Expect Record County Vote; Politicians Forecast Margins

Johnson county political leaders yesterday confidently predicted majorities for their respective parties in this county where an estimated 16-17,000 voters will go to the polls today.

The Johnson county record of approximately 16,000 was set in the 1940 presidential election. Republican officials last week estimated today's total might reach the 17,000 mark.

Republican, Democratic and Progressive county chairmen yesterday all issued election eve statements.

Prof. Bernard Baum, chairman of the Johnson county Progressive party said, "If the percentage of intelligent voters in town is higher than the percentage of intelligent voters on the SUI campus then the Progressive party will get more votes in Iowa City than it did in the straw vote."

"Baum was referring to the straw vote taken last Thursday on the campus which gave the majority of votes to Thomas E. Dewey, for president, William Beardley for governor, and Guy M. Gillette for U.S. senator. Dewey and Beardley are Republicans and Gillette is the Democratic nominee.

Predicts GOP Victory

H. J. Dane, county Republican chairman, declared, "The Republican party will carry the county by 660 votes." Dane would not commit himself further on the outcome of the election.

The Johnson county Democratic chairman, Edward Lucas, predicted, "Candidate for senator, Guy M. Gillette, will run ahead of the county ticket by 3,000 votes."

"The Democrats will have their usual majority in the county for the national, state and local offices," Lucas added. Three parties have an Iowa City resident on their ballot. Robert Larson, Republican candidate for attorney-general, is on the ballot for both the long and short term. Frank F. Messer is one of the three Democratic candidates for state supreme court justice and Prof. Seymour M. Pletcher is the Progressive nominee for U.S. Senator.

Although the state of Iowa usually is in the Republican column in elections, the Republicans have not taken the county since 1928 when Herbert Hoover defeated Al Smith in Johnson county by 107 votes.

Some GOP Officeholders

Although Democrats usually have the majority of the county offices, about one-third of these offices are filled by Republican candidates.

In an effort to get out a large vote today the League of Women Voters has instructed the pupils in all Iowa City grade schools to urge their parents to vote. The children have also been given election literature to take home.

The pupils will be polled tomorrow to determine how many parents neglected to vote, Mrs. Carlyle Jacobsen, the league's publicity chairman, said.

Democratic and Republican officials yesterday gave an example of bi-partisan unity when they agreed to provide refreshments for election judges and other officials at the polls today.

The money will come from a joint fund. Sandwiches and coffee will be passed out to the officials who will be unable to leave their posts until the polls close.

Rides for Finkbine

Finkbine park residents wishing to vote today will be provided with transportation, county Democratic headquarters announced yesterday. A station wagon will make regular trips from Finkbine's main office to the polling place in Corsham. As many trips as are necessary will be made and voters will be returned to Finkbine.

Ask Pledges Turn in Campus Chest Money

All money pledged to Campus Chest during the recent drive should be turned in at the information desk of the office of student affairs, room 111, University Hall. Solicitations Chairman George McBurney said yesterday.

Pledges amount to $56, he said. McBurney set no deadline for turning in the pledged money but urged that it be done "as soon as possible."

Election Returns On WSUI Tonight

Complete election returns will be broadcast by WSUI tonight beginning at 8 p.m.

The station will remain on the air through midnight with a special program, "Election Party," consisting of recorded music, election bulletins, reports from the polls and background sketches of candidates. A summary of results will be given on the hour and half hour.

Prof. N. C. Meier, department of psychology, will discuss expectations of the election as indicated by public opinion polls.

Rain Stops Smog; Says 1,000 Saved

DONORA, PA. (AP)—A "God-sent" rain and change of wind swept a strange death-dealing smog from this mill community yesterday and saved a thousand lives, according to a board of health physician.

Dr. William Rongaus, testifying at a Borough council investigation into the airborne "silent killer" which killed 19 and affected 600 others, declared last night: "If the fog had lasted another night instead of 19 persons, there would have been at least a thousand die."

Dr. Rongaus, physician member of the Borough's health board, told the emergency meeting of the councilmen that the soot-colored, sweet-tasting smog which plagued the district over the weekend paralyzed the breathing apparatus of its victims.

The small council chamber in the Donora community building was packed to overflowing with health officials, representatives of the CIO united steelworkers, and officials of the American Steel & Wire company which operates a zinc plant in the community, as Dr. Rongaus testified.

U. High Holds 'Election Rally'

A last-minute political rally complete with candidates, confetti, speeches and enthusiasm was held yesterday afternoon at University high school.

Sponsored by two senior social studies classes, the rally preceded the straw election to be held today. Dr. John Haefner and J. R. Skretting are instructors of the classes. T. J. Berdo, a student-instructor, had charge of the project.

Five-minute speeches setting forth party policies as outlined in the recent campaign were presented by Robert Ojemann, Dan Howard and Don Camp as the three major candidates.

Complete With Moustache

In keeping with the realistic atmosphere, the dark-haired Ojemann wore the moustache typical of Dewey; Don Camp as Truman wore round, steel-rimmed spectacles, and Dan Howard, proxy for Wallace, flourished a well-powdered and tousled hairdo.

The three were introduced by Mary Ladd, Marge Kurtz and Libby Stroud, their respective campaign managers. Elizabeth Enggrav acted as general chairman.

A colorful break in procedure came during the Progressive demonstration when Glenn Taylor (George Kern) and his sons (Alan Easton and Robert Ballantyne) sang the party song.

Learn Ballot Marking

During the program, proper marking of the ballot was demonstrated to the student voters. A voting booth was especially constructed by the industrial arts department for use in today's election.

A mock League of Women Voters will post members in the hall as information sources during voting hours today.

History in the Making Today—Hours 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

"X" MARKS THE SPOTS where Iowa Citizens will cast their ballots. The polling places are: 1st ward, 1st precinct, county courthouse on S. Clinton street; 1st ward, 2nd precinct, Hawkeye Tent and Awning company, 29 W. College street; 2nd ward, 1st precinct, City hall; 2nd ward, 2nd precinct, Fine Arts building, N.

Rain, Fog for Local Voters

Generally fair weather will prevail over large areas of the nation on election day, but here in Iowa City voters going to the polls may encounter rain and fog this afternoon followed by partly cloudy and cooler weather this afternoon.

However, Iowa Republican and Democratic state headquarters agreed yesterday, according to United Press, that rain will not affect the election outcome. Both headquarters said their candidates will win regardless of the weather.

Robert Klauer, Republican state publicity director, said that "rain or shine, Iowa is going to vote Republican today."

Jake More, Democratic state chairman, said "rain will have no effect."

"The veterans of Iowa, who fought in the mud, will go to the polls if it is muddy tomorrow and vote Democratic," More said. "So will the farmers."

Meeting Suggests School Stop Signs For Six Crossings

School stop signs for six street intersections were recommended last night at a joint meeting of the city council, FTA, school board, and junior chamber of commerce.

The six spots recommended were:

1. Court street and Muscatine avenue for the children from Longfellow school and high school.
2. Dubuque and Prentiss streets for students at Henry Sabine school.
3. Jefferson and Dubuque streets for the children attending St. Mary's university pre-school, and University high.
4. Summit and Burlington streets for students at Longfellow school.
5. Dodge and Church streets for the children at Horace Mann school.
6. Garden street and Muscatine avenue for Iowa City high school and Longfellow school.

Strong sentiment for the installation of an automatic school stop sign was evident at the meeting. The sign suggested has the red, green and amber lights facing the street with heaviest traffic and one green light facing the student traffic.

The sign facing the heavy traffic is always green except when a button is pushed by some pedestrian. The light then changes to red for an interval and pedestrian traffic is allowed to cross.

New Carrie Nation May Use 'Hatchet'

MOLINE (AP)—Marie Van Muehlen, Moline's militant crusader against gambling, promised yesterday to "get a hatchet" to clean out the remaining saloon slot machines in the county.

"Carrie Nation carried a hatchet and I will too," the attractive, 26-year-old redhead said. "These machines must be smashed."

She emerged from county jail, where she was held in default of $500 bail on a charge of hurling a pop bottle through a saloon window.

American's Murder Blamed on Robbers

VIENNA (AP)—Austrian police said last night that four Russian soldiers robbed Irving Ross, 38, East Hardwick, Vt., before they bludgeoned him to death early Sunday.

American investigators, while privately of the opinion that robbery was the motive, withheld official comment until they could talk with an Austrian woman who was with the economic cooperation administration worker, when he was attacked.

Russian authorities twice refused the Americans permission to talk to the woman yesterday.

Airforce Crew of Eleven Killed in Transport Crash

MULDROW, OKLA. (AP)—Eleven army fliers died in the crash of a twin-engine transport plane on the outskirts of this east Oklahoma town yesterday.

The plane, flying low in a driving rainstorm, broke into three pieces aloft and plunged into a rain-covered cornfield about 11 a.m.

Contractor Dies Here from Injury in Truck-Car Collision

John Tunncliff Sr., 55, Davenport, died in Mercy hospital yesterday morning after he was injured in a truck-car accident in the dense fog on Highway 6 at 7:55 a.m. yesterday.

The head-on accident occurred nine miles east of Iowa City. Tunncliff was rushed to Mercy hospital in an ambulance but died ten minutes after arriving at the hospital.

Acting Coroner George C. Callahan said Tunncliff's chest had been crushed causing his death.

Leland D. Stock, route 6, the truck driver, was cut about the face but was not seriously injured.

Highway patrolmen reported that Tunncliff was driving at the rear of a line of cars traveling west toward Iowa City. Stock was driving east toward West Liberty.

Tunncliff apparently headed suddenly for the opposite side of the road, patrolmen said. Stock was driving slowly because of the fog but was unable to stop in time to avoid the collision, he reported.

Truman Makes Personal Bid; Dewey Says Vote Regardless

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Millions of American voters, perhaps in record-shattering legions today tap the shoulder of the man they want for President. From daybreak until after dark, upwards of 50,000,000 members of a mighty electorate march to the polling places to choose between fighting Harry Truman and confident Thomas Dewey.

Wilson-Gillette Race Highlights Election In Hawkeye State

DES MOINES (AP)—A contest between two former farm boys for a United States senate seat highlights today's election in Iowa.

Polls and experts agree that the more-than-a-million Iowans expected to vote today will give Republicans the decision in the presidential, gubernatorial, congressional and statewide office contests. But everything points to a last-vote senatorial battle between U.S. Sen. George A. Wilson and his Democratic challenger, Guy M. Gillette.

The two men, who once served in the senate together, have waged a strenuous campaign. Many observers believe that enough Republicans will vote for Gillette to leave the issue in doubt well into tomorrow morning.

In one of his last campaign speeches, Carroll O. Switzer, Democratic candidate for governor, yesterday charged that his opponent, Republican William S. Beardley has agreed to appoint Gov. Robert D. Blue to the senate if Sen. Wilson is reelected, but is unable to fill out his term.

Gov. Blue labelled Switzer's charge as "preposterous." He said that such an arrangement has never been thought of or discussed.

Meanwhile, Beardley issued a statement denying the charge. He said he has not had a conference with Blue since the primary.

"I have made no promise to appoint anyone," Beardley said. "This is a last-minute desperation move and would only be indulged in by a political amateur."

Included on the Iowa ballot today will be the proposed soldiers' bonus, three places on the supreme court, state legislative offices and county offices.

Judgment Near For Tojo, Others

TOKYO (AP)—The allied military tribunal for the far east will reconvene Thursday in the old Japanese war ministry building to pronounce judgment on Hideki Tojo and 24 other top-ranking Japanese accused of war crimes, it was announced yesterday.

The announcement was made by Col. Vern Walbridge, general secretary of the tribunal.

It was unofficially estimated that the judgment will take about 10 days before the final verdict is pronounced.

To the winner they are entrusting eager hopes for four years of good times at home and peace in a fretful world.

At stake too, are control of the senate and key governorships that may guide political trends for 1950 and 1952.

Breaking with tradition, President Truman last night made a last personal bid for votes as both he and Dewey made the customary get-out-the-vote broadcasts.

Sticking closer to custom, Dewey urged all citizens to "vote regardless of how you vote."

Other Strong Candidates
But the race will not be between just Mr. Truman and Gov. Dewey.

Those voters in the south who see the question of civil rights is one for the states themselves to decide, and not the federal government, can vote for J. Strom Thurmond, the States' Rights party candidate for president.

Those citizens who feel that Henry A. Wallace, as the Progressive party presidential candidate, best epitomizes their ideas, can vote for him.

There will be other candidates too, but it is on Truman, Dewey, Thurmond and Wallace that the limelight has dwelt most consistently in the political campaign.

Today the voting citizen must boil down the wordy weller of claims, counter-claims, praise and denunciation, to a simple "X" on a ballot or a pull on a voting machine lever.

Then, as the voting places begin to close and the results are tallied, the nation will learn who is to lead it for the next four years.

"Crusade" for Truman
For President Truman, the Democratic nominee, the campaign was a "crusade" for four more years in his own right to the chair in the White House he took over from the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

For Dewey, Republican challenger and a front-runner in most pre-election forecasts, it was an attempt to end a 16-year Democratic regime. And it was an attempt at a comeback for the GOP's loser in 1944—the first time the Republicans have tried again with a defeated candidate.

Each, in advance, proclaimed himself the winner.

And each tapered off his campaign with radio broadcasts intended to turn out the vote. Dewey was billed at 8 p.m. (Iowa time); the President an hour and a half later.

Political omens pointed toward a record total of more than 51-million votes, if the weatherman cooperated.

In some states, senate and gubernatorial races and local issues took on about as much interest as the presidential scrap.

Bonus on Ballots
Kansas, for instance, was deciding whether to keep or discard a 68-year-old dry law. Massachusetts had a hot fight over a birth control issue. Veterans bonuses or other benefits were on the ballots in a dozen states.

Thirty-two senators were being elected today, along with 32 governors and 432 house members.

Amazing Hawks Have Pulled a Total About-Face

How improved can the football set-up become at one Big Nine university? You might expect a gradual upswing over a period of years, but Iowa has come along in just one year in a manner which is astounding.

We can't help but think back to the months prior to the start of the 1948 season when the Hawkeyes were given little chance to win more than two games of a rough conference and non-conference schedule.

They had no experienced back who had the potential running ability which breaks up ball games. They had one quarterback who could pass but couldn't run. They had no defensive ends in prospect, and they had a crew of linemen which had cracked at the seams in the middle of the 1947 season.

Now check over the Iowa ball club, winner of three games and loser of three this fall.

In the backfield the Hawks still have a quarterback, Al DiMarco, who can pass with the best in the country. But the little demon has become enough of a running threat to keep the defensive secondary in fits when he begins his bow-legged cavoring behind the line of scrimmage.

Take Al's choice of plays in the 19-13 victory over Wisconsin Saturday. They were mixed up, even to the extent of Johnny Tedore and Jerry Faske flipping one pass apiece. Those two passes were twice the number thrown by any other Iowa back outside of DiMarco this season. Glenn Drahn threw one against Marquette in the opener.

DiMarco's faking out of the T-formation quarterback's spot by far over-shadowed his ball handling in any other game the past two years. You can give him much of the credit for the halfbacks' being able to steer themselves into open pasture against the Badgers.

You probably noticed a strange similarity in Iowa's end runs Saturday and Notre Dame's assault at the flanks two weeks ago. In fact, they were the same. The Iowa coaches thought so much of the play — and who didn't — which coach Johnny Panelli loose for Notre Dame's first touchdown here that they concentrated last week's practice sessions on its perfection.

Out of the hat come sophomore halfbacks who had never played college football before. Don Fryauf, Jerry Faske, Jimmy Halliburton, Glenn Drahn and Mearl Naber. Add to that list a senior, Ralph Doran, who decided that this year was a fine time to go out for football.

There you have the story of Iowa's rejuvenated backfield situation. For a change the Hawks have some backs who can gain ground when nothing but green grass confronts them.

When was the last time Iowa ever drove for three touchdowns, one right after another? They did it Saturday, the first one going 69 yards on the GROUND in seven plays.

Young Fryauf, whose gridiron feats at City high school have been hashed and rehashed by local fans, got his first chance to show his stuff in the second half. In three running plays he picked up 41 of the 69 yards on the first scoring march, and sprinted 15 yards for the first tally.

When was the last time any Iowa back has ever scored a touchdown from scrimmage with the ball 50 yards from the goal? Ralph Doran's gallop was the first long Iowa scoring run from scrimmage since 1946.

Looking over the line, you can't find very many weak spots. Pat Boland's job with the forwards has been a 100 percent improvement over last year, while Bob Fitch has produced a strong set of defensive ends in Bob Phillips, Tony Guzowski and Sophomore Bob Hoff. And Dr. Eddie Anderson classes Bob McKenzie and Jack Dittmer as the best pair of offensive ends in the Big Nine.

There hasn't been much written about Iowa linebackers, other than Center Dick Woodard's outstanding play. However, the consistently good performance of Ron Headington this year shouldn't go unnoticed. The majority of his action has been on defense, making more than his share of tackles.

If the Hawks don't win another conference game this season, and they won't be favored to dump either Illinois or Minnesota, they've had a successful year.

Just as another small comparison of this year to last, the Hawkeyes didn't win one flip of the referee's coin before any game last year. The only ragged game they played this year was against Marquette, and they didn't win that coin toss, either. But for the last five Saturdays Iowa has won every coin flip.

John Wilson of IC Draws Reprimand

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Something new in football penalties—$75 fine for each of the officials if one of them doesn't know the rules and the others don't call him on it — was advocated yesterday by a 29-year veteran of college coaching.

Frank J. Murray of Marquette university, incensed by what he called "the worst officiating I've seen in years" during the Marquette-Purdue game at Lafayette, Ind., Saturday, made the suggestion.

John Wilson, who umpired the game, has operated a sporting good store in Iowa City, Ia., for about two years.

"If no official knows the rule and none of the others correct him when he calls an incorrect penalty, they all should forfeit the pay they're getting for that game," declared Murray. "That's $75, normally, not counting expenses."

Murray, whose team lost to Purdue, 14-9, was perturbed particularly about two instances. One involved a 15-yard penalty against the Hilltoppers for defensive holding, which demerits five yard only in the rule book, and the other the continued running of the clock by an official's order after Marquette threw an incomplete pass in the final few minutes.

Doran Will Be at Half

Mearl Naber, starting Hawkeye right halfback against Wisconsin last weekend, definitely will be lost to Iowa for the Illinois game Saturday, it was learned yesterday.

Whether the sophomore running back will be able to play for the remainder of the season was doubtful.

Naber suffered a shoulder separation in the Wisconsin tussle.

Ralph Doran, whose running last week — principally his 49-yard touchdown dash — has vaulted him to the role of leading ground gainer for Iowa, will be counted on for heavy action from the right half spot.

Joe Grothus, regular guard, may not be able to resume his line duties which he had to give up against Wisconsin due to a knee injury, Coach Dr. Eddie Anderson said.

Scout Leonard Raffensberger reported that Illinois has "improved unbelievably" in the last few weeks.

Although Illinois has won only one of four Big Nine games this year, Raffensberger cautioned that "they could have beaten Michigan."

Raffensberger emphasized passing quarterback Bernie Krueger as "the chief Illinois weapon," but also warned of Fullback Russ Steger's running game and the Illinois line, which is especially tough on defense.

In losing to the Wolverines, 28-20, last week, "they had one apparent touchdown on a 94-yard touchdown kick-off return nullified by an off-side penalty."

For the sixth straight week, Center Dick Woodard has been appointed game captain for the contest at Champaign, Ill.

Eliot Preps Krueger for Aerial Battle with Al

CHAMPAIGN, ILL. (AP) — Coach Ray Eliot of Illinois yesterday intensified the Illini's running attack and began mapping a pass defense for Iowa's Al DiMarco.

A great aerial duel between the Hawkeyes' quarterback and Bernie Krueger is in prospect when the two teams square off here Saturday before a Dads' day crowd.

Illinois came through the Michigan game in fair shape. Pass-catching Slip Kersulis, No. 1 end, suffered a twisted knee but it has responded to treatments.

Krueger completed 12 out of 21 passes against the Wolverines for 218 yards.

Hawkeye Game Costs Badgers Two Injuries

MADISON, WIS. (AP) — A badly bruised University of Wisconsin football squad hobbled through exercises and a scrimmage session yesterday, preparing for Saturday's Homecoming game against Northwestern.

The Badgers returned from the Iowa game with a long injury list, but chief concern is felt for Centers Bob Wilson and Joe Kelly. Wilson is expected to recover from a hand injury, but Kelly's arm was x-rayed to determine whether he suffered a fracture.

Pass Wolverines With Margin of 3

NEW YORK (AP) Notre Dame was elected No. 1 football team in the nation yesterday in the weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers, barely nosing out Michigan by a margin of three points.

Last week the Wolverines were first by a comfortable 275-point margin.

Notre Dame's smashing 41-7 romp over non-winning Navy appeared to impress the writers much more than Michigan's 28-20 close call with Illinois.

The standings of the teams, points figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis (first place votes in parentheses):

1. Notre Dame (56) 1,759
2. Michigan (68) 1,759
3. North Carolina (36) 1,458
4. Army (5) 1,240
5. California (16) 1,132
6. Georgia Tech (7) 1,109
7. Pennsylvania 575
8. Southern Methodist (1) 432
9. Missouri (4) 372
10. Northwestern 372
11. Nevada (3) 390; 12. Clemson (6); 189; 13. Georgia, 153; 14. Penn State (1); 130; 15. Oklahoma (2) 81; 16. Oregon, 59; 17. Michigan State, 52; 18. Wake Forest, 47; 19. Minnesota, 46; 20. Tulane, 34.

Others receiving votes included Illinois 5, and Iowa.

We'll Meet Wolves Anytime, Place-ND

CHICAGO (AP) — Notre Dame still is ready to play Michigan any time, any place.

Ed Krause, assistant Irish athletic director, was asked yesterday at the All-America quarterback club "Why can't Notre Dame and Michigan play each other at Soldier Field?"

Krause replied: "As Coach Frank Leahy said before this same meeting last year, Notre Dame is willing to meet Michigan any Saturday, Sunday or Monday afternoon."

(Athletic Director Fritz Crisler of Michigan last week greeted the same question here with the explanation that Michigan's schedule commitments would not permit a game with Notre Dame.)

West Coast Boosts Michigan for Bowl

PASADENA, CALIF. (AP) — The Tournament of Roses association unofficially started an effort yesterday to bring the No. 1 football team of the midwest's Big Nine conference into the Rose Bowl New Year's day against the Pacific Coast conference champion. That probably would be Michigan versus California.

"It isn't just Michigan, but personally I feel, and I know others do, that we must have the best in the Big Nine here each year for the Rose Bowl, not the No. 2 or No. 3 team," said Lathrop K. Leishman, chairman of association. In Chicago, Tug Wilson said, "I don't see a chance of changing the agreement this year."

No Grid Trip For Students

No student trip to an out-of-town football game is planned this year by the student council or Tailfeathers pep club, Evan Hultman, council president, said yesterday.

Campus activities have been so concentrated the first month of school, Hultman said, that it was impossible to arrange a trip this year.

Hultman pointed out that with the exception of the Illinois game Nov. 6, most out-of-town games were at the first of the season.

He added that the Boston university game, Nov. 20 at Boston, was too far, and the time element before the Iowa-Illinois game at Champaign next weekend discouraged a student trip that week end.

Personal Notes

Mary Donovan, 409 S. Summit street, has returned to Iowa City after spending the weekend in Davenport with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kadlec attended open house in Cedar Rapids Sunday observing the ninth birthday of Mr. Kadlec's uncle, John J. Kadlec. The open house was held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Tracht.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Stall and son, Steven, Des Moines, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Huppert, Coralville. Stall is a former SUI pharmacy student.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McCart, 141 Stadium park, were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Don Emmanuel, Des Moines, for the Iowa-Wisconsin football game.

Alpha Delta Sigma Pledges 11 Students

Eleven men were pledged Sunday to the SUI chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma, national advertising fraternity, Fred Stines, Jr., chapter president, has announced.

The pledges are Wilfred Brugger, Lake City; John Cottman, Sheffield; Richard Kahn, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Paul Hodge, Cedar Rapids; Bill Mason, North Attleboro, Mass.; Ralph Muma, Sioux City; Bob Pierce, Quincy, Ill.; Harold Shillito, Des Moines; Wally Votroubek, Cedar Rapids; Andrew Woehr, New Rochelle, N.Y., and Paul Wright, Vancouver, Canada.

Meeting at the home of Prof. Philip W. Burton, chapter advisor, committee chairmen for five committees were appointed.

They included: Jerry Rovner and Bill Munsell, social; Herb Holland, publicity; Bernard Klein, awards, and Bob Keene, pledge captain.

The next ADS meeting will be held, Wednesday at 7:15 p.m. at the Iowa Union.

Fine SUI Student in Local Police Court

William Vance Orr, an SUI student from Iowa City, was fined $12.50 in police court yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct after he was involved in a fight at the Iowa-Wisconsin football game Saturday. Orr lives at 730 N. Linn street.

Police records reported that Orr had twisted the arm of Mrs. Hugh Marx and had fought with her husband at the Iowa-Wisconsin game Saturday. The fight started when Orr and four or five unidentified men argued with Marx, according to police.

Judge Emil G. Trott cut the fine to $12.50 when Mrs. Marx testified that she did not feel that Orr was the main instigator of the fight and that she wished the charges would be dropped.

Brazil Missionary To Talk at Church

Oton G. Durado, formerly head of a Presbyterian missionary school in Ponte Nova, Brazil, will be a guest speaker at the annual praise service of the Women's association of the First Presbyterian church. The service will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. in the First Presbyterian church.

Mr. Dufado, an educator, is now in the United States for study at the Princeton Theological seminary. He is giving a series of talks through the midwest.

Junior Farm Bureau To Hold Square Dance

A square dance "from 9 'til as long as you can take it" will provide fun for Junior Farm Bureau members and their guests tomorrow night at the community building.

The Eiman Four with Esther Taylor at the piano will furnish music. There will be no specified admission charge, but the hat will be passed for a collection at the dance.

SUI Educators on Program Of Iowa Teachers' Convention

Fifteen SUI faculty members are on the program of the Iowa State Education association's convention in Des Moines Nov. 4, 5 and 6.

Prominent educators from the midwest will attend the meeting to discuss what is happening on three educational fronts—science, industry and governmental and foreign policies.

Symbolic of this convention is its theme and keynote, "Teaching in the Atomic Age."

Faculty Members

The representatives from SUI include Myron D. Olson, principal of university high school, on the executive board of officers, and Prof. L.A. Van Dyke, education department.

Prof. Harvey H. Davis, executive dean, division of research and teaching and dean of the graduate college, and Prof. Hewlston Roberts, educational department will deliver addresses.

Miss Frances Camp, education job placement; Dave Armbruster, physical education; Helen E. Focht, counselor to women; and Prof. Wendall Johnson, director of the speech clinic, will also participate.

Prof. Craig Baird, executive secretary of the Iowa High School Forensic League; E. L. Marietta, Wm. J. Masson, and O. E. Hoffman, director, division of dental hygiene will attend.

Jean Nelson, instructor of library science at SUI will speak on training librarians.

Candidates Join Fun As Sig Eps Clown At Political Shindig

Sigma Phi Epsilon stumped Friday night at their "Ballot Bounce," a political party that boasted one real live donkey and four real live political candidates.

In the midst of campaign posters expounding everything from the Whigs to the Third Reich, Tom Martin, Republican candidate for U.S. representative, G. M. Ludwig, Republican candidate for state representative, P. L. Shutt, Democratic candidate for secretary of state and D. C. Nolan, Republican candidate for state senator, joined in the general hilarity with Sig Eps and their dates.

Said Martin, "It's a grand party. I'm expecting a Republican victory Tuesday."

Said Ludwig, "It's a fine affair. I'm expecting a Republican victory Tuesday."

Said Shutt, "It's a perfectly swell affair. I'm expecting a Democratic victory Tuesday."

Said Nolan, "It's an original experience. I'm expecting a Republican victory Tuesday."

The other party goers were only expecting laughs. They had them over the "March of Slime," a show which mimicked the Republican nominating convention, presidential candidates and the investigations by the house un-American activities committee.

Sig Ep Bob Clark, Ames, showed versatility by portraying Miss Bentley, Republican Joe Martin and a drunk who annoyed the prohibitionist's standard bearer, John McCarty, Iowa City.

Jack Sward, Chicago, "you allied" for the Dixiecrats, Truman, Dewey and Wallace were portrayed by Jack Persevoid, Fort Madison; Chuck Ross, Swisher, and Wayne Armstrong, Wall Lake.

Costume prizes went to Doris Haverkamp, Muscatine, who came as a sample ballot and "Rip" Walker, Portsmouth, N. H., who costumed as Joe Palooka.

In the jumble of backwoods men, grass skirts, service men and Indians, Mrs. Kay Rhodes, topped with a huge pumpkin, stood out as the "pumpkin headed Republican."

Only the donkey "Sneezy" lacked enthusiasm.

Saturday Bad Day; Nir (Auto) Accidents Reported to Police

For 18 persons, Saturday was a bad day to be walking or driving on the streets of Iowa City. They were involved in nine separate accidents reported to police.

Kathryn Costello, 75, 577 S. Van Buren street, was injured at 2:10 p.m. when she was struck by a car driven by Lawrence T. Smith, 324 N. Lucas street.

Smith said in his driver's report that two of the woman's fingers were broken. The accident occurred at College and Linn streets.

Another pedestrian, Jacqueline Jobin, 21 W. Bloomington street, was injured at 1:45 a.m. on highway 218 near Park road. She was treated for cuts and bruises at University hospital.

The car involved was driven by Charles L. Shulthise, route 4, according to his driver's report.

At 1:30 a.m., a car driven by Joseph Claude Napier, a SUI student, struck a light pole on Park road near the entrance to City Park. Napier estimated $150 damage to his car and $50 damage to the pole. He blamed fog for the accident.

The show will also be presented tomorrow and Thursday nights of this week. Tickets are on sale at Whetstone's drug store, Racine's cigar store and Alden's department store. Tickets may also be purchased from members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Proceeds will be used to help finance the Jaycees' current safety drive.

'Tune Time'

Jaycees to Present Minstrel Show

It will be "Tune Time" at 8 o'clock tonight in the City high school auditorium when the curtain goes up for the first performance of the Iowa City Jaycees' minstrel and variety show.

The all-local talent production includes a cast of 90 composed of Jaycees members, SUI students and other Iowa City townspeople.

"Tune Time" is under the direction of Sid Ekdale Jr., professional showman representing the John B. Rodgers Production company of Fostoria, Ohio.

The show will also be presented tomorrow and Thursday nights of this week. Tickets are on sale at Whetstone's drug store, Racine's cigar store and Alden's department store. Tickets may also be purchased from members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Proceeds will be used to help finance the Jaycees' current safety drive.

Koelbel and Rose on Music Hour Tomorrow

The Wednesday evening music hour this week will feature Prof. Hans Koelbel, cello, and Katherine Rose, piano. WSUI-KSUI will broadcast the program from studio E, radio building.

Numbers presented will be "Rondo Allegretto grazioso" by Dvorak, "Adagio" by Schubert, "Requiem" by Casado and "Sonata, opus 40," in four movements, Shostakovich.

Kiwanis Club Slates Address by Thornton

Prof. H. J. Thornton of the history department will address the Kiwanis club at a noon luncheon today at Hotel Jefferson.

His subject, "Presidential Elections of Long Ago," will deal with the historical aspects and problems of presidential elections from presidents George Washington to Theodore Roosevelt.

Events Planned in Honor of British Debaters

British debaters Reginald Galer, Birmingham university, and Anthony J. Cox, Bristol university, will arrive in Iowa City at 4:15 p.m. Thursday for SUI's 21st international debate.

The British team will debate in favor of a planned economy against Herman Cohen and Kenneth Thompson, graduate students at SUI, Friday at 8 p.m. in Macbride auditorium.

Friday at 11:30 a.m. Galer and Cox will be interviewed over WSUI along with Cohen and Thompson. At 1:30 p.m. the Britishers will be interviewed over KXIC.

Both debate teams will be honored at a dinner given by Delta Sigma Rho, national honorary speech fraternity, Friday at 6 p.m. in the wheel room of the Iowa Union. All Delta Sigma Rho members and Rhodes scholars now on campus are invited to the dinner.

President Virgil M. Hancher will chair the debate Friday night. Iowa will take the negative side of the question, "Resolved: that modern society enjoys the greatest benefits under a planned economy."

No decision will be drawn on Friday's debate, according to the office of Prof. A. C. Baird, speech department.

The audience will be asked to vote not on the merits of the debate but on how they feel toward the question of a planned economy.

After the debate Friday Delta Sigma Rho will sponsor a private reception for the Britishers in the Sigma Chi fraternity house.

Three DM Youth Guilty of Assault

DES MOINES (AP) — Three youths—Joe, 19, and Charles Severino, 18, and Bob Livingston, 23—were found guilty yesterday of assault and battery on two policemen and sentenced to 30 days in county jail by Municipal Judge Howard W. Brooks.

The Severino brothers also were found guilty of disturbing the peace and quiet and Livingston was found guilty on an intoxication charge.

Judge Brooks fined each $100 on those charges and ordered that they must serve an additional 30 days in jail for failure to pay the fines. The charges grew out of a fracas in a parking lot across Park street from the Tromar ballroom Oct. 9.

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT A Long Wait For Victory

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

This is election day, finally, and so, beyond the reminder that I have expressed a preference to see Mr. Truman defeat Mr. Dewey, I do not want to do any electioneering. But I do have one idea about this election which I feel ought to be set down; and this is a good day for it, before we know the name of the winner.

For my thought is precisely that we aren't going to learn who won tonight. It may be years before we really learn who won this election. I think the question of who won this election is going to turn out to be as hard to answer in the end as the question of who won the San Francisco earthquake.

CONSERVATIVE OPINION, which has mobilized around Mr. Dewey, is indeed very sure it is going to win, and it may in fact be lifting glasses of fizz high in the air before midnight.

But I think that when, later on, it tries to write out on a bit of paper just what it has won, it will not be so sure, and some of this winter's champagne orders may yet be canceled.

For one of the things conservatism has accomplished in this election has been to splinter and fragment the two-party system, which it so loves. It is not just Henry Wallace and the far left; we now have William Green talking about the need for a third party.

And all during this campaign there has been a strange note running through much Republican talk, one almost of tenderness toward the old Democratic party; a feeling of worry, perhaps, lest the conservative opinion steamroller has done too good a job on the Democrats and put them in some danger of losing their old franchise.

THE CONSERVATIVE opinion steamroller, by relentlessly pushing Mr. Dewey to the front, after crushing such issues as high prices and housing, has produced the kind of election which makes people wonder about the nature of our elections, as conducted under the traditional two-party system.

There has not for a long time been such fluidity of thinking on this point as there is now, so much speculation as to what kind of a new party ought to be established, or how the traditional Democratic party should be remodeled.

To have set this kind of discussion going is one of the accomplishments of the current election campaign, and you have to figure number of electoral votes to which each state is entitled in the presidential elections.

While approximately 51-million voters cast their votes today and await the outcome with interest, a whole slew of major candidates will be sitting on pins and needles. A total of 1,179 candidates, to be exact, there are 11 running for president; 11 more for vice-president; 95 seeking 32 U. S. senate posts, and 962 vying for 432 seats in the house of representatives.

The 100 candidates seeking the 32 governorships include 31 Republicans (no candidate in Georgia); Democrats 32; Progressives 12; Socialists-Labor 7; Prohibition 3; Socialist Workers 2; Independent 1.

In the senate races, two are in Louisiana. One is to fill an unexpired term, ending Jan. 3, 1951, of the late John H. Overton. William C. Peazel (D) now holds the seat by appointment.

In the house races, 50 Democratic and 5 Republican candidates have no opposition. Seven Democrats and 9 Republicans are running with both major party nominations. Four more Democrats have only minor party opposition.

One other thing is certain. By tonight there will be 1,179 pairs of well-shedded finger nails... and 498 jubilant faces.

Today marks the end of a barrage of radio political commercials, and for my money, it's good riddance. When a politician or his party buys time on the air it places them in the same category as the soap and cereal ads. It could back-fire. A ballot with Thomas Duz or Harry Toasties written in would be ample proof of confusion among constituents.

An Agent tipped me to the sad situation the campus libraries face again this year. Tactful Jean Gallaher of the student council's library committee says students have a "lax attitude" in that the reserve library lost about 400 books from its open shelves last year.

Having less tact than Jean, I'd say the loss of 400 books amounts to plain pilferage with pre-meditated malice. That's pretty bad.

It's easy to understand how it happens. A student waits until 24 hours before a reading assignment is due, and then in order to meet the deadline, he borrows the book, forgetting to return it.

I'd like to say something to inspire students to return books to the shelves since practically everytime I go to the library (that's seldom) the book I want is missing and professors give me a fishy eye when I relate the excuse.

To eliminate the possibility of a Hawkeye campus overrun with fish-eyed professors, let's put those books back.

A friend pointed out Miss Sue Stevens, who was recently acclaimed Miss Perfect Profile, and it is agreed that she is well-suited for that title.

Word comes via another Agent that the pep rally Friday night fell a bit short of being a hang-up success as pep rallies go. I wasn't there (should have been), so I'm not qualified to comment on it.

However, the Agent's report carried a description of several coeds holding a sign which obviously took some effort to construct. The placard, mounted on a long stick, bore the message, "Beat Wisconsin."

If my ideas on pep rallies hold water, that sign bespoke the true sentiment behind the rally. But after going to the trouble of making the sign, the coeds felt self-conscious about holding the darn thing up in the air. What kind of an attitude is that?

Can't blame the girls, though. If there had been the rip-snorting spirit which is supposed to characterize pep rallies, they wouldn't have hesitated showing their colors.

This isn't a condemnation because I know there was a lot of hard work behind the rally, and everyone involved in the plans was sincere in his job, but a consultation with a man who should be an expert on the pep rally subject revealed that students would prefer to be their own entertainment at such meetings rather than depend upon ready-made amusement.

The general idea, I guess, is to plan more participation for the student body and less speeches, skits and small group demonstrations. That's the expert's opinion, not mine, but it sounds good.

A Chicago Agent, visiting IC for the Wisconsin game, thinks manufacturers of table-top banks in the form of cash registers, safes, music boxes and pigs are missing the best bet of all.

She wants them to place banks on the market in the shape of cats. This conclusion is reached by deducting that a penny saved by dropping it into the slot in a liberty bell or a pink hog is oft-times referred to as feeding the kitty.

Having little respect for either cats or table-top banks, it seems to me there is altogether too much time spent at the end of each month shaking cigarette money out of expensive coin holders. I'll keep mine in a coffee can where I can get at it in an emergency.

A Scandinavian Bloc?

Nations Toying with Thoughts of Joining West

COPENHAGEN, DENMARK (AP)—Popular sentiment is increasing in Scandinavia for joining a western alliance. Neither Sweden, Norway or Denmark, however, is ready today to turn its back definitely on the east.

Sweden's policymakers are sticking to their traditional stand of strict neutrality which kept Sweden out of the Second World War.

Until recently Norway and Denmark also were cool toward joining the camp of either east or west, but political observers say a trend has been discernible lately to seek a more direct western orientation.

The latter two countries tried to remain neutral in World War II, but they were invaded by the Nazis nevertheless.

The general opinion in Norway seems to be that a Scandinavian defense bloc should be established with the aim of later joining an expanded western European union.

The western European union now consists of Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. In Paris last Tuesday, the foreign ministers of these five countries decided to ask the United States and Canada to consider joining in a north Atlantic defense alliance.

No formal bid has yet been made to the Scandinavian countries to join either the western European union or the proposed north Atlantic defense alliance. Informed quarters reported from Paris last Saturday, however, that the United States and Britain were interested in establishing links with other European countries, including Sweden, Denmark and Norway, to bolster the alliance.

So far no move has been taken even to form the Scandinavian bloc which Norway favors. Discussions were begun Oct. 15, however, among defense ministers of the three countries to find whether a basis exists for joint action on Scandinavian military questions.

Swedish leaders concede that Sweden cannot build up a strong defensive system without deliveries of arms from the western powers.

Open declaration of an alliance with the west would, however, in the opinion of the Swedish government, put an end to the chances of staying out of a possible future war between the east and west.

Recent statements from Swedish government leaders give the impression that if Norway wants to leave the door open for cooperation with the west, Sweden will go her own way, trying to stay neutral but at the same time counting on possible western aid if she is invaded from the east.

Two influential Swedish newspapers are at present driving hard against the government's hypothesis of neutrality. They are the Dagens Nyheter of Stockholm and the Goeteborgs Handels Och Sjoefarts Tidning of Gothenburg.

It seems evident that there is an undercurrent of public opinion in the same direction.

Labor's Love Not Lost

Organized labor leaders go into today's election strongly behind President Truman with a few for Governor Dewey and even fewer for Henry Wallace.

But where will their allegiances be tomorrow? Strong indications are that they will be behind a new labor party.

Labor leaders generally scorned the Progressive party, largely because of its Communist support. Left-wing unionists like Harry Bridges were removed from high CIO posts for continuing to support Wallace.

Having ruled Wallace out, labor had only Mr. Truman and the Democrats' pledge to outlaw the Taft-Hartley law to return to. But UAW President Walter Reuther has been talking labor party for quite a while.

Reuther says he will form it after today's election. Henry Wallace has mocked at this saying Reuther wants to "lock the political barn door after the election has been stolen."

Aside from such criticism, most labor leaders have been cool toward Reuther's plans. His new-party prospectus speaks of government operation of "necessary productive capacity" if private enterprise fails to expand enough to suit Reuther's followers.

Old-line leaders say this is too socialistic. But John L. Lewis at the UMW convention urged a new attempt at unification of AFL, CIO and independent unions.

AFL President William Green immediately endorsed the idea and went on to talk about the need for a third party.

Such a marriage would unite organized labor politically as a matter of course. The prospect of a hostile congress in January gives added incentive.

With the conservative influences of John L. Lewis and the AFL in the labor unity blend, it will not go too far left. The Communists in labor would be in for a cold shoulder.

Labor, at any rate, is looking beyond today's election.

Room Shortage

Clare Booth Luce Is Burglary Victim

NEW YORK (AP)—Burglars stole $35,000 in jewelry from Clare Booth Luce, former congresswoman, early yesterday as she and her husband were sleeping in their Waldorf-Astoria hotel suite, police reported yesterday.

Mrs. Luce is the wife of Henry Luce, publisher of Time, Life and Fortune magazines.

Police said that among the stolen items was a diamond ring valued at $25,000. Also among the loot were a pair of diamond earrings, a wrist watch and a gold compact.

MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED
Marriage licenses were issued yesterday in the Johnson county clerk's office to Maxwell L. Netelick and Marcelle A. Suchomel, both of Solon, and to Harold Usher, Cedar Rapids, and Dolores June Harford, Marion.

Illinois Plans Flashcards for Football Bands

When the SUI football band performs at the Illinois game Saturday at Champaign, the Illinois student section, using flashcards, will duplicate the field formations of both bands.

Prof. C. B. Righter, SUI director of bands, sent plans of the Iowa band's routine to the University of Illinois so that the Illinois students could coordinate their flashcard tricks with the band's maneuvers.

One hundred and one Iowa bandmen with Director Righter, Assistant Director Arnold Oehlson and F. E. Oliver, of the university business office will leave for Chicago on the Friday morning Rocket.

The group will stay overnight at the LaSalle hotel and take a special train for Champaign Saturday at 9 a.m.

The Iowa and Illinois bands will be combined for the pregame ceremony. Righter will direct the massed bands in the playing of the national anthem.

For the Iowa Band's halftime show, the SUI musicians will sing a special version of Illinois' "Hail to the Orange" while forming the letters ILLINI.

Then the band will go into a diamond block "I" pattern. Parts of 12 different tunes will be played during these formations, Righter said.

Elect Kamerick Officer Of St. Ambrose Alumni

John Kamerick, graduate assistant in the SUI history department, Sunday was elected second vice-president of the St. Ambrose college alumni association at the college's Homecoming business session.

The group selected Clarence Math, Davenport, as its new president.

University High Stages Pre-Election Rally

Young Demos Offer Free Rides to Polls

SUI Young Democrats are canvassing the married students housing areas to get out the vote today.

Roving cars directed from a central location will pick up those voters requiring transportation to the polls, Henry Allan, the group's president, reported yesterday.

Young Demos will request each occupant of the housing units of voting age to cast their ballot in today's election. Students asking for transportation will be picked up by automobiles, directed by Allan from his home, and driven to the correct polling places.

Music Group Plans Membership Drive

Plans for Iowa City music association membership drive were outlined to 50 volunteer workers last night at a complimentary dinner at the Hotel Jefferson.

The membership campaign, which will extend through Nov. 6, will be conducted by a house-to-house canvass, with 1,100 members set as this year's quotas. This year marks the third year of operation for the association.

Student tickets for the series of concerts will be $2.50, while regular memberships will cost $5.00.

Performers in the concerts will be announced Saturday at the completion of the membership drive.

2,500 Iowa City Kids — Celebrate Halloween

— In Weird Disguises

When the city hall clock struck six Sunday night 2,500 ghosts, hobos, scarecrows, dancing girls, crepe paper birds and dozens of other weird characters headed for the Community building from all sections of Iowa City.

From behind the Community building came a brilliant display of fireworks and aerial bombs and the Iowa City Moose lodge Halloween party was under way.

At 6:30 the Community Dads began to hand out 2,500 crepe paper hats and 2,500 horns. After that they organized the kids into an eight section parade.

At the command from William J. Hayek, the parade marshal riding a white horse, the Moose Grenadiers started the parade west on College street.

Prizes Awarded
The parade wound its way through hundreds of spectators along Clinton and Washington streets. By the time the end of the parade left the Community building the first paraders had returned to the corner of Gilbert and College streets.

hall. Leo E. Kohl, Moose secretary, said yesterday that 150 boxes of candy bars and 2,200 ice cream cups were handed out.

See Vaudeville Show
The children expressed their opinion and thanks for the vaudeville show, commissioned from the Grossman agency in Des Moines, by cheering, applauding and cooperation. The vaudeville consisted of a marionette show, juggling acts, clowns and a two-man trampoline performance.

As a climax to the stage show 80 names were drawn from a box and each was given a dollar bill. The cards drawn from the box were the pledge cards that each child presented as an entrance ticket. The pledge cards had been handed out in advance by J. Edgar Frame, general chairman of the party.

After the little tots, weary and tired, some asleep in their mother's arms, were carried home, the floor was cleared and Kieth Parizek's orchestra played dance music for those still seeking Halloween fun.
