Olympic Champion—Wally Ris Returning

Wally Ris, Olympic 100-meter swimming champion from the University of Iowa, will arrive in Iowa City tonight on the Des Moines Rocket at 8:45.

Students and Iowa Citizens have been asked to join in the homecoming rally at the Rock Island depot. Ris, who lives in Chicago, will be met at the train and introduced by Paul Brechler, director of athletics at SU.

A parade will follow through the Iowa City business district, led by the Iowa City Moose Grenadiers, drum and bugle corps. The parade will travel north on Dubuque street to Washington street and left to Clinton street.

Following the parade, Ris will be entertained at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity by the actives and pledges of that organization and a few invited guests. The reception will last from 9:30 to 11 p.m.

Ris, who holds a host of collegiate, Big Nine and national records, reached the climax of his swimming career with a brilliant finish to capture the Olympic 100-meter free style event in the record-breaking time of :57.3. He also was a member of the American 800-meter relay team which set another Olympic record.

Initial Registration Ends for Draftees

As the initial draft registration of men 19 to 25 years old wound up yesterday, local draft board records showed that 2,765 men have been registered in Johnson county since the registration began.

Registration of young men who become 18 will continue but the boards are now caught up to that point. Men who become 18 must register within five days after their birthday under the selective service law.

The draft board office on the top floor of the county courthouse will continue to register men. Office hours there will be 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. The office will not be open on Saturdays.

The veteran's service office at 110 Iowa avenue will no longer register men for the draft.

The veteran's service office registered 757 of the total number registered in the county, draft board officials said.

Plan Taylor Talk Here Next Month

Sen. Glen Taylor, vice-presidential candidate on the Progressive ticket, will speak in Iowa City Oct. 13, local Progressive party officials announced yesterday.

According to tentative plans, Taylor will be in Iowa City for a rally and a speech at about 2:30 p.m. at College Hill park. He is expected to remain in Iowa City until about 5 p.m.

The senator will be accompanied by his family and a singer, Michael Loring. Prof. Seymour Pitcher, the Progressive party candidate for U. S. senator, is planning to accompany Taylor on his tour of Iowa.

Cubans Duel over Bus Fare Dispute

HAVANA (AP) — A dispute over Havana's increased bus fares resulted in a sabre duel yesterday.

The participants were Jose Pardo Llada, a writer and radio commentator, and Menelao Mora, President of a bus company. Each suffered slight wounds and the judges stopped it.

The duel took place in the fencing quarters of the capitol. Mora, a deputy in the house, challenged Pardo Llada who had criticized him in a radio broadcast.

Put 'House Arrest' On All Jerusalem

Invite UN Witnesses To View a Parade Of Killer Suspects

TEL AVIV (AP) — The Israeli government announced last night that its intensive manhunt for the assassins of Count Folke Bernadotte has resulted in the arrest of "some of the supposed leaders of the Stern gang."

The government has charged the Sternists, a Jewish extremist group, with the slaying of the United Nations mediator and his French aide, Col. Andre Serot, in the Jewish part of Jerusalem, Friday.

Israeli authorities began moving Jewish troops into position in the fear that the shooting down of Bernadotte and Serot might be followed by a full scale war with the Arabs.

The Israeli announcement said more than 200 arrests have been made in the attempt to comb out the killers. Jerusalem's 90,000 Jewish residents have been placed under virtual house arrest by a curfew order.

House-to-house searches brought 150 arrests in Jerusalem and seizure of a considerable quantity of arms, the announcement said. Fifty arrests were made in other portions of Israel, including 40 in the Tel Aviv area.

A spokesman said the Israeli Army has invited members of the UN staff who witnessed the assassinations to view a parade of suspects which probably will be held today.

Jews were called upon to rise and track down the "traitors in our midst" and the "criminal gang responsible" for the slayings.

All roads into Jerusalem were closed. No departures were allowed from Israel's airfields and harbors in order to prevent suspects from slipping out of the country.

Meanwhile, high United Nations officials in Haifa disclosed that a recommendation may be sent to the security council in Paris calling for the creation of a 6,000-man international army.

Such a force, the informants said, is the minimum now believed to be required for the job of compelling Jews and Arabs to accept the authority of the UN over the Holy City.

They said Bernadotte, in an abortive attempt to persuade the warring sides to demilitarize Jerusalem two months ago, had in mind an international force of 2,500 to 3,000 to garrison Jerusalem.

Marshall Flies To UN Today

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Marshall flies to Paris today for a United Nations assembly meeting that may produce a fateful showdown with Russia over the blockade of Berlin.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov was expected to indicate finally Russia's attitude toward lifting the blockade.

There was intense interest here as to whether the Russian leader would say "yes," "no" or try to stall off the day of decision awhile longer.

Molotov as well as Marshall, Britain's Foreign Minister Bevin and the French foreign minister are all due to be in Paris at the same time.

There has been considerable speculation here that the Moscow talks on the Berlin crisis might be taken up directly by these top level ministers in informal talks outside the United Nations session.

However, it can be reported on excellent authority that up to yesterday no plan had been made for any big four foreign ministers' discussion of the Berlin crisis.

Responsible American officials were notably unenthusiastic about the idea, contending that if Molotov wants to arrange any high level conference on Germany he must first lift the blockade.

Mayor Koser Meets the President

IOWA CITY'S MAYOR PRESTON KOSER met President Truman yesterday when the presidential train stopped in Iowa City. The mayor was summoned to the rear platform of the train after the President made a short speech to Iowa Citizens. On the platform with Koser were (from left) a secret service agent, the President, Margaret Truman and Carroll O. Switzer, Democratic candidate for governor. Miss Truman carries a bouquet of red carnations presented by the SUI chapter of Pi Beta Phi sorority. (More pictures and story of Mr. Truman's Iowa City stop on PAGE 7.)

BY NOON, YESTERDAY, the President had traveled on to Dexter where he made a major campaign speech before more than 80,000 people at the national plowing match. After his address Mr. Truman sat down to a farm dinner of fried chicken. Lunching with the chief executive above are Howard Walker (left), and Ralph Mortimer, Dallas Center. The two farmers were officials of the plowing contest. The President removed his coat to cool off after the busy morning.

Jet Flies to Pieces, Pilot Escapes Injury

DALLAS, TEX. (UP) — An F-84 army jet plane disintegrated yesterday while flying more than 600 miles an hour at an altitude of 500 feet, but the pilot escaped without serious injury when he was catapulted out and parachuted into a lake.

Upwards of 15,000 persons saw the incident at nearby Hensley airbase, where the jet was participating in an airforce day show. Col. John P. Kenny, commanding officer at Hensley, identified the pilot as 1st Lt. William Hart, based at Walker airbase, Roswell, N. M. Hart suffered shock and a minor cut above an eye.

Kenny said "the cause is absolutely unknown."

LOMAKIN REASSIGNED MOSCOW (UP) — Jacob Lomakin, the last Soviet consul-general in New York, arrived yesterday and immediately began a new assignment in the Soviet foreign ministry.

De Gaulle Talk Causes Battle

PARIS (UP) — One person was killed and at least 20 others were wounded when Communists and De Gaullists battled and exchanged shots at Grenoble in southern France yesterday, police reported.

Dead was one of Gen. Charles De Gaulle's bodyguards who was injured during a clash with Communists in a Grenoble suburb as the general drove through yesterday morning.

The wounded, including two policemen, were casualties of a bloody skirmish that broke out between the two extremist factions after De Gaulle spoke at city hall and after he had left the city.

Police estimated the Communist crowd at 3,000 and the right-wingers at 20,000.

De Gaulle declared the present middle-of-the-road government was "done for in advance." He said also that it might not heed his demand for a general election.

Envoys See Molotov In New Kremlin Talk

MOSCOW (UP) — U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith and the envoys of Britain and France met for two hours and a half yesterday with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in what had been scheduled as the "decisive" conference on the east-west crisis in Berlin.

French Ambassador Yves Chataigneau, British Special Envoy Frank Roberts, and Smith refused to comment or to say whether the negotiations are progressing, or will be continued.

Roberts and Chataigneau left the Kremlin five minutes earlier than Smith to allow the American ambassador to discuss a minor technical question with Molotov. The question was understood to be of strictly American interest and not related to the four-power talks.

It was the tenth Kremlin conference between Russia and the western allies.

DEXTER (AP) — President Truman told a yelling corn belt crowd yesterday the Democrats are fighting the farmers' battle against "gluttons of privilege" threatening agriculture with "another Republican blight."

For their own "protection," Mr. Truman said in a major campaign speech, farmers ought to vote Democratic this fall.

The President spoke from a bunting-draped stand in the middle of a trampled alfalfa field, at a national plowing match on a farm near here.

It was the first big speech on a 9,500 mile, 19-state political stumping tour.

Mr. Truman looked out across acres on acres of rich, rolling land where corn was ripening under a friendly autumn sun.

And he looked at a crowd estimated variously at 80,000 to 110,000—chiefly men and women who make their living from the soil, people from many states.

Mr. Truman told a reporter that officials of the plowing contest told him 110,000 or "ten acres of people" heard his address. Lt. David Herrick, area chief of the state highway patrol, earlier had estimated the crowd at slightly more than 80,000.

"Your best protection," he told the crowd, "is to elect a Democratic congress and a president that will play fair with the farmer—an administration that will reinforce soil conservation, and help the farmer make enough on his crops to meet the cost of living, and have something left over."

"We are planning to aid the farmers of America meet their present problems and avoid catastrophe."

He ticked off what he said the Democrats already have done for farmers—improved living standards, lowered interest, reduced debts.

Crowd Answers Many in the crowd responded with a loud "no" when the President inquired:

"Are you going to let another Republican blight wipe out your prosperity?"

Then he swung on the GOP. "This Republican congress" he said "has already stuck a pitchfork in the farmer's back." Now, he said, "the GOP is 'ready to let the bottom drop out of farm prices' and the farmer faces the danger of a 'man-made disaster bearing the Republican trademark.'"

"The record of the Republican congress," the President said, "is one long attack on the welfare of the farmer."

He got a hand and a laugh when he remarked a moment later:

"How many times do you have to be hit on the head to find out what's hitting you? It's about time that the people of America realized what the Republicans have been doing to them."

Mr. Truman liked the "gluttons of privilege" line. He used it half a dozen times in the Dexter address.

"Fabulous Sums" He said Wall street "gluttons of privilege" are putting up "fabulous sums" to elect a Republican administration. He said these gluttons are cold and cunning men who have practiced "downright dishonesty" in trying to stir up the city consumer against the farmer.

Wall Street Republicans control congress, he told the farm audience, and in only two years "were able to weaken your position gravely."

"Well," the President went on, "imagine what would happen if they were to get both the congress and the presidency for four years. What they have taken away from you thus far would be only an appetizer for the economic tapeworm of big business . . ."

The President was introduced at Dexter by Herb Plambeck, director of the national plowing match.

The President's train left Des Moines at 4:20 p.m. yesterday and arrived in Kansas City at 9:13. Mr. Truman and his family will spend today at their home in Independence, Mo.

Here's tomorrow's schedule:

Truman Eats Chicken In Shirt Sleeves

DEXTER (AP) — President Truman ate a country dinner in his shirt sleeves yesterday.

Sitting down to a chicken dinner with a group of farmers and dignitaries after making his campaign speech, the President removed his coat and set the example for others at the table.

The table, covered with a red and white checkered cloth, was set up in a large tent. Folding chairs were placed around it for 22 persons, including Mrs. Truman and their daughter, Margaret. The President shook hands and chatted with those seated nearby. He was flanked at the table by Howard Walker and Ralph Mortimer, farmers living near here. Next to Walker was Mrs. Lois Agg, on whose farm the speech was delivered. Mrs. Truman and Margaret were each a couple of seats removed from the chief executive.

The President ate heartily of fried chicken, mashed potatoes, buttered corn, baked beans, tomatoes, relish, cheese and coffee.

A few yards away, plowmen with tractors and plows were turning furrows for $1,500 in prizes offered in the national plowing match.

Hundreds of cars stood hub to hub in nearby fields, and one level plot was reserved for the planes used by dozens of flying farmers.

After lunch the President drove out to look over some conservation projects in nearby fields.

Miss Jean Carter, 22, of Dallas Center, queen of the plowing festival, was photographed with the President.

"I have been fussed all day, so meeting Mr. Truman didn't fuss me any more," she commented. She added that he was "much more handsome than I had expected, and charming."

The President viewed a demonstration in dam building but didn't do any plowing because he said "there weren't any mules."

Reiser's Hit Halts Cards, 3 to 2

Bums Win on Pinch Single

BROOKLYN (AP)—A dramatic ninth inning pinch single by Pete Reiser sent Pee Wee Reese across with the winning run as the Brooklyn Dodgers jumped from fourth to second place in National League standings by defeating the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-2 yesterday.

The loss dropped the Redbirds six and a half games behind the pace-setting Boston Braves.

With the count two and one on Carl Furillo, Reiser was sent in to hit. He did, smacking the first ball to right center for the game-clincher.

Mize's Homer Hoists Giants Over Cincinnati

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants, after blowing an early 7-2 lead, caught fire from Johnny Mize's 36th home run of the season yesterday to out-scramble the Cincinnati Reds, 12-7.

The victory gave the Giants a 12-10 margin over the Reds for their season play.

Mize's homer into the left field stands came in the sixth inning with one aboard, right after the Reds had tied the count at 7-all with a six-run outburst.

Nats Lose 18th in Row

CLEVELAND (AP)—Coasting behind the 14th homers of Manager Lou Boudreau and Jim Hegan, the third-place Cleveland Indians yesterday defeated the Washington Nationals, 10 to 1. It was Washington's 18th straight loss—two short of the major league record.

Sam Zoldak limited the Nats to five hits to notch his 11th win of the season against 10 defeats, while the Indians battered Starter Early Wynn and two relief hurlers for 13 safeties.

Villanova Spanks A&M, 34-14

Star Fullback Leads Assault

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—A, big, burly, hard-driving fullback, Ralph Pasquariello, led an ambitious Villanova college football team to a 34 to 14 victory over the Texas Aggies yesterday.

A shirt-sleeved, blouse-bared crowd of 35,000, sitting in Franklin field this hot, partly-sunny September afternoon, saw the black-haired 225-pound pile-driver spark a come from behind attack that left the Southwest conference eleven wondering what hit them.

It was Pasquariello, for one day at least—the opening day of the 1946 big time college football season—who was a composite picture of Doc Blanchard, Norm Standley and Bronco Nagurski. He combined the best of all of them as he led the Wildcats to victory in the first of a ten-game schedule designed to put Villanova in football's big time.

Off yesterday's performance, the Wildcats, with Andy Gordon, Bob Polidor and Pasquariello spearheading the attack behind a huge line, loom as a distinct threat to Army next Saturday.

Pasquariello, a 225-pound, line plunging fullback from Everett, Mass., scored three Villanova touchdowns. Gordon passed to John Bogan and Joe Rogers for the other two.

Highlight for the Aggies was Charlie Royally's 93-yard runback of a punt for their second tally. Villanova, hoping to get off on the right foot, had borrowed Franklin field from the University of Pennsylvania for the day for the Wildcats' home stadium only seats 14,000. Now Penn probably will want to borrow a fullback from Villanova—a fellow by the name of Ralph Pasquariello.

State Whips ISTC In Season Opener

AMES (AP)—Iowa State won its football opener here yesterday afternoon, defeating Iowa Teachers 27-7.

The Cyclones first score came in the opening seconds of the second quarter when Lornie Pilsnon, third string back, took a 29-yard pass on the Teachers' 12 and went over standing up.

Beginning a ground attack in the third period, the Cyclones moved from mid-field in six plays with Chauncey plunging over from the 2-yard line.

The Teachers' lone touchdown came in the third quarter following a 59-yard drive after a Cy-wide around his left end for 12 yards and a fumble. Bill Cribbs went yards into the end zone and Elvin Goodvin kicked the extra point.

Iowa State's last two touchdowns came in the final period. Ed Green took a 29 yard pass from Jim Sutherland to score, and a few seconds later Don Webb, substitute Cyclone guard, intercepted Page's pass and raced 25 yards to pay dirt.

Don Ferguson, Iowa State's midget quarterback, missed only one of his conversion attempts. Thirteen thousand braved the 94 degree heat to see the game.

Texas Overpowers LSU Before Record Crowd

AUSTIN, TEX. (AP)—The Texas Longhorns showed power and speed aground yesterday as they whipped the Louisiana State Tigers, 33-0, with the largest opening game attendance in history—47,500—watching the one-sided game.

With Quarterback Jim Campbell filling the shoes of Bobby Layne in capable fashion, the Longhorns smacked across the goal line in every period except the second.

The Tigers did not make a serious scoring threat, and it was the fine punting of their fullback, Rip Collins, that kept them from perhaps a worse defeat.

A brilliant punt return by Right Halfback Billy Pyle from the Texas 42 to the LSU 23 set the stage for the first tally. Fullback Tom Landry powering through center from the one-yard line. Frank Guess kicked the extra point and Texas led 7-0 late in the first quarter.

Hawks in Final Scrimmage

Hard Work Stopped Prior to Marquette

Hot Off the Gridiron

The Iowa football team ran through probably its last hard scrimmage session yesterday before the opener with Marquette next Saturday.

Dr. Eddie Anderson shifted his lineups continuously while keeping his first string backfield of Al DiMarco, quarterback, Jerry Paske and Bob Longley, halfbacks, and Johnny Tedore, fullback, on the sidelines.

It now appears that the above quartet is definitely set as the offensive backfield for the first game. Ron Headington, who is still nursing a sore ankle, appeared only on defense last week while Tedore looked impressive at the fullback job.

The Hawkeye lineup will probably vary on offense and defense. Although Anderson does not think he'll substitute by team units, he does consider some players more adept in either of the phases.

A possible starting lineup would have Bob McKenzie and Jack Dittmer, ends; Don Winslow and Jim Cozad, tackles; Earl Banks and Bill Kersten, guards, and Bob Snyder, center.

However, on defense a completely new and better lineup could be substituted. This would have Bob Phillips and Ralph Woodard, ends; Bill Kay and Jim Shoaf, tackles; Joe Grothus and Ray Carlson, guards, and Dick Woodard, center.

The Iowa backfield looks pretty stable on offense and defense except for quarterback. Al DiMarco is not likely to see any defensive duty. A probable shift would move Tedore into DiMarco's spot with Ron Headington backing up the line.

Only one injury was reported yesterday. Left End Bob Cohrs bruised his knee but Trainer Doyle Allsup said the injury was not serious.

The Hawks will halt their twice daily drills Tuesday and continue for the rest of the season with practice only in the afternoon.

Buck Regulars Lose; Fesler To Shift Lineup

COLUMBUS, O., (AP)—"There'll be some changes made," Head Coach Wesley E. Fesler said yesterday after watching his Ohio State second stringers defeat the first man team 20 to 7 in a regulation grid game.

Much of the answer to the second team victory was that the forward wall outrushed the first stringers, and probably that department was the spot at which Fesler aimed when he said some lineup changes would be made. The Bucks open with Missouri next week.

Indiana

BLOOMINGTON, IND. (AP)—Coach Clyde Smith scrimmaged his Indiana squad in secret today and came out with a new halfback—Sophomore Alan Linneman of Covington, Ky.

Linneman took an intercepted pass 65 yards for one touchdown, took a punt 40 yards for another, threw a 40-yard scoring pass to Joe Bartkiewicz and set up another touchdown with a long pass to Bartkiewicz on the four-yard line.

Reserve Center George Parker kicked six extra points.

Notre Dame

SOUTH BEND, IND. (UP)—The Notre Dame varsity overwhelmed a disorganized freshman team, 34-0 yesterday in the Irish stadium as Coach Frank Leahy's men held a final dress rehearsal for the opener with Purdue next Saturday.

The workout may have been a costly one, however, as Ernie Zaleski, sophomore left half, playing with an injured knee, was forced to leave the game after carrying the ball on one play, a 20-yard touchdown jaunt.

Other touchdown getters for the varsity were Larry Coutre, John Panelli, Bill Gay and Mike Swistowicz.

Wolve First Stringers Trample Scrubs, 44-7

ANN ARBOR (UP)—The University of Michigan football varsity yesterday held its last heavy practice prior to the opener against Michigan State college next Saturday.

The varsity went through its paces against the scrubs in U. of M. stadium, scoring 44 points while holding the reserves to 7.

Sorely missing Automatic Jim Brjeske, now in pro ranks, the first team made only two out of seven conversion attempts.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan said the varsity showed ragged pre-season ball handling and committed a few fumbles. The Wolverine coach praised his reserves and said they appeared stronger than he had hoped.

Gene Derricotte's first big scrimmage in two weeks did not look too impressive, Oosterbaan said.

Purdue

LAFAYETTE, IND. (UP)—Quarterbacks Bob De Moss and Kenny Gorgal led an aerial offensive as Purdue wound up the week's intensive drills with a scrimmage yesterday.

While Purdue's first string was in good shape physically, Coach Stu Holcomb said yesterday's workouts were handicapped by injuries which still sidelined Halfback Dave Shaw and Right Tackle John Beatic.

Wisconsin

MADISON, WIS. (AP)—Two right halfbacks, Clarence Self and Gwynn Christensen, accounted for most of the scoring yesterday as the Reds beat the Greens, 28 to 20, in a University of Wisconsin intrasquad football game.

Self crossed the goal three times for the Reds and Christensen scored one Green tally and passed to Tom Bennett for a second.

Taking Time Out

With Buck Turnbull

Beginning Review of Iowa Freshman Athletes—

This morning we're starting the first of a series of columns which will carry through this week concerning the influx of high school athletes to the State University of Iowa.

The list is impressive but yet meaningless due to the Western conference freshman rule barring intercollegiate competition until one year of residence has been completed. However, we're quite sure students are interested in Iowa's athletic future.

With football season upon us and SUI's varsity readying for its first game with Marquette one week from yesterday, it might be well to look over the group of frosh candidates who will begin work this week under Coach Leonard Raffensperger.

Our list is somewhat incomplete but covers the "name" high school athletes enrolling here. Practically every player who made the Iowa all-state team plans to play collegiate football with the Hawkeyes.

The number of tackles and their respective weights is the outstanding highlight. Drawing first attention is Eldon Peterson, all-state 239-pound tackle from Story City.

Others in the same weight category include Jay Thacker, 230, Emmetsburg; Lyle Pell, 245, Rockwell Center; Herb Hunt, 243; Holstein; Paul Colleton, 225, St. Thomas high school of Rockford, Ill.; Ron Fairchild, 220, Marengo; Don Gregory, 210, East Des Moines high school; Ed Aleshire, 240, Plymouth, Ill., and Don Jacobs, 225, Marengo.

The above mentioned tackles are just the surface of the top-ranked linemen. There may be others who will show up more impressively during the frosh drills.

The most outstanding other freshman line candidate will be John Towner from Roosevelt high school in Des Moines. Towner, who scales 195, was a center at Roosevelt last year, but his play warranted him an all-state berth on The Des Moines Register first team at a guard spot.

Other linemen are Joe Miller, guard, Burlington; Loren Lorenzen, 6-foot, 4-inch, 210-pound end from Holstein, and Bill Sathoff, end, Roosevelt high school, Des Moines.

The freshman backfield prospects present a host of Iowa all-stars. Duane Brandt of Waverly, Bill Reichardt of Iowa City and Stan Cozzi of Marshalltown were all-stars last year with Cozzi making both the Register and IDFA honorary team for two years in a row.

However, those three do not outshine the rest of the field. Also on the campus are Chuck Dinning, T-formation quarterback, Boone; Jim O'Boyle, halfback and nephew of former all-American Harry O'Boyle of Notre Dame, East Des Moines high school; Paul Happe, halfback, Seranton, Ia.; Austin B. Turner III, 197-pound fullback and grandson of a former governor of Iowa, Corning; Don Pyle, all-state Missouri halfback and son of Art Pyle, former "1" man, St. Joseph, Mo.; Bo Walker, halfback, Ottumwa; Don Wodohouse, halfback, Mason City, and Chuck Crasper, 205-pound fullback, Algona.

Again, this is only the nucleus of the backs which will report to Raffensperger and his assistants, Jerry Niles and Chuck Forwald, this week. But it does give some indication of the promising material which Iowa will have in the next few years.

Tomorrow morning we'll review the basketball situation with Coach Pops Harrison, both as to the returning veterans for the 1949 season and the top-notch freshmen beginning this year. Mr. Harrison's frosh crop will probably develop into the best group of players he has ever coached.

TCU Holds Off Spirited Kansas, 14-13

LAWRENCE, KAN. (UP)—Texas Christian fought to the final minute yesterday to hold off a belatedly awakened Kansas football team for a thrilling 14 to 13 victory in 94-degree weather.

The lightweight Jayhawkers recovered from an early siege of costly fumbling and gave bigger, more experienced TCU an all-out battle before 26,000 excited fans.

TCU took advantage of two Kansas fumbles to score early in the second period. A blocked Kansas kick, behind the goal line, netted TCU another touchdown in the third period. Homer Ludiker drilled home both conversions which swung the verdict.

Kansas crossed the pay line in the third and fourth periods. Its third period touchdown came from a blocked punt on the 15-yard TCU line, as Hugh Johnson gathered up the ball and raced the distance. But Forrest Griffith's kick for the extra point was wide.

Gonzales, Sturgess, Upset Winners, Meet in Net Finals

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—Panchito Gonzales of Los Angeles and Eric Sturgess of South Africa—a slugger and a fancy dancer—battled their way to the finals of the National tennis championship yesterday before 13,000 addicts.

Gonzales, the husky 20-year-old Mexican from Los Angeles, beat back Jaroslav Drobný, stocky Czech Davis cup star, 8-10, 11-9, 6-0, 6-3, after a slam-bang duel between the two biggest services in the amateur game today.

Sturgess, who left Johannesburg only a few months back to find out if he really could play tennis, cut down young Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, 9-7, 6-3, 6-2 in a flawless demonstration of stroking. He is the first foreigner to reach the American final since Baron Gottfried Von Cramm of Germany lost to Don Budge in 1937.

Two players of more contrasting styles of play probably never entered a playoff than the pair who will meet today for the crown surrendered by Jack Kramer, now a professional. Gonzales, the bronzed pulverizer, rates a heavy favorite to win.

He poured his great service and smashing volleys past Drobný in an unending stream yesterday, and finally wore the bespectacled Czech down to size. The two gave a rare exhibition of real "power" tennis and kept the near-capacity throng in an uproar.

Louise Brough of Beverly Hills and Mrs. Margaret Osborne Dupont of Wilmington, Del., will meet in the women's singles final today for the second straight year. Miss Brough won in 1947. They played their semifinal matches Friday.

Halfback Billy Stone scored two touchdowns on runs of 64 and 68 yards. Jim Robertson passed to Tony Calanca for nine yards and a touchdown and Gib Cal passed seven yards for another marker to John Wilson. Walt Ingram scored Bradley's fifth touchdown on a plunge from the one-yard line.

Nation Celebrates Airforce Day New Speed Mark Claimed

WASHINGTON (UP) - The U. S. airforce, celebrating its first birthday anniversary, yesterday sent its big bombers sweeping over the nation from distant bases and claimed a new world speed record of 670.981 miles per hour with a jet fighter.

Its show of strategic air power, largest worldwide mission yet undertaken by the postwar airforce, turned the entire United States into a stage, with millions of persons in the audience.

Fifty-three B-29 superfortresses swept across the nation from dawn to dusk, after taking

BOMBER BURNS AFTER CRASH LANDING on the Kansas City, Mo., Municipal airport. The B-29, on a flight from Langley Field, Va., to Denver, Colo., crashed yesterday and burst into flames but the fire was soon extinguished. Eight crew members and passengers escaped without serious injury.

Indian Troops Take Secunderabad Base Amid Flower Petals

HYDERABAD CITY, HYDERABAD (UP)—India formally accepted the surrender of the princely state of Hyderabad yesterday and conquering Indian troops were pelted with millions of flower petals as they marched in triumph to occupy the military barracks at nearby Secunderabad.

Maj. Gen. J. N. Chaudhury, commander of the Indian first armored division, accepted the surrender from Maj. Gen. F. A. El Edroos, commander-in-chief of the Hyderabad army.

(Unconfirmed press dispatches from Secunderabad to Bombay reported tonight that the Razakars, Hyderabad's Moslem irregulars, had fired on crowds celebrating the arrival of Indian troops at Bolarum, a Secunderabad suburb, and had fired some shots in Secunderabad itself.)

As military governor, Chaudhury immediately ordered former Hyderabad Premier Mir Laik Ali and members of his cabinet placed under house arrest. He also issued a warrant for the arrest of Kasim Razi, fiery leader of the Moslem Razakars, the militant organization which the Nizam of Hyderabad has agreed to outlaw, law.

The two opposing army commanders met in the middle of a highway about five miles outside this city. They exchanged only a few words to end the five-day war which resulted from the Nizam's refusal to join his wealthy state with the Indian dominion.

After the brief, informal ceremony, El Edroos entered a staff car and led the conquering Indian troops into Secunderabad, across a river from Hyderabad city.

'European Literature, Thought' To Be Offered as New Major

A new major which permits better students to cut across departmental boundaries will be available for students registering this semester.

The program in "European Literature and Thought" will go into effect this fall.

It will acquaint students with philosophy, literature, art, history and the social sciences. It will attempt to integrate these fields more than previously has been possible in one department, in hopes that students will develop the ability to read closely and analytically.

Two Courses

The courses offered this fall in the new major, which are also open to other students are "Myth and Reason" and "Nature and the Nature of Man: Humanism and Early Science."

Instructors for the former are J. E. Baker of the English department, Gerald Else of the classics department and Victor Harris of the English department. Harris, J. M. Jauch of the physics department, and Baker are instructors for the latter course. Faculty experts from other areas of study will also take part in class procedures from time to time.

Another program, "Major in American Civilization," which began last year, will also be available for students registering this semester.

Members from the departments of art, economics, English, history, journalism, philosophy and political science comprised the committee which prepared the study area.

The major is intended to give an insight into what American civilization is, what features make it unique and how this distinctive development came about. The program can also clarify the interrelations between the various parts of our culture and show how these relationships change so that a mode of literature or a school of art or type of idea popular in one era might be discarded in the next.

General Education

Students wishing a broad general education combining work in the humanities and social sciences with study centering around American civilization will find the course practical. The program can also be effective in preparation for secondary school teaching in American literature and the social sciences.

A. C. Kern, associate professor of English, is advisor in this major and is assisted by Virgil Lokke, a graduate assistant.

Applications Open For Candidates for Rhodes Scholarships

Candidates for the Rhodes scholarships will be nominated during October. S. R. Dunlap, chairman of the interviewing committee and associate professor of English, announced yesterday.

Students interested in the scholarships, he said, should consult with him before Oct. 1.

For Oxford Study

Selection of the university's candidates will be made next month, he added.

To be eligible for the scholarships for study at the university of Oxford in England, students must be male citizens of the United States between the ages of 19 and 25. At least a junior standing at some recognized university or college is required.

Basis for Selection

Four groups of qualities are used as a basis of selection. They are literary and scholastic ability and attainments; qualities of manhood, truth, courage and fellowship, moral force of character and of instincts to lead and be interested in schoolmates, and physical vigor.

Thirty-two scholarships are assigned annually in the U. S. They are divided between regular candidates and war service candidates.

The war service scholarships are required to have completed only one year of college work. Marriage is no bar to the scholarships.

Socialists Nominate Figg for Congress

Graydon Figg, Burlington machine shop worker, was nominated as Socialist candidate for congress from the first district at the party's district convention held yesterday in Iowa City.

A long-time resident of Burlington, Figg is a member of the International Association of Machinists, an independent union.

The convention pledged itself to carry to independent voters the Socialist national ticket of Norman Thomas and Tucker Smith. Long-range plans for education in democratic socialism also were discussed.

Students for Wallace To Show Three Films

Students for Wallace will present three films Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Chemistry auditorium.

The showing for which no admission will be charged is the first in a series sponsored by the group. The films are "One World or None," "Seeds of Destiny" and "Time To Act."

B-36 Fails To Show

The B-36 scheduled to fly over Iowa City at 8:14 a.m. yesterday didn't make it. According to the local Civil aeronautics communication station, the pilot of the plane did have Iowa City or Des Moines on his schedule.

The pilot said he would try to make it to Iowa City yesterday afternoon, however, but he had not been seen by dusk. The CAA said it was doubtful if the pilot would be able to give Iowa citizens a look at the plane.

off Friday from American bases half way around the compass, from Japan to Germany.

Day's Longest Flight

Capt. William A. Buckley, Reseda, Cal., piloted a B-29 over a great circle route from Miswa, Japan, to Minneapolis—5,666 miles—in an elapsed time of 23 hours 30 minutes. Setting down at Wold-Chamberlain airport at 3:33 p.m. EDT after the day's longest flight, Buckley said he was one hour 33 minutes late because of heavy headwinds over a portion of the route.

His apparent average speed was about 240 mph.

While the B-29's demonstrated the frightening potentialities of long-range air attack on the United States, six B-29 superfortresses—the world's largest—flew over hundreds of cities at low level to give the public a view of the 8th airforce's 10,000-mile aerial dreadnaught.

New Speed Record

The new world speed record was established at Muroc airforce base, Calif., Wednesday by Maj. Richard L. Johnson, a spunky, 30-year old test pilot with a distinguished war record.

Johnson is the same flier who on Labor day weekend missed a new speed record at the Cleveland air races when a light-speed camera failed to record one of his passes over the official 1.86-mile course.

At Muroc he had no such difficulty and easily pushed his F-86 jet fighter to a record without ever approaching its maximum speed. He topped the 650.796 mph record previously held by Marine Lt. Col. Marion E. Carl in a navy D-558 skystreak.

President Truman led the nation in tribute to the airforce on the first anniversary of its independence. He said that "with a nation secure in its own strength, we manifest to the entire world our determination to maintain the cause of peace."

September Court Term To Begin

The May term of the Johnson county district court was adjourned yesterday by Judge Harold D. Evans. The September term will begin tomorrow.

Judge James P. Gaffney will preside at the Johnson county court during the September term and Evans will be on the bench at Marengo.

Grand jurors will be drawn Monday at 2 p.m. for the September term.

Set Record on Berlin Air Lift

BERLIN (UP)—American and British planes shattered all records on U.S. airforce day to fly more than 7,000 tons of coal and other vital supplies over the Russian blockade into Berlin yesterday.

Despite fog and rain squalls, the combined airforces completed 895 "missions" without mishap, an official announcement said.

Lt. Gen. Curtis Lemay, U. S. airforce chief in Europe, who on occasion pilots a cargo down the air corridor himself, had called on his men to go all-out to break their record on the first anniversary of the United States airforce.

As bright sun flooded Tempelhof field at 1:30 p.m., the four-engined silver C-54 guided by Lt. Neil Gallier of Goldboro, N. C., circled and set down, the last plane in.

The Americans in the 24 hours up till then had hauled 4,842 tons, all coal, in 581 flights, a new record for the great air lift which began in mid-June.

Pledge Omitted

David Daisley of Chicago was omitted in a Daily Iowan story yesterday concerning the fraternity pledges. He is a Sigma Nu pledge.

James E. Portwood Files Suit for Divorce

James E. Portwood filed suit in Johnson county district court yesterday for a divorce from Sally Portwood. Portwood, a member of the armed forces, charged cruel and inhuman treatment.

The couple was married in Iowa City, Sept. 12, 1947, and separated July 13, 1948. Messer, Hamilton, Cahill and Bartley represent the plaintiff.

Used Car Prices May Come Down

WASHINGTON (AP) - Credit controls, going into effect tomorrow are likely to put the skids under premium prices for used cars, some automobile dealers said yesterday.

Some said they already had lowered the amounts they've been paying for "new used" and late model used cars in anticipation that stiffer credit terms will make them harder to resell.

Some finance men expressed the view that the controls, by forcing high monthly payments, will put late model cars beyond the reach of many families with incomes up to $4,000 or even more.

With half the nation's families having incomes under $2,300, the number squeezed out of the market could run to millions.

For cars costing $1,800, which is the low price field today, the required terms would run $600 down and roughly $80 a month for 18 months.

Mountaineers To Set Up Fieldhouse Query Booth

The Iowa Mountaineers will have an information desk in the fieldhouse during registration where those interested in joining the club may receive information about membership. Micky Thomas, chairman of the promotion committee, announced yesterday.

At 7:30 p.m. Saturday, the mountaineers will hold open house in the Iowa Union. Slides of various weekend outings will be shown, Thomas said.

Spy Probers Quiz Ex-Envoy to Russ

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congressional spy hunters made public yesterday testimony of a former ambassador to Russia that President Roosevelt shared "the general impression" that the state department secret code during the war was "not secure."

The testimony was given to a one-man subcommittee of the house un-American activities committee at Los Angeles last Thursday by Adm. W. H. Standley, retired. He was ambassador to Russia from February, 1942, until October, 1943.

Standley testified that President Roosevelt occasionally used the navy code instead of the state department code in sending messages to the ambassador because he was concerned over leaks of information.

Homecoming Parade Listed For This Fall

A parade will be a new feature of homecoming ceremonies at SUI this fall, Louis C. Zopf, chairman of the homecoming committee, announced yesterday. The parade will be Friday evening, Oct. 15, preceding the pep rally.

The Hawkeye football team will take to the gridiron Saturday of that weekend to play Purdue in the homecoming game.

Dormitories, sororities, fraternities and business and civic organizations will be invited to enter floats in the parade, Zopf said.

Prizes will be awarded by the homecoming committee to the winning floats in the university and city divisions.

Housing Decorations
Other features of the homecoming weekend program will be the decorations erected by housing units on campus which will be judged Friday evening. The Dolphin club will again present its water pageant during the weekend. Performances are planned for Thursday and Friday evening, with two shows Saturday.

The Iowa Union is planning an expanded open-house program for Saturday night during this year's celebration. The Union will also be the scene of the annual homecoming dance Friday night.

"I" Club Meeting
Saturday morning Omicron Delta Kappa, senior men's honorary, will hold its annual homecoming breakfast and alumni initiation ceremonies. There will also be a meeting of "I" club members Saturday morning.

They Don't Keep Up with the World

It wasn't the Crossley or the Gallup poll, but it convinced one Iowa City man that some Iowa Citizens aren't well informed on the world's events, and he spent $6 to find out.

An anonymous survey-taker, it was learned, went about Iowa City Friday evening accosting passers-by.

"Here's some money," he said when he met one of the persons, "Who was assassinated yesterday?"

He was referring, of course, to the assassination of Count Folke Bernadotte, UN mediator in Palestine, who was killed in Jerusalem Friday.

He confronted approximately 200 persons. Three out of 20 gave him the right answer.

If they hit the right answer, this self-appointed survey-taker gave them a shot at fifty cents. "Can you name his position. Only one in 50 could answer that question.

The survey cost the man $6, but he found that five of every eight who answered correctly were students.

Koo To Teach Religion Here

A Chinese educator, T. Z. Koo will be a guest professor in the school of religion, Prof. M. Willard Lampe, director of the school, announced yesterday.

Koo and his wife will live with Jacob Swisher, 114 N. Gilbert street, Lampe said.

Koo will teach "Spiritual Elements in Chinese Culture."

He has traveled extensively in many lands and on every continent. He is no newcomer to the United States, having visited here 16 times.

During the war he served as lay-minister of the Community church in Shanghai and as superintendent of a maternity hospital. In Sept., 1944, he made a 3½ month trek through the Japanese lines to Chungking, China's wartime capital.

Koo holds honorary degrees from Colgate university, Kenyon college, Denver university and the Chinese government.

It's a Sweet Note For Band Hopefuls

"If you're out of practice, so is everybody else!" This sign on the door of room 15, music building greets applicants for membership in the university bands.

Prof. C. B. Righter, director of bands, said yesterday that auditions for membership in the football band and the fall concert band will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at room 15, music building.

There will be special rehearsals on Monday and Wednesday for all new and old band members from 3:30 to 5 p.m. in the south hall of the music building, Righter said.

Regular rehearsal times are Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 3:30 to 5 for the football band. The fall concert band meets Monday and Wednesday from 7:15 to 9 p.m.

Orchestra Auditions To Be Held During Registration Period

Auditions for membership in the university orchestras will be held throughout the registration period, according to Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the music department.

Information on orchestra membership will be available at the music department desk in the field house during registration and at room 110 music studio building during and after registration.

Both students and townspeople are invited to try out for the orchestras, Clapp said.

Advanced skill is not required of new orchestra members, Clapp said, but members are expected to attend all rehearsals and performances.

The first rehearsal of the symphony orchestra will be Sept. 23 in the north rehearsal hall. Symphony rehearsals will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7:15 to 9:15 p.m.

The smaller "laboratory orchestra" will meet on Tuesdays from 1:30 to 3:30. Its function is to try new manuscripts and give students a chance to practice conducting.

The first concert by the symphony orchestra will be on Oct. 20.

Hadassah Members Urged To Aid Israel

The importance of Israel as the only example of a modern progressive democracy in the middle east was stressed by Louise C. Recht, Clairton, Pa., who spoke here Thursday evening to members of Hadassah.

The Jewish people in Israel have already demonstrated their ability to reclaim the soil, educate their citizens, improve sanitation and general living conditions, this Zionist leader stated. Now they need peace and stability to make their program effective.

Mrs. Recht urged that Hadassah, with its 250,000 members, aid the new state of Israel by encouraging the American government to support its interests at the UN general assembly sessions in Paris this fall.

Forget To Mail Letters?

This Radio Program May Find a Solution To the Problems Confronting You

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
AP Newsfeature Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Lady, does your small son run around with his shirttail hanging out?

You can put a stop to that very quickly. Just sew a piece of lace on the tail of his shirt and he will keep it out of sight.

Are you trying to get your weight down to 120 pounds?

Here's a trick that will help. Cut out a picture of a girl who is as slim as you'd like to be. Paste it on the ice box door. It will halt you in your tracks when you have a yen for snacks.

Does your husband forget to mail the letters you write? There's a remedy for that. Just tie a long string around the envelope. When he puts it in his pocket, the trailing string will serve as a reminder.

Perhaps he can't even remember your birthday. You can overcome that fault with a couple of vegetables. Spell out the date with peas in the mashed potatoes on the dinner table several nights before the anniversary.

These are examples of feminine ingenuity brought to light on the radio program "Hint Hunt." Women write out their suggestions and submit them for judgment. Authors of the best ideas win prizes.

The show has received, so far, 750,000 solutions to as many problems that confront housewives across the land. Most of them are practical; some are amusing, too.

One mother had a child who wept without cause. So she gave him a potted plant and told him to water it with his tears. This placed the lad in a situation that was more silly than sad and his sobs turned to smiles.

Another woman had some sound advice on how to keep children who play across the street out of the paths of automobiles. Just give the kid a whistle. He will blow it when he is ready to come home. Then you go out and guide him through the traffic.

A lady didn't need a laboratory to work out a method of making sure she didn't leave her apartment without her key. She used sound effects. She tied a bell on the key and put it in her purse. Now, when she is stepping out, she shakes her purse. If it tinkles, she knows the key is inside.

Does a dripping faucet drive you wild?

Tie a piece of string to the faucet. The water will run down it in silence until the plumber arrives.

Suppose the ceaseless tick-tick of a clock annoys somebody in a sickroom. Cover the clock with a glass bowl. The patient can see the time but he can't hear it go by.

Nobody knows how many fountain pens have been borrowed and never returned. But there's a way to scotch that. Keep the cap. The party who has the writing end will notice that something is missing. That will jog his memory.

President Truman Greeted By 4,500 Spectators

Chief Executive Calls Schools Best Defense Against 'Isms'

Crowded conditions at the State University of Iowa and other schools will be alleviated if the federal aid for education bill is passed, President Henry S. Truman said here yesterday.

The President visited Iowa City in the early hours yesterday, attracting about 4,500 spectators at the Rock Island station. He made a brief platform speech at 7:22 a.m. before going to Dexter to attend the national plowing contest.

The President also found time to praise Iowa's Democratic candidates, meet Iowa City's Mayor Preston Koser and champion education as "our best defense against totalitarianism."

His daughter, Margaret, also appeared on the train's rear platform. She accepted a bouquet of dark red carnations from Julie Ferguson, an SUI student and member of Pi Beta Phi national sorority. Margaret is also a member of the group.

After noting that the university is crowded and short of housing, the President reminded the crowd that he had "been fighting with the congress to get an educational bill that will be helpful to all those universities that are overcrowded."

The bill, he added, would also increase teachers' salaries.

The chief executive, wearing a bluish-gray suit, said he was "very much interested in education."

"Saturation Point"

"We have reached a saturation point in our educational system because there are so many people interested in education," he added.

"But there are some people who like to live back in the 1840's and are not really interested in our educational facilities," he explained.

"If our educational system collapses, we will be subject to all kinds of 'isms,'" he warned. "I hope you will continue with your great educational program" here and help me on the federal level."

The President, who was introduced by State Senator LeRoy S. Mercer of Iowa City, also asked for help in electing Democratic candidates to congress.

Boosts Switzer

"And elect a Democratic governor, too!" the President said, grabbing the arm of the Iowa candidate for that office, Carroll O. Switzer.

James D. Frantz, first district candidate for congress; Guy M. Gillette, former Iowa senator and candidate for the senate in the November elections, and Mercer stood by Truman on the platform when he spoke.

The President smiled and asked the members of the crowd if they would like to meet another "member of my family." Margaret then stepped from the railway car, receiving much applause. (Mrs. Truman met the President later yesterday in Des Moines.)

Hart on Train

William R. Hart, first district committeeman, who rode from Davenport on the special train, summoned Miss Ferguson, president of Pi Beta Phi here, to the platform to meet Margaret.

Miss Ferguson had been standing by other members of her sorority near where the railroad tracks cross S. Clinton street. Iowa City police and firemen had stretched ropes around the crowd there.

A BOUQUET OF RED CARNATIONS was presented by Julie Ferguson (center), president of the SUI chapter of Pi Beta Phi, to Margaret Truman yesterday at 7:22 a.m. when the presidential train stopped here. Margaret is also a member of the sorority. The President (left) gave a short rear platform speech here while enroute to Dexter, Ia., where he attended the national plowing contest.

stepped aside to permit Miss Ferguson to climb the steps.

"Where are the rest of the girls?" Margaret asked, after receiving the flowers.

"They're back there," Miss Ferguson said, indicating some young ladies with Miss Harriette Evans, housemother of the group. Other members were scattered in the crowd.

"I'm Sorry"

"Oh, heavens, I'm sorry," the President's daughter replied.

Miss Ferguson agreed, "So am I." (After Margaret expressed her regrets that the rest of the young ladies weren't closer to the platform, one Pi Beta Phi member said, "I knew we should have come here in a group.")

When Miss Ferguson left the train, she was met by Frank Nye of the Cedar Rapids Gazette. Nye described her to another newsman as "coming from one of the biggest Republican families in the state."

She did not deny the statement later.

Nye and Harry Boyd, also of the Gazette, boarded the presidential train here after being notified originally that they would ride the train from Davenport.

Boarded Train

Three other persons also boarded the train here. They were John Kinney, mayor of Oxford where the train stopped next; I. F. Duddelston, publisher of the Johnson County Democrat, and Dr. Samuel Stevens, president of Grinnell college.

William Jackson, a Johnson county Democrat, said he tried to board the train but was unsuccessful.

Hart, first district committeeman, left the train here after riding from Davenport. He said he and State Senator LeRoy S. Mercer, who also rode from Davenport, conferred with the President, but did not discuss politics.

Hart proudly exhibited a breakfast menu from the train. Mr. Truman, he pointed out, had signed the menu on both sides. Because the train was crossing a rough stretch of track when he signed the menu initially, the President signed on the reverse side more legibly.

Police on Duty

Most of Iowa City's policemen, four firemen and secret service men were on duty yesterday to control the crowd which gathered for the speech.

Some policemen were on duty about 5:30 a.m. in preparation for the event and continued their vigilance until 7:32 a.m. when the presidential train left Iowa City for Oxford and another platform speech.

The Iowa City Moose Grenadiers played and marched to the site of the speech here. They stood about 25 yards directly behind the train.

The crowd, which assembled rapidly at train time, heard the speech over a public address system which an assistant on the train hurriedly installed after the train arrived.

Besides the cheers and applause which greeted the chief executive, Henry Allan, president of the university Young Democrats, carried a white sign with green lettering which said, "SUI Young Democrats — Just Wild about Harry."

RHEUMATISM YIELDS TO SPECIALIZED SYSTEM OF TREATMENT

Excelsior Springs, Mo., Sept. 18: So successful has a specialized system proven for treating rheumatism and arthritis that an amazing new book will be sent free to any reader of this paper who will write for it. The book entitled, "Rheumatism," fully explains why drugs and medicines give only temporary relief and fail to remove the causes of the trouble. The Ball Clinic, Excelsior Springs, Mo., has perfected a specialized system of treatment for rheumatism and arthritis combined with the world famous mineral waters and baths. This new system of treatment is fully described in the book and tells how it may be possible for you to find freedom from rheumatism. You incur no obligation in sending for this instructive book. It may be the means of saving you years of untold misery. For writing promptly, the Clinic will send their newly combined book entitled, "Rheumatism—Good Health, Life's Greatest Blessing." Address your letter to The Ball Clinic, Dept. 1428, Excelsior Springs, Missouri, but be sure to write today.

THIS WAS THE CROWD THAT met the President at Oxford yesterday morning. Although restraining ropes had been put up by police and the secret service, the 4,000 spectators broke through and surged up around the rear platform of the President's special train. The arrival time — 7:45 — evidently was not too early for the farm community. Mr. Truman made a brief speech at Oxford and jokingly said he had been told that Oxford university in England had been named after the town. But he added that that didn't seem quite possible since the town just recently celebrated its centennial.

What Are We Afraid Of?

Yesterday morning the President of the United States was in Iowa City.

If you got up early enough you probably heard the President deliver a short talk extolling education and patting the backs of some state political figures.

Plans had been made to transcribe the President's short talk and re-play it for the listeners of WSUI, university radio station. That plan fell through when the state board of education became the dangerous bogey that decides what should or should not be presented through state-owned facilities.

While a presentation of the speech could very well be defended on the grounds that recorded speeches are an accepted method of presenting news, it was decided that the talk was too much of a political thing. An announcer at the radio station did, however, read the President's speech. But that's all right, it was not in the homespun Truman voice but still the listeners to the news broadcast found out what he said.

The fine point of what is acceptable and what is forbidden makes the affair seem a little ridiculous.

But what happened to the radio broadcast of Truman's speech is no more ridiculous than the manner in which the state board of education has conducted itself on the subject of political speeches on state campuses.

Since last spring when from the deep, unrecorded past of previous state boards this ban began receiving publicity, the board has been trying to "clarify" the ban and its own stand.

For one thing, in a meeting at Cedar Falls the board held a closed session. This resulted in strange paradoxes of interpretation on how the ban was supposed to operate—it also resulted in a very angry state press attitude at the high-handed brush-off the press received.

Since that time it must have become apparent to the board that it is not only a few people about the three state campuses that are interested in the outcome of the "clarification" attempts.

Only yesterday one newspaper came out with an attack on the apparently arbitrary and inconsistent actions—the chief thing was a political speech here in the fieldhouse by James Roosevelt in 1934.

Another point this editorial makes is that as late as the years of Eugene A. Gilmore's presidency at the university—dating to 1940—it was the policy here to grant permission for political speeches in university facilities at the discretion of the administration and when political rallies did not conflict with activities here.

All this points to one conclusion: the ban is not of such "long standing" as the board claims.

This in itself is part of a bigger issue. There is a general attitude that any particular group wants to tell the rest how they should read, talk and think. This becomes more and more apparent as a police chief in Sioux City bans some books as "obscene"; the DAR in Council Bluffs strikes out against a textbook series as "subversive"; and removes the book from the text list to the reference list; a politician running for governor of Minnesota charges that there are "subversive" teachers in the University of Minnesota and even in the more elementary schools.

There is an hysterical reform movement to protect the status quo, whatever that means to each group. This emotional reform is built on fear that things may be changing—that creates another fear which is much more muddled and intangible.

But this business of being afraid of doing something wrong is the thing that has promoted several questionable decisions.

That feeling moved Henry A. Wallace, candidate for office, into an Iowa City park to speak.

That feeling stopped all plans for Thomas E. Dewey, candidate for office, appearing in Iowa City. His managers were interested, but there were no facilities available.

It was the same feeling that prompted the decision not to broadcast a short—but newsworthy because it happened to Iowa Citizens—speech by Harry S. Truman, candidate for office; and incidentally, President of the United States.

The Campaign

Truman, GOP Argue Probes, Prices, ITU

While Maine went last week, so the rest of the nation was still waiting to go. And as the Nov. 2 deadline inched closer, the hectic campaigning went like this:

President Truman—Addressing the opening session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, he accused "some politicians" with "axes to grind and red herrings to drag around" of endangering the nation's security by "smears" against scientists.

A host of atomic scientists and AEC head David Lilienthal backed him up. Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Ia.), chairman of the senate-house atomic energy committee, denied that the congressional spy probes were endangering atomic research.

Mr. Truman then accused Senator Taft (R-Ohio) for allegedly trying to pressure national labor relations board officials into cracking down on the International Typographical union. Taft had arranged a meeting between Chicago publishers and NLRB officials.

Taft retorted: the attack was "merely an attempt to curry favor with the labor bosses who control the labor publicity to which he is looking for help in the election. Only shows that we have reached the silly season in politics."

Mr. Truman then left on his 16-day campaign tour threatening to "give 'em hell." In a back platform appearance at Iowa City, he asked for federal aid to end overcrowding on campuses and the teacher shortage.

Dewey-Warren team—Governor Dewey accused the Truman administration of "an intentional fabrication designed to deceive the producers of food in our country." This was in reply to the charge that the GOP was out to wreck the farm price support program. Later, Dewey came out supporting the program, removing an issue for the Democrats to harp at. The governor proposed an American defense system so strong that no foreign power "will ever be misled into attacking us on the assumption that our democracy is too weak or too glib to protect itself."

Meanwhile, Governor Warren sallied forth from the west on a speaking tour. His speeches lauded Dewey and called for more public power in the west. The GOP looked happy at Maine's Republican sweep in the general elections. Congresswoman Margaret Chase Smith became the first woman Republican ever elected to a full term as U. S. senator.

Henry Wallace—Hopping from rally to rally, Mr. Wallace termed the barring of the Progressives from the Illinois ballot "treason" and bemoaned that now the voters have only a choice of "fascism." He blamed "monopolists" for the inflation and declared, "the monopolists have made the war program the lever to control the country. The war budget inflates prices and drives profits beyond their fondest hopes."

Primaries—The Texas Democratic convention—besides pledging the state's 23 electoral votes to Mr. Truman—gave its nomination for U. S. senator to Lyndon B. Johnson. Winning over former Gov. Coke Stevenson by an official 87 votes out of a million total, Johnson is still fighting the thing out in court.

In state primaries, Colorado's Democratic Senator Ed C. Johnson and Sen. Joseph H. Ball (R-Minn.) won their party's nomination.

United Nations

Murder of Bernadotte, Aide Shocks the World

While the international organization was readying for the third session of the general assembly in Paris next Tuesday, the shocking news of Count Folke Bernadotte's assassination in Jerusalem gripped it.

Appointed UN mediator last June, Bernadotte had imposed the truce in Palestine. While inspecting a Jewish-held area in the Holy City he was attacked by members of the outlawed Stern gang and shot. His French assistant, Col. Andre Pierre Serot, was also killed.

Global

Hyderabad Captured; Violence Jars France

Hyderabad—The Indian government—deciding to incorporate the princely state of Hyderabad by force—invaded the Moslem-controlled country. After five days of fighting in which Indian troops drove within 40 miles of the Hyderabad capital city, the Nizam surrendered. Hyderabad also announced it would drop charges against India in the UN security council. The security council had voted 8-0 in favor of considering the situation.

Pakistan—Following the death of Mohammed Ali Jinnah, founder of the Moslem dominion in India, Sir Khwaja Nazimuddin was named his successor. Nazimuddin, 54-year-old provincial premier of Bengal, may have to fight other political factions before Pakistan is stabilized.

France—As Premier Henri Queuille's wobbly government went ahead with plans for drastic financial measures, Communists and DeGaullists stirred the nation up into rioting and striking. Communist-led Paris workers marched on the city hall. DeGaullists began a nationwide referendum demanding general elections.

Far East—British Foreign Minister Bevin told parliament that the Communists are following a plan aimed at seizure of southeast Asia. He was pointing at the Malayan revolt the British are trying to squelch. The U. S. state department backed Bevin up by accusing Moscow-led Communists of a "drive for power" in the far east. The Netherlands East Indies government outlawed communism in Indonesia and prepared to stamp out communist activities.

Japan—At a meeting of the 11-nation far eastern commission, top policy-making agency for the Pacific, Russia demanded the U. S. ban on strikes of Japanese government workers in Japan be lifted along with other "repressive measures" against labor. Communists allegedly control most of Japan's organized labor movement.

Cold War

Envoys Meet Molotov; Seeks To Bolster Airlift

Moscow—Apparently the spark of hope for a settlement of the Berlin tangle was dead and cold when the three western envoys went to the Kremlin for their ninth meeting with Soviet leaders. Intending to have a final "show-down" with Stalin, the envoys saw only Molotov. The negotiations may shift to Paris and the general assembly now that the envoys in Moscow and the military government in Germany are stalled.

Berlin—Bad weather—the worst enemy of the allied airlift—is approaching steadily. The U. S. airforce last week surveyed Berlin for possible sites for additional airlift landing fields.

Five non-Communists were sentenced to 25 years at hard labor by a Russian court for taking part in recent anti-Soviet rioting. This struck up a wave of anti-Soviet feeling.

Anti-Communists in the Soviet zone began skipping out or hiding while Americans had to force Soviet police out of the western sector of Berlin at gunpoint. The armed Russians were presumably after non-Communist police.

Two airmen who bailed out of a Berlin-bound C-47 transport plane over the Soviet zone returned to their base safely. On the weekend, the western allies clamped down on smuggling and leaks across the borders to the Soviet zone of Germany.

Italian colonies—It didn't take the big four powers long to realize they could not agree on the disposition of Italy's prewar African colonies. The effort was abandoned.

and the UN was given the problem.

Behind the Iron Curtain

Romania Accuses Four Americans of Espionage

Romania—The Soviet satellite accused four members of the American diplomatic mission in Bucharest with spying and taking pictures in forbidden areas. The U. S. claimed these accusations were false and recalled the four persons.

Athens—In a supplementary report, the UN Balkan commission asked the general assembly to warn Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia that their aid to the Greek guerrillas of Markos Vafiadis endangers peace in the Balkans. It was another watered-down accusation aimed at Moscow.

Labor

Bridges Union To Load Army Cargoes in Seattle

West coast longshoremen's strike—Harry Bridge's CIO union backed the army last week and seemed to be coming out on top. The army announced that it would hire its own men to load military cargoes. Bridges said his men would fight the action. On the weekend, the army and a Seattle stevedoring firm came to an agreement and the longshoremen will load army cargo ships in the Seattle area.

CIO communications equipment workers strike threat—A last minute wage settlement kept 25,000 telephone workers on the job by giving pay hikes up to 15 cents hourly.

CIO oil workers west coast strike—When an AFL group supporting the strike decided to return to work, violence broke out at several California picket lines. At Richmond, police and CIO pickets battled with tear gas, rocks, clubs and fists. The strike is over a wage dispute.

Railroad strike threat—Wage talks concerning one million non-operating rail workers broke down as the stop-strike machinery of the railway labor act was rapidly wearing out. The unions asked the supreme court to declare a July 2 no-strike injunction invalid under the Norris-La Guardia act. Railroad voters began taking a strike vote.

Communists-in-labor probes—The house labor subcommittee heard CIO fur workers chief Ben Gold deny that his union is Communist dominated. Gold said he has been a member of the Communist party for more than 25 years and that his "political affiliation is a matter of public knowledge."

Names in the News

Benjamin Cohen—The acting secretary general of the United Nations broke ground on the east side New York area to be the home of the UN "capitol of the world."

Robert C. Alexander—The assistant chief of the state department visa division is under disciplinary action for testifying before a congressional committee that foreign subversives were entering the U. S. under immunity. An investigation of the UN proved the charge unfounded.

Hedy Lamarr—She won her

Open Season on Voters: Hunters Truman, Dewey Prowl

McBride's Hall A Blue Red-Letter Day

By BILL MCBRIDE

What I thought was going to be a red letter day Saturday turned out to be a complete dud. I all but missed President Truman's stop in IC, and didn't so much as hear a rumble from the B-36 which was supposed to announce Airforce Day to this vicinity.

I was busy parking the car during most of Truman's speech, but managed to get close enough to hear him make one promise, anyway. There didn't seem to be many people there considering it was the President of the United States speaking.

Maybe it was the 7:20 a.m. hour which discouraged potential spectators. At any rate, Wallace had a much larger turn-out last spring. Of course many students, and possibly some townspeople, have become leary of avowed political speakers since then. That may have something to do with it.

There were so many persons getting on and off the rear end of the train where Truman stood that it was difficult to keep the President in view.

After Margaret was presented with a bouquet, I was sure she would render one or two stanzas of the "Corn Song." My heart jumped at one time when I thought she had started to favor us, but it turned out to be the engineer signaling he was ready to go.

Seems like they could have used a less irritating signal... maybe chimes. This one sounded like some one whipping a lurching dog in front of an open microphone.

To me, Mayor Preston Koser presented a more impressive figure on the platform than the President. This isn't a plug to run Koser for president because I'm certain he wouldn't want the job anyway.

An unsigned postal card from an inquisitive agent poses the question, "where did all the pretty girls go after rush week?"

This isn't a subject to become upset about, since there are have expended most of their energies in the past week, so it will take another seven days to get themselves back into shape.

It is also possible that they may have utilized every stitch of their new wardrobes while being rushed and are now busy re-wiring it. Or perhaps they have just retired to their rooms to let their hair down.

This isn't a subject to become upset about, since there are plenty of pretty girls around who weren't rushed.

After hearing a report from an agent who attended a tri-county teacher's meeting at Washington, Iowa, recently I wonder at the fitness of some of our grade school teachers.

The agent reported that some teachers showed excessive boredom with the meeting, and in an informal bus-session bemoaned the fact that there will probably be more meetings throughout the year. One teacher griped that they might as well brace themselves for such dull discussions as nuclear fission and atomic bombs. Several of the instructors agreed with her.

If all teachers felt that way, it would be a dangerous generation coming into world affairs in not so many years.

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT A Beating . . . on Paper

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

These are not what you might call good days for the liberal movement. Life has been hard on us social improvers lately. A few years ago, during the war, and just before, it was easy. There was Hitler, and you did not have to think very hard to know your place in the world.

It was enough to be, according to one's talents, limpingly or eloquently, a poet of democracy; and so deep ran Hitler's evil that he made even doggerel directed against him sound good, while eloquence could make us cry.

Nobody has cried much recently. That the old feeling is still there is shown by the fact that when an appropriate event comes along, such as the founding of Israel, the old responses rise to the surface again. But on the whole we have slipped from a simple time, in which it was enough to love something very much, into a complicated one, in which worry and close judgment are called upon to replace love and action.

And conservatism has made the liberal's lot harder by finding a slogan which is a kind of blurred tracing of the old anti-

Hitler slogans. It has unified itself behind the outcry against Russia, as once liberals around the world unified themselves behind the outcry against Hitler.

The tone-poetry, of whatever merit, come from the right these days; and even if the right may not always be as eloquent as it thinks, at least it thinks it is eloquent, and anyone who thinks he is eloquent is to that degree magnified and made formidable.

And this, too, has added to the liberal's difficulties. For while the liberal longs to raise his voice in solid pro-democratic affirmations (as, on the record), he did during years when some of those now most audible were rather silent) he has an uneasy feeling that he may thereby find himself calling for a war and weeping into the same mug of beer as is some gentleman who does not believe very hard in minimum wage legislation.

And yet, with all this, I have a funny feeling that the root of the liberal is not as complete as it looks. On paper he is taking a terrible beating, and the other side seems clearly to have the upper hand. But in part it is an optical illusion, based on the fact that we are too close to the current election, which gives the liberal the feeling that he may be put permanently out of business in November.

Oddly enough, that is the only thing that cannot happen in this election. The liberal cannot be put permanently out of business by Dewey's victory in 1948, any more than he was put permanently out of business by Harding's victory in 1920. For the liberal's business is to see to it that every family in America has a decent house, and enough food, and enough freedom, and never knows want.

Dewey cannot put anybody out of this business, unless he intends to solve these problems himself, which obviously he does not, and cannot.

The defeat of the Democratic party no longer has the same meaning it used to have as a disaster for liberalism, in precisely the same degree that a victory for that party no longer would have the meaning it used to have as a victory for liberalism.

The liberal will still be in business the morning after election day. He may have to find new ways in which to fight, but he may also find, to his surprise, that he is in better shape than whoever wins.

As for the anti-Russian mobilization, that, too, has its cardboard elements, as a permanent crusade by means of which the conservative approach can hope to gain a permanent upper hand in the shaping of events. That it is not an exact copy of the anti-Hitler movement is shown by the general lifting of spirits, in so many quarters, which takes place whenever chances for peace seem to improve a bit.

In spite of many unjustified Russian actions, there remains a feeling that peace ought to be possible, a feeling which hardly existed in Hitler's case, and which indicates that conservatism has not found a replica of what liberalism had in the world anti-Hitler movement.

Great Britain Flexes Its Military Muscles In Case of Trouble

LONDON (AP)—Britain is tightening her air, land and sea defenses from her eastern Pacific outposts to the western approaches of her home islands.

She is doing so because her leaders regard the international situation as grave. Another reason is that policy makers believe a display of military preparedness might discourage possible aggression.

Cooperating with Britain in organizing the defense of western Europe are her four Brussels treaty partners—France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg. Actively backing their joint program is the United States.

Informants in touch with the cabinet, foreign and war office opinion say government and military leaders have had to face the possibility Britain may be involved in a war with Russia over Germany.

These informants asserted that the official view is the chances of war are remote. But that feeling has not been allowed to stop the country's rulers taking every precaution in case they are proven wrong.

Breakdown of negotiations with Russia over Berlin almost certainly would transform Britain's present peacetime economy to a full-scale rearmament program, in the view of many experts.

In the meantime air, land and sea exercises have been arranged to test the country's home and commonwealth defenses. In one recent test, an imaginary continental power launched a full-scale air attack on London. All home RAF and royal auxiliary airforce commands, as well as all bomber squadrons based in Britain took part in the biggest exercise since V-E day. Army maneuvers took place simultaneously.

One British official in touch with the war office disclosed that a far more important exercise recently took place under strict secrecy conditions in the London area.

This was a joint paper exercise on the general subject of Arctic and Antarctic warfare conditions. High United States military leaders took part. Britain's top army, airforce and naval officers were involved.

CHIC YOUNG

I SURE FEEL PUNK

TAKE SOME BICARBONATE OF SODA WHEN YOU GET HOME

YOU LOOK GREEN DAGWOOD

I ATE THREE HEAPING PLATES OF SPARERIBS AND SAUERKRAUT FOR LUNCH TODAY—I OVERDID IT

WHERE'S THE BICARBONATE OF SODA, DEAR?

DON'T SPOIL YOUR SUPPER—WE'RE HAVING SPARERIBS AND SAUERKRAUT TONIGHT

NOW WHAT BROUGHT THAT ON?

FROM VACATION... TO EDUCATION

It's September—to you students that means football games, picnics and books! It would be wise for you to economize on those vacation earnings by buying your classroom supplies at "the bookstore in the middle of the block." We have a complete supply of materials for SUI scholars. Everything in books from Astronomy to Zoology. Our shelves are stocked with supplies including Shaeffer pens, sporting goods of all kinds, party and bridge items, stationery and various other necessary articles for the student. Come in and visit the IOWA SUPPLY today!

TEXT BOOKS

Our stock of textbooks is unlimited! We have books for the Commerce student, for artists, English majors, Engineering books and supplies, and books for the lawyer. Whether you're a freshman or a senior we have books for you. Come in and buy your books at IOWA SUPPLY—directly across from Shaeffer Hall! Veterans Requisitions filled promptly and efficiently.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION EQUIPMENT

Phys Ed men will find the official uniforms for undergraduates & majors. Gym shoes and socks, shower klogs, and other athletic equipment are available in wide selection.
