Los Angeles (AP) — Blonde Lorraine Rubin, 32, who said her urologist-husband insisted kissing is unsanitary, won a divorce yesterday from Dr. J. Salem Rubin, 48.

Bevin Attacks Soviet 'Plot' In SE Asia

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin charged yesterday that the Communists are following a plan aimed at seizure of southeast Asia.

He told parliament it was a part of the grand strategy of world communism for stirring up civil wars everywhere and "no one can see the end of it."

Anthony Eden, the Conservative party spokesman, pointed to Communist uprisings in Malaya and Burma as "part of a plan" and recalled that Lenin referred to southeast Asia as the "backdoor of capitalist and imperialist power."

Bevin told a tense and sometimes turbulent house of commons that the scheme for stirring up civil war was an instrument of foreign policy, and that if it continues "then no one can see the end to which it may lead the nations who are promoting it."

Deploping India's invasion of Hyderabad, possibly with the momentous diplomatic struggle between Russia and the western powers also in mind, Bevin said:

"Never was there a time when you have to exercise greater care than you have now lest you find yourself landed into another world struggle."

Driving Indian Army Captures Homnabad

NEW DELHI (AP) — Indian forces aided by parachute troops yesterday captured Homnabad, important road junction 84 miles west of the capital of Hyderabad, an army headquarters report said.

In the southeast sector, Indian troops advancing from Suriapet against stiff opposition squeezed even closer to Hyderabad City and its military suburb of Secunderabad, the report added.

A military informant in Madras predicted that those two cities — chief goal of the invading Indian armies — might be reached today or tomorrow.

An Indian army spokesman here said Indian troops also captured Khammamet, a rail town 110 miles east of Hyderabad City.

Indicate Russians Purging Berliners

Anti-Russ Germans Hiding; Boosts Airlift

BERLIN (UP) — German anti-Communist demonstrators in Berlin and the severe Russian sentences against German participants threatened to cause a new crisis German relations.

It was indicated that the Russians, disturbed over increasingly open German resentment of their policies, had embarked on a ruthless purge of unfriendly Germans.

American sources said that politicians, living in the Soviet sector, had gone into hiding because of an expected Russian purge of opposition party men. Some of those who have gone underground have escaped into western sectors, others are hiding in the homes of friends in the Russian sector.

The American informants said they believed an all-out drive started late this week.

British authorities curtly dismissed as untrue a Russian protest against the big German demonstration last Thursday, and said that Soviet troops themselves provoked the disorders which resulted.

In Washington, the airforce ordered another big contingent of transports to reinforce the Berlin airlift yesterday as the diplomats hinted gloomily that they are getting nowhere in their efforts to raise the Russian blockade.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall held a news conference but offered reporters nothing but a few pessimistic generalities on the tense situation in Berlin.

Hope Fades for Moscow Talks; UN May Get Nod

LONDON (AP) — American diplomatic officials said last night they believe there is little chance of concrete results from the Moscow negotiations over Berlin.

Other responsible diplomatic officials showed a growing belief that the whole issue over the blockaded city will be turned over to the United Nations assembly.

In American quarters it was said the Moscow negotiations are "still alive."

After these meetings the new students will begin their examinations. They will be briefed on the times and places of these tests at the morning orientation program.

Liberal arts examinations will continue through Friday and Saturday morning. The speech tests for communication skills will be completed on Monday and Tuesday.

Tonight at 7:30 there is another program in Macbride auditorium. President Virgil Hancher, the deans and other administrative officers will be introduced to the new students. Following the introductions, a movie, "Highlights of Iowa," will be shown.

Griswold Resigns Greek Aid Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dwight Griswold formally resigned yesterday as chief of the American aid mission to Greece. He presented his resignation to President Truman at the White House.

The former Republican governor of Nebraska told newsmen he plans to leave for his home in Gordon, Neb., tomorrow. He said he plans to attend to some private affairs and then "catch up on some hunting."

Bridges Challenges Army; Oil Strikers Erect New Barrier

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The army announced plans Wednesday to use troops, if necessary, to load west coast military cargoes, but Harry Bridges' striking union indicated it would not "stand idly by" if this is done.

The CIO longshoremen's union, which is boycotting the army's invitation to load piled-up military cargoes for the army, said:

"If any labor union in the country, regardless of affiliation or political or economic views, stands idly by while the army engages in strikebreaking... then the organized labor movement and collective bargaining are on their way to extinction as free institutions."

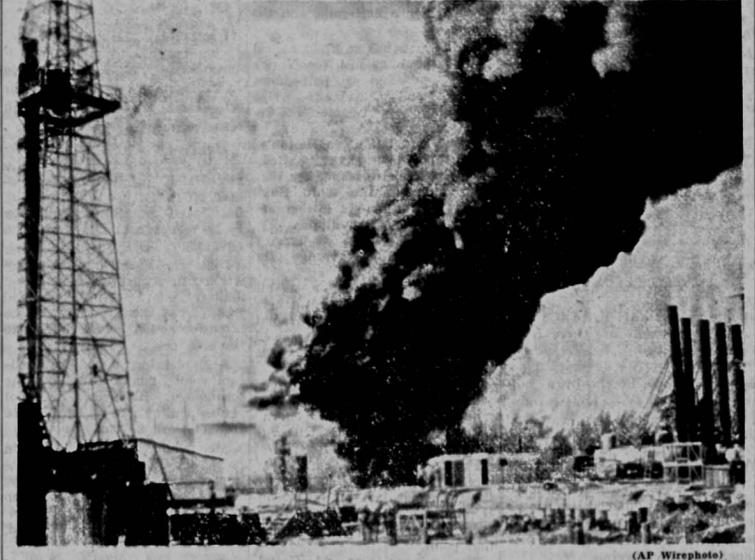

Elsewhere, there were these major labor developments:

CIO pickets, who clashed with police Tuesday, erected a new barricade at the main gate of the struck Standard Oil refinery at Richmond, Calif. They massed at the plant in response to an "urgent" loudspeaker appeal to keep non-strikers from entering the plant. There was no sign of violence and no attempt was made to bring in non-strikers on the day shift.

Three railroad unions, which have served new wage demands on the railroads, petitioned the U. S. supreme court to declare invalid a permanent injunction issued July 2 against a threatened strike of railroad workers. They contended the U. S. district court erred in holding the Taft-Hartley law and Railway Labor act do not prevent issuance of such an order.

State labor mediators in Michigan sought a new formula to end a strike that has made idle 50,000 Detroit automobile workers after the Briggs manufacturing company rejected a plant guard union compromise proposal for a 10-cents hourly wage increase. A special mediator, Hugo E. Sheridan, took up attempts to settle the two-week old strike of AFL teamsters in New York.

Oil Tanks Explode, Ignite Camp

INGLEWOOD, CALIF. (UP) — Fourteen oil storage tanks exploded in the Basin Oil Company's tank farm yesterday throwing flames 300 feet into the air and igniting a nearby trailer camp.

Three persons died of burns. They were Mrs. Lillian Reynolds, 35, Mrs. Olive Ziegler, 27, and her daughter, Judy, 3, all of Inglewood. Another daughter, Roberta, 5, received only minor burns. All three died in a hospital several hours after the blast. The camp was a scene of wild hysteria, police said, but all residents of the camp were evacuated to a temporary shelter set up by the Red Cross in a park.

All but two of the 16 giant, two-story tanks were destroyed. A leak in one of the tanks sent a stream of crude oil flowing down a ravine into the trailer camp, where it was touched off by a campfire.

Flames raced back up the river of oil and blew up the leaking tanks. Other tanks swelled and burst in rapid order. Flame and black smoke could be seen for miles.

A half-dozen fire companies were unable to do more than keep the flames within the oil company's grounds.

Open I-Book Sale At Fieldhouse Office

The new University of Iowa I-book card will be placed on sale at the athletic ticket office in the fieldhouse today, Frank Havlicek, business manager of athletics, announced yesterday.

The cards are restricted to full-time employees of the university appearing on the university budget.

The business office will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. today and tomorrow and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, at which time photographs of the employees will be taken to be placed on the card.

Sections D and E of the west stands at the stadium will be reserved for I-book holders, who will be able to pick up their cards after Wednesday, Havlicek said.

Both married and unmarried budgeted employees may purchase two cards. In the case of married employees, the picture of each spouse will be placed on one card or the other; while the picture of the unmarried employee will appear on both cards.

In cases where the husband and wife are both budgeted employees, they will each be permitted to purchase only one card.

Either card of a pair may be used any member of the holder's family, or by a guest not a member of the holder's family, if accompanied by the holder of the other card in the pair.

In circumstances where both persons possessing I-books do not wish to attend the game, both tickets may be exchanged at the athletic department for duplicate tickets which will be assigned to the guests designated by the original purchaser.

Delay Issuance of 'Spouse' Tickets

Spouse cards, for wives of University of Iowa students, will be available sometime after the Marquette game, Frank Havlicek, business manager of athletics, said yesterday.

The cards cannot be issued until the regular student identification card has been made available, he added.

The price of the card will be $17, including tax. The card will permit the spouse to attend Hawkeye intercollegiate athletic functions.

Dr. Nadine Foreman, appointed research assistant in the department of internal medicine, received a B.A. from the University of California in 1942 and M.D. from the same school in 1946, and comes to Iowa from the radiation laboratory at the University of California.

Official Charged in 'UN Spying' Affair

WASHINGTON (UP) — The state department has begun disciplinary action against Robert C. Alexander, assistant chief of its visa division, who charged recently that the United Nations headquarters is a gateway for foreign subversives to enter America.

A department spokesman revealed yesterday that formal charges of "misconduct and dereliction of duty" have been lodged against Alexander, a veteran career official with 31 years service in the department.

Meal Packers Say Charges Are 'Political'

CHICAGO (P) — The government fired anti-trust charges at the country's four major meat packers yesterday in a shot aimed at splitting them into 14 "separate and competing" companies.

The civil suit accused Swift and Company, Armour and Company, the Cudahy Packing company, and Wilson and Company, Inc., of conspiring to monopolize the interstate trade of cattle purchases and slaughters.

These alleged acts, the suit said, have resulted in higher meat prices to consumers.

The packers denied the charges. John Holmes, president of Swift, called the suit an attempt to "shift responsibility for inflationary prices" during the fall political campaign.

Attorney General Tom Clark said in Washington that the suit seeks to divide Swift and Armour each into five separate companies. Cudahy and Wilson each would be divided into two separate companies.

The court action, Clark added, is "another in a series of cases instituted by the department of justice in furtherance of its program to free the production and sale of food and food products from monopolistic restraints."

The suit charged the four companies refrained from competing with each other in the purchase of livestock and the sale of meat.

The suppressed competition, the complaint went on, by:

1—Controlling the supply of meat which each company obtains for sale by controlling the amount of livestock each will purchase.

2—Utilizing uniform cost formulas for arriving at selling prices.

3—Selling at "loading" rather than "delivered" weights.

4—Selling at substantially identical prices and terms of sales.

The complaint said the four companies accounted for 58 percent of the cattle, 54 percent of the hogs, 68 percent of the calves and 79 percent of the sheep slaughtered under federal inspection in the last 10 years.

Violence Hits Paris; De Gaullists Begin Election Referendum

PARIS (P) — More than 100 police and 30 workers were injured in four hours of street fighting yesterday when 90,000 aviation, automobile and steel industry workers went on strike.

While a Communist spokesman for the General Confederation of Labor was telling Renault automobile workers to "strike until victory," the followers of Gen. Charles De Gaulle began their own nationwide referendum on whether the voters want new elections.

The violence occurred as the French franc sank to a new low and Premier Henri Queuille hastily called a news conference to deny his government planned any drastic monetary steps.

He denied specifically rumors in the French press that bank accounts would be frozen, free trading in gold would be suspended or there would be a "monetary manipulation." The franc dropped on the black market to 440 to the dollar as against the legal rate of 311.

The fighting broke out when a crowd of 4,500 aviation workers marched down the Boulevard Haussmann protesting the dismissal of 1,700 employes of the national aviation industry.

Lewis, Staff Unopposed As UMW Leadership

WASHINGTON (UP) — The United Mine Workers disclosed yesterday that John L. Lewis will be unopposed for another four-year term as union president in next December's membership election.

The Journal, official union publication, said that Lewis, Vice-President Thomas Kennedy and Secretary-Treasurer John Owens have been nominated for these positions without opposition.

Warren Speaks; AFL Backs Gillette

WASHINGTON—Gov. Earl Warren of California kicked off the "running" stage of the 1948 election campaign last night by praising GOP presidential candidate Thomas E. Dewey and calling for more conservation in the west.

Warren, Dewey's running-mate, is the first of the major party candidates to launch a cross-country stumping tour. President Truman begins a western swing tomorrow followed by Dewey on Sunday.

Speaking from the back platform of his special train at Reno, Nev., he praised Dewey as a man "able to use his head as well as his heart in the interests of good and fair government."

Asserting that the nation's future lies in the west, he said "we of the west must educate the rest of the nation to our great need out here for more water, more power and more conservation of all resources."

Warren was met by an assorted crowd of over 1,000 socialites, gamblers, laborers and housewives as his train arrived at Reno station. A little later he spoke again from the back platform of his train at nearby Sparks, Nev.

The California governor's first formal address will be delivered at Salt Lake City, Utah, tonight. This will be followed during his 31-day tour by 24 other speeches and nearly 60 more platform appearances.

Warren's tour marks the first all-out campaigning by the men on the GOP ticket.

President Truman already has made a major campaign invasion of Michigan on Labor day to launch the Democratic campaign.

Mr. Truman will leave Washington tomorrow on his first big tour, a west coast campaign trip that will be one of the most rigorous in U.S. political history.

The AFL political league yesterday threw its support behind 18 Democratic candidates for the senate. A turnover of only four seats there would take control from the Republicans.

The GOP took command of the senate just last year after long years of Democratic rule. But their 51 to 45 majority must stand the test of several apparently close contests in November. On the other hand, most Democratic seats at stake are in the solid south with re-election assured.

In the Iowa race, the AFL is supporting Guy M. Gillette, former governor and senator, against Senator George A. Wilson (R).

Campaign Briefs

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Ia.), yesterday sharply contradicted reports that atomic energy research at Oak Ridge, Tenn., has been demoralized by the tactics of congressional spy-hunters.

The chairman of the senate-house atomic energy committee said the vital work at Oak Ridge actually "is going forward better today than at anytime since the war."

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Truman asserted yesterday that a Republican-controlled Congress will never act to curb high prices and that the only remedy for inflation "lies in electing a Democratic congress in November."

A GOP-controlled House investigating committee struck back with a promise that it soon will release a "well-documented report" blaming the Truman administration for forcing up food prices.

DES MOINES (AP) — Arrangements are being made to seat 30,000 persons for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's address in the Drake stadium Monday night.

WASHINGTON (UP) — The AFL's political arm yesterday hailed last Monday's Maine election as "a great victory" for labor.

Joseph D. Keenan, director of labor's League for Political Education, said this was due to the fact that Maine voters repealed their state's "little Taft-Hartley act" by an overwhelming vote.

MARY ANASTOS, White House secretary, posed yesterday with 14-foot long railroad ticket President Truman will use for his cross-country campaign tour, starting tomorrow morning. The President will travel by special train and will arrive in Iowa City at 7:21 a.m. Saturday.

Ris Homecoming Rally Takes Shape—

The Wally Ris homecoming rally scheduled for Sunday night is slowly beginning to take shape. Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and the Dolphin swimming fraternity are getting together to sponsor a parade following the all-American swimmer's arrival on the 8:45 train Sunday night.

We certainly hope plenty of students and Iowa Citizens turn out to welcome Ris, who won the Olympic 100-meter swimming crown with a record-breaking time of :57.3. Wally also was a member of America's 800-meter winning relay team, which set another record.

Although plans for the rally are tentative, one thing is certain. There will be a rally at the Rock Island depot and there will be a parade through Iowa City's business district.

It is probable that a local band, possibly Iowa City high school's, will join in the festivities.

So why don't you plan to keep Sunday evening free and join in the welcome home rally for Wally Ris! The bigger crowd the better.

Iowa City's Quarterback club will honor Wally at a luncheon in the Hotel Jefferson Monday noon. Members of the organization and their guests are invited to attend.

Speakers at the luncheon will include Prof. Karl E. Leib, president of the National Collegiate Athletic association; Dave Armstrong, Iowa's head swimming coach, and Ris.

We can't get over the improved spirit shown by the Iowa football squad this fall. Visiting writers from newspapers around the Big Nine have also remarked about this factor after watching one or two of the Hawkeye practice sessions.

Here's another little anecdote from the practice field, which typifies the attitude of the entire Iowa team.

Jim Shoaf, regular left tackle last year, finished a long scrimmage the other day and his eleven was being replaced. His substitute, Don Winslow, was delayed in the equipment room changing some broken shoulder pads. The expected few minutes stretched to a half hour while Shoaf kept on playing.

When he finally was replaced, Shoaf went over to rest in the shade. Someone remarked about the big tackle's long workout. "I don't mind," Jim commented. "Maybe it will put me in a little better condition."

For a change Iowa's opening football game with Marquette will not be the usual breather. For the past two years the opposition supplied by North Dakota State resembled nothing better than a good high school team.

Iowa fans seem to think the opener will be a good contest, too. The athletic department expects upwards of 40,000 people a week from Saturday for the first game.

For the three conference tilts and for Notre Dame, the Rock Island railroad plans to run special trains from Des Moines direct to the stadium. The fans must have their own tickets, however.

Separate pullman and coach trains will be sent from Des Moines, the morning of each game, making stops in Newton, Grinnell and Marengo. The pullman will leave Des Moines at 9:45 and the coach section at 9:30.

World Series Opener Will Be Oct. 6th

CINCINNATI (AP) - Nobody knows where it will be, but the first game of the 1948 World Series will be played on Oct. 6 in the home city of the team which wins the National league pennant.

So will the second contest, but the next three will be contested on the home grounds of the American league champions. The games will be played on consecutive days, unless the St. Louis Cards win in the National loop. Then Oct. 8 will be an open date for travel.

If more games must be played, they will be in the National league winner's park.

This was decided at a meeting yesterday with Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler of representatives of clubs from each league still in the flag chase.

The top price will be $8 for a box seat. From that figure they will scale down as follows:

Grandstand reserved seats, $6; general admission to bleachers, $1; pavilion seats in Boston, if played there, $5 each.

The prices include the federal taxes. If games are played in Pittsburgh, Cleveland or St. Louis, however, a city tax will be added.

Indiana
BLOOMINGTON, IND. (UP)—Coach Clyde Smith divided passing duties among four veterans yesterday as Hoosier first stringers rolled over reserves in scrimmage. George Tallaferra, who scored two touchdowns, Del Russell, Wayne Benner, and Alan Linneman, did the tossing. Fullback Milan Sellers also tallied twice.

Illinois
CHAMPAIGN, ILL. (UP)—The Illinois football squad spent another day of no-contact work yesterday as Coach Ray Eliot tapered the team off for a full-dress game Saturday with what is considered to be a strong Illinois freshman team.

Bob Prymski, first-string left tackle, missed practice because of a pulled muscle but was expected to be ready to go against the

Pale Hose Plow Bostonites Under, 17-10 on 10-Run 7th

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—Boston's American league lead melted to a game and a half yesterday as last-place Chicago exploded for 10 runs in the seventh inning and a 17-10 decision over the Red Sox in a zany season finale between the two clubs.

The defeat, which hung a fifth setback on league-leading pitcher Jack Kramer against 16 wins, was money in the bank for second-place New York and third-spot Cleveland, both idle yesterday. Each gained a half-game on the leader.

Boston now has an 87-51 record for the season, against New York's 85-52, one and a half-games behind, and Cleveland's 84-55 three and one-half games off the pace.

Only consolation in Boston's trimming which gave the Red Sox a 14-8 performance for the season against the White Sox was the five-for-six hitting of league-leader Ted Williams.

Thumpin' Ted's five one-baggers raised his season's average six points to .377.

Hero of the Pale Hose 17-hit assault on four Boston pitchers was Outfielder Taffy Wright whose grand slam homer paced Chicago's 10-run uprising in the seventh.

Wright, at bat twice, drove across five runs in the big frame, one why of the modern league record of six RBIs in one inning.

Pat Seery also blasted a White Sox homer with none abroad in the fifth, his 19th of the season. It made the score a still respectable 5-2 in Chicago's favor at that point.

The winner was Al Gettel, although he fled in favor of Howie Judson in the first of the seventh when Boston counted one run to trim Chicago's margin 5 to 4.

Tiger Rookies Slap Nats For 15th Straight Defeat

DETROIT (AP)—A rookie Detroit Tiger batter fresh from the minors collaborated yesterday to spark the Tigers to a 4 to 2 victory over the Washington Senators, extending Washington's longest losing streak to 15 straight games.

Lou Kretlow, strikeout champion of the Eastern league, where he won 21 games for Williamsport, scattered nine hits to take credit for the victory in his first Major league appearance of the season.

Catcher Myron (Joe) Ginsberg, Kretlow's battery mate at Williamsport, scored the winning run in the seventh when he singled, took second on Kretlow's sacrifice and crossed the plate on Johnny Lippon's double to crack a 2-all tie.

Injuries Strike Purdue, Northwest

Riveter Substitutes Remain on Sidelines

LAFAYETTE, IND. (UP)—Injuries may keep two of Purdue's key reserve players out of the opener with Notre Dame next week. Coach Stu Holcomb had planned to use Tackle John Beletic as replacement for veteran Pete Barbolak and Ball Carrier Dave Shaw was expected to relieve Half back Norb Adams. Both subs have leg injuries which haven't responded to treatment.

'Cat Tackle Hobbled

Michigan

ANN ARBOR, MICH. (UP)—Coach Bennie Oosterbaan eased the pressure, yesterday on the University of Michigan football squad and sent the team through a light workout in a drizzling rain.

Oosterbaan said the team was in "good shape" physically but needed sharpening on its aerial attack. Regular two-a-day scrimmages were cancelled in favor of drills on gridiron fundamentals.

Spahn Tames Chicago, 5-2; Stay 5 Ahead

BOSTON (AP)—With their favorite Chicago Cubs "cousins" beating themselves with four costly errors, the Boston Braves protected their first place lead yesterday with a 5-2 win over the National league's cellarites in their final 1948 meeting.

Lefty Warren Spahn, batted out of action in his 22 previous starts against the Cubs, kept nine hits well scattered to chalk up his 14th win of the season.

The Tribesmen clinched the game by totaling four runs and all seven of their hits against Starter Doyle Lade before he was yanked for Southpaw Bob Chapman after six innings.

While the Braves were taking the 16th of their 22 starts with the Cubs, the former's Al Dark was forced to go hitless after connecting safely in his previous 19 games.

Bums Gain 2-1 Win To Split With Reds

BROOKLYN (AP)—The lowly Cincinnati Reds further dampened the pennant outlook of the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday by taking the first game of a twin bill from the Brooks, 3-2. The Dodgers bounced back and grabbed the nightcap, 2-1.

As a result of the split the third place Dodgers dropped five and one half games behind the league—leading Boston Braves and a half game back of the runner-up Pittsburgh Pirates.

Howie Fox stopped the Dodgers, who beat the Reds 11 times in Cincinnati this season, on six hits in the first game in out-pitching Lefty Joe Hatten. Mary Rackley collected half of Brooklyn's hits.

Preacher Roe halted the Reds on seven hits in the nightcap. One of the blows was Hank Sauer's 32nd homer of the season in the fourth inning.

Cards Mark up Another Shutout To Tie for 3rd

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—George Mungler pitched a three hit 2 to 0 shutout over the Philadelphia Phillies last night, vaulting the resurgent St. Louis Cardinals into a third place tie with the Brooklyn Dodgers in the hectic National league pennant race. Stan Musial smashed two singles and a triple as the Cardinals moved to within five and one-half games of the pace setting Boston Braves and only five percentage points behind the runner-up Pittsburgh Pirates.

Michelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kent, 201 Finkbine park, wears an early fall suit that's just right for not-quite-three year olds. Pale pink is the color of her soft wool cashmere skirt and jacket. On warm days, when she takes her jacket off, Michelle wears a starched white cotton blouse with pink and yellow flowers embroidered on the front. For accessories, she chooses a big pink hairbow, pink anklets and matching black purse and patent leather sandals.

Peach Pickles Made From an Old Recipe

Guests of Prof. and Mrs. W. A. Anderson, 530 Person, are specially lucky when Mrs. Anderson includes her spiced peach pickles on a dinner menu. Spiced peach pickles are always an exciting addition to a meal, but Mrs. Anderson's are no ordinary pickles.

For more than a hundred years, the recipe for preserving this fruit with spices and syrup has been handed down in Mrs. Anderson's family. Her grandmother, who lived in Kentucky, gave the recipe to Mrs. Anderson.

Seven pounds of peaches, peeled but not pitted, are required for the pickles.

First a syrup is made containing these ingredients:
3 lb. sugar
1 qt. vinegar
1 oz. stick cinnamon
1 oz. cloves
1 oz. mace
1 nutmeg, grated

After the syrup is made, it is brought to a boil with the spices and should boil for 15 minutes. Then it is poured over the peeled fruit and allowed to stand for 24 hours.

The next morning the syrup is poured off, brought to a boil, again poured over the fruit and allowed to stand for another 24 hours. This process is repeated the next two mornings, making a total of four times that the syrup is boiled and allowed to saturate the peaches.

On the last morning, both the syrup and the peaches are brought to the boil. While hot they should be put in jars and canned with the syrup according to the regular hot pack process.

If peach pickles are made according to Mrs. Anderson's recipe, not only will they brighten a dinner table with their golden beauty, but they'll add a spicy tang to that special meal with their unique flavorful goodness.

UN's Date With Destiny: Sept. 21, 1948

UN Will Tackle Big Problems, Accomplish Little

SYMBOLIZING FRANCE'S temporary surrender of sovereignty over Paris' Palais de Chaillot to the United Nations, French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman (right) presented a golden key to UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie on his arrival. Said Schuman: "France is proud and grateful" to play host to the UN.

By Daily Iowan Research Staff

The third regular session of the United Nations general assembly is about to open and two worlds will come together to talk things over under the banner of a one-world organization.

The east-west cold war has flared on unchecked since the general assembly met in New York last September and held a special session on Palestine last April.

To say that the UN assembly is being asked to tackle problems it was never designed to solve is unnecessary repetition. But a troubled world still has faith enough to pour its woes on the doorstep of the "town meeting of the world."

Four big problems will confront the assembly immediately—the fate of Italy's colonies, the Palestine situation, the Balkan conflict centering around Greece and the twin trouble spots in the far east, Korea and India.

If the Berlin crisis continues, the western allies have threatened to take the problem to the assembly also. Such a move would cram the core of the east-west battle into a French palace.

The general assembly is a world-size legislature which elects its own officers, makes its own rules, controls smaller committees or groups assisting it, decides the finances of its "government" and conducts its own investigations.

After elaborate investigations and debates, the assembly can draft resolutions proposing to individual nations or the security council that something be done. It has no power to enforce its resolutions.

Let's see how the legislature that idealism built goes about tackling a real, live international crisis. Let's take the Balkan affair.

When the Greek Communist guerrillas mustered enough strength to wage full-scale warfare, the situation assumed international proportions. Greece charged that her Balkan neighbors—Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria, which had all fallen into the Moscow axis—were aiding the Greek guerrillas.

The three satellites denied this; Russia backed them up. With the Truman doctrine, the U. S. sided with Greece and began pouring in military aid and recovery dollars. All this was over a year ago.

When the general assembly met in September, 1947, the Balkan mess was dragged onto the meeting floor. Since there is no veto in the assembly and even the most important matters require only a two-thirds vote, the

We're Not in a Hurry, But -

Going into the fall home stretch the political-speakers-on-campus issue is still running neck and neck with itself.

Physically impossible as that sounds, it is the type of thing that can happen—and has been happening for several months.

The board of education when it met at Ames early this week cast a tie vote; thus suspending the issue until the next meeting in mid-October.

Maybe the board by now wishes this thing had never been brought up; maybe they'd sincerely like to get it all settled; maybe they are strong for their own conviction and only a vote by the chairman will break the four-to-four deadlock.

If so, wouldn't it be a considerable gesture on the part of the board to break this deadlock at the first possible time the board could meet with a nine-person vote?

Time is growing short for this year to benefit from a possible liberal board decision. In another month, campus political activity and political life could be so stultified by uncertainty and impatience that there would be no gain from youthful participation in the structure of elections and campaigns.

Armchair Scientist's Lament

Worrying as we have been from day to day about Berlin and Belgrade and Bangkok must have distorted our view of the future.

And we're not the only ones. Every utopian from Wallace to the chairman of the National Association of Manufacturers seems to be peering into the future with a magnifying glass instead of field glasses.

But there's a group of pretty smart people meeting in Washington at this minute that are putting a new slant on things for us.

These men, members of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, have been looking at the future with field glasses—high powered ones.

What they see doesn't make them happy. Their general theme is disheartening. The earth is becoming overcrowded and exploited, vast fertile regions of earth have been permanently ruined by man, man's unthinking exploitation of nature goes on at fantastic rates.

Large families, a source of pride in granddaddy's day, are a thing of scorn for our modern men of science. Sooner or later, there must be a limitation on world population, they solemnly claim.

And there they leave us, in a death valley of dejection.

Don't expect a research chemist to help you, they warn, man's destruction is too extensive to be cured in a test tube.

Admittedly, it's nice to know where we are going a few hundred crises from now. But it doesn't seem fair that the men of science have let us all down.

After all, they got us into this mess. It wasn't our idea that war should be fought with bigger and better weapons. The atomic bomb was a surprise present—we didn't ask for it.

Now we find that all these scientific gadgets will be of no avail. The future—the faraway future—is a place of three-people families, one family per square mile and no top soil. It's not fair.

Pushing German Steel Output Is Difficult

By J. M. Roberts, Jr.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
DUESSELDORF, GERMANY—British and German administrators of the north German steel industry are hoping that they can make their plans now in the certainty of a fairly well established Allied policy.

Ever since 1945 they have been working against a constantly shifting background. They feel that the current Allied policy of encouraging German production and incorporating it into the overall European economy has come, in many of its aspects, just two years late.

In 1945 Allied planners found the world needed 25-million tons more steel annually than it produced. It was generally considered that it must come from Germany. Then it was found that it could not, because of wartime plant destruction and disrupted supply factors. But instead of rushing German steel rehabilitation, the Allies entered in a period of political thinking.

Decartelization, denazification, redistribution of plants which the Nazis had stolen from conquered countries, reparations and future ownership were questions which for a time obscured production.

The shortage of labor, not labor recalcitrance, is a problem in north German steel. Steel, like coal, is plagued with the works councils, which go back to the system introduced by German employers themselves to give labor a choice in the conditions under which it worked.

But their strength is receding along with the general strength of communism in the western zones, as evidenced in all recent elections. Steel labor in general has been more stable than that of coal.

The steel men are going ahead. Production now is running far ahead of prearranged targets. They like the new Allied policies provided they are properly implemented.

But, British or German, the steel men point out one thing. If the administrators of the Marshall plan are depending on Ruhr steel to reach 110 per cent of its 1936 capacity by 1952, as they say they are expecting of western European industry as a whole, they are in for a big disappointment.

German steel production in 1936 was 14.4 million tons. There aren't enough plants left in Allied controlled Germany to do that now, even if they could all be put and kept in full operation.

McBride's Hall New Look — Same Old Slouch

By BILL MCBRIDE
There seems to be a bigger and better crop of convertibles this year. That's a pretty good indication that the depression is still not on its way. For every new convertible I figure somebody's father must have cleared an extra $5,000 during the last fiscal year.

The return of the sorority herd marks the end of an almost non-venue lookish summer. During the past three months most of the females around the campus were either underpaid high school teachers or hard working GI wives. Those girls still hadn't gotten beyond the hand lowered high stage this summer.

Now it is nothing to see 10 or 12 rushees and rushees gathered on a corner looking about as Parisian as one can get on Iowa City's sedate streets. I have a hunch that those girls are just as uncomfortable wearing their yards of rustling fall clothes as I am looking at them. Most of them probably spent the summer on the farm in their bare feet and brother's blue denims.

On the way home the other afternoon I noticed a string of limosines, taxi cabs and convertibles parked in front of a sorority house with what appeared to be hundreds of be-hatted, be-heeled and be-flowered, sophisticated young women entering the vehicles.

I felt that I was passing a convoy of eyes peeping over the lower edges of auto window frames, since that was all that was visible of most of the passengers. It's funny how a five foot, six inch woman can appear so elegant while standing in high heels, but lose all of that elegance by slouching so that only the bridge of her nose and up shows from the street.

An agent tells me City High's band and orchestra both sound exceptionally good for this early in the year. The agent was also impressed with the cleanliness of the hallways in the high school building, and credits the contrast with university halls to the lack of cigarettes and chewing gum in the lower stages of education.

One of my favorite weekly editors, who brought his youngest daughter to IC for enrollment in the university yesterday, made a profound statement concerning the recent decision of the board of education to make no decision on the political-speakers-on-campus issue.

He stated that it was a well known fact that most politicians speak to be understood by 10-year-old children. In that light he figures the careful guarding of SUI students from avowed political candidates places students in a 9-year-old bracket.

Word came from the Iowa State department of Health that the season for the common cold is here again. I'm way ahead of them, and it was no "common" cold which ruined two perfectly good weeks for me.

I don't have "common" colds... mine are all aristocrats with 21 jeweled microbes yachting through my system. I think I'm going to whip this one, however. All that remains now is to recuperate from gallons of patent medicines which didn't even sink so much as one microbe.

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

They're Not All Idiots...

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

During every presidential election campaign I conduct my own poll, known as the Grafton Poll. It differs from all other sampling techniques, because in the Grafton Poll you are not allowed to ask any questions. You merely sit quietly beside the subject on a train or at a cocktail party and you wait for him to come up with topics for discussion, without prompting.

Southern Comfort

also measures the intensity with which he holds them.

We don't feel that just answering a question necessarily proves that a subject really has an opinion; he may never have thought about the issue before in his life, or he may merely be a polite man who doesn't mind answering questions. Or he may be an idiot.

I have been running the current Grafton Poll for three weeks now, and am subjecting the first returns to scientific analysis. I must admit they are a little baffling.

So far, in the course of 213 exhaustive non-interviewing sessions, conducted by our trained non-interviewers in bars, diners, cafes, filling stations and over back fences, nobody has yet mentioned any of the presidential candidates.

Frankly, we do not quite know how to interpret these findings. At the present moment we are engaged in setting up criteria for judgment.

One group in our organization feels that this total lack of mention of any of the candidates shows that the public is indeed deeply interested in them, so emotionally excited about Dewey, Truman, etc., in fact, that it does not trust itself to speak. It is something like the interest in sex, in other words.

This group feels that the public is thinking about these candidates all the time, with the greatest excitement, but that it is subconsciously trying to conceal its admiration, the way people tend to try to hide their deepest emotions. Using this interpretation as its reference point, this group feels that the current election has excited more interest than any previous one in the history of the country, on the clear ground that it has produced the least talk.

Another group of our people considers, however, that this is poppycock. This group believes the fact that the public is not talking about the candidates shows it is not interested in them. "It figures, don't it?" says this group, which consists of some of our younger people, who have not yet learned proper scientific phraseology.

Some intra-office strife has developed as a result of this controversy. A non-interviewer of the first group brought in a report that one of his subjects (a large, tired farmer) was seen to tremble violently at sight of a Dewey poster.

It is a little difficult, of course, to wait here at headquarters for the first report to come in concerning a subject who displays open (as contrasted with concealed) enthusiasm for a candidate. Makes one edgy to sit around, waiting, waiting. Won't somebody say something, please?

western allies were able to outvote the east bloc.

The general assembly thus became the voice of the west in the Balkan situation. Last Oct. 21 it called upon Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia to do nothing which could assist the guerrillas in Greece and also asked them to cooperate with Greece in settling their disputes peacefully.

The assembly then appointed a special committee on the Balkans to investigate the situation and to submit an impartial report to the next session.

The Balkan commission spent much of its time on the troubled Greek frontier looking for facts. Its report to the assembly echoes the same theme the original assembly resolution stated: Greece's Communist neighbors are the "aggressors" and should be stopped by the UN.

Now it gets interesting. For here we leave the brink of reality and enter the realm of theory on how the international organization is supposed to stop an aggressor.

Theoretically, the Balkan situation will be put on the agenda and considered by the assembly sometime in the next two months. After heated debate between east and west, the report of the Balkan commission would be adopted—the west has the voting edge.

The general assembly would then draft a resolution asking the security council to take over. Here we find the old bugaboo, the veto.

If you were the fellow pulling the strings in the Kremlin and the nosey world was going to stop you from dominating the Balkans, you'd most likely tell your representative on the security council to block the question with a well-placed veto.

The veto chases the UN out of the Balkans and nothing material has been accomplished. The west may, of course, take matters into its own hands. Then you have the cold war—or even a hot one.

The point is: the general assembly is going to produce nothing.

Predicts Television Will Be in Midwest By End of Year

CHICAGO (UP)—The Illinois Bell telephone company predicted yesterday that television shows will be broadcast halfway across the nation by the end of the year.

The firm said that a midwest television network would be in operation by Sept. 20, the first step in a system extending from New York to St. Louis. Television reception is limited by horizon distance, but the company said that coaxial cables and radio tower relays will overcome this obstacle.

The midwestern circuit will connect St. Louis, Chicago, Milwaukee, Toledo, Detroit, Cleveland and Buffalo. By the end of December, New York City will be linked into the circuit, the telephone company said.

Video shows will be sent by coaxial cable throughout the system except for the Toledo-Detroit and the Chicago-Milwaukee legs. Intermediate radio relay stations will carry the complicated television images between those points.

The Illinois company said that when the midwestern and eastern video networks are connected by coaxial cable between Cleveland and Philadelphia the Bell telephone system will have 5,000 miles of video channels, joining 14 cities.

that the world's diplomats are pumping plasma into a hollow, anemic body in the hope that, some day in the future, the east and the west decide that one world would be a nice place to live in.

Following the daily propaganda blasts will be less frustrating if you remember that nothing is supposed to happen,

Three Students Manage 'Collection' Agency

Operation 'Refuse' Nets Trio Cash for Board and Recreation

A garbage truck of 1929 vintage will help three students through the university this semester.

A little over a week ago they began hauling garbage to the city dumps at a minimum rate of $1.50 a truckload, according to Rex Crayne, Pasadena, one of the three can-shakers. His other colleagues in this smelly business are Chuck Ruhl, Davenport and Bob Roseland, Clear Lake. The trio claim they will brave almost any kind of stench at a price in order to meet food and recreational expenses.

But they refuse to haul all refuse at the same price.

"For clean garbage," Crayne explained, "we charge the minimum rate. But if the garbage is reeking and moldy, we up our rate to $3.00 a truckload."

He said they had one three-dollar job, and the fumes from the truck's engine and garbage were so bad that tears kept streaming from their eyes making it difficult to pilot the truck. After this episode, they considered buying army surplus gas-masks.

"And the stuff you find in people's garbage cans will amaze you," chimed in Roseland. "If you really want to get to know people all you have to do is look into their garbage cans." He declined to mention some of the refuse found for fear of antagonizing some of the customers.

With business picking up, the trio contemplate branching out.

"According to our latest financial report," said Ruhl, "we have $1 in the treasury, $10 to be collected and almost $70 spent for gas, oil, food and recreation." He added that $15 was the largest amount earned in one day.

So far, they had difficulty in collecting money from one customer. They are considering dumping a moldy load of garbage in front of his house if he doesn't come across with the money, they said.

As for working hours, the trio may work shifts of four hours

LOADING UP GARBAGE ON A MODEL "A" pick-up truck they bought for $75 on an installment plan are three university students who expect to earn enough money this year to meet their food and recreational expenses. The three "refuses" are (l. to r.) Chuck Ruhl, Davenport; Rex Crayne, Pasadena and Bob Roseland, Clear Lake. The trio, members of Beta Theta Pi fraternity, consider branching out because business is rapidly picking up.

each to prevent any conflict with classes and studies.

The idea of collecting garbage came to them after they learned that a Model A pick-up truck was being offered for sale at $85.

After haggling with the owner of the truck, they bought it for $75 on installment. They gave $40 as down payment.

The truck—a three-tone job of silver, green and dirty black—chugged beautifully when they first drove off with it, Roseland said.

"But when we got to the other end of town," he continued, "the engine began to cough, wheeze, and suddenly stopped going. We bailed out of the truck and pushed it several blocks to the nearest junk yard."

There, the junk-dealer discovered a faulty condenser in the engine which he tore out and replaced with a third-hand one at a cost of ten cents. This was the only major operation performed on the truck.

"But it's rather expensive to operate the truck. We have to use two quarts of used oil for every gallon of gasoline," concluded Crayne.

Taft Labels Truman Attack Attempt to Get Labor's Vote

CINCINNATI (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) said yesterday President Truman "has encouraged the open defiance of the law now engaged in by some of the more radical labor bosses."

He called Mr. Truman's attack on him Tuesday "merely an attempt to curry favor with the labor bosses who control the labor publicity to which he is looking for help in the election."

The accusation, Taft added, "only shows that we have reached the silly season in politics."

The President released a letter Tuesday, addressed to David P. Findling, NLRB associate general counsel, accusing Taft of an "entirely improper" attempt to "put the heat" on the NLRB to act against the AFL International Typographical union.

TAFT

"It seems to me that it is entirely improper for any senator, no matter what his politics or his rank in the senate may be, to attempt to put the heat on one of the executive departments," the President wrote.

In defending his action of meeting on last July 28 with representatives of Chicago publishers and NLRB officials, Taft said:

"When I returned to Washington for the special session, I was appealed to by the newspaper publishers, including one of my most distinguished constituents, Mr. John S. Knight, publisher of the Akron Beacon Journal, to arrange a meeting for them with Mr. Denham (Robert N. Denham, NLRB general counsel) in order that they might present the facts and urge upon him prompt action to enforce the injunction already issued at his request against the ITU by the U.S. district court in Indianapolis.

"They told me that in their opinion there was clear evidence of violation of this injunction but that no action had yet been taken by the NLRB to enforce it by contempt proceedings."

"It is not only the practice, but the duty, of every congressman and senator, when his constituents allege that some executive department is not doing its duty in relationship to matters in which they are interested, to take up that matter with the executive department concerned," Taft said.

Army Taking Men For European Duty

A limited number of men now can be enlisted for European duty with the army. M/Sgt. O. H. McClung of the Iowa City army and airforce recruiting office announced yesterday.

Within the next 90 days the army can enlist about six men for the First infantry division and about six for the United States constabulary, both located in Germany, he said.

McClung also announced that the army has lowered age restrictions on officer candidate school applicants.

The minimum age has been lowered from 20 1/2 to 19, and the army has increased its quota for officer's training. Application blanks for OCS are available at the Iowa City recruiting office, McClung said.

Chicago Publishers 'Glad' for Taft Talk

CHICAGO (UP)—Chicago daily newspaper publishers said last night they are "glad" they met with national labor relation board officials and Sen. Robert A. Taft (R., O.), in Washington in an effort to settle a 10-month-old AFL printers strike against them.

Through a spokesman, the publishers of the city's five major newspapers labeled as "traditional campaign controversy" the dispute which has arisen between President Truman and Taft over the meeting.

John P. O'Keefe, secretary of the Chicago Newspaper Publishers association, charged that the publishers went to Washington because the "Chicago newspapers have adhered scrupulously to the provision of the Taft-Hartley law while the International Typographical union (AFL) has attempted to disregard and bypass the law."

The meeting with NLRB general counsel staff members was arranged through Taft, O'Keefe said. At the session, "Senator Taft himself suggested no course of action and left for another meeting," O'Keefe said.

"If the NLRB attorneys felt the facts called for any action, Senator Taft hoped they would not delay too long because he understood the Chicago strike was the longest existing major strike in the country," he added.

"The publishers' representatives were informed they would have to await rulings by the labor board itself or by the courts," O'Keefe said.

Navy Now Taking Men for Enlistment in Aviation Cadets

Lt. Com. Joe P. Klaus, and Lt. Lester Morris will be in Iowa City through Friday accepting enlistments in the United States navy as aviation cadets, they announced yesterday.

The navy is taking enlistments into this branch for the first time since V-J day. They need 2,000 men from the country.

Qualifications for enlistment in the aviation cadet program are that the enlistee must be between the ages of 18 and 25 and that he be unmarried and have two years of college.

At the end of 15 to 18 months training the cadet will have approximately 350 hours of flight time and will get a commission in the regular navy and be designated as a naval aviator.

Volunteers must sign up for four years.

Volunteers with four years of college may sign up as ensigns in the regular navy. They will receive an ensign's pay of $371 during training and they can be married when they enlist.

The two officers said they would be available at the Hotel Jefferson and would be glad to answer any questions regarding the program.

Airforce Day Set Saturday

Mayor Preston Koser of Iowa City yesterday joined the rest of the nation in proclaiming Saturday, Sept. 19, as Air Force Day.

List Details of Truman's Visit

The observation car of President Truman's special train will be spotted at the Clinton street crossing for his speech here Saturday morning, it was announced last night by city officials after a meeting with secret service authorities.

Clinton street will be blocked off at Prentiss and Lafayette streets and rope barriers will keep the crowds away for the Presidential train, according to Police Chief E. J. Ruppert.
