Cross-Country Trek Ends for Portland Boys

RED WING, MINN. (AP)—Two boys, one not yet in his teens, were held in jail yesterday after a trip from Portland, Ore., which authorities said they managed on $8 and a few minor thefts.

The 12-year-old and 14-year-old said they set out on the jaunt because they "didn't like school at Portland." Questioned by authorities here, they confessed they ran away from home and made the 2,000-mile journey with $8 in their pockets.

They were lodged in Goodhue county jail until arrangements could be made for their return to Portland.

Hail Truman in Chicago

CHICAGOANS STARE AT PRESIDENT Truman at the corner of State and Jackson streets in the Windy City as Truman grins and waves on his way to the Blackstone hotel. With the President in the rear seat of the car are former mayor Edward Kelly (center) and Mayor Martin Kennelly (right), Kelly, with Jacob Arvey, chairman of the Cook county central committee, and Senator Scott Lucas (D-Ill.), rode into Chicago aboard the Presidential special. Truman made a major address in Chicago last night.

President Hints GOP Akin to Hitler Forces

CHICAGO (AP)—President Truman, wildly acclaimed by cheering Chicagoans, said last night forces he implies are akin to those that built up Hitler, Mussolini and Tojo now operate "through the Republican party."

He said the threat is "serious."

RADIO TALK CUT OFF

NEW YORK (AP)—President Truman was cut off the air last night by two national radio networks because his time ran out before he finished his address.

The Columbia Broadcasting System and the Mutual Broadcasting system said the Democratic national committee had purchased a half hour's time on the networks and that when the time was up the President was cut off although he was still speaking.

Russia Vetoes Latest UN Berlin Settlement

PARIS (UP)—A Russian veto last night killed a United Nations security council plan for ending the Berlin blockade crisis. The United States, however, kept the door open for a settlement outside the UN.

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, casting his country's 27th veto in the security council killed the proposal by merely raising his hand when the vote came.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman will meet today to decide on their next step.

Meanwhile the break between President Truman and Gov. Dewey on Palestine dashed the last hope here that the United Nations can find a peaceful settlement at this assembly, delegates said yesterday.

Delegates believed Mr. Truman's exposition Sunday of his stand on Palestine may result in the defeat of the late Count Folke Bernadotte's plan for partitioning the Holy Land. These delegates saw no hope for any positive UN action now.

The security council will meet this morning to discuss Egypt's charge of alleged treaty violations by Israeli forces. Britain, it is known, will urge the council to "do something" about continuing treaty violations.

Russ May Evacuate Troops from Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—Following the pattern set in Korea and Czechoslovakia, Russia will withdraw her occupation troops from here and set up an east German state shortly, the Berliner Montag Echo said yesterday.

The British-licensed newspaper said "high Soviet officials" here had informed German Communists of Russia's plan to end her occupation rule.

Berlin's city assembly, meeting in the British sector, voted to hold elections Dec. 5, despite the Soviet sector's virtual ban. The assembly also decided that delegates from the eastern sector elected two years ago will continue in office until elections are permitted there.

Simultaneous announcements on formation of the new state and withdrawal of Soviet troops will be made "shortly," the paper quoted Soviet officials as saying.

Arabs Bomb Haifa; Jews Hit at Hebron

TEL AVIV (AP)—Arab hit-and-run bombers raided the Haifa bay area yesterday and an Egyptian army communique said Jewish forces attacked Arab positions near Beit Jibrin, 12 miles northeast of Hebron.

Egyptian reinforcements were rushed to the Hebron area, southwest of Jerusalem, to support the Arab irregulars under attack there, an official spokesman said.

Haifa dispatches said Arab planes dropped a dozen or more bombs "indiscriminately" in the bay area yesterday, causing considerable damages but no casualties.

One hundred thousand Arab refugees were reported in "serious condition" as the result of Israel's eight-day campaign in the northern Negev desert area.

French Troops, Police Occupy Key Coal Fields

PARIS (AP)—Thirty thousand heavily armed French troops and police occupied approximately half of the nation's key northern coal fields yesterday and seized at least 12 struck mines.

Touch of Old West Irks Swiss; Order U.S. Rodeo to Go

GENEVA (AP)—Forty cowboys and cowgirls of an American rodeo company were ordered expelled from Switzerland yesterday after a free-for-all fight last night at the Palais des Expositions which was somewhat in the tradition of the old West.

The outbreak left a large number of Geneva policemen with bruised knuckles, tattered uniforms and slight headaches.

Larry Sunbrock of Winter Garden, Fla., whom the Swiss newspapers described as "chief of the tribe," still was in the police station explaining the fracas to the police, the American consul and his creditors. He was ordered to pay 1,000 francs (about $250) for torn uniforms, lost buttons and other police property damage.

Dorothy Breslin, nine-year-old trick rider from De Land, Fla., was among those ordered to leave.

The Communist newspaper Voix Ouvriere jumped into the argument and said the cowboys had come to Switzerland "in application of the Marshall plan."

It all started at the end of last night's performance when a Swiss named Michaud accepted the show's challenge to ride a sorrel broncho named Income Tax for at least 10 seconds and win 1,000 francs.

Michaud claimed he did it. The cowboys said he wasn't even riding Income Tax but had managed to hang onto a horse named Fifty for about 10 seconds.

There also was an argument over an automobile which Sunbrock engaged with a deposit of 1,500 francs to be driven up a ramp by a daredevil and hurled over a bus. Apparently that dispute concerned how much of the 1,500 francs the owner of the automobile was to retain after picking up his car on the other side of the bus.

Dewey Begins Final Seven-State Sweep For Presidential Bid

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey embarked last night on a carefully-planned, seven-state tour which will wind up his bid for election as president.

The governor's 17-car campaign special train was scheduled to leave at midnight, bound for Chicago where he will make the first of four major speeches tonight.

Windup Saturday

The tour will end in New York City after speeches in Cleveland and Boston. The GOP candidate will make his campaign wind-up speech in Madison Square garden next Saturday night.

In his final four major speeches, Dewey planned to make the same kind of calm and generalized statements he has used since the start of the campaign.

Television Coverage

The seven states Dewey will hit this tour include New York, Massachusetts, Illinois, Indiana, Rhode Island, Ohio and Connecticut. In addition to his four major speeches, there will be about a dozen rear-platform appearances.

The Republicans planned to give Dewey's four finishing speeches the biggest possible public distribution. Each will have radio network and television coverage.

Swing to Lecture Tonight on History

Raymond G. Swing, radio news analyst, will be in Iowa City today to lecture at 8 p.m. at the Iowa Union in the first event in the University lecture series for 1948-1949.

Swing, the author of "In the Name of Sanity," will speak tonight on "History on the March."

Students and faculty of SUI and the general public may still get tickets at the Iowa Union desk.

Favors Car-Tops Since Sunday Shakeup

Michael Fody, A4, West Branch, came to two conclusions Sunday night — but they've cost him roughly $50 each.

Fody and three other persons were shaken up when his car left a country road near here, rolled into an eight-foot ditch and turned over. The car skidded in

Germans May Fly for Airlift

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four German labor leaders yesterday offered to supply former German war pilots to fly the airlift to Berlin.

The offer was made by German free trade union leaders at conferences with Undersecretary of War Draper.

The unionists, representing organized workers in Berlin and the three western occupation zones, will begin a tour of U.S. industrial centers Thursday.

The labor representatives told a news conference, sponsored by the American Federation of Labor that they could furnish "more pilots than the Americans need" for the critical task of getting supplies to the western sectors of Berlin.

The proposal to furnish German Luftwaffe pilots to fly the American planes under American command is being studied by Draper, the union leaders said.

"We have enough pilots willing to lay down their lives for the airlift," they told reporters.

End Local 'Dimout' By Replacing Wire

Iowa City's business district was almost entirely "lit up" last night after a city crew repaired a burned out wire in the all-night system yesterday afternoon.

Nineteen of the 71 downtown lights are in the all-night system and a few weeks ago all 19 were unlighted. This required that the other business district lights remain on all night although they normally would be turned off at midnight.

Last night 15 of the 19 all-night lights were burning and city officials said that the unlighted lamps might only need replacement of the bulbs.

The downtown lighting problem reached a peak late last month when a survey of the 71 lights showed that about one-half of the lamps were not lighted.

Senator to Speak, Dine Here Tonight

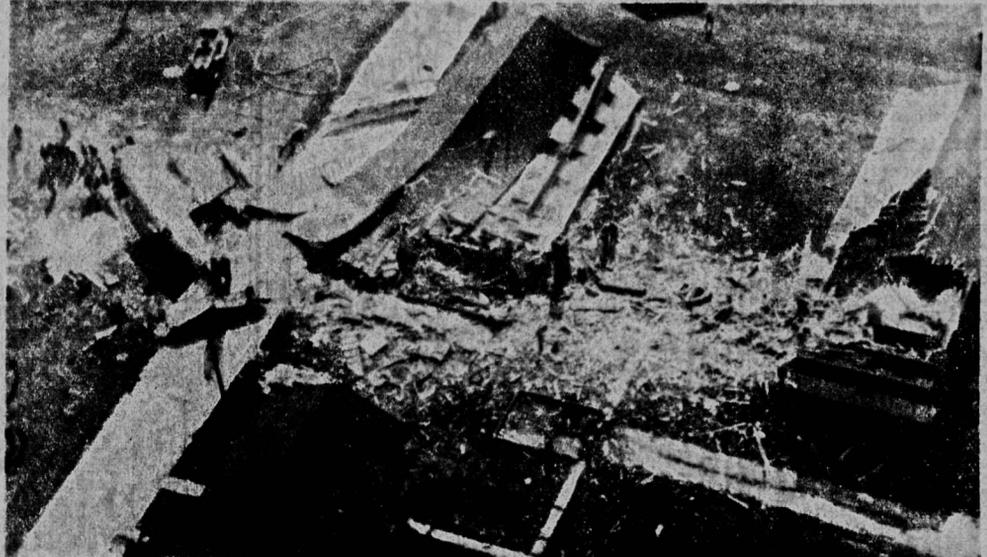

U. S. Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper will be honored at a dinner to be given at 6:45 tonight in the Hotel Jefferson.

The former governor of Iowa will be presented by Rep. Tom Martin, following introductions of other state and local candidates, county GOP chairman Hal Dane said yesterday.

The co-chairman of the county GOP's, Mrs. George Hunter, will preside at the dinner, Dane added.

Hickenlooper, elected to the senate in 1944, is the chairman of the joint committee on atomic energy.

Three Killed as Transport Makes Matchwood of Barracks

SWATH OF DESTRUCTION left by a C-47 transport plane as it plowed through two barracks at Chanute field, Ill., Sunday night is shown above. The big two-engine plane took the top off one barracks and demolished a second before it smashed into the ground killing the crew of three and injuring 19. Five of the 19 passengers, all servicemen, still were in serious condition, the other 14 being listed as "non-critical." The crash occurred when the pilot overshot the field in a thick fog.

Attributes Political Talk Ban To 'Positive' Unwritten Policy

DES MOINES (AP)—The state board of education said yesterday its ban against political speeches on educational institutional campuses is the result of "a long time, very positive policy through the years."

Dave Dancer, board secretary, said "that doesn't mean the ban would be in the minutes of the board meetings."

This comment was in reply to a question about weekend reports that the board has no written record of such a ban.

Dancer commented, "A lot of policies are observed through common usage. There are a lot of common laws not in the law books, you know."

The board's policy has been the subject of considerable controversy and discussion since the board several months ago banned a proposed address on the University of Iowa campus by Henry Wallace.

As a result, a subcommittee was appointed several weeks ago to make a study of the matter, but it has not yet made a report.

The ban came up again last week after Sen. Harry Cain (R-Wash.) urged the election of Dewey in a speech in MacBride auditorium on campus.

Iowa Democrats have criticized the Cain appearance as an example of what they call "lop-sided" use of the political speech ban.

Two Men Hold Up Bank, Flee in Car

KAHOKA, MO. (AP)—The Exchange bank of Kahoka was robbed yesterday by two armed men who escaped in an automobile after locking the bank president and 13 other persons in the bank vault.

One report was that more than $3,000 was taken, but R. G. Hiller, the bank president, said the amount had not been determined and that no estimate would be made until today.

At Keokuk, authorities there reported $9,294 was taken in the hold-up. They said the money was in bills of small denomination.

Hiller said the unmasked men, both armed with army type revolvers, were strangers to the persons in the bank. Authorities said they were driving a gray automobile with Nebraska license plates.

They were last reported seen about three blocks from the bank in a car headed toward state highway 4.

Cocktails to Cradles But for Good Cause

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The hands that shake the cocktails will rock the cradle come election day.

With bars closed during voting hours, the AFL bartenders union yesterday offered its members as baby-sitters. The union is interested in a heavy vote because of two liquor propositions on the California ballot.

School Stop Sign Purchase Rejected By Narrow Margin

The city council last night turned down by a vote of three to two a proposal for the purchase of three school stop signs.

The resolution, introduced by Alderman W. H. Grandrath, proposed paying $750 for the signs to be located at the direction of the chief of police and the police and public safety committee.

Instead the council, on the suggestion of Alderman James Jones, decided to meet with committees from the PTA and school board to study the problem and attempt to strengthen the schoolboy patrol.

Voting with Grandrath for his proposal was Alderman Jones. Aldermen Max S. Hawkins, James Callahan and Clark Mighell opposed it. Charles Smith and Frank Fryauf, Jr., abstained from voting.

A group of people, led by Evan Hultman, president of the SUI student council and president of Hawkeye Village, presented their views on the school stop sign problem.

Hultman claimed that excessive speed on Burlington street and Iowa avenue was the basic cause of accidents on those streets. He recommended speed limits be enforced, a school crossing sign at Burlington and Madison streets be installed, and some type of safety drive or safety week be put into effect.

In other business the council:

1. Received a letter from City Attorney William Bartley explaining that the swimming pool would cost an estimated $135,000, requiring an additional bond issue. He suggested a $25,000 bond issue, to be voted on at an election, to cover the $10,000 additional for the pool and $15,000 for a concession.

2. Passed a resolution raising the wages of city street employees five cents an hour, effective Nov. 1.

3. Approved the installation of seven stop signs in the Woolf avenue, Bayard and Rider street area.

4. Authorized payments totaling $12,335 for various swimming pool contracts including the water heater, backfill, filter system labor costs and the drainage system.

5. Appointed ten judges for the Nov. 2 election including John Ressler, A. Younkim, Lee Gibson, John C. Miller, B. F. Carter, Martin Vevera, Louis Villhair, William Hildebrand, Lewis Smith and L. A. Powers.

Sioux City Board To Rule on 'Rope'

SIoux CITY (AP)—Mayor Dan J. Conley said yesterday that a civic advisory board will rule on whether to ban the motion picture "Rope" from Sioux City theaters.

The Sioux City parent teachers council has objected to the picture and asked that the city's "Review and Advisory committee" pass on its showing, the mayor said.

Nineteen clergymen, teachers, and civic leaders who are members of the board will review the movie today at a special showing, he said.

Revolt Seeks Gonzalez Overthrow in Paraguay

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A military revolt raged last night in Asuncion, capital of Paraguay.

The government radio said its forces were battling with an army group led by Col. Carlos Montanaro, who sought to overthrow the regime of President Natalicio Gonzalez.

There was no direct communication with Asuncion and the situation there appeared to be confused. The government radio announced that Montanaro had surrendered, then said an hour later he had backed down on a promise to surrender and fighting continued.

Tuesday Morning Quarterbacks Call the Signals

You'll Agree Youel's Had Big Weekend

By STAN OPOTOWSKY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Then there's the case of wrong-way Jim Youel.

The quarterback was sold by the Boston Yanks to the Detroit Lions of the National league for the waiver price. He received the news and hopped a train for his new job.

Trouble was someone told him, he thinks, that he was sold to the Philadelphia Eagles. At any rate, he reported to the Eagles in time to play against Chicago, only to learn that he was Detroit property instead. So Youel spent the week-end with relatives in Pennsylvania and reported to the Lions yesterday—four days late.

But that was just part of it. When he got to Detroit, Youel was informed he had been traded to the Los Angeles Rams.

At least Youel knew where he was. End Jeff Schreiner of Devens, Mass., college scored the winning touchdown against Massachusetts Saturday but he'll have to go to the movies to see how he did it.

His team was losing by one point in the last period at Ft. Devens when Back Fran Neale threw Schreiner a pass. He caught it in the end zone, smashed into a goal post and knocked himself cold.

Then there's the sad case of Referee Jerry Bennett. He called several penalties against Oceanside Junior college at El Centro, Cal., Friday night, but he didn't know what roughness was until the game ended.

Oceanside Coach Dick Rutherford charged him with blood in his eyes. Bennett headed on the dead run for the gymnasium, the Oceanside players cut off his line of retreat. Enraged hometown fans and El Centro college players rushed to his aid. They fought it out until the cops rushed in with tear gas.

Bennett was not reported injured, but several others were.

Ohio State
COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Assistant Ohio State Football Coach Jack Graf, who scouted several Northwestern games, said yesterday the Buckeyes will face their toughest opponents at Evanston Saturday.

Hawks Enjoy Rest To Watch Movies

The Iowa football team skipped a regular practice session for the first time this season yesterday.

Partly in appreciation for the Hawks' great showing against Notre Dame and partly to give them some needed rest, Dr. Eddie Anderson gave the players a day away from the drill field.

However, they did have a lengthy meeting late in the afternoon. They saw two movies, one of the game here Saturday and the other of last year's Wisconsin-Iowa tilt at Madison won by the Badgers, 46-14.

Center Dick Woodard was named by Anderson yesterday as Iowa's game captain for the Wisconsin game next Saturday.

Passes Worry Badgers; Five Swell Injured List

MADISON, WIS. (AP)—Wisconsin's football team was excused from practice yesterday to see movies of the Ohio State game and hear a scout's report of Iowa.

Stress this week will be placed on pass defense. The Buckeyes made all five of their touchdowns with passes.

Bob Weiske, senior line backer, cracked two bones just above his wrist and he may not see any action at all this weekend. Others suffering injuries included Ben Bendrick, Bob Radcliffe, Charles Yderstad, and Jim Embach.

'The Old Professor' Leads Mentors On Lighthearted 'Sports Trail'

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK (AP)—Old Professor was listing badly to port, or from port. Let it never be said the old gent was listless when he met with his Monday morning class of football coaches.

Old Professor—Good morning, gentlemen. I'm glad to see you are on time. It is of the essence.

Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma — I certainly am, Professor. The turning point of our game with TCU was the clock. Another minute and I think we would have lost. I'm really proud of the way my boys came from behind three times. The frogs were as tough as expected.

Dutch Meyer, Texas Christian—Oklahoma's running was just too potent for us. We couldn't hold 'em.

Old Professor—And I understand your boys rate Paul Burris, that Oklahoma guard, pretty highly, too. Mr. Bierman, why are you panting?

Bernie Bierman, Minnesota — We came uphill against Michigan, but made a few errors that cost us the game. It was our best performance of the season. It was a very badly officiated game.

Bennie Oosterbaan, Michigan — Minnesota is a formidable outfit. I was worried, as in all games. My boys were good—they had to be to beat Minnesota. The Gophers are the best foe we've met this year.

Old Professor—Mr. Vaught, what's up?

Johnny Vaught, Mississippi — Our boys were, again, Saturday. They played top ball, took advantage of a couple of breaks and got out in front. That's about all.

Denny Myers, Boston college—Mississippi was just as much better as the score showed. If we played them tomorrow the score would probably be the same. It's a fine ball club.

Old Professor—A very fine spirit, er, I mean spirit. Mr. spirit, er, I mean spirit Mr. Graham, what is your favorite flower?

Ralph Graham, Kansas State—Not the Narcissus, Professor. It reminds me of that Harry Narcissus. That Colorado triple threat was too much for us from the very start Saturday. He was terrific in scoring three touchdowns the first four times he carried the ball.

Dallas Ward, Colorado — Practically everything we did was right. Harry Narcissus used good blocking fashion. Despite the

Admiral Ingram Invites Grid Loops to Fix College Draft

NEW YORK (AP)—Jonas H. Ingram, commissioner of the All-America Football conference, said yesterday his league is strong enough to continue operations next year in all eight cities regardless of whether an accord is reached with the National Football league.

Hitting at reports the all-America was in danger of folding, the sharp-tongued retired admiral added that the conference is stronger today than at any time in its three year existence, with the over-all attendance picture considerably brighter than last season.

Personally against amalgamation of the two leagues, Ingram said both could exist if:

1. A common draft were instituted to avoid competitive bidding for college stars.
2. Schedules were coordinated in cities where more than one team is operating.
3. Clubs were realigned in cities that can't support more than one or more than two.

Taking Time Out

Students Can Be Proud of School Spirit Saturday—

It's a pretty good sign when a crowd of 53,000 can leave a stadium in good spirits, especially when the home team has been beaten by two touchdowns.

But that was the sentiment here Saturday afternoon when Notre Dame's perennial great football powerhouse took the measure of Iowa, 27-12. You couldn't have asked for a better 60 minutes of gridiron warfare.

In the first place, although the mere score may not indicate a close ball game, the Hawkeyes were never completely lost against the Irish. It wouldn't take much stretch of the imagination to conceive that Iowa actually could have won the game as late as the middle of the third quarter.

Now try and think back to the early days in September when football was first being tossed into the air. Who would have thought that little Iowa could give Notre Dame any kind of a test?

That's why you've got to hand out the roses to somebody. Maybe it's the coaches, huh? Maybe it's the players. Anyway, somewhere along the line Iowa picked up some ingredient which has made up a high-spirited football squad.

In talking over the Notre Dame battle yesterday, Dr. Eddie Anderson voiced the opinion that Frank Tripucka, Irish quarterback who set out the 1946 and 1947 seasons while All-American Johnny Lujack led the South Benders, was probably the most deceptive transformation quarterback he had ever seen.

We'll agree of that point. It wasn't only once that Tripucka lost our vision by his faking tactics and snappy hand-offs. Even the officials, who are getting paid to watch the ball, said after the game that they had the sight of the oval several times through Tripucka's expert handling.

Of course, you can't compare Tripucka and Lujack on even terms. Lujack was a star in every phase of football at Notre Dame. But on handing the ball off on straight running plays, Lujack was never any trickier than Tripucka.

We've never heard much favorable comment about Hawkeye football crowds. The students of SUU have never received bouquets for boisterous cheering in our two years at Iowa.

So here's where Old Gold's Joe College and Sally Coed can recline and pat themselves on the back. We thought it was the best demonstration of "pushing the team on" against Notre Dame that we've witnessed.

And from an Iowa football fan who's been watching Hawkeye football eleven since 1939, "When Iowa started to move with the ball, the team being behind, the students showed the most school spirit I've seen here in nine years."

To continue on the same theme, it might not be a bad idea to yell a little harder when the Hawks meet Wisconsin next Saturday. The Badgers are not bad, "Goodbye Harry Clubs" or not.

If you need any inspirational force next Saturday, just remember the humiliating defeat Iowa suffered at Wisconsin last year, 46-14. We'd like nothing better than to see that score reversed.

The Badgers, in losing to Ohio State Saturday, 34-32, showed a lot of offensive punch. All five of their touchdowns came on sustained ground attacks.

"Wisconsin has good speed and a hustling team with fine spirit," Iowa Scout Maury Kent related yesterday. "The Badgers attack fits the personnel — they use the 'T,' the Notre Dame box and have added some flanker stuff."

"Some of those Wisconsin backs can move, too," Kent said. "They ran for 288 yards against Ohio State and returned kicks for 210 yards. Clarence Self, Gene Evans, Bob Petruska and Calvin Vernon looked good, and Lisle Blackburn did a good job of quarterbacking."

However, Kent pointed out that the Badgers had certain pass defense deficiencies which permitted Ohio to complete 12 of 17 passes for 111 yards.

Here's another good one. What do you think happened to Mearl Naber, Iowa's 18-year-old sophomore halfback, Sunday night?

Mearl, who led Hawkeye ball carriers in the Notre Dame game, fell out of bed and is now sporting a big bandage covering a gash on top of his head.

Isn't that life? You play a bruising football game against one of the best teams in the country and come out unscathed. Then you go to bed, which should be the safest place in the universe, and come out with a head injury.

Hold Drawing To Pick Ten CARE Names

CARE food packages will be sent to 10 persons whose names are drawn from a hat today, George McBurney of the Campus Chest committee said yesterday.

The drawing will be held at 2:30 p.m. in the YMCA rooms of Iowa Union. Charlotte Chen, graduate student from Shanghai, will pick the names from a total of 177 turned in to the Campus Chest committee during a week-long application period, McBurney said.

He said each name will be given a number. These numbers will be printed on cards of uniform size and 10 of these cards drawn from a hat by Miss Chen.

Three hundred dollars of the 1948 Campus Chest fund is available for the CARE drawing. Each name chosen in the drawing will receive $30 in benefits.

The food packages will be sent from CARE national headquarters in New York City. SUU funds will be forwarded there.

You Give the Exams

So you don't know which man to vote for. Maybe you don't even know which party you like. But that's no reason for not voting. Here's the way you do it. Look over the men that are in the race, then inspect your own beliefs in the right and wrong way the government has been conducted in the past.

The CIO did a trick like this. They took a list of all the bills affecting their own stand and then rated legislators a minus or plus depending on how labor was affected by the result of the man's work. Forbes magazine did the same thing; rating legislators certain points for each stand they took on important measures.

Needless to say, the two tallies did not agree. The men endorsed by the CIO generally got pretty low ratings from Forbes. But these agencies know what they want.

It's like giving an examination. You have a list of questions you want answered; these are the measures voted on by congress or acted on by public servants. You have the answers; these are your own reactions to the measures, how you would have liked the legislation treated.

Then you take your favorite politician's record and see if he has agreed with you. If he has done a pretty good job, give him a good grade—an X. If he's opposed your viewpoint more than he has supported it, flunk him.

Here's an example of how it works. Say you wanted the oleo tax repealed; you didn't like the Mundt-Nixon bill, and you were opposed to rent control.

The record shows for instance, that Tom Martin voted against oleo tax repeal; voted for the Mundt-Nixon bill, and voted to relax rent control. Well, for this man you got one-out-of-three cooperation. Put the rest of your questions to him, and see what kind of a grade he should get.

This is final exam time for the politicians—they've been cramming for several weeks now as they stumped the countryside. They offered to take the exams so you might as well be on hand to grade them at the polls.

Smear . . . Politics . . . Witch Hunting!

They can't do that to him. It's unconstitutional. Imagine investigating the payroll records of J. Parnell Thomas' house un-American affairs committee.

Even Mr. Thomas—an expert on such matters—says it's an outrage. He is being subjected to a "vicious smear technique."

He is being made a "political scapegoat" as the "dying gasp of reprisal" of a "defeated and discredited administration." He thinks it a crime that the attorney general has "seen fit to put politics above the safety of our nation."

If he had added the well-worn "monstrous frameup", he might have sounded like a member of the Communist Party of America. Without it, he sounds like one of the dozens of innocent victims of his committee.

It's still unconstitutional, Mr. Thomas claims. It's all dirty politics. It should be delayed until after the election. The case deserves all the consideration the Hiss-Chambers affair didn't get.

The whole thing shouldn't be built into a publicity-seeking knock-down-drag-out smear like the Bentley testimony or the campaign to discredit the government's atomic energy program.

J. Parnell Thomas is a name to be respected. . . not smeared like Edward U. Condon's was. You can't put the shadow of a doubt on a congressman in the same way you slander our top atomic scientists.

But Mr. Thomas' prestige isn't the only thing that is being subjected to the "big smear." His inalienable rights are being violated. He will "insist" upon appearing before the grand jury looking into the case.

"Not only do I choose to appear before the grand jury," he informs us, "but I insist upon that right not only for myself but for the members of my family who have been the subject of your political harassment."

Mr. Thomas wants to be able to defend himself and answer charges. He doesn't want to be another William Remington. Not Mr. Thomas. The very thought of not being able to defend himself legally is revolting to the distinguished legislator from New Jersey.

Well, Mr. Thomas, we hope you are allowed to testify in your defense. We also hope the investigation is postponed until after the election. But perhaps this is not possible.

After all, your committee has set some powerful precedents.

Who Said Two-Party System? The Political Stump Is Full of 'Splinters'

Gov. Thomas F. Dewey

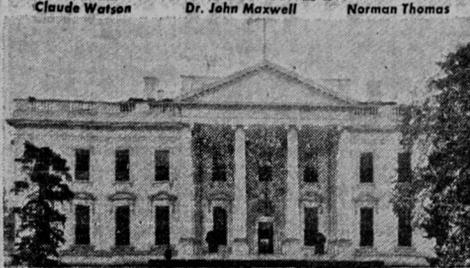

Claude Watson

Dr. John Maxwell

Norman Thomas

The White House

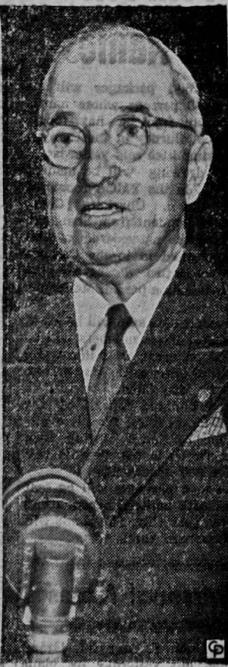

J. Strom Thurmond

Gerald L. K. Smith

Henry A. Wallace

President Harry Truman

There is always the voter who complains that the choice of presidential candidates is too limited. If he complains this year he has not looked far enough. Not only are there Truman, Dewey and Wallace representing the two major and the third parties but there is a veritable rash of "splinter" candidates representing everything from a fourth party to a "partyless" party.

The minority candidates espouse causes ranging from socialism through prohibition and green backs to vegetarianism.

J. Strom Thurmond, governor of North Carolina, is candidate for the "fourth" or Dixiecrat party. The Dixiecrats, properly speaking, are the conservative wing of the Democratic party. They have separated from the mother party over the issue of civil rights. Thurmond states in his speeches that his party is the last refuge for states-rights and the true principles of the Democratic party.

Norman Thomas, 64, is the Socialist party's candidate for president for the sixth consecutive time. The white-haired former minister cannot remember the exact number of times he has sought public office.

The Socialist platform this year calls for outlawing of all peacetime conscription, universal disarmament, abolition of the United Nations veto, expansion of production at home, minimum hourly wage of 75 cents, and expansion of social security.

Early in the campaign, Dr. Claude A. Watson, Prohibition party candidate for president, predicted he would get 24 million votes — enough to win. As the Prohibitionist nominee in 1944 he polled 74,758 votes. Dr. Watson, 63, is a Los Angeles attorney and Free Methodist church minister. He says his party platform does not object to a person taking a drink. It does oppose the "liquor power", and seeks a "Christian ethical adjustment of government."

Edward A. Teichert, 43-year-old steel worker from Greensburg, Pa., is the White House candidate of the Socialist Labor Party of America. He was the presidential choice in 1944 of this anti-Stalin, Marxist revolutionary party which then claimed 49,000 votes.

His platform urges scrapping of the AFL and CIO for a "new union based on the class interests" of workers and a new governmental system based on "collective ownership by the people."

John G. Scott, 68, an enrolled Republican and bee-raiser of Craryville, N. Y., is bolting to vote for himself as president. Scott, a retired college professor, was nominated in a "mail-order convention" by the Greenback party originally organized in 1874 and revived in 1918.

The party wants to issue green-back notes backed only by taxing power. The taxes would be paid in greenbacks too. Scott says his party is "conservative, with a progressive platform".

The oldest presidential candidate this year is bearded John Maxwell, 85, choice of the American Vegetarian party. Maxwell operates a vegetarian restaurant in Chicago.

His party seeks to prohibit farmers from spending more than a fifth of their time raising poultry or cattle for slaughter. Instead, the lands should be "sown with grains, vegetables and fruits because the same acreage now devoted to the growing of beef can produce ten times as much non-meat substance."

Claude Cunningham, 84, of Houston, Texas, is a partyless candidate for president. A former Missouri physician, Cunningham is campaigning for a number of very specific items.

He wants a 75 percent reduction in the number of federal employees, an annual ten dollar tax on "all persons who sell their services, such as lawyers, doctors, electricians . . . and all bachelors over 25," and annual ten dollar tax on "all politicians, except congressmen", legalized gambling, tax-exemption for incomes less than five thousand dollars.

Farrell Dobbs, 41, a native of Queen City, Mo., is the presidential candidate of the Trotskyite Socialist Workers party. He claims to be the first anti-Stalin organization in this country.

It is the only party running a woman for vice-president—Dr. Grace Carlson, 42, former psychology lecturer at the University of Minnesota. The party seeks the "mobilization of the masses for a workers' and farmers' government." It opposes the United Nations.

Gerald L. K. Smith, 50, of Detroit, is the presidential hope of the "Christian Nationalist Crusade," which he founded. He seeks the office on a platform calling for opposition to communism and political Zionism.

His party wants full segregation of Negroes, an end of all immigration of Asiatics, Jews and members of the colored races, aid to Chiang Kai-shek, opposition to the United Nations and the Marshall plan. Smith's party wants a strong "Christian Germany".

If, as an Iowan, you don't want to vote for Dewey or Truman or Wallace, you have several of these splinter groups to turn to.

You can vote Socialist for Norman Thomas, Socialist Labor for Edward Teichert, Socialist Workers for Farrell Dobbs or Prohibitionist for Dr. Watson.

Who says two-party system? Take your pick.

McBride's Haul

By BILL MCBRIDE

Would like to have someone explain the Miss Perfect Profile contest so that it makes sense. No one seems to have seen the winner's profile. It's little inconsistencies of this type which vex. I understand the young lady was chosen by a "panel" of men, and that doesn't help things any.

How are we judging profiles these days? Was the "panel" qualified to judge? A profile is nothing on which to turn loose a group of inexperienced "full view" judges. After we have a Miss Perfect Profile, I'd say the least that could be done would be to exhibit said profile in some conspicuous place.

I haven't even seen a silhouette.

In my opinion the Miss and Queen business around here needs some straightening out. To begin with there are too many queens and Miss perfects to allow full freedom of democratic movement. Where are we headed with our slyphoid method of crowning a queen everytime someone puts a nickel in a juke box and opens a bottle of soda pop.

The system is hard on the girls too. Before a year is up, half the single females on the campus have had a crown plopped on their heads, and the other half is mad because it didn't.

My idea is to select at the beginning of each academic year one all-purpose queen. This would save a lot of time, film, guessing and money spent on tinsel head-gear.

An all-purpose queen would be a non-student, so she could give all of her time to reigning. That way, if a few of us got together some night in the River room for some fancy footwork on the dance floor we could call the full-time queen in and crown her on the spot, thus adding a touch of the regal to what would have otherwise been purely a commoners' party.

It has been called to my attention, however, that being a queen is about the only chance a girl has to shine in an all-campus manner. And I guess they do deserve some recognition. What it really boils down to is that I'm a little hurt that no one ever asks me to help judge.

Am still trying to find my voice after Saturday's game (which would have been even more enjoyable had there been a spouse ticket for Jeanne), and have heard many glowing things said about THEE team and the beautiful girl they did on the Irish.

The three words I heard Dr. Anderson use in reference to his boys in an address to Iowa publishers Friday afternoon seem to express everyone's sentiments . . . spirit, courage and determination.

Another team which deserves a glowing term or two is our group of high voltage cheer leaders. They immediately caught the spirit, fighting to be released in the stands, and developed it into this hoarse voice that still remains three days after the game.

The gag (and gag is the word) of eating grasshoppers on street corners has me stumped. There has been no word from the psychology department, so it is difficult to classify the event.

For the sake of expediency, some organization might hold weekly soirees, wherein all misfits could satisfy their desires to gain attention.

There was a fellow who stood on his head on top an IC bridge structure last spring to win a 50-cent bet, and another who crossed the Iowa river hand over hand on a cable, and now we have an insect eater in our midst.

I remember as a boy seeing a carnival "Wild Man" bite the head off an unassuming chicken, although nearly everyone knew he wasn't a wild man, most of us agreed that being (I'll be kind) more or less mentally unbalanced would almost be a necessity in that instance.

So far as I know there have been no insect eaters in the circus or carnival business. Most self-respecting wild men seem to stick to biting into wild fowls.

In that light there must be an opening for grasshopper eaters in the show business, and it seems a shame to waste such talent right here in IC.

It was gratifying to see so many persons lined up at the city hall at 11:45 Saturday morning. There must have been at least 250 persons there. If it had been any other day I would have dismissed it without a thought, but to stand in line to register when you could be out getting seats for the Notre Dame game is commendable.

Waiting until the last minute is not so commendable, but then I suppose everyone had a good excuse for not registering sooner.

Says Cominform Guides Strife

PARIS (AP)—French Communists are stirring up labor trouble in France on direct orders from the Communist Information bureau to sabotage the Marshall plan and test the loyalty and fighting qualities of government troops, a high government source said recently.

This source said the government has decided to accept the Communist challenge, believing itself strong enough to put down the Communist threat, even though the threat is viewed as the gravest since the liberation.

Communist leaders deny that they are acting on orders from the Cominform headquarters in Bucharest, Romania, but the government claims that it has absolute proof that the current strike movement was started on Communist orders and that Cominform money is being used to keep it going.

Government sources pointed out that the Communists not only have launched their attack in Europe's key country, but that they have tied up the main industry in France—coal—in a strike which has erupted in violence on several occasions.

In addition to sabotaging the European recovery program in France, the government believes the Communists also plan to:

1. Enlist non-Communist workers in their program by providing strong police action against striking workers.
2. Speed up their campaign for the inclusion of Communists in the government.
3. Test the strength and equipment of the rightist followers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle.
4. Obtain enough economic improvements for workers so that the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor can claim a major victory over the government.

French officials have little doubt that the Communists view France as the key country for the whole Marshall plan. Quiet French economic recovery would be a major factor in the recovery of all non-Communist Europe. On the other hand, if France were ruined economically, the effort would be to slow the recovery of other European countries.

Parliament Eyes Steel, Defense

LONDON (AP)—Pressing defense problems and a bitter fight over nationalization of the steel industry face the labor government in the new session of parliament which opens today.

For the first time in 10 years, King George VI will wear his jeweled crown and ermine-trimmed robes at the colorful opening ceremony.

The formal return to peacetime pomp reflects the new feeling here that Britain finally is winning her postwar struggle for economic recovery. But behind the pageantry lie fresh worries for Prime Minister Attlee's labor government, entering its fourth year of power, in the international field, defense is the big problem. Last month the government announced it was embarking on a "moderate" rearmament program. Demobilization of troops was ordered slowed.

With tension between Soviet Russia and the west increasing, the dispute over conscription is expected to be reopened.

A comprehensive, long range program including plans for civil defense is expected to be laid down in the new parliament.

In the home field, the government's decision to proceed with nationalization of the steel industry has aroused the bitterest opposition since labor won the 1945 general elections.

Johnson County Jury Panel Dismissed by Judge Gaffney

The Johnson county jury panel for the September term was dismissed yesterday, subject to call, by Judge James P. Gaffney after six cases were settled without a jury.

The ease of Ira Albright vs. Cedar Rapids and Iowa City Railway corporation, was settled by agreement by the parties. The defendant shall pay $237.50 to the plaintiff and one-half of court costs in full settlement of the plaintiff's claims.

Will J. Hayek was attorney for the plaintiff while Frank C. Byers, Cedar Rapids, represented the defendant.

City High Musicians Named as Members of All-State Group

Thirty-five Iowa City high school musicians have been selected for membership in the all-state band, orchestra and chorus which will play for the Iowa Music conference in Des Moines Nov. 26, 27 and 28, the City high music department said yesterday.

The musicians were chosen at tryouts Saturday in Washington, Iowa.

Chosen for band membership were Patricia Barnes, flute; Paul Benjamin, Don Briceland, Esther Miller and Shirley Shimon, clarinet; Luann Stevens, alto; James Clute, bass saxophone; Evelyn Lehman, bassoon; Robert Gower, cornet; and Richard Vandenberg, drums.

Orchestra members chosen were Rose Marie Baker, Alta Duffy, Miriam Forbes, Virginia Klein, Marilyn Neuzil, Lorraine Nybakken, Janis Parizek and Jane Woodburn, violins; Peter Pollock, viola.

Ruth Ashton, Shirley Lewis and Signe Opstad, cello; Sharon Brown, string bass; Keith Parizek, trumpet; Charles Walker, French horn; Charles Keislar, clarinet; and Janice Krattet, trombone.

Selected for membership in the chorus were Carly White, 1st soprano; Patricia Kelley, 2nd soprano; Beth Peters, 1st alto; Meryl Johnson, 2nd alto; Jim Barnes, 1st tenor; Ralph Reeds, 2nd tenor; Dick Buxton, baritone; and Jack Toenniges, bass.

Settled Out of Court

A $12,935 damage suit was settled out of court when agreement was reached between Roger J. Fallon, plaintiff in the suit, and the defendant, Perry Hoskinson. Fallon, an Iowa City resident, had asked the amount for personal injuries and damages to his car he said he received in a collision on Highway 6 near Tiffin Nov. 27, 1947. Fallon claimed Hoskinson backed out of a driveway into the path of the plaintiff's car at that time.

Two Suits Settled

Two separate damage suits against the same defendant, Dale Kennedy, Cedar Rapids, were heard by Judge Gaffney by agreement of counsel.

A judgment for $50 and costs was awarded two minor boys, represented by their mother, Grace D. Parker, after the plaintiffs had asked a total of $800 damages for bumps and minor injuries they said they suffered in an accident Sept. 5.

They claimed Kennedy drove his car on the wrong side of the street on Riverside drive and struck the car in which they were riding, injuring them both.

Represents Son

The driver of the car in which the Parker boys were riding, William A. Vorbich, 1707 E. Court street, represented his minor son in a separate suit against Kennedy. The plaintiff had claimed damages for muscular strain in his back and bumps he said he suffered when the defendant's car collided with Vorbich's.

Judge Gaffney awarded $48.50 damages to the plaintiff and costs of the action.

Judge Gaffney said two other suits, listed as Berg vs. Harley and Huffman vs. Berg, City of Iowa City, were settled out of court.

Name Officers In Commerce

Kenneth A. Smith was elected president of the senior class of the college of commerce yesterday in a meeting of senior class members in room 301A, University hall.

Other class officers elected included Nevin Woodward, vice-president; Mary Louise Joels, secretary and Jack A. Smith, treasurer.

Close contests prevailed in the voting for each of the four class officers.

A first-place tie for secretary between Jaclyn Fitch and Mary Louise Joels made a second vote necessary. Miss Joels held a one-vote edge in the second voting.

Vice-president Woodward and Treasurer Jack A. Smith were each elected by one-vote pluralities. They nosed out Bob Sweany and Frank Barrett, respectively.

Dad's Day Weekend Features Pep Rally, Dance, Open House

Dads in Iowa City for the annual Dad's day activities this weekend will be identified by yellow name cards issued by Omicron Delta Kappa, men's honorary fraternity.

The alumni dads and dads of university students will register Friday afternoon and Saturday morning in the lobby of the Iowa Union. ODK members will distribute the identification tags at that time.

Highlights of the weekend honoring "university dads" will be a pep rally Friday night south of the Iowa Union followed by the annual Dad's day dance in the Union lounge at 9 o'clock.

The music of Elliott Lawrence will be featured.

During the intermission of the dance, a representative alumni father, Ross C. Gray, Rockwell City and a representative student father yet to be chosen by ODK will be presented.

Open houses in fraternity and sorority houses, dormitories, the Iowa Union, university libraries and museum, and all colleges and departments of the university will be held Saturday morning. Deans and heads of departments will be in their offices to greet friends and alumni.

Boys Town Choir To Appear Tonight

The Boys Town choir will sing in Iowa City tonight on one stop of a nation-wide concert tour.

Newman club is sponsoring the performance of the 50-voice choir at 8 p.m. in MacBride auditorium. The concert will feature such songs as "Londonerry Air," "The Donkey Serenade," "Make Believe," "Old Man River," "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," "Summertime" from Porgy and Bess and "Blue Danube Waltz." The Rev. Francis Schmitt will direct.

Tickets are still available for $1.80, including tax, at Racine's, Whetstone's or from Newman club members.

Toys Are Texts for These Playschool Students

British Vets to Debate Here

Two world war II veterans, one a former member of the royal navy and the other an ex-marine, will represent Great Britain here on Nov. 5 at SU's 21st international debate.

Reginald Galer, Birmingham university, and Anthony J. Cox, Bristol university, will take the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved: that a modern society would benefit most from a planned economy."

Herman Cohen and Kenneth Thompson will represent SUI in the debate, scheduled for 8 p.m. in MacBride auditorium. Both are graduate students here.

Galer attended London university from 1938 to 1940. After six years of service with the British royal navy he entered Birmingham university.

He is chairman of the Debating society at Birmingham. Cox attended Gotham school and Bristol university from 1935 to 1941. He took his intermediate law examination at Bristol in 1942 while connected with the faculty of law.

After four years service with the royal marines Cox returned to Bristol university receiving a LL.B. with honors in law. He is chairman of the law faculty society at Bristol and a member of the Bristol Old Vic Theatre club.

This will be SU's third debate with a British team since the war. SUI met Cambridge in the spring of 1947 and Oxford in the fall of 1947.

The public is invited to attend the debate, according to the office of Dr. A. C. Baird, speech department. After the debate the audience will vote on how they feel toward the question of a planned economy.

Police Get Reports Of Four Accidents; No Injuries Listed

Four accidents involving eight cars were reported to police over the weekend.

At 2 a.m. Saturday cars driven by Charles L. Arnett, 1215 Pickard street, and Douglas F. Sawdey, 912 Second avenue, were involved in an accident at the intersection of Dodge and Washington streets.

In his driver's report filed with police, Arnett said his car rolled over on the left side when struck on the right side when struck over on the left side by the car driven by Sawdey. The report said $60 damage was done to the Arnett car and both sides of the Arnett car were damaged.

$400 Damage Estimated
In another accident Saturday, damage was estimated at $400 to cars driven by Ralph J. Bader, Monticello, and Charles M. Wilson, 108 S. Dodge street.

The accident occurred at 1:45 p.m. at the intersection of Clinton and Burlington streets.

Damage was estimated at $250 to the Bader car and $150 to the car driven by Wilson, according to drivers' reports.

The third accident Saturday occurred at 12:30 p.m. near the Burlington street bridge. Cars involved were driven by Neil H. Parks, Waterloo, and H. S. Luce, 127 Melrose street.

At 10 a.m. Sunday cars driven by Edwin J. Bender, route 3, and Paul Snider, route 5, were involved in an accident at the intersection of Burlington and Dubuque streets.

Bender estimated $50 damage to his car and $12 damage was listed to the car driven by Snider.

No one was injured in any of the four accidents.

HAPPY DISCOVERY

Thanks to a printing error, it's two for the price of one at the Dad's day dance Friday night in the Iowa Union.

The tickets for the dance say "$3.00 per person," but should say "per couple," one of the officials said yesterday.

Law Students Slate Lecture for Tonight

The first in a series of six lectures by lawyers will be given tonight by Burt Thompson, noted attorney, in the senate chamber of Old Capitol at 7:30. He will speak on "The Lawyer and His Profession."

The lectures are sponsored by the Law Students association and are for the benefit of the law faculty, students and their wives.

Thompson is one of two representatives of the Iowa State Bar association to the house of delegates of the American Bar association.

The Forest City lawyer is a past president of the Iowa State Bar association and speaks frequently to annual meetings of state bar associations throughout the country.

Last year, Thompson won the award of the Iowa State Bar association as the lawyer who had contributed most to the legal profession in Iowa from the standpoint of public service.
