Truman Begins Speaking Tour Across Nation

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN (UP)—President Truman, smiling and assured, began a whirlwind two-week campaign tour yesterday promising to "give them hell" in his effort to remain in office.

WAVING GOODBYE to Mr. Truman as the Presidential special pulls out of Harrisburg, Pa., is a crowd composed largely of representatives from a railroad brotherhood. The President shook hands with a long line of well-wishers yesterday during a five-minute stop on the beginning of his trans-continental speaking tour.

advisers, reporters and cameramen, pulled out of Washington's Union station at 9:06 a.m. Iowa time.

Seeing him off were Secretary of State George C. Marshall, Secretary of Commerce, Charles Sawyer and Sen. Alben W. Barkley (D-Ky.), Mr. Truman's running mate in the presidential campaign.

Barkley, seeing the President for the first time since returning from a European trip, laughed and joked and told Mr. Truman to "mow them down."

"I'm going to fight hard," the President replied. "I'm going to give them hell."

The President has described the cross-country tour as a drive to "inform the people what the issues are in this campaign." He will visit big cities and "whistle stops" in 18 states and will make as many as 15 talks a day on his dawn-to-dusk schedule.

He is being accompanied by his daughter, Margaret, who will cast her first presidential ballot this year. Mrs. Truman will join them at Des Moines.

At Baltimore, the first brief stop on his 9,500-mile tour, the President shook hands with a group of Maryland Democratic leaders.

He did the same at Harrisburg and Altoona, Pa., where his train made brief stops.

A delegation of Illinois Democratic leaders was scheduled to board the train just outside Chicago about 2 a.m. Iowa time today for conferences with the President. They will remain aboard as far as Rock Island, Ill., where Mr. Truman will make a before breakfast platform speech at 5:45 a. m. Iowa time.

The President was scheduled to stop at Davenport, Iowa, City, and Oxford this morning before going on to Dexter to give what is described as a major campaign address at the national plowing contest at 12:05 p.m. Iowa time.

From Dexter, the President will swing southward for an overnight and Sunday stop at his home in Independence, Mo. Then he heads west again.

Ban Speech From WSUI

President Truman's scheduled speech in Iowa City this morning has been banned from radio station WSUI.

The ban was announced yesterday after the station said that it would carry Mr. Truman's speech in Iowa City and in Oxford.

According to Carl Menzer, director of WSUI, the station has a policy of never broadcasting political speeches. "The station has never done it and it is not going to start now," he said.

It was reported that the reason for the change was based on a state board of education ruling which bans the use of university facilities for political speeches.

This ruling was set up by the board of education to apply to radio station WOI at Ames and to WSUI, according to Prof. Arthur Barnes, who teaches radio news at the university.

Station officials said yesterday that a speech by Henry Wallace in Iowa City last summer was broadcast in part by radio station WSUI.

Wasps Take the Sting Out of Kids' Education

ATLANTA (AP)—Eight hundred school kids lost their building yesterday because of wasps.

Assistant Fulton County Police Chief E. G. Fitzgerald said a maintenance man accidentally set afire the $250,000 E. Rivers grammar school in Atlanta's fashionable northside while burning out wasp nests under the roof eaves.

The building was gutted. School had been dismissed an hour earlier.

Railroad Workers in Non-Operating Unions Call for Strike Vote

CHICAGO (AP) — Wage talks between the railroads and their one million non-operating workers collapsed yesterday and a union spokesman said, "We are taking immediate steps for a strike vote."

Under the dispute-settling provisions of the national railway labor act, either side can ask the national (railway) mediation board to intervene.

However, G. E. Leighty, chairman of the labor conference committee, said: "We have not and will not ask for the services of the national mediation board. We are spreading a strike vote among the workers immediately."

To Ask Board In

A spokesman for the employers said his group has not yet asked the mediation board to inject itself into the dispute.

The railroad labor act provides for both mediation and intervention by a presidential fact-finding board before a strike can legally be called.

Free to Strike

Barring new injunction action in the courts, the 16 non-operating unions presumably would be free to strike if all settlement steps of the railway labor act are exhausted.

Only three operating unions — the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers and the Switchmen's Union of North America — are restrained from striking under a court injunction issued last July 2.

These three unions asked the supreme court Wednesday to declare the injunction invalid under the Norris-LaGuardia act.

Union, Army Agree On Loading Cargo

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Harry Bridges' CIO longshore union said yesterday the loading of strike-iddled army cargo with union men would begin this morning under a contract between the army and a Seattle stevedoring firm.

In Seattle, the port of embarkation confirmed the contract and said details will be announced later.

Col. William H. Donaldson Jr., port commander, said the agreement affected only Seattle. He added any arrangements for similar work at other west coast ports would be a "separate deal."

Stevedoring gangs, he said, will resume normal operations today. They will discharge the U. S. army transport Sgt. Charles E. Mower which arrived from the orient yesterday.

The colonel stressed the agreement "affects essential army cargo only."

A union announcement identified the stevedoring firm as Griffiths and Sprague of Seattle. It said work conditions would be the same.

Bagpipes To Cheer Hawks at Indiana

About 65 members of SUT's all girl Scottish Highlanders will perform at the Iowa-Indiana football game at Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 2, Bill Adamson, pipe major, announced yesterday. It will mark the first appearance of the group at Indiana.

Since the band was organized in 1937, it has appeared at seven of the Big Nine conference schools. Last year it performed at the Ohio State-Iowa football game in Columbus, Ohio.

The Indiana trip will follow performances during Iowa day at the Railroad fair in Chicago Sept. 30. The Hawkeye pipers will participate in a salute to Gov. Robert D. Blue as part of the pageant "Wheels A' Rollin'."

Following the pageant, the kiltdad lassies will be conducted on a tour of the fair by officials of the Rock Island railroad and will perform at the Rock Island exhibit.

UN Mediator for Holy Land Is Assassinated in Jerusalem

Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations mediator in Palestine was shot and killed yesterday in Jerusalem.

The assassination deeply shocked world political leaders who had hoped his mediation efforts would bring peace to the Holy Land.

At the same time, the reaction of several United Nations officials in Paris was that "now all hell will break loose in the middle east."

Slain with the Swedish nobleman was his French assistant, Col. Andre Pierre Serot.

An official United Nations telegram to the security council declared the two men were "brutally assassinated by Jews of unknown identity in a cold blooded attack."

The telegram said the killers used an Israeli army type jeep and shot Bernadotte at pointblank range at a roadblock "well within the Jewish lines" in Jerusalem's Katamon district.

Bernadotte was driven to Hadassah hospital on Mount Scopus where he died within a few minutes without regaining consciousness. Serot was killed instantly.

The telegram telling of the attack was signed by Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, American member of the U. N. secretariat, U. N. officials in Paris and Lake Success said Bunche had been assigned to replace Bernadotte.

In the attack Frank Begley, chief security officer for the U. N., who was driving Bernadotte's car, suffered only powder burns. He raced to the hospital with the fatally wounded count.

Secretary of State Marshall declared in Washington last night that the world will demand that Bernadotte's work in the Holy Land "be vigorously pursued."

"It is particularly tragic that he should have been shot down at a time when he had achieved such a great measure of success," Marshall said.

"To Countess Bernadotte and his children I extend my deepest sympathy. The world will bitterly regret his loss."

President Truman said last night he was saddened and shocked by the news of Bernadotte's death.

"His death emphasizes again the difficulties in our efforts to secure the liberties under law of all peoples in the world," the President said.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, termed the killing a "ruthless act which will be condemned by the people of Palestine — Jew and Arab alike."

In New York, Dr. Alba Hillel Silver, chairman of the American section of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, said every "right thinking person" will be horrified by

Western Allies Ban Movement of Goods Into Russian Zone

By WALTER RUNDLE BERLIN (UP) — The western allies have placed a blanket ban on the movement of all goods from their occupation zones into the Russian zone, it was disclosed yesterday.

Orders, intended to be highly secret, were sent Thursday night to German minister-presidents of states in the western zones to see that no goods of any kind get across the zonal borders into Soviet-occupied territory.

Smuggling System Leakage of the orders yesterday disclosed that the Russians had organized an extensive smuggling system to get vitally needed supplies such as machine parts, manufactured goods and raw materials for the starved industries of eastern Germany.

Retaliating to the Russian blockade of Berlin, the allies late in June had stopped railroad and barge traffic into the Russian zone. This was a heavy blow to the Russians, who apparently believed that the allies would permit them to continue to get goods they needed.

Trucks Unhindered However, it developed that the allied orders did not cover truck traffic. Taking advantage of that, the Russians had been sneaking large quantities of goods from the western zones into their territory over "back lanes and byroads," as British Transport Chief A.T.L. Reed put it.

The new ban was expected to hit the Russians heavily, as it was understood that the smuggling plan was just really getting into its stride.

Allied authorities had sought to keep their new ban secret so that it could not prejudice the negotiations now in progress in Moscow between the western powers and Russia.

Hyderabad Forces Surrender to India

NEW DELHI, INDIA (UP) — Hyderabad surrendered to India today after five days of fighting.

The Moslem Nizam of Hyderabad, reputed world's richest man, ordered his state troops to cease firing when Indian troops were reported within 40 miles of his capital city of Hyderabad.

"Today, on the fifth day of the conflict, we realize we have lost" the Nizam told his 17,000,000 subjects in a radio broadcast. "We have fought to the depth of our ability."

The Nizam said Indian troops would be allowed to occupy their old base at Secunderabad, and that Hyderabad will not press charges against India in the United Nations security council at Paris.

Dewey Says Demo Charge Designed to Deceive Agriculture

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey yesterday accused the Truman administration of "an intentional fabrication designed to deceive the producers of food in our country."

The Republican presidential nominee made the charge in replying to what he called Democratic accusations that the GOP is trying to wreck the government's price support program.

The New York governor also disclosed at a news conference that he will make four rear platform speeches from his train in President Truman's home state of Missouri.

Dewey will open his campaign with a major speech in Des Moines, Monday night, then head for the west coast.

Dewey called a news conference to issue a statement on Republican farm policy after he had conferred for more than three hours with two GOP farm leaders in Congress. Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) chairman of the senate agriculture committee, and Rep. Clifford R. Hope (R-Kan.), chairman of the house agriculture committee, were Dewey's advisers.

Dewey's statement said the "consumer and the farmer have an equal stake in sound government support of prices," and he added: "A firm program of price supports at reasonable levels will benefit both producers and consumers."

Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, recently accused Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan of deliberately trying to keep prices high.

That brought a retort from Mr. Truman and Brannan that the Republicans were trying to kill the price support program.

Noting those charges, Dewey commented: "That the accusations were 'created out of thin air, out of whole cloth and are an intentional fabrication designed to deceive the producers of food in our country.'"

Dewey also said "the whole administration is making it (the charge) and they are making it up."

'World Citizen' Is Seized by French

PARIS (AP)—French police freed Garry Davis, 26, self-styled first world citizen, last night soon after he was removed from United Nations territory in the heart of Paris.

One hundred uniformed police swooped down on him and took him to a nearby police station when he refused to accept a three-month extension of his visa to stay in France.

That ended Davis' six-day stand on the doorstep of the U. N., which he staged as part of his one-man campaign for world government.

At the police station the former U. S. army airforce pilot was told he was not under arrest. He was advised, however, against returning to the international strip where he had pitched a tent.

Argue Over Communists

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorney General Clark accused Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) last night of hunting headlines because of his suggestion that Clark immediately seek indictments against known Communists "in and out of government."

The cabinet officer issued a statement directed to Ferguson, telling the Senator bluntly: "I would appreciate it if you would quit trying to claim credit for the work of the FBI and the department of justice and keep your political activity out of the field of serious prosecution of offenses under federal statutes."

Ferguson, who heads a senate subcommittee investigating reports of subversive influences in the government, had forwarded his indict-Communists-now suggestion to Clark from Detroit.

The attorney general said, however, that he read about it in the press before he received a copy of it in communication. For that reason, he said, he was replying by the same means.

"I am surprised," Clark wrote, "that one who claims to be a lawyer of some experience" would release "tips" to the press on most confidential criminal matters your informant told you were being investigated by the federal bureau of investigation or ordered prosecuted by the department of justice.

"Your indefatigable desire for headlines in this regard will prove very detrimental to the prosecution of important cases."

"You know that neither you nor the committee has unearthed anything on subversive matters that the FBI did not know and the department of justice had not already presented to the federal grand juries."

"Again I ask you to furnish to the proper authorities the names of any Communists presently working in the executive branch of the government so that proper action may be taken."

Ferguson's suggestion coincided with reports that the justice department is on the point of seeking indictments against a number of former government employees believed to have Communist connections.

Alex H. Campbell, assistant attorney general, would neither confirm nor deny reports that grand juries are to be summoned soon in various cities to hear evidence in the alleged Communist cases.

Campbell did say, however, that "an investigation has been going on for months and is continuing."

Plane Crash Shows Evidence of Bizarre Murder in the Sky

NEW YORK (AP)—Police pondered yesterday the strange case of what appeared to be murder in the sky.

The bizarre affair came to light following the crash Thursday night of a small plane carrying a man and a 28-year-old woman.

An autopsy disclosed three bullet wounds in the body of the woman, identified by authorities as Hannah Laufer.

Medical Examiner William Benson said Miss Laufer had been shot and killed before the crash, in which the pilot, 31-year-old Jesus Meneau Monleon, perished. An unhappy love affair was indicated.

The small, rented plane plunged to earth in remote marshland near the New York International airport after several efforts to land both at International and La Guardia fields.

In the wreckage of the plane, police found a letter which they said indicated Monleon had planned at one time to kill Miss Laufer and then take his own life. Later, however, it indicated he had abandoned the idea and planned only to do away with himself, police said.

The medical examiner's office said the note was sealed in an envelope addressed to the dead woman. It was written Thursday but had not been mailed.

Miss Laufer, seated at the right of the pilot during the flight, had been shot in the left side. Two steel-jacketed bullets and the fragments of a third were found in her body.

Monleon, a native of Spain, rented the plane Thursday for a flight to Philadelphia. Witnesses at both La Guardia field and the international airport said the small ship made several erratic passes at both fields before it hurtled into a salt marsh Thursday night.

Four Deer Invade New York Hamlet

NANUET, N. Y. (AP) — Four deer appeared on main street yesterday, smashed a couple of windows and headed for the woods again.

Three does and a fawn wandered onto the main thoroughfare of this hamlet about 30 miles northwest of New York City. One doe jumped through the plate glass window of a barber shop and jumped right out.

Another doe ran into a back workroom of a garage and then dived through an 18 by 20-inch window. Authorities said they measured the window and still wonder how the doe got through.

Davenport Paddles Hawklets, 13 to 0

Imps' Line Rends City High; 7,000 See Stadium Dedicated

Iowa City high school's inaugural of its new football stadium fell in dismal defeat last night as the Hawklets lost to a spirited, smooth-working Davenport eleven, 13-0.

The field, directly behind City high, was dedicated during half-time ceremonies as approximately 7,000 fans looked on. The Blue Devils held the lead at the end of the first half, 7-0.

The Little Hawks were powerless to move against a much smaller Davenport line, which opened up gaping holes in the locals' forward wall. The running of the Imps' 137-pound left half-back, Ward Shawyer, was the outstanding feature of the entire game.

City high received the opening kickoff on its own 35-yard line with Gene Hettrick returning the ball to his own 39.

The Hawklets immediately began to move on the ground rolling to two of their three first half downs in the early minutes of the contest. After moving to the Demons' 32-yard marker, Quarterback Dick Doran's pass, intended for Hettrick, was intercepted by Jack Leubuh of Davenport on his own 20 and run back to the 38.

Following a Blue Devil punt to the Iowa City 15-yard line, the Hawklets' left halfback, Harold Snook, fumbled and Davenport recovered on the Little Hawk 25. The Imps moved to the 5-yard line, then lost the ball on downs.

Francis Beasley punted, trying to get the Hawklets out of danger, but his boot went out of bounds on his own 18.

Davenport moved to the 6-yard stripe in three plays with Fullback Gene Moeller and Wade Oaks carrying the pigskin. The first quarter ended with the Demons on the 6, first and goal to go.

As the second period opened, Harry Jager ripped through the line to the 3. Moeller bulled to the 2. On the next play Shawyer whirled around right end for the first touchdown. Oaks converted the extra point try.

The Blue Devils scored their second and last touch down in the first two minutes of the second half.

Davenport again kicked off, the ball rolling into the Iowa City end zone and being put in play on the Little Hawk 20. On the first play from scrimmage, Snook made his second costly fumble of the game at the 25-yard line, Davenport recovering.

Shawyer circled right end to the 21. Moeller fumbled but Jager gathered it in at the 24 for a three-yard loss. Oaks then lateraled out to Jager and the shifty halfback skirted right end to the 1-yard marker before being bounced out of bounds. Oaks slipped through center on a quarterback sneak to score the touchdown.

Oaks' attempted conversion was blocked.

Cardinal Act Downs Dodgers; Bucs Fall to Leading Braves

NEW YORK (UP)—Eddie Dyer and his tumblers from St. Louis, positively the hottest act to hit town since vaudeville died, combined acrobats and baseball yesterday to turn in a significant 4 to 2 victory over the Dodgers.

Direct from a smash run in Philadelphia, the trouper who still have designs on the National league pennant, got their show started in the first inning when Red Schoendienst won a suit of into third place ahead of the Dodgers but still five and a half games behind the leading Boston Braves who scored a 6 to 2 victory over the Pirates. Johnny Sain scattered eight hits to win his 21st game, striking out five batters and walking none. Mike McCormick led the Braves with a double and triple.

Johnny Vander Meer of Cincinnati scattered seven hits to win his 15th game, topping the Giants at New York 5 to 3. Ted Kluszewski led the Reds with a homer and two singles. Virgil Stallcup also homered for Cincinnati.

The Phils, battling to stay out of last place and to keep the Cubs in there, defeated them 6 to 3 at Philadelphia as Gran Hammer and Del Ennis hit homers in a four run fifth inning rally. Hammer's came with two men on base.

In the American league Boston retained its slim one game lead over the second place Yankees with a 9 to 3 victory over the Browns at St. Louis. The victory was clinched with a three run fifth inning rally that broke a 3-3 tie. Wally Moses two run single was the key blow. Sam Mele hit a three run double for Boston in the first inning and Les Moss hit a homer for St. Louis.

The Yankees stayed right behind by pummeling the Tigers, 13 to 5 at Detroit, banging out 11 hits including homers by Johnny Lindell, Tommy Henrich, and Phil Rizzuto. Tommy Byrne coasted to his sixth victory although he yielded homers to Pat Mullin and Hoot Evers.

The Indians, still 2-1/2 games behind the Red Sox, scored a 4 to 1 triumph over the sad sack Senators at Cleveland, who suffered their 17th straight defeat, three short of the American league mark of 20 held by the Red Sox of 1916 and 1943. Bobby Feller, continuing his fine late season comeback, struck out 11 batters and gave up just five hits for his 16th victory. Jim Hegan and Ken Keltner hit homers for Cleveland.

The Philadelphia Athletics rallied to score five runs in the ninth inning at Chicago last night to whip the Chicago White Sox, 9-6.

Niederreiter said he was seeking an opponent for Walcott. The Walcott-Lesnevich bout was to have been a semi-windup on the Sept. 21 card in Jersey City, which features the middleweight title scrap between Marcel Cerdan of France and Champion Tony Zale of Gary, Ind.

Three defeats in a row were too much for the once-proud Yanks to take.

The formal announcement said, "It is felt that a change in leadership is necessary to put the club back on a winning stride."

Twice under Flaherty the Yanks were eastern division champions in the fledgling All-American conference, but their record this season has been cellar bait. After defeating the Brooklyn Dodgers in their opener, they lost twice to Baltimore and once to San Francisco in subsequent games.

South Africa's Eric Sturgess meets California Herbie Flam in the other penultimate match.

Gonzalez's victory over Parker, champion in 1944 and 1945 and a top-notch for 15 years, was a thriller which had a roaring crowd of 5,000 sitting on the edge of their seats.

Joe Louis To Defend World Title

Heavyweight Champ Changes His Mind

NEW YORK (UP) — Joe Louis changed his mind about retiring yesterday and announced that he must take 15 hours of university work when he first came here.

"That doesn't give me much time to eat or study," Mike pondered, "after I get about six hours of sleep. Seems like a mighty full schedule for 24 hours."

He was relieved when the 15-hour deal was explained as 15 hours of classes PER WEEK, not per day.

College Life is Rough Thought Fullback Riley

Mike Riley, now a second semester freshman football fullback, was told that he must take 15 hours of university work when he first came here.

"That doesn't give me much time to eat or study," Mike pondered, "after I get about six hours of sleep. Seems like a mighty full schedule for 24 hours."

Grid Yankees Oust Coach Ray Flaherty

NEW YORK (UP) Ray Flaherty resigned "under pressure" as coach of the New York Yankee professional football team yesterday in a lightning stroke, and he was replaced by Backfield Coach Norman (Red) Strader for the remainder of the season.

Three defeats in a row were too much for the once-proud Yanks to take.

The formal announcement said, "It is felt that a change in leadership is necessary to put the club back on a winning stride."

Twice under Flaherty the Yanks were eastern division champions in the fledgling All-American conference, but their record this season has been cellar bait. After defeating the Brooklyn Dodgers in their opener, they lost twice to Baltimore and once to San Francisco in subsequent games.

Gonzales Startles Net Fans, Upsets Parker

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (UP)—Swarthy Richard (Pancho) Gonzalez of Los Angeles turned in the major upset of the tennis year yesterday when the 20-year-old National clay court champion routed two-time Amateur King Frankie Parker in the quarter-finals of the U. S. tennis championships.

Gonzales, a lad of Mexican parentage, needed only four sets to beat Parker, 8-6, 2-6, 7-5, 6-3. That gave him the right to face Czech Davis Cupper Jaroslav Drobný, 8-6, 6-1, 6-3 winner over Bob Falkenburg, in the semi-finals today.

South Africa's Eric Sturgess meets California Herbie Flam in the other penultimate match.

Gonzalez's victory over Parker, champion in 1944 and 1945 and a top-notch for 15 years, was a thriller which had a roaring crowd of 5,000 sitting on the edge of their seats.

Gophers Get Ready

MINNEAPOLIS (UP) — Minnesota brushed up on passing and pass defense yesterday in preparation for the last major scrimmage today before embarking for Seattle to meet the University of Washington Huskies Sept. 25.

Billy Bye, speedy back who may carry most of the untested running attack, also appeared to have the best throwing arm as Coach Bernie Bierman tried most of his halfbacks in the passing role.

Heat Halts Bucks

COLUMBUS, O. (UP) — Coach Wesley Fesler called off practice for his Ohio State football players yesterday afternoon because of the 92-degree heat. Fesler said he cancelled the session "to give the boys plenty of zip" for their regulation game scrimmage Saturday.

Hawkeyes Workout On Passing Game

Dr. Eddie Anderson put his Iowa football squad through another light workout yesterday, stressing passing and pass defense.

Of the 53 active players, all are in pretty fair physical shape and in general the squad may be in better condition now than at any time last season, Trainer Doyle Allsup believes.

Three players, Fullback Ron Headington, Halfback Jim Halliburton and End Bucky Harris, remain on the injured list and did only conditioning work yesterday.

Gus Lesnevich Hurt; Cancel Walcott Tiff

NEW YORK (AP) — The Tournament of Champions, boxing promoters, said last night that the fight between Jersey Joe Walcott and Gus Lesnevich had been cancelled.

Andy Niederreiter, spokesman for the T. of C., said that Lesnevich suffered a broken bone in the small toe of his right foot today as he slipped while leaving the postoffice in his hometown of Cliffside, N. Y.

Niederreiter said he was seeking an opponent for Walcott. The Walcott-Lesnevich bout was to have been a semi-windup on the Sept. 21 card in Jersey City, which features the middleweight title scrap between Marcel Cerdan of France and Champion Tony Zale of Gary, Ind.

College Life is Rough Thought Fullback Riley

Mike Riley, now a second semester freshman football fullback, was told that he must take 15 hours of university work when he first came here.

"That doesn't give me much time to eat or study," Mike pondered, "after I get about six hours of sleep. Seems like a mighty full schedule for 24 hours."

He was relieved when the 15-hour deal was explained as 15 hours of classes PER WEEK, not per day.

Grid Yankees Oust Coach Ray Flaherty

NEW YORK (UP) Ray Flaherty resigned "under pressure" as coach of the New York Yankee professional football team yesterday in a lightning stroke, and he was replaced by Backfield Coach Norman (Red) Strader for the remainder of the season.

Three defeats in a row were too much for the once-proud Yanks to take.

The formal announcement said, "It is felt that a change in leadership is necessary to put the club back on a winning stride."

Twice under Flaherty the Yanks were eastern division champions in the fledgling All-American conference, but their record this season has been cellar bait. After defeating the Brooklyn Dodgers in their opener, they lost twice to Baltimore and once to San Francisco in subsequent games.

Gonzales Startles Net Fans, Upsets Parker

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (UP)—Swarthy Richard (Pancho) Gonzalez of Los Angeles turned in the major upset of the tennis year yesterday when the 20-year-old National clay court champion routed two-time Amateur King Frankie Parker in the quarter-finals of the U. S. tennis championships.

Gonzales, a lad of Mexican parentage, needed only four sets to beat Parker, 8-6, 2-6, 7-5, 6-3. That gave him the right to face Czech Davis Cupper Jaroslav Drobný, 8-6, 6-1, 6-3 winner over Bob Falkenburg, in the semi-finals today.

South Africa's Eric Sturgess meets California Herbie Flam in the other penultimate match.

Gonzalez's victory over Parker, champion in 1944 and 1945 and a top-notch for 15 years, was a thriller which had a roaring crowd of 5,000 sitting on the edge of their seats.

Epitaph to a Broken Heart

With rushing at an end, the fraternities have just been through a session of much activity and much publicity. This leaves the social orders in some sort of vacuum; some students wondering where to go from here.

The fraternity system here has been accused of having out-lived its usefulness. It has been bitterly attacked—sometimes upheld. It can well wonder where it is going from here.

Last March a member of the official SUI family gave a speech at the Men's Interfraternity association banquet.

At that time he announced that if the pre-initiation practices (meaning roughly, hazing) of fraternities would be abandoned then the fraternities, as such, would no longer be in jeopardy.

He added that if scholarship standing were raised too, all the objections to fraternities would disappear.

But Mrs. Glenn Frank, writer and lecturer, in 1945 raised a basic objection to social fraternities and sororities. They were effete, useless—even harmful, she said. They break more hearts of aspiring rushees than they can redeem in later value, she said. That article got her tossed out of her sorority.

She spoke here in the summer of 1947 and repeated much of her original attack against the fraternal system.

So the hazing objection and scholarship objection are only a part of the picture.

We might add another "if" to those addressed to the interfraternity association in determining if fraternal groups are in jeopardy.

If sororities and fraternities would adopt something less than lordly superior snip judgment in selecting initiates—if they were able to justify their random selection of the chosen ones on a few days notice—if they had any consolation short of bitterness and tears to give the undesired ones; then these social orders would find themselves less in jeopardy for their existence.

More than at any other time of year, the fall rushing—in spite of its glamor and gaiety—is part of the "jeopardy" they mention in the same breath as fraternities.

A Modern Man Without a Country

With horrifying symbolism, the forces of anarchism have wiped out a true spirit of internationalism—a modern man without a country.

Count Folke Bernadotte is dead and the world is agast. The truce he brought to the Holy Land is—at this writing—still in force. The lives he saved by halting Arab-Jewish fighting cannot be tabulated.

The situation in Palestine was dark last June when the UN appointed Count Bernadotte mediator. People scoffed. The UN has no authority, they laughed. The big powers cannot agree on a governor for peaceful Trieste, much less for flaming Palestine.

But they selected Bernadotte. Unanimously.

The former head of the Swedish Red Cross who negotiated Germany's surrender in 1945 secretly with Heinrich Himmler went to work in Palestine. The belligerents were arrogant, but Bernadotte won their respect.

After bringing a temporary peace to Palestine, Bernadotte and his staff patiently tried to de-militarize Jerusalem where Jewish and Arab troops met face to face.

His midsummer efforts have strengthened the prestige and the material structure of the United Nations.

By ordering guards to watch UN property and later to observe the truce, he forced into being the first international police force. East-west disagreement had blocked such a move for over three years.

Bernadotte's job of setting up a temporary truce was accomplished. He was making sure the truce was maintained when extremists struck him down.

It is now up to the diplomats of the world meeting in Paris to avenge Bernadotte's death. This should not be vengeance in the ordinary sense. It should be one of flushed desire to bring justice into the hell-on-earth once known as the "Holy Land."

McBride's Hall Dogs Just Don't Understand

By BILL McBRIDE

While walking across campus yesterday, admiring the clean-cut appearance of Old Capitol since its face-lifting job, I heard a shrill whistle.

Looking around, I saw no one at first. Then I spotted my old friend, Ed, who happens to be an Irish setter. He beckoned to me languidly, and, although I disapprove of dogs whistling at men, since it reverses the nature of the Man-Dog relationship, I walked over to him.

"Mae," Ed said, "I'd like to have you meet a friend of mine." He pointed to a black dachshund who wagged his tail in an amiable manner, but said nothing. "Bob never talks," Ed explained, "but he understands every word you say."

I went through the usual courtesies of shaking hands and muttered a happy-to-have-you before starting on my way again.

"Not so fast," Ed called crossly, "I want you to explain some things to Bob for me." Reluctantly I went back, but only because I didn't want to alienate Ed, who is a splendid source of information.

He's been on the campus for years, and has a totally different slant on campus doings. There are times when he's a bit dogmatic, but I guess if anyone has a right to be dogmatic, it's a dog.

An explanation by Ed told me that he was having difficulty explaining the flurry of activity in and around SUI to Bob, who only recently came to the campus.

I asked Ed what it was in particular Bob wanted to know. He replied that he was getting absolutely no where explaining why all these young human beings suddenly popped up for no apparent reason. A week ago there was hardly a person stirring on SUI's well-kept lawns, and now there was barely room for a peace-loving dog to take a nap or whatever else peace-loving dogs do.

This seemed like a simple question, so I turned to Bob and said rather dramatically that the youth of Iowa and many other states migrated to IC every year to get an education so that they might build a better world for everyone to live in . . . even dogs.

"Oh, tosh!" Ed blurted, "Come off it, Mae. That stuff doesn't mean a thing to Bob . . . he thinks getting educated means learning where to hide a bone, or the delicate art of unsetting a garbage bucket. Explain the core course program to him."

After almost two years at SUI it seemed that I should be sufficiently trained to explain a simple little thing like core courses.

I started out giving an example of a young man deciding to become a floor wax salesman. To be a good floor wax salesman, the young man would need an education.

He would come to the university and enroll, giving commerce as his major. It took awhile to explain exactly what a major was, but I think I finally got it across.

Having established a foundation, I took the natural science field by the horns. The longer I talked about the advantages of knowing all about biology and earth science, the more puzzled the expression became on Bob's face.

He whispered something in Ed's ear, and Ed shook his head negatively and said to me, "Bob says you're confusing him. First you say this guy wants to be a floor wax salesman, and now you've got him breaking open geodes with a stone hammer. Don't confuse the issue."

I thought for a moment, and then like a flash it came to me. I remembered what a professor had told me one day when I was still as uninformed as Bob is.

I asked him if he knew what specialization meant. He nodded his head yes. Then I asked him if he thought being a floor wax salesman was specializing. Again he nodded affirmatively. We were getting along fine.

It was then that I told him what the professor had once told me. I said, "In order to be a better specialist one must also generalize in wide fields. The fictional floor wax salesman would be more proficient at his job because he would have become a generalized specialist after completing four years of college curriculum."

I'll confess, I felt pretty smug, but when I looked for the light of understanding in Bob's face, all I saw was a blank, blank stare. It hadn't registered.

Ed said, "Let's just forget the whole thing, Mae. It was nice of you to try, but let's just forget the whole thing."

That's all right for Ed to say. He doesn't have to live with this feeling of having failed in a job.

It has been gnawing at me all day, but I'm gradually convincing myself that it wasn't me at all. Bob is just an exceptionally stupid dog.

UN's Date With Destiny: Sept. 21, 1948 Bernadotte's Death Agitates Palestine Fight

Third in a Series

By Daily Iowan Research Staff
The shocking assassination of Count Folke Bernadotte will explode the Palestine situation before the UN general assembly like a bombshell.

The deed climaxes a long series of events that have been too strong for the feeble hand of internationalism to check.

The UN general assembly will find that guns have accomplished in Palestine what its resolutions could not. The Holy Land has been partitioned.

Opposing forces of the Star of David and the Crescent have been battling in Palestine before the UN was an embryo. By the time the UN got around to the problem, postwar conflicts and others of long-standing were churning Palestine into a foam.

Ever since the Balfour declaration in 1917, the Jews have been planning to set up a Hebrew state in Palestine. After World War II with most European Jews uprooted or killed, the Jewish people turned to the west for help in setting up a homeland.

The Arabs—arch-rivals for control of Palestine—opposed this. In 1946 the Arab league was formed to keep the Jews out of Palestine.

Fabulous oil deposits were being exploited by westerners in Arab league countries. Russia saw in Palestine an opportunity to penetrate to the Mediterranean.

The west was trapped. Pledged to build a Jewish homeland on one hand, business considerations and the cold war stopped them on the other.

The United States had heavy business investments salted away in Saudi Arabia and a military interest in the "soft under-belly of Europe." Britain, administering the Holy Land under trusteeship, was as interested in keeping the Arab nations happy as it was in helping settle Europe's wandering Jews.

When the showdown came late in 1947, it came in the UN general assembly.

Shakily walking the narrow fence between Jewish and Arab resentment, the western powers proposed the Holy Land be partitioned into two states politically with interdependent economies.

The partition plan was adopted on Nov. 29, 1947. The U. S. was its guiding spirit; the Jews immediately endorsed it; the Arab league prepared for war.

And war they had. The guerrilla-like fighting broke into a major conflict through the early months of 1948. In February, the U. S. about-faced and proposed the partition plan be shelved.

Instead of soothing things, it was another irritant. A special session of the general assembly appointed Swedish Count Folke Bernadotte as special mediator.

By then the Arabs had invaded Palestine and the Jews were defending their proposed homeland. On May 15, 1948, the Jews created their new state, Israel, with the U. S. and Russia nodding approval.

Count Bernadotte invoked a temporary truce, then the semi-permanent one now in effect. Before this was done, however, the shooting war in Palestine was pretty well decided. Israel was on top.

When the security council meets in emergency session today over Bernadotte's death and when the general assembly takes up the question of the Holy Land partition, the tinge of anarchism will be present.

The state of Israel, all too arrogant over its military successes, must stand the blame for Bernadotte's death. The Arab forces—strongly represented in the UN—have a new base from which to attack the Jews.

And other members of the UN—flushed with emotion over the murder of a citizen of the world—may not be content to accept the decision in Palestine which was decided with the sword.

Turkey Drilling for Oil Behind Shroud Of Official Secrecy

By Menno Duerksen
United Press Staff Correspondent
ISTANBUL, TURKEY (UP)—Engineers believe Turkey may have some of the largest oil fields in the middle east, but government officials have pulled a curtain of secrecy over the suspected bonanza.

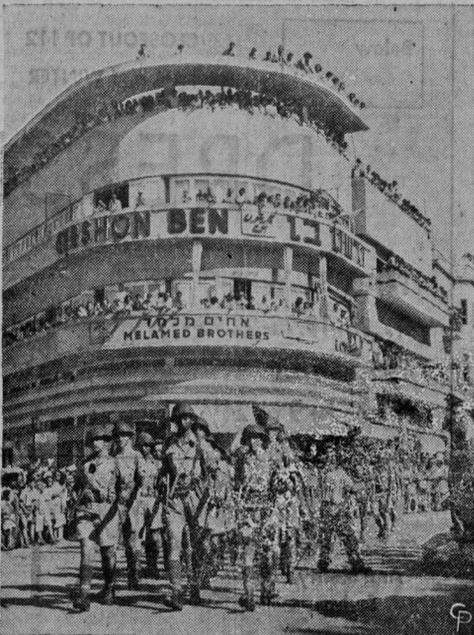

Until a few months ago, Turkey did not produce a drop of oil. Now engineers believe she may become independent of foreign oil within three years. Her domestic requirements are 400,000 tons of oil a year.

Other sources indicated the deposits might rival the huge fields in Iran, Iraq and Arabia. Government officials fear a rush of foreign nations to capitalize on the suspected new wealth. Therefore their comments were limited to a statement that they hope to make Turkey "independent of outside oil sometime in the foreseeable future."

Drilling already has started on a small scale at Ramandag, where one well is producing 50 tons a day at a depth of 6,000 feet. Experts believe far vaster oil pools lie only 3,000 feet deeper.

Optimistic reports also have been coming in from Adana, near the south seacoast of Mersis, from Riza, on the eastern end of Turkey's Black sea shore, and from Erzerum, in east-central Anatolia.

Turkey reportedly does not have the capital to exploit these wells fully. Officials know foreign investors are eyeing the market, but the Turks fear what might happen if foreigners came in.

Blames Steel for Stalling Car Production

By Charles H. Hanson
United Press Staff Correspondent

DETROIT (UP)—Automobile industry experts have nothing but pessimism to offer to those who believe they will be able to walk into a dealer's showroom next year and take their pick.

According to one report, if one-half of those waiting for new cars suddenly found them sprouting in the back yard, the factories still would churn for a year to satisfy the rest of the customers.

And the supply situation appears to be getting worse instead of better. The industry does not expect to be able to meet the demand in the predictable future.

unanimous in picking the villain of the melodrama, "How long will the old heap last?" What keeps the new car away from the motorist's door is simply steel—or the lack of it.

"There does not seem to be any immediate relief from material shortages in prospect," said L. L. Colbert, president of the Dodge division of Chrysler corporation.

Speaking before the annual convention of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators, Colbert said Dodge dealers still are hard pressed to meet demands of long-promised customers.

"If anything, we are less able now than we were in 1946 to make deliveries," he said.

Union Opens Doors to New SUI Students

The newly decorated Iowa Union will hold open house tonight at 8:00 p. m., but check closely—you may not be invited.

This open house is for new students entering the State University of Iowa. They received their tickets Thursday at an orientation lecture. The tickets will admit the new students and wives or husbands, should the students be married.

In front lobby, Leo Cortimiglia will play the piano for group singing. Norene Schlesselman, assistant hostess at the Iowa Union, will assist with the songs.

Bill Meardon and his orchestra will provide the music for dancing in the main lounge. Jean Henrehand, and Anne Bradbury, assistant hostesses, will help the students get acquainted with their classmates.

In the River room new students interested in Iowa football may see a color film of a 1947 game. A member of the SUI coaching staff will be on hand to discuss the film.

And for those interested in games, bridge, music or reading, the library, music room and game rooms will be open.

The soda fountain, located just off the main lounge, will have its fountain crew on the job, providing refreshments for the new members of the "union family."

The entire Iowa Union staff and the many members of the Student Union board will be on hand to help the new students get acquainted and have an evening of fun at the open house, which is part of the orientation program.

In other phases of the orientation program, tests will continue at 8:30 a. m. for the new students.

Orientation groups of men will meet at their assigned rooms at 1:00 p. m. At these meetings the men will receive and discuss information on campus activities. Later they will be conducted on a tour of points of interest on the university campus.

At 1:30 p. m. tryouts for the Scottish Highlanders, the world's largest bagpipe band, will be held at the fieldhouse. The tryout is limited to freshmen and sophomore women.

Positions Open for Substitute Clerk or Substitute Carrier

Applications are now being accepted for substitute clerk and substitute carrier positions in the Iowa City postoffice, according to the regional civil service director.

The basic pay rate is $1.29 per hour.

Deadline for applications is Oct. 13. Application papers must be received in the eighth U. S. civil service regional office in St. Paul by that time.

Age limits for the substitute carrier and substitute clerk jobs are 18 to 50, except for veterans and certain persons in the federal service.

Col. Jenna Explains Effect of Draft Law On Young Students

The new draft law as it pertains to students enrolling at the State University of Iowa was summed up yesterday by Colonel W. W. Jenna, director of the R. O. T. C., and professor of military science and tactics at the university.

According to the latest information all those enrolled in the advance course, senior division, of the R. O. T. C., will be deferred from induction until the completion of instruction, and as long as they continue in a regular or reserve status upon being commissioned. They have not been exempt from registration, Jenna added.

All non-R. O. T. C. students are exempt from induction until the end of the academic year next June, provided they satisfactorily pursue a full time course of instruction, or until they cease to do so, whichever is earlier, Jenna said.

All young men attaining their 18th birthdays must report for selective service within five days of their birthdays.

Draft registration points in Iowa City are the third floor of the Johnson county courthouse or at the veterans service office at 110 Iowa avenue.

Assassins Believed To Be Jews

said Gen. Aage Lundstroem, the mediator's Swedish aide, was seated beside Bernadotte and Serot in the rear of the car but "miraculously" escaped injury. U. S. Navy Commander William R. Cox, a UN truce observer, was seated beside Begley in the front seat and also was uninjured.

Describes Attack

The telegram gave this account of the attack:

"Count Bernadotte was brutally assassinated by Jewish assailants of unknown identity in a cold-blooded attack in the new city of Jerusalem.

"The mediator, in Jerusalem on an official tour, was en route from government house to the YMCA in a convoy of three cars, two of which were flying the United Nations flag and one was flying the Red Cross flag.

"The party was accompanied by an official liaison officer of the Jewish forces. The Katamon quarter in the new city is well within Jewish lines.

"All three cars were stopped at a roadblock in which was parked an Israeli army type jeep filled with men in Jewish army uniforms, all of whom got out but the driver.

"Two of these men, apparently recognizing the mediator's car, approached it, stood at the window and fired at point blank range. Count Bernadotte and Col. Andre P. Serot, sitting beside him in the rear, were both hit several times . . ."

Jerusalem Curfew

Israeli authorities clamped down a curfew on Jerusalem late last night.

A government spokesman in Tel Aviv said "far-reaching" measures will be taken in Israel and Jerusalem.

In Paris, the United Nations officially said last night that Count Bernadotte's estate would receive more than $100,000 in insurance which the UN took out on his life before he went to Palestine.
