 1944 Dr. Kamen was employed in the atomic bomb project at Berkeley. He had dinner with two Russian officials. A part of their conversation dealt with atomic energy. Snatches were overheard by an army intelligence officer. On the basis of this, Dr. Kamen was dismissed from government service without a hearing. His explanation of the incident is plausible. He denies that he was disloyal or even indiscreet. Now, more than four years later, he finds his name smeared coast to coast.

Dr. Kamen has not been formally accused of anything. Dr. Arthur Compton was a high officer in the wartime atomic bomb project. As chancellor of Washington university he later hired Dr. Kamen. He says, "As a result of careful investigation of Prof. Martin Kamen's wartime activities, I have found no evidence of un-American actions or intentions."

What good does the committee's smear do? The incident is closed. Dr. Kamen is no longer in government service. All the facts were known and previously evaluated. The answer is, the committee gets publicity.

But what about Dr. Kamen? He is tried in the court of public opinion without being able to defend himself. If this can be done to Dr. Kamen, nobody can feel safe.

And what about the progress of government research and development—in atomic energy, guided missiles and many other fields? America's security rests even more on future accomplishments than it does on safeguarding the secrets of the past. To keep ahead we are dependent upon our scientists and technicians as a child is upon his mother. But why should scientists and engineers work for the government if they have no protection against such treatment? Already scientists are leaving and others are refusing to enter government service.

The way this "charge" against Dr. Kamen was made is particularly offensive. Supposedly the testimony about him was to be kept secret, but it was "inadvertently" given out with other testimony. This sounds like a cheap theatrical trick. If it was an accident, such carelessness cannot be excused a committee that has set itself up as the guardian of American security.

Under Observation —

Polk Murder in Greece Is Not Forgotten

American Newsmen To Continue Probe

By Daily Iowan Research Staff

It was a quiet spring day on the bay when a boatman found the body. Hauled ashore, the body was quickly identified as a man who had been missing six days.

An autopsy showed that he had been shot from behind with a high velocity bullet which pierced the base of his skull. Water in his lungs showed he had been tossed into the bay still alive.

His hands and feet were bound with 30 feet of rope. Cuttlefish eggs on the rope and shoes indicated he had been in the water about a week.

This was no ordinary murder: It has not been solved, nor forgotten.

The date: May 16, 1948. The place: Gulf of Salonika, Greece. The victim: George Polk, CBS correspondent. The reason: Still a question mark today.

On the day Polk's body was found, the Salonika chief of police said, "We are one thousand percent sure the Communists killed George Polk." Greek Minister of Justice George Melas was quoted as saying, "The Communists murdered him to embarrass the government."

But there was then — and still is today — more to the story than that. George Polk was reporting what most American officials would like to ignore. The Royalist government of Greece — propped up with a stack of American dollars while Americans supervise the battle against the Communist guerrillas — is still another enemy of democracy. It borders on fascism.

Polk's reporting for CBS not only narrated the warfare against the Communists, it described the corruption of Greek officialdom. The week of his murder, he was to return to the U. S. to complete his book, "Middle East Mosaic." He must have had much information to take home that Greek officials or rightist extremists did not like.

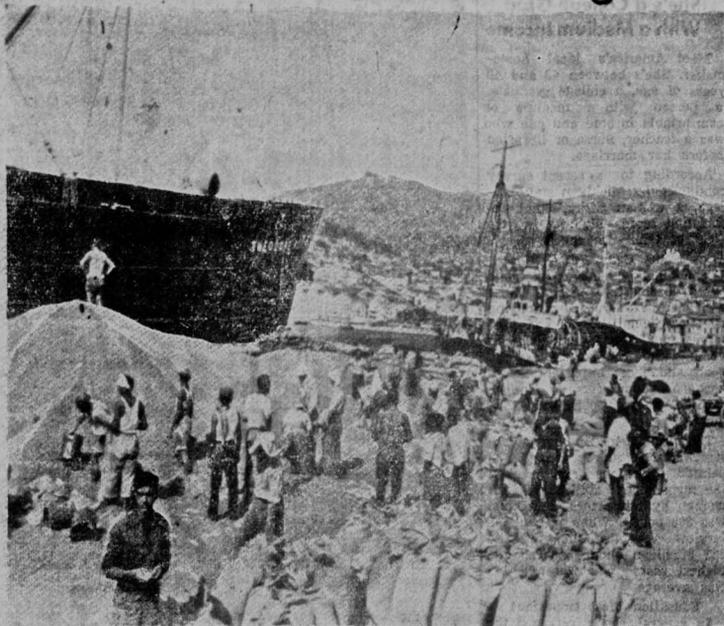

Polk — along with most other U. S. correspondents — had been smeared consistently as a Communist by the official Athens radio.

Although Polk's watch, money and papers were left on the body, his correspondent's card, address book and notebook were taken. Meanwhile, in his Athens apartment, Polk's most recent notes on Greece mysteriously vanished from his files.

Polk was silenced; his efforts to reach the Communist guerrilla chief, Gen. Markos Vafiades, and put him on the air from his secret radio station were crushed, and the affair was brushed off by Greek police.

American correspondents have not forgotten George Polk. A Newsmen's Commission To Investigate the Murder of George Polk has been formed under the leadership of Norman Corwin, Ernest Hemingway and Homer Bigart.

The commission currently is

Murder of George Polk Will Influence Our Long-Range Outlook
ERP Wheat from America (above) Draws U. S. into Greek Political Affairs

raising money to send three newsmen to Greece. They will continue the investigation of Polk's murder where Greek police left off.

The Polk case is significant for the future. The campaign against the Greek guerrillas is fast coming to an end. The UN Balkan commission is preparing to report to the UN general assembly in Paris.

The commission will accuse Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania of aiding the Greek Communists. Greece may at last be freed from the Communist stranglehold.

When this happens, the U. S. is still tied up in Greece for a long time via the Marshall plan. Greek recovery may encourage middle ground political forces to spring up.

Americans would then have a more democratic element to turn to in Greece and the present rightist regime could receive the cold scrutiny it deserves from a democratic America.

If all this comes about, some time in the rosy future, the murder of George Polk may stand as exhibit "A" in the prosecution's case against the Greek rightists.

Hyderabad Invasion Postpones Struggle To Inherit Jinnah's Power in Pakistan

By RUSSELL ZELENIAK

India's invasion of Hyderabad will, for the time being, postpone the pending political conflict in Pakistan. This conflict has been brewing between influential Moslems appointed to key governmental positions by the late Mohammed Ali Jinnah after Pakistan became a nation, and those Moslems who held portfolios under British rule but who were dismissed by Jinnah.

According to Dr. P. D. Mather of India, who, before leaving here yesterday for Montreal, Canada, served on the University hospital's general surgery staff for eight months, the roots of this struggle for political prestige lie in the British provincial governmental set-up in India before the partition in August, 1947.

Prior to this time, Mather said, the British governors of provinces now comprising Pakistan selected politically powerful Moslems as governmental officials. When the formation of Pakistan came about, these Moslems expected to continue in their official capacity in their respective provinces, but instead were replaced by men of Jinnah's choosing. Thus, in helping to create a new nation, Jinnah also created political enemies who may eventually try to regain the political ground they lost.

Mather added that Jinnah had fanned the flames of resentment among Moslems who fought for the partition, but who were also ignored when Jinnah selected men for governmental positions.

Drawing a parallel between the governments of Pakistan and India, Mather said that the governor-general of each country is more or less a figure-head, the real power being in the hands of the prime ministers.

(Monday, Sir Khwaja Nazimuddin, 54-year-old provincial premier of Bengal, was named governor-general of Pakistan.)

Scientist Testifies In Secret Session

WASHINGTON (UP) — A scientist who was dismissed from the atomic project for "indiscretions" gave house investigators yesterday what they called "very important" information bearing on their hunt for atomic spies.

He is Dr. Martin D. Kamen, now an associate professor of chemistry at Washington university, St. Louis. He said he is not a Communist, never has been and has "nothing to conceal."

The 35-year-old scientist testified at a secret hearing of the house committee on un-American activities after telling reporters at an hour-long press conference that he would not testify except in open session.

Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R - N.J.) said Kamen proved "a very frank witness" when he finally decided to testify and that he contributed "some very important testimony."

The house committee, meanwhile, drew another sharp rebuke from the federation of American scientists for its handling of the spy inquiry.

Another Job for a Lie Detector

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

If It's Snow You Want . . .

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

Mr. Harold E. Stassen has just made a speech proclaiming his hope for "better living, better housing and better health." I am glad Mr. Stassen desires these things for our country, and I am sure he is sincerely fighting for them.

But what I can't understand is how a man with such ideas ever happened to join the Republican party in the first place, and why he clings to it as an instrument for carrying out these aspirations.

It adds up to a kind of mystery. For one sees Stassen as a youth, on fire with the hope that America shall someday live a better life, in better houses, amidst better health. And then one visualizes the exalted young man (perhaps on some autumn evening, with the sun setting among leaves of gold and red) deciding "to join the party of Harding as the way to carry these ideals to fruition. His eyes shine as he comes to this conclusion; his lips part; an exclamation escapes them, as he says to himself: "That's the way!"

And it seems a strange decision. If you want snow, you go to Labrador, if you bananas you're seeking, you go to Central America. But if it is vast liberal reform that you want, why do you go to the Republican party?

The same doubt is going to arise to worry us a little later on, when Mr. Dewey begins to make his undoubtedly liberal speeches, in favor of better housing, better health, and better better.

We shall be faced with the same question: Why did an idealistic young man, intense and earnest in his desire to achieve these splendid goals, join the Republican party as the way of getting them?

Of course there is a kind of gallantry involved, in setting out to do it through the party of Harding and Hoover, instead of through the party of Wilson and Roosevelt. One can see the young Stassen (or the young Dewey) deciding firmly: "I'm going to do it the hard way. I'm going to get liberal reform through Harding's party, instead of Wilson's."

And one is forced to respect such unblanching courage. It is intrepid, and fine. But it leaves open a question of judgment, for, as I say, if it's snow you want, it's Labrador you go to.

I don't know whether we ought to elect a man whose sense of direction impels him (as in Dewey's case) to join the Republican party in order to carry out a fervent, even a passionate ambition to lift up the depressed, and to shelter the homeless.

But that's the reformer for you, ever shying away from the realities, ever optimistic, sure that the human race can be lifted up to a happier, more prosperous level, one in which labor will get a bigger share and a better house, and, what's even stranger, that all this can best be done by working through the basic pro-labor feelings of the Republican party. I tell you, idealists will believe anything.

The Democratic party, of course, has had its share of social dreamers who have felt an urge to hand down more of the world's blessings to the lower income groups. But in one respect, anyway, the Democratic reformers have been much more practical than such exponents of social improvement as Messrs. Stassen and Dewey; in one important way they have shown that they had their feet closer to the ground.

At least they never felt that the job could be done through the GOP.

I'm a Union Man, Myself

By BILL MCBRIDE

All my life I have admired birds because of their patience in hatching their young. Yesterday disillusionment came like a dark cloud.

An encyclopedia says that birds hatch eggs, not because of any mother love, but because certain parts of their bodies become irritated during hatching season, and they soothe the irritation by sitting on eggs.

Now the truth is out. Every time I see a bird I will remember that he is existent only because his mother had an itch she couldn't reach.

After a special tour Monday through the Iowa Union, conducted by Frank Burge, I was so impressed with the job of redecorating the SUI physical plant men have done that I fully expected to find a six foot guard in a white bear skin hat walking post under the front canopy.

The bulk of the work has been done since August 4, so it would seem that jet propelled painters did the brush work.

The River room has been completely repainted, and the parlor corner in that section is going to be recarpeted.

The two huge semi-circular divans going into the River room are so luxurious I would hesitate to sit on one in anything other than my new tweed suit. I'll bet the divans in the U.S. embassy in Paris are no more elegant.

The powder room on the main floor is going to be so attractive that we males may find our wives and sweethearts (respectively) basking in the soft rose and green glow of the new drapery and carpeting instead of dancing.

Outside of the fellows who are painting the room, I'll be one of the few males ever to see the inside of that lush cove. See what the powers of the press can do.

All of the table tops and chairs in the soda fountain and cafeteria have been refinished, and the cafeteria has also been given a fresh coat of paint. It is being papered with an appetizing vegetarian wall paper. . . the color scheme is so restful you may fall asleep while eating.

The private dining room is done in "federal" wall paper which abounds with eagles and wreaths. One whole side of the room will be draped in material matching the paper.

The Memorial Union is a pet subject with me. We have one of the finest social centers to be found on any campus in the country, but we tend to take it for granted if not given a shot in the arm occasionally.

Attended a musical movie Monday evening and concluded that Hollywood is in sad shape for singing voices. I've seen Texas spoon players who could warble better while branding a doggie.

Jeanne finally discovered how to make pralines Sunday night. For the past six years at regular intervals she has attempted making pralines. Each time we wound up pulling taffy.

Sunday, in an attempt to make fudge by substituting 50 percent brown sugar to a regular fudge recipe, she came out with a delicious batch of chocolate flavored pralines.

Now we use the praline recipe to make taffy and the fudge recipe for pralines. If she can make fudge from the taffy recipe, I'm going to rewrite that cookbook.

Train Wreck In Korea Kills 40 Americans

SEOUL (AP)—The army reported today 40 Americans were killed and nearly 60 injured in a train wreck 75 miles south of this Korean city last night.

The wreck occurred when a passenger train plowed into another train from the rear, about 15 miles north of Taejon.

Most of those killed and injured were soldiers—members of United States forces occupying South Korea.

Twenty of the dead and 16 injured were brought to Seoul this morning.

Two cars of one train were telescoped by the impact. Acetylene torches were required to cut open the coaches to reach some of the dead and injured.

A medical disaster team and salvage workers were rushed to the scene as soon as the accident was reported. However, the seriousness of the wreck did not become known here until the first hospital train arrived in Seoul.

Army physicians said that when the hospital train left the scene, at least three soldiers remained trapped in the twisted wreckage.

The leading train, en route from the southeast port of Pusan (Pusan), was rammed by a train bound from Mokpo to Seoul. Most of the American soldiers were riding in the last two coaches of the lead train.

The army said the Pusan-Seoul train was operating off its regular route because of a washout.

Thayer Trial Cost $668, Record Shown

DES MOINES (AP)—Trial of Safety Commissioner M. J. Bennett's charges against First Assistant County Attorney Ed S. Thayer cost Des Moines and Polk County $668.92, municipal court records showed yesterday.

Thayer was cleared of the charges Saturday by Judge Harry B. Grund following a five-day hearing. Bennett had accused Thayer of subordination of perjury, oppression in office and interfering with the administration of justice.

Laundry, Coeds Descend on Russell House

THE LAUNDRY ARRIVED yesterday at Russell house, women's cooperative dormitory, just as two coeds returned to live there. The laundry had to be counted and Anna Lou Olsen, A4 of Conroy and Anna Mari, A1 of Spain, paused in rearranging their own belongings long enough to count the linen.

Queuille Wins Confidence Vote Group To Suggest 'Drastic' Changes

PARIS (UP)—Premier Henri Queuille, who is writing a program of higher taxes and no wage increases, won an informal vote of confidence for his three-day-old government in the national assembly yesterday. The vote was 335 to 229.

Profiting by the fate of Robert Schuman, Queuille had asked the assembly to vote to postpone indefinitely debate on the formation of his coalition cabinet. Ignoring advice, Schuman boldly had asked for debate and, as a result, his 63-hour government fell a week ago yesterday.

Yesterday's ballot was not a formal vote of confidence but it indicated tentative general approval of the government by the assembly.

The real test will come on Friday or Saturday when Queuille's harsh economic program is presented.

The economic program, worked on at two inner cabinet meetings yesterday, is said to include $256 million in direct and indirect taxes such as 30 to 60 percent increases in the prices of tobacco and cigars, a 20 percent increase in the price of alcoholic beverages, seven percent on gasoline and 20 to 100 percent rises in railroad and subway fares.

In addition the premier hopes to ease the budget strain by firing tens of thousands of civil servants and reducing armed forces expenditures. Queuille opposes higher wages for workers, but wants to introduce a cost of living allowance, raise family allowances, reduce income taxes and slash food prices.

The socialists, the nation's third largest political party, are backing wage boosts. Organized labor, communist and non-communist, is demanding wage hikes of 33 percent and calling token strikes to emphasize the urgency.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The bureau of labor statistics reported last night that injuries in manufacturing industries are on the decline.

Truman Rebukes Senator Taft For Alleged NLRB 'Pressure'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman in a letter made public yesterday, rebuked Senator Taft (R-Ohio) for allegedly trying to pressure national labor relations board officials into cracking down on the International Typographical union.

"It seems to me that it is entirely improper for any senator, no matter what his politics or his rank in the senate may be, to attempt to put the heat on one of the executive departments," Mr. Truman said.

The President's comments were in a letter to David P. Findling, associate general counsel of the NLRB. The letter referred to a conference in Taft's office attended by Findling and Winthrop A. Johns of the NLRB general counsel's staff. The meeting was also attended by representatives of Chicago's daily newspapers, whose printers have been on strike for nearly 10 months.

Findling quoted Taft as saying at the conference that he was greatly disturbed by reports that there was a serious breakdown of enforcement machinery in the typographical case. He added, according to Findling, that he was keenly interested in effective enforcement of the Taft-Hartley labor act, and that the typographical case was the most important case that had arisen under the act.

Taft at his home in Cincinnati declined immediate comment on the President's remarks yesterday but said, "I will have a statement tomorrow."

ITU Under Injunction
The ITU has been under a federal court injunction since last March 27 forbidding it to attempt to negotiate closed shop conditions in its new contracts with approximately 800 newspapers across the nation.

Thomas Shroyer, counsel for the Taft-Hartley act "watchdog" committee in congress, has explained that he arranged the meeting in Taft's office and that the senator attended "for only about 30 seconds." During that time Shroyer said, Taft made no suggestions of any kind.

Chest Drive Goal Listed

Goal of the Iowa City community chest drive this year will be $19,000 to $20,000, it was announced yesterday after a meeting of the board of directors Monday night.

Division chairmen for the drive, which will run from Oct. 4 to Oct. 16, were announced yesterday by D. R. Williamson, chairman of the campaign.

They will be Don Havens, lodges; Luther Burkett, national firms; Ralph Miller, business and professional; Ralph Aschenbrenner, local schools, and Glen E. Clasen, university hospitals. The chairman of the University of Iowa resident division will be announced later.

The community chest drive this year will be affiliated with the national community chest and will bear its symbol, the red feather, which has been making its appearance in numerous other cities in the U. S. in recent years.

Two Youths Leave for Pre-Induction Physicals

Two Iowa City youths, George Abbott, 18, 1208 S. Linn street, and John L. O'Conner, 17, 415 S. Capitol street, left yesterday for army pre-induction physicals, according to M/Sgt. O. A. McClung, local recruiting officer.

Both men volunteered for service with the First cavalry division, McClung said. If they pass the physical, the men will be sent to Ft. Knox, Ky., for basic training and then join the First cavalry in Japan.

Auditions for Chorus To Start Saturday

Auditions for university chorus membership will begin Saturday in room 103, music building, Prof. Herald Stark, chorus director, announced yesterday.

Stark said he would like a chorus of about 160 voices. Townspeople as well as students are especially invited to try out, he said.

Wednesday, Sept. 22, will be the last day of auditioning, he said.

Students may enroll for chorus either with or without credit. Rehearsals are from 7:15 to 9:15 p. m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The chorus will present its first concert, which will consist of part songs, on Nov. 12.

Stream Smooths Course of Love

PATERSON, N. J. (UP)—True love, they say, never flows smoothly. John Savastani, 21, will attest to that.

Savastani made a date to meet his girl, Jean Hall, 19, on a street corner Monday night shortly after midnight. He waited and waited. Finally, at about 3 a. m., she showed up.

Waiting for her was a very angry boyfriend. He ranted and raved until Jean became frightened. She ran down the street to a bridge, climbed up on the railing and jumped into the Passaic river.

First Methodist Church To Hold Choir Tryouts

Tryouts for the student choir of the First Methodist church will be held Wednesday Sept. 22 at 7 p. m. in the church auditorium, according to Prof. Herald Stark, choir director.

There are several vacancies in the soprano and alto sections of the choir, and two tenors and two baritone are also needed, Prof. Stark said.

Wins Right To Compete In National Plowing Meet

Joe Mather, Webster, who won the four district contour plowing contest near Wellman Saturday, repeated Monday in the 12-district contest near Clinton.

Mather scored 91 and two-thirds points out of a possible 100 to win first place. He also won the right to compete in the national contour plowing contest at Dexter, Sept. 18.

B-36 To Appear Here on Saturday

A B-36 bomber will fly over Iowa City at 8:14 a. m. Saturday as part of a national airforce day observance, the airforce announced yesterday.

Five of the big planes will leave their base at Ft. Worth, fly over cities in various parts of the country and return non-stop to Ft. Worth.

The plane that will appear here will also fly over Davenport and Des Moines and proceed to Minneapolis and St. Paul before returning to its base.

While airforce day was formerly held on Aug. 1 it was changed to Sept. 18 this year. This is because Sept. 18 is "independence day" for the airforce.

It was on Sept. 18 last year that the airforce was made a separate organization, ranking with the army and navy.

National airforce day is sponsored by the airforce association, an organization of airforce veterans of both world wars.

2,182 Enrolled In Public Schools

First day enrollment in Iowa City public schools totaled 2,182, according to figures released yesterday by Superintendent of Schools Iver A. Opstad.

This is four under the first day enrollment last year.

Lincoln school showed the biggest increase. Enrollment there jumped to 91 as compared with 57 last year. The enrollment at City high school dropped from 737 to 670.

The total is expected to rise this week as additional students were being registered at nearly all schools yesterday.

British Announce Rearmament Plan

Morrison Discloses Three-Phase Plan

LONDON (AP)—The British government announced yesterday a three-phase rearmament program to prepare itself and other western European powers against dangers of the present international situation.

The world position "gives cause for anxiety," Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison declared in a surprise statement on defense at the opening of a special 10-day session of parliament.

Slow Demobilization
To meet it, Britain will slow down demobilization of its veteran troops, speed up recruiting for the armed forces and accelerate improvement of air defense, armor and infantry weapons.

Production of jet fighters will be nearly doubled. An air ministry spokesman said Britain will send jets as quickly as possible not only to all of its overseas stations but to whichever of the other four western European pact countries arrange to obtain these fighter types. France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg are in the alliance.

Jet Data Secret
The government said the rate of jet fighter production is secret.

Morrison, announcing that Foreign Secretary Bevin would review the international situation next week, did not elaborate on the state of world affairs. But Labor peer Lord Kershaw said in the house of lords:

"The man in the street and one might say the woman in the home already fear that another war is possible." The emphasis is on the defense program overshadowed the purpose for which the special session was called — enactment of a labor party bill to reduce the veto power of the house of lords.

This measure, regarded by conservatives as a prelude to nationalization of the iron and steel industry, will be introduced and passed later this week. The bill, which reduces to one year the period the lords may hold back commons legislation, was defeated in the upper chamber at the last session. If rejected by the lords now it will be introduced and passed by the commons a third time at the regular session this fall and thereby become law.

A: Designed on air recirculating principles, this dryer will dry your hair in approximately the same time as the professional beauty salon dryer.
- Q: Why isn't there more air coming out of the dryer and blowing into my hand?
A: 75% of the air is held in the dryer, which you can easily see by placing a piece of paper in the center of the hood opening and watching the return of the air. You may hold your hands at the edge of the dryer and feel the rush of air. This designing principle ensures simultaneous and even drying of the entire head. It's the dry air that dries the hair—not the moist. Dry air is provided by the air recirculating process.
- Q: How much does it cost to operate?
A: Approximately 3 cents an hour.
- Q: What type of guarantee does this dryer carry?
A: One year warranty against defective parts or workmanship. For home use this dryer will give many years of good service.

A: Dryer is turned on and off by connecting or disconnecting plug in the wall socket. This simple control is intended to remind user to pull dryer away when not in use.
- Q: Is the heat adequate?
A: This dryer has the perfect drying temperature. It should not be any hotter.

Why not buy one of these for yourself right now, or you and a few of your friends go together and get one, this would be a real saving.
