Keltner Races Home with the Series Bacon After Robinson's Single

(AP Wirephoto)

SCORING THE RUN THAT WON THE SERIES is Ken Keltner, third baseman for the Cleveland Indians. The run, the fourth for the new world's champions, proved to be the margin of victory as the desperate Boston Braves fought back in the last of the eighth inning to score two more runs, making the final count, 4-3. Gene Bearden for the third time proved to be the Cleveland hero as he came in to put out the fire in the eighth with the bases loaded. After giving a base on balls to Eddie Stanky in the last of the ninth, he caused Sibby Sisti to pop up on an attempted bunt, thus doubling up Stanky who had started for secondbase. Keltner's score came on Eddie Robinson's single with Keltner on second base.

Ickes Support To President

Dewey Labor Talk Has 12-Point Plan; Praises T-H Law

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey last night praised the Taft-Hartley law, outlined a 12-point program for labor, and — in allusions to foreign policy — accused the Truman administration of blundering and fumbling.

Opening round two of his presidential campaign, the Republican nominee told an applauding crowd which overflowed 11,000-seat Hunt armory:

"No administration ever made so many fundamental blunders, even from base political motives."

The New York governor sailed into his Democratic opposition with the sharpest criticism he has voiced in the campaign.

He made no specific reference to the President's abandoned plan to send Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson to Moscow — an idea Dewey is known to regard as a separate blunder.

But the GOP candidate said: "We are electing a Republican administration that will unflinchingly back up the work of its own representatives in the United Nations for peace."

Major items in his 12-point program were:

Increase of the present minimum wage of 40 cents an hour. No amount specified.

Overhauling of the social security system, with extension of coverage and greater benefits for the aged and unemployed.

Establishment of a labor department "equal in actual cabinet status" to the commerce and agricultural departments.

Breaking of "the log-jam in housing."

Steps to make sure "soaring prices do not steal food and clothing and other necessities from American families."

A civil rights program that will press forward in solving the problems of race relations and discrimination.

Claims Truman Is Lesser Evil; Dewey Elusive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, who broke with President Truman in 1946 and left his cabinet, came out yesterday for Mr. Truman's election in November.

"As between Thomas 'Elusive' Dewey, the candidate in sneakers, I prefer to support Mr. Truman," Ickes said in a statement.

Ickes said he would "welcome an opportunity to vote for some one else" but "Wallace in his Communist stew is impossible and to support Norman Thomas would be wasting a vote."

The self-styled old "cur-medgeon" said he neither amends nor withdraws the things he said about Mr. Truman in the past. In effect, he said, he supports Mr. Truman as the lesser of two evils.

Ickes said Mr. Truman and Gov. Dewey both "espouse practically the same international program," so he made his choice on the basis of domestic issues.

"I prefer to support Mr. Truman, who is straightforward and sincere, if at times more unpredictable than I could wish," Ickes said. "He is at least comfortably earthy and without cant."

The former cabinet member said Dewey refuses to say where he stands on the major issues.

Ickes was particularly caustic about the GOP candidate's silence on what he called "that scandalous plank in the Republican platform which pledges the surrender of our oil-rich tidelands to the oil industry."

He referred to the Republican platform proposal that the tidelands be turned over to the states. He also criticized Dewey's silence on the dispute over the 160-acre limitation on irrigation tracts in California.

Ickes told newsmen yesterday he will do "all I can" to help the Truman campaign, including a speaking tour which he said might include Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and Idaho.

President Proposes His Own New Deal In 8-Point Program

AKRON (AP) — President Truman proposed last night an eight-point program to build a "better way of life" upon a new deal he said Thomas E. Dewey "wants to go to Washington to destroy."

The Republicans, he said, "tasted blood" in the 80th congress and are "waiting eagerly" to do "a real hatchet job on the new deal" with a GOP congress and President.

Mr. Truman openly embraced the whole new deal.

He went after his Republican opposition in the rubber capital and in ten other speeches of a dawn-to-dark bid for Ohio's 25 electoral votes. He was out "to take the hide off 'em from top to bottom." He said so in advance, all the way through the state.

Yesterday the President did get in against Dewey his most direct licks of the entire campaign. He didn't name his rival. That hasn't been fashionable in campaigns in the last few years. But he sniped away busily at the "Republican candidate."

He jabbed briskly, too, at Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) and Rep. Fred Hartley (R-NJ), co-authors of what he calls the "awful" Taft-Hartley labor law.

In his own program offered the voters last night, mostly a repetition of points he has stressed before, Mr. Truman proposed:

1. Repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor act.
2. Increase the national minimum wage from 40 to 75 cents an hour.
3. Extend social security insurance to "large groups of people not now protected."
4. Boost such benefits by "approximately 50 percent."
5. Expand "facilities for looking after the nation's health."
6. Federal aid to states for education.
7. Federal aid for "slum clearance and low-rent housing."
8. Action "at once" against high prices.

Heidt Talent Show Coming to Campus

Horace Heidt, his talent group and his 40-piece orchestra, will present a two-hour musical show at the SUI fieldhouse Nov. 5, the university central party and entertainment committee announced yesterday.

Auditions for local persons to appear in the show will be held Oct. 8 through Oct. 20 at radio station WSUI. Frank Reeves, Heidt's talent scout, will be in charge of the auditions.

Persons interested in auditions should write to Talent Scout, Horace Heidt show, Iowa Memorial Union. Applicants should give their name, address, telephone number, age and musical talent.

Buses Run Again To Council Bluffs

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP) — The Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway and Bridge company planned to resume operation of buses between Omaha and Council Bluffs at 5:10 a.m. today.

The order went out after a district court injunction against the firm was dissolved by Federal Judge Charles A. Dewey yesterday.

SUI Student Found Dead In Dad's Drug Store

The death of Richard Miller of Durant, who was identified as a State University of Iowa student, was still being probed yesterday by Cedar County Coroner Gordon Smith of Clarence.

Miller, 23, was found dead on the floor of his father's drugstore in Durant Sunday. Miller's parents found the body.

Coeds to Buck Up Slow Chest Drive

Girl "commandos" from SUI sororities and housing units will raid the campus today in an effort to buck up a lagging Campus Chest drive.

Collection of a mere $101.19 yesterday brought total contributions to this year's drive to $3,769.51.

The drive ends tomorrow at 5 p.m. The goal is $10,000. Misused cards will be picked up at the gate of the athletic building.

Sending out the "commandos" will be the Campus Chest committee, headed by Harlan Hockenberger and Ruby Scott.

Hope to Raise $5,000 "We hope to collect at least $5,000 by the time the drive ends tomorrow," he said.

Assignments passed out by Hockenberger include radio station WSUI to Alpha Chi Omega, physics building to Alpha Delta Pi and Alpha Chi Delta, Schaeffer hall to Chi Omega and Delta Delta Delta, University hall to Delta Gamma and Gamma Phi Beta and old dental building to Howard House.

To Cover Campus New dental building to Dean house, chemistry building to McChesney house, law building to Clinton place, Macbride hall to Kappa Alpha Theta and Kappa Kappa Gamma, University hospitals and medical laboratories to Currier hall council and approaches to Iowa Union to Pi Beta Phi.

East hall to Sigma Delta Tau, bridge between art building and Iowa Union to Madison court, art building and University theater to Zeta Tau Alpha, fieldhouse to Currier hall council and reserve library entrance to Currier hall council.

Japanese on Trial For Killing Fliers

TOYO (AP)—Thirty-two Japanese will plead Thursday to charges they used American B-29 fliers as live dummies to practice ancient sports and finally headed 33 of the wartime captives.

The defendants, all officers and men of Japan's western army, include four generals already convicted of using American airmen for medical experiments at Kyushu imperial university. One has been sentenced to hang.

The new charges have been filed with U.S. eighth army military commission by allied headquarters' legal section.

The prosecution charged 17 of the 33 executed Americans were slain within four hours after Emperor Hirohito's surrender speech was broadcast at noon on Aug. 15, 1945.

Young Republicans To Hear Senator

U.S. Senator Harry P. Cain (R-Wash.) will address the Young Republican league of SUI in Iowa City Oct. 21.

This announcement was made by Bill Mitchell, YRL publicity director, yesterday. Mitchell said he did not know just where the young GOP will hold its meeting.

Cain will come to Iowa City from Rockford, Ill., where he is to speak on Oct. 20. He returned to the U.S. recently after a trip to Europe where he studied the administration of ERP.

Why Not Herky On Old Cap?

Chamber Polling Motorists on Appropriate Symbol to Advertise SUI

Should "Herky the Hawk" or Old Capitol grace the "Welcome to Iowa City" billboard signs planned by the Iowa City chamber of commerce?

That is the problem faced by the chamber's community advertising committee.

The two proposed 10 by 30 foot billboards would be erected along Highway 6 on both sides of Iowa City. They would read: "Welcome to Iowa City, home of the University of Iowa — Visit our beautiful campus."

The problem is to select an appropriate symbol representative of the university to complement the lettering. Selection has been narrowed to two candidates—Herky and Old Capitol.

Athletic Department Authorized to Buy Golf Course Tract

DES MOINES (AP)—The state executive council yesterday authorized the State University of Iowa athletic department, subject to approval of the attorney general, to purchase 172 acres of land for $61,800.

The attorney general's office indicated its approval would be given.

The council previously had declined to take action on the athletic department's request pending an attorney general's opinion. The council wanted to know whether its approval would be legal.

The land to be purchased is just south of the university's golf course. The new golf course would be laid out on the tract. The present golf course would be put to other athletic department use.

As requested previously by Gov. Robert D. Blue, the athletic department presented a report of its financial condition. The report showed the department has an expendable balance of $47,000.

DIES FROM POLIO

Polio proved fatal last night for 11-year-old Robert Perkins, Waterloo. The patient was admitted to University hospital at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Marshall Returns To Paris Meeting

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of State George C. Marshall headed back to the United Nations meeting in Paris, yesterday to make sure that western unity has not been shaken by President Truman's abortive plan for a special peace mission to Moscow.

He told newsmen the confusion surrounding the belated disclosure of Mr. Truman's peace plan last week-end "certainly had harmful influence" on the deliberations in Paris, where the western powers are trying to settle their Berlin blockade dispute with Russia.

UN 'Neutral' Nations Stalled In Berlin Blockade Problem

PARIS (AP)—Desperate attempts by "neutral" nations in the United Nations security council to mediate the Berlin crisis apparently were stalled last night.

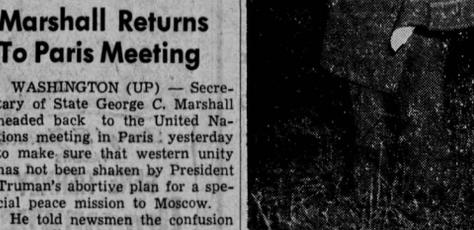

Spokesmen for the United States, Britain and France declared that the western powers are standing firm on their demand that the Soviet blockade be lifted. The three powers were reported to feel that there had been enough time for mediation and the council should go ahead with meetings.

Argentine Foreign Minister Juan A. Bramuglia talked privately again with Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky. Informed sources said the Soviet deputy foreign minister told him that no answer had been received from the Kremlin on mediation efforts.

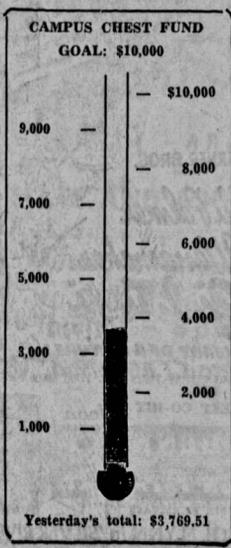

One high diplomatic source said the attitude of the United States has toughened in the last two days.

In the face of the apparent deadlock, the security council is expected to meet Wednesday or Thursday to go over the Berlin situation and perhaps open full-scale debate. Only the western powers have spoken so far, accusing the Soviet union of threatening world peace. Russia is boycotting the discussions.

Construction to Start Soon on New Bridge

EXAMINING PLANS FOR THE NEW BENTON STREET BRIDGE, with the old condemned bridge in the background, yesterday afternoon were (left to right) Fred Gartzke, city engineer, R. L. Carstens, Jensen Construction company foreman, C. A. Jensen, superintendent of construction, and F. M. Kolar, assistant city engineer. The Jensen company of Des Moines expects to begin actual work on the $265,000 bridge next week. Material for the bridge has been arriving in Iowa City during the past few weeks. The bridge, connecting east and west Benton streets, is expected to be completed by next summer.

Bearden Bests Spahn in Relief Duel, 4-3

Indians, New World Champs, Halt Last-Stand Boston Rally

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (UP)—The Cleveland Indians won the World Series today by defeating the Boston Braves, 4 to 3, in the heart-throbbing sixth game finale.

The losers almost snatched victory from defeat in the closing innings but didn't have quite enough.

Seldom, perhaps never, had there been a more dramatic series finish. Two left-handed pitchers, both Purple Heart war heroes, both weary but rising dramatically to the occasion, battled it out in relief roles. Gene Bearden saved it for the Indians. Warren Spahn almost kept the Braves in the series.

Holmes Leads Eighth

In the eighth, and trailing 4 to 1, Tommy Holmes led off for the Braves by lashing a single to right. It was a ray of hope — though a faint one because the Cleveland pitcher, Bob Lemon, had been untouchable with runners on base.

Rookie shortstop Alvin Dark filed out and hope flickered. But big Earl Torgeson dropped a double down to the right field corner, sending Holmes to third.

Up came the Braves' mighty man, Bob Elliott. He got two homers Sunday and had already collected three straight singles off Lemon.

The Cleveland hurler didn't dare give him anything good. His first three pitches were balls. He shot in a called strike and Elliott swung on the next pitch and missed. Finally he walked.

Bearden Comes In

Boss Lou Boudreau of the Indians, instantly removed Lemon and put in Bearden, his chip-down hurler who had won eight straight games including the American league championship playoff over the Red Sox and a series game in Cleveland.

With a lefty now pitching, Boston Manager Billy Southworth called on a rookie right-hander, Clint Conster, to hit for left-handed rookie, Marv Rickert. Conster responded with a fly to deep center, which scored Holmes and sent Torgeson to third.

Then it happened. Phil Masi, called in to bat for Bill Salkeld with all the blue chips riding, doubled against the left field fence. It missed being a home run by about two inches.

The blow scored Torgeson, making it 4 to 3 and Elliott went down to third. But Masi might just as well have struck out, for the Braves still were one short of a tie and two short of a victory.

Mike McCormick came up next and it was his chance to be a hero. But he muffed it by grounding out and ending the inning.

Yet the Braves still had hope. The ninth was coming up and all year they had been a ball club with aggressive spirit when they had to win.

Spahn Shines

And Spahn did his part. He pitched five and a third scoreless innings with just one hit in Cleveland Sunday. Yesterday he came in to pitch in the eighth when the Boston starter, Bill Voiselle was lifted in the seventh for a pinch-hitter.

The little man, who doesn't look too healthy, leaned in with his low-breaking curve and struck out all three Cleveland batters in the ninth — Bearden, Bob Kennedy, and Larry Doby. Each went down swinging. That made it four whiffs in a row since he also struck out Jim Hegan to end the eighth; Sunday he struck out five of the last six batters he faced.

The Braves' desperate ninth began with Eddie Stanky working the count to three and two and finally drawing his third walk of the game and his seventh of the series.

Speedy Connie Ryan went in to run for him and Sibby Sisti went up to bat for Spahn. He tried to sacrifice Ryan with a bunt, but instead popped up weakly. Indian Catcher Jim Hegan caught the ball and rifled a throw to first that doubled Ryan by 10 feet. The groan that came up from the stands sounded like dull thunder. Everyone realized it was all over and it was. The final anti-climactic out was Holmes' fly to left field.

Kennedy, who had been sent to left as a defensive measure after Masi's smash did a little jig dance as he caught the ball, stuck it in his pocket, and rushed in to hug Bearden.

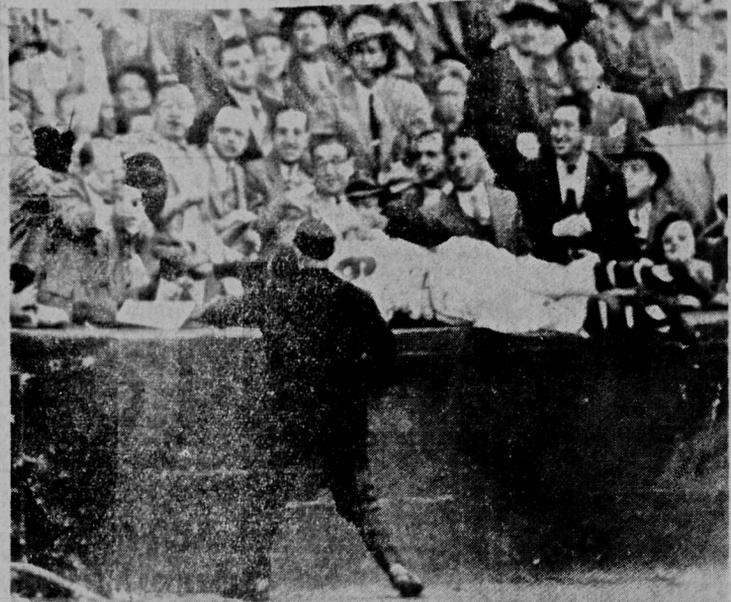

In the third, Indian Dale Mitchell led off with a hard double to left. Doby flied out but the ever dependable Boudreau, hitting behind the runner slapped a drive to right. Holmes was off like a deer and got the ball in his outstretched glove but it plopped out. It went for a double that scored Mitchell with the first run.

Old Pro Joe Gordon, who hadn't risen to his usual heights in the series, came through at the start of the sixth with a home run over the left field fence.

After retiring Ken Keltner on a pop foul, Boston's Voiselle walked Thurman Tucker. Eddie Robinson then sent Tucker around to third with a single.

Double Play Fails
Hegan hit a ground ball to Elliott that looked like a sure double play. Stanky got Robinson at second all right but when he threw to first Torgeson dropped the ball. Hegan was safe, and Tucker scored.

The Indians picked up their final and winning run in the eighth and off Spahn. The little curve baller didn't seem to be well enough warmed up and, after Marvin Rickert made a sensational catch of a low liner to rph Gordon of an extra base hit, Keltner nicked a single off Spahn's glove. Tucker singled him to second and Robinson scored him with another single.

WITH THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS riding on the game, Boston First Sacker Earl Torgeson displays the spirit that gripped both teams yesterday. Here he is shown stretching full-length over the Cleveland dugout in a vain attempt to snatch a foul that Indian Pitcher Bob Lemon had just lifted in the second inning. Umpire is Bill Stewart.

Bob Longley Lost Indefinitely

Iowa's gridders, fighting with renewed vigor in practice yesterday afternoon after their first Big Nine victory of the season over Ohio State Saturday, will lose regular Left Halfback Bob Longley for the Homecoming game with Purdue here Saturday.

Longley, who sprained his knee in the rough Buckeye struggle, is now on crutches. His return to the lineup for games following Purdue is uncertain.

The Hawkeye coaching staff, realizing that the team must not let down if it hopes to defeat the Boilermakers, will enter the game with the Hawks with exactly the same team which humbled them last year at Lafayette, 21-0.

Only End Ned Maloney has left the Boilermaker first string. Another end, Clyde Grimmstein, was hurt for the rest of the season in the loss to Michigan Saturday, 40-0.

However, the Boilermakers remain a potent outfit, the first three games to the contrary. They have an explosive backfield led by two hard-running halfbacks, Harry Szulborski and Norbert Adams. Quarterback Bob DeMoss is still one of the best passers in the Big Nine.

Purdue opened a rough schedule in September by barely losing to Notre Dame, 28-27. The Boilermakers went on the down grade following their near victory, being socked by Northwestern, 21-0, and then being crushed by Michigan last weekend.

But a rebounding team which has seemingly fallen apart is always hard to beat. This one fact alone worries the Iowa coaches more than anything else.

"Play More — Live Longer"

Fesler Weeps At Iowa Films

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Ohio State university football players really shouldn't have to practice for next week's game at Bloomington against Indiana.

Coach Wesley Fesler told newsmen yesterday, before anybody could ask what happened Saturday when Iowa beat Ohio State: "The morale problem will take care of itself this week. The boys will put themselves in high fighting spirit. We weren't licked by Iowa. We licked ourselves. When the boys see the Iowa movies, they will kick themselves in the rear."

Although at first glance Purdue's record is very unimpressive, the Boilermakers, save for one exception, will enter the game with the Hawks with exactly the same team which humbled them last year at Lafayette, 21-0.

Only End Ned Maloney has left the Boilermaker first string. Another end, Clyde Grimmstein, was hurt for the rest of the season in the loss to Michigan Saturday, 40-0.

Indians Praise 'Brave' Foes

BOSTON (AP)—Bill McKechnie, veteran coach of the World Champion Cleveland Indians who has been around baseball a long time and has seen many a World Series, said yesterday this year's "was the cleanest I know of, no bad words, no incidents, no hard feelings."

Like his manager, Lou Boudreau, McKechnie emphasized "we have great respect for the Boston Braves Billy Southworth, Al Dark, Earl Torgeson, Bobby Elliott, Tommy Holmes and the others."

Boudreau, seconded by McKechnie, insisted he wasn't thinking about today during the game. "I had no pitcher selected for tomorrow. If we had to have one it would have been Bearden. We threw the works today," said handsome Lou yesterday.

Boston Manager Billy Southworth, admittedly disappointed over the series outcome, gathered himself together long enough to analyze thus: "We lost three games in a row by failing to hit with men on. Today we hit with men on. If we did that in those other games the result might have been different."

Bout Rescheduled

Homecoming Rally Friday

Three SUI Groups to Converge on Old Capitol; Show Includes Band, Faculty Skit

Three groups of SUI students will converge at the west approach to Old Capitol, site of the Homecoming pep rally, at 7:30 Friday night.

Iowa's Scottish Highlanders will lead students from west of the river, men from N. Dubuque street fraternities will lead fans from the north side and town men will round up students from the east side, Tom Gray, chairman of the Student Auxiliary Homecoming committee, announced last night.

Entertainment at the rally will include skits by the faculty and Tallfeathers, music by the Highlanders and the University band, talks by Max Kadesky, president of the I-club, and Will Reilly, board member of the Iowa alumni association, Gray said.

Mark Meier, president of the Associated Students of Engineering, will present an award to winner of the monument designing contest.

Don Robertson, A4 of Des Moines, wrote the faculty skit. Faculty members participating in the skit will be announced later. Evan Hultman will emcee the rally program.

Gray said his committee hoped to decorate the stone railing west of Old Capitol for the event.

Highlanders, marching from the fieldhouse Friday night, will march through the Quad, pick up men from Hillcrest and South Quad and proceed down the ravine to the intersection of Iowa avenue and Riverside drive, Gray said.

Men from the west side fraternities will join them there in the march to the rally.

Men from the fraternities on Dubuque street will move down Clinton street, picking up girls from Currier hall, the sororities and town women.

Town men will head the drive to east side sorority houses, and that group will approach the rally from Iowa avenue.

Senator Taylor to Speak Here In Progressive Party Rally

Sen. Glen H. Taylor of Idaho, Progressive party candidate vice-president, will carry his political stumping tour of the U into Iowa City tomorrow night.

Taylor will give a major campaign address in the ballroom of the Community building at 8 p.m.

His speech will feature a Progressive party rally that night.

Also appearing at the rally will be C. E. Beiderman, Progressive candidate for governor of Iowa; Charles Hobbie, candidate for lieutenant governor; Seymour Pitcher of the SUI English department, candidate for the U.S. senate; Charles Dengler, candidate from the first congressional district, and Allen Heald, candidate from the second congressional district.

Taylor is scheduled to arrive here at about 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. He will be met in Davenport, where he is speaking at a noon luncheon, and escorted here by a reception committee of Johnson county Progressives.

His wife, Dora, their three children and Boris Steinberg, head of Chicago Businessmen for Wallace, will accompany Taylor.

Speaking at the rally, besides Taylor, will be Beiderman, Pitcher, and Joseph Howard, chairman of SUI's Students for Wallace.

Beiderman will introduce Taylor. Introducing the other speakers and acting as master of ceremonies will be Prof. Bernard Baum of the SUI English department, chairman of the Johnson county Progressive party.

Prior to the rally, Taylor and the other Progressive candidates will be honored at a reception from 4:30 to 6 p.m. at the home of Pitcher.

The reception will be open to all Progressive party members. In charge will be Mary Baum, publicity director of the county Progressives, and Prof. John McGalliard, chairman of the program and activities committee.

Taylor has been stumping the country with his wife and three sons since June.

He will speak this afternoon at a luncheon in Sioux City and to night at a mass meeting at Fort Dodge high school.

Taylor will spend the night in Des Moines before going to Davenport for the luncheon tomorrow

Set Voting Deadline Oct. 23 for Iowa People to Register

Voting registration deadline for Iowa residents is Oct. 23, City Clerk George J. Dohrer warned yesterday.

Iowa residents of voting a living in cities of over 5,000 population must be registered by that date in order to vote in the Nov. 2 election, he said.

Persons who have registered and voted in an election in Iowa in the last four years do not need to register again unless they have moved. Anyone who has moved since last voting must sign a removal card, Dohrer reported.

Students who have legal residence in Iowa City can register at the city clerk's office in the City hall. Students from other cities and other states should contact their city clerks to get registration information.

Voters who are registered and desire to cast absentee ballots may apply for and pick them up at the Johnson county auditor's office, W. L. Kanak, of the county auditor's office said yesterday.

After the ballots have been marked, they must be notarized and returned to his office, Kanak explained.

Sgt. Wendlandt is retiring from the army this month after over 26 years of duty, half of them as rifle coach for the university and the Pershing rifles.

Sgt. Dettman is being discharged and is reenlisting at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., Oct. 14.

ROTC Sergeants To Receive Ribbons

The Pershing Rifles will decorate Sgt. Herbert Wendlandt and O. A. Dettman for "superior and meritorious" services in a presentation today at 7:30 p.m.

Each man will receive the bronze star ribbon for his help in reactivating the Pershing Rifles during the post war period, the military department said yesterday.

Capt. Rene C. Jacobs, head of the organization, will make the presentations.

Sgt. Wendlandt is retiring from the army this month after over 26 years of duty, half of them as rifle coach for the university and the Pershing rifles.

Sgt. Dettman is being discharged and is reenlisting at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., Oct. 14.

Thieves Run-Off With Broken Fire Hydrant

Theft of a fire hydrant was reported to police yesterday.

The wayward hydrant was reported missing after it was broken off when a car smashed into it Sunday. The Iowa Water Service company made the report to police.

The hydrant was broken off by a car driven by Francis E. Dorn, SUI student from Fort Madison, when he was involved in an accident Sunday on Burlington street.

Orders for 'Mums' Being Taken by YWCA

YWCA is taking orders for Homecoming 'mums' through tomorrow at its Iowa Union office.

At Hillcrest, 'mums' are being sold at the main desk. Quadrangle residents can get their 'mums' at the desk in either lobby.

Homecoming day, YWCA will sell 'mums' on campus.

Two Junior from Hunting Accidents

Two persons suffered bullet wounds as the result of hunting accidents Sunday. Both were being treated at Mercy hospital yesterday.

Police said LeRoy Wildman of Morse was accidentally shot in the right thigh by Eugene Welker, Davenport, who was hunting with Wildman. The men were hunting squirrels near Oasis when the accident occurred.

Victim of the second hunting accident was Richard Dolezal Jr., fifteen-year-old son of Richard J. Dolezal, 311 Iowa avenue. Police said Dolezal accidentally shot himself with a .22 caliber rifle while hunting.

He was reported in good condition at Mercy hospital yesterday.

Poor Notes? Class Teaches How To Improve

Do your class notes have that older's look? Are they unreadable and generally worthless when test time rolls around?

A trip to the Chemistry auditorium today at 10:30 a.m. might be the answer to your problem. demonstration on how to take notes will be given at that time.

communication skills classes in course number 108.

Helen Price, communication instructor, will be back of a special giving examples of bad notes, good notes and notes seemingly good but later misleading.

Examples taken from five-minute lectures on the history of language by Prof. John Gerber, of the English department will be shared simultaneously on a screen for all the class to see.

The demonstration is part of "Listening to Lectures," a lecture to be given by Miss Price. It is the second in a series of five inaugurated in communication.

This year as a practical approach to college problems, Gerber said.

Others in the series are "Using Library," "Reading Textbooks," "Reciting and Taking Part in Class" and "Writing Examinations." Today's lecture will be given for communication skills classes with course number 105 sometime later this semester, Gerber said.

Quotas Not Filled; Chest Drive Lags

With just five days remaining in the community chest campaign, total returns received at chest headquarters yesterday stood at $5,323, Mrs. J. L. Records, permanent secretary, reported.

A breakdown of total figures showed the business and professional soliciting division (including employees) has collected $2,669 against a quota of $8,000.43.

The national firms group has reported $1,395 received. Its quota is $2,565.25.

The residential division, with a goal of $2,762.58, has turned in $636.

The Iowa City lodges' quota of $986.64, is balanced by contributions of $100.

University employees have donated $523 against a quota of $3,551.89.

The University hospitals and local schools divisions have not, as yet, turned in their community chest collections.

Eleven Enroll In School for Handicapped

Eleven Iowa children have enrolled in the Iowa hospital-school for severely handicapped children at SUI, W. B. Schoenbohm, director of the school, said yesterday.

One Iowa City student-patient is enrolled in the first group.

The new school, which is scheduled to open this week in temporary quarters, will provide educational and medical care for a maximum of 20 physically handicapped children.

These children must be so handicapped that they cannot be educated in public schools or state institutions.

The student-patients will be provided with restorative treatment and educational activities in addition to 24-hour residential care, usually for periods ranging from 12 to 36 months.

The present maximum of 20 student-patients is necessary because of the temporary quarters. The maximum will be reached by Christmas.

Children now being accepted are between the ages of three and 10 since they have a greater chance of rehabilitation than older children.

All children accepted for admission will be of normal intelligence, allowing for deficiency due to non-attendance of school because of their handicaps.

The school will operate in conjunction with the Children's hospital, the college of medicine and the college of education.

It is not intended to serve as an alternative to public or private schools, agencies or institutions, and will not duplicate the services of any existing agencies.

Pharmacy Students To Receive Awards

Dean R. A. Kuever of the pharmacy department will present 28 awards tomorrow at a meeting of the student branch of the American Pharmaceutical association.

The awards will be given to students identified at the meeting. Fellowships, scholarships, prizes and honors will be included in the list of awards.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the chemistry auditorium. The program also includes a short business session, movie and refreshments.

GOP Plans Big Rally Two Parades Tonight

The GOP campaign caravan rolls into Iowa City tonight to hold the first night rally of its 998 mile trek.

Torchlight parades, music, speeches and a free movie are a part of the caravan's program.

Torchlights will be lit at 7:30 when two groups of marchers start their parade to the rallying spot located on Iowa avenue between Dubuque and Clinton streets, Bob Tyson, parade director said yesterday.

One parade will start from College Hill Park, move down Dodge street to Iowa avenue, west along Iowa avenue to the rallying ground between Dubuque and Clinton streets on Iowa avenue.

The second parade will start on Church street between Dubuque and Clinton streets, and moving west on Iowa avenue to the rallying spot.

Martial music for the parade will be supplied by records from two sound trucks, Tyson said.

Local candidates will ride in convertibles assigned to each parade.

The rally program will start at 8 o'clock when Bob Osmundson begins the introduction of the many candidates.

Following the introductions, two short speeches will be made by local candidates followed by a ten minute speech by Rep. Tom Martin.

Local candidates will be seated to the left of the speaker's platform, state candidates to the right, Tyson said.

Carl Reed and David Long, both seeking re-election to the state commerce commission, will be present.

Herman Knudson, director of the caravan, and Al Doud, both seeking to be reelected in the state senate, will be in the parade.

County candidates scheduled to be present are: A. J. (Pat) Murphy, sheriff; Emory Attig, and Will Snyder, running for the Johnson county board of supervisors; John Knox, auditor; Amos Kelso, campaigning for treasurer; G. M. Ludwig, state rep.; and D. C. Nolan, campaigning for state senator from the Johnson-Iowa district.

After the rally a short movie, the "Dewey Show," will be shown to close the rally.

Arrangements have been made to hold the rally in the Community building in the event of rain, Osmundson said.

Piano Recital First Of Faculty Series

Norma Cross, pianist, will present the first of a series of Wednesday night faculty recitals in studio E tomorrow at 8 p.m. The program will feature a composition, "Eight Miniature Variations," by Wendell Otey, a former SUI student. WSUI-KSUI will broadcast the recital.

Miss Cross will play "Overture in the French Manner" ("Part II in B Minor") by Bach, "Sonata Opus 10, No. 3" by Beethoven and "Eight Miniature Variations" by Otey.

Otey holds masters and doctor degrees from SUI. He now is a teacher in the music department of San Francisco state college. His "Eight Miniature Variations" was composed in 1941.

The piece was written in three different versions, one a piano solo, the other for orchestra. The orchestra arrangement was performed by the university symphony orchestra in 1939 and, an amplified version, by the Pittsburgh symphony with the composer conducting, in 1941.

Otey is now a teacher at San Francisco state college.

Pool Fund Grows; Still Short $1,200

The Community Dad's swimming pool fund received another shot in the arm yesterday with donations of $125 expanded total to $1,313.10.

One-hundred dollars was received from the Iowa City business district, and the Horace M. PTA donated $25.

The swimming pool fund is still $1,200 short of its $12,500 goal.

Engineers' Reception At Union Tomorrow

This year's engineering reception is to be held in the River room of the Iowa Union at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow night, according to Prof. Edward M. Lonsdale of the engineering department.

Invited to the reception are all engineering students and pre-engineering students who are now in the college of liberal arts.

The evening's program is to include an announcement of honors by Dean F. M. Dawson, head of the college of engineering, and music by Dr. Russell Meyers, division of neurosurgery.

TO DISCUSS DUTIES Of County Engineer

County Engineer Ray Justen will tell of "The Duties of a County Engineer" tomorrow at a meeting of the student chapter of the American society of Civil Engineers.

The meeting will be at 1:30 p.m. in room 202 of the engineering building, Gene Larew of the program committee said yesterday.

University Officials Approve Student Council's Straw Vote

The university yesterday gave official approval to the campus straw vote planned by the student council.

Dean Walter R. Goetsch of the office of student affairs okayed the university the arrangements presented him by Rod Gelatt, straw vote committee chairman. The plans call for:

1. Balloting for president, vice-president, U.S. senator and governor of Iowa from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Oct. 28.

2. Ballots of two colors. These will distinguish students of voting age from those too young to vote in the regular election, Nov. 2.

3. Student ID cards as the identification needed to be eligible to vote.

4. Polling places at Currier hall, Quadrangle, Schaeffer hall, East hall and Iowa Union. The polls will be manned by representatives from the campus political groups — Young Republicans, Young Democrats and Students for Wallace.

5. A political rally on the west approach to Old Capitol at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 27. The rally will climax the election campaigns of the campus political groups. Each group will be given 15 minutes to use in whatever way it desires.

The straw vote plans were approved by the student council at their meeting, Oct. 7. Presenting the plan were Gelatt, Joseph Howard of Students for Wallace, William Minshall of Young Republicans and Robert Mohr of Young Democrats.

University officials yesterday also approved the polling sites for the straw vote. T. M. Rehder, director of university dormitories, okayed the use of Currier hall and Quadrangle, Registrar Ted McCarrel okayed the use of Schaeffer hall and East hall, and Earl E. Harper, director of Iowa Union, approved the use of the union.

Postoffice to Boost Foreign Reply Rate

The price of international reply coupons will be raised to 11 cents, effective Oct. 15, Postmaster W. J. Barrow said recently.

International reply coupons are used when a person sends a letter to a foreign country and wants a reply. The sender encloses one of the reply coupons which the recipient can take to the foreign postoffice and receive enough stamps to send an answering letter to the United States.

The coupons now cost nine cents. Almost every nation in the world, including Russia, honors the coupons, Barrow said.

Forty Names Drawn For Petit Jury Duty

Forty more names of Johnson county residents were drawn yesterday as additional petit jurors for the September term of district court by the county jury commission.

The persons summoned must report next Monday to the Johnson county courthouse. The order was issued by Judge James P. Gaffney.

Students Devote 125 Hours to Monument

About 125 man-hours have gone into the Homecoming monument so far, Edward E. Stepanek, chairman of the monument committee, estimated yesterday.

"We have at least 50 more hours to go before it will appear on the west approach to Old Capitol Thursday," he said.

The engineering students plan to assemble the two parts of the monument tomorrow. They will lay out the site and build the platform for the monument today, Stepanek said.

THE PLATFORM Three L

Last in a series of articles the Daily Iowan Research comparing the main political platforms of the Republican, Democratic and Progressive national platforms. In future issues, a leading Progressive will explain party affiliation and "Why a . . ."

REPUBLICANS

"Collective bargaining is an obligation as well as a right applying equally to workers and employers, and the fundamental right to strike is subordinate to paramount considerations of public health and safety. . . We pledge continued study to improve labor-management legislation in the light of experience and changing conditions."

The future of the Taft-Hartley act, as continued or revised legislation, is the central question of the labor issue. Being the product of Senator Taft, Republican conservative leader, it was a reactionary statute by the standards of the time.

In spite of conservative criticism upon it, the act essentially the main principle of the Wagner and Norris-LaGuardia acts. The purpose of the Hartley act, according to its authors, was not only to protect the rights and duties of labor management but to protect individual laborer from the domination of labor boss.

I'D RA Go Re

By SAMUE

Governor Warren has been receiving a great deal of praise for the speeches in which he has been saying blandly that both the Republican and the Democratic parties are good parties, that the country needs both of them, that while it is only natural that we should transfer our administration from one to the other as the years pass, it is important that both remain sound and vigorous, etc.

The trouble is that when it gets to be like that the people don't feel very strongly about voting, and they don't even register, as some recent figures show. There are political pains in the belly of man which are real, and for which very little allowance is made in Governor Warren's fine picture of how one party holds power for a while, then weakens, becomes confused, slips out of office, and rests up in an oppositional capacity, like a flower bulb lying dormant on its side—after which, of course, it comes gaily back, refreshed and invigorated.

When elections come around I always find myself in the same position as a dog looking for a place to lie down. You know how dogs walk around in circles several times before choosing a resting place.

Was always of the opinion this was a habit constructed around the idea that a child in the house may have left a stray roller skate on the floor at one time and the mutt was just being cautious.

Persons who know dogs best, however, tell me it dates back to the days when roller skates weren't in use at all because no one had thought of inventing the sidewalk at that time.

Whatever the reason is, I'm getting dizzy whirling in circles to see all the candidates. We should make a rule that only one presidential candidate can perform at a time.

To confuse the situation even more, word comes from the cranberry headquarters in New York that National Cranberry week is almost upon us.

According to the release, it will also be Chicken week. It didn't specify what type chicken. It will either be chicken week or (the phrasing was rather poor) they are going to start feeding chickens cranberries, thus giving the American public a fowl with cranberry-sauce built in.

And then there was the Carnival of Bands at the Iowa union Saturday where I tried to listen to 13 orchestras and the Ohio game at the same time. The result was almost dementia praecox, and if it hadn't been for the discovery of pretty Ginny Williams and her trio I might have lost grip on things entirely.

Ginny's singing and the trap drum, piano, trumpet combination soothed my savage nerves and also gave light to the idea that the juke box and cozy group affairs may soon turn to live music of the Criterion sort.

Before you reach for the dictionary, the Criteria is what Ginny calls her outfit.

Courtesy a Chain Reaction

Courtesy is one of those things you don't think much about—at least not in a positive way. You are pretty unhappy when someone shoves you around and you resent the attitudes of some clerks, waiters and people in general.

With all that has been written and said about courtesy, it seems there just isn't much left to say. Way back in grade school you probably learned that little gem: "Politeness is to do and say, the kindest things in the kindest way."

Jokes and cartoons depict persons like a butcher insulting his customers because they can buy or not, he doesn't worry. The buyers have been waiting for quite a few years for what is known as a "buyers' market." That term, divorced from its economic implications and taken more subjectively, means that the buyer is the boss and "the customer is always right."

A move by the Tri-States theaters recently has helped give the customer a break. Not only that, it has given the theaters a break too. This chain has instituted a "courtesy campaign."

It's like a game. Each theater tries to be more polite and courteous than the next one and the customer gets politeness along with the picture. The way it helps the theater is that whatever infection there is in courtesy will probably settle in the movie-goers themselves. Broad-brimmed hats will be doffed. Chattering during the picture may diminish, as also might the volume of cracking peanut shells and popcorn sacks.

Actually then, it isn't the theater personnel that need emphasis on courtesy quite as much as the patrons do.

The same thing is true over the city. Theaters are not the only places where tempers are shortened by discourteous treatment.

And as a postscript let's consider this week—Homecoming. No other time of the year offers quite the same opportunity to be a little more courteous to a customer, a clerk or a neighbor. The city will be host to a large number of visitors and by giving them a courteous start in their first contacts here, who knows how many tempers may survive the hectic weekend?

The Missing Mission to Moscow

During most of the campaign the Republicans have refused to bring foreign relations into politics. They have asserted a most sanctimonious stand that politics and the world picture do not go well together. There have been a few allegations against President Truman's policies, but for the most part the campaign from the GOP side has been emphasis on good management and veiled suggestions that Dulles could do more for the country than anyone the Democrats have.

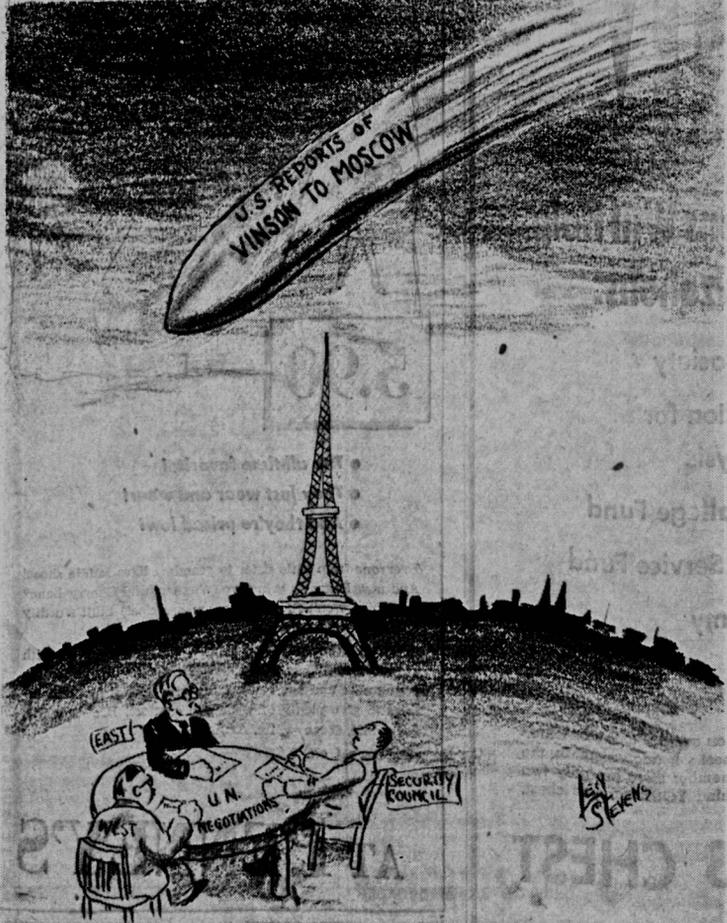

But when Truman released the idea that a chief justice of the supreme court would go to Moscow, that was more than the Republicans could take. They made political hay out of topics they had earlier piously passed up.

As of now no one apparently has publicized any good reason for the action by Truman. Even his own team advised him not to call that play—after it happened. But by then the damage was done.

The Republicans weren't the only ones who objected. The fact that the President and his Secretary of State had disagreed over the matter had a definite depressive effect on the UN meeting in Paris. The delegates speculated that perhaps politics was involved, but at the same time they feared a "deal" behind the backs of the western powers.

But the Vinson trip didn't materialize. Many diplomats and dignitaries have settled back after "a close one." Not so the men who help steer the political routes of Mr. Truman. Somebody slipped the President a campaign cigar—and a man looks rather chagrined when a cigar explodes in his face.

Special Representative from the United States

To wait for one's future to come out of an apparatus like that is a little bit like waiting for it to come out of a machine. Sometimes a man doesn't have a decent place to sleep his kids, and to tell him that in the normal course of party alternation, somebody who sympathizes with him is bound to come to the top within twenty years is only a fancy way of saying "No!" to him.

As a matter of fact, the substance of Mr. Warren's amiable position is that there are no issues, that all of our problems are problems of efficiency and unity within the two parties, that it's just a question of which dry good store you want to take from.

I believe there is a curious but understandable tendency at work among us to try to get politics out of politics, to rationalize our political system as we have our industrial system, to make it a matter of complete registration, of course, and of complete voting, but with, perhaps, a diminishing sense that there are vital differences between the directions in which one can cast one's vote.

It is an effort to put our political activity into the hands of a couple of sound organizations and then forget about it, as we have done with, say, the matter of steel production.

But in this process all the blood drains out of our political activity. For there remains the man who doesn't have a good place to sleep his kids; and he may find it a little hard to await the swing of the pendulum with the same comfortable feeling as has Governor Warren that everything is perfectly in order.

He wants someone to cry out his anger for him; a noise, of course, which would be hopelessly out of place in the presence of two neat assemblies of automatic, self-lubricating, double-compensating, positive action machinery.

McBride's Haul

By BILL MCBRIDE

By the Sunday Register's editorial page I see the question, "Did the Swedes Discover Minnesota?" has popped up again. I for one am glad the Register saw fit to pull this subject back out into the daylight where we can all get a look at it.

Your first thought may be, "What do I care who discovered Minnesota?" Just the other day I heard a man say, "Who is Minnesota?" Obviously he meant to say "Where is Minnesota?" but you can see what the general train of thought is on a subject like this.

This is election year, and it's high time we started thinking objectively. That sentence probably seems disconnected to the discussion of whether or not Swedes discovered Minnesota, but editorial pages all over the country are talking about this being election year and I don't want to be left out of it entirely.

An agent dropped a card and suggested I say something about Henry Wallace. I'm afraid I'm going to have to disappoint that agent because I refuse to get mixed up in a political argument over Henry Wallace or any other presidential candidate. I don't want to get that far into the act. Thanks for the card anyway, agent.

When elections come around I always find myself in the same position as a dog looking for a place to lie down. You know how dogs walk around in circles several times before choosing a resting place.

Was always of the opinion this was a habit constructed around the idea that a child in the house may have left a stray roller skate on the floor at one time and the mutt was just being cautious.

Persons who know dogs best, however, tell me it dates back to the days when roller skates weren't in use at all because no one had thought of inventing the sidewalk at that time.

Whatever the reason is, I'm getting dizzy whirling in circles to see all the candidates. We should make a rule that only one presidential candidate can perform at a time.

ial Taft-Hartley Act

bosses in the unions. The New Dealers would bring back the conditions under the Roosevelt administration in order to gain the labor vote. But labor itself has shown the tendency to favor many of the corrections written into the Taft-Hartley act even while crying for amending of some of its too conservative provisions.

As an example, the act provides for a ninety-day cooling-off period during a strike in order to allow time for mediation. Many workers like such an arrangement because they can still work and draw pay even while on strike. New Dealers would denounce this as a hindrance to the union's strength because it would let the employer continue production in spite of a strike.

To reiterate, formulating a real legal equality between labor and management would be a major feat. To gain the labor vote the New Dealers will take any political direction opposite to that of the conservative Republican authors of the Taft-Hartley act. Consequently, the Democrats are not likely to write a truly-balanced labor legislation anymore than the Republicans.

PROGRESSIVES "We hold that every American who works for a living has an inalienable right to an income sufficient to provide him and his family with a high standard of living."

Progressives planks provide for policies that would be popularly labeled as more radical than that of the New Dealers. Naturally, repeal of the Taft-Hartley act is proposed as well as renewal of the Wagner and Norris-LaGuardia acts.

Injunction action by business against labor is to be prevented out there would scarcely be any need for such prevention if the Progressives' program of industrial nationalization were carried out.

No big business would exist to get injunctions issued. Small businesses would still prevail but their labor problems would usually be those found in small, specialized trade-unions instead of huge industrial unions composed mainly of unskilled and semiskilled workers.

On other general labor problems the Progressive platform promises approximately the same as the Democrats. These include an increase in the minimum wage and equal pay for women.

One big point of difference is that both Democrats and Republicans propose legislation to evict Communists from labor ranks; the Progressives make no mention of it.

Sheriff, County Attorney Sing of Lazy Voters

Iowa Citizens Hear Baum, Dane, White

Iowa Citizens had a chance to hear the views of three major political parties at a "Let's Vote" rally sponsored by the League of Women Voters in the Community building last night.

Presenting the stand of the Progressive party, Prof. Bernard Baum charged that the "cold war" between this country and Soviet Russia was brought on by a "league of frightened financiers" to further their economic interests.

He stated that the cold war could be ended by discussions with Russia if "negotiations are carried on by people who do not have a stake in the cold war."

H. J. Dane, chairman of the Johnson county Republican central committee, stated that there was no basic difference between the parties. "The issue is," he said, "who is the best man and the best party to solve these problems?"

County attorney Jack C. White, illustrating the Democratic viewpoint, compared the political platforms of the Democrats and Republicans.

He described stands the platforms take on such problems as civil rights, housing, labor and taxation, and then compared the viewing record of the Democratic and Republican members of the 80th Congress on these issues.

Earlier in the program Prof. Russell Ross of the SUI political science department spoke on "16 Don'ts for Voting."

A skit by Marold Glasper, deputy sheriff and county attorney White portrayed the "let George do it" attitude of lazy voters.

Asked to Send Prints

Prof. Mauricio Lasansky recently received an invitation to send some of his work to an exhibition in Philadelphia, the art department said yesterday. The Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Art asked him to send a set of three of his latest prints to its 46th annual water color and print exhibition. The show will run from Nov. 7 through Dec. 12.

HELPFUL HINTS

for the PREPARATION of GOOD CLASSIFIED ADS

1—Full descriptions arouse interest. Do not try to save too many words. Brief descriptions often fail to give the selling points. When possible give price.

2—Make it easy for the prospect to contact you. If phone number is given, indicate what hours you will be around to answer calls.

3—Do not expect to secure results with one or two insertions of your ad. A six-day order is best and cheapest. You can always stop the ad and be rebated for unused insertions.

4—If you do not receive inquiries the wording of your ad probably needs changing. Our ad dept. can help you in writing your ad.

5—Shape your ad to definitely draw the attention of the reader. Make your ad read the way you like to see other ads.

Highest Court Convenes Overtime Pay Ruling Stands

By RUTH GMEINER
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The supreme court yesterday refused to reconsider a decision which the government says will force 44 industries to pay "undesirable" boosts in overtime pay.

The court opened the first business session of its 1948-49 term by voting 5 to 3 to stand fast on its "overtime on overtime" ruling of last June.

The ruling, in a case involving longshoremen, held that workers who already get premium pay for working nights, Sundays or holidays must also be paid overtime for any work in excess of 40 hours a week. The overtime pay would be figured on a basis including the premium pay, rather than on the basic pay scale alone.

The government had sought to have the court reverse the ruling, holding it was "erroneous" and "virtually impossible" to apply. But the court in effect ordered the labor department to start enforcement action, which has been held up pending the appeal.

Justices Felix Frankfurter, Robert H. Jackson, and Harold H. Burton, who dissented from the original 5 to 3 ruling, voted to reconsider the case. Justice William O. Douglas, who sat out the case last June, did not vote yesterday.

The court devoted its first full business session to cutting out its own work for the new term. It acted on 264 appeals which accumulated during the summer recess. The justices agreed to review 30 of the cases. In the others, they either upheld the lower court, refused to hear on appeal, or dismissed an appeal.

In some of the most important of these the court:

1. Refused to review a national labor relations board ruling requiring employers to give unions advance notice of any merit increases to be given individual employes.

The supreme court's action in the "merit raise" case backed up a 2-1 decision by the Cincinnati circuit court which ruled that the national labor relations act requires bargaining over merit pay boosts.

It also supported a contention by the national labor relations board that "a gratuitous increase on the basis of merit does, in actuality, effectuate changes of pay which are by the (national) act made the subject of collective bargaining."

2. Refused to hear an appeal by former WAC Capt. Kathleen Nash Durant, serving a five-year sentence for her part in the theft of $1,500,000 worth of Hessian crown jewels.

3. Postponed decision on a plea for a rehearing by 11 leaders of the joint anti-Fascist refugee committee, who were convicted of contempt of congress.

4. Upheld the right of states to ban slot machines, pinball games and other such devices.

Democrats Launch Membership Drive On SUI Campus

SUI's Young Democrats last night launched a membership drive to expand their "nucleus organization."

Meeting in Schaeffer hall, the group acted on a suggestion by their faculty advisor, Russel G. Whitesel of the political science department, to conduct a membership drive with "all the members" participating.

To expand the "nucleus organization," Whitesel told them the group needs more than one person or a small committee to make sufficient contacts.

Young Democrats President Henry Allan instructed the members to recruit their friends as prospective organization members and bring them to the next meeting, Oct. 21.

Allan named Bill Eads, Ida Grove, to head a temporary promotion committee sparking the membership drive.

Starting preparations for the Oct. 28 campus straw vote, approved by the university yesterday, the group set up three organizational committees. Named to head a speakers and research committee was Sherwin Markman, Des Moines; a banners, placards and posters committee, Earl Zehr, Manson, and music committee, Vincent Hylbak.

The group postponed an election of officers scheduled for the meeting last night.

Two Pay $80 for Driving Violations

Lloyd Wesley King, SUI student from Corydon, was fined $52.50 in police court yesterday on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

The charge resulted from an accident at 1 a.m. Sunday when a car driven by King collided with an automobile driven by Francis E. Dorn, SUI student from Fort Madison.

Police Judge Emil G. Trott also fined Hugh L. Williamson, route 1, $27.50 for failure to have his car under control. The charge was filed after Williamson was involved in an accident yesterday.

Women Should Apply For Senior Privileges

Seniors and women over 22-years-old living in town may apply for senior privileges at the office of student affairs before Oct. 18, Pat Hackett, advisor to Town Women, said yesterday. To be eligible for senior privileges, a student must have a 2.0 cumulative grade average in all work attempted and be of senior standing or 22 years of age or over, she said.

Ross Plans to Attend Parley in Des Moines

Prof. Russell Ross, of the political science department, will leave for Des Moines this afternoon to attend a convention of the League of Municipalities. He plans to stay until Thursday.

Cooperative Names New Board, Notes Membership Growth

The new board of directors of the Student Cooperative store was elected at the annual stockholders' meeting in the Iowa Union last night.

Samuel M. Fahr, Robert E. Riggs, Mrs. Donald Kofron, Les Person, Kenneth McCart, Richard Sweitzer and Mrs. Dorothy Thomas are the new board members. Officers will be elected at the board's first meeting.

The annual report presented by Howard Cook, president of the retiring board, showed a membership growth in the store of approximately 45 percent during the year. Improvement of physical facilities, including installation of a false ceiling to conserve fuel, enclosure of the rear porch and complete screening of the store was also reported.

Guests present at a reception following the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ambrose and Dear and Mrs. Dewey Stuit. Mrs. Howard Cook and Mrs. Hew Roberts, wife of the store's faculty advisor, served coffee.

The student store was organized in January, 1947 by married veterans from Hawkeye and Riverdale housing areas to provide themselves with groceries at the lowest possible price.

Cook noted that food prices have risen 48.8 percent since the store was established in the skating shelter on the Iowa river bank north of University theater.

The out-going board expressed appreciation for the generosity and understanding of university officials and to Don Messick, manager of the store, for his excellent work.

SUI English Prof. Seymour Pitcher, Progressive party candidate for the U.S. senate, will appear on the "Three Men on a Limb" radio show over station WMT, Cedar Rapids tonight.

City Limits Set Beyond Local Airport

The Iowa City airport and adjacent roads were "brought into" the city limits last night by a resolution of the city council. A public hearing on rezoning this land as industrial area was set for Nov. 8 at 7:30 p.m.

The council's action followed the request of the airport commission several weeks ago for inclusion within the city and the recommendation of the action by the zoning and planning commission.

Another resolution making all property from the present city limits and the south line of the airport to the Iowa river within the city limits was delayed until the next meeting, Oct. 25. This action was taken to allow objectors time to present their case.

The William Horrab Construction company was granted an extension of time until Aug. 1, 1949, to complete the paving project on Court, Lusk, Bayard and F streets.

A new actuated traffic signal was purchased for the corner of Burlington and Dubuque streets from the H. B. Allen company of Des Moines for $4,585.

Councilmen explained that the present pre-timed sign acts as a bottleneck in heavy traffic because of the actuated sign at Clinton street.

In other actions the council:

1. Passed an ordinance changing the name of Lee street, located between Seventh Avenue and F street, to Seventh Avenue court.

2. Heard Jim Mennen of the Beal Terminix company, Burlington, describe the damage done by termites at the Community building. He estimated an extermination job would cost between $3,000 to $4,000.

3. Ordered an ordinance drawn up placing stop signs on the Bayard, Woolf and Rider street intersections. Alderman James Jones said that a petition for these signs was presented to the council several weeks ago without any action being taken.

Five Auto Accidents Reported to Police Here over Weekend

Five traffic accidents were reported to police over the weekend.

Two SUI students were involved in an accident that occurred at 1 a.m. Sunday at the intersection of Burlington and Van Buren streets.

The two cars side-swiped each other and the car driven by Francis Eugene Dorn, A1 of Des Moines, struck a fire hydrant. The second car was driven by Lloyd King, 320 Ellis avenue.

Dorn said in his driver's report that the grill, bumper and fender of his car were damaged. The rear fender and bumper of the car driven by King were damaged.

David William Celander, SUI student from Des Moines, and Norman Coder, Lone Tree, were involved in a second accident Sunday at 3:45 p.m. The accident occurred on E. Washington street.

Celander estimated $150 damage to the car he was driving but did not estimate the damage to the Coder car in his report filed with police.

The third accident Sunday occurred on Burlington street at 2:30 p.m. Cars involved were driven by Lester Kempf, 314 S. Dubuque street, and Virgil Troyer, 618 Brown street.

Kempf estimated $95 damage to his car and $40 damage to the car driven by Troyer.

At 4:30 p.m. Saturday cars driven by Robert J. Dunlap, route 1, and Ralph Walsh, 319 S. Lucas street, were involved in a collision at the intersection of Lafayette and Clinton streets.

Dunlap did not estimate the damage to the car driven by Walsh.

Damage estimated at $75 was done to a car driven by Glen W. Herring, North Liberty, in a second accident Saturday. The collision occurred at 8 a.m. on Newton road near the Children's hospital.

The second car was driven by L. C. Proshok but no estimate of damage to his car was made.

Panhellenic Scholarship Cup Again Goes to Pi Beta Phi

Pi Beta Phi social sorority was awarded the Panhellenic scholarship cup for the second consecutive year at the annual Panhellenic scholarship dinner held last night in the Iowa Union.

Ranking second and third in scholarship the past year were Kappa Alpha Theta and Kappa Kappa Gamma, respectively.

Nearly seven hundred guests attended the banquet, including all members of the 12 sororities on campus, alumnae and housemothers.

The traveling trophy has been awarded annually for the past 13 years. If won by the same sorority for three consecutive years, the cup becomes the permanent possession of that group.

Prof. Nellie Slayton Aurner of the English department was guest speaker. She has been a member of the faculty here since 1914 and served as dean of women from 1918 to 1921.

One of Iowa's distinguished women scholars, Professor Aurner is the author of several books including biographies of Charles Bundy Wilson and Benjamin F. Shambaugh in the SUI Memoirs.

Professor Aurner, who received her doctor's degree from SUI, is a member of many professional and educational groups. Among them are Phi Beta Kappa, the Biographical Society of England, Modern Language Association of America and the American Association of University Women.

Guests of honor at the scholarship dinner included Dean and Mrs. Dewey B. Stuit, Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Goetsch, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gage, Helen Focht, Lorissa Sheldon and Helen Reich, advisee to the Panhellenic council.

One Vacancy Listed In Advanced ROTC

Only one more person can be accepted into advanced infantry ROTC, the military department revealed yesterday.

Quota for the advanced medical dental, engineering, and infantry units is 160; enrollment yesterday stood at 159.

An estimated 1,425 students are working toward their military requirement, the department said. Fifty of these are band members, fulfilling the requirement by marching in SUI's band.

Two years of basic is required for graduation, except for veterans or students formally excused.

Sally Johnson President Of Pi Beta Phi Pledges

Sally Johnson has been elected president of the Pi Beta Phi pledge class.

Other officers include Colleen Newell, vice-president; Jeanette McLeod, secretary; Sue Stevens, treasurer; Phillip Eschbach, scholarship chairman; Jane Doornick, activities chairman; Louise Archie, social chairman; Killen Diddy, historian, and Jane Martin, censor.

Farmers Hold Search For Phantom Panther

ANAMOSA (P)—Thirty-six Jones county farmers held a fruitless hunt for an animal which has been attacking their livestock.

Henry Weideman and Elmer James, who farm south of Martelle, saw an animal which they said looked like a panther or some similar beast of the large cat species.

Two calves have been reported killed by a wild animal in the Martelle vicinity.

Nothing was found on the hunt.
