CHICAGO (AP) — A woman who expected the stork at any moment got up in the middle of a movie at the Surf theatre and started for a hospital. Her husband also left in a hurry. But he stopped at the box office long enough to get a refund.

SUI Housing Left Only for Those Single

A Few Town Units Available to Couples

By JEAN STRONG
Housing space at SUI is still available—if you're a single man or woman. Mrs. Imelda Murphy, manager of the housing assignment office, said yesterday.
All housing units for married students are taken or committed to people on the waiting list, Mrs. Murphy said.
Richard E. Sweitzer, manager of off-campus housing in the office of student affairs, said yesterday his office has some housing listed for married students.
Sweitzer listed available off-campus housing as follows:
In Iowa City: two rooms with no cooking facilities—(minimum rent $25 monthly per room); three trailers for sale; nine houses for sale ranging in price from $3,300 to $22,000.
In rural areas: facilities for six couples.
Mrs. Murphy said future assignments to campus housing units for married couples can be made only as cancellations come in. "We do not expect many of these during the semester," she added.
An applicant for married housing may enter his name on the waiting list one year in advance of the date he expects to move in, according to Mrs. Murphy.
Married students are housed on the campus in the privately-owned trailer parking area, in coops, in the two trailer villages—Riverdale and Hawkeye and in quonset and cottage apartments.
Although no official figures have been issued, the large crowds seem to indicate that the fall enrollment may exceed last year's 10,239, according to officials.
It is reported that 1,300 freshmen and 900 transfer students have registered.
William D. Coder, director of the Veterans Service office at the University, said his organization was swamped with work. He was unable to estimate the number of veterans on campus but said "there seemed to be more new and transfer students than last year."
Sweitzer said, "Enrollment seems to be up, but it may be a false impression because we have nothing to go on." Demand for off-campus housing has increased over previous years, he said.
Mrs. Murphy said she expected dormitory housing for single men and women would be adequate to meet the demand.
Off-campus housing for single men and women reported available yesterday by Sweitzer were:
For single men—a total of 19 spaces, seven in Iowa City, and 12 in Oxford, South Amana, Riverside, Coralville and Hills.
For single women—12 spaces in Iowa City.
Average cost of this housing is $15 a month.
Sweitzer said there is still need for off-campus housing although there was good response from townspeople after an appeal made earlier this week.
He said he felt "reasonably sure" that more rooms would be rented if anyone wishes to list them with his office.
Sweitzer said the inspection of all private home residences in which students live will be made during the next six months after registration files have been checked.
Earlier this month announcement was made that the federal government relinquished all rights and titles to 2,410 dwelling accommodations for veterans. The announcement came from the Chicago office of the public housing administration.
The transfer gave to SUI 682 family dwellings, 249 trailers and 1,479 dormitory units, the office said.
The dwelling rent will be retained by the university and will be subject to local and federal control.

Jimmy's on the Truman Train Again

FRIENDS AGAIN are President Truman and James Roosevelt (right), Democratic national committeemen from California. Roosevelt climbed aboard the Truman train in Los Angeles. A leader in a movement to sidetrack Mr. Truman's nomination at the Democratic national convention, Roosevelt later swung to the President's support when the movement collapsed.

Peron Says American In Revolt-Death Plot

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President Juan Peron accused John Griffith, former cultural attache of the U.S. embassy, last night of organizing a plot to assassinate him and topple his government.
Tens of thousands of workers, idled by a 14-hour general strike called in solidarity with Peron, cheered wildly his denunciations of traitors, international capitalists and foreign enemies.
Stirred to anger, the crowd shouted anti-United States slogans before the First National Bank of Boston building and attacked the big South American newspaper, La Prensa, which never has supported Peron.

Truman Blasts GOP, Says Demos Boomed West's Resources

ABOARD TRUMAN CAMPAIGN TRAIN (AP) — President Truman said last night development of western resources under the Democrats has been greater than during "all the Republican administrations for the last century."
Mr. Truman spoke to thousands of people at the Yuma, Ariz., railroad station. He had cut across the desert of southern California during the day, deciding on the way to tangle with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey over the Communism issue in a major campaign speech later on.
The President told Arizona voters they have three choices in the November election:
1. Vote for "vested interests" which he said have poured millions into the campaign.
2. No vote, which he said would allow a minority to elect the same men who control "the Republican, do-nothing 80th congress." He said these "birds" in congress tried to cut western projects to pieces.
3. A vote for Democrats, which he said would be a ballot to "keep the country in safe hands"—in the hands of those who "have the interests of the people at heart."

Soviet Flak Misses Berlin-Bound Planes

BERLIN (AP) — The Russians slammed anti-aircraft fire into the crowded airlift corridor yesterday — without hitting anything.
They told the Americans and British about it officially an hour and a half after the shooting started.
The target practice lasted three and a half hours 25 miles west of Berlin in the Buckeburg air lane used by British and American planes.
Then the Russians posted notice that they intended to shift to air-to-ground firing, which could include practice shooting at ground targets, and possibly some bomb dropping.
The Soviet shooting failed to deter the supplying of Berlin by air.

Anti-Trust Probe of Du Pont Is Started

CHICAGO (AP) — The government has started an anti-trust investigation of the huge E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & company industrial empire.
Grand jury subpoenas were placed on file yesterday for business records of Du Pont, General Motors corporation, U.S. Rubber company, Ethyl corporation, North American Aviation, Inc., Kinetic Chemicals, Inc., Bendix Aviation corporation, and Remington Arms company.
Du Pont's large stock holdings in General Motors have been generally known.

Iowa 2-Touchdown Choice Over Marquette In Opener

Hilltoppers 'Unknown' To Hawks

The University of Iowa opens its 60th football season here in the Iowa stadium this afternoon entertaining Marquette university of Milwaukee, Wis.
The game looms as strictly a "mystery" contest to both teams, neither being quite sure of the other's strength or weakness.
On the basis of last year's records and the coming season's

Record Opener Crowd Expected

7-Million Frenchmen Stage 2-Hour Strike

PARIS (AP)—A two-hour nationwide general strike of seven million workers against the cost of living passed calmly in France yesterday.
Carried out in a half-hearted way, it proved far less than 100 percent effective.

The worst inconvenience was caused in Paris by an additional 24-hour subway and bus strike. The capital area's four million residents good humoredly jammed the streets on foot and on bicycles and somehow got to and from work.

The United Nations general assembly in session here continued functioning normally throughout the demonstration.
Some government employees quit work, but essential services such as gas, electricity and automatic telephones kept functioning.

Airforce to Call 10,000 In Expansion Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The airforce, expanding toward a 70-group size, will put 10,000 more reserve and national guard officers on active duty during the next 10 months.
Announcing this yesterday, the airforce emphasized that the 10,000 would be men who have volunteered for active duty and that it is not calling them in.

Spectators Are Advised to Walk

An estimated 35,000 to 40,000 persons will file into the Iowa stadium this afternoon to see the University of Iowa open its 60th gridiron year against Marquette.
This will be the largest crowd in history to witness an opening game at SUI.
The athletic business office of Frank Havlicek expects the game to be what they term "a nice-day game." Pleasant weather is expected. It was reported late yesterday that many tickets are still available. However, it is believed that good weather will swell the crowd to a near record 40,000. Tickets will be on sale until 2:00 p.m. game time.

Last year's opening game saw Iowa's Hawks defeat North Dakota State, 50-0 before a record first-game crowd of 31,050. In 59 previous openers, Iowa has won 48, lost 10 and tied one.

University officials re-emphasized yesterday that football games will be much happier if they walk or take a bus to today's game.

Parking space in the vicinity of the stadium is limited to the north and south tennis courts and an area west of the baseball diamond.
Drivers can best park in University heights (west of the stadium), Manville heights (north of U.S. highway 6) and the residential district east of the Iowa river.

In the meantime the "air-spotting" traffic control system used last year at Iowa football games will again be used today.
A plane provided by the Iowa Aeronautics commission will aid in directing traffic by being in radio contact with Iowa City patrol cars.

Half-Time Fare
Spectators will be entertained at game half-time by the Iowa university band, 50 high school band twirlers and the Moose Grenadier Drum and Bugle Corps of Iowa City.

Under the direction of Prof. C.B. Righter, the university's 91-man band will play Gallant Seventh, the National Anthem and Iowa, On to Victory in a pre-game flag-raising ceremony.
Drum majors for the band this year are Charles W. McKinley, A4, Clinton, and Arno F. Kapper, A2, Jefferson.

At half-time the band will accompany the 50 band twirlers from Iowa high schools with The Crosley March and The Showboy March.
Schools represented in the six-minute demonstration will include Donnellson, Solon, East Waterloo, Franklin and Wilson of Cedar Rapids, Conrad, Washington, Tama, State Center, Washington and Iowa City.

Highlanders Out
The Iowa University Scottish Highlanders, originally scheduled to appear, will not perform due to insufficient time for practice.
The lassies will make their first

Dewey Pledges Fight Against Communism, Raps Truman 'Jeers'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey promised last night to start a "mighty world wide counter offensive" against Communism if he is elected president in November.
The Republican nominee said it would be a counter-offensive of trust and hope, not of aggressive acts.

Dewey, in a major campaign address in the Hollywood Bowl, slugged hard at President Truman's "red herring" criticism of the congressional inquiry into Communist activities.
He accused Mr. Truman of jeering at the threat of Communism.
And he charged his opponent's Democratic administration with giving "aid and comfort to the enemies of our system" of government.

"Some people jeer at this problem (of Communism)—calling it a 'red herring.' Some people get panicky about it," Dewey said.
"I don't belong to either group. We must neither ignore the Communists nor outlaw them. If we ignore them, we give them the cloak of immunity they want. If we outlaw them, we give them the martyrdom they want even more."

Announcement of the stunt number and the commands of "ready," "up," and "down," will be made from the loud-speaking system.
The cards will form a hawk, "Welcome to '48 football," SUI, "Iowa Fights" and another hawk. The cards will be picked up immediately after the stunts for further use.

Instructions
Instruction cards will be distributed with the flash cards telling which one of eight colors should be held up for each of the five stunts.

Russia Loses UN Veto Test
PARIS (AP) — Western-led majorities yesterday smothered Russia's repeated attempts to throw the veto fight and six other explosive issues out of the United Nations assembly.
Except for two items, the six-nation Slav bloc voted alone against majorities running from 29 to 47. The 58-nation assembly thus decided over Russian protests to put the following items on the work sheet for full debate in the coming weeks:

1. Argentina's call for consideration of the membership applications of Italy, Austria, Finland, Ireland, Portugal and Trans-Jordan. All have been vetoed by Russia.
2. The Balkan commission report accusing Greece's northern neighbors (Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria) of helping Greek guerrillas.

3. The report of the Korean commission which Russia boycotted.
4. The little assembly proposal to restrict the Veto.
5. The proposal that the little assembly be given a further trial.
6. A little assembly proposal to promote international political cooperation.

'Customer' Pays at the Bar of Justice— He Had a Bar(Gain) Rate but Muffed the Deal

There are bars and there are bars, but at the Iowa City police station the bar of justice is strictly that—as one customer discovered to his dismay.
Brought in on a charge of intoxication Thursday night, the person in question faced the bar and was ordered to pay a fine.
He managed to come up with half the amount, and so the law relented and told him to return later with the remainder.

True to his trust, the unlucky defendant showed up yesterday as ordered. The desk sergeant was busy at the time so our friend plunked his arms on the desk, apparently biding his time.
Then, as the busy police officer

continued to handle other cases, the waiting man found his voice. "When are you going to wait on me?" he mumbled in a definitely drink-fogged manner.
"Right now," the officer countered.
The bar of justice served up a jail sentence this time . . . for intoxication, second offense.

Picks Nation's Seven Top Games—

Quite a few people have asked us if we planned to continue a column this year and pick the seven top football games in the nation. Last year we had a board of experts pick the games along with ourselves.

Well, to be truthful with you, it was just too easy last fall. The experts usually chose the favorites and there was little variety in the prediction.

So this year we have consented to run several different stipulations. Once again the experts may pick the favorites and take the easy way out, but they're also going to have to pick the final score. That should be interesting.

In order to win on his prognostications, the expert must pick the right winning team and also be within 12 points of the score.

This football season we plan to have three experts — or at least they think they are — from the sports writing or radio field of journalism. Each week we will have a guest expert join in the competition.

Now for the experts themselves. Only one gridiron guesser has returned to Time Out this fall. He is Harold Yeglin of the Des Moines Register and Tribune sports staff and an Iowa City correspondent for those papers.

Therefore, we have added Don Sulhoff, Iowa City writer for the United Press, and Spank Broders, popular WSUI rhythm rambles and sports time-encee, to our cast of do-or-die pickers.

Our guest for the first big week of the football season is a fellow who we saw amble through the newsroom yesterday afternoon. His name is Bill Porter, well-known to many journalism students. Bill, an instructor in journalism, is a sport enthusiast from way back.

Incidentally, we're going to give you fans a chance to compare your talents at picking football scores with our guessers. Down at the bottom of the column you'll see the day's list of games. Just fill in your scores and compare them against the experts as the season progresses.

Now into the games of the day. Here in Iowa City Dr. Eddie Anderson puts his Hawkeyes on the line against a supposedly tough Marquette eleven. We definitely like the Hawks in this one. Final score: Iowa 19, Marquette 7.

The game of the day will be at South Bend this afternoon when Purdue's highly-rated Western conference team invades Notre Dame. It could be the toughest game of 1948 for the Irish. Hoping for a Boiler-maker victory, but not expecting it, we pick Notre Dame. Final score: Notre Dame 13, Purdue 7.

Still in the Midwest Indiana travels to Madison for a Big Nine battle with Wisconsin. The Hoosiers won't have it in this one. Final score: Wisconsin 27, Indiana 6.

Minnesota hits the west coast today in a non-conference tussle with Washington. Minnesota, but it'll be close. Final score: Minnesota 14, Washington 13.

Moving to the east where Lynn Waldorf's California club moves into Baltimore to face Navy. It's a tough day for the Middies. Final score: California 20, Navy 0.

An up-and-coming Villanova team travels to West Point to try to beat Army. We like Army. Final score: Army 13, Villanova 7.

The final game on the list is North Carolina and Texas. The Tarheels will find it tough even in their own back yard — Texas to win a good game. Final score: Texas 21, North Carolina 12.

Now for the board of experts' predictions:

Harold Yeglin

Iowa 25; Marquette 13; Notre Dame 28; Purdue 13; Wisconsin 35; Indiana 12; Minnesota 26; Washington 13; California 21; Navy 6; Villanova 14; Army 7; Texas 34; North Carolina 20.

Don Sulhoff

Iowa 21; Marquette 7; Notre Dame 21; Purdue 7; Wisconsin 27; Indiana 13; Minnesota 21; Washington 13; California 14; Navy 7; Villanova 14; Army 7; Texas 34; North Carolina 20.

Spank Broders

Iowa 27; Marquette 14; Notre Dame 20; Purdue 7; Wisconsin 14; Indiana 7; Minnesota 14; Washington 7; Navy 13; California 7; Villanova 21; Army 14; North Carolina 21; Texas 20.

Guest Bill Porter

Iowa 13; Marquette 7; Notre Dame 21; Purdue 7; Wisconsin 32; Indiana 8; Minnesota 20; Washington 13; California 21; Navy 0; Villanova 13; Army 7; Texas 27; North Carolina 20.

Your predictions:

- Iowa.....Marquette.....
- Notre Dame.....Purdue.....
- Indiana.....Wisconsin.....
- Minnesota.....Washington.....
- California.....Navy.....
- Army.....Villanova.....
- Texas.....North Carolina.....

Anderson Still Undecided On End Positions

the pivot spot. Anderson undoubtedly wants Woodard's bulk as a linebacker on defense.

In the backfield Anderson chose a starting unit early in the fall practice drills and has stuck with the same quartet for three weeks.

Offensively, Al DiMarco is in a class by himself at quarterback. The passing wizard, who ranked third in Big Nine passing last fall, is slated for all the heavy duty when Iowa has the ball.

Bob Longley is the only Iowa letterman to return at halfback, a fact which has made that position one of the big question marks in the Hawkeye set-up.

Longley adds much-needed speed in the backfield, the slowness of that department being the main factor in Iowa's dismal showing last year.

At right half Iowa fans will see a newcomer. Sophomore Jerry Faske. The short and stocky Brooklyn boy is a constant threat if he ever gets in the secondary.

Two years ago at Boys' high in Brooklyn Faske was named on the high school all-American football team and also on the all-metropolitan New York, New Jersey, Connecticut team. He is the only sophomore to break into the starting lineup and the only sophomore slated to start in the backfield for a Big Nine team today.

Faske is a left-hander and a good passer. Working from the right halfback spot, the southpaw may ease the pressure on DiMarco if he proves that he can hit his receivers.

Fullback Johnny Tedore may be called upon to play 60-minute football if the game is close. Tedore is currently showing his best running form at fullback after spending two years as a halfback.

Dr. Anderson plans to use Tedore as a defensive halfback with Faske while Longley will be in the safety position. DiMarco will see no defensive duty whatsoever.

Another fullback, Bob Reynolds of Pacific Palisades, Calif., will do the punting. A lot of responsibility rests with the trusty right foot of Reynolds.

Ron Headington seems to be the logical choice for both kicking off and extra-point placements.

One thing is evident. Iowa is the favorite and can ill afford to lose the game. On the other hand, Marquette will enter the stadium ready to shoot the works in the role of the underdog. These two facts alone point to the opener as one of the best matched curtain-raisers for Iowa in the past decade.

PIRATES ELIMINATED

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds put a crimp into the Pittsburgh Pirates' hopes for second place in the National league last night as they survived a seventh-inning rally to nip the Bucs 4 to 3 and eliminate them from the pennant races. Bob Adams was the big gun in the Red attack, driving in three runs.

Little Hawks Skin Wilson of CR, 13-7

City high's Little Hawks catapulted themselves back into the thick of the Mississippi Valley Conference race last night by smashing out a resounding victory over Wilson High of Cedar Rapids, 13-7.

The win was even more impressive than the score indicates as the Hawks smashed repeatedly through the Wilson line for huge chunks of yardage. Iowa City out-gained the Ramblers 252 yards to 60 by rushing and only resorted to its feared passing attack once.

Rox Shain was the workhorse in the Hawkeye attack, but Dutcher and Doran collected the two touchdowns with Shain converting for the thirteenth point.

Ojemann Scores, Passes Extra Point in 7-0 Win

Bob Ojemann's second period touchdown plunge from the four-yard line enabled University high to down Mt. Vernon yesterday afternoon at the Hawkeye practice field.

Ojemann passed to End Jack Holdeman for the extra point.

Halfback Kenny Moore led the Mt. Vernon ground charge.

Yanks Move Into Tie, Drubbing Boston, While Detroit Squashes Cleveland, 4-3

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees twisted the American league pennant race into an unprecedented triple tie yesterday by sinking the Boston Red Sox, 9-6, while Cleveland was bowing to Detroit.

Arrangements already have been made for a series of tie playoffs involving any two or all three of the top clubs.

Billy Johnson's three-run pinch homer off Lefty Earl Johnson in the fifth inning was the big blow of this stirring Yankee victory.

Raschi, pitching coolly, suddenly lost it in the third. A walk to Birdie Tebbetts, a single by Dom DiMaggio and a fourth ball that hit Johnny Pesky on the ankle loaded them up. Ted Williams slammed a double to right that Yogi Berra got a glove on but couldn't hold and two runs came home. Pesky romped in from third on Vern Stephens' bounce to Brown.

Two walks by Raschi and Dom DiMaggio's straight single put Boston ahead once more in the fourth. Page replaced big Vic and forced in another run by walking Williams after a hit by Pesky loaded the bags.

A walk to Tommy Henrich and Brown's double to the right field corner rocked Johnson in the fifth. After Joe DiMaggio was passed intentionally, Johnson came off the bench to smack a drive into the seats for three big runs and the ball game.

Brechen Beats Chicago For His 19th Win, 4-1

CHICAGO (AP)—With their ace lefthander, Harry Brechen, limiting the Chicago Cubs to five hits, the St. Louis Cardinals earned a 4 to 1 victory yesterday to move within six and one-half games of the league leading Boston Braves in the National League.

Brechen, in collecting his 19th victory, was the complete master over the route giving up just two hits until the eighth inning while his teammates pounded two cub pitchers for 11.

WHITE SOX 4, BROWNS 3
ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Chicago White Sox shaded the St. Louis Browns 4-3 last night behind the effective five-hit pitching of Al Gettel. The White Sox collected eight hits off Ned Garver and one off Bryan Stephens.

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, continuing in their role of spoilers, threw the wide-open American league race into a triple tie yesterday when they hung a 4-3 defeat on the Cleveland Indians in the first of a three-game series.

The Indians crept up to within one run in the eighth when Joe Gordon slammed his 30th home run with two out. Previously Larry Doby and Kellner had zoomed Hutchinson's "fat" pitch into the seats for round trippers. They marked the 29th, 30th and 31st four-baggers hit off Hutchinson this year, an American league record.

After Hutchinson retired the Indians in order in the top of the seventh, the Tigers moved ahead to stay. Hutchinson, known as one of the best hitting pitchers in the game, singled to left. Johnny Lipon laid down Detroit's third sacrifice of the game, and Berry coaxed a pass to set the stage for Wertz' payoff wallop. With the count of 2-2, the Detroit right-fielder reached for an outside pitch and cracked it on a line to left, chasing in Hutchinson and Berry.

Grigger Dies

CHICAGO (UP)—Stan Mauldin, giant tackle for the Chicago Cardinals of the National football league, died last night, less than two hours after playing in a winning game against the Philadelphia Eagles.

Mauldin died, apparently of a heart attack, which hit him 15 minutes after the game was over. He was unconscious for one hour and 50 minutes before he died.

His wife, Helen, was in the dressing room while the pulmonary crew administered oxygen and she heard the doctor's verdict. Mauldin also is survived by one child, a boy.

There was a report that Mauldin had been kicked in the head late in the third quarter. Such a blow presumably might have caused a hemorrhage in the brain.

New Look in Hash for Fall Appetites

COLORFUL AND APPETIZING is old fashioned hash when glazed with sparkling jelly and served with toast points. A meat stretcher de luxe, the dish requires a minimum of time spent in preparation as well.

Dressed-Up Hash Makes Fancy Dish, Meat Stretcher Too

As a meat stretcher to help hold down rising food costs, hash rates high this fall. With a glaze of shining jelly to add extra flavor and color, the lowly hash becomes a veritable Cinderella dish.

Home-made hash and canned hash are equally thrifty and filling. If you're making your own, either potatoes or bread crumbs can be used to help stretch the meat. Jelly for glazing is so inexpensive that it fits right in the thrift picture, too.

Appetite appeal can be added by a very simple trick. Place the hash in a baking casserole. Spread the top with currant or apple jelly which has been whipped with a fork. Then place the casserole in the oven until the hash is heated through.

Bubbly jelly gives the hash a sparkling glaze and a tempting flavor. Toast points can be placed around the edge for extra decoration.

Iowa Mountaineers Open Member Drive

The Iowa Mountaineers will open their fall membership drive with an open house at the Iowa Union tonight at 8:00 p.m.

The Mountaineers recently attracted nationwide attention when fifteen members succeeded in scaling Devil's Tower, a 1,000 foot rock volcanic rock formation, on the return trip from the Wind River mountains of Wyoming.

Beside the annual summer outing, the organization, one of the largest SUI clubs, sponsors other outdoor activities such as climbing, riding, canoeing and winter sports. Color slides of these activities will be shown tonight.

This year the club will leave Iowa City for weekend camping outings to Devil's Lake, Wis., and Mississippi Palisades, Savanna, Ill.

Winter Temperatures Strike North Dakota

GRAND FORKS, N. D. (UP)—Temperatures dropped toward winter levels yesterday in North Dakota. But any girl who could qualify as secretary and typist for the United States foreign service could get away from the approaching Dakota winter.

The position advertised here was with the U.S. Minister in Iceland.

Prof. Moehlman to Address Legion Post

Prof. Arthur H. Moehlman will speak on "Russia and the Strategic Rim" Monday evening before Iowa City American Legion Post No. 17 in their club room, program chairman Chan Coulter announced yesterday.

The professor will discuss social, military and political problems that arise along the "strategic rim" where Russia meets the rest of the world.

Moehlman has taught history and philosophy of education at the University of Iowa since 1946.

Playschool for Kids of SUI Vets Begins

"Mother Goose" replaces "Roberts Rules of Order" in the city council chambers of the city hall four mornings each week when playschool for SUI veterans' children is in session.

School for the 35 children, two to five years old, started the same day their parents started the academic year at the university.

Classes are held Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 9 to 11:30 a.m. under the supervision of Mrs. Richard G. Lenberg. According to the supervisors, there are never more than 25 children at any one session.

Each morning the children are given juice and crackers, play under supervision with toys furnished by the American Legion auxiliary and listen to stories and music over a phonograph.

Besides the supervisor there is an assistant, Mrs. William Lewis, and one of the mothers present each day. A nurse also checks the children each morning before school starts.

The city hall is being used while another location is sought for the school. In the past the playschool has been held at the Congregational church, the Lutheran church and the Methodist church.

Possible future locations are the Community building or university barracks.

The city council gave its permission for the temporary quarters at its Aug. 30 meeting. The city receives no rent for the use of the council chambers. School officials explained that the school is non-profit.

Though the children have only been in the school two days they showed yesterday that they were well oriented and could take directions. During the 11 o'clock rest period when the children are supposed to lie on mats, one little two-year-old showed that he at least got the idea. His face was flat on the floor (not the mat) and he was in "hump" position, but his feet were in their correct place—on the mat.

SUI Art Graduates' Paintings In Exhibit

Three artists who received their masters degrees from SUI, Malcolm Myers, Dorothy Popelowsky, and Byron Burford, SUI art instructor will have paintings hung in the first annual National Student Art exhibit.

The exhibition will be part of De Paul university's 50th anniversary celebration which begins Sept. 25 in Chicago. The exhibit will travel to colleges and universities all over the country.

Thirty of the pictures will be loaned to the Museum of Industrial Art in Prague, Czechoslovakia after the De Paul showing.

City Hall New Home for Nomadic Playschoolers

PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE is abandoned four mornings a week as sons and daughters of the student veterans at the university take over the city council chamber for playschool. There are 35 children enrolled in the school but all do not attend class at the same time. The 14 children shown in this picture with Mrs. William Lewis, assistant supervisor of the school, were playing one of their "hand games" yesterday after their late morning rest period. Behind the railing are the chairs occupied for more weighty subjects by the city council.

Correction

In a story in the Daily Iowan of Sept. 16, Prof. Stanley B. Smith should have been listed as a visiting professor in classics and history. Professor Smith previously was incorrectly identified due to a typographical error.

Auxiliary Members Elect New Officers

Members of the Spanish War Veterans' auxiliary elected Mrs. Hilma Feay president at a business meeting Thursday.

Other officers include Mrs. Pearl Adams, senior vice-president; Mrs. J. E. Griffith, junior vice-president; Mrs. Charles Mills, secretary; Mrs. Charles Yavorsky, treasurer, and Mrs. P. R. Sargood, chaplain.

Mrs. B. E. Oathout will serve as historian; Mrs. James Vanek, conductor; Mrs. Cassie Switzer, assistant conductor; Mrs. Margaret Bartosky, patriotic instructor, and Mrs. Harriet Day, guard.

Even Coffee Drinkers Will Like 'Tea Time'

Two new voices will spark WSUI's record show "Tea Time" as Milo Hamilton, A-4, and Francis Whistler, A-4, move into the 4:30 p.m. spot, program director John P. Highlander announced yesterday.

Fourteen hopefuls auditioned Thursday and Friday to replace Forrest "Spank" Broders and Dorothy Frank who were leaving the program.

MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to Donald W. Sheed, Rockford, Ill., and Joyce Callahan, Chicago, and Marvin Edwin Stephens, Des Moines, and Carolyn Marie Werbach, Lone Tree, in the Johnson county clerk's office.

'Dead' Street Lights May Bring Survey

Names of three chamber of commerce members who will serve jointly with the city council street lighting committee were announced yesterday by R. H. Lind, chamber president.

Those named were Roy Ewers, Joe Citek and W. J. Jackson. The appointments were made as a result of a meeting Thursday night of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce.

The appointees will work with the council committee composed of W. H. Grandrath, James Jones and Frank Fryauf, Jr.

At the meeting of the chamber's board of directors, it was brought out that 30 of 72 street lamps in the downtown area were "dead." Board members agreed in general that a complete survey of the present lighting system should be made by electrical experts.

Six Persons Fined in Local Police Court

Judge Emil G. Trott collected fines totaling $46.50 from six persons in police court yesterday.

Carl H. Bell, 523 Maiden Lane, paid $12.50 for not having a chauffeur's license; Richard E. Tuffer, 1710 E. Jefferson street, was fined $17.50 for speeding and Keith A. Morse, 19 E. Bloomington street and Robert E. Chesmore, A3, Quasqueton, both paid $2 fines for parking on the sidewalk.

Two other persons paid $12.50 each on charges of intoxication.

Iowa City Woman Files $5,185 Damage Suit in County Court

An Iowa City woman filed a $5,185 damage suit yesterday in Johnson county district court.

Bertha E. Williams, 25 Olive court, filed the action against J. L. Johnson, 520 S. Johnson, for injuries she said she received in an automobile accident on N. Dubuque street Sept. 2. She requested a jury trial for the case.

The plaintiff said she was riding in a car driven by her husband and going north, when the car driven by Johnson, coming from the opposite direction, crossed to the east side of the street and struck the plaintiff's car.

Mrs. Williams claimed she sustained multiple lacerations about the head and neck requiring thirty stitches, cuts on her hands, and a cut on the right knee partially severing a tendon.

The plaintiff asked a judgment of $185 for doctor and hospital bills; $3,500 for pain and suffering, and $1,500 for further pain and permanent injuries of facial scars and stiffness in the right knee.

Sometime We'll Sing a Song

Maybe not today unless a big group of students stand up and start to sing.

Maybe not even at Homecoming when spirit is highest and activities strongest.

But maybe some day as a football game nears its close, the stands will not begin to empty during the last few minutes. Then the student section will wait to the last and at the final gun rise to sing.

Maybe "Old Gold" is a little draggy and they'll sing something else—"On Iowa" might be better.

Nobody's fooling you; there are two good reasons for suggesting a chorus of hoarse-throated students for a game's end.

Emotionally, that would be a punctuation for an afternoon of yelling and excitement—a tribute to the school, to visitors, and to the teams.

More objectively that might help defeat the pre-gun mauling which the interested spectators get from the others who think they can gain a minute or so of time by crawling over twenty people in the scramble for early departure.

But you're not fooling anybody when you think you haven't enough time to see a game end—and maybe sing a song if you need a good reason for staying.

The Cold War DP's Need Help

The Nazi conquest of Europe left a brutal, characteristic scar—millions of uprooted, hunted political refugees.

In true democratic spirit, the United States has rallied to the aid of these people by opening its sealed immigration doors to them.

There is a new scar across Europe's face today. It's an ugly scar. It is growing out of what may be another attempt to conquer Europe . . . Russia's attempt.

Apparently no one has made an official count of the officers fleeing from Czechoslovakia or of how many Germans in the Soviet zone have slipped across the western border or of how many passengers in how many planes forced their pilots to fly them to a western airfield and freedom.

But the scar is forming. Prominent on the face of a strained peace, it eventually may draw most of our attention.

Being a big scar, it spreads out considerably. It even reaches the United States. Let's cite two recent examples.

Last Thursday the military attaché of the Polish Washington embassy was ordered home. But Lt. Gen. Izidor Modelski refused to budge. He appealed to the United States government to grant asylum for himself and his family.

Modelski accused the Communist regime of liquidating independent political parties and intensifying its attacks upon the church. He joins a long string of voluntary exiles who have refused to go back to a country controlled "by Soviet generals and officers."

Another recent exile was Bohus Benes, nephew of the late President Benes of Czechoslovakia. When his uncle died, Benes resigned as consul in San Francisco. "I resigned because I am not a Communist," he told the press.

He requested asylum for himself, his wife and three children.

And of course there is the Samarin family and Mrs. Kasenkina. They were given official sanctuary here by the U.S. government.

We are driving at one point. This is a cold war with all the trappings of a real war. There is rearmament and a stand-firm policy and economic mobilization. There is also a new problem of political refugees running away from the aggressors.

This country needs a new DP law to take care of them. Mark that down in your notebook, 81st congress.

What's Being Said

"I don't think it was more than 15 times"—Tenant Howard Nichols after his landlord complained in court that police were called 20 times to stop commotion in Nichols' flat. Fifteen and 20 were all the same to the judge; he ordered Nichols evicted.

Harry Truman was wooing borderline Progressives: "A vote for the third party plays into the hands of the Republican forces of reaction . . . A vote for the third party will not promote the cause of American liberalism . . . This is the hour for the liberal forces of America to unite."

Henry Wallace was wooing labor with an attack on labor leaders and post-scripted with: "If I have said anything bitter, I'll take back any of it, because I do so want to see all labor united."

Earl Warren was wooing unhappy Democrats with this somber prophecy: "The administration is tired—tired of itself. It is discordant. It is breaking up."

Then there was Robert Taft who was busy unifying the Republicans to keep them united: "We Republicans are unified because all of us realize that we must sacrifice our views on one subject or another in order that all may be united on this fundamental principle of securing and preserving liberty."

Meanwhile States Rights Democrat candidate Strom Thurmond was wooing the south by blasting all the other parties; the Democrats (he shouted) are "red", the Republicans "power-starved", and the Progressives "dictator-loving."

Also stumping, Sen. Glen Taylor called the Marshall plan a "phony." Added: "Secret reports reveal that Europe is producing more than it needs. The Marshall plan is a capitalistic plot to bring Europe under the U.S. imperialistic influence." Just what secret information can change the picture of a war-ravaged and low-rationed Europe in hand to accept.

"There is a serious danger of Republicans being overconfident in this campaign . . . If enough voters stay home this could be a doggone close election."—Sen. Ives of New York in a warning to Republicans (and Democrats in a left-handed way) that they should exercise their rights instead of being complacent.

"I feel sincerely that all wars are unjust and immoral and that any step leading to war is consequently unjust and immoral. I feel that the present selective service act is definitely a step leading to war. I feel also that it is a step leading to complete totalitarianism and is therefore to be opposed by all who believe in human freedom as I do. That's it in a nutshell!"—Steward Zane Perkoff appearing before a federal judge on a charge of violating the new draft law and by refusing to register. In the same nutshell, Perkoff opened himself to prosecution for speaking against the draft processes.

If you have headaches this may be another reason: seven Denver psychiatrists believe "A failure of attainment of expectation for being perfect brings on anxiety and head pain."

'Western Union' Designing Defense Setup

Lineup in the Western Union Defense System
Putting the Force Angle into the Third Force

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT A Hankering For Normalcy

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

I am convinced, now, that in turning back to the Republicans, the American people are indulging themselves in an essentially fretful gesture.

Scared by this boilingly formless world, appalled by the political changes which have been taking place in Europe since the war, they turn back to the GOP, as to something familiar, something they know, something that stands at the furthest remove from what is going on outside our borders. There is both irritation and defiance in their choice; they vote for Dewey in that same vexed manner in which so many now boast that they no longer follow the foreign news. There is also nostalgia, and a hankering for normalcy, in the choice, as in the choice of Harding in 1920.

Turning to the Republicans is one way of turning one's back on this whole confused world, and on the angry questions of how much liberal reform and how much change we need in order to get by. And this mood represents, as of this moment, a defeat for liberalism.

And yet one wonders how successful this attempt at disengagement and flight is going to be. I think we may find, as a nation, that our effort to walk out of some of our problems by turning Republican may lead to a situation in which we are going to have to face them more squarely than ever before.

For, up to now, if Roosevelt or Truman made a mistake, it was just Roosevelt or Truman making a mistake. But Dewey is more than just Dewey; Dewey is the favored candidate of those who consider themselves the spokesmen of American free enterprise. In him economic traditionalism, dressed in its best bib and tucker, prepares to show what, given a free hand, it can do. It will be in charge of its own destinies, under the president it wants.

And thus the contest between the American productive system and the Russian productive system for world moral leadership is going to become sharper, more direct than ever. For in that contest Dewey will be judged, by Americans and by the world, not as Dewey, but as the chosen exponent of American conservative thought.

The degree of human happiness and economic progress his administration can achieve will be taken as a measure of what American economic conservatism can do. But what if painful inflation continues, and a lack of housing?

Suddenly we can see that, far from being allowed, by their victory, to walk out on the major questions presented by liberalism, the Republicans are going to have to face those questions in the most direct way; face them as they have not faced them, really, for sixteen years.

I guess that's what nostalgia will do for you every time; it will lead you in a circle right back to what you're fleeing from.

To say, then, that the liberal movement will be killed off by the next election is absurd; actually the liberal movement may find that it has acquired a new leverage against conservatism, a new power to make it face facts.

But more important than that is a certain obscure promise I feel to be concealed even in the present mess—and that is that ultimately we are going to find our security, if we do find it, our feeling of confidence, even as against Russia, only in a renewal of the courage it takes to be liberal.

What this election may show, most clearly of all, is that a flight from liberalism doesn't solve anything, or save you from anything, or excuse you from answering hard questions, and the morning after Dewey's victory may be the day on which we begin a perhaps complicated return journey to the idea that human problems must be solved, and not ignored; they don't read the election returns.

TWO ARRESTED
VIENNA (UP) — Austrian government informants reported last night that two leading Russian officials in Austria had been arrested by Russian police "for becoming too friendly with Austrian officials."

By Daily Iowan Research Staff
The accompanying map may be sub-labeled "The Diagram of a Kremlin Headache." It represents the efforts of five nations of western Europe—the western union—to remain free in a time when military might is a symbol of both freedom and serfdom.

The nations of the western union banded together recently under the Brussels pact to stave off aggression—supposedly German aggression—but admittedly Russian aggression.

At the time of its formation, there was much talk of a United States of Europe and of a third force to come between Russia and the United States. In reality, the western union falls far short of either.

Political or economic unity has not been given much of a chance. But the union's primary task—military cooperation—has been going ahead steadily, secretly.

The general idea is to merge and integrate five military systems under one command and to integrate this in turn with military support from the United States and Canada.

Most of the details have been kept secret but it is understood that the United States would reopen military lend-lease to Europe.

For the first time, a few details of the European part of the military scheme have been revealed earlier this week.

The plan would set up a 250,000-man army of troops from each of the five nations plus large organized reserves to draw from. Each nation would contribute arms, as indicated on the map. Training would be undertaken in the Ardennes forest of eastern Belgium. French Gen. Alphonse Juin would be the commander.

The total plan is embodied in a military treaty. Already Great Britain has approved it while the other nations are considering it.

In a few months, the force angle of the proposed third force may be a reality. It would mean that both the United States and western union would be armed camps—but camps dedicated to an armed peace.

Unfortunately, reducing the peace from an armed one to an unarmed one is a matter not entirely in the hands of the western powers.

GEN. ALPHONSE JUIN
250,000-Man Army

With a military treaty signed and sealed, the western union may turn to political and economic thoughts of love. The union's actions at a recent meeting at the Hague were discouraging.

At that meeting, former French Foreign Minister Bidault tabled two resolutions designed to enlarge the scope of the union. One asked for a European—not merely western European—assembly composed of delegates from national parliaments from all over the continent. The other proposed an economic union among the five member nations.

The western union decided to tread slowly at the Hague meeting. At the same meeting it voted a resolution pledging the west to stay in blockaded Berlin . . . but decided that force should not be used in doing so.

That was mid-July. Now in mid-September the western union shows definite signs of quietly slipping into its crucial international role. The world may see a third force yet.

McBride's Haul

By BILL MCBRIDE

Found a good cause to crusade for yesterday morning. Tony Mazzara, a liberal art junior from Marion, Ill., dropped in and brought his foot with him.

If it had been possible, it would have been easier for Tony to navigate without his right foot. (I think it was his right foot.)

Just before coming to SUI this fall, Tony was making like a sprint man back in Marion when he fell, badly tearing the ligaments in his ankle.

He spent five days in the hospital at home, and then came to IC equipped with a seven-pound cast on his leg. As I recall, the army used to call this particular type of cast a traction splint. Whatever it is called, Tony is capable of hobbling around on it.

Tony is a single veteran, 22 years old and doesn't look like the sort of student who would eat babies or write dirty words on the bathroom walls. His problem is this:

At present he lives way out on Iowa avenue . . . too far to drag that seven-pound cast. He doesn't want to register until he is certain he has a place to stay close to the campus. (He'll wear the cast for at least another two months.)

He isn't fussy. His only qualifications are that the rent doesn't get much over $20 and that the room is not in a basement. He is willing to settle for anything within six blocks of the campus, and promises to try to keep his cast from thumping on the floor as much as possible.

There are many desirable students looking for rooms this year, but Tony has presented the most worthy case thus far. I promise not to harangue about the shortage of housing if some one will give him a break.

If you know of a room, or have one to rent east of the river, call Tony at 8-1743, or me at The Daily Iowan newsroom.

A recent magazine article entitled "Your Mixer Is More Than a Beater" struck me, as an electric mixer owner, right where it hurts. Yes, our mixer is more than a beater . . . a whole lot more, in fact. It's an infernal machine, that's what it is!

The article paints a beautiful picture of an electric mixer being converted to a can opener, juicer, meat grinder, vegetable shredder and a myriad of other time-saving gimmicks.

Maybe we don't own the correct make. It's an old mixer, but it beats cakes and fudge fine. That's where its accomplishments stop, however.

Talk about attachments . . . our mixer has so many attachments we carry them around in a second-hand, bass fiddle case . . . or is it a second base, fiddle hand case, or a second-fiddle, bass . . . that's enough.

About a month ago I decided to try the meat grinder attachment. I went to our butcher and asked for a cheap cut of meat, explaining proudly that I was going to grind it myself.

He gave me what he called a "seven-bone roast." That is a roast with 23 bones.

I soon discovered that our meat grinder had more than one "head" (a technical term used by all us old meat grinders, newspaperpeople and doctors) than Van Camp has beans. Confident of my abilities, I chose the "head" with the largest holes.

It ground the meat all right, but it came out in strings about the size of your thumb. I ground with several other "heads", but never completely eliminated that string effect.

"You've heard of shoe-string potatoes . . . well, so far as I know, I'm the only man who knows the secret of making shoe-string hamburgers.

New Fee, Lending Card Plan Announced by Public Library

New regulations and a new system of charging fees for public library cards issued to university students and other non-residents have been announced by City Librarian Joyce Nienstedt.

The new rules adopted by the board of trustees of the library at their regular meeting earlier this week were effective yesterday.

Previously, an unlimited card, good for as many books as a student cared to withdraw at one time, could be had free of charge if the student was a year-round resident of Iowa City. Temporary residents paid a fee of 50 cents per semester. Non-residents who were not students could get a library card for one dollar per year. All veterans attending the university were exempt from charges.

Under the new rules, non-resident students (veterans included) will be charged one dollar for the school year, Miss Nienstedt said. Only four books may be borrowed at one time. The card will be confiscated if used by anyone other than the person to whom issued, or members of his immediate family.

Cards will no longer be issued for a single semester, Miss Nienstedt added. Students who are now holding cards good until January will be issued a new card for the year upon payment of 50 cents.

Students who can prove residence by being registered voters or by presenting a real estate property tax receipt, will have use of the library without charge. This will also be the basis for charges made to non-student borrowers living outside the city limits. However, those who live outside the city limits but pay real estate taxes within the city, may obtain cards by presentation of the tax receipt.

Non-residents who are not students will be charged two dollars per year. Their books will also be limited to four at a time. However, a special card which allows an unlimited number of books for all members of a family residing at the same address, may be secured for three dollars per year. Miss Nienstedt pointed out that the new rules were adopted after a study of current practices elsewhere and on the basis of increased library costs.

Luncheon to Honor Top Law Students

The Iowa Law Review has invited 22 high-ranking law students to a luncheon at the Iowa Union Tuesday, Prof. Frank R. Kennedy, faculty advisor of the Iowa Law Review, announced yesterday.

The students are selected on the basis of high grades and are invited to work on the law publication, the Iowa Law Review, according to Kennedy.

The students were Robert Reimer, Mary Ann Willett, Lynn E. Rhoads, William R. Ruther, Freeman B. Swift, William Frazier, Charles Kintzinger, Robert Conley and James F. Smith.

James L. Williamson, Victor K. Young, Roger H. Ivie, James M. Prichard, Ralph W. Graves, George F. Hoffman, Jerrold K. Hallam, Paul Beckman, Benjamin Brown, Marvin Hayward, William McKinley, William D. Irwin, Jack D. Osborne and Arthur Staton.

'Bushhammering' Made Easy

Workmen Prefer New Method; Others Agree Stone Pounding Is Still Too Noisy

The men who are doing the job of "bushhammering" the post-office steps put a new piece of equipment into use yesterday—a pneumatic bushhammer, and many postal employes and others who work in the building said that the new pneumatic method was actually less noisy than the previous method of bushhammering.

Bushhammering is the process of roughing up the step surfaces so people won't slip on them, the workmen said. The device the workmen started using yesterday is like a pneumatic concrete breaker except that it chips only the surface of the steps.

Before they got the pneumatic hammer, the workmen, Grant Stober, 1110 N. Dodge street, and Don Vrana, 630 N. Dodge street, did the job with massive strokes of a hand bushhammer, about the size of a sledgehammer.

Not as Noisy

Four postal employes, asked if the pneumatic bushhammer was as noisy and irritating as the hand bushhammering, unanimously agreed that the new method was not as noisy. "It's a relief," said one.

However a secretary in an upstairs office said she preferred the hand method of bushhammering. "This is continuous," she complained. "When they were swinging the hammer, they'd rest more often." Her boss reminded her that the men would get through quicker using the pneumatic bushhammer.

Better than Hammer

A white-haired gentleman who wouldn't commit himself on which method of bushhammering made more noise thought the steps should have been bushhammered before they were put in place. "That's a poor way to do business," he said, pointing toward the sound of the bushhammering.

The workmen themselves? They liked the new bushhammer. They shouted above the noise that the pneumatic method was faster than swinging the hammer—and also a good deal easier.

Progressive Party Candidates to Speak

The Progressive party candidates for governor of Iowa and the first state congressional district will speak at a farm meeting of Johnson county Progressives today at 4:30 p.m. in the Community building, Mrs. Lawrence Kaplan, executive secretary, Johnson county, announced yesterday.

Candidate for governor C. E. Beiderman and Charles Dengler, congressional aspirant, are both active farmers.

Beiderman, from Mitchell county, is a former AAA and REA official. He has been active for years in the Farmer's Educational and Cooperative unions.

A Scott county farmer, Dengler is a long-time official of the Farmer's union.

Sixty Attend Radio Meeting at WSUI

About 60 persons attended a meeting in studio E at Station WSUI last night to find out what they can do in radio.

The WSUI staff levels off at about 150 full strength, but at present the staff is about 40, according to program director John P. Highlander. The meeting last night was to help fill the empty positions.

Highlander said that there are opportunities in writing, music, news, announcing, women's shows and many other features.

Last night station operation was discussed and plans were announced for a similar meeting next week.

West Awaits Any Russ Military Moves

BY J. M. ROBERTS JR. AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

BERLIN — The American military position in Europe depends heavily on the ability of the U. S. airforce to penetrate Russia.

The size of our army here, its development, and our military relations with our allies are obviously predicated on a belief in that ability.

That, coupled with what western Europe can do for itself, will be the deciding factor if the day ever arrives when negotiation alone will not hold the line against Communist expansion.

America's military men in here are not predicting war with Russia. But it is their job to meet it if it comes.

There is, in a military way, no sign of it now. Russia's military disposition, so far as can be determined here, are in definite contrast to her belligerence at the council table. If she ever decides that conquest must be added to infiltration, it will take her months to prepare the first blow.

Those are the months in which the United States will be required to throw in the weight which she is now building up at home.

An estimated $75 damage was done to Zeman's car and $5 damage to Chesmore's automobile.

The accident occurred at 7:45 a.m. Thursday on Market street.

No one was injured in either accident.

Council to Receive $4,500 from Dads

The Community Dads club will hand over $4,500 to the Iowa City council at the council meeting Monday night to continue construction on the swimming pool, William Grandrath, publicity chairman for the club's pool fund drive, said yesterday.

This money, which will be drawn equally from the two Iowa City banks, is a portion of the Community Dads swimming pool fund.

Grandrath said that no donations have been received since the Community Dads opened their new 30 day drive, Sept. 21.

Thus far a total of $11,161.70 has been donated to the pool fund and approximately $1,300 is still needed to meet the $12,500 goal of the drive.
