Boners in Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Two attorneys who represented a client accused of libeling the office of the President of Argentina began four-day jail sentences yesterday. They were sentenced for using improper terms in appealing the case.

Soviets Talk To Argentine About Berlin

PARIS (AP)—Argentine Foreign Minister Juan Bramuglia talked privately with Andrei Y. Vishinsky yesterday in a desperate bid for a face-saving compromise between east and west on Berlin. An Argentine source said "negotiations are going along perfectly."

After his secret conversation with the Russian deputy foreign minister, Bramuglia scheduled a night meeting with another Soviet leader—Dmitri Z. Manuilsky, foreign minister of the Soviet Ukraine.

However, this meeting was postponed because of the illness of Manuilsky, Argentine sources said. They indicated it would be held later, possibly today.

Marshall Comment
Bramuglia pushed his peace efforts as Secretary of State George C. Marshall was quoted by the American embassy as saying "if there ever was, in time of peace, a threat to peace," it is the Berlin blockade.

The embassy said Marshall told a group of labor leaders of western Europe that there had been a long series of provocative acts since last March in Berlin and that "almost any one of these acts—30 years ago—could have been the basis for a serious breach."

No Newsmen
Newsmen were not permitted at the meeting, and the embassy later made available excerpts of the secretary's remarks.

There was no word on the scope of the talks undertaken by Bramuglia in his role as president of the United Nations security council. He started them on behalf of the six neutral members of the council—Argentina, Colombia, Belgium, Canada, China and Syria. He also has met with American, British and French delegates.

Vishinsky Cooperation
Diplomats noted that Vishinsky relaxed his silence on the Berlin case long enough to go over it with Bramuglia. Tuesday Vishinsky told the council he would not take part in its deliberations on Berlin and he sat mute through two Wednesday sessions on the explosive issue. The Ukraine adopted the same tactics.

Vishinsky and Bramuglia talked at some length yesterday morning before the assembly convened. The council itself may take up the Berlin issue again Monday.

Meal Steady In Iowa City

Beef and pork prices have remained generally steady in Iowa City meat markets the last two days, holding to declines noted earlier this week.

Beef and pork items were selling from four to six cents a pound lower than a week ago, several local butchers reported yesterday.

Pork chops were off as much as nine and ten cents in two stores surveyed.

One grocer said he expected pork prices to start climbing again since he had paid one and one-half cents a pound more for carcass pork yesterday.

Others thought meat prices were likely to go down further next week.

Several butchers blamed meat packers for the slow response of retail prices after changes in the wholesale livestock markets.

The butchers noted that packers usually are slow to lower their prices when the livestock markets drop, but raise them rather quickly when livestock prices go up.

Jack Kranis, president of the National Meat Industry council, yesterday said the current price cuts are merely "a flash in the pan."

Kranis said he expects prices to rise again in about 10 days. He said some livestock feeders had been "panicked" into rushing their animals to market.

Satira in Chicago, 'Glad to Be Back'

CHICAGO (UP)—Patricia (Satira) Schmidt, exotic night club dancer, arrived last night in Chicago, the city where she met the married man who became her lover and whom she killed during an argument on his yacht in Havana harbor in April, 1947.

"I think it's gloriously wonderful to be back in Chicago," she said as she stepped off a plane. "I'm glad because I'm in Chicago."

Extend Campus Chest Drive; Weather Hampers Collectors

The Campus Chest committee last night extended the Campus Chest drive until 5 p.m. Wednesday after collections of $1,283.96 yesterday brought total donations in the drive thus far to $3,277.37.

Solicitation Chairman George McBurney blamed bad weather for the failure of the drive to reach its $10,000 goal. The percentage of contribution was high in places solicited, but the big problem was contacting people, he said.

The drive, which began Monday, was to end at noon today. McBurney said outdoor soliciting especially has been hampered by the bad weather this week.

A call was made last night by McBurney for volunteers to help solicit in housing units and on campus during the final five days of the drive. He asked that those interested report to the Campus Chest office in the YMCA rooms in Iowa Union.

Collections of $337.45 in the married housing units and $197.82 in Hillcrest made up almost half of the money turned in at the Campus Chest office yesterday, the best day of collections so far. McBurney praised the "fine work" of the university chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity in soliciting in married students housing areas.

Individual totals announced yesterday by the Campus Chest office were Currier hall, $426.24; South Quad, $106.01; Quadrangle, $555.44; Hillcrest, $383.50; Madison court, $53; married students housing units, $346.20; Law Commons, $41.98; Dean house, $8; Fairchild house, $14; booths and solicitors on campus, $256.65; dental college, $10; fraternities, $529.25; sororities, $435.25, and individual contributions, $111.85.

Reaching the 100 percent contribution mark yesterday were two fraternities and four sororities. They were Beta Theta Pi and Pi Kappa Alpha fraternities, and Alpha Delta Pi, Sigma Delta Tau, Kappa Alpha Theta and Zeta Tau Alpha sororities.

Live Bombs Used In Russ Practice

BERLIN (UP)—Two RAF pilots reported yesterday they had seen Soviet planes drop live bombs and engage in air gunnery practice near the crowded Hamburg-Berlin air corridor over which vital supplies are ferried into this blockaded city.

One British pilot told the Berlin air safety center he had observed three Russian Yak fighters firing at sleeve targets. A second pilot said he had seen a Soviet bomber unloading live bombs at a dummy target 25 miles northwest of Berlin.

Soviet authorities, ignoring Thursday's American and British protests, again had announced that their air maneuvers would continue.

Pres. Truman Says Republican Plan Is 'Same Fatal Course'

BUFFALO (AP)—President Truman said last night the GOP is following the "same fatal course" that led to disaster in 1929 and to "privileges for the few and neglect of the many."

Mr. Truman climaxed a campaign through Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's own back yard with a speech here last night.

"The leopard has not changed his spots," he said. "He has merely hired some public relations experts. And they have taught him to wear sheep's clothing, and to purr sweet nothings about unity in a soothing voice."

"But it's the same old leopard." The Republicans, Mr. Truman said, have one main asset in the campaign — tremendous financial support. He said their main liability is — the issues.

"They have concluded," he said, "that their record is so bad on the important issues of the day, that they can't even discuss them."

The president added that he is rushing back to Washington to talk with Secretary of State Marshall today about "constructive and peaceful solutions of our problems abroad."

The policy was disclosed in a letter from AEC Chairman David E. Lilienthal to Albert Fitzgerald, UE president.

Dewey Pledges Aid To Slum Clearance

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said yesterday this nation "will not be satisfied until the curse of slums and tenements is lifted from every American family."

The GOP presidential nominee pledged if he is elected that federal aid will be made available for slum clearance projects on a "realistic, practical basis."

A few minutes later he joined in breaking ground for the new Alfred E. Smith housing project. It is a New York City project financed with state aid to provide homes for 7,000 persons in the area where Smith grew to manhood.

Asserting the country faces "a gigantic housing deficit," Dewey said the federal government must pitch in and help local communities in some instances "to get action."

He said American builders were putting up 1-million new homes this year, adding: "That is good. But it is not nearly good enough."

'Rose' Indicted on 8 Treason Counts

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—American-born Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino, better known to American GI's as "Tokyo Rose," was indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury for treason.

The 32-year-old Nisei whose home was in Los Angeles was accused on eight counts of broadcasting from Japan to US troops in the Pacific in an effort to break down their morale.

GOP to Rally Here With Talks, Movies, Torchlight Parades

The GOP will bring its campaign into Iowa City Tuesday night, Oct. 12, when the Iowa unit of a five-state caravan arrives around 6 o'clock.

Two torchlight parades have been planned, Robert Osmundson, in charge of the Iowa City rally, said yesterday.

One parade will start at College green on Dodge street. It will proceed on Dodge street to Iowa avenue and west on Iowa avenue to the rallying ground between Dubuque and Clinton streets.

The other parade will start on Church street between Dubuque and Clinton streets. It will move down to meet the first section at the rallying ground.

Recorded marches will be broadcast over a public address system for the parade, Osmundson, GOP candidate for county attorney, said.

State and local candidates will be on hand to give campaign speeches, Osmundson said. He added that there will be two ten-minute speeches and two or three five-minute speeches.

Tom Martin, campaigning for reelection to the house of representatives is expected to be one of the speakers.

The caravan will start its trip in Des Moines Monday night. It will stop at Marshalltown, Tama, and Cedar Rapids before arriving in Iowa City, Osmundson said.

The caravan has been planned as a special bid to get GOP seats in congress.

It will be sponsored in Iowa City by the Johnson county Republican central committee in connection with the Young Republican league of SUI.

Four other states are to receive similar visits. They are Minnesota, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Colorado.

The caravan will be equipped with two public address systems, floodlights, a portable stage, and billboards.

A 10-minute movie titled the "Dewey Show" will be shown after the speeches to close the rally, Osmundson said.

Atom Workers Must Disprove Communism

WASHINGTON (AP)—The atomic energy commission offered the CIO united electrical workers the choice yesterday of disproving charges of Communist ties, or being ousted completely from atomic energy plants.

The policy was disclosed in a letter from AEC Chairman David E. Lilienthal to Albert Fitzgerald, UE president.

Waiting for Candy from the Sky

THESE BERLIN CHILDREN wait near a runway at the edge of Tempelhof airport in hopes of receiving candy bars from U. S. airlift flyers. This is the spot where one pilot — Lt. Gale S. Here the children, who have come from miles around, eye a C-54 transport, hoping that the man behind the controls is Lt. Halvorsen.

Ohioans Get 14-Point Edge In Try for Third Home Win

COLUMBUS, OHIO—Invading Iowa, on the Big Nine's rocky road for the second consecutive weekend, tangles with undefeated Ohio State here in Ohio stadium this afternoon.

A capacity crowd upwards of 75,000 is expected to watch the Buckeyes launch their conference season after two very successful home non-league engagements.

Coach Wesley E. Fesler, three-time Ohio State all-American in 1928-29-30, has molded an excellent team despite heavy losses to the professional ranks.

Three of the Buckeyes' best backs from last year, Ollie Cline, Dean Sensenbaur and Bob Brugge, all left college with eligibility remaining, joining the Cleveland Browns.

The past two Saturdays Ohio State has taken on Missouri and Southern California, two of the better teams in the Big Seven and the Pacific Coast conference respectively. Both games resulted in decisive Ohio triumphs.

On the other hand, the Hawkeyes opened their season rather wistfully. Following a narrow squeeze over Marquette, 14-12, the Old Gold eleven improved considerably last Saturday but lost to Indiana, 7-0.

If such improvement continues to build up as the season progresses, the Buckeyes may find their 14-point favored edge today rather an over-rated margin.

Two Iowa question marks remain to be answered this afternoon. They are:

1. Can the Hawkeyes, led by their passing quarterback, Al DiMarco, stimulate drive to scoring territory once an offensive march has begun?

2. Will the Hawkeye backfield and line-backers be able to lose the sieve-like qualities which arise when the opponents open up with a passing attack?

Iowa is still lacking a go-out-and-get-'em runner. Sophomore Halfback Jerry Feske has shown the most promise in broken-field running, but even Feske has not been able to circle the ends and elude the secondary.

Therefore, by necessity, Iowa must pin its offensive hopes on the right arm of DiMarco.

In two games DiMarco is running approximately 15 percent under his passing average of last year. His completion average was 48 percent in 1947 as compared to 33 percent against Marquette and Indiana.

Lacks Speed
Although you can't exactly class Left Halfback Bob Longley as a disappointment, he has not shown the speedy running expected of him.

In facing the powerful single-wing attack for the second straight

Rep. Sam Rayburn Plans Speech Here In Only Iowa Stop

Sam Rayburn, representative from Texas and Democratic minority leader of the 80th congress, will speak in Iowa City Oct. 19, Edward Lucas, Johnson county Democratic central committee chairman, announced yesterday.

Rayburn's appearance here will be his only speaking engagement in Iowa. Carroll Switzer, Democratic candidate for governor of Iowa, and other state Democratic leaders are expected to be here to meet Rayburn.

Tentative plans call for Rayburn to speak in the Community building at 8:00 p.m. and at a dinner held in his honor at Hotel Jefferson later in the evening.

Rayburn's speaking appearance at the Community building will be open to the public. It is expected the dinner will cost $2.00 per plate.

Topic of Rayburn's talk has not been confirmed but it is believed that he will review the record of the 80th Congress.

The affair will be sponsored by the SUI Young Democrats, the Johnson county Young Democrats and the Johnson county Democratic central committee.

Rayburn will come here directly from Springfield, Mo., and will leave the following day for a campaign talk at Quincy, Ill. A room at the Jefferson hotel has been reserved for the Texas congressman.

Rayburn, who is 66, has been a member of Congress for 34 years. He was elected speaker of the house in 1940 and held that position for the next three congresses until 1947 when he became house minority leader.

Gyped Blind Man Aids His Offender

JOLIET, ILL. (UP)—Blind candy vendor Joseph Quas, 45, is not a man to hold a grudge.

When Police Magistrate Thomas K. Sprague fined Charles Playton, 18, $100 and costs for giving Quas a dollar bill and asking for change for a five, the blind man shuffled forward.

"Please judge, I don't want you to punish this man so severely. I know he is sorry he did it. Can't we let it go at that?"

Sprague accepted Quas' plea. He ordered Playton to give the blind man the money he had taken from him, then remitted the fine.

Turnbull Travels

Daily Iowan Sports Editor Buck Turnbull was in Cleveland yesterday afternoon attending the World series. Read on the Sports page his story of how the Indians won, 2-0.

Today Iowan Sports Writer John Holway will report the series for Iowan readers while Turnbull watches The Hawkeyes play Ohio State at Columbus. Read both stories in tomorrow's Daily Iowan.

Good Reserves

Besides the running of Clark and Demmel, Fesler has two reserve half backs of better than average caliber, Alex Verdova and Jerry Krall.

So Iowa enters the game as a decided underdog. Not only will the Hawks be playing against the odds-makers, they'll also be fighting an Ohio State jinx which has dogged Iowa teams for 20 years.

The last year a Hawkeye eleven has been able to down Ohio State was in 1928, 14-7. The schools have met five times since then, the Bucks winning four—the last three by overwhelming scores of 40-7, 1934, 34-0, 1944, and 42-0, 1945—with the game last year ending in a tie.

The all-time Iowa-Ohio State series, which dates back to 1922, shows the Bucks being the victors in six game, the Hawk in four with two being tied.

Scatters Five Boston Hits As Indians Bunch 5 To Score

By BUCK TURNBULL
Sports Editor

CLEVELAND—Gene Bearden, Cleveland Indian southpaw, pitched and batted his teammates to their second World Series victory in three games here yesterday, blanking the Boston Braves, 2-0.

With the sun peeping through a cloudy sky, Municipal stadium on Lake Erie was a picturesque scene as the series switched to the American leaguers' home town.

An expected attendance of 85,000 was throttled by morning rains. A crowd of 70,306 paid to see the game.

Bearden, perfectionist pitcher and World War II purple heart winner, didn't allow a base on balls. He limited the Braves to five scattered hits. And it was the Cleveland rookie who belted the first hit off Boston's starting pitcher, Vern Bickford. It was a scoring double to deep right field in the third inning.

As it developed, Lefty Bearden's clout turned into the winning run and so demoralized Bickford that he was knocked from the box in the fourth inning by three straight Tribe singles.

Bearden's triumph gives the Indians a decided advantage in the series since they lead two games to one and are in their own backyard, the place they want to be, today and tomorrow.

Despite the exhortations of their delirious followers, the Indians themselves did little serious clubbing against the three Boston flingers they faced yesterday. Their total hit output was only five, but they were fortunate in bunting four of them in their so desperate for any kind of a hit that they were bunting to lead off an inning. That worked no better than anything else.

Bearden permitted only four balls to be swatted to his outfielders. He handled six chances himself as the Boston batters topped his down-breaking curves into the turf.

Lacks Control
Lack of control led to Bickford's downfall, just as it did to that of his teammate, Warren Spahn, in Thursday's game at Boston. The rookie issued five passes while he was in there, and one of them led to Cleveland's second run in the fourth inning.

For two frames the Indians futilely swung at the youngster's slants, and it wasn't until Bearden rocketed one off the right field wall with one out in the third that the crowd had anything to cheer about.

Bickford walked Dale Mitchell on five pitches to bring up Doby, Cleveland's fleet centerfielder, and then it happened.

Doby slapped a hard grounder down to Eddie Stanky at second, and the latter wheeled and snapped to Alvin Dark, Braves' shortstop, for a forceout. Dark in his anxiety to complete a double play, pegged high over Frank McCormick's head at first, and Bearden easily dug out around to score.

He opened the fourth by serving his fifth walk to Ken Keltner. Walt Judnich, Cleveland right fielder, struck out, but big Ed Robinson followed with a single to left and Catcher Jim Hegan propel Keltner across. When Bearden followed with a short shot into left to fill the sacks, Bickford was replaced.

Favored Army Facing Old Jinx at Illinois

NEW YORK (UP)—Sidelines on some of the collegiate football you'll be seeing and hearing today.

Army's high polished Cadets, a six-point favorite, will be facing an old jinx against Illinois at Champaign. . . . Favored Army teams led by Chris Cagle and later by Texas Jack Buckler invaded Memorial stadium twice before and got their lumps. . . . Said Army Scout Johnny Maurer, who saw the Illini in their first two years. "We're worried because we know doggone well Illinois isn't as bad as it looked."

Among the southwest's big leaguers is Lindy Berry of Texas Christian, who'll bump into Indiana's Big Nine leaders at Bloomington, Ind. . . . He is second in the nation in total offense, 12th in passing and has figured in 107 plays, highest total of any major college back. . . . Columbia's Lou Kusserow and Gene Rossides are as fine a pair of backs as you'll find in one backfield. . . . Olympic Shot-Putter Jim Fuchs was the third "Dwarf" sidelined.

Taking Time Out

With Buck Turnbull

Feeling a little better after last Saturday's upswing in our correct predictions, we set forth with fond expectations of keeping the average above 500.

It's kind of tough to keep a good average, too, when you have to come within 12 points of the final score. In fact, most of the experts want us to sideline that stipulation.

Our guest for this week is Bob Brooks, former sports announcer for WSUI and now sports director of KCRG in Cedar Rapids.

Iowa-Ohio State — We're forced to give the nod to the Buckeyes. Only a decided change for the better in Iowa's offensive striking power will give the Hawks a chance in this one.

Minnesota-Northwestern — No choice but the Wildcats here. After blanking favored Purdue last week, they look like Rose bowl material.

Michigan-Purdue — A champ is a champ until he's beaten. Final score: Michigan 13, Purdue 7.

Illinois-Army — Here's where we go out on the limb. The Cadets are in for a bruising afternoon, Big Nine fashion. We're staying with an aroused Illinois team.

Wisconsin-California — Looks like the west coast will finally win one. It'll be close. Final score: Californians 13, Wisconsin 7.

Texas Christian-Indiana — You can't stop George Taliaferro two weeks in a row. Iowa's success in halting the Hoosier ace last week will prove to be TCU's downfall today.

Michigan State-Notre Dame — The Spartans are better than average but remain out of the Irish class. Incidentally, check Spunk Brothers in his predictions below. He likes Michigan State. Final score: Notre Dame 27, Michigan State 7.

Here's the way our four experts see today's contests:
Harold Yeglin (7-7)
Ohio State 20, Iowa 14; Northwestern 28, Minnesota 7; Michigan 21, Purdue 7; Army 27, Illinois 14; California 26, Wisconsin 14; Indiana 20, TCU 6; Notre Dame 28, Michigan State 13.
Don Sulhoff (6-8)
Iowa 13, Ohio State 7; Minnesota 14, Northwestern 7; Purdue 14, Michigan 6; Army 27, Illinois 14; California 21, Wisconsin 13; Indiana 37, TCU 21; Notre Dame 21, Michigan State 7.

Spunk Brothers (6-8)
Iowa 7, Ohio State 6; Northwestern 28, Minnesota 20; Michigan 14, Purdue 6; Illinois 21, Army 21; Wisconsin 7, California 6; Indiana 14, TCU 13; Michigan State 20, Notre Dame 14.

Guest Bob Brooks
Ohio State 21, Iowa 7; Minnesota 21, Northwestern 19; Michigan 21, Purdue 14; Illinois 14, Army 7; California 21, Wisconsin 7; Indiana 21, TCU 0; Notre Dame 30, Michigan State 7.

Your Predictions:

Shain's Toe, Hettrick's Grabs Give Hawklets 14-13 Victory

(Special to The Daily Iowan)

DUBUQUE — Rox Shain's accurate toe and two Doran to Hettrick passes gave City High's Little Hawks a 14-13 victory over Dubuque's Rams here last night in a Mississippi Valley Conference game.

Both of Dubuque's scores were of the spectacular variety. It drove 55 yards to score on Jaeger's plunge from the two yard line, after intercepting a pass on its own 45 yard line, with Handel converting. The other Ram marker came in the third when a Nora to Richmond flat pass clicked for 47 yards.

Iowa City capitalized on breaks to get their points. The first touchdown from the 33 came after a recovered fumble and the other from the 35 after Hettrick had raced behind the Dubuque secondary to take the ball in the end zone.

Dubuque outshone the Little Hawks on the ground with great running by Left Half Richmond and Fullback Scott, but Iowa City's sparkling passing attack and Rox Shain's conversions under pressure turned the trick.

West Branch Swamps Blue Hawks, 20-0

Led by its touchdown twins Elvin and Ervin Larson, West Branch rolled to an easy 20-0 victory over University High's Blue Hawks yesterday afternoon on the Iowa practice field.

The big Bear forward wall kept the Blue Hawks bottled up all afternoon while . . . throwing a powerful wave of blockers in front of the Larsons as they swept the U-High ends.

Bob Ojemann and Bill Hebl led the Blue Hawks defensively, while Kevin Cahill caught a touchdown pass and Ervin Larson ran for two scores for the Bear. Cahill also kicked two points after touchdown from placement.

two scoring innings, the third and fourth.

Bickford gave up both Cleveland runs before he was derided in favor of Bill Voiselle with the bases loaded in the fourth. Voiselle and Red Barrett, who hurried the final frame, allowed the Tribe only one hit the rest of the way, a harmless single by Larry Doby in the seventh.

An amazing feature of Bearden's great performance was the fact he was pitching his third vital game in seven days. Only last Saturday he shut out Detroit here to keep the Indians in the torrid American league finish, and on Monday in Boston he beat the heart out of the Red Sox in a sudden-death play-off for the pennant.

He struck out four, and toward the last the Braves were

THE PLATFORMS

National Defense Planks at Odds

REPUBLICANS

... maintenance of armed forces ... to a degree which will insure our national security and ... effective unity in the department of national defense so as to insure maximum economy in money and manpower and maximum effectiveness in case of war.

regardless of their object. However, if efficiency in the matter is achieved, especially by reorganization in the logistics of the armed forces, it will be a big step forward.

The peacetime draft is a sure thing for the present. It has automatically solved the question of a permanent peacetime draft as an obstacle to the political ambitions of both major parties.

The question of universal military training was an embarrassing one to both Democrats and Republicans. Now that it has been pushed into the background, politicians need not worry about it until the international threat of communism has reached a climax in the form of war or a breakdown by the USSR.

In the United Nations the bipartisan policy is competently caring for the future of the atom bomb and world disarmament in relation to the sincerity or insincerity of Russia. Both major parties promise an adequate armament. Republican promises for economy in the federal government would be dangerous if carried to an extreme, that extreme being an indiscriminate slashing of federal defense funds.

three branches of the services are adequately unified at the top and the legally prescribed machinery for it is excellent if efficiently used. During the last war cooperation between the army and navy was needed at many vital locations but never for too great periods of time.

It was fortunate that the war in the Pacific was largely the navy's and the war in Europe was largely the army's. Effective cooperation in any future war calls for a corps of officers trained to conduct combined air, land and sea operations of any size or magnitude. The next president should have the ability to pick a national defense secretary who can make armed forces cooperation, from the bottom up, a concrete reality.

PROGRESSIVES

The Progressive party is a peace party. Accordingly, it has no mention whatsoever in its platform as regards national defense. It relegates all foreign affairs and the related matter of defense to the United Nations.

Considering the state of mind of the majority of the American public on the threat of communism, real or implied, the Progressives will have a difficult time mustering votes. Should war occur tomorrow there exists the possibility that this Progressive party attitude will collapse as did Colonel Lindbergh's America First committee at the outbreak of the last war.

In a speech at Gilmore stadium in Hollywood Wallace offered a fourteen-point peace program. The entire program was based on the premise that Russia was as peace-loving as the United States.

Considering Russia's actions since 1946 it is a dangerous premise on which to base any large-scale disarmament in the democracies. Until the United Nations possesses military and police power superior to both Russia and America, war will not be averted by softening of draft and defense measures in any country.

Comic Books

Affect on Children Questionable

Are Superman, Dick Tracy and the Masked Marvel undermining the thoughts of your child and threatening his reading habits?

Two authorities on children at SU aren't too concerned about the problem.

Prof. Mabel Snedaker of the college of education believes that if the reading of well-written literature can be made popular, the child will not turn to comic books for his spare-time reading. In her office in the university elementary school, Miss Snedaker is surrounded by the very books she feels are necessary to replace the comic-reading fad. By sharing books defined as "worthwhile literature" she believes the comic book "evil" can be overcome.

Miss Snedaker suggested that parents read aloud from "worthwhile" books to their children at home. A basic list of 500 children's books entitled "Keystones of Literature" has just been published by the Iowa State Education association.

Giving the psychological point of view to the comic book "evil" was Robert R. Sears, director and resident professor in child psychology and child welfare here.

The fact that a child spends too much time on comic books and such forms of reading is an indication of the child's insecurity and inadequacy. Such confusion requires him to seek a form of fantasy and escape which can be found in the comic books of today," Sears said.

He was uncertain, however, of the effect of comic books on the rate of juvenile delinquency. No one knows whether comic books are "evil," Sears concluded, "and I would like to see some evidence that they are before we worry too much about a way to combat such reading habits."

SAN FRANCISCO (P) — A basic agreement for a United States of Indonesia by 1949 has been reached at the Hague, the Netherlands information bureau reported yesterday.

WSUI to Dramatize 'Dark Victory' Cases

A radio series based on the actual case records of blind persons has been scheduled by WSUI, Mrs. T. Holmes, Director of the Iowa Commission for the Blind, announced yesterday.

The series, "Unsung Victory," will run 10:45 a.m. weekly beginning Oct. 11, and will consist of six 15-minute shows, in dramatized form.

The anticipated effect of the series is summed up by Mrs. Holmes who said:

"I believe most people will be amazed to discover how 'normal' a blind man or woman can be. I think these radio shows will convince the listeners that with preparation, the blind can take their place with sighted workers in almost any job."

Mrs. Holmes pointed out that there are at least 250 visually handicapped persons of working age in Iowa who could benefit immediately from vocational rehabilitation services.

These stories are planned to inspire any blind person who cannot work because of his disability to apply immediately to the commission for the blind for the right kind of help.

Prof. Pitcher to Outline Progressive's Platform

Prof. S. M. Pitcher, Progressive party candidate for senator, will discuss his party's platform over KXIC, Sunday at 1 p.m.

Pitcher will outline the platform plank "America's Economy of Abundance: Geared to Peace Rather Than to War." This is the fourth in a series of local broadcasts by the Progressive party.

Airforce Now Has Own Police Force

The airforce now has its own police force corresponding to the army's MPs and the navy's shore patrol, according to an airforce announcement.

The force, consisting of 15,000 officers and airmen, guards airforce bases in addition to performing "normal" MP duties.

Five-Word Sentences Aren't Enough...

Most everyone pays lip service to civil rights. Why then is it a national election-embroidered issue? Probably because it touches upon American dilemmas over Communists and Negroes.

Consider four items in one day's news:

Item: Officials of the University of Oklahoma were directed by the state board of regents to admit a Negro, G. W. McLaurin, to the university's graduate school on a basis of "complete segregation." Separate classrooms and professors are to be provided for a one-man Negro class!

Item: The Baltimore school board unanimously upheld the action of its superintendent in dismissing Mrs. Regina Frankfeld as a kindergarten teacher because she is a Communist. Her husband, Philip, is head of the Maryland-District of Columbia Communist party and she claims "I am a member of the Communist Party. I admit it. I am proud of it."

Item: An injunction to keep the word "Negro" from appearing after their names on an Oklahoma ballot was denied two Tulsa Negroes by a three-judge panel headed by Federal Judge A. P. Murray. The panel claims that since the men are running in the same race, for justice of the peace, no discrimination has been shown.

Item: Defense attorneys for 12 Communist leaders indicted on charges of advocating the forcible overthrow of the government, asked a New York federal court to dismiss the case on grounds that the charges violate free speech. "An ideology is something that cannot be indicted," the defense claimed.

Touchy little problems, aren't they? Most people think their particular party can solve the civil rights tangle by virtue of a five- or six-word sentence in their national platform.

We doubt it.

In the New York trial, a U.S. attorney stated the government's view of the question. "Each act (of communism) is a step toward the ultimate evil. The basic question is whether the government has the power to prohibit the initial step or stand idly by until a revolution is actually here."

If the federal courts decree that the U.S. Communist party is out to overthrow the government, then civil rights can be divorced from conspirators. Then a Maryland Communist could be ousted from the school system without endangering American civil rights.

It is up to the FBI to prove the charges against the Communist party and the federal courts to pass judgment. But the civil rights dilemma would not be totally solved here. Not so long as proposed legislation (Mundt-Nixon bill) would prosecute persons vaguely suspected of being Communists.

Civil rights and racial discrimination is a knottier problem. Extreme Dixiecrat or Progressive solutions are just that—too extreme. The recommendations of the president's committee on civil rights are probably the best.

Until some sensible court rulings and legislation come to our rescue, it's going to be tough to keep our civil rights above water.

What's Being Said —

"Americans may well hope that Sen. Robertson (Wyoming), both because of his uncompromising Americanism and his party's (GOP) need to help its present senate majority in order to assure an effective Republican administration, will be returned to the senate, as his record fully merits"—from over 1,000 miles away the loud voice of the Chicago Tribune editorial urged the natives of Wyoming to do right by their GOP candidate. Just how far the Colonel's "uncompromising Americanism" has penetrated the west is hard to realize.

"We are all opposed to lynching—it is nothing but murder—the worst form of murder, but it is a state crime and congress has no right to pass such legislation..."—Dixiecrat candidate Thurmond who would like that business left to the states, certainly would not propose that even the states do anything about lynchings.

With all the pleas for "unity" and "accord" going round, here's a group asking for more dissatisfied people. The executive director of the Lutheran Laymen's movement for Stewardship told a convention that "It seems clear that there can be no significant revival of lay power within the church unless there is a steady manifested dissatisfaction in many areas of our Christian experiences."

Asked if he is a millionaire, Henry Wallace: "I am not. It's one of those things—the only way I could disprove it would be to die."

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT
It Won't Be Waved Away...

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

Another requirement for the man who would make peace in the world today is that he must believe in the reality of the crisis.

This may seem an odd statement right now, with every active and professional voice on earth belaboring crisis at top decibel. But there is a difference between merely admitting there is a crisis, and fully admitting that the crisis is real, that it is historic, that it was probably unavoidable, that it cannot be waved away by a flip of the hand.

One can start at either end of the question, but to start at the further, those who follow the Russian position and who feel that the west is needlessly alarmed by recent events in Europe, that it is uncouth of the west to react to these events, that the west should take something for its nerves and laugh it off, do not really admit the deep historic reality of the world crisis, and to this degree they put themselves out of position as peacemakers.

They are not making peace, they are only using the crisis to prove that western capitalism wants to make war, and that is very different from peacemaking.

In pursuit of this propagandist goal, such arguers shade off into unreality, as when they declare that western industry prefers making munitions to making peacetime goods, though much the same voices used to say during the late war that western industry was delaying the victory because it preferred making peacetime goods to making munitions.

Those who will not admit that the crisis is truly historic, that the west must in point of fact react to the Russian rise, and be profoundly unsettled by it, cannot make peace, they can only make propaganda.

In the same way, those in the west who feel that Russia should turn its face to the wall and be quiet, that it should give up its fears, that it should, in a well-bred way, ignore the atomic bomb, do not admit that what has happened in eastern Europe during the last thirty years has really happened, that a massive uneasy new interest has risen in the world.

Such persons do not try to solve the crisis, they try to use it as a hokus-pokus which may, if handled right, make the enemy disappear. They are not trying to make peace, they are trying to make magic.

But it is peace we must try to make, an imperfect peace if you like, between conflicting realities, each of which has the right to exist, and the right to be afraid. And those who would deny those rights to either side, those who feel the moralities of the situation extremely easy, the rights and wrongs uncomplicatedly clear, to that degree deny the reality, the real reality, of the crisis, and render themselves helpless to solve it.

The peacemaker will be the one who understands just how real this crisis is, its historical validity, its unavoidability, and he will try for the imperfect, useful answer, for an outcome untouched by perfectionism, magic or disdain.

The UN, more than any other agency, is qualified to take this approach. But to do so it must rise above the crisis, it must detach and separate itself from the contestants, as much as it can, and speak up for the realities with the same vigor with which each contender now speaks for itself.

Therefore the suggestion is repeated that the UN should instruct the west and Russia to make peace in Berlin, that it give them a limited time, say thirty days, to do so and report, reminding each side in the sternest, most objective terms, of the dangers of failure. Only thus can the UN force us all to focus on the realities, only thus can the UN become the channel for the world's wish for peace.

And only thus can the common anguish of mankind find expression a level equal to that enjoyed today by self-justification, anger and fear.

If You Are a Citizen with Appreciation, You'd Vote for Casad and Depreciation

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Roland C. Casad, a 71-year-old dirt farmer from Escandido, Calif., has tossed his slightly tarnished political bonnet into the presidential race for the fifth time.

This time the blue-eyed farmer is running as write-in candidate. Back in 1936 he was a candidate for nomination on eight different tickets and failed to win any of them.

"My mistake before was in running for nomination," Casad said. "This time I'm making it easy for my friends. All they have to do is write the name Roland C. Casad on the ballot Nov. 2."

Casad, after years of study has evolved a five-point program that he feels will attract voters. The points are:

1. Abolish the income tax entirely.
2. Abolish the national debt.
3. Make it possible for states, counties and cities to abolish all taxes on peoples' homes as well as all taxes for public improvements and welfare agencies.
4. The national government should provide for the issuance of an old age pension of $200 per month to all citizens 50 years of age and over, and one month after death, to pay funeral expenses.

5. A new money system in the U.S.A. to carry out the foregoing four points.

The new money system has been a plank in Casad's platforms ever since 1928 when he first expressed the wish to be president of the United States. He did not run in 1944 because of the war, instead being a candidate for senator.

Casad says his money plan, in a nutshell, was dated, depreciating currency. The government issues the dated currency to pay its debts. The money loses value as it circulates. When it drops 50 percent in value, the government prints another batch.

The round-faced, ruddy farmer has an exact outline how money will depreciate under his plan. During the first three months after it is issued, the money does not depreciate provided it is circulated at least once a month. Thereafter it will depreciate one percent a day for 50 days when it will be recalled and another batch goes out at face value.

Casad says he is seeking no personal glory in offering himself as a candidate. He has 200 acres of rich land at Escandido, in San Diego county, and gets along.

McBride's Haul

By BILL MCBRIDE

Just about the time when I had begun to think that all the really nasty villains had gone international, thus leaving our local cultures without a trace of the old whip-cracking, pre-shrunk landowner, a petition recently filed in district court changed my mind.

There may still be a few of the little Eva chasers left in our time. In a nearby community a landlord started eviction suit proceedings because a couple had violated their lease by having more than two persons living in their apartment.

A third person moved in lock, stock and bottle Aug. 16 and therein the difficulty lies. I can see the landlord's point, however. This third person is the sort of undesirable who won't work, drinks practically all the time and does nothing but sprawl around the house, cluttering the place up.

Since the new tenant is only a few weeks old, though, it is doubtful if he will understand some of the legal proceedings.

What's the matter with babies? Don't they know there's a housing shortage... a fine thing, getting themselves born at a crucial time like this.

If Henry Good hasn't presented his charming wife with a new bonnet or a box of quality chocolates, he deserves to flunk his first major law exam this year.

I plunked my big, muddy feet on Mrs. Good's carpet out in Pinkline Thursday afternoon while investigating the report that the Married Student chorus is an up-and-going outfit. Mrs. Good is president of the MSC, and the report was correct. They're asking for new members.

The reason that I suggest that Henry kick in with a treat (maybe he already has) is the superior job Mrs. Good has done in making their barracks apartment attractive. She did it all within the legal margin of their lease too.

Note that our autumn rains are here I am once again gnashing my teeth over the waterproof raincoat sold to me by a poker-faced salesman just after I severed relations with the U.S. army.

I have $20 worth of the most absorbent waterproof material ever to see the flash of a pinkish shear. To make the situation even worse, Jeanne has an I-told-you-so with which to taunt me. From now on, she buys the raincoats in our family.

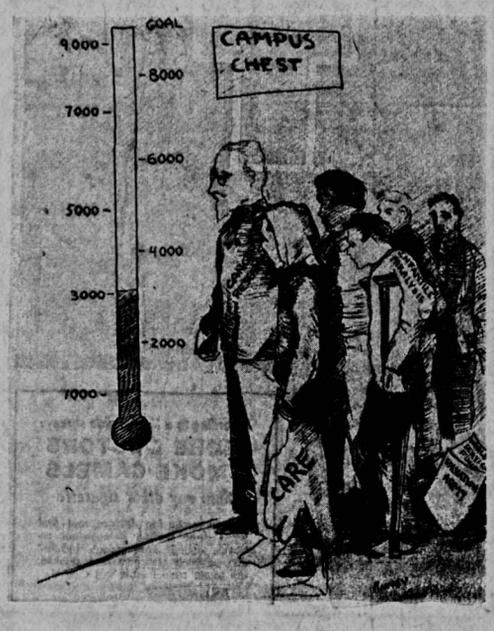

Word comes that Rosalie and her drop of dew is now making good show of herself in San Francisco. She is on a circulating exhibit, and Frisemonians have welcomed her quite hospitably.

Inasmuch as Rosalie is the painting which caused so many Iowa taxpayers to reach for their quills and pen unflattering letters to the nearest editor, this is noteworthy.

It is also noteworthy that Frisemonians probably don't know that Rosalie was purchased with funds other than those furnished by Iowa taxpayers.

You see, that was where all the trouble started. There are some Iowans who will buy futuristic automobiles until fud won't have it, and litter their homes with stainless steel easy chairs, but who think our art department should stick to painting dogs and rocking chairs.

It just goes to show all the cobwebs aren't in Rosalie's picture.
